Suddenly she heard the cries of the eagles; they had come back for another raid. Li Mochou gathered two "Soul Freezing Silver Needles" and immediately shot them out. The pair of eagles had previously suffered from this concealed weapon, and rushed to fly higher, but the silver needles were coming at them at a fast pace. The eagles could fly fast, but the needles were faster and eagles cried out in fright. Li Mochou saw that the eagles had retreated once again, and was extremely pleased. Suddenly she heard two shouts, two small objects rapidly appeared in the sky and after a loud noise the two small objects knocked the needles out of the air in a flash. Whoever threw the objects, their power must be extremely high. She gulped and dropped the young man, and went over to see. It was two small stones. She thought, "The person who shot out the stones must be extremely skilled, I'm not his match, I better evade him first and think about this later."

She turned around and stretched out her palm, facing Cheng Ying. She wanted to hurt the two cousins first and then escape. As her palm was about to reach her chest, Li Mochou saw there was a satin handkerchief tied around her neck, the embroidery on it was of a red flower and green leaf, it was the handkerchief that she had personally sewn and had given it to her lover. She didn't move and lowered her palm, her heart was turning over with memories of before, and thought, "Although he married the He slut, he could not forget me and kept this handkerchief. He wants me to spare his heirs, should I spare them or not?" She could not decide, and decided to kill Lu Wushuang and discuss this later. She took out her fly whisk, the silver thread end facing Lu Wushuang, and as she headed for her chest, she saw another handkerchief tied around Lu Wushuang's neck. She thought, "How come there are two handkerchiefs? One of them must be a fake." She curled up her whisk, and held Lu Wushuang's neck as she shook and moved her around.

At this time, a sound cutting through the air was heard; a small stone was flying towards her chest. Li Mochou took out her fly whisk and immediately struck out, knocking the stone out of the air. She shouted out in pain as her palm heated up, her body shaking. Just a small stone with so much power, whoever threw must be extremely skilled. She couldn't stay here anymore, and grabbed Lu Wushuang, and used her lightness kung fu. She swept over the ground like a gust of wind and in a flash there was no trace of her.

Cheng Ying saw that her cousin had been taken away and shouted, "Cousin! Cousin!" and tried to follow. Li Mochou's steps were extremely rapid, how could she catch them?

Jiangnan is a wet area and full of rivers, and after a while Cheng Ying had come upon a river blocking her way, with no way to proceed. She followed along the bank, and suddenly saw a yellow image on the left side, a person crossing the bridge alone. Cheng Ying waited a while and saw that Li Mochou was on her own, Lu Wushuang wasn't to be seen anywhere. Cheng Ying saw her turn around and though extremely frightened, dared to ask, "Where's my cousin?" Li Mochou saw her white skin and handsome smile and coldly laughed, "You two look the same, she has many days in front of her, don't worry about her. You should worry about yourself. Why didn't you die early, the world would have less trouble." She raised her fly whisk, and hit out. She saw that the stroke she was going to use to strike the chest had become slow and light. With the fly whisk behind her back, she was going to attack in front of her but as she sped up, something was holding onto the whisk's tail and she was unable to fling it. She swallowed and turned around to look, and saw the ground was raised over her about ten feet in the air and collapsing. It was an extraordinary situation. She protected her chest with her left palm and channeled energy through her fly whisk and pierced through the dirt. How can it be that there was no one behind it, just empty space? She had fought hundreds of battles throughout her life, but had never encountered a situation like this, her brain flicking through many scenarios, "A monster... a demon?" She used a stance of "First Mixing Form", the fly whisk forming a circular boundary shielding her before she turned around again.

She saw, standing by Cheng Ying, a tall, lean strange man dressed in a blue jade gown, with no expression on his face. Who was he, and as she looked at him she couldn't think of anything to say. She took two steps back and in this short space of time she could not think who in Jianghu this powerful person might be. As she was about to inquire who he was, she heard the man speak to Cheng Ying.

"Little girl, that woman is really evil, and you went to fight her." Cheng Ying raised her hand and head and replied, "I wouldn't dare." The man said, "What are you afraid of? Go ahead." Cheng Ying didn't dare to. The man grabbed her and pushed her towards Li Mochou.

In this situation, Li Mochou didn't know how to react. She planned to use her fly whisk; she stretched out her left hand to reach it, aiming to hit Cheng Ying on the waist. Suddenly a chi sound was produced; her arm was numb and sore, and she was unable to pick up her weapon. Cheng Ying approached her with her palm out, and after a clashing sound, Li Mochou was struck in the chest with a palm. Li Mochou had never suffered such an insult in her life, and in a rage, forgot her worries and reached out for her weapon and struck out in fury. Her whisk flew out of her hand, causing her to shake; the man had shot out another pebble, knocking her weapon to the ground. Cheng Ying was standing there steadily.

Li Mochou knew that she had met trouble today; if she didn't escape now her life would be in danger. She laughed lightly and turned around and hurried away. After she was many steps away she waved her hands behind her. A glimmer of silver appeared, ten plus "Soul Freezing Silver Needles" were shot out towards the man in light green. She shot her concealed weapons without turning back, but every single needle was heading towards the man. The man was caught off guard, not knowing that her needle throwing skill was so deadly. He immediately flew backwards to evade the needles. The needles were coming at him at a fast pace, but his leaps were quicker. Only after he had heard all the needles hit something did he stop and return to ground. Li Mochou knew that she wouldn't be able to hit him, the ten or so needles were meant to distract him, when she heard the wind sounds caused by him retreating backwards, her hand waved again, a lone needle was shot out at Cheng Ying. She knew that the needle must hit the target; afraid of exchanging blows with the man she didn't look back and increased her efforts in escaping, her body disappearing into the mulberry forest. The man in the blue green gown said, "Ah!" and picked up Cheng Ying and saw a needle had hit her shoulder, her face had changed colour and she gave out a quiet moan. Carrying her he hurriedly headed west.

The kidnapping of Lu Wushuang had startled Ke Zhen'E. The ragged young man said, "I'll take a look."

Guo Fu replied, "What is there to look at? That evil woman is going to kick you to death."

The young man smiled and replied, "You kick me to death? I wouldn't want to see that." As he said this he headed in the direction of Li Mochou.

Guo Fu said, "Idiot! I didn't say I was going to kick you." Guo Fu didn't realize that boy made a play on the words and said she was the evil woman.

The boy hurried as fast as he could for a while when he suddenly heard the calls of Cheng Ying shouting out, "Cousin, cousin!" He followed the sound of the calls. He ran over a great distance following the calls and he eventually arrived at where the calls seemingly came from. But when he got there was no trace of the two girls in any direction. He turned his head and on the ground glimmering were ten or so silver needles, the needles forming a pattern. He stooped down and picked up a needle, holding it in his left hand. By the needles there was a large centipede with its underside facing up, dead. He thought this was strange, and took a close look and saw a large number of ants were dead, but a few steps away were many ants rushing and moving. He picked up a needle and poked at them a few times, and some of the ants rolled over a few times before facing up. The same happened with a few other insects.

The young boy was happy, thinking this would be great to use on mosquitoes and flies, but suddenly felt that his left hand was not responding as normal. A fierce voice from behind said, "The needles have poison on them! You are holding it in your left hand how can it not be dangerous?" He opened his left palm and abandoned the needle. There is a black mark already forming in the place where the needle was held, and his two fingers were also turning black. He was extremely frightened, and stretched out his hand and rubbed it on his leg fiercely. The numbness on his left hand slowly increased, and within minutes the numbness had reached his joints. He was once bitten by a poisonous snake, and almost lost his life; at the time, the place where he was bitten became numb. He was in danger and he eventually cried out due to the pain. A voice from behind said, "Little baby, you know how powerful it is now huh?" The sound was like the clanging of metals piercing his ear, as if it was coming from the ground. He turned around and gulped as he saw a man standing upside down. The boy retreated a few steps and asked, "Who...who...who are you?"

The man's hands were on the ground supporting himself, his body upright and with a jump; he traveled thirty feet to face the boy.

"Who am I? It would be great to know who I am."

The boy was startled and started to run away, only to hear a 'du' 'du' 'du' noise behind him. He turned around and was so scared that his soul jumped out of his body. The man is using his hands as his feet, each hand held a stone, and although he was walking upside down his speed was faster than walking on two feet, and was just a few meters behind him. He ran even faster scared for his life only to hear a sound as the man jumped over his head and landed in front of him. The boy shouted out, "Mother!" and turned around to escape but wherever he went the strange man would jump in front of him. He had two feet, but he wasn't a match for a person using his hands to walk. He turned around a few times but the man was getting closer so he stretched out his palm wanting to push him; his hand was numb and he had lost control over it long ago. His head was covered with sweat and now didn't know what to do, his legs went limp and he sat down on the ground.

The strange man said, "The more you run and move about, the quicker the poison will spread." The boy worried for his life, got down on his knees and said, "I beg old grandpa to save my life."

The strange man shook his head and said, "It's difficult, it's difficult."

The boy replied, "You have so much skill, you can save me."

After the old man heard these words of praise, he was pleased and grinned, "How do you know that I'm so skilled?" The young boy heard his tone had become friendly and replied, "You run so fast while upside down. No one on earth can compete with you." The boy had added the phrase "No one on earth can compete with you" knowing that words of praise would please the old man. The old man laughed loudly, his laugh shaking the trees in the forest and said, "Flip upside down, let me take a look."

The boy was bright, and immediately flipped upside down by himself, he couldn't tell if the man was sincere but he did as he was told and flipped his body upside down so that his head was on the ground. His right hand still had feeling in it and managed to support himself firmly. The strange man glanced at him a few times, his brows lowered and wrinkled. The boy was upside down but still managed to take a clear look at the man; he had a tall nose and deep set eyes, his face covered in a short white beard, his limbs like metal, he talked to himself in strange phrases which was hard on the ear. The young boy was scared that the man wasn't going to save him and said, "Good Grandpa, please save me." The man saw he was a strapping boy and was pleased by his flip and replied, "Fine, saving you is not hard, but you got to promise one thing."

"Whatever you say, I'll listen. What do you want me to promise you?"

The strange man smiled and said, "I only want you to promise me one thing. Whatever I say, you must obey."

The boy thought, "I must obey everything you say? I've got to listen even when you tell me to be a dog or eat feces?"

The man saw that he was hesitant and slow to reply said, "Fine, you can die!" As he said this he got onto his hands and leapt away several meters.

The boy was afraid that the man had gone too far, and wanted to chase him to ask for help but he forgot that he could not walk upside down like the man, so he got back upright and chased a few steps and called out, "Grandpa, I agree. Whatever you say, I will obey."

The man turned around and said, "Fine, you've to swear it." The boy's left hand was becoming increasingly numb, and he was becoming increasingly concerned about his life so he could do nothing but swear an oath.

"If grandpa saves me by ridding my body of the poison, I will listen to whatever he says. If I don't, then let the poison return to my body." He thought, "If I never pick up any more silver needles then how will the poison return? I wonder if the strange man will accept this oath?"

He looked at the old man, and saw his expression had changed and he seemed pleased, and he in turn became pleased as well as he thought, "The old man believes me."

The old man nodded and went upright. He grabbed hold of the boy's arm, and pushed it a few times and said, "Good, good, you are a good boy." When the boy was pushed in the arm, he felt the numbness had lightened, and shouted out, "Grandpa, push me a few more times!" The strange man frowned and said, "Don't call me grandpa; call me father!"

The little boy replied, "My father's dead, I don't have a father."

The man shouted at him, "The first thing I ask and you don't even listen, what use have I with a son like you."

The boy thought, "Oh, the man wants me to be his son." He had never seen his father before, and heard from his mother that his father had died before he was born. Whenever he saw other children with their father he would envy them. Now he sees this strange man in front of him, acting weird and crazy. He didn't want to accept this old man as his stepfather.

The strange man shouted at him, "You don't agree to call me father, fine. There are other people who are willing, I won't agree to my promise." The boy tried to think of another way to deceive him into saving him. The man suddenly bellowed out a strange noise, and said a curse and started to walk away. The boy quickly said, "Father, father where are you going?" The man gave out a great laugh and said, "Good boy, come, I'll teach you a method to rid your body of poison." The boy walked over to him. The strange man said, "You have contracted Li Mochou's "Soul Freezing Silver Needles" poison, it is quite difficult to cure this poison."

He then passed on the words of circulating air and the method to practice it, the head must be below the legs, so the blood will flow the opposite direction, the poison will eventually flow out from within the body. Since he is a beginner, he can only remove a few drops of poison every day, but within a month, all the poison would be removed from his body. The boy was extremely clever, and he absorbed everything and memorized it. He then followed the method and indeed, the numbness decreased. After a little while, small drops of black blood seeped from his fingers. The strange man was pleased and said, "Good! You don't have to practice anymore today, I'll teach you something new tomorrow. Follow me." The boy was startled, and said, "Go where?" The strange man replied, "I am your father, wherever a father goes, the son of course follows."

As he said this, the air was filled with the sound of eagle calls; the two large eagles were approaching. The strange man looked at the eagles, and hit his head as he frowned, searching for something in his mind. Suddenly, he seemed to have found what he was looking for, his face changed and shouted out, "I won't see them, I won't see them!" As he said this he took a stride; the stride was extremely large, and by the second stride he had moved over ten feet. After a few more strides he disappeared into the mulberry forest. The boy shouted out, "Father, father!" and tried to follow.

He eventually wound up at a willow tree and suddenly he felt a gust of wind behind him, as the eagles flew over from behind him and started to descend. From behind the willow tree out came two people, a male and female, the eagles stopped behind the two. The male had dense brows and large eyes, a broad chest and waist, he was about thirty years of age, and his top lip had the beginnings of a moustache. The woman was about twenty six or twenty seven years of age, she had a beautiful face, her eyes sparkled, and looked at the boy a few times and said to the man, "Who do you think that boy looks like?" The man turned around to the boy and replied, "You say he looks like somebody?" as he said these words he stopped.

The two people were Guo Jing and Huang Rong. That day they were at a restaurant searching for news of Huang Yaoshi, when they suddenly saw flames far away and after a while, a person in the street hurriedly said, "The Lu's mansion is on fire!" Huang Rong shivered as she remembered that Jiaxing's Lu's mansion belonged to Lu Zhanyuan, a fairly famous person in the wuxia world, and although they had never met, she had admired the name. In Jianghu many people had mentioned that Jiangnan has two Lu mansions. There are countless Lu mansions in Jiangnan, the two that the Wuxia members mentioned were the Lu mansion by the Tai Lake and Jiaxing's Lu mansion. For Lu Zhanyuan to be mentioned in the same breath as Lu Chengfeng, he was surely not an ordinary person. After asking a few questions, it turned out it was Lu Zhanyuan's mansion that was being burned. The two hurried for the site but once they got there, the fire had died down, the mansion had been burnt down to the ground, a few bodies were found at the scene but they were burned beyond recognition.

Huang Rong said, "Something strange may have occurred."

Guo Jing asked, "What?"

Huang Rong replied, "Lu Zhanyuan is a fairly famous name in Jianghu, his wife Yuanjun is also a heroine of this generation. If the mansion caught fire, how come no one managed to escape? The only explanation is that an enemy of theirs had come to take their revenge."

Guo Jing thought this must be the reason and replied, "Yes, let us think, who the suspect can be?"

The two examined the site but found no traces of any evidence. Huang Rong suddenly saw something on one of the remaining walls and shouted, "Look, what's that?"

Guo Jing looked up and saw a few blood handprints on the wall; after being burned, the blood prints became more prominent. The wall collapsed and on the lower section were two prints. Guo Jing gathered himself and suddenly spurted out, "The Scarlet Serpent Deity!"

Huang Rong replied, "It must be her."

They had long heard of Li Mochou, the "Scarlet Serpent Deity". Her kung fu was high, and no one can compare with her poisonous ways. She was comparable to the one called ‘Western Poison’. She was in Jiangnan and it was a chance to track her down.

Guo Jing nodded his head, "People in Wulin have said she is extremely difficult to deal with, if we can find your father it would be good."

Huang Rong laughed and said, "The older they get, the less we have to worry."

Guo Jing said, "You're right. The more someone practices martial arts, the less work they have to do."

Huang Rong laughed and said, "You are modest Master Guo! I find the more I practice the worse I get."

The two laughed and joked, but secretly they were on the guard as well. They looked around, and by a pond they saw two “Soul Freezing Silver Needles”. One of the needles was half submerged in the pond, the ponds eighty or so gold fishes' white bellies were facing up. It was the deed of the poison of the needle. Huang Rong stuck out her tongue and broke off two pieces of twig from a tree and used it to fish the needle out, and then placed it in her gown sack. The two searched everywhere, and then saw the two eagles and eventually met the boy.

Guo Jing thought that the boy looked familiar, but at the time could not think of who he looks like. His nose suddenly picked up a strange scent, and sniffed a few more times and felt his brain start to smother. Huang Rong had already noticed this, and knew the origin was nearby. She turned around to search for the source and saw the male eagle had a wound on its left claw, and after a closer examination, the source of the scent was indeed from the wound. The two gulped, and carefully examined the wound, the skin was broken only slightly yet the leg had swollen to more than twice its size, the skin and flesh had started to rot. Guo Jing thought, "What caused this wound, why is it so severe?" He suddenly saw the boy's hand was black and asked, "You've been poisoned as well?"

Huang Rong went over and took his hand and looked at this palm; she pulled up his sleeve and took out a knife and slit the boy's wrist to draw out the poison blood. Only to see that the blood flowing out was red. She thought this was strange and thought, "His palm's black and definitely has poison so why doesn't his blood have it? She didn't know that when the strange man had bestowed his skills to the boy, the poisoned blood had already flowed out of his fingertips, and the poison did not rise back. From her bag, she took out a "Nine Flower Jade Dew" pill, and said, "Swallow this." The boy took the pill, smelt it first and noticed a nice scent, and put it into his mouth. He felt a fragrance fill his mouth, the sweetness was incomparable. A cool clear air filled his "dan tian". Huang Rong took out another two pills and fed it to the two eagles.

Guo Jing was immersed in thought, but he still managed to whistle a tune. The boy heard his high tune and knew it wasn't easy; this gave him a surprise. Suddenly, a whistling sound came from afar, flocks of birds in the forest flew in all directions, and the branches of a nearby willow tree were shaking incessantly. As soon as the first song was finished, a second one followed, the sound of the two combined resonated and folded, herd of horses galloped hurriedly far away. Huang Rong knew that it was her father sending an invitation to Li Mochou for a battle. As the third whistle came, she filled her "dan tian" line, and followed the whistle with her own, Guo Jing's whistle was loud and spacious, and Huang Rong's was high and soaring. The two's whistles combined together was like a large fabulous bird and a small bird in a competition to see who can fly higher, as they flew the higher they got, the little bird not settling for being behind the large bird. When the two were on Peach Blossom Island they refined and cultivated their internal strength, their internal energy had reached new levels. Right now, their sounds soared and resonated for many miles.

When the whistles reached the strange man, he quickened his steps, as he hurried to escape. When it reached the blue green-gowned man who was carrying Cheng Ying, he laughed and said, "You've finally arrived, this old man had better run to avoid getting caught."

Li Mochou was carrying Lu Wushuang by her side, hurrying in her escape when she suddenly heard the whistles; she halted in her tracks, and waved her fly whisk. She turned around and laughed coldly, "Hero Guo's name shakes through Wulin, and I must take a look to see if he lives up to his name." She then heard a clear, crisp whistle follow the last one, the two sounds superimposed on each other produced a sharp yet soft sound, the power of it was increased further. Li Mochou's heart shivered, she knew she had met a formidable foe; she thought about how the Guo couple swept Wulin, supporting each other, yet she was alone, her thoughts became grey, and sighed as she carried Lu Wushuang across her chest and ran away.

At that moment, Madam Wu supported her husband, taking her two children with her preparing to leave along with Ke Zhen'E. After the battle with Li Mochou, Ke Zhen'E was afraid that she would come back and harm Guo Fu; he wanted to take her to a safe place and hide for a while. When he heard the calls by the Guo couple he was glad and relieved. Guo Fu shouted out, "Father, mother!" and ran out. One old, one young followed the sounds of the whistles and hurriedly rushed to the Guo couple. Guo Fu threw herself onto Huang Rong and smiled as she said, "Mother, grandpa fought off an evil woman, his skills were unbelievable." Huang Rong knew she was lying but could only smile. Guo

Jing reprimanded her "Young children should always tell the truth." Guo Fu stuck out her tongue as she said, "Grandpa's skills are not good? How can he be your master?" Afraid that her father will scold her again, she ran on ahead and pointed to the boy saying, "You go pick some flowers for me and arrange it into a crown for me to wear!" The boy followed her. Guo Fu saw that his palm was black and said, "Your hand is disgusting, take the flowers you pick and cover your smell with it."

The boy calmly said, "Who wants to play with you?" and took large steps as he walked away.

Guo Jing said, "Little brother, don't run. The poison in your body has not fully been removed; when it reacts again it will be painful."

The little boy wished that he would mind his own business, and after being spoken to like that by Guo Fu, he carried on walking ahead, ignoring the man's words. Guo Jing walked in front of him and said, "Why have you contracted poison? Let me cure it for you first, it won't be long."

The boy replied, "I don't recognize you, what had this got to do with you." He increased his speed and wanted to walk past Guo Jing. Guo Jing saw that the boy's face seemed to carry a noble air, his face looking like someone he has met before, his feelings were aroused and asked the boy, "What's your surname?" The boy gave him a glance and walked around him, still wanting to get away. Guo Jing caught his wrist. The boy couldn't shake himself free, and formed a fist with his left hand punching Guo Jing in the stomach. Guo Jing just smiled, and took no notice of the punch. The boy wanted pull back his fist, but his fist seemed to be held within the man's stomach, unable to move. His face became red, and pulled back with all his strength until his arm ached, but he couldn't over come the pull of the man's stomach. The man smiled and said, "If you tell me what your name is, then I'll let you go."

The boy replied, "My surname is Ni, first names Laozi, now let me go." Guo Jing was disappointed with the answer and relaxed his abdomen, he didn't realize that the boy had tricked him and called himself, "I'm your father". The boy's hand was now free and thought, "You've got great ability, your father can't compare to his good son." Huang Rong saw the boy had a devious expression on his face, and still felt that he looked like someone from the past so tested him again.

She smiled and said, "Little brother, if you are my husband's father that means you are mine too." She stretched out her hand and held the boy's neck from behind. The boy felt the hold came from an extremely strong force, and tried desperately to pull away. Huang Rong loosened her grip, the boy got a glimpse of the sky before falling over. Guo Fu clapped and laughed. The boy hid his embarrassment and got up, and took a few steps back, and swore at her. Huang Rong was already standing in front of him, she held his shoulder and looked him in the eye and gently said, "Your surname is Yang, first name Guo. Your mother's surname is Mu, isn't that correct?" The boy was indeed named Yang Guo, and somehow Huang Rong had called it out, the shock was too much for him, he felt pain in his chest, the poison in his hand had returned, his brain started to get blurry and he fainted.

Huang Rong managed to hold onto him. Guo Jing pushed him a few times using his internal energy, but his eyes did not open, his teeth had bitten his tongue, his mouth full of red blood, and he didn't wake up. Guo Jing was happy and worried at the same time and said, "He, he is brother Yang Kang's son." Huang Rong saw that Yang Guo's poison was serious and gently said, "Let's first get to an inn, then we'll mix up some medicine for him."

Huang Rong had seen that the boy looked extremely like Yang Kang, and remembered that she had met Mu Nianci in an inn. When she held the back of Mu's neck, instead of pushing forward, Mu pushed backward. This was a secret skill of Hong Qigong's. It was part of his circulating air and practicing energy method. If the boy was Mu Nianci's son, then their kung fu would be the same. Huang Rong was a disciple of Hong Qigong's and knew the arts of her master well, so she tested him, and indeed he was who she thought he was.

Guo Jing carried the boy, and along with Ke Zhen'E, Huang Rong, Guo Fu and the pair of eagles returned to the inn. Huang Rong wrote out an herb list, and gave it to the inn's waiter to go to the medicine shop and pick them out. However the herbs she picked out were all rare, even in a place like Jiaying the shops did not have them. Guo Jing saw that Yang Guo was still unconscious and was extremely worried about him. Huang Rong knew that after Yang Kang had died, her husband had felt responsible, and now he had found his son, he would be ecstatic. But now the boy had contracted a lethal poison, his life in the balance, and said, "We will go and gather the herbs ourselves."

Guo Jing knew that if there is a glimmer of hope to cure the poison, she would try to reassure him but he saw her expression was one of worry. He ordered Guo Fu that she mustn't run around as she pleased, and the couple went off to gather the herbs and grasses.

Yang Guo slept quietly without waking until it was night. Ke Zhen'E checked up on him a few times, using his hands to feel him. The poison on his darts could not compare to that of the "Soul Freezing Silver Needles" and so could not use the antidote that he had. He was afraid that Guo Fu would slip away, so he made sure she was asleep.

Yang Guo was unconscious for a long time when suddenly someone placed a palm on his chest and used their internal strength to wake him up. He slowly woke up, and opened his eyes. He saw a flash of black, as someone escaped out of the window. His strength slowly returned as he supported himself on a table by the window so he could have a look. He saw a man on the roof overhang of the room and the man was upside down. It was the strange man who earlier wanted him to call him father. He was moving about, and could drop down to the room when he pleased.

Yang Guo was surprised and said, "It's you."

The strange man replied, "Why aren't you calling me father?"

Yang Guo said, "Father!" but thought, "You are my son, I'll just turn the roles around and call you father for now."

The man was very pleased and said, "Come up here." Yang Guo climbed out of the window and leapt onto the roof. But his body was weak due to the poison, he wasn't at full strength and his fingers weren't able to grab the roof edge. As he was falling he called out, "Ah!"

The man stretched out his hand and grabbed the boy's back and gently placed him on the rooftop. He turned upright, and was about to say something when he heard someone from a room to the west blow out a candle. He felt that someone had discovered him and so he carried Yang Guo and hurriedly escaped. Ke Zhen'E had leapt on the roof, but there wasn't a trace of anyone.

The strange man carried Yang Guo outside the small town and reached a piece of uncultivated land and put him down.

He said, "Use the method I taught you to force some of the poison out." Yang Guo got into position, and after a short while, a few drops of poisoned blood came out, his chest became relaxed and more comfortable.

The strange man said, "You are a clever boy, and can use it straight away just after one lesson. You are even better than my real son." "Ai...Son...ah!" He thought about his deceased son, his eyes became watery as he stroked Yang Guo's head, and let out a sigh.

Yang Guo had never had a father in his life and his mother passed away due to illness when he was eleven years old. Before she died, she told him that his father died in Jiaxing's Iron Spear monastery, and instructed him to cremate her and bury her outside the monastery. After he had taken care of his mother's burial, he wandered around Jiaxing and lived in the old kiln, in poverty. Mu Nianci had taught Yang Guo some of her family's kung fu but her skills weren't great, and Yang Guo at the time was young and so couldn't learn much. Within these few years, Yang Guo had made trouble and enemies, and although he had never met the strange man before, the man had treated him well and the feelings were real. He was touched and leapt up and grabbed the man around his neck and called out, "Father, father!" Ever since he was three years old, he always wished he had a loving father. Sometimes in his dreams he would see a heroic and loving father but when he woke up his father was gone and because of this he would cry for a while. His wish for many years had come true, and buried within the calls of 'father' were real feelings of joy and respect, not the calls of lies and deceit.

Yang Guo was very emotional right now; the strange man was even more happy and emotional inside. When they first met, Yang Guo was forced to call him father to save his life, and didn't want him as a father, now both of them had the same feelings, they were like a real father and son, but he felt that the man had something on his mind. His feelings were so strong that he was willing to die for him if need be. The strange man was laughing and crying at the same time and said, "Good son, good son, obedient son. Call me father again." Yang Guo called him twice, and then leaned on his body.

The man smiled and said, "Good son, come here, I will teach you all the martial arts I know." As he said this he dropped down and made three strange noises and then pushed his hands out. The sound of an explosion was produced, the earth in front of him rose up like a violent grey mudflow and then the dirt scattered. Yang Guo looked on with his mouth open, his tongue out, shocked and asked, "What is that skill called, can I learn it?"

The strange man replied, "Its called "Ge Ma" stance (Toad Stance), if you work hard, you will be able to learn it."

Yang Guo said, "If I learn it then no one can bully me again?"

The man's eyebrows raised and said, "If anyone bullies my son then I'll rip their skin and tear their muscles."

The strange man was the "Western Poison" Ouyang Feng.

Ever since Huang Rong had made him go mad at the second Mount Hua tournament, he has traveled, for these last ten years, to the edge of the world and always asked one question, "Who am I?" Whenever he is near a lush land, he would always linger on trying to find the answer to his question; these past months he has been staying in Jiaxing. These few years he has been practicing the "Contrary Nine Yin Manual". His internal energy has been increasing to new levels, his mind had become clearer, but he was still mad. His memories were slowly coming back but he still could not remember who he was.

Right now, Ouyang Feng was passing on the formula to practice "Toad Stance" to Yang Guo. The "Toad Stance" is one of the top skills in the martial arts world, the changes refined, mysterious and clever, and its internal energy aspect hard to beat; but if it is practiced wrong, not only will the body be harmed, but the practitioner will expel blood and die. Because of this, he didn't even pass it on to his son when he was alive. At this moment in time, he was touched and added to the fact he wasn't mentally clear, he couldn't differentiate between important and dangerous things. He didn't take this into consideration and taught the skill to his stepson.

Yang Guo does not have a good martial arts foundation, though he learnt the formula to the skill and memorized it, would he be able to understand the meanings behind the words?

Though he was extremely clever, there were phrases which he didn't understand. Ouyang Feng had taught him for half a day now, and when he listened to Yang Guo's explanation and it wasn't making sense, he had another mental attack and wanted to hit him. But when he saw his handsome and cute face in the moonlight, it reminded him of his own son when he was younger, and so he lowered his hand.

"You're struggling. Go and rest, I'll carry on tomorrow."

After Guo Fu had ridiculed him because of his hand, he had a dislike for her family and said, "I want to follow you, I don't want to return."

Ouyang Feng didn't understand his own problems but he was aware of the world's problems and said, "I have some trouble with my mind, I'm afraid I can't take care of you if you follow me. You return first and when I've solved one problem I will come and collect you, we won't part, okay?"

After the death of his mother he has never talked to someone as if they were family and grabbed his hand and said, "Collect me soon."

Ouyang Feng nodded and said, "I will secretly follow you, wherever you go I'll be there. If someone bullies you, I'll break their ribs into seventy or eighty pieces." He then picked up Yang Guo and returned him to the inn.

Ke Zhen'E had gone to check on Yang Guo and found he wasn't there. He searched the entire inn but still couldn't find him; he became extremely concerned. He checked on Yang Guo's room again; Yang Guo had returned. He was about to ask where Yang Guo had been when he heard the wind generated by someone passing along the rooftop. He knew two people had passed along on the roof, their skills extremely high, he picked up Guo Fu and then placed her by his side. He went over to the window with his iron walking staff, afraid that the two people were enemies; he listened carefully and heard that the wind created by the two people was coming closer and eventually had arrived on the roof above them.

"Did you see who he was?"

"Strange, strange, was it him?" replied the other person.

It was Guo Jing and Huang Rong.

Ke Zhen'E was relieved and opened the door to let them in. Huang Rong said, "Senior master, did anything happen?"

"Nothing," replied Ke Zhen'E.

Huang Rong turned to Guo Jing and said, "Did we recognize the wrong person?"

Guo Jing replied shaking his head, "No, I'm ninety percent certain it was him."

"Who was it?" asked Ke Zhen'E.

Huang Rong tugged on Guo Jing, trying to tell him not to say. But Guo Jing didn't dare to lie to his master and said, "Ouyang Feng."

Ke Zhen'E despised this man, as soon as he heard his name his complexion changed and quietly said, "Ouyang Feng? Isn't he dead?"

Guo Jing said, "When we came back from picking the medicine, we saw someone on the roof, the person's movements were quick and strange, when we went to take a look, the person had already gone. It looked like Ouyang Feng."

From the description, Ke Zhen'E knew it must be Ouyang Feng and no one else. Guo Jing was concerned about Yang Guo so grabbed a candle and went over to the bed. He saw that Yang Guo's face was red, his breathing relaxed and sleeping peacefully. He was pleasantly surprised and called out, "Rong'er, he's better!" Yang Guo was really awake and he was just pretending to be asleep, he had secretly listened in and now knew his stepfather was called Ouyang Feng. The three of them were extremely concerned about him, and now they were all relieved and pleased.

Huang Rong took a closer look, and was surprised, before his arm's poison had returned but now after just a few hours, the black colour of the poison had faded; the poison seems to have disappeared. She was greatly surprised by this. She and Guo Jing had searched for medicine all day, but could not gather everything they wanted, so they decided to return with what they had and give it to him for the time being.

The next day, Guo Jing, Huang Rong and Ke Zhen'E with the two small ones headed west from Jiaxing, intending to return to Peach Blossom Island, and firstly cure Yang Guo's poison before deciding to do anything else. That night they were in another inn, Ke Zhen'E and Yang Guo were in one room, the Guo family in another. The Guo couple slept into the middle of the night when suddenly they heard a noise on the rooftop. They heard Ke Zhen'E call out through the wall, and jumped out of the window. The couple quickly jumped out of the window only to see on the rooftop Ke Zhen'E was fighting barehanded with someone, the enemy was tall and had long hands, it was Ouyang Feng. Guo Jing swallowed, frightened that Ouyang Feng would take his master's life in one move and he jumped up onto the roof to help. Only to hear Ke Zhen'E shout and fall off the roof. Guo Jing flew over to him, and before Ke Zhen'E head had met the ground, he lightly caught him from behind and gently placed him gently down on the ground.

He asked, "Senior Master, are you okay?"

"I'm not dead yet. Go and fight Ouyang Feng." Ke Zhen'E replied.

"Yes," replied Guo Jing and he jumped onto the roof.

At the time, Huang Rong was fighting with her palms, the palms like a flying dance. It has been ten years since she has seen her old enemy, and right now they were fighting ferociously. Her internal energy has improved tremendously over the last few years, her internal energy is now very forceful, the palms she were using were changing mysteriously and cleverly; after ten moves, Ouyang Feng didn't gain any advantage.

Guo Jing called out, "Mr. Ouyang, how have you been."

Ouyang Feng replied, "What did you say? What did you call me?" His face changed, in the fight with Huang Rong he did not attack, he had a feeling that the two words 'Ouyang' was significant to him. Guo Jing was about to say something when Huang Rong interrupted as she saw that he wasn't clear about who he was and said, "You are called Zhao Qiansunli, Zhou Wuchenwang!"

Ouyang Feng listened, "I'm called Zhao Qiansunli, Zhou Wuchenwang?"

Huang Rong replied, "Correct, your nickname is Zuo Fengchengchuwei, Jiang Shenhanyang." Huang Rong had randomly picked out some surnames. Ouyang Feng was originally confused but after hearing her call him many names, he scratched his head and asked, "Who are you? Who am I?"

Suddenly someone behind shouted out, "You are the old animal that killed my five brothers." Before the sentence was finished, an iron walking staff came out, it was Ke Zhen'E. When Ouyang Feng knocked him off the roof, he wasn't hurt and went into his room to get his iron walking staff to battle him again. Guo Jing shouted out, "Careful master!" Ke Zhen'E smashed down his iron walking staff on Ouyang Feng's back but he didn't move, he made a strange noise and the walking staff fiercely came back out at Ke Zhen'E. Ke Zhen'E couldn't hold on, and let go of his walking staff and fell into the courtyard. Although Guo Jing knew that his master was falling, it wasn't going to be serious but Ouyang Feng had used his back to launch a lethal attack so he shouted, "Watch out!" His left leg bent, his right palm circled, and then pushed out; it was the "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms" 'Overcoming the Dragon with Regret' (Kang Long You Hui). He had practiced this particular stance night and day without a break, when he first learned the stance its power was obvious, but after ten years of practicing, it was now at a flawless level. When he first unleashed it, it looked light and fragile but when it meets an obstruction, it will be able to unleash its force in thirteen levels, each level stronger than the last one. It will move the unyielding, there is no force it can't overcome. He had incorporated ideas in the "Nine Yin Manual" into the palms and modified them, like Hong Qigong had modified the palms years ago, although it was only the stances and not the mysterious energy behind it.

Ouyang Feng had just knocked Ke Zhen'E off the roof when he suddenly felt a gust of wind throwing itself at him, although the wind wasn't strong, it caused his breathing to be uneven, and knew it wasn't something ordinary so quickly crouched down and pushed out his two palms, it was his most refined skill the "Toad Stance". They exchanged three palms; both of them were hit once. Guo Jing's palm strength increased; the next level higher than the last, like a torrent of waves throwing it self forwards. Ouyang Feng made two 'Ka Ka' noises, his body getting lower, as if he was going to fall down any minute. Guo Jing's palms were getting stronger, his counteracting strength also increased.

The two haven't exchanged moves for over ten years, now they meet again in Jiangnan, they must test each other to see how they have advanced over the years. Long ago at the Mount Hua tournament, Guo Jing couldn't match Ouyang Feng, but since then he has refined his internal energy, his skills have vastly improved. Ouyang Feng has been practicing the "Contrary Nine Yin Manual" and got what he deserved. However, one phrase real and one phrase fake, eventually he produced a learnable copy from the fake and up until now, Guo Jing was fighting him to a draw, unable to distinguish who has the upper hand. Huang Rong wanted her husband to win by himself so stood to one side and didn't interfere.

The roofs in south were very different to the roofs in the north. The roofs in the north had to support the amassed snow in winter, the roofs were solid. In the south it was wet weather that had to be addressed, the roofs were covered in tiles, with removing rain in mind. Guo Jing and Ouyang Feng were matching internal energy through their palms, and braced their legs, and after a moment, the sound of something creaking was heard below their feet, with one sound followed by another, the beams of the roof snapped, a hole was made in the roof as the two of them fell in. Huang Rong gulped and jumped down the hole and followed them, only to see the two still competing, their feet supported by some more beams, but they were above one of the inn's guests. The guest was sleeping, how would he know the roof was falling in, at that moment his legs broke and he was screaming out in pain. Guo Jing didn't want to hurt any innocent bystanders and so didn't use his legs for support, but Ouyang Feng didn't care if anyone dies because of them. The two of them were equally matched but because Guo Jing didn't use the beams as support, his palms had no foundation to rely on. He was on his way to losing. He used one hand to push against Ouyang Feng's two palms, he channeled all his strength in his right hand, his left hand was empty, there was no strength for it to use. Huang Rong saw her husband was being pushed backwards, although it was only half an inch or so, he was losing.

She shouted, "Hey, Zhang Sanlisi, Hu Tuwangba, watch out," and aimed a light palm on Ouyang Feng's shoulder. Though this palm was light, it was from the "Descending Brave Divine Sword Palm" (Luo Ying Shen Jian Zhang) skill, when it lands, the internal energy will spread through the internal organs. Though Ouyang Feng is one of the most powerful martial artists of his time, he would still suffer from this blow. Ouyang Feng heard her call out weird surnames at him and was distracted for a second. As he saw the palm come in, he pushed his two palms, forcing Guo Jing back another inch, and in a flash he held onto Huang Rong's shoulder, his five fingers like a hook, trying to tear a piece of her flesh off.

When this move came out, the three of them swallowed simultaneously. Ouyang Feng felt severe pain in his fingers; she was wearing soft armour with needles, he couldn't loosen his hand. At this time, Guo Jing's palm's power increased again, and Ouyang Feng pushed out a palm to counteract this, in the midst of this danger he used all his strength. After a clashing sound, both of them moved back, the room was full of dust and dirt as the walls collapsed.

When the two clashed palms, it was under the shroud of night and the both of them could not see each other clearly, the large force of the "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms" and the "Toad Stance" hit each other on the shoulder. The two of them were sent through opposite walls; half of the roof fell in. Huang Rong had suffered a blow but she wasn't hurt although she had a fright and made her flush. In the midst of all this she flew out of the room before the roof collapsed. She saw Guo Jing and Ouyang Feng five feet apart motionless; the both of them had suffered internal injuries. Huang Rong didn't attack the enemy and instead just walked over by her husband's side to guard him. The both of them shut their eyes to try to control their chi, but after two stuttering noises both of them spat out a mouthful of blood.

Ouyang Feng said, "The "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms", good stuff, good stuff!" A mad laugh followed as he ran away, in a blink of an eye he was nowhere to be seen.

Presently, the inn was in the midst of chaos. Huang Rong knew that they couldn't stay here any longer, and from the hand of Ke Zhen'E grabbed her daughter and said, "Master, you carry brother Jing and follow us." Ke Zhen'E put Guo Jing on his shoulder and step by step slowly headed north. After a while, Huang Rong suddenly remembered Yang Guo, she didn't know where he had gone to, but she was more concerned about her husband's injuries so left this matter until later on. Guo Jing understood, but because of the injury caused by Ouyang Feng, he couldn't speak. He breathed evenly while on Ke Zhen'E's back, circulating his energy to unravel his veins, after they had travel about seven, eight miles, his veins had all been cleared and said, "Master, I'm okay." He put Guo Jing down and said, "You've recovered?"

Guo Jing shook his head and said, "The "Toad Stance" is a great skill!" He saw his daughter supporting herself on her mother's shoulder sleeping peacefully, and said, "Where's Guo'er?" Ke Zhen'E had forgotten about Yang Guo, and struggled for words.

Huang Rong said, "Don't worry, first we'll find a place to rest. Then I'll go back and look for him."

The sky was beginning to brighten, and under the moon they recognized a house by the forest. Guo Jing said, "My injury is not serious, we'll go find him together."

Huang Rong frowned and said, "That boy is extremely clever, you don't have to be too concerned." As they said this they arrived at the house, suddenly they saw someone come out from behind the white wall and then was about to return again. Huang Rong went over there and grabbed the person, it was Yang Guo.

He laughed and said, "Auntie," and carried on saying, "You guys arrived? I've been waiting for a long time now."

Huang Rong couldn't explain but she suspected something and replied, "Fine, follow us."

Yang Guo laughed, and followed. Guo Fu opened her eyes, and asked, "Where have you been?"

Yang Guo replied, "I went to catch some crickets to see them fight. It was great fun."

"What's so much fun about that?" Guo Fu said.

"Huh, what's not fun about that? A large cricket was fighting with an old cricket. When the old one lost, two little crickets came to help out, three versus one. The large cricket jumped around, kicked out a foot there, and bit one over there, it was extremely powerful." When he reached this point, he didn't add anything else. Guo Fu had listened carefully and asked, "Then what happened?"

Yang Guo said, "You said it's not fun, so why are you interested?"

Guo Fu touched her nail, and angrily turned her head away, ignoring him. Huang Rong could tell that his words were praising Ouyang Feng and ridiculing the couple and Ke Zhen'E. She said, "Tell Auntie, who won in the end?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Just when things were getting interesting, you came along, the cricket jumped away."

Huang Rong thought: "Like father like son," but kept her suspicions of him to herself.

After a while, they arrived at a village. Huang Rong went to a large residence to look for the owner. The owner was very hospitable, when they heard someone was hurt, they quickly prepared two rooms for the guests. Guo Jing ate three bowls of rice, and then sat on the couch, closed his eyes and meditated. Huang Rong saw that her husband was resting, and managed to relax, sitting next to her husband guarding him. She thought about Yang Guo in all the situations they have been in, and felt although he was young, there are a lot of strange things that couldn't be explained, and when he was asked for detailed explanations, half of it was a lie. She made a mental note to herself to pay extra attention to Yang Guo and be wary of him. She'd had a tiresome day, and after a meal, she went to bed.

Yang Guo and Ke Zhen'E were sharing the same room, and in the middle of the night he quietly got up. When he heard Ke Zhen'E snoring in his deep sleep, he quietly opened the door, he slipped out of the room and went over to the wall, and to a Cinnamomum Cassia tree, climbed it, and leapt over the wall slipping away. The dogs outside the wall picked up a human scent, and started to bark. Yang Guo was prepared; he took out a piece of bone out of his bag, and threw it to them. The dogs bit onto the bone, and stopped their barking.

Yang Guo checked his bearings, and headed southwest, and in seven, eight li, he had reached the Iron Spear Monastery. He pushed open the doors and called out, "Father, I'm here!" He heard a noise coming in from within. It was Ouyang Feng. Yang Guo was happy, he went inside and felt out a table, and found candle. He lit it and saw Ouyang Feng reclining on top of some statues, his body unwell, and his breathing weak. He and Guo Jing have suffered similar injuries, but because Guo Jing has amassed an abundant amount of rich internal energy over the years, he is able to recover very rapidly; Ouyang Feng is closer to old age, his energy isn't as good.

What had happened on the previous night was that Ouyang Feng had come again for Yang Guo, but Ke Zhen'E was awake in the room, so they started to fight. Afterwards when Huang Rong and Guo Jing came and joined in the battle, Yang Guo was watching. Eventually both Ouyang Feng and Guo Jing had suffered injuries, and so Ouyang Feng escaped. In the chaos, everyone forgot about Yang Guo, and he sneaked away after Ouyang Feng. At first Ouyang Feng was moving at a fast pace, Yang Guo could not catch up, but Ouyang Feng's injury was agitated, moving was hard. Yang Guo eventually caught up and took him aside to rest. Yang Guo knew that if he didn't return Huang Rong and Ke Zhen'E would come and look for him, and feared his stepfather's life would be in danger. So he arranged with Ouyang Feng to meet in the Iron Spear Monastery. Both were familiar with the monastery so knew where it was. When Yang Guo was guarding the road, Guo Jing and the others had come up behind them. Only now, in the middle of the night, was he able to come and check. Yang Guo took seven or eight buns out of his bag and handed them over to Ouyang Feng, "Father, eat something." Ouyang Feng had nothing to eat for the whole day, he was frightened he would meet one of his enemies, and was stuck in the monastery all day. He ate a few of the buns and was conscious for a while and asked, "Where are you and the others at?" Yang Guo told him everything.

Ouyang Feng said, "The one named Guo suffered from one of my palms, it would be difficult for him to recover within seven days. His wife will have to look after him, she won't leave his side, and I'm worried about that Ke old man. If he doesn't come tonight, he will be here tomorrow. It's a pity I don't have an ounce of energy in me. Hmm...I think I did kill his brothers but I don't know whether is it four or five." As he said this he let out a cough.

Yang Guo sat on the floor, his hand on his cheeks, many thoughts going through his little mind and suddenly thought to himself, "I've got it, I'll put some sharp objects on the floor first, so when the old man comes he'll suffer some injuries."

He then went over to the table with the candles on it, and tipped out the candles and collected the holders, and placed them by the entrance, and then closed the entrance, and emptied an old incense holder and placed it on top of the door. He looked around, trying to think of more traps for any enemies, and saw a large bell hung in the room. Three people could not move the bell; it weighed about a thousand kilos. On the bell's neck were an extremely thick metal hook and a large wooden trestle system. The Iron Spear monastery was old and hasn't been maintained for a long time, but the large bell and system was undamaged. He thought, "If that old man comes, I will climb into the bell, he won't find me." He held the candle holders and was looking for sharp objects in the hall, when he suddenly heard a 'du du du' sound from the road, caused by a metal staff, and knew it was Ke Zhen'E and was going to blow out the candles when he thought, "That old man is blind, I don't need to blow it out." The sounds came closer, Ouyang Feng sat up and wanted to transfer all of his body's strength into his right hand, wanting to attack first and cause a violent death. Yang Guo turned the metal carvings on the candle holder up, and guarded Ouyang Feng and thought, although my martial arts skills are low, I will do my best to help stepfather to rid of the old man.

Ke Zhen'E knew that Ouyang Feng had a serious injury and would not be able to travel far; the Iron Spear Monastery was close by and an old hangout of his. He won't stay at an inn or at a family's shelter; he would hide in the monastery. He thought about his five brothers dying at his hands and today he has a chance to get revenge, would he be able to say no? In the midst of the night he woke up and called out, "Guo'er, Guo'er!" and when he heard no reply, he thought he was sound asleep. He didn't check and hurriedly went out. The two dogs outside the house were busy gnawing on the bone that Yang Guo threw at them and didn't bark when they saw him. He slowly made his way to the monastery, and listened carefully. Indeed there was the sound of breathing within the monastery. He shouted out, "Old animal, old man Ke is here, if you've got balls, come out now." As he said this he slammed his walking staff onto the ground. Ouyang Feng was afraid that he will lose the chi in his "dan tian" and didn't move.

Ke Zhen'E called out a few times, and stabbed his walking staff outside the monastery doors. He entered only to hear a clattering noise from above as the incense holder fell, his left foot stepped onto the candleholders metal protrusions and pierced his boots. Ke Zhen'E didn't understand and waved his metal walking stick about, when suddenly there was an extremely loud noise deafening him, he knocked away the incense holder and it rolled onto the floor, luckily the metal protrusions didn't pierce his foot. By his side were some more of those candleholders, one of them was piercing his shoulder. He pulled it out with his left hand and blood poured. He didn't dare to be careless anymore and listened for Ouyang Feng's breathing. His foot sliding across the ground, getting closer step by step, until he was three meters away. He held out his iron walking staff and said, "Old animal, what have you got to say today?" Ouyang Feng had already transferred all his energy into his right hand, when the opposition raises his weapon he would send out a palm, and take Ke Zhen'E with him. Ke Zhen'E knew that his enemy had suffered a serious injury, but didn't know how serious, he held his ground waiting for the opponent to move first; then he would know how much strength he has. The two of them stood there silently, motionless. Ke Zhen'E could hear his breathing was heavy, his mind suddenly filled with the voices of his stepbrothers Zhu Cong, Han Bao Ju, Nan Xi Ren and others. The voices urged him to act, he couldn't resist and with a loud shout, unleashed "King Qin's Whipping Stone" (qin wang bian shi), sending the iron walking staff smashing downwards.

Ouyang Feng moved liked lightning, wanting to strike out his palm, but as he moved his arm half an inch he couldn't hold on and fell down to the floor. He heard the a loud noise, sparks flying everywhere, the iron walking staff smashing down on the bricks of the floor. Ke Zhen'E missed with his first move, and raised his weapon again, and struck out in the direction of Ouyang Feng. The other day, Ouyang Feng just lightly pushed back and managed to force the iron walking staff out of his hand, and forced him to leap over the roof. But today Ouyang Feng's body was weak. He couldn't even use an ounce of his strength; he could only roll on the floor, trying to avoid the strikes. Ke Zhen'E used the "Dropping the Demon" set of strokes, with each stance faster than the last. Ouyang Feng was struggling to avoid the strokes, and eventually was hit by the "Concealed Medicine Poke" (Chu Fu Yao Cha) on the left shoulder.

Yang Guo was listening from the side, and couldn't hide his anguish, he wanted to help his stepfather, but with his level of martial arts, he would just be sending himself to his death. Ke Zhen'E managed to strike Ouyang Feng again; this time on the body. Ouyang Feng deserved what he was getting today, but his internal energy was deep. Though he had no power to attack, he could still avoid and parry some attacks. Only superficial injuries were apparent on him, his joints and his internal organs were still unharmed. Ke Zhen'E was slightly surprised, and thought to himself, that old animal's ability is certainly not simple, every time when it seems like I'm about to hit him, he manages to slip away. He manages to dissipate ninety percent of the power in my hits. If I utilize a soft type of attack, he won't be able to dodge. He then transferred his energy into his staff, and attacked his head. Ouyang Feng moved his head and managed to avoid the attacks for a few times but all of a sudden, he was trapped by the walking staff's wind, and he suffered a blow on the head. He managed to keep a hold of his life.

By luck he found himself within grasping range of Ke Zhen'E and grabbed his chest. Ke Zhen'E moved his walking staff out of reach of the enemy. He could only retaliate with his hands. The both of them rolled down on the floor together. Ouyang Feng didn't dare release his hands, and held on tighter. His left hand reached for his waist, he felt something solid and reached out to grab it. It was a knife. It was Zhang Ah Sheng (One of Ke Zhen'E's stepbrothers) weapon, the slaughtering cow blade, however contrary to its name; it can't actually be used to slaughter cows. The knife can chop gold and break jade; its sharpness cannot be compared. After Cheng Ahsheng was killed by Chen Xuanfeng in the plains of Mongolia, Ke Zhen'E has kept the knife by his side to remind himself of him, and it never left him. Ouyang Feng went closer in to his body and snatched the knife out; he twisted his left arm, and aimed to pierce his enemy's side. As the knife was about to enter, Ke Zhen'E released his staff, and punched Ouyang Feng with his right hand a few times. Ouyang Feng was dazed, and waved the knife in the direction of the enemy. Ke Zhen'E heard the wind of the knife, and dodged away, only to hear a 'dang' sound, the sound didn't die down; the knife had struck the hall's large bell. Although this thrust by Ouyang Feng didn't carry much force, the knife's blade was extremely sharp, and caused it to quiver.

Yang Guo was standing next to the bell, the tip of the knife was heading for his cheeks. Yang Guo was frightened, his heart jumping to his throat, and quickly scrambled on top of the bell. After this move, Ouyang Feng went behind the bell. The bell's ringing had not diminished so Ke Zhen'E could not hear the breathing sounds. He went to the side and tried to pick up the sounds. The moonlight shone on the hall in the monastery; his hair was a mess, and he was leaning on the staff listening, his appearance frightening. Yang Guo saw what had happened and reached out for the knife, and then thrust it at the bell, causing a loud 'dang' sound, covering their breathing. Ke Zhen'E heard where the sound came from and headed in that direction. Ouyang Feng was still behind the bell. Ke Zhen'E stuck out his walking staff, Ouyang Feng evaded it.

The staff struck the bell and caused another loud deafening noise. Yang Guo felt his eardrums starting to hurt. Ke Zhen'E understood, and didn't aim for the bell. The ringing sound had not disappeared when another noise came from behind, getting clearer. Ouyang Feng was concerned, although Guo Jing is hurt, if the ringing continues, Huang Rong would eventually come and help. While the sound of the bell was deafening, he would take the chance to lightly step away and escape from the back of the hall. But Ke Zhen'E had very sensitive hearing, even with the loud ringing noise; he could still distinguish between light sounds, and heard the steps of Ouyang Feng. He knocked the bell with his staff, to lure out Ouyang Feng; when he is out in the open, he would attack his upper body with his walking staff. Although Ouyang Feng strength is weak at the moment, he has experienced a lifetime of storms and squalls (troubles and battles), how would he not know the tactics and tricks used in battle? When he saw Ke Zhen'E's right shoulder was raised, he knew what was going on, before the iron walking staff was raised, he moved back behind the bell. After he had suffered the serious injury, Ouyang Feng had already found it hard to move; though he has developed a profound level of internal energy in the last ten years, in this life-threatening situation he was unable to call upon it.

Ke Zhen'E called out, "Even if I don't kill you, you are going to die," and went over to the bell. Yang Guo saw the two circling around the bell, if this is kept up, his stepfather will definitely weaken. He suddenly thought of something, and climbed up on top of the bell and waved his hands about, trying to signal with his hands. Ouyang Feng was preoccupied with his enemy and didn't see this. Only after two more circles did he see Yang Guo, his hands pointing to the floor and telling him to move away. He didn't understand what he meant, but if he wanted him to move away, he must have a plan so he hurried move out the way. Ke Zhen'E didn't move, he first needed to hear which direction his enemy moved in. Yang Guo took off his shoes and threw them to the back of the hall, making two thud sounds. Ke Zhen'E was baffled; he had heard Ouyang Feng was moving towards the doors so how come there was a noise at the back of the hall? When Ke Zhen'E was distracted, Yang Guo grasped the 'Slaughter Cow' knife, and with all his strength chopped at the wooden beam holding the large bell up. The beam was thick, Yang Guo was weak, the precious blade sharp; could he chop the beam in half? However the metal bell was extremely heavy, and after a few chops by the blade, the beam could not support the bell any longer. A creaking sound followed and the beam snapped, the large bell generated a wind as it fell, heading straight down on the Ke Zhen'E's head.

Ke Zhen'E had already heard the wind generated above him, thinking it was strange. The large bell fell down, he couldn't escape but the bell landed straight down on the iron walking staff, the staff held up the bell. As the bell was hindered he took this chance and slipped out of the way. He then heard a metallic snapping noise, and the metal walking staff snapped in half. The bell tipped over and rolled along the ground, hitting Ke Zhen'E in the shoulder, and flinging him out of the hall. He rolled around a few times and eventually landed on his nose, causing a nosebleed, his forehead also had a cut. Ke Zhen'E was blind and couldn't see anything, and didn't know what caused this. He was afraid that there was some strange being in the hall, and got up and escaped.

Ouyang Feng was by the side watching this, his heart able to relax and said, "What a pity, what a pity. Good son, very clever!"

Yang Guo climbed down, pleased with himself, and said, "That old man won't dare to come back."

Ouyang Feng shook his head saying, "He has a profound hatred for me, after a while, he will come back."

Yang Guo said, "We must go quickly."

Ouyang Feng shook his head again and said, "My injury is very serious, I won't be able to get far." He had escaped temporarily, but now he felt his bones were coming loose, he couldn't even move one step.

"What should we do?"

Ouyang Feng thought for a while and said, "There is a way. Break another bell's beam, and put me underneath it."

"How would you get out?" asked Yang Guo.

"I'll be meditating under the bell for seven days. After my strength has returned, I will be able to escape. If the old man returns within these seven days, he doesn't have the ability to lift the bell up. If Huang Rong doesn't come, I doubt if there is anyone that can break through. If Huang Rong does come, then the plan may fail."

Yang Guo thought carefully, and knew apart from this plan, nothing else will work. So he asked carefully again will he be able to escape from the bell without anyone's help and then said, "You won't have anything to eat within these seven days, right?"

Ouyang Feng said, "Go and find a basin, and fill it with clean water and place it beside me. There are still a few buns left. This will last for seven days if I eat them slowly."

Yang Guo went to the kitchen and found a large basin, and then filled it with clean water. He then placed it underneath another hung bell, and supported his stepfather directly underneath it, and sat him down.

Ouyang Feng said, "Son, follow the one called Guo. I will come and find you later on." Yang Guo agreed and climbed up to the bell, and broke the beam, sending the bell down, covering Ouyang Feng.

Yang Guo shouted out 'Father'. When he didn't hear a reply, he knew that he couldn't hear from within. As he was about to leave, he couldn't let go and went back to find another basin and filled it with water and placed it next to the bell. He then flipped over and placed his left hand in the bowl, and followed the method to reverse blood flow taught by Ouyang Feng to force some poison out. As he had just begun practicing this skill, he could only force out ten or so drops of blood before his head was full of sweat. Afterwards he ripped off some of the cloth from the statues, and then wrapped it around a rod, dipped it into the blood and water mixture, and covered the bell with it. He thought that if Ke Zhen'E does return, if he tries to move the bell, he would definitely be poisoned for sure.

Another thing that came to his attention was that his stepfather would definitely suffocate to death under the bell in seven days, so he would use the knife to dig out a brick tile beside the bell, and dig out a hole the size of a fist to allow the circulation of air. As he was digging the hole, the blade struck at another slab of stone underneath the tile and snapped. The blade was sharp, but it was very thin, and as he was digging the precious blade snapped. He didn't know the blade was precious, it wasn't his and he didn't feel it was a pity and threw the knife away. He knelt down on the ground and spoke through the opening, "Father, I'm going now. Come and collect me soon. Be careful when you come out, there is poison on the bell." Yang Guo bent his ear to the opening and hear Ouyang Feng replied weakly, "Good son, I'm not scared of poison; the poison should be scared of me. You be careful. I will definitely come back for you."

Yang Guo sat there for a while not willing to leave yet, but then started to hurry back; worried that Ke Zhen'E will notice that he has gone. When he got back to the room, he saw that Ke Zhen'E had not returned to the room, neither was he outside.

When morning came, he heard someone using a branch knocking on his door. He leapt out of his bed and opened the door. He saw it was Ke Zhen'E supporting himself on a wooden branch, his face grey and pale; he leant over into the room and fell onto the floor. Yang Guo noticed that his hands were black, he indeed did return to find Ouyang Feng. He was pleased that he had fallen into the trap that was left for him and pretended to be concerned, and shouted, "Grandpa Ke, what's the matter?"

Huang Rong and Guo Jing heard the shout, and hurried to see what the matter was; when they saw Ke Zhen'E on the floor they gasped. Guo Jing was still injured and struggled to walk, and so it was Huang Rong who supported Ke Zhen'E onto the bed. She asked, "First master, what did you do?"

Ke Zhen'E shook his head, and didn't reply. Huang Rong saw his hands were black and said angrily, "It was that Li bitch again. Brother Jing, I'll go and battle her." She tied her belt and walked out.

"It wasn't her," said Ke Zhen'E.

Huang Rong returned and asked, "Who was it then?"

Ke Zhen'E couldn't defeat a man who hasn't even got the strength to kill a chicken and it was he in return that was injured. It reflected badly on him. Ke Zhen'E was a stiff-necked man, it was what was called, 'tired of the ginger being old and not spicy', and didn't say a word about his wound. The two knew his behavior, if he wants to say, he will say it. The more they ask the angrier he'll get. It was lucky that the poison only got on his skin; the potency wasn't that strong. He'll feel a bit light headed, after taking a "Nine Flower Jade Dew" pill, he'll be alright.

Huang Rong already planned what they should do; at the moment Guo Jing and Ke Zhen'E are hurt, Li Mochou's poison is trouble, so the children and two wounded must be sent to Peach Blossom Island. Later on she will find Li Mochou and settle this score. They spent the morning resting in the inn, in the afternoon they got on a boat and headed east.

Yang Guo was happy with the fact that Huang Rong did not attempt to find Ouyang Feng and thought, "Father was scared that Auntie Guo will come and search for him. Auntie Guo is such a beautiful lady, could it be that she is more powerful than Ke Zhen'E?"

The boat had traveled for half a day, the sky now getting dark. The boat anchored by the shore, the owners of the boat preparing the rice for supper. Guo Fu saw that Yang Guo had ignored her when she wanted to talk and argue with him. She sat by the window, and looked out. Under the shade of willow trees were two boys sobbing, it looked like the two Wu brothers. Guo Fu shouted out, "Hey, what are you doing there?"

Wu Xiuwen replied, "We are crying, can't you see?"

Guo Fu said, "What's the matter, did your mother beat you?"

Wu Xiuwen said, "My mum's dead!"

Huang Rong gasped when she heard this and leapt onto the shore. She saw the boys sobbing over their mother. Madam Wu's face was completely black, she had died a long time ago. Huang Rong asked for news of Wu Santong and Wu Dunru replied, "We don't know where he went."

Wu Xiuwen said, "Mother sucked the poison out of father, a lot of black blood came out. Father got better, while mother died. When father saw that mother had died, he went mad again. We called after him, but he ignored us and went away." They cried as they said this.

Huang Rong thought, "Madam Wu sacrificed herself for her husband, she is a great woman." She asked, "Are you hungry?" The boys nodded their heads. Huang Rong sighed and ordered the boat keeper to take the boys on board and feed them. When they reached a town, she bought a wooden coffin for Madam Wu, and prepared her body for it. She bought a piece of land and buried her at dawn. The brothers sobbed in front of the grave.

Guo Jing said, "Rong'er, the two boys have lost their parents, why don't we take them back to Peach Blossom Island and we'll care for them." Huang Rong agreed, and took the boys under her wing. They traveled on the boat until they reached the sea, and then hired a large boat and headed east, towards Peach Blossom Island.

End of chapter 2.

Chapter 3 - Seeking Tutelage at Mount Zhongnan

Translated by Noodles

Wu Xiu Wen jumped on Yang Guo's body. Held down by the two brothers, four fists rained down fiercely on him. Yang Guo bit his teeth and didn't make a sound. Guo Fu saw the beating was severe and was a little bit scared. But when she felt the red mark left by Yang Guo on her, she felt pleased and shouted out, "Hit him harder, harder!"

Guo Jing meditated on the boat, and after a few days, his energy has recovered by more than half. Huang Rong and Guo Jing raised the topic of Ouyang Feng, saying they hadn't seen him in ten years. Not only does it seem he hasn't aged much but his kung fu has improved. That palm he struck in Guo Jing's chest was lethal; it will take at least ten days to half a month to fully recover. The two moved on to Hong Qigong, they didn't know where he was and missed him very much. Huang Rong lived on the Peach Blossom Island, but she held the position of the Beggar Clan leader so all the clan's affairs had to be cleared through her. One of the reasons she returned to Jiangnan was to meet with elder Zhu and discuss what was happening with the clan, and to search for news of Hong Qigong. But Guo Jing had suffered an injury, so they had to return to the island first. Then they talked about Yang Guo, and Huang Rong called him into the boat and told him to explain everything. Yang Guo told them that his mother had died due to an illness, and how he had wandered around in Jiaying afterwards. The Guo couple reminisced about their friendship with Mu Nianci and couldn't help but feel depressed. After Yang Guo had returned to the deck, Guo Jing said, "I've always had one wish and you know this. Today, heaven has given me this chance to see Guo'er, my wish can be completed."

Years ago, Guo Jing's father Guo Xiaotian and Yang Guo's grandfather Yang Tiexin became brothers, and both their wives were pregnant. The two agreed that if their wives gave births to boys, they will become brothers; if they were girls they would be sisters; if it was one girl and one boy then it would be arranged for them be married. Eventually they had two boys, Guo Jing and Yang Guo's father Yang Kang became brothers. However Yang Kang recognized an enemy as his father, his deeds were unchivalrous and eventually he died tragically near Jiaying's Iron Spear Temple. Guo Jing still felt responsible for this. When he mentioned this, Huang Rong understood his intentions and said, "I won't agree."

Guo Jing asked, with light surprise, "Agree what?"

Huang Rong said, "Fu'er won't be married to that boy."

Guo Jing said, "His father didn't do any good, but our families friendship is a long one. Yang Guo has a handsome face, he's extremely clever, and under our teaching he will achieve great things in the future."

Huang Rong said, "I'm afraid that he is too clever for his own good."

Guo Jing replied, "Weren't you clever? What is wrong with that?"

Huang Rong laughed and said, "I eventually fell for a dumb boy."

Guo Jing chuckled and said, "When Fu'er grows up, she may not find a dumb boy to love. Anyway, another boy as dumb as me, I doubt there'll be another one."

Huang Rong put on a shy face and said, "Are they rare?" The two joked around for a few more words before Guo Jing turned serious and said, "My father only had one wish, Uncle Yang Tie Xin also relied on me before he died. I didn't do my best with brother Yang and sister Mu. If I don't treat Guo'er as my own, how can I face father and uncle Yang?" He sighed, and looked disappointed.

Huang Rong gently said, "The two of them are young, there is no need to rush. If in the future Guo'er doesn't develop any bad points, then you can do what you like."

Guo Jing got up and clapped his hands, his spirits raised and said, "Thank you for your permission; I can't say how thankful I am."

Huang Rong replied, "I didn't agree to anything. All I said was watch what becomes of Guo'er in the future."

Guo Jing stood up and his waist straightened. He knew what Huang Rong meant and said, "Brother Yang Kang was raised in the palace of the Jin, and learned his ways from them. Guo'er will be on our island and he won't turn bad. It was I who named him all those years ago. His name is Yang Guo, "to correct past mistakes"; if he does do wrong he will be able to change and right it. You can relax."

Huang Rong laughed and said, "How can a name decide things? You are called Guo Jing, are you peaceful and quiet? Ever since you were young, you would jump around like a big monkey." Guo Jing thought about what she said, and wasn't able to respond. Huang Rong smiled, and changed the subject, and didn't mention the affair again.

The boat was quiet as they reached the island. Guo Fu was ecstatic that she had gained two little friends who were about the same age as her. Yang Guo had taken Huang Rong's antidote, and now his poison had dissipated completely. He and Guo Fu had their arguments when they first met, but they were still kids. After a few days they had forgotten about it. However in a few days, the four would argue again in game of catching crickets.

One day, Yang Guo came out of the house, looking for crickets again. He was relaxing, enjoying the scenery and whistling to himself when he suddenly heard laughing and joking behind the hills. He rushed to have a look, and saw Guo Fu and the Wu brothers lifting rocks and pushing aside grass; they were looking for crickets. Wu Dunru was holding a bamboo tube, Guo Fu was holding a basin. Wu Xiuwen moved a rock and gave a laugh, a large cricket jumped out. Wu Xiuwen jumped on it, and held it with his two hands and laughed joyfully. Guo Fu said, "Give it to me, gimme."

Wu Xiuwen picked the cricket up and said, "Fine, I'll give it to you." He opened the lid of the basin and put the cricket in. The cricket's head and legs looked healthy, it had a thick waist and abdomen, and it looked like a spirited cricket. Wu Xiuwen said, "This cricket is going to be an invincible general, brother Yang, all the crickets that you have caught won't be a match." Yang Guo was unconvinced and took out a few bamboo tubes containing crickets. He picked out his liveliest one to fight. After a few rounds, the large cricket bit the waist of Yang Guo's cricket, causing it to slip out of the basin, fluttering its wings, looking weird.

Guo Fu laughed, "I won!"

Yang Guo said, "Wait, I've got more." He took out three but they lost too, the third one bitten in half by the large cricket. Yang Guo's face turned and said, "I'm not playing." and turned around and walked away. Suddenly he heard three "ji" noises behind him in the grass, it was the call of a cricket, but it sounded different than normal.

Wu Dunru said, "Another one." He parted the grass and suddenly jumped back, gasping, "Snake, snake!" Yang Guo turned around and saw a striped poisonous snake, flicking its tongue out of the grass. Yang Guo picked up a stone, and aimed it at the snake. It struck it on the head, the snake twisted and turned a few times and died. He saw beside the dead snake was a black cricket, its appearance strange, spreading out its wings to call out. Guo Fu laughed and said, "Brother Yang, catch the black one."

Yang Guo heard that there was a ridiculing tone behind her words. Yang Guo's proud character rose and said, "Fine." He then went and caught it.

Guo Fu chuckled and said, "That thing, what do you want it for? You want to battle with my invincible general?"

Yang Guo said, "If you want to battle fine, this little one won't let others bully it." He placed the black cricket into Guo Fu's basin. What was strange was that when the large cricket saw the small black one, it looked startled and seemed to shrink away from it. Guo Fu and the Wu brothers shouted and called out to encourage it. The little black cricket raised its head and jumped in front of the big one. The big cricket, not daring to face it in battle, wanted to jump out of the basin. The black cricket jumped up and, high in midair, bit the end of the large cricket, and both of them fell out of the air. The large cricket shook a few times, and then turned on its abdomen and died. Amongst crickets, there are types, which liked to live with poisonous worms or with poisonous centipedes. This type is called the "Centipede Cricket" and those which live with poisonous snakes are called "Snake Crickets". Because of the poison on it, the normal types of cricket aren't their match. Yang Guo's cricket was a "Snake Cricket".

Guo Fu was very displeased with the fact that her invincible general had died, and after thinking for a while said to Yang Guo, "Brother Yang, give the black one to me."

Yang Guo replied, "Giving it to you originally wasn't a problem, but why did you ridicule the little black one?"

Guo Fu replied, "If you don't give it to me fine, who wants it?" She picked up her basin and turned it over, the little black cricket fell onto the ground, and she squashed it with her right foot. Yang Guo gasped, his blood began to boil, his face went red, he couldn't control himself and he hit her hard by the side of the ear.

Guo Fu didn't know whether to stay quiet or cry. Wu Xiuwen shouted at him, "The little boy hits people!" and threw a fist towards Yang Guo's chest. His family's skills are deep. Ever since he was little his parents had taught him martial arts, so his martial arts roots are good, the fist that was coming towards Yang Guo's chest was not light. Yang Guo flared up, and threw a fist back but Wu Xiuwen dodged it. Yang Guo leapt up to attack, but Wu Dunru stuck out his leg to hook Yang Guo's leg, Yang Guo fell on the ground. Wu Xiuwen turned around and jumped on Yang Guo's body. Held down by the two brothers, four fists rained down fiercely on him.

Though Yang Guo was two years older, it was difficult for two fists to defend against four. The Wu brothers had been taught some higher martial arts, and Yang Guo had only learnt very basic martial arts from Mu Nianci. He wasn't their match. He bit his teeth and didn't make a sound.

Wu Dunru said, "If you apologize and beg we'll let you go."

Yang Guo shouted, "Never!"

Wu Xiuwen threw out another two fists. Guo Fu was watching aside pleased that the Wu brothers were helping her to get revenge.

The Wu brothers knew that if they attacked the head, it would leave wounds, and if Guo Jing and Huang Rong found out, they would be blamed. So they treated Yang Guo's body with fists and kicks. Guo Fu saw the beating was severe and was a little bit scared. But when she felt the red mark left by Yang Guo by her ear, she felt pleased and shouted out, "Hit him harder, harder!" The Wu brothers listened, and hit harder.

Yang Guo was on the ground, and when he heard Guo Fu's instructions he thought, "Guo Fu you evil little bitch, I'm going to get you for this." He felt extreme pain all over his back and it looked as if he would endure more. The Wu brothers had practiced martial arts since they were young, so their punches and kicks were strong. A normal adult wouldn't withstand it. If Yang Guo had not practiced a bit of internal energy, he would have long ago fainted. He bit his teeth harder and waved his hands wildly. Then he suddenly felt a cold and slippery object; it was the dead poisonous snake. He picked it up and threw it back at the Wu brothers.

When the Wu brothers saw the stripped poisonous snake, they gasped. Yang Guo turned his body around, and threw a fierce fist, hitting Wu Dunru in the nose causing a nosebleed. Yang Guo scampered up and quickly ran away. The Wu brothers were indignant, and chased after him. Guo Fu shouted out, "Catch him, catch him!" and followed.

Yang Guo ran on for a while and then turned around to see Wu Dunru's face full of blood, the expression on his face was furious, and knew if he was caught by the two brothers he would suffer an even more severe beating than before. So he ran and hurried to the foot of "Practicing Sword Peak", and climbed up.

Though Wu Dunru's face was full of blood, the wound didn't really hurt. It was just that feeling his face full of blood that made him angry, and he hurried after Yang Guo. Yang Guo climbed up the peak with the Wu brothers close behind unrelenting. Guo Fu was at the foot of the peak, hearing the footsteps she looked up and was pleased to see what was happening. Yang Guo hurried for a while, only to see a cliff, with nowhere else to go. Years ago, whenever Huang Yaoshi invented a new stance, he would jump across the chasm and then go to the peak top and practice it. Could Yang Guo jump across? He thought, "I'd rather jump and die, than get caught by those two and get beaten up again." He turned around and shouted, "If you come one step closer I'll jump!" Wu Dunru stopped, while Wu Xiuwen shouted back, "Jump if you want, who cares about you? You don't have the guts anyway!" As he said this he crept closer.

Yang Guo's blood rose again, and was about to jump when he saw a large loose rock from the corner of his eye. In a rush of blood and not thinking about the consequences, he stretched out his hand to move the smaller stones, the large stone did indeed begin to move. He moved behind the large stone, and pushed with all his strength, the stone bounced twice and after a crashing sound, the stone began to roll down the hill. The Wu brothers were shocked when they saw him push the stone, the colour of their faces changed, and they hurriedly moved out of the way. The large stone carried numerous pieces of dirt and sand, and after moving past the Wu brothers, turned over many flowers and plants before heading into the sea. Wu Dunru panicked, his foot slipped, and he started to roll down. Wu Xiuwen caught him a rush. The two of them couldn't stand up on the slope and the both of them rolled down for about sixty or seventy feet; luckily a tree managed to block their path.

Huang Rong was in the house when she heard a sound far away, and followed the sound quickly to "Practicing Sword Peak", only to see a field of dirt and sand, her daughter hidden in the grass, so frightened that she couldn't cry, and the Wu brothers' heads and faces full of blood. Huang Rong picked up her daughter and asked, "What happened?" Guo Fu buried herself into her mother and cried. After she finished crying she explained that Yang Guo had hit her for no reason, and when the Wu brothers helped her, Yang Guo wanted to roll a stone on them to kill them. She pushed all the blame onto Yang Guo. She didn't say anything about her squashing his cricket, or the Wu brothers beating Yang Guo. Huang Rong listened, and saw the red mark left on Guo Fu's face, the slap must have been strong, and she sympathized with her and comforted her.

Guo Jing also hurried to the scene, and saw the Wu brothers hurt and asked what happened. He was angry but also concerned about Yang Guo, and hurried up to the peak; he searched around but couldn't see a trace of him. He raised his voice and called out, "Guo'er, Guo'er." The loud voice resonated out for miles, but he did not see Yang Guo, nor did he hear a reply. Guo Jing waited a while becoming increasingly concerned and eventually descended down from the peak. He rowed around the island in a boat, searching for him until it was dark but still he couldn't see a trace of Yang Guo.

When Yang Guo pushed the stone and saw the Wu brothers roll down the peak, he had seen Huang Rong coming, and knew he would face a heavy punishment and so hid himself among the rocks in the cliff. He heard Guo Jing's call but did not reply. Yang Guo was hungry but he did not move from his hiding place among the rocks. He saw it was approaching dusk, the sea beginning to darken, and there was no sound of people anywhere nearby. After a while, the sky was lit up with stars, a cool wind was blowing; he felt cold and came out of his hiding place and gazed down the mountain. He saw clearly a light coming out from the window, and imagined the Guo couple, Ke Zhen'E, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers, eating a meal around the table; chicken, duck, fish and meat filling the table, and couldn't stop by drooling. But he thought of how they were talking about his punishment behind his back, and couldn't help but be furious. He stood there at the foot of the mountain, in the sea breeze he thought about how he had been bullied all his life, everyone looking at him coldly; he was filled with a feeling of indignity.

In reality, when Guo Jing could not find Yang Guo, how could he eat? When Huang Rong saw that her husband was troubled, she knew he wouldn't listen to her so she did the same as him, and accompanied him in his torment. Before the next day was bright the two went out searching again. Yang Guo had endured hunger for a day and a half now, and on the second morning he gave in, descended the peak, and went to a stream and caught some frogs. He peeled off their skin and picked up some dry leaves, wanting to roast them on a fire. He was by the streamside and wanted to cook the frogs immediately to cure his hunger but thought that Guo Jing and Huang Rong might see the smoke, so he went into a cave and prepared the fire. As soon as the frog's legs were golden, he ate straight away, eating a leg in one big bite. He suddenly heard Guo Jing's voice calling out, "Guo'er, Guo'er!? He thought, "You want me to come out so you can beat me, I'm not going to come out."

That night he slept in the cave and after he had slept for a while, he awoke suddenly and saw Ouyang Feng come into the cave. He said, "Son, I've come to teach you kung fu in order for you to avoid getting beat up by the two little Wus." Yang Guo was happily surprised and followed him out of the cave, only to see him crouch on the ground, and gave out a few "gu" sounds before pushing out two palms. Yang Guo tried to follow, but his palms and kicks weren't the same. Ouyang Feng curled his hand into a fist and threw it out, Yang Guo couldn't avoid it and it landed on top of his head, the pain was severe and he got up.

After being hit on the head, he woke up; it seemed it was all just a dream. He felt his head, and came across a bump. It ached severely and he sighed repeatedly, thinking, "It looks like father has recovered and has escaped from the bell. When is he going to come and collect me, and teach me kung fu so I can avoid being bullied by others?"

He went out of the cave, and looked up at the sky, and saw many stars hanging within the branches of the trees, and remembered that Ouyang Feng had taught him kung fu. He had forgotten about this; he crouched down, gave out a few “gu” calls; he wanted to use the formula of the “Toad Stance” that Ouyang Feng had taught him in Jiaying. He tried to use his fists and legs, but whatever he did, he couldn’t do this stance. He searched his mind, and threw out two palms, like he did in his dream, but that was a completely different thing. He was alone at the foot of the peak, and stared out at the sea, the lonely feeling in his heart was stronger than ever. Suddenly he heard a gentle voice from the sea calling, “Guo’er, Guo’er.” He immediately replied, “I’m here. I’m here.” He ran down onto the beach where Guo Jing could see him from faraway. In high spirits Guo Jing rowed quickly to the shore, and jumped onto the beach. The stars shone on the two as they rushed to each other. He picked up Yang Guo into his chest and just said, “Come back and have supper.” He was emotional, his voice almost cracking. When they reached the house, Huang Rong had prepared supper for them. They never mentioned what had happened again.

At dawn the next day, he called Yang Guo, the Wu brothers and Guo Fu out the hall, and invited Ke Zhen’E as well. He instructed the four disciples to kowtow to the six Jiangnan Freaks headstone, and then said to Ke Zhen’E, “Senior Master, I request your permission to take in four grand apprentices.”

Ke Zhen’E was delighted and said, “That will be for the best, I congratulate you.” Guo Jing then instructed Yang Guo, the Wu brothers to first kowtow to Ke Zhen’E and then underwent the ritual of a new disciple to a master towards the Guo couple.

Guo Fu smiled and asked, “Mother, I need to do this as well?”

Huang Rong replied, "Of course."

Guo Fu gleefully kowtowed to the three.

Guo Jing said seriously, "From today onwards, you four are apprentice brothers."

Guo Fu interrupted, "Wrong, its apprentice brother and sister."

Guo Jing gave his daughter a look and said, "When father has not finished speaking, don't open your mouth." He waited and then said, "From now on you four must treat each other with love and respect, share in good fortune and suffer in misery together. If there are any disturbances or conflicts, I won't look lightly upon it." He looked at Yang Guo when he said this. Yang Guo thought, "As long as you treat your daughter the same, then I won't push her around."

Ke Zhen'E took over, and passed on the rules and regulations of their school, it was the usual don't bully the weak, don't harm the innocents. The Seven Freaks had numerous rules but Ke Zhen'E couldn't remember all of them so just said the main ones. Guo Jing said, "I have learned a variety of skills, apart from the skills of the Jiangnan Seven Heroes (this is what Guo Jing called them.). The Quanzhen Sect's internal energy, the Peach Blossom Island and Beggars Clan's skills; I have learned a bit of all of them. You mustn't forget your roots so today I will teach you Grand Master's skills first.

As he was about to pass on the formula, Huang Rong saw that Yang Guo's head was down and his body was sticking out, his face had an indescribable aura, like Yang Kang's. Her heart was troubled, and thought, "Although his father didn't die directly by my hands, it could be said that I caused his death. If I don't watch over him, he will become trouble in the future." She smiled as she thought of a plan, "Teaching four of them will be hard work. I'll teach Guo'er." Before Guo Jing could agree, Ke Zhen'E clapped his hand and said, "What an excellent idea! Your intelligence is incomparable; you can definitely make something out of this disciple." Guo Jing was pleased in his heart, he knew his wife was infinitely cleverer than him, her methods must exceed his. He didn't open his mouth to object.

Guo Fu was afraid of her father's strictness and said, "Mother, I want you to teach me."

Huang Rong smiled, "You want me because you can cause trouble and you won't be able to learn any kung fu. It will be better if your father teaches you." Guo Fu sneaked a glance at her father, and saw him staring at her; she turned around and didn't dare speak out again.

Huang Rong spoke to her husband and said, "We will set a rule: you mustn't teach Guo'er and I won't teach your three. The four of them can't pass on skills to each other, just in case they practice incorrectly, there is no need to get hurt for no reason."

Guo Jing replied, "Of course."

Huang Rong said, "Guo'er, follow me."

Yang Guo loathed Guo Fu and the Wu brothers, when he heard what Huang Rong had said, about not mixing with the other students, it was what he wanted, and followed her into the inner hall. Huang Rong led him to the study, and picked up a book saying, "Your teacher had seven teachers, their names were the Jiangnan Seven Freaks, first master is Grandpa Ke, second master was the Swift Hand Scholar Zhu Cong, now I will teach his skills to you."

As she said this she opened the book and read clearly, "Zi Yue: When practicing what you are taught, can you change? If you've got friends all over, is it extreme?" (N.B. Sorry about this translation, it's supposedly from "The Analects of Confucius", my Chinese is not at the level where I can decipher old sayings and writings.) The book that she picked was "The Analects of Confucius". Yang Guo thought this was strange but didn't dare to question her, and just repeated what she read and wrote down what she said. Throughout the day, all Huang Rong taught him was reading and writing, and refused to mention teaching kung fu.

One day after Yang Guo finished studying, he went to the back of the mountain to take a walk, and remembered Ouyang Feng. He didn't know where he was, he thought of fond memories, and at that moment flipped his body upside down, and copied the movements of Ouyang Feng. After a while, following the formula for contrary blood flow, he felt the more he stayed upside down the smoother it felt. He flipped upright and after a loud "gu" call, pushed out his two palms. He felt his body was smooth and relaxed, the gracefulness incomparable, and his body was covered with sweat. He didn't know that after a session of practicing, his internal energy had increased a level. All Ouyang Feng's kung fu was dangerous; the most lethal types of the higher set of skills. Yang Guo's intelligence and comprehension was high. Although he had learned very little in the past few days, now that he had begun to practice, his internal energy improved.

From now on, he would study and recite books and manuscripts with Huang Rong everyday, and whenever he had spare time in the evenings he would go to the secluded mountainside and practice his martial arts. He didn't intend to practice in order to learn the frightening skill; it was because every time he practiced, his body would be filled with a relaxed feeling. After he has achieved this then he would stop.

He secretly practiced and Guo Jing and Huang Rong didn't know. Huang Rong taught him literature, and within three months she had taught him the whole of "The Analects of Confucius". Yang Guo was able to memorize the texts quickly. Yang Guo was able to memorize the texts quickly. Though he disliked learning texts and manuscripts, he didn't raise any objections.

In reality, Huang Rong was not happy just teaching him how to read and study, but thought, "His intelligence is not below mine and if his character is like his father's and he learns kung fu he could definitely cause a lot of trouble in the future. Why not teach him to study, and shape him into a worthy and honest person. That had its good points." That's why she picked "The Analects of Confucius" and now she would follow it with "Meng Zi".

A few months past and Huang Rong had still not passed on any martial arts, nor had Yang Guo asked about it. Ever since the fight with the other children, he had not tried to mingle with them, and kept himself to himself, becoming even more of a loner. He thought that although Guo Jing had taken him in as a student, he didn't have the intention of passing any skills to him. He already wasn't a match for the Wu brothers. If he had a fight with them after a year or so under Guo Jing's teachings, it would be difficult for him not to die at their hands. He made a decision, when there was a chance to leave the island, he would take it.

One afternoon when Yang Guo was supposed to study a few passages of "Meng Zi", he slipped out of the library and went out for a walk on the beach. He looked out at the sea, at the white waves and foam, and thought, "When will I be able to leave this place, and happily leave the others where they are." As he was gazing, he suddenly heard some wind sounds from the Peach Blossom forest. Curious, he went over to have a look, and eventually found his way. From a distance could see it was Guo Jing in the forest teaching the Wu brothers some fists and kicks. He was teaching them a stance of the "Trapping Hand", "Holding the Bridge", "Changing the Pillar" (tuo liang huan zhu). Guo Jing gave them pointers, and then demonstrated it, instructing the Wu brothers to copy him. Yang Guo just took a glance, and recognized the essence of the stance immediately, but the Wu brothers practiced and practiced but couldn't quite get it. Guo Jing himself wasn't the best at picking things up immediately, and knew how hard things could be, so did not lose his temper with them and repeated this move again.

Yang Guo sighed and thought, "If Uncle Guo was willing to teach me, I wouldn't be as stupid as them." Feeling unhappy, he returned to his room and slept. After supper he read a few more books, but thought this was a waste of his time and so he went to the beach again. He practiced the punch and kicks that Guo Jing taught, and went over it a few times before he started to feel troubled and thought, "If I secretly practice their skills to a much better standard than the Wu brothers, I won't have to be scared of them." This idea initially was good but as he thought about it he changed his mind. "Uncle Guo doesn't want to teach me so why should I learn it in secret? Hmm... even if he decides to teach me, I won't learn it. I may get beaten to death but who cares?" As he thought about this, he felt pride but also sadness. He sat and leaned on the cliff face; the soothing sound of the waves of the sea eventually sending him to sleep.

In the morning, Yang Guo did not go for breakfast, nor did he go to the library to study, he was by the sea and managed to gather several large clams which he roasted on a fire and ate. He thought, "Even if I don't eat Guo food, I won't starve to death." He saw a large boat and a small boat by the shore. "I won't be able to operate that large boat, and I can't row far in that small boat, how can I escape from this island?" He thought about this for half a day, having nothing to do, he went beside a large cliff face and flipped his body, and practiced the internal energy that Ouyang Feng taught.

At the point where his blood was beginning to flow quickly, where his body felt lucid and smooth, he suddenly heard a shout from behind. He was caught unawares and fell down, his legs and arms numb, he couldn't get back up. It was Guo Fu and the Wu brothers arriving on the scene. Behind the cliff face was an extremely quiet and peaceful area, with no one around. Because the paths of the island were designed to follow the five changes, Guo Fu and the brothers didn't dare to run about blindly. They were looking for a place to play and followed a path, eventually winding up here where Yang Guo was practicing. It was fortunate that Yang Guo's internal strength was shallow; otherwise the interruption by the three would have scrambled his veins and meridians, causing him to suffer paralysis.

Guo Fu clapped her hand and said, "What are you doing here?" Yang Guo supported himself on the cliff face and slowly pulled himself up, gave Guo Fu a stare, turned around and walked away.

Wu Xiuwen called out, "Hey, apprentice sister asked a question; are you pretending to not care or are you ignoring us?"

Yang Guo coldly said, "How can you take charge in this matter?"

Wu Xiuwen was offended and said, "We only care about having a good time, not greeting mad dogs."

Yang Guo replied, "You are right, mad dogs will bite when they see people, three mad dogs have just come, barking and howling madly."

Wu Dunru angrily said, "You said three mad dogs? You abuse people?"

Yang Guo laughed and replied, "No, I only scold dogs, not people."

Wu Dunru could not take anymore and curled a fist and threw it out at Yang Guo, who managed to avoid it. Wu Xiuwen remembered what their teacher had said about not fighting amongst each other. If news of this ever got to teacher, they would be punished, so he grabbed hold of his brother's arm and laughed coldly at Yang Guo saying, "Big brother Yang, you've been under the care of master wife learning martial arts, we three from master. A few months have passed but we don't know who has advanced the most. How about sparring with each other, comparing skills, do you dare?"

Yang Guo was aggravated and originally wanted to say, "I don't have your luck. Master wife has not taught me any kind of martial arts." But when he heard the four words "do you dare to", he extinguished his angry feelings and prevented himself from saying what he intended to. He gave out a grunt and stared coldly at him.

Wu Xiuwen said, "We are here to test each others skill, no matter who wins and who loses, no one is allowed to tell master or master wife. Even if your head is cracked open, you must say you fell. If the loser complains about the winner, then they are born of dogs, a bastard; big brother Yang, do you dare?" As he said the words "do you dare" his eyes went blank, as Yang Guo threw a heavy fist into Wu Xiuwen's left eye. Wu Xiuwen jumped back to prevent himself falling over.

Wu Dunru said, "You don't care about face do you with a punch like that." He then used the punches and kicks that Guo Jing taught him, and attacked Yang Guo in the abdomen. Yang Guo could not avoid this punch and got hit. Then he saw Wu Dunru throw out a kick at him, and then he suddenly thought of something and he remembered the moves that Guo Jing taught to the Wu brothers yesterday. He bent his right leg, and with his left hand pushed the incoming right leg, it was the “Secret Hero in the Noisy City” Quan Jinfan’s “Trapping Hand”, the stance of “Holding the Bridge, Changing the Pillar” (tuo liang huan zhu), though it wasn’t a very special move, it is useful when facing an enemy. Yesterday when Guo Jing repeated the move, the Wu brothers learned it, but when it was put in use for real, it didn’t compare with the Yang Guo’s, who only had a glance at it and just went over it once. Wu Dunru fell over after this move by Yang Guo.

Wu Xiuwen was already aggravated with the punch he received in his eye, but when he saw his brother fall he picked himself up and threw out a left punch. Yang Guo dodged to the left, but he only knew very little of the stances of the punches, so he couldn’t compete as a right fist of Wu Xiuwen hit him squarely on the right side. Wu Dunru picked himself up and the brothers attacked from both sides. The brothers’ martial arts foundation was already stronger than Yang Guo’s, and he wasn’t a match. Added to the fact that the Wu brothers had been training under Guo Jing for a few months, how would he be able to stand up against them? After a while, seven, eight punches had landed on Yang Guo’s head, back and waist. Yang Guo flared up and thought, “Even if I get beaten to death by you, I won’t try to escape.” He wildly threw some punches out; they weren’t at all from any set of orthodox skills.

Wu Xiuwen saw the state that Yang Guo was in and was slightly afraid. They had already taught him a lesson and didn’t want to carry on. He said, “You’ve already lost, we’ll let you go, there’s no need to fight more.”

Yang Guo shouted, “Who wants you to ease off?” and dashed at him, attacking fiercely. Wu Xiuwen stretched out his left hand and with his right hand grabbed hold of his chest, trying to pull him forward in a rush. At this time, Wu Dunru threw two punches at Yang Guo's back. Yang Guo couldn't stand steadily, and fell forwards. Wu Dunru held his head with two hands and said, "You ready to give up?"

"Who wants to give up to you mad dogs?"

Wu Dunru was offended and pushed Yang Guo's face in the sand and said, "If you don't give up then suffocate to death."

Yang Guo's eyes, nose, and face were full of sand and dirt; he couldn't breathe, after a while, his body felt like cracking. Wu Dunru was holding his head with two hands, Wu Xiuwen was on his back, Yang Guo could not escape and as he was finding it difficult to breathe, the internal energy of the "Toad Stance" that he has been practicing over the last few days suddenly became fluent; a warm chi was flowing through his "dan tian". All of a sudden, his body was full of energy as he leapt up fiercely, his eyes closed when he threw out two palms. It hit Wu Xiuwen in the lower abdomen; Wu Xiuwen gave out a cry before falling to the ground unconscious. The palm's power came from Ouyang Feng's "Toad Stance", the power of it of course could not compare to Ouyang Feng's, and Yang Guo had not intentionally used it. But since he was in danger he involuntarily used it, and Wu Xiuwen could not withstand it.

Wu Dunru jumped back but when he saw his brother didn't move and his eyes were rolled back, he knew that Yang Guo had killed his brother. He was startled but shouted out, "Master, master, brother has died!" He sobbed as ran to take the news to Guo Jing. Guo Fu was scared, and followed.

Yang Guo spat out the sand and dirt, and rubbed the sand off his face, but felt he didn't have an ounce of strength left in his body; it was extremely difficult for him to even move one step. He saw Wu Xiuwen in front of him, not moving, and heard Wu Dunru cry out, "My brother is dead!" and knew something was wrong but he didn't have the strength to run away.

Some time passed before he saw Guo Jing and Huang Rong hurriedly leaping to the scene. Guo Jing picked up Wu Xiuwen and placed his palm on Wu Xiuwen's chest. Huang Rong ran to Yang Guo's side and asked, "Where's Ouyang Feng? Where is he?" Yang Guo did not reply. Huang Rong asked, "When did he teach you the "Toad Stance"?" It looked like Yang Guo was listening, but it also seemed that he wasn't, his eyes losing their focus, just staring in front, his mouth tightly closed, scared of letting one word slip out. Huang Rong saw that he didn't care, so held his two arms and said, "Tell me! Where's Ouyang Feng?" Yang Guo still did not move.

After a while, Wu Xiuwen regained consciousness after Guo Jing had channeled his internal energy into him. Guo Jing then brought Ke Zhen'E and Guo Fu to the scene. When Ke Zhen'E heard from Guo Fu that Yang Guo flipped his body, and heard that he had killed Wu Xiuwen, he knew that Yang Guo was Ouyang Feng's heir. Full of hate and revenge, he rushed to Yang Guo's side, hearing Huang Rong ask, "Where is Ouyang Feng." But Yang Guo still didn't care. He walked up to Yang Guo and held his iron staff high, and shouted out, "Where is Ouyang Feng that scoundrel? If you don't tell me, I'll kill you with one strike!"

Without care for his life he shouted back, "He's not a scoundrel, he's a good person. You can kill me if you want, but I won't say a word."

Ke Zhen'E was angry and raised his weapon, ready to strike down. Guo Jing shouted out, "Senior Master, don't! Only to hear a thudding sound, as the staff evaded Yang Guo's body and struck into the sand. Ke Zhen'E had wanted to scare him into saying something but as the weapon reached his head, there was still no reply so he let his weapon slip.

Ke Zhe E shouted out, "You refuse to speak?"

Yang Guo shouted back, "If you've got guts go ahead and kill me, I'm not scared of you blind man." Guo Jing rushed over, and slapped Yang Guo across the face fiercely. "You dare to be disrespectful towards your Grand Master!"

Yang Guo did not cry, and calmly said, "You people won't raise your hands to kill me, fine. I'll do it myself!" He turned around and rushed towards the sea.

Guo Jing shouted, "Guo'er, come back!" Yang Guo walked even faster. Guo Jing went over to stop him but Huang Rong said, "Stop." Guo Jing stopped only to see Yang Guo enter the sea, heading into the waves.

Guo Jing gasped and said, "He can't swim well, Rong'er, we need to save him." and went to rescue Yang Guo.

Huang Rong said, "He's not dead yet, there's no need to rush." After a while, Yang Guo had not returned. She admitted defeat to Yang Guo's pride, and went into the sea. She was a good swimmer, rescuing someone close to the shore was easy for her, she dived into the water and pulled up Yang Guo and carried him back to the beach. She put him on the cliff side rocks, letting him spit out the sea water by himself and slowly regain consciousness.

Guo Jing looked at his master, and then his wife and asked, "So?"

Huang Rong replied, "He learned his kung fu before arriving on the island; even if Ouyang Feng did come, we would know about it." Guo Jing nodded. She asked, "How's little Wu's injury?"

Guo Jing replied, "It looks like he'll need at least two months rest."

Ke Zhen'E said, "Tomorrow I'll leave for Jiaxing."

Huang Rong and Guo Jing looked at each other, understanding his intentions; he would never live with someone who was related to Ouyang Feng in any way. Huang Rong said, "Senior Master, this is your home, why do you give in to the child?"

That night Guo Jing summoned Yang Guo to his room and said, "Guo'er, all that has happened is in the past, we won't mention it. You were disrespectful to Senior Master, I cannot allow you to stay with my school, from now on, call me Uncle Guo. I'm afraid that Uncle Guo's inability to teach you will lead to your future failures. In a few days, I'll take you to Mount Zhongnan to Chongyang Palace and request Quanzhen sect's elder Changchun Zi (Eternal Spring) to accept you into their sect. Quanzhen sect is famous for its martial arts, I hope you take this opportunity in Chongyang Garden to hone your skills and reflect on your character, and so, hopefully, you will become a gentleman."

Yang Guo replied, "Yes, Uncle Guo." He changed his greeting, and didn't regard Guo Jing as his teacher anymore.

Guo Jing got up early in the morning and prepared money and luggage; he said goodbyes to his wife, his master, his daughter and the Wu brothers. He left with Yang Guo by boat. They arrived at Zheijang's Red Sea. Guo Jing bought two horses, and he and Yang Guo traveled north. Yang Guo had never ridden a horse before, but now his internal energy has some foundation, and after a few days of adjusting, he could freely control the reins. He was young and eager, always riding ahead of Guo Jing.

The next day, the two passed the Yellow River (Yangtze) and arrived at Xiaxi. Ever since the Jin lost to the Mongols, everywhere north of the Yangtze was under the influence of the Mongols. In Guo Jing's younger days, he once was a general in the Mongol army. If he met any one who knew him, he knew there would be trouble so he changed his two horses for two rough looking mules and changed into old torn clothing; he disguised himself as a troubled villager. Yang Guo also changed his clothing and wore a blue green hat, and then got on the mule. The mule was bad tempered, and it was slow, Yang Guo spent the next few days trying to break its temper.

One day they arrived at Cage Village (Fanchuan); it was in the area of Mount Zhongnan. The village got its name from the Kai General Fan who had successfully captured a city. Along the way they passed winding mountain ranges, pine forests, fields of vegetables and cotton; its scenery not unlike that of Jiangnan.

After Yang Guo left Peach Blossom Island, his feelings towards the events on the island were still there but he would not mention them. He couldn't hold onto this stance, and it slipped out, "Uncle Guo, this place is quite similar to our island."

When Guo Jing heard him say "our island" he was pleased to no end and said, "Guo'er, we are not far from Mount Zhongnan, remember to take this opportunity at Quanzhen and learn from their teachings. A few years later on, I will come back for you and take you back to the island."

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "I will never go back to the island." Guo Jing forgot about Yang Guo's young age, the words that he said came straight from his heart. Guo Jing had no reply to this. After a while he said, "You are angry with Uncle and Auntie Guo?"

Yang Guo replied, "How can I dare to? It's you that should be angry with me." Guo Jing gave up, and didn't open his mouth again.

The two of them went up a hill, and in the afternoon, they arrived at a temple on the hill's peak. Guo Jing saw three words were written on top of the doors, "Light Everywhere Temple". He tied the mules to a pine tree outside the temple and went inside for a meal. Inside the temple were seven or eight monks, when they saw he was plainly dressed, the monks calmly gave them two bowls of noodles and seven or eight buns for them to eat. Yang Guo and Guo Jing sat on a rock underneath a pine tree to eat their noodles; they glanced around and saw there was a large stone slab behind the pine tree. Tall grass was concealing what was on the slab, only two words could be seen, "Changchun". Guo Jing was moved, and went over to take a closer look. It was Changchun Zi Qiu Chuji's writing, and on it was a poem left by him; "The gloomy sky has come to earth, why doesn't it teach ten thousand souls to be bitter? The ten thousand souls want to be delayed; the cries of the dead have no sound. Shouting up to the sky but it won't reply, their fragmented slender forms toil. The thousands are confused in peace, teaching the living to live their soul."

When Guo Jing saw this poem, it reminded him of the events ten years ago when he was on the plains of Mongolia, touching the stone slab without saying a word, reminiscing about the time when he first met Qiu Chuji.

Yang Guo asked, "What is written on the stone slab?"

Guo Jing replied, "It is a poem written by your Grand Master Qiu. He has seen the troubles of the world and was extremely sad." He then explained the poem to Yang Guo and said, "Elder Qiu's martial arts are outstanding; he cares about the common people and is a respected teacher. Your father was an able student of elder Qiu. I'm sure that on your father's behalf, he will treat you especially well. Do your best at studying the martial arts there and you will definitely become something in the future."

Yang Guo asked, "Uncle Guo, I have one question I want to ask you."

"What is it?"

"How did my father die?"

Guo Jing's face lost its colour, as he remembered the events of the Iron Spear Temple, his body trembled, unable to speak.

"Who caused my father's death?" Guo Jing did not reply.

Yang Guo remembered when he asked his mother the same question, she responded the same way. Although Guo Jing treated him like his own son, Huang Rong was neglectful of him. Although he was young, he felt that there was a hidden secret to this matter. He couldn't hold back and shouted, "My father's death was caused by you and Auntie Guo wasn't it?"

Guo Jing was shocked, and slammed down his hand on the stone, and bellowed angrily, "Who told you these lies?" The power in his palm was great; because of his angry reaction the stone slab continually shook. Yang Guo saw his anger and said, "I'm sorry, I won't ever say these sorts of things again, don't be angry Uncle Guo."

Guo Jing loved him very much, and when he heard Yang Guo's apology, his feelings dissipated and he was about to comfort him when he heard a "hey" shout from behind, the voices behind it were startling. He turned around, and saw that it was two middle aged Taoists standing at the entrance to the mount; their eyes fixed on him, their faces with a furious expression. They were taking great interest in the stone slab and wanted to take a closer look at the two. The Taoists took a glance and then moved. Guo Jing saw that their steps were light; they possessed martial arts. He thought that since Mount Zhongnan is not far; the places around here should be filled with people from the Chongyang Palace. The two Taoists were about forty, and were the students of the Quanzhen Seven Masters. For as long as Guo Jing had lived on Peach Blossom Island in seclusion, he hadn't sent news to Ma Yu. He wasn't familiar with the students of Quanzhen, and only knew that Quanzhen had become famous so that Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji, Wang Chu must have accepted many students. Their name in Wulin had become increasingly famous; they had done heroic deeds, solved troubles and disasters, done countless good deeds. Whenever someone hears the name Quanzhen in Wulin, they could only admire it. He wanted to ascend the mount and greet Qiu Chuji, and it was luck that he could be accompanied by two of their students.

He stepped up his pace to the entrance of the mountain, only to see the two Taoists step up their pace to about one hundred feet in front of him, not turning back. Guo Jing called out, "Please wait Taoist brothers, I have a request." His voice was clear and strong, his voice could be heard near and far but the two Taoists did not stop but sped up again. Guo Jing thought, "Could those two be deaf?" He increased his efforts and within a few steps his was in front of them. He turned around and said, "Greetings." He said this while carrying the luggage.

The two saw how swift his movements were and their faces changed. They saw he was carrying luggage, and thought he was going to circulate his chi and ambush them so they took a few steps and one evaded right, the other left then turned around and asked, "Who are you?"

Guo Jing said, "Are you two the students of Mount Zhongnan's Chongyang Palace?"

The leaner of the Taoist replied, "Why are you here?"

Guo Jing said, "I'm an old friend of elder Qiu, I've come to see him, sorry for the trouble."

The other shorter Taoist replied, "If you've the nerve go, why don't you move!" As he said this he struck out a palm quickly. Guo Jing had to move right to avoid it. The two Taoists moved into position immediately after the palm moving left and right, wanting to attack together. Guo Jing was cut off in the middle. The two moves were called "Cutting off the Door". It was the refined skills of the Quanzhen sect, how would Guo Jing not know it? He saw that the two Taoists did not ask for an explanation and had already used force to try to harm him. He was slightly startled, wondering whether there was a misunderstanding, he didn't try to clear it up, nor did he try to evade as he heard two sounds, as two palms landed on the side of his body from the two Taoists.

From the two palms, Guo Jing already knew how strong they were. Guo Jin felt that the two Taoists internal energy was able, confirming that they were the students of Seven Masters of Quanzhen, and thought that he could be classed in the same generation as them. When the two palms were coming at him, Guo Jing had already circulated his chi for defense so all he needed to do was bring his internal strength up to the right level and he wouldn't be hurt. But he also didn't return the power in the palms, causing the Taoists palms to hurt and swell. It wasn't serious; after some initial pain the feeling dissipated.

The Taoists had practiced that move for ten years, but the move didn't even seem to affect him one bit, and they were astonished. They both gave a whistle; they leapt up and ferociously kicked out at Guo Jing's chest. Guo Jing thought this was odd, "The students of Quanzhen have been taught the values of Taoism, and they treat people with great respect, why have these students started to use violence for no reason?"

He saw that the two used "The Mandarin Duck's Looping Kick" (yuan yang lian huan tui) set of stances, but still his face did not change and he ignored the attack. He heard numerous crashing sounds as several footprints were left on his chest. The Taoists kicked out six times in all, as if they were kicking a sand bag. They relaxed only to see the enemy motionless, not even being harmed one bit. They were astonished since they had attacked harder than last time by several levels. They thought, "How come this crook is so powerful? Even our teacher and his apprentice brothers do not have this amount of skill." They carefully studied Guo Jing; he had dense eyebrows and large eyes, a sturdy body, clothed in rough clothes, like a villager, he had no intention of leaving and stood there, without making a sound.

Yang Guo saw that the Taoists were punching and kicking Uncle Guo but Guo Jing did not retaliate. He couldn't stand it and shouted out, "You two smelly Taoists, why are you hitting Uncle Guo?"

Guo Jing quickly said, "Guo'er, keep your mouth shut. Come over here and greet the two Taoist brothers."

Yang Guo walked forwards and thought, "What's the matter with you Uncle Guo, why are you protecting them?"

The two Taoists gave each other a glance, and after two "sha" noises, they withdrew their swords from their waists. The short Taoist used the stance "Scour the Ocean to Slaughter the Dragon" (tan hai tu long) and aimed for Guo Jing's lower body, the other used "Starry Wind Sweeping Leaves" (gang feng sao ye) and aimed to cut down Yang Guo's right leg.

Guo Jing did not pay attention to the sword that was coming in at him, but instead looked at the skinny Taoist who was unleashing a lethal move and thought, "The child has not done anything to you, so why such a lethal move? How can it be that the sword is aiming to cut his leg in half?" He then moved his body, his left hand placed on the short Taoist's sword handle, "Smoothly Pushing the Boat", and lightly pushed to the left. The short Taoist turned his sword around involuntarily, and after a clashing sound, the skinny Taoist's sword was intercepted, stopping his stance. Guo Jing used the enemy to fight the enemy, the move coming from the "Empty Hands Entering A Hundred Blades" set of kung fu, right now there are only two enemies, even if there was eight or ten people attacking at once, he could still use the enemy's knife to attack the enemy's sword, the enemy's spear against the enemy's whip, utilizing the enemy to attack the enemy, one beating many.

The two Taoists felt their wrists were getting numb, and starting to feel pain; they slanted their bodies and jumped away, turning their bodies. They stared at Guo Jing, frightened but also admiring him at the same time, they whistled out again and their swords were thrust out, once again.

Guo Jing thought, "You two have just learned the "Big Dipper Formation". Though it is a higher set of sword skills, there are only two of you, your foundation for sword skills is not yet good enough, what use is it?"

Afraid that their swords would strike Yang Guo, he moved his body and evaded the two swords, and picked up Yang Guo with his right hand. He shouted out, "I am elder Qiu's old friend; there is no need for this."

The skinny Taoist said, "Even if you are elder Mao Chongma's old friend it wouldn't matter."

Guo Jing said, "Indeed; Elder Ma has taught me kung fu as well."

The short Taoist angrily replied, "You lying crook; the next thing you are going to tell me is that ancestor Yang has taught you kung fu." They straightened their swords and aimed for Guo Jing's chest.

Guo Jing saw that the two did belong to Quanzhen sect, but he could not believe that they are treating him as an enemy. His relationship with the Seven Masters of Quanzhen wasn't anything ordinary, and he wanted Yang Guo to learn martial arts at Chongyang Palace; he couldn't be rude to the Palace's Taoists so he just evaded and did not attack.

The two Taoist were frightened. They had known long ago that their opponent was superior to them, and they wouldn't be able to hit him, so they made a hand signal, and changed their sword style. They sent out many strokes, now all aimed at Yang Guo's chest, sides and back. Every stance they used was intended to kill.

Guo Jing saw that Taoists did not hold anything back with their sword strokes towards a child; he couldn't hold back his anger for any longer. The short Taoist came in with a ferocious stroke, Guo Jing suddenly shot out his right hand; the first and second fingers opened, and held the blade of the sword. He twisted his wrist inwards, his elbow now facing the short Taoist's nose. The short Taoist used his strength to pull free, but couldn't move his long sword, he saw that Guo Jing's elbow coming towards him, and knew that if he didn't die from it he would be seriously hurt so he let go and jumped back.

Guo Jing's martial arts were at a level where he could do what he wanted. It didn't matter if he lifted his hand or raised his foot; the result would be the same. He moved the fingers of his right hand, the sword now stood erect, the handle flicking upwards. The skinny Taoist was aiming for Yang Guo's neck, his sword tip was struck but the sword handle moved, and after a clashing sound, his right arm grew hot, his body was shaking and he could do nothing but let go.

The two said together, "The perverted scoundrel is too powerful, let's get away!" They turned around as they said this.

Guo Jing had been insulted many times in his life, he has been called, "fool", "idiot", even a "crook", but this is the first time that someone has called a perverted scoundrel. He didn't put Yang Guo down, carrying him he hurried after the two, after one step with his right foot, he leapt over the two Taoists then he turned around and shouted, "What did you call me?"

The short Taoist was frightened, but managed to say, "If you don't want to marry the one named Long, then why have you come to Mount Zhongnan?" As he was speaking, he was afraid that Guo Jing would attack and retreated three steps at the same time.

Guo Jing stopped and thought, "I want to marry the one named Long, who is this girl named Long? Why do I want to marry her? I've already have Rong'er, why would I want to marry someone else?" He stood there as he thought about what was going on. The two Taoists saw that he was standing still, he seemed to be distracted; they glanced at each other and quickly ran past him, hurrying up the mountain.

Yang Guo saw that Guo Jing was not fully aware; he lightly came down to the ground and said, "Uncle Guo, the two smelly Taoists have escaped."

Guo Jing woke from his daydream and grunted, before saying, "They said I wanted to marry the girl named Long, who is she?"

Yang Guo said, "I don't know, the two didn't even try to clear things up before using force, they must thought you were another person."

Guo Jing smiled, "It must be, how come I didn't think of that? Let's go up the mountain!"

Yang Guo picked up the two swords that the two Taoists abandoned. Guo Jing looked at the sword handle; "Chongyang Palace" was imprinted on the handle. The two went on their way. After about an hour they came to the Golden Lotus Chamber and without stopping carried on through the rugged terrain. They stepped on some loose rocks as they reached Mao Yuan Cliff (Hanging Brave Cliff), then the two ascended up it. As they passed the Sun and Moon Cliff (ri yue), the sky was getting dark; when they got to Holding Son Cliff (bao zi), the new moon came out. The appearance of the Holding Son Cliff was peculiar, like a mother holding her son. The two traveled for a while, before Guo Jing said, "Guo'er, are you tired?"

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "No."

Guo Jing said, "Okay, we'll continue on our way."

They walked on, only to see a large rock formation blocking their way. The impression of the rocks was like being in a haunted forest, with one looking like an old woman bending over them. Yang Guo was slightly frightened, and then heard a sound from behind the rock, and four Taoists leapt out, blocking the way and standing motionless.

Guo Jing placed the luggage in front of him and said, "I am Peach Blossom Island's Guo Jing, and I am here to see elder Qiu."

A tall Taoist stepped forward and chuckled, "Hero Guo is known by everyone, he is also senior Huang's son in law; how can you be so shameless and pretend to be him? Leave quickly!"

Guo Jing thought, "How am I shameless?" He held his temper and said, "I am indeed Guo Jing, could you request elder Qiu to sort this matter out."

The tall Taoist retorted, "You've come to Mount Zhongnan with force, you must be tired of your life. I don't care how powerful you are, you are incapable of reaching Chongyang Palace." As he was speaking the short and skinny Taoist thrust out a sword, and as soon as he finished his sentence he stepped up, ran along the peak of the rock and used the "Separating the Flower, Brushing Away the Willow" (fen hua fu liu) aiming at Guo Jing's waist.

Guo Jing thought, "I haven't been in Jianghu for ten years, have the rules changed?"

He moved his body to evade the strike, and as he was about to speak, the other three Taoists extended their swords, surrounding Guo Jing and Yang Guo.

Guo Jing said, "What can I do to convince you four that I am Guo Jing?"

The tall Taoist snorted, "If you could remove my sword from my grasp." As he said this, he performed another move, this time the sword heading straight for the chest. The sword that was coming at him was light, the tip of the sword swaying. It wasn't like an ordinary sword hacking downward and he wasn't showing any respect to Guo Jing; he performed this move casually.

Guo Jing chuckled and thought, "How hard will it be to remove your sword?" As he saw the tip coming towards him, he held his second finger with his thumb and flicked out at the sword tip, after a "weng" noise, the Taoist couldn't hold on to the sword, and sword was released in midair. Guo Jing didn't wait for the sword to come down, three more flicks followed by three "weng" noises, and the handles of the other three long swords were up in the air, the blades brightly shining in the moonlight.

Yang Guo shouted out, "Are you convinced now?" Normally Guo Jing would aim to keep the opponent standing, but he was offended by the tall Taoist's lack of respect in his stance so he used the "Divine Flicking Finger" skill. This was Huang Yaoshi's most refined skill; Guo Jing had lived on Peach Blossom Island for a few years and was taught it by him. His internal energy is profound and when he used the skill; it was something out of the ordinary.

The four Taoist's swords were forced from their hands, and they didn't know what move the enemy used to do this. The tall Taoist shouted, "The scoundrel uses witchcraft, let's leave." As he said this he jumped behind the Old Woman Cliff, and hurriedly escaped. The other three followed and disappeared into the night.

Today, Guo Jing heard someone call him a "scoundrel" for the first time, and now someone said he uses witchcraft; he didn't know whether to be angry or to laugh. He said, "Guo'er, place the swords neatly on a rock near the path."

Yang Guo said, "Yes." He picked up the swords, and along with the two he was holding, placed them on a green rock. He was in awe of Guo Jing's skills, his mouth wanted to open up and say the words, "Uncle Guo, I don't want to learn from the smelly Taoists, I want to learn from you." Then he remembered all the events of Peach Blossom Island and he swallowed the words.

The two turned around two bends and eventually wound up at what seemed to be a large area of wilderness. Suddenly, the sound of weapons unsheathing could be heard; seven Taoists leapt out from the pine forest, each one holding a long sword.

Guo Jing saw that they had leapt into a formation, four to the left of him, three to the right; it was the “Big Dipper Formation”. His heart shivered, and thought, “There will be some difficulty in facing this formation.” He didn’t dare to be over confident, and quietly whispered to Yang Guo, “Go back to the rock behind us and wait for me there, go as far as possible so I won’t be hindered by looking out for you.”

Yang Guo nodded. He didn’t want them to look weak in front of Taoists, so he loosened his pants and called out, “Uncle Guo, I’m going to the toilet.” After he said this, he turned around and hurried to the rock. Guo Jing was pleased, “The child is very clever, catching up to Rong’er, but I hope he goes on the righteous path and learns well.”

Guo Jing turned around to face the seven Taoists. The seven had their backs facing the moon, he couldn’t see their faces that clearly, but he saw that the first six had long beards, they were not young, the seventh was smaller, and his age must be lower compared to the others. He thought, “The most important thing is to go up the mountain and explain any misunderstanding to elder Qiu, why should I tangle with these people?” He shifted his body, and shimmied to the left, assuming the “Northern Star Position”.

The seven didn’t hear him say anything, only seeing him hurriedly moving to the left, and didn’t know what he was up to. The Taoist in the “Tian Quan” position whistled, ordering the six others to the left, wanting to encircle Guo Jing. Guo Jing knew they would move together so he moved right two steps to force the enemy to move again, still assuming the “Northern Star Position”. The Taoist in the “Tian Quan” position wanted three of them to attack, but saw Guo Jing’s position was strange; the three of them weren’t able to attack him. Instead, the seven of them were open to attack; the seven weren't able to defend each other and each of them suffered a sudden attack. Their left hands waved, and then they turned their formation around. As they were moving their feet, Gou Jing moved two steps forward maintaining the "Northern Star Position", spreading the position of the "Big Dipper Formation". The seven were in an ineffective position; it was hard for them to attack and hard for them to defend.

The "Big Dipper Formation" was the Quanzhen sect's highest kung fu. At its most refined state, when seven people of extremely high martial arts combined together, it could be said that it has no match under heaven. Guo Jing knew the essence of the formation; only by assuming the "Northern Star Position" was he able to drive the position, and control its movements, not allowing it freedom. However, because the seven of them weren't fluent with the formation it allowed him to do this. If it was Ma Yu, Qiu Chui Ji who was controlling the formation, the enemy would not be allowed to so easily to assume the "Northern Star Position". The seven of them changed positions a few times, Guo Jing dominated the formation and he didn't make a sound, just concentrating on maintaining the important position.

The Taoist in the "Tian Shu" (Hanging Sky) position was experienced and noticed that something wasn't right and called, "Change formation!" The seven Taoists scattered, heading right and swerving left, hurrying from east to west, wanting to jumble up the formation, trying to confuse the enemy. After a short while, the seven Taoists were in formation again. The Taoists had changed positions amongst themselves, and now they had moved from a western position to a southeast position where they arranged the formation. Once they were in position, the Taoists in the "Tian Xuan" (Jade Sky) and "Yu Heng" (Weighing Jade) positions pointed their swords and rushed forward, seeing the enemy in a northern position from their rearrangement, his feet motionless and his palms uneven, a smile crept upon their faces. However they suddenly realized, "If us two go and rush forward, the positions "Kai Yang" (Opening Sun) and the "Tian Xuan" (Jade Sky) will be in great danger." As they stopped, the Taoist in the "Tian Shu" shouted out, "Don't attack, quickly retreat!" After a motionless while, the startled Taoist in the "Tian Quan" position ordered the other six to change formation.

Yang Guo didn't understand, only seeing the Taoists moving around wildly. Guo Jing would either move east, west, south or north a few steps, the seven Taoists still could not unleash even half a move. The more he watched, the more interested he became, and suddenly Guo Jing clapped his palms together shouting, "Apologies!" and moved left two steps.

The "Big Dipper Formation" was now in Guo Jing's control, and he rushed to the left. If the seven Taoists didn't follow, their backs will be exposed with no way to defend. In martial art terms this was extremely serious and ominous so the seven Taoists had no choice but to follow to the left. After a while, the seven Taoists fell into Guo Jing's trap, unable to hold the formation. When Guo Jing ran fast, the seven Taoists ran fast, when Guo Jing slowed down, the seven Taoists slowed down. The young Taoist had the weakest internal energy and after being forced to circle around over ten times in an urgent manner by Guo Jing, his head spun and his breathing was ragged. He felt like he could collapse at any minute but he knew that if the "Big Dipper Formation" had one less person, the whole formation would break down; he could only grind his teeth and exert all his energy to hold on.

Guo Jing wasn't young, but since he had lived on the island with Huang Rong and he had little contact with the outside world, he had lost little of the young Guo Jing. When he saw the seven Taoists were rushing around amusingly he thought, “Today I have suffered insults for no reason at all; not only did they call me a perverted scoundrel, they said I used witchcraft. I didn’t use any witchcraft for you to see; then doesn’t that mean I’ve been insulted in vain?” He then loudly called out, “Guo’er, watch me use some witchcraft!” He suddenly leapt up to the tall rocks. The seven Taoists were under Guo Jing’s control, they of course had to follow; if they didn’t follow, the weakness of the formation will be revealed. As a few of them hesitated, the Taoist in the “Tian Quan” position quickly ordered everyone to leap up, bringing the formation onto the cliff. Before their legs had steadied themselves, Guo Jing swiftly moved onto the top of a pine tree. Although they were at a distance from each other, it was neither too far nor too close; he was still maintaining the “Northern Star Position” and it would be convenient for him to attack from above.

The seven Taoists all secretly feared the worst and thought, “Where on earth did this tyrant appear from; today our sect will lose face.” With these thoughts in their minds, they couldn’t afford to stop and each one leaped up to a tree branch.

Guo Jing laughed, “Come down!” He leapt down from the tree and stretched out his hand towards the Taoist in the “Kai Yang” position and grabbed his leg.

The strongest aspect of the “Big Dipper Formation” is being able to respond from the left and right, mutually aiding each other. As Guo Jing attacked the “Kai Yang” position, the “Yao Guang” (moving light) and “Yu Heng” position could not come down and help. If the two did come down, the “Tian Shu” and “Tian Quan” positions would have to come down with them; the whole formation will be pulled down. Yang Guo was watching closely from the side, being surprised endlessly, thinking, “If I could reach the level of Uncle Guo in the future, I wouldn’t mind suffering a lifetime of hardships.”

But then he changed his thoughts, "How can I ever achieve the level that he is at? Only Guo Fu and the Wu brothers have that sort of luck. Uncle Guo knew that the rotten Taoist's kung fu couldn't compare with his and that is why he sent me here to learn martial arts." The more he thought, the more troubled he became, he almost cried. He turned his head away from Guo Jing battling the seven Taoists. He was still a child, and eventually could not resist turning his head back to the fight.

Guo Jing thought, "By now, you should believe that I am Guo Jing. One mustn't overdo things; it wouldn't look good for elder Qiu." He saw that the Taoists were turning around quickly but he stood still and folded his arms in salute and said, "Taoist brothers, I have offended you many times and apologize, please give way."

The Taoist in the "Tian Quan" position was hot tempered, he saw that the opposition was highly skilled, knew the "Big Dipper Formation" and assumed he had nothing but evil intent towards his sect. He clearly shouted, "Scoundrel, you've carefully studied our sect's formation, your intent is ruthless. You've come to Mount Zhongnan to cause trouble, our Quanzhen sect regards all evil as our enemy, and we can't wait around and do nothing."

Guo Jing was startled, and asked, "How have we caused trouble?"

The "Tian Shu" Taoist added, "Judging from your kung fu, you do not belong with the dirty scoundrels. I can give you some advice; you better leave the mountain quickly." His tone reflected his respect of Guo Jing's skills.

Guo Jing said, "I have come from thousand of miles to the south up here to the north; I have a matter which I want to discuss with elder Qiu. If I can't see the elder, then how can I leave?"

The “Tian Quan” Taoist said, “You persist on seeing elder Qiu, what do you want?”

Guo Jing said, “I am in the debt of elder Ma and elder Qiu. I haven’t seen them in ten years and long to see them. Apart from paying my respects, I also have another matter to request of them.”

The “Tian Quan” Taoists hate for the enemy increased when he heard this; his face changed colour as if he had something on say. In the world of Jianghu, the words debt and revenge are not looked upon lightly. Sometimes when one has made enemies and they say they have come to pay their debts, in reality they have come for revenge. The Taoist said, “Twenty years ago I chopped off someone’s upper arm, the debts that I have to pay cannot be forgotten? Today I am going to receive what I am owed.”

A request in these cases seems to have evil intent, and after being beaten by someone stronger, they would normally reply, “We brothers are short of food and clothing, and want the old man to help, to spare us some money.” But today, Quanzhen sect is facing enemies and the “Tian Quan” Taoist knew this. Guo Jing’s polite words were turned around and interpreted the other way by the Taoist, and he calmly said, “I’m afraid that my defeated teacher elder Yu Yang is also indebted to you.”

As Guo Jing heard this, he remembered the events years ago at King Zhao’s palace, Yuyang Zi Wang Chu wasn’t concerned about danger, and faced a number of enemies and helped to save his life, his debts to him were not trivial. He said, “So Taoist brother is under the teaching of elder Yuyang. Elder Wang has also been kind to me, if he is at the palace, then that will be good.”

The seven Taoists were all disciples of elder Wang and after hearing this they extended their swords. The seven swords were all moving at the same time towards Guo Jing's body. Guo Jing raised his eyebrows; the more respectful he was, the fiercer the enemy's reaction, he didn't know what the reasons were for this. It is a pity that Huang Rong was not here; if she was she could sort out the misunderstanding in the blink of an eye. He slanted his body and moved forwards, and stood in the "Northern Star Position". In a clear voice he said, "I am Jiangnan's Guo Jing, I have no evil intent on this sacred mountain, how can I make you believe me?"

The "Tian Quan" Taoist said, "You have already removed six swords from Quanzhen sect's students, can you take our seven swords?" The Taoist in the "Tian Xuan" position had not said anything so far, he broke his silence and said, "Scoundrel, you have come here for the girl called Long, does that mean you think its good for you to provoke our sect?"

Guo Jing said, "Who is this girl named Long, I have never seen her before."

The "Tian Xuan" Taoist laughed and said, "Of course you have not seen her. What man under heaven knows her? If you've got guts, loudly insult her and call her a little bitch."

Guo Jing was startled, he didn't know who this Long girl is so how can he, for no reason, slander her? He said, "Why should I insult her?"

Three or four Taoists said at the same time, "Why don't you confess?"

The Taoists had accused Guo Jing innocently, the more he heard, the stranger it sounded. He thought that if he breaks into Chongyang Palace and sees elder Ma, elder Qiu and Wang Chu, everything would become clear. He calmly said, "I must go up to the mountain, if everyone here tries to stop me, don't blame me for offending you."

The seven Taoists extended their swords, and leapt forward two steps. The “Tian Xuan” Taoist loudly said, “Don’t use your witchcraft, we will just use our kung fu to compete.”

Guo Jing smiled, he had already thought of something, and said, “I want to use some witchcraft. You watch, my hands will not touch your weapons, but I will still be able to take your long swords out of your hands.”

The seven Taoists all looked at each other; their faces had a look of disbelief, and thought, “Although your skills are high, can it be that without using your hands you can rid us of our weapons? Even if you’ve reached the peak of “Empty Hand Entering a Hundred Blades” kung fu, you still need your hands.”

The “Tian Shu” Taoist said, “Fine, we will see how good your kicking kung fu is.”

Guo Jing said, “I will also not use my legs. If I touch your weapons with my hands or legs, then I admit defeat. I will turn around and immediately leave, never entering your sacred mountain again.”

The Taoists heard his wild claims, and they mulled over it. The “Tian Quan” Taoist waved his sword, and led the formation.

Guo Jing slanted his body and rushed forward, again assuming the “Northern Star Position”, ready to move to the left of the “Big Dipper Formation”. The “Tian Quan” Taoist knew they would be in danger and led the formation quickly to the right. Whenever two enemies fight each other, they must face the opposition, if the opponent moves behind you, turning around to face your enemy is something that shouldn’t be done. Right now, Guo Jing was heading for this position, wanting to aim for the back of the formation; he didn’t need to attack. The seven Taoists would have to move the formation and attack, so that they could face each other. But Guo Jing just kept on heading left, and didn't turn back. Sometimes he would move fast, sometimes slow, sometimes straight and sometimes in a crisscross, but he kept on hurrying to the left. He was in the "Northern Star Position"; the seven Taoists could do nothing but follow him to the left.

The more he hurried, the quicker he became; eventually his speed surpassing that of a horse, his form a blur, he had ran for tens of feet. The seven Taoist's kung fu was not ordinary; although they were facing adversity they managed to stay in formation. The "Tian Shu", "Tian Xuan", "Tian Ji" (Sky Pearl), "Tian Quan", "Yu Heng", "Kai Yang", and "Yao Guang" Taoists held their positions, but they were being forced to hurry around not of their own accord.

Guo Jing could not help but think, "Sure enough, the students of Quanzhen are not ordinary." He took a deep breath, and increased his speed; it appeared that his legs were not even touching the ground.

At first the Taoists could just about manage to keep up by exerting all their strength, but as time passed, the difference in each one's lightness kung fu could be seen. The "Tian Shu", "Tian Quan" and "Yu Heng" Taoist's lightness kung fu was the highest, and they moved quickly, the others slowly fell behind and the "Big Dipper Formation" cracked. They were all afraid and thought, "If the enemy attacks the formation now, I'm afraid we will not be able to defend." They couldn't keep up with him, and could only use their internal energy to try to go around and hit him.

One game that children play is sling throwing. A rock is threaded onto a string, spun around and then at its fastest point, the sling is released, the stone taking the string with it faraway. At the moment, the formation was winding around hurriedly, it was similar to a sling spinning around, the seven Taoists were scurrying around Guo Jing, their swords held above their heads, the faster they went, the harder it was for them keep the sword still. It was as if a strong force was pulling the swords outwards, wanting to pull the swords out of their grasp.

Suddenly, Guo Jing shouted out, "Let go!" as he flew away to the left. The seven Taoists were caught unaware, and could only follow him quickly. They didn't know what happened as the seven swords flew out of their hands, like seven silver snakes, and flew into the surrounding pine forest. Guo Jing stopped, and laughed as he returned.

The seven Taoist's faces were grey, and stood there without moving, but each one was still holding their position, the formation still held. Guo Jing saw that after being forced to hurry and rush around madly, they still kept the formation and didn't allow it to get out of shape and he knew they spent a lot of time practicing their skills. The "Tian Quan" Taoist gave a sigh of resignation and the seven Taoists escaped behind a cliff.

Guo Jing called out, "Guo'er, let's go up the mountain." He called out twice, but there was no reply. He searched around, but he couldn't see him anywhere but behind a tree he saw a small shoe. Guo Jing swallowed, "Besides the seven Taoists there was another one hiding nearby, he must have taken him away." But then he thought that the group of Taoists had just mistaken him for someone else, and though they had a misunderstanding, the Quanzhen sect has always been righteous and done good. They would never dare to harm a small child; there was no need to be alarmed. He then took a breath, and hurried up the mountain. He had resided on Peach Blossom Island for ten years, though he practiced martial arts every day, he has not faced an enemy for a very long time, and sometimes he felt lonely. Today, having fought with a crowd of people and being able to respond to every move, he could not help but be satisfied.

The mountain was now rugged and steep. Sometimes he had to lean his body over to pass an obstruction, and after traveling for less than half an hour, the moon was covered and the mountain became dark. Guo Jing thought, "I don't know these paths well and these Taoists are sneaky, I must be on my guard." He then eased up and slowly made his way.

Another while passed and the moon came out again, the mountain lit up, he had only one thing on his mind. Suddenly he heard the breathing sounds of a crowd of people coming from nearby. Though the sounds were quiet, there were many people; Guo Jing had already noticed this. Guo Jing tightened his belt, and turned to the path. In front of him was a large plain, the four sides surrounded by the mountain, at the foot of the mountain was a large pond, and the surface of the water reflected the moon, the silver light shimmering. In front of the pond were about one hundred Taoists, wearing yellow hats and dressed in grey gowns, a long sword in their hands, the swords shone brightly to the eye.

Guo Jing looked on, the crowd was made up of groups of seven, and formed fourteen sets of the "Big Dipper Formation". Each group of seven sets of the "Big Dipper Formation" formed one single large "Big Dipper Formation". From the "Tian Shu" to the "Yao Guang", the force of them was extraordinary. The two large "Big Dipper Formations" were different from each other, one normal, one odd, opposing each other, forming the angle of a wing. Guo Jing gasped, "I have never heard of this type of "Big Dipper Formation" from elder Qiu, presumably this formation has been created within the last few years. Compared to the original one that ancestor Yang created, this is another level." He slowly made his way forward.

He heard a whistle from a person within the formations, ninety-eight Taoists scattered, moving forwards and backwards, the formations changed irregularly, and circled Guo Jing. Each one pointed their swords to the ground; their eyes fixed on Guo Jing and didn't make a noise.

Guo Jing folded his hands in salute and turned around once and said, "I have sincerely entered this sacred mountain to meet elder Ma, elder Qiu and elder Wang, I plead with you please do not block my way."

A long bearded Taoist from the formations said, "Our guest here has excellent martial arts, so why do you not use it for good, instead of causing trouble with the evil ones? I offer you some good advice: a woman can cloud someone's mind and your skills that you have trained hard for over the last ten years could be threatened and lost in a single day. Our Quanzhen sect has never met you, and we have no quarrels, so why have you come to our mountain and caused so much trouble over this witch? If you leave immediately now, we could still meet again another day." He spoke with a deep voice, but every word was crystal clear, it was clear that his internal energy was profound, his advice was sincere.

Guo Jing was angry but was also laughing, he thought, "I don't know whom the Taoists have mistaken me for, if Rong'er was by my side, then there wouldn't be any of this misunderstanding. He said, "I know nothing of being clouded by women or witches, if you allow me to see elder Ma, elder Qiu and elder Wang, then everything will become clear."

The long bearded Taoist coldly said, "You still do not heed the advice and persist on wanting to see elder Ma and elder Qiu and try out your skills on them, well first you are going to have to break our large 'Big Dipper Formation'."

Guo Jing replied, "I am only one person, my skills are of a low level, how could I dare come up against your sect's greatest skill? Please release the child that came with me, and allow me to see your sect's master and elder Qiu."

The long bearded Taoist shouted out, "You have come here, caused trouble, and put on a show in front of Mount Zhongnan's Chongyang Palace; how can we let such a scoundrel be so rude." As he said this, he waved his sword in the air, the blade pierced the wind, the sound of the blade lingered. The crowd of Taoists waved their long swords, ninety-eight blades swept across, a wind was created, and the swords resembled a shiny net.

Guo Jing was secretly worried, "The two large formations are the opposite of each other; how can I maintain the "Northern Star Position" by myself? Today's matter is really troublesome."

Before Guo Jing made up his mind, the ninety-eight Taoists merged together from the left and right, the light from the swords weaved about, he was trapped like a fly and it would be difficult to escape. The long bearded Taoist said, "Pick up a weapon! Quanzhen sect will not harm an empty handed person."

Guo Jing thought, "This formation may be hard to break, but you may still not be able to harm me. The formation has many people, its power great, but each one's skill varies. There will definitely be a weakness; I'll study this formation first before I decide on anything." He slowly turned around, and then quickly moved in a northwest direction and used the "Eighteen Subduing Dragon Palms", the stance "Hidden Dragon Has No Use" (qian long wu yong), one palm out and one in, as he pushed off against the ground. Seven young Taoists swapped their swords into their left hand, each one joining together and stretched out their right palm, using their strength to repel his palm. The palm skill that Guo Jing used had been practiced and refined, and has now reached its peak; the force he generated was extremely strong, and he had more powerful moves hidden. Each one of them used all their strength to block this fierce attack but they didn't expect a strong force pulling them forward. The seven could not stand still, and all of them fell onto the ground; though they got up straight away, each one of them had dirt on their face, and was slightly embarrassed.

The long bearded Taoist saw that Guo Jing had unleashed a powerful stance; in just one move he had caused seven Taoists to fall onto the ground, he was slightly frightened. He gave a whistle and led the fourteen "Big Dipper Formations" and merged them. Even if the enemy's palm strength was ten times stronger, it would be difficult for him to push away ninety-eight people.

Guo Jing remembered the battle that he had on Jun Mountain (Lord Mountain); he and Huang Rong were battling the beggar clan, although individually they were weak, but once they united they were hard to defend against. He didn't dare to use force to overcome them; he could only use his lightness kung fu and escape from the formation, and try to find its weakness.

He hurried to the east and leapt to the west, and drew the formation with him, in just a short while he realized that if he wanted to break the formation by himself, it would be a difficult task made harder. One, he didn't want to hurt anyone; two, the formation's defense was second to none. There wasn't a single weakness; thirdly, Guo Jing is not the most astute person; the formation changed quickly so even if there was a weakness, he would not pick it up in such a short period of time.

Under the light of the full moon, the light from the swords resembled water, the scene like a wave, there was no point in trying to run away again.

They fought for a period of time, the formation was getting tighter, and it was becoming increasingly difficult to dodge within the gaps. Guo Jing thought, "Why don't I rush through the formation and make a dash for Chongyang Palace and see elder Ma and elder Qiu?" He raised his head and faced west; he saw there were twenty or thirty buildings and a few of them had large open spaces. He thought that Chongyang Palace must be one of them; he then hurried rapidly to the east, and after a few leaps, he turned and ran towards the west.

The multitude of Taoists saw that he was increasing in speed; a grey blur was within the formation like a falling star rushing through the sky. It was almost impossible to see where he was, they were dazzled or dazed, and they slowed down. The long bearded Taoist called out, "Everyone be careful, don't fall into the scoundrel's trap."

Guo Jing was angry, he thought, "They still call me a scoundrel. If this spreads out throughout Jianghu, how would I be respected again?" He had another thought, "The formation is led by him and if I aim for him, I then could set up a way to break the formation. He separated his palms, and headed straight for the long bearded Taoist. One thing the formation tries to do is to lure the enemy to attack the one leading the formation, each small formation will use this and come from the east and west, the south attacking the north, the enemy would then fall into their trap. Guo Jing rushed seven, eight steps, before he felt something was wrong, the force pressing him from behind suddenly increased, the two sides were flooding in and coming to attack. He turned around and dodged to the right, the two small formations in front of him all attacked with their swords. The fourteen swords were placed so that the enemy will be forced into a harmful position; there was no place to run, no place to hide. Guo Jing was faced with danger all around him, but he did not panic, only his anger began to rise, he thought, "You still mistake me for some scoundrel, some evil person. Taoists are supposed to be enlightened and merciful, so why is every stance that is used aiming to kill the opponent? Unless you must have my life at all costs? And what is this about? Quanzhen sect never harms an opponent without a weapon?" He slanted his body and escaped, his right leg came out, his left hand came in search of something, he kicked a young Taoist and took his weapon, he saw seven swords came in to his waist from the right, he waved his left hand out, the eight swords clattered, after a sound, each one of the seven swords broke into two pieces, the sword in his hand was still in perfect condition. The sword that Guo Jing took wasn't an especially sharp blade, but because he distributed his chi throughout the sword, he was able to use it to shatter the seven swords.

The seven Taoists gasped, the expression on their faces darkened and they stood still for a while. The two formations at one side came in immediately and raised their swords protecting each other. Guo Jing saw that the fourteen Taoists were using their left hands to hold on to the right shoulder of the Taoist next to them, the fourteen united the energy into one. He thought, "You want to see how strong my internal energy is exactly?" He waved his long sword, and placed the sword onto the fourteenth Taoist's sword.

The Taoist tried to pull away quickly, but the sword in his hand felt as if it were welded to a copper anvil, and was unable to pull it free. The remaining thirteen Taoists circulated their chi, wanting to use the combined force of the fourteen to repel the enemy. Guo Jing wanted them to do this. As soon as he felt the force trying to pull free increase, he shouted out, "Take care!" His right arm rose, after an interlude of sound, twelve swords broke as a result of seemingly pushing against a large object. The remaining two swords flew into the air. The fourteen Taoists gasped and were frightened; they quickly jumped away. Guo Jing secretly sighed, "My internal energy has yet to reach its peak, but there were still two swords that I was unable to break."

After this, the Taoists became even more wary of him and they were more careful in unleashing their moves. Although twenty-one Taoists had lost their weapons, they resorted to using their palms; they were able to generate a wind force with their palms, and their power was not weak. While Guo Jing was shattering swords, he wasn't able to do what he wanted and now he felt the formation's defense becoming increasingly tighter. He didn't know what new techniques and formations for the "Big Dipper Formation" that elder Ma and elder Qiu had devised. If the enemy had more advanced formations, it would be difficult for him to deal with. He was afraid that he would not be able to escape the clutches of the Taoists, so he decided to act right away and shouted out, "My Taoist brothers, if you still won't give way, then forgive me if I don't hold back."

The long bearded Taoist looked on, he knew that Guo Jing was skilled, and thought that even if Guo Jing was able to shatter all ninety-eight swords, he still wouldn't be able to escape from our formation. When he heard what Guo Jing said, he laughed coldly and did not reply, and made the formation even tighter.

Guo Jing crouched his body against the ground and leaped to the northeast, but he saw the two small formations from the southwest coming towards him. He then pointed his sword towards them. In the blink of eye he had unleashed fourteen moves; all fourteen moves made at the same time and each stance pierced a Taoist's right wrist on the "Positive Valley Point" (yang gu yue). At the highest levels of swordsmanship, the sword is able to move like wind and flash like lightning, every move accurate to the millimeter. It would be no different than fourteen different concealed weapons thrown at the same time. He unleashed the moves lightly, each Taoist had a numb feeling in their wrist, there were no strength in their fingers; the fourteen swords fell onto the ground. With this shock, the Taoists jumped back quickly, and examined the wounds on their wrists. Each saw the wound on the “Yang Gu Yue” was slightly red but there wasn’t a drop of blood. They knew their opposition had used the sword tip to touch this pressure point only, their skin was not pierced. The Taoists gasped, and thought that although the scoundrel was offensive, he was not ruthless; if he hadn’t held back, he could have harmed our palms without using the slightest effort.

During this time, thirty-five swords had been forced out of their hands. The long bearded Taoist was very angry; Guo Jing had not even used his best kung fu, yet he had already made their sect lose so much face. If he managed to break into the palace, the effects would be disastrous. He then gave out an order, “Defend the formation closely.” He wanted the ninety eight Taoists to surround him, and slowly crowd him to death.

Guo Jing thought, “That Taoist does not know how to repay kindness; it’s unspeakable. I can only teach them a severe lesson.” He hid his left palm, and pushed his right palm to the left. A formation came and faced the palm.

Guo Jing quickly went into the “Northern Star Position”, but another formation came to attack. There were fourteen “Big Dipper Formations”, there were also fourteen “Northern Star Positions”, and Guo Jing had no way to separate himself, and could not stand in all of the fourteen important positions at once. He used his lightness kung fu, as soon as he had stepped in the “Northern Star Position” of one formation, he immediately leapt to another “Northern Star Position”; he did it a number of times and the formations became disorganized.

The long bearded Taoist knew something was wrong and gave out an order quickly; he ordered everyone to scatter and reorganize the formations and keep calm. He knew that if everyone went and chased Guo Jing wildly, the way he was moving, he would definitely create worse disturbances in the formations. But if they didn't move and just held their position, the fourteen "Northern Star Positions" would be far away from each other. Even if Guo Jing was faster, he would not be able to assume every position.

Guo Jing gathered himself and thought, "That Taoist knows the important aspects of the formation and sure enough he saw the danger quickly. Now that they are standing still, I could head for the palace." He then changed his mind, "Actually, better not, elder Ma and elder Qiu are not usually in the palace, otherwise how can it be that I have fought these Taoists for so long and they haven't noticed? He lifted his head towards the palace, and saw sparks flying around in the corner of the building. Someone was fighting with weapons, but because he was far away, he could not see clearly who was fighting and the sounds of the weapons clashing was also too far to hear.

Guo Jing suddenly became alarmed, "Who would have the guts to raise their hands in Chongyang Palace? There must be some reason behind tonight's events." He wanted to rush over there to take a close look, but the fourteen "Big Dipper Formation" came in closer and closer. He was in a rush, and with his left palm he unleashed "Seeing the Dragon in the Field" (jian long zai tian) and with his right he used "Overcoming the Dragon with Regret". He used the "Mutual Left Hand Right Hand Combat" technique to do this, and used two separate attacks to the left and right. He saw that the forty-nine people in the "Big Dipper Formation" on the left were blocking this attack; the other forty-nine people in the other "Big Dipper Formation" on the right also blocked his attack. Before he has finished unleashing the two moves, he changed them around, the left hand had changed from “Seeing the Dragon in the Field” to “Overcoming the Dragon with Regret”, his right hand changing from “Seeing the Dragon in the Field” to “Overcoming the Dragon with Regret”.

With the “Mutual Left Hand Right Hand Combat Technique”, he was able to do the hard task of using two different stances at the same time, and then to interchange them in the middle of it. This was something that the Taoists have never seen nor heard of. Originally the formation on the left side was able to resist the “Overcoming the Dragon with Regret”, the right was able to resist “Seeing the Dragon in the Field”, when the two stances were swapped around, the Taoists on both sides were resisting, they didn’t know that Guo Jing could swap his stances around so easily. They then saw a flash of movement as Guo Jing escaped from the formation. The forty-nine people on the left and the forty nine people on the right were pushing forward with all their might, and at this moment how could they keep their legs in check? There came a loud noise as the two formations collided with each other, swords wounded some from behind, some knocked their noses against those in front and thirty of them fell onto the ground.

The long bearded Taoist who was leading the formation managed to dodge quickly and evade harm from the other Taoists. He couldn’t bear what had happened and quickly whistled again, rapidly setting up the formation again. He saw that Guo Jing was heading rapidly for the pond at the foot of the mountain, the Yu Qing Pond (Pure Jade). He led the fourteen formations and chased after him. The Quanzhen sect’s kung fu was based on calmness and tranquility, using softness to overcome hardness, letting anger control your actions is breaking one of the major rules of the sect; with his anger and fury, it could be said that he was not considering the enemy carefully, he was just reacting to their actions.

Guo Jing quickly reached the Jade Pond, in front of him the water glistened, as he lifted his sword up with his right hand, and chopped a coarse branch off a willow tree that was by the pond. He threw away the sword and picked up the branch with both arms, and flung it faraway into the pond. He increased the strength in his legs and his body soared into the air, his right foot touched the branch once and it sank, he used it to reach the shore on the other side. The crowd of Taoists rushed to the pond but they couldn't stop in time. A splash followed another, as forty or fifty people fell into the pond. The last ten either stepped onto the back of those who had fallen in or managed to stop themselves. A few of the Taoists couldn't swim, and began to struggle in the pond. Those who could swim hurried over to rescue them. At the Pure Jade Pond, the Taoists made a commotion, as they were drenched with water and mud.

End of Chapter 3.

Chapter 4 - Under the Teaching of Quanzhen Sect

Translated by Noodles

The Jade Bees were like smoke, and were flying onto Guo Jing and Qiu Chu Ji. Qiu Chu Ji circulated chi through his "dan tian", and blew out through his mouth at the bees that were coming towards him. Guo Jing had learnt this type of skill, and then he created a gust of wind. The swarm of bees could not resist and flew past the two.

After Guo Jing escaped from the Taoists, he headed swiftly for Chongyang Palace, when he suddenly heard the ringing of a bell; it was coming from Chongyang Palace. The sound was urgent; it was the alerting signal. Guo Jing turned his head to see what was happening, he saw sparks flying in the air coming from the large courtyard in the back. He thought, "Sure enough, today Quanzhen sect's enemies have arrived, I'd better rush over there to help."

He suddenly heard a crowd behind him rushing up, he then understood, "The Taoists must have mistaken him as a confederate of their enemy. With this danger, no wonder they wanted to fight to the death." He ignored those behind him, and made his way up the mountain.

He used his lightness kung fu, in a flash he had moved over one hundred feet, in less than the time to make a cup of tea; he was already at Chongyang Palace. He saw flames and smoke, the dense smoke was unrestrained, the blaze was fierce, but what was strange was that in Chongyang Palace there were countless Taoists, yet no one had come out and tried to put out the flames.

Guo Jing was afraid. He saw ten Taoist residences empty and untidy about the mountain. The flame in the back courtyard was large, but it had yet to breach into the main courtyard. However, insults could be heard from there, as well as the clashing of weapons. He leapt up onto a roof, and saw a large group of people battling. He stood still and looked on, he saw that forty-nine Taoists dressed in yellow gowns had formed seven “Big Dipper Formations” and were resisting about one hundred enemies. The enemies were all shape and sizes, tall and short, fat and skinny. According to the way they were dressed and the skills they used, it seems that they are from different sects. Some used weapons, some used their palms, and they all were attacking the “Big Dipper Formation” from all sides. The attackers’ skills weren’t weak, and they were large in number. Eventually the Taoists began to lose. But because the enemy was fighting them separately, the “Big Dipper Formation” allowed them to help each other and were able to defend tightly. Though the opponents were strong, they could still resist them. Guo Jing listened carefully, and heard breathing sounds in the hall; there were people battling there as well. From the sounds of the wind generated by the fists in the hall, the skills of the people battling there were superior to those who were fighting outside. He jumped down from the roof, twisted his body and then made a dash forward. He dodged east and then darted west, and was able to go through the cracks of three “Big Dipper Formations”. The Taoists were alarmed, and tried to follow, but because of the onslaught they were facing, they couldn’t separate and chase him.

Normally the hall would be lit with ten large candles, but because of the flames in the back courtyard, its light overpowered the light from the candles. He saw that there were seven mats lined up on the floor, seven Taoists were sitting on them, the left palm of each joined to the next person, their right palms out, resisting the attacks of ten people around them.

Guo Jing ignored the attackers and first studied the Taoists. He saw that there were three old and four young, the old were Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and Wang Chuyi, he could only recognize one of the four young Taoists and that was Yin Zhiping. The seven were sitting in the positions of “Tian Shu” to “Yao Guang” to form the “Big Dipper Formation”; they sat there and didn’t move. In front of the seven was a Taoist lying on the floor, he didn’t know whether he was alive or dead. He saw his hair was white but could not see his face. Guo Jing saw that Ma Yu and the others were in danger, his blood began to boil, he didn’t care who the enemy was and came out in a flash, and shouted , “How dare you scoundrels come and cause trouble in Chongyang Palace?” He stretched out his hands, and grabbed the backs of two attackers, and wanted to throw the attackers out, but he didn’t know that the two were good fighters. Their feet stood firm to the ground, and couldn’t be pulled from the floor. Guo Jing thought, “Where did all these good fighters come from? No wonder the Quanzhen sect feels that today will end in ruin for them.” He let go and swept his legs out. The two were using the “Thousand Kilogram Fall” (qian jin zhui) skill to resist the attacker, but they didn’t predict that he would suddenly change stance, and in a flash, the two soared in midair and crashed through the door.

The attackers saw that powerful help had come for the Taoists and were alarmed; but they were curious and wanted to know his name. Two of them came out and shouted out, “Who are you?” Guo Jing ignored them, two “fu” sounds were heard, as two palms came out. The two were not near Guo Jing’s body, but they were hit by the palm’s power and couldn’t stand still. Two sounds were heard as the men crashed against the wall, blood came out of their mouths. The remaining attackers saw that Guo Jing had wounded four of them in one go, they were frightened, and no one dared to confront him.

Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and Wang Chuyi recognized who he was and were delighted, and thought, “Now he’s here, our sect will escape danger!”

Guo Jing did not even consider the attackers as he knelt down and kowtowed to Ma Yu and said, "Disciple Guo Jing greets you." Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and Wang Chuyi nodded and greeted him in return. Yin Zhiping suddenly called out, "Brother Guo, careful!" Guo Jing heard a noise from behind, and knew someone wanted to ambush him from behind. He pushed against the floor with his arm and elbow, his body in the air, and pushed out his knees and hit the two attackers on their "Soul Entrance" (hun men) pressure points. The two of them fell immediately to the floor. Guo Jing remained kneeling down with two mats beneath his knee.

Ma Yu smiled, and said, "Jing'er rise, I haven't seen you in ten years; your skills have improved tremendously!"

Guo Jing got up and said, "I'll let the elder decide on how I should get rid of the others." Before Ma Yu replied, Guo Jing heard two laughs from behind; the laughs were very strange. He turned around, and saw two people standing there. One was wearing a red gown, his head was shiny, his body lanky, and he was a monk. The other wore a light yellow embroidered gown, his hand holding a folded fan. He was dressed like a wealthy man, and was about thirty, his face carrying an arrogant expression. Guo Jing saw that their breathing was measured and deep, and were completely different to the others. He didn't dare to be rash. He asked, "Who are you? Why have you come here?"

The nobleman said, "And who are you? Why have you come here?" His pronunciations weren't exactly correct; he wasn't from the central plains.

Guo Jing said, "I am the disciple of these elders."

The man chuckled, "Who would have thought that there resided a man like this in the Quanzhen sect." He was younger than Guo Jing by a few years, but he spoke with the air of an old man, and with arrogance.

Guo Jing did not regard himself as a true disciple of the Quanzhen sect, but when he heard him speak, he could tell they had a hidden agenda. He didn't want to talk but under these circumstances he had to say something. "What is the story behind your intrusion into the Quanzhen sect? Why have you brought so many people and set the place on fire?"

The man chuckled again, "Since you belong to the lower generation of the Quanzhen sect, how can you speak out."

Guo Jing said, "You have come here and have caused trouble, you have been too reckless." The flames were getting closer, and it wouldn't be long before the main courtyard was set on fire.

The man opened his fan and took a step forward; he laughed and said, "I brought those people along! If you can receive thirty stances of mine, I'll let the old Taoists go, how about that?"

Gou Jing saw that they were in an urgent situation, he couldn't hesitate. He stretched out his right hand, and grabbed the man's fan and pulled it, the man did not let go of the fan, and tried to pull him closer.

With this pull, the man wobbled slightly but he held onto his fan. Guo Jing thought, "This man isn't old; he could actually fend off my pull. The way he circulated his chi was similar to the monk Lingzhi Shangren but compared to Lingzhi Shangren his was more fluid. It appears that he must belong to a sect in the west. The frame of his fan is made of metal, it's actually a weapon." He increased the power in his hands and said, "Let go!" The nobleman's face suddenly turned a shade of purple, but in a second it had disappeared. Guo Jing knew that he had urgently raised his chi to try to resist him; he too increased his strength at the same time. He knew that if the man's face turned purple three times, he would suffer serious internal injuries, but thought that learning this type of kung fu wasn't an easy task. He didn't want to harm him seriously so he gave a sly smile.

With the fan in his hand, the man's strength began to decrease. Guo Jing had transferred all the power in his palm into the fan and into the opponent's hand, wanting to neutralize the man's energy. The man used all the strength he had accumulated during his life but he couldn't transfer any of it into the fan, and was about to lose hold of it. The man realized that his opponent's skills exceeded his so he kept a calm face, let go of the fan and jumped back. His face was red, and said, "Please allow me to know your famous name."

Guo Jing said, "My name is not worth knowing, just know that elders Ma, Qiu and Wang are my teachers."

The man questioned this, and thought that he had just fought with a bunch of old Quanzhen Taoists. "If they fought one on one and didn't rely on the power of the "Big Dipper Formation", they wouldn't be a match for him, so how could a student of theirs be so good," he took another look at Guo Jing to get the measure of him. His face looked ordinary, his clothes were coarse, he looked just like a villager, but he possessed great skills, he said, "Your skills are alarmingly good, I am in awe, I will come again in ten years time and test myself again. I have some unfinished business so I must leave now." He folded his arms in salute as he said this. Guo Jing held his fist in salute and acknowledged, "We will meet again in ten years time."

The man turned around and started out of the palace. As he reached the door, he said, "This affair between me and the Quanzhen sect, I have decided to resolve at a later date. I hope the members of the Quanzhen sect do not take this personally and come searching for me to settle their own private affairs."

According to the rules of Jianghu, if a person stops pursuing a matter and sets a date later on to resolve it, and the persons involved meet during the time period, they must not settle their issues there and then, they must wait for the agreed date.

Guo Jing heard what he said and replied, "Of course."

The man chuckled and he spoke a few words in Tibetan to the Tibetan monk. As he was about to leave, Qiu Chuji shouted out, "There is no need for a ten year wait, I, Qiu Chuji will come in search for you." His voice shook the tiles of the roof, demonstrating his profound internal energy. When the man heard this, he shivered, and thought, "That old Taoist's internal energy is not weak, when I was fighting them a while back, he wasn't at full strength." He didn't dare linger and quickly dashed through the doors. The Tibetan monk in red stared at Guo Jing with fury, as he and the others left. Guo Jing looked at the men, they were all strange looking, they had high noses and deep eyes, they weren't from the central plains, his suspicions were raised, but he heard the sounds of weapons clashing outside had died down, and knew the enemy was leaving.

The group of seven including Ma Yu stood up, but the old Taoist who was lying on the floor did not get up. Guo Jing took a look, it was Guangzhu Zi Hao Datong. He knew that though the seven were being affected by the fire, but they remained and sat there without moving. They wanted to protect their own people. He saw that his face was golden; his breathing shallow, his eyes were closed and knew that he had suffered a serious internal injury. Guo Jing opened his gown, he gasped as he saw a hand print on his chest, five fingers were spread out, the print was deep purple, it had penetrated inside. He thought, "The enemy's kung fu is indeed from western Tibet, it's the "Great Handprint" skill. Although there is no poison on the palm, the power of it is much stronger than that of Lingzhi Shangren.” He examined Hao Datong and he was pleased to find that there was still a strong pulse. Hao Datong had practiced martial arts for many years and had built up a high level of internal energy; his life would not be in danger.

The fire from the back courtyard was coming closer. Qiu Chuji picked up Hao Datong and said, “Let’s go!”

Guo Jing said, “Where’s the child that I brought with me? Who took him away? I don’t want him to get harmed by the fire.”

Qiu Chuji and the others were all occupied with fighting the enemy; they didn’t know anything about it. When they heard this they asked, “Whose child is it? Where are they?”

Before Guo Jing could reply, a small dark figure suddenly appeared and jumped down from a beam of the roof. The person laughed and said, “I’m here.” It was Yang Guo.

Guo Jing was delighted, he quickly asked, “Why were you hiding up there?”

Yang Guo chuckled and said, “You are with the seven rotten Taoists.”

Guo Jing scolded, “Shut up! Come here quickly and greet the Grand Masters.”

Yang Guo stuck his tongue in and out of his mouth and kowtowed to Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and Wang Chuyi, when he reached Yin Zhiping and saw that he was young, he turned his head around and asked, “He’s not a Grand Master is he? I think I don’t have to kowtow anymore.”

Guo Jing said, “That is Martial Uncle Yin, quickly kowtow.” Yang Guo didn’t want to but he still did it. Guo Jing saw him stand up and didn’t kowtow to the other three, he scolded, “Guo’er, how come you don’t kowtow, have you no manners?”

Yang Guo chuckled and said, “By the time I’ve finished kowtowing, it’ll be too late, don’t blame me.”

Guo Jing asked, “Too late for what?”

Yang Guo replied, “There is a Taoist who is tied up in a room; if we don’t go and save him, I’m afraid he’ll be burned to death.”

Guo Jing urgently asked, “Which room? Quickly tell us!”

Yang Guo pointed to the east and said, “I think it’s over there, I don’t know who tied him up.” He laughed after he said this.

Yin Zhiping gave him a glance, and rushed to the eastern double room, he kicked open the door but saw no one. He then ran to the room where the third generation students cultivate their internal energy and opened the door. The room was full of smoke but he saw a Taoist tied to a column crying out, he was in danger. Yin Zhiping picked up a sword, cut the rope, and rescued the Taoist.

Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji, Wang Chuyi, Guo Jing, Yang Guo and the rest of them left the hall and went up the mountain to a building where they watched the fire. They saw the back courtyard was in flames, the fire lighting up half the sky. There were few sources of water around, only a small spring that was used for everyday purposes; it would be useless to use it to try to put out the fire. They could only look on as the back courtyard was burnt down to ashes. The Quanzhen students worked together to stop the fire from spreading, the other halls and buildings were not harmed. Qiu Chuji was originally blithe and didn’t have a care. But he was also rash and bad tempered, as he saw the fierce flames, he ground his teeth and cursed.

Guo Jing was about to ask who the enemy were, and why did they respond in this way when he saw Yin Zhiping's right hand was around a large Taoist's waist. He had come out from the smoke and flames. The large Taoist was overcome by smoke and continuously coughed. Tears were in his eyes but when he saw Yang Guo he was furious, and jumped towards him. Yang Guo chuckled and hid behind Guo Jing. The Taoist did not know who Guo Jing was, he stretched out his hand and pushed his chest, wanting to move him out of the way and grab Yang Guo. But it was like pushing a brick wall; he didn't move an inch. The Taoist stopped and pointed to Yang Guo and loudly shouted, "You little bastard, you wanted to kill me!"

Wang Chuyi sternly said, "Jingguang, what are you talking about?"

The Taoist Lu Qingdu was an apprentice grandson of Wang Chuyi; he had barely escaped with his life and he was furious when he saw Yang Guo. He wanted to jump forward and grab him. He ignored the fact the elders were there and only when he heard Wang Chuyi call out once more did he realize he was out of order. He broke out in a cold sweat, he bowed his head and dropped his hands and said, "Disciple deserves to die."

Wang Chuyi said, "What exactly happened?"

Lu Qingdu said, "It's my fault for being useless, I request the elders to punish me."

Wang Chuyi frowned and said, "Who said you were useless? I asked you, what is this about?"

Lu Qingdu replied, "Yes, yes. I was ordered by Master Zhao to guard the back courtyard. After a while, he came back with the little, little..." He wanted to say "Little bastard", but he knew he couldn't act out of order in front of the elders again so he changed his words and said, "little boy and gave him to me, and said he was brought here by a formidable enemy of our sect. Martial Uncle Zhao had captured him and told me to guard him and don't let him escape. So I took him to the eastern meditation room; after a while, he tricked me and said he needed the toilet and wanted me to untie him. I thought that he was just a small kid and wasn't concerned that he would be able to get away so I untied him. I didn't think that he was just sitting on the toilet and pretending to go; when he suddenly got up, picked up the bucket and threw the waste contents at me." When Lu Qingdu got to this point, Yang Guo burst out laughing. Lu Qingdu angrily shouted, "What are you laughing at?"

Yang Guo lifted his head, his eyes towards the sky and said, "I want to laugh; what can you do about it?"

Lu Qingdu wanted to curse back when Wang Chuyi said, "Don't quarrel with the child; continue."

Lu Qingdu said, "Yes, yes. Elder you don't know, but that little boy is very sly and crafty. When I saw the waste coming at me, I quickly dodged out of the way, but he laughed and said "Ah, Mr. Taoist, you've got some on your clothes!"

When the crowd heard him impersonate Yang Guo, his voice sounded funny, the others secretly wanted to laugh. Wang Chuyi frowned; he secretly cursed him for acting this way in front of others.

Lu Qingdu continued, "I was angry, and wanted to go over and beat him, but he raised the bucket and threw it at me. I shouted out "Little bastard" and quickly used "Rapid Flowing Retreat" (ji liu yong tui) and moved out of the way. One of my feet stepped into the waste but after two wobbles I managed to stay on my feet. I wasn't prepared when the boy took advantage of me while I was unsteady and took my sword from my waist and pointed it at my chest and said if I moved, he would pierce through my chest. I didn't want anything to happen to me so I stood still. The boy held the sword with his left hand and with his right hand tied me up to a column, and then stuffed my mouth with a piece of cloth. Eventually the room caught fire and I couldn't move I couldn't call out; if it wasn't for Martial Uncle Yin, would I not have been burnt to death by that boy?" After he said this, he stared furiously at Yang Guo.

After everyone heard this, they looked at Yang Guo and then looked at the Taoist, one was a small boy, the other a large fat man, they couldn't help but burst out laughing. When Lu Qingdu heard them laugh out loud, he touched his ear and cheek; he didn't know what to do with his hands and feet.

Ma Yu chuckled and said, "Jing'er is he your son? He takes after your wife, very quick and clever."

Guo Jing said, "No, he is my brother Yang Kang's son.

Qiu Chuji shivered when he heard this; he gave Yang Guo two glances and saw that he did indeed look like Yang Kang. Yang Kang was his first official student; he wasn't obedient, yearned for wealth and riches, and acknowledged a scoundrel as his father. Every time Qiu Chuji went over this in his mind, he felt that he was to blame for Yang Kang's behavior. He didn't teach him properly and caused him to turn out like that. When he heard that Yang Kang had an heir, he was sad and delighted at the same time, he quickly asked for the details.

Guo Jing glossed over Yang Guo's situation, and told them he wanted Yang Guo to study under the Quanzhen sect. Qiu Chuji said, "Jing'er, your martial arts have long exceeded ours, why don't you teach him yourself?"

Guo Jing said, "I will tell you everything later. I have offended a lot of Taoist brothers today on the way here, I'm very sorry, I apologize to all the elders, and I hope you can forgive me. He held his hands together to those Taoists who he had fought.

Ma Yu said, "If you hadn't arrived just in time, our sect would have been destroyed. We are not strangers; there is no need to apologize."

Qiu Chuji's brows rose, and after Ma Yu had finished he said to him, "Zhijing led the formation outside; he couldn't tell the difference between friend and foe. I thought it was strange that there was a strong formation placed outside, but when I looked away for a second the enemy managed to break through and attacked us. Huh, so it was him who led the formation away to try to catch you." His eyes squinted, he was livid; he summoned two disciples to him, and asked how they could mistake Guo Jing for the enemy.

The two disciples were frightened and changed colour, the older of the two said, "Apprentice brothers Feng and Wei ran up to us, and said hero Guo had smashed the stone slab at the "Everywhere Light Temple", and knew that he must have been with the enemy."

Guo Jing remembered the events, and couldn't believe all the misunderstanding arose from that, he said, "You can't blame these Taoist brothers. When I was at the Light Everywhere Temple, I inadvertently slammed down a heavy palm on the stone slab that had your poem on it; it was because of this that the misunderstanding was created."

Qiu Chuji said, "So it was because of this, what a coincidence. We already knew that the enemy would come today, and they would use the slamming of the rock as a signal.”

Guo Jing said, “Who were they? How come they were so daring?”

Qiu Chuji sighed and said, “It is a long story, Jing’er, come, I am going to show you something.” He then nodded to Ma Yu and Wang Chuyi; he turned around and headed for the back side of the mountain. Guo Jing turned around to Yang Guo and said, “Guo’er, stay here.” He followed Qiu Chuji. He saw him heading around mountain, his steps rapid, like those of a young man.

The two arrived at the peak of the mountain; Qiu Chuji went up to a large stone slab and said, “There are some words written here.”

It was dark; on the back of the large stone were some words. Guo Jing reached out to the back of the stone, and felt that there were some words written on it, he tried to recognize the words, it was a poem: “His will flows under the bridge. Assisting the Han to gain influence, a winding pillar under the sky, wanting to be free to roam, he walked away after succeeding. Raising people and raising books, the price is heavy. Chongyang raised Quanzhen, his wish had been done, the hero’s disposition had gone, clearly marking his separation. Enduring this, the heart lives in a tomb. A person becomes a man of religion, two immortals will meet. Forever on Mount Zhongnan, a mist will linger.” Guo Jing touched the rock and traced the writing with his fingers at the same time, he was startled, the writing matched the strokes of writing with his fingers, it was as if the writing on the rock was carved on using a finger, he exclaimed, “It was written using a finger?”

Qiu Chuji said, “It startles people when they hear this, indeed it was written using a finger!”

Guo Jing said, "There is such a thing as a god on earth?"

Qiu Chuji said, "The poem was written by two people. The two of them are both famous people in the world of Wulin. The person who wrote the first part of the poem is a very special person, eloquent in both kung fu and the arts; they had reached that stage with ease. It's not a god, but a once in a hundred years outstanding personality."

Guo Jing was full of admiration, and asked, "Who was this senior? Could elder introduce me to them so I could meet them."

Qiu Chuji said, "I have never seen that person. Sit down; I will explain the reasons for today's events."

Guo Jing sat down on the rock and looked on at the fire dying down at the foot of the peak, and said, "It is a pity that Rong'er is not with me, wouldn't it be great if we could hear this interesting story together."

Qiu Chuji said, "Do you understand the poem?" Guo Jing is now middle aged, but the tone that Qiu Chuji spoke in was the same as if he were talking to the young Guo Jing of ten years ago, it wasn't deliberate.

Guo Jing understood the meaning and said, "The first part of the poem is talking about Zhang Liang, I have heard his story from Rong'er so I understand a little. He met an old man underneath a bridge and picked up his shoe; the man treated him like his son and taught him the arts. Later he helped to regain the land of the Han and became one of the three heroes; he eventually retired and lived free from care. The latter part is about ancestor Chongyang, so I don't know much about that."

Qiu Chuji said, "Do you know what type of person Founder Chongyang was?"

Guo Jing thought for a while and said, "Founder Chongyang was your teacher, he was the one who built the Quanzhen sect, and at the first Mount Hua tournament he was the victor."

Qiu Chuji said, "You are correct, what about when he was younger?"

Guo Jing shook his head and replied, "I don't know."

Qiu Chuji said, "The hero's disposition had gone, clearly marking his separation. My teacher hadn't always been a Taoist. When he was young, he first learned the arts; then studied martial arts, and was a respected hero in Jianghu. But because of his hate for the Jin soldiers entering his homeland, ruining his homeland and killing his people, he carried the flag and fought the Jin. He set up a boundary, and managed to do great things in the central plains, but eventually the Jin army broke through, my teacher lost the battles. Many soldiers died. He eventually became a Taoist. He became "the living dead", and for a few years he lived in the tomb in our mountain. He didn't take a step out of the tomb; his meaning was that he was alive but dead. He didn't want to live under the same sky as the Jin scoundrels. What was called "bu gong dai tian" (will not live under the same sky as one's enemy) and that was his intention."

Guo Jing said, "I understand now."

Qiu Chuji said, "After a few years, an old friend of my teacher came and tried to persuade him to leave the tomb and do great things with him again. My teacher was still downhearted, and felt that he couldn't face his old Jianghu friends anymore; and so didn't leave the tomb. Eight years later, a lifelong rival of my teacher arrived outside the tomb and cursed and insulted him for seven days and for seven nights; my teacher couldn't stand it anymore and came out of the cave to confront him. Who would have thought that the person would give a laugh and say, "You've come out now, there is no need to return!" My teacher was startled at his words, and realized that the enemy had good intentions. He felt it was a pity that someone of his ability would hide themselves in the tomb and tricked him into coming out. The two changed the relationship, from enemies into friends, and both re-entered the world of Jianghu."

When Guo Jing heard about this senior's actions, he was curious and asked, "Who are these persons? Are they in the same class as the four greats Eastern Heretic, Western Poison, Southern Emperor and Northern Beggar?"

Qiu Chuji said, "No. When it comes to martial arts, she is above the four greats, but because she is a woman, she didn't like to attract the attention of other people and so outsiders did not know much about her; even her name was unknown.

Guo Jing said, "Oh, so it was a girl."

Qiu Chuji sighed, "That senior was actually in love with my teacher, and wanted to marry to him. That year they kept on arguing and fighting, but it was because the girl wanted to get closer to my teacher. But she was a very proud woman and didn't want to be the one to show her feelings first. Eventually my teacher understood, but my teacher could not forget that he had to help his country to drive out the enemy, and said, "I have not completed my wishes, how could I settle down now?" My teacher rejected her love and didn't know what to do. That senior thought that my teacher didn't respect her feelings and the feud between them restarted. They had been enemies who turned friends but became enemies again because of love, and agreed to a date to duel on Mount Zhongnan."

Guo Jing said, "There was no need for it."

Qiu Chuji replied, "Yes! My teacher knew her feelings and had to let her win. Who would have thought the senior's character was strange, she said, "If you let me win, then that means you have even less respect for me?" My teacher could do nothing else but to duel with her. The two then fought each other, a few thousand moves passed, my teacher did not use any powerful moves, and eventually it was hard to pick a winner. The woman said, "You are not using all your ability to fight, who do you think I am?" My teacher said, "It is hard to pick out a winner from dueling, how about we test our literature skills?? The woman said, "Fine. If I lose, I won't ever see you again so you can be in peace." My teacher then said, "What do you want if you win?? The woman's face turned red, and she couldn't reply; she eventually clenched her teeth and said, "You've got to give up your Living Dead Tomb for me to live in." The woman had a hidden meaning behind her demand, if she won, she would live with my teacher and be together. My teacher felt awkward, he knew his martial arts skills were slightly higher than hers; he would be forced to beat her otherwise he wouldn't have any more quiet days. So he asked her, "How are we going to compete."

She said, "Today we are both tired, we'll meet again tomorrow night." When it was approaching dusk, the two met again. She said, "Before we compete, we need to set a rule." My teacher said, "What rule do you want to set?" The woman said, "If you win, I'll immediately kill myself; I won't see you ever again. If I win you have to give the Tomb of the Living Dead to me, obey me forever and mustn't question anything. If you don't, you have to become a man of religion; I don't care if you become a monk or a Taoist. Whether you become a Taoist or a monk, you will need to build a temple and accompany me for ten years."

My teacher understood, "obey her forever" means that she wants me to marry her. If I don't and become a monk or a Taoist, I won't be able to marry another. But how can I win and watch you kill yourself? It is also hard for me to accompany you for ten years here.” My teacher hesitated on his decision. The senior excelled in terms of looks and martial arts; my teacher was touched by her love, but when it came to getting married, they just weren’t destined to. My teacher thought for a while, and eventually made his decision, and knew she would do what she had said. If she lost she would definitely kill herself, and decided no matter what they competed at he would let her win. He said, “Fine, as you said.”

The woman said, “If we just competed in literature it would be too easy. We’ll write some words on that stone using our fingers, whoever writes the best will be the winner.”

My teacher shook his head and said, “I’m not a god, how can I use my finger to write on that stone?”

The woman said, “If I can then, you’ll admit defeat?”

My teacher was forced to agree with no other option. He knew that no one on earth could do this and so exploited it and thought of a way that there will be no winner or loser, and the competition would end. He said, “If you’ve got the ability then I’ll admit defeat. If you can’t do it, there is no difference between us and we will not compete anymore.”

The woman gave a laugh and said, “Fine, get ready to be a Taoist.” As she said this, her left hand stroked the rock for a while, and after a while she said, “What should I write? Ah, the first hero who became a man of religion was Zhang Zhifang. He gave up his name and wealth, he’s your ancestor.” She then stretched out her right hand and extended her index finger, and wrote on the stone. My teacher saw her finger touch the rock, and dust flowed from the rock, she had carved a word, he had never been so startled in his life. She wrote the first part of the poem.

My teacher had lost and had nothing to say, he immediately moved out of the tomb and let her move in, and near the tomb he built a small Taoist temple; it was the predecessor of the Chongyang Palace.”

Guo Jing also couldn't believe it, he extended his finger and traced the writing on the rock, the carvings were indeed written with a finger and said, “That senior's finger kung fu would indeed frighten people when they hear about it.”

Qiu Chuji raised his head and laughed out to the sky, “Jing'er, this event could fool my teacher, me and now even you. But if your wife was here, she would not be fooled.”

Guo Jing opened his eyes wide and said, “Is there some kind of trick involved?”

Qiu Chuji said, “Could it be? Who on earth has the best finger kung fu?”

Guo Jing said, “Of course it's Reverend Yideng and his “Solitary Yang Finger”.”

Qiu Chuji replied, “Yes! But even with Reverend Yideng's finger kung fu, it would be hard for him to accomplish this feat on a piece of wood, how would he be able to do it on a piece of rock? And could someone else achieve this? My teacher became a Taoist and still could not figure out what happened. Later, your father in law Island Master Huang came and visited my teacher. He knew that he was a very intelligent man and so told him the events, and asked him to help. Island master Huang thought for a while and then gave a chuckle, “I understand. I have yet to complete this type of kung fu; I'll come back in one month's time.” He laughed as he left the mountain.

After a month, Island Master Huang came back and went with my teacher to look at the rock again. When that senior wrote her poem, she ended it with “Raising people and raising books, the price is heavy?” Her meaning was that she wanted my teacher to have the same fate as Zhang Liang, leave the world and enter religion. Island Master Huang stroked the rock slab with his left hand for a while, his right hand stretched out and extended his finger and wrote a few words, he wrote everything from “Chongyang raised Quanzhen” to “Forever on Mount Zhongnan, a mist will linger”; he wrote to praise my teacher.

My teacher saw that the words were deep, and were exactly the same as what happened last time, and was even more startled and thought, “Huang Yaoshi’s kung fu is definitely below me, how on earth did he managed to obtain such a powerful finger skill?” He was suspicious and extended his finger on to the rock and he managed to make a hole in it.

He then led Guo Jing’s hand to where his teacher had made the hole. Guo Jing felt the mark, and put his finger in it, true enough, it was as if someone had made it with their finger. He thought, “Could it be that the rock is especially soft, and not like any other rock?” He generated chi in his finger and pressed into the rock, but he felt his fingertip start to ache, the rock did not move.

Qiu Chuji laughed, “Even the foolish little boy can’t figure it out. Before the woman wrote on the stone slab, her left hand had stroked the rock for a while. She was actually holding a piece of small rock, and made the rock surface soft, within the time it takes to burn an incense stick, the stone slab would remain soft. Island Master Huang saw through the trick, and went away to find a suitable stone to do this and then came back to demonstrate this.”

Guo Jing didn’t say anything and thought, “My father in law’s intelligence is not below that of that senior, but where is he now?” He missed him a lot.

Qiu Chuji didn't know what he was thinking and carried on, "When my teacher first became a Taoist, he was still vehement, but as he read more Taoist books, he knew it was meant to be, he became enlightened and decided to spread our sect's name. When you think about it, if it weren't for that senior's plan, the Quanzhen sect would not exist; I would not be here today, and we wouldn't know where you, Guo Jing, would be."

Guo Jing nodded, and asked, "So what is that senior's name, and is she still alive?"

Qiu Chuji sighed and replied, "When that senior was in the world of Wulin, she was always discreet, very few people actually saw her. Apart from my teacher, I don't think anyone else knows her name, and my teacher never actually mentioned her name. That senior had passed away before the time of the first Mount Hua tournament, otherwise with her martial arts and character, how can it be that she did not appear?"

Guo Jing nodded his head and said, "It must be. Does she have any descendants?"

Qiu Chuji sighed and said, "All of today's trouble comes from this point. That senior didn't take in a disciple during her life; she only had a maid with her. That maid did not enter the world of Jianghu, so no one knew about her, but she took in two disciples. The eldest disciple is called Li, you must know about this, in Jianghu they call her the "Scarlet Serpent Deity" Li Mochou."

Guo Jing gave an "ah" sound and said, "That Li Mochou is vindictive and ruthless, so those are her origins."

Qiu Chuji said, "You've seen her?"

Guo Jing replied, "A few months ago, I came across her in Jiang Nan. Her kung fu is at a very high level."

Qiu Chuji said, "You hurt her?"

Guo Jing shook his head, "No, we didn't actually meet each other, I only saw how she killed countless women, her ruthlessness has no comparisons, like Mei Chaofeng was when she was alive."

Qiu Chuji said, "It was fortunate you didn't hurt her, otherwise there'd be trouble. Her apprentice sister is named "Long"."

Guo Jing shivered and said, "She is the girl called Long?"

Qiu Chuji's face changed colour slightly, and said, "What? You've seen her? How did this happen?"

Guo Jing said, "Disciple has not seen her before. When I was coming up the mountain, the Taoist brothers insulted me and called me a perverted scoundrel, and said I came for the one called Long, this made me confused."

Qiu Chuji laughed out loud, and sighed at the same time, "Chongyang Palace took the matter into its own hands. If we hadn't made this error, and created the misunderstanding, not only would the large "Big Dipper Formation" have repelled the attackers, you would have arrived here earlier, and apprentice brother Hao would not have been hurt."

He saw that Guo Jing's face was fascinated and continued, "Today is the one named Long's eighteenth birthday."

Guo Jing opened his mouth and said, "Ah, it's her eighteenth birthday!" However he did not understand how a girl's eighteenth birthday could cause so much trouble.

Qiu Chuji said, "Outsiders do not know her first name so all of those troublemakers call her Xiao Longnu, we'll call her that as well. One night eighteen years ago, there was the cry of a little baby girl outside Chongyang Palace, a palace disciple came out to take a look, and saw the little baby girl wrapped in a bundle on the ground. It was inconvenient for the palace to take in a baby girl, but Taoists are supposed to be merciful so we couldn't leave her there. At the time my apprentice brother who was the master of the sect, and I were not on the mountain, and before any of the disciples of the palace could do anything, a middle aged woman suddenly came out from behind the mountain and said, "The little baby is unfortunate and pitiful, I'll take her in!" The disciples couldn't have asked for more, and so gave the baby girl to her. Later, apprentice brother Ma and I returned to the palace, when they told us about this event, from the description of the woman, we knew she was the maid from the Tomb of the Living Dead. She had met the seven of us a few times before, but we had never spoken. Although we are neighbors and because of our seniors' relationship, it is difficult for us to talk to her about it. When I heard that the matter was resolved, I didn't keep it in my mind. Later, her disciple the "Scarlet Serpent Deity" Li Mochou, left the mountain. She was ruthless and vindictive, her martial arts were very high, and caused trouble around the world of Jianghu. Our Quanzhen sect requested to talk to the maid about this many times, to get her to do something about it. Eventually, we didn't act out of respect for her. We wrote a letter and sent it to the tomb. It was extremely respectful and polite. After we sent the letter, it was like a stone sinking into the sea, she still did not reply, and she tolerated Li Mochou's actions, and didn't govern her.

One day, after a few years, outside the tomb we saw a white banner hung on a pine thorn thicket and we knew that the woman had passed away, so the six of us went to the tomb to pay our respects. As we were going through the ceremony, a thirteen or fourteen year old girl emerged from the pine thorn thickets, greeted us and thanked us for the ceremony, and said, "Master has left the world, and has ordered me to tell all you elders that if that person still causes trouble, my master has a plan to punish her, please don't worry." When she finished, she turned around and went back inside. We wanted to ask her some questions about this but she had already gone back into the tomb. Our master had made a rule; everyone under the order of the Quanzhen sect must not take one step into the tomb. When she left, we pondered and wondered, our Taoist friend is dead, so how could she punish her student? We felt sorry for the little girl and so we sent her food and supplies, but each time she did not touch them, and ordered a servant to return them. She was strange. She was just like her teacher, and her ancestor. But she had a servant to look after her, so we didn't worry about her. Eventually we all had business to attend to, and were rarely present in the palace. We didn't hear anything from the girl. For some reason, news of Li Mochou disappeared and she didn't cause any more trouble. We knew that our Taoist friend had come up with an ingenious plan, and we all were in awe.

Spring came, me and apprentice brother Wang had to go away to Shanxi for some business. We were at a hero's home in Guangzhou when we heard startling news. We heard that one year later, all types of crooks, scoundrels and evildoers would descend on Mount Zhongnan and cause havoc. Mount Zhongnan is the root of our sect and the reason they've come to Mount Zhongnan is to fight our sect, how could we not take precautions? Apprentice brother Wang and I were afraid that the news was unreliable, so we sent out people to investigate; true enough, the news was real. But it wasn't because they wanted to duel with our sect, but it was to do with Xiao Longnu of the Tomb of the Living Dead.

Guo Jing asked, "She is just a young girl, and has never left the tomb, how did she make enemies with all those people?"

Qiu Chuji replied, "The reasons for all this wasn't related to us and originally we didn't care. One day when the evildoers started to descend on Mount Zhongnan, we decided we couldn't just stand by, so we listened for more news, and discovered that Xiao Longnu's apprentice sister Li Mochou started all this business."

Guo Jing said, "Li Mochou?"

Qiu Chuji said, "Yes. Her master had taught her martial arts for a few years and had discovered her character was ill, and so said she had completed her training, and ordered her to leave the mountain. When Li Mochou's master was still alive, although she did evil deeds, she was still slightly worried. But when her teacher died, she used the excuse of paying her respects to enter the Tomb of the Living Dead, and tried to expel her apprentice sister. She knew that she had not learned everything from her master or her sect's founder, and wanted to come to see if there were any kung fu manuals or manuscripts hidden in the tomb. She knew that there were many booby traps in the tomb, and remembered them. She entered through two sets of doors of the tomb, and by the third one she saw a letter left by her teacher. Her teacher had predicted that she would come back, and left this letter for her and part of the letter said: "On a certain year, month, date, it will be your apprentice sister's eighteenth birthday. If you do not stop your evil ways and repent, then your apprentice sister will assume leadership and seek you out and rid the sect of so treacherous a disciple."

Li Mochou was furious, and burst through the third set of doors, and fell into the poisonous trap left by her teacher; if it wasn't for Xiao Longnu curing her poison, she would have died. She knew that it was lethal and so left the tomb. But she had failed, would she let it go? Eventually she came back a few times but each time she suffered. In her last attempt, she actually fought with her apprentice sister. Xiao Longnu was only fifteen or sixteen years of age at that time, but her skills exceeded that of her apprentice sister. If she hadn't let her off, it would not have been a hard task to take her life."

Guo Jing interrupted, "I'm afraid that could be just a rumour of the Jianghu world."

Qiu Chuji asked, "Why?"

Guo Jing replied, "My master hero Ke has fought with Li Mochou twice, and said that her skills had their fine points. Even Reverend Yideng's high disciple Wu Santong lost to her. Xiao Longnu has not even reached twenty yet, even if her skills were higher, it would be hard for her to beat Li Mochou."

Qiu Chuji said, "That piece of news was heard by apprentice brother Wang from a friend of his from the Beggar Clan. Whether Xiao Longnu did or did not defeat her apprentice sister, there wasn't a witness so no one knows apart from them. I only know that this was what people of Jianghu said. Li Mochou was upset and jealous that her teacher was biased, and passed on the higher set of skills to her apprentice sister. So she created a rumour, and said that on a certain year, month and date, the one called Xiao Longnu who lives in the tomb will have a martial arts competition to decide her marriage." Guo Jing heard about this, he immediately thought about when Yang Kang and Mu Nianci met in Yanjing, and let out a quiet sigh.

Qiu Chuji knew what he was thinking and he too gave a sigh, and said, "She revealed: whoever beats Xiao Longnu, not only will they get to marry her, all the riches and kung fu manuals of the sect will be theirs. The evildoers did not know who Xiao Longnu was, but Li Mochou widely spread the fact that her apprentice sister's beauty exceeded hers. The "Scarlet Serpent Deity" is said to be a very beautiful woman, her beauty is very rare within the world of Wulin, and even women from brothels can't compare with her."

Guo Jing thought, "What is so special about that? My Rong'er exceeds her beauty over one hundred times."

Qiu Chuji continued, "Many evildoers of the Wulin world lusted after Li Mochou. But those who give a prolonged glance, or did not treat her with respect she would immediately punish them. Now they hear she has an apprentice sister whose beauty exceeded hers, and who had publicly announced that she will have a competition to decide her marriage, so they all thought why not and try their luck?"

Guo Jing was startled and said, "So all those people that were here were in search of marriage. Its no wonder the students of the palace called me a perverted scoundrel."

Qiu Chuji said, "I also heard that these people did not even care about the Quanzhen sect. When a large crowd of people descended on Mount Zhongnan, we wanted to intervene and become a needle in their eyes. Apprentice brother Wang and I had received the news, and decided to repel the evildoers. We had gathered all the students of our sect ten days earlier. Apprentice brother Liu and apprentice sister Sun were in Shanxi and couldn't return. We arranged to practice the "Big Dipper Formations" and we also sent a letter to the tomb to invite Xiao Longnu to the palace. The letter was sent, but there was no reply, Xiao Longnu had ignored us."

Guo Jing said, "So she left the tomb."

Qiu Chuji said, "No. From the top of the mountain and looking downwards, you could see smoke coming out from the tomb everyday. Take a look, it's over there." He pointed to the west. Guo Jing followed his finger and looked to the west, but all he could see for ten miles was forest, he did not know where the Tomb of the Living Dead was. He thought about the young eighteen-year-old girl, living in the tomb all the time; if it was Rong'er, she would be bored to death.

Qiu Chuji said, "All our apprentice brothers were set to meet the enemy. Five days ago, the scouts who were sent out came back and discovered who the two most powerful people were from the crowd of evildoers. They had agreed to first meet at the foot of the mountain at the Everywhere Light Temple, and used the smashing of the stone slab as the signal. You inadvertently smashed the stone slab, and frightened people with your strength; it was no wonder my grand disciples made such a commotion.

The two tyrants' names are quite famous; they have entered the central plains this year to shake the world of Wulin. You have resided on Peach Blossom Island so you wouldn't know about the affairs of the outside world. That nobleman is a Mongolian prince, it was said that he is Genghis Khan's close nephew. Other people call him Prince Huo Dou. You've lived on the plains of Mongolia for a long time, and you were familiar with the royalty, can you remember meeting anyone like him?"

Guo Jing quietly repeated "Prince Huo Dou", he recalled his face, but couldn't remember whose son he could be, but he felt that his face was handsome, proud but also carried a devious air. Genghis Khan had four sons, the eldest Shu Chi [Jochi] was violent and brave, the second son Cha He Tai [Chagatai] was a clever planner, the third prince Wo Kuo Tai [Ogedai] is the khan of the Mongols at this moment in time, he was easy going, the fourth prince Tuo Lei [Tolui] was the most humane, when he thought about it, Huo Dou did not resemble any of the four princes.

Qiu Chuji said, "I'm afraid that a man of his stature coming to create havoc here has an ulterior motive. His kung fu originates from Western Tibet; he arrived in the central plains at the beginning of the year. He wounded the three heroes of Henan, and later on he single-handedly killed the seven Lords of Lanzhou. His name was spread widely throughout the land, we didn't predict that he would have the nerve to come to our sect and cause trouble. The other Tibetan monk is called Da'erba; he has supernatural strength, and his kung fu is from the same school as Huo Dou. It appears that he is the senior apprentice brother. He is a monk, of course he hasn't come here to get married; he's here to aid Huo Dou.

When the rest of the evil men heard the two were coming, they remembered the matter of dueling for marriage. Years ago, in front of a crowd of people, Li Mochou had said the tomb contained mountains of treasures, and had countless kung fu manuscripts and manuals; saying there was the formulae to the "Eighteen Subduing Dragon Palms", the "Solitary Yang Finger" and numerous others. Although the crooks and scoundrels were unsure, they thought that if they went up to the mountain and opened up the tomb, they would be able to get a share of the spoils. About one hundred or so of them came up the mountain. Originally our "Big Dipper Formation" could have easily repelled them away from the foot of our mountain, not allowing them to come through and teach them not to take one step into Chongyang Palace. We were resisting them when the misunderstanding occurred; there is no need to say anymore."

Guo Jing felt very guilty and apologetic, and wanted to say a few words of apology. Qiu Chuji waved his hand and laughed, "Letting a laugh out rids your worries and the moon is still in the sky above the western lake. The halls and buildings are just objects; human possessions mean nothing, so why worry about them? You have honed your martial arts for the last ten years, could it be that you do not understand the meaning of this?"

Guo Jing laughed and said, "Yes!"

Qiu Chuji laughed and said, "Actually when I saw the back courtyard being burned down to the ground, I was very angry and furious, but after a while I calmed down. Compared to how calm apprentice brother Ma was, I am nowhere as enlightened as he is."

Guo Jing said, "You can't blame yourself for getting angry at all those crooks and scoundrels."

Qiu Chuji said, "As you fought with the main "Big Dipper Formation", the two tyrants led a pack of scoundrels and took advantage of the situation and led them to Chongyang Palace. As soon as they arrived, they set fire to the buildings; apprentice brother Hao led a formation out against Prince Huo Dou. He was wary of Huo Duo's skills as they were very strange. Apprentice brother Hao was careless and rash when he was fighting him, and ended up being struck in the chest. We set up a formation to protect him. Without apprentice brother Hao in the formation we had to replace him with students whose skills were much inferior, thus the power of the formation was reduced and limited. If you hadn't arrived just in time, today would be the day where the Quanzhen sect would have been destroyed. When I think about it, even if the other students didn't mistake you for the enemy, though they would be able to stop all the scoundrels and crooks from entering the mountain, they would not be able to stop Da'erba and Huo Dou. If the two combined together and attacked our formation, we would not have lost, but we definitely would not have defeated them as quickly and as spectacularly as you did."

As he said this, they heard a sound from the west; someone was blowing a horn. The horn sound was pleasant and relaxing, as Guo Jing listened, he imagined himself back in the Mongolian plains, looking out at the yellow sands of Mongolia, giving off a beautiful glow.

After a while, he heard “an intent to kill” was beginning to emerge from the sounds of the horn, as if it was trying to invite someone for a duel. Qiu Chuji’s face turned angry and shouted, “Beasts, beasts!”

He looked at the forest to the west and said, “Jing’er, you and that scoundrel have set a ten year date; you are going to meet again in these ten years, I advise to you not to intervene. Is there such a sincere and honorable thing under heaven? Let’s go!”

Guo Jing said, “It is Prince Huo Dou?”

Qiu Chuji replied, “It is him. He is trying to get Xiao Longnu to duel with him.” While saying this, he was already flying down the mountain. Guo Jing followed.

The two traveled for about a mile, when they heard the horn sound was getting closer, but within the sound of the horn, they could make out the sound of a weapon was being used; it was Da’erba.

Qiu Chuji was angry and said, “How can two martial artists gang up and bully a young girl; they really don’t care about face.” He increased his efforts and sped up. In a flash, the two were at the foot of the hill, passing a stone slab. All Guo Jing could see in front of him was a black forest. Outside the forest stood one hundred short and tall scoundrels and crooks, it was the same people who had just attacked Chongyang Palace. The two of them hid behind the stone slab, surveying their actions. They saw Prince Huo Dou and Da’erba get up. Prince Huo Dou raised his horn and blew. Da’erba raised a large golden pestle (rod shaped object used for crushing) with his left hand. He tapped the golden bracelet on his right wrist with the pestle, and created a noise, the two noises combined, trying to draw out Xiao Longnu. The two did this for a while, but no sounds came from the forest.

Huo Dou put down his horn, and clearly said, "I am Mongolia's Prince Huo Dou; I have come to congratulate Xiao Longnu on your birthday."

As he finished, three chords from a zither was heard, it was Xiao Longnu replying. Hu Dou was happy and said, "It is known far and wide that Miss Long will have a duel to find a husband. I have dared to come forward, and meet this challenge, I ask Miss Long to make her move. A resounding sound was suddenly heard from the zither, clearly showing signs of anger. The rest of the crowd didn't move, they could hear from the zither notes the intent of the player, wanting them to leave. Huo Dou chuckled and said, "I am from an affluent family, handsome, sincere and willing, I wouldn't dare to offend you. Miss Long is a heroine in the world, please don't be shy."

When he finished, the sound of the zither soared, a note of reproving could be heard from within the sound. Huo Dou glanced at Da'erba, the monk nodded. Huo Dou said, "If Miss does not show herself, then I will have to enter." He then picked up his horn, waved his right hand and leapt into the forest. The crowd of people also went forward, and all thought, "Even the famous Quanzhen sect could not stop us, Xiao Longnu is alone and is just a young girl, aren't we overdoing things?" But they were all thinking about getting to the treasure first and ignored this, pushing and shoving they entered the forest.

Qiu Chuji shouted out, "This place is Quanzhen sect's Founder Chongyang's old residence, leave quickly."

When the crowd heard this, they were all startled, but their feet didn't stop moving forwards.

Qiu Chuji was angry and said, "Jing'er, let's use force!" The two emerged from behind the stone slab and were about to enter the forest; then they suddenly heard cries from the crowd of people, and they were dashing back out of the forest.

Qiu Chuji and Guo Jing stopped, they saw tens of people flying out of the forest, even Huo Dou and Da'erba came flying out, they were rushing out much quicker than they did when they were forced away from Chongyang Palace. Qiu Chuji and Guo Jing wondered, "What method did Xiao Longnu used to drive these people away?" As they wondered, they suddenly heard the sounds of something approaching quickly, under the moonlight they saw a collection of white and grey blurs emerging from the forest, and were diving onto the crowds of evildoers.

Guo Jing asked, "What is that?" Qiu Chuji shook his head and did not reply, and looked closer, some of the people who were running slower were being dived on by the things and they immediately dropped down onto the ground, holding their heads and screaming.

Guo Jing was startled and said, "It's a swarm of bees, why are they white?" As he said this, a swarm of jade colored bees stung five or six people. In front of the forest were ten people who were rolling about on the ground, crying and screaming. It would have sent shivers down the backs to those who could hear them. Guo Jing thought, "It does hurt if you get stung by a bee, but there is no need to cry out like that; could it be that the Jade Bee's poison is very potent?" He saw a grey image flying towards him, the Jade Bees were like smoke, and were flying onto Guo Jing and Qiu Chuji. The bees were ferocious and it was hard to repel them, Guo Jing wanted to turn around and escape, Qiu Chuji circulated chi through his "dan tian", and blew out through his mouth at the bees that were coming towards him. The swarm of bees was flying forwards fiercely, but when they met the fierce gust of wind they were pushed back. As Qiu Chuji's first breath finished he sent out a second one. Guo Jing had learned this type of skill, and then did the same; he and Qiu Chuji created a gust of wind. The skills they used were advanced orthodox skills, the swarm of bees could not resist and flew past the two and chased after Huo Dou and Da'erba. The people who were rolling along on the ground were crying out for mercy, calling out for their fathers and mothers, and sobbing uncontrollably. Someone said, "I'm sorry, I beg goddess Xiao Longnu to save my life!"

Guo Jing was startled; "He is a member of the Jianghu world, even if his arm or leg was chopped off, he may not call out in pain. How can just a little sting by a bee be so lethal?" Suddenly the sound of the zither was heard from the forest, accompanying it was a white mist. Guo Jing and Qiu Chuji could smell the scent of an extremely sweet and fragrant flower. After a while, the sounds of the bees came closer, the bees sensed the aroma and returned to the forest, it was Xiao Longnu who had created the scent to order the bees back.

Qiu Chuji and Xiao Longnu had been neighbors for eighteen years but he didn't know that she had such skills; he was in awe but also felt amused, and said, "If we knew our fragrant neighbor was so prepared, the Quanzhen sect should not have been so nosy." Although he was talking to Guo Jing, he had said it with his chi and wanted Xiao Longnu to hear it. The music from the forest changed, gentle and peaceful, the sense of appreciation was hidden within the music. Qiu Chuji laughed out loud, and said clearly, "Miss, there is no need for all this. This Old Taoist and disciple Guo Jing wish you well on your birthday." Two notes were heard from the zither and then nothing more.

Guo Jing sensed that within the notes there was a feeling of sorrow and pity. He said to Qiu Chuji, "Elder, why did she let them go?"

Qiu Chuji replied, "Miss Long makes her own decisions, let's go." The two turned around and headed east, on the way, Guo Jing once again requested Qiu Chuji to accept Yang Guo into Quanzhen.

Qiu Chuji sighed, "Your godfather Yang Tiexin was a great hero, why did he have no descendants? I played a part in the downfall of Yang Kang. Don't worry, I will do my best and teach the boy how to be a good person."

Guo Jing was pleased, and got down on his knees to say thanks. The two chatted away as they reached Chongyang Palace; the sky had now begun to get bright. Many Taoists were clearing up the back courtyard and tending to the damage.

Qiu Chuji summoned a group of Taoists to meet Guo Jing, and pointed out to the bearded Taoist who had led the "Big Dipper Formation" against him and said, "That is apprentice brother Wang's first disciple, his name is Zhao Zhijing. Out of all the third generation disciples, his kung fu is the highest, we'll let him teach Guo'er kung fu."

Guo Jing had exchanged hands with that person, and knew his kung fu was high, and he was pleased, and ordered Yang Guo to undergo the custom of greeting a new master to Zhao Zhijing, and he himself apologized to Zhao Zhijing. Guo Jing remained on Mount Zhongnan for a few days, and repeatedly gave advice to Yang Guo, then, after saying goodbyes to him and the Taoists, he returned to Peach Blossom Island.

Qiu Chuji remembered years ago when he taught Yang Kang kung fu, and let him do as he pleased in the palace. Eventually this led Yang Kang to make wrong choices and thought, "Being strict will create a good student, and being harsh will bring a filial son. I must be strict and keep a close eye on Guo'er; otherwise he will follow the same road as his father." He then summoned Yang Guo, and then gave him a stern talking to, and told him he will have hardships ahead, he must listen to every word that his master says, and must not be lazy.

Yang Guo did not even want to be on Mount Zhongnan, and for no reason he was given a strict scolding, he was angry, he held in his tears and didn't reply, when Qiu Chuji left he let out a cry and sobbed.

Suddenly a voice from behind coldly said, "What's the matter? Has Martial Grand Master wronged you?"

Yang Guo was startled; he stopped crying and turned around only to see his master Zhao Zhijing, he quickly dropped his hands and said, "No."

Zhao Zhijing said, "Why did you cry?"

Yang Guo said, "I was thinking about Uncle Guo and became sad."

He had just heard Qiu Chuji giving a stern scolding to him, now Yang Guo is saying it is because he misses Guo Jing, he wasn't convinced and thought, "He is so crafty already at such a young age; if I don't punish him now, how could he change?" He then shouted, "You dare to lie to your master?"

Yang Guo had seen how Guo Jing had beaten the Taoists so spectacularly and convincingly, and had seen Qiu Chuji and the others being forced back onto their hands and feet by Huo Dou and the evildoers. They depended on Guo Jing to save them, so he had already made up his mind on the Quanzhen kung fu being nothing but ordinary. He didn't respect Qiu Chuji, what about Zhao Zhijing? Guo Jing had neglected to explain to him that the Quanzhen sect's kung fu was orthodox and profound, years ago Wang Chongyang's kung fu was the best in the world, other family's' and other sects' best fighters could not compare. The reasons for what he saw was not because of the Quanzhen sect's kung fu was useless, but because the group of Taoists who he had seen fighting had not practiced enough. Yang Guo then believed that it must be because that the Guo couple did not want him as a disciple, and just gave him to anyone to learn martial arts. He had seen with his own two eyes that the Taoists' swords had been forced out of their hands, even if Guo Jing had explained, Yang Guo would not have believed it. He saw that his master's expression wasn't pleasant, and thought, "I only became your disciple because I had no choice; even if I learned everything you know, what use would it be? Why are you acting like you are in charge?" He didn't reply.

Zhao Zhijing was angry; his voice became even louder and said, "I asked you a question, you dare to not reply?"

Yang Guo said, "Whatever master wants me to say, I'll say it."

Zhao Zhijing heard that he was disrespectful, he could not hold his temper anymore, he hit him across the face and left a deep red mark. Yang Guo cried out, and began to cry and ran away. Zhao Zhijing quickly followed and caught him, and asked, "Where are you going?"

Yang Guo said, "Let go of me, I don't want to learn from you."

Zhao Zhijing was irate and shouted, "Bastard, what did you say?"

Yang Guo immediately became bold, and shouted, "Rotten Taoist, you dog, you can kill me!"

A disciple master relationship was looked upon as very significant, in the world of Wulin; a disciple master relationship was the same as a father son relationship. If the master wanted to kill the student, the disciple would not dare to resist. Yang Guo had dared to insult his teacher, it was a rarely seen and rarely heard event; it was treason and heresy. Zhao Zhijing's face turned yellow, he raised his hand and wanted to give him another slap. Yang Guo suddenly jumped up, and grabbed his arm, and bit on his right index finger. After Yang Guo had received Ou Yangfeng's method of practicing internal energy, he practiced it occasionally; he now had a decent foundation. Zhao Zhijing was angry, and didn't have his guard up against a small child. Being grabbed and fiercely bitten, he couldn't move and his finger was in pain; he couldn't endure it. Zhao Zhijing raised his left fist and heavily hit Yang Guo on the shoulder, and shouted, "Do you want to die? Let go!?" Yang Guo was furious, even if he were threatened by swords and spears he would not let go, but he felt pain in his shoulder. His teeth bit even harder, a "ka" sound was heard, he had bitten through the bone. He shouted, "Ah!" and fiercely threw a left fist at Yang Guo's head, and made him faint. He opened his jaw and took out his right index finger. He saw his hand was full of fresh blood, though he managed to fix his finger back into place, his finger would not have the strength that it used to have. This will affect his kung fu, he became furious and kicked Yang Guo a few times.

He ripped some cloth of Yang Guo's sleeve, and wrapped it around his wound. He took a look around, it was lucky that no one was about. He thought that if someone saw this, it would be spread throughout the Jianghu world that Quanzhen's Zhao Zhijing's finger was bitten off by his little disciple; he would lose all his respect. He then went and filled a basin with cold water and splashed it over Yang Guo to wake him up. When Yang Guo woke, he was like a madman and wanted to fight again. Zhao Zhijing grabbed his chest and shouted, "Animal, you really don't want to live do you?"

Yang Guo shouted, "Scoundrel, rotten Taoist, calling me an animal, after being beaten to the ground by my Uncle Guo and eating faeces off the floor, begging for mercy won't help your descendants; you're the animal!"

Zhao Zhijing extended his right palm and hit him again. He kept his guard up, if Yang Guo wanted to attack him, how could he get near? In the wink of an eye he kicked him a few times. If Zhao Zhijing wanted to hurt him, it would be too easy, but he remembered that Yang Guo was his disciple. If he hurt him badly, how would he answer if my master or martial uncles asked about it? Yang Guo ferociously attacked, as if Zhao Zhijing was his most hated person in the world; although he was punched and kicked, and couldn't bear the pain, he did not intend to back down.

Zhao Zhijing punched and kicked him, though in his heart there was some feelings of regret. He saw that although he was bruised all over, he became bolder as he fought. In the end he had no other choice but to stretch out his left finger and touched the side of his body, sealing his pressure point. Yang Guo lay down on the ground and wasn't able to move, but his eyes were full of hate and fury.

Zhao Zhijing said, "You ingrate, do you submit now?" Yang Guo stared at him, with no intent to submit. Zhao Zhijing sat on a rock and recovered his breath. It was as if he had just dueled with a highly skilled opponent, fighting until he was out of breath. At the moment it wasn't because his arms and legs were tired, it was because he was troubled.

One disciple, one master; both looked at each other angrily, Zhao Zhijing tried to think of a good punishment for the rebel child, in the middle of his thoughts, he suddenly heard the bell ringing; it was the leader calling to gather the students. Zhao Zhijing was startled; he turned to Yang Guo and said, "If you don't cause anymore trouble, then I'll let you go.” He extended his finger and unsealed his pressure point. Yang Guo immediately jumped up and leaped at him. Zhao Zhijing stepped aside two steps, and said, “I won’t hit you, how about that?”

Yang Guo said, “You won’t ever hit me again?”

Zhao Zhijing heard the bell ringing was becoming urgent, and didn’t dare to procrastinate and said, “If you are obedient, why should I hit you?”

Yang Guo said, “Fine, if you won’t hit me, I’ll call you master. If you hit me again, I won’t ever acknowledge you are my master.”

Zhao Zhijing was angry, but he put on a smile and nodded his head, and said, “The leader is summoning everyone, quickly follow me.” He saw that Yang Guo’s sleeve was ripped, his face swollen, he was afraid that someone will ask what happened so he cleaned him up, took his hand, and quickly went to the assembly at the front of the palace.

Zhao Zhijing and Yang Guo arrived, and both went into their respective groups. Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and Wang Chuyi were sitting in front of them. Ma Yu clapped his hand three times, and the clearly said, “Elder Chang and the Sage of Tranquility have sent news from Shanxi, and said the business they are attending to has become really troublesome. My two apprentice brothers and I have decided that elder Eternal Spring (Qiu Chuji) and elder Shining Jade (Wang Chuyi) will take along ten disciples and immediately set off to rendezvous with them.” The rest of the Taoists all looked at each other, some were startled, and others were excited. Qiu Chuji then called out the names of ten disciples, and then said, “Everyone get prepared, you will leave with elder Shining Jade and I first thing tomorrow. The rest of you are dismissed.” The Taoists were dismissed; they quietly discussed the news amongst themselves. “That Li Mochou is just a woman, how powerful can she be? Even elder Eternal Life Martial Uncle Liu can't handle her." Another said, "Isn't the Sage of Tranquility Martial Uncle Sun a woman? There are capable women, don't be surprised." Another Taoist said, "Now that Elder Qiu and Elder Wang are going, that Li Mochou won't be able to do anything."

Qiu Chuji went over to Zhao Zhijing and said to him, "Originally I wanted to take you along, but I'm worried that Guo'er's progress in martial arts will suffer, so you will stay here." He then saw the wounds on Yang Guo's face, and was startled, and said, "What's this? Who have you been fighting with?"

Zhao Zhijing was afraid, he knew that if Martial Uncle Qiu found out what happened, he would be severely scolded; he looked at Yang Guo and signaled to him with his eyes. Yang Guo had already decided what to do, when he saw the worried expression on Zhao Zhijing, he didn't let him know what he was doing and didn't respond to his pleas.

Qiu Chuji sternly said, "Who hit you like this? Who did this? Quickly tell me."

Zhao Zhijing heard Martial Uncle Qiu's voice was becoming sterner, and became even more scared.

Yang Guo said, "I wasn't in a fight, disciple tripped and fell down a ditch."

Qiu Chuji didn't believe him, and said, "You are lying; how could you trip for no reason? The wounds on your face aren't from falling over."

Yang Guo said, "Earlier, Grand Master told me to learn martial arts diligently."

Qiu Chuji said, "Yes, what about it?"

Yang Guo said, "After Grand Master left, the disciple thought that what you said was right, the disciple must work harder than ever before, and must not disappoint the hopes that Grand Master has for me." His pleasant words pleased and calmed down Qiu Chuji and he gave out a grunt. Yang Guo continued, "A mad dog came suddenly out of nowhere, and for no reason leapt at me trying to bite, the disciple tried to kick him away but he became more and more fierce. The disciple tried to turn around and run, but I was careless and fell down in a ditch. It was lucky that my teacher arrived, and rescued me."

Qiu Chuji listened, and then looked at Zhao Zhijing, signaling to him, asking if it was the truth. Zhao Zhijing was startled and thought, "How dare he, how dare the little bastard call me a mad dog." But in this situation he had no choice but to help him lie, he nodded his head and said, "It was I who saved him."

Qiu Chuji believed him, and said, "After I've left, teach him our sect's kung fu well, every ten days, your Martial Uncle, our leader will test him." Zhao Zhijing did not want to do this at all, but he couldn't refuse an order from his Martial Uncle, and could only agree. Right now, Yang Guo was busy being pleased with himself for making Zhao Zhijing call himself a mad dog, and didn't really digest what his Grand Master was saying. After Qiu Chuji had walked away about twenty paces, Zhao Zhijing's blood rose to the surface, he couldn't resist and raised his hand; he wanted to hit Yang Guo across the face again.

Yang Guo shouted out, "Grand Master Qiu!"

Qiu Chuji was startled and turned around, asking, "What's the matter?"

Zhao Zhijing's hand was in midair, he did not dare to hit out, he was caught in an embarrassing situation and he reluctantly pulled his arm back and scratched the hair by his temples.

Yang Guo ran towards Qiu Chuji, and said, "Grand Master, after you've left, there will be no one to look after me, there are many Martial Uncles who want to hit me."

Qiu Chuji's faced changed and shouted, "Rubbish! Is there such a thing?" On the outside he appeared strict, but he was worried inside, he thought about how hard it is for an child to be on his own and clearly said, "Zhijing, you take good care of him, if anything happens, I'll be asking after you." Zhao Zhijing could only accept.

After supper, Yang Guo slowly walked towards the room where his master was residing, and shouted out, "Master!"

It was the time of day when they were refining the kung fu; Zhao Zhijing had already sat on his couch for half a day thinking, "That child is very mischievous, if I don't tame him quickly, when his martial arts are high, who else could restrain him? But Martial Uncle Qiu and Master ordered me to teach him kung fu; if I don't teach him then I am not following orders." He kept searching in his mind but couldn't think of anything, he saw Yang Guo entering the room slowly, his eyes lit up, he gave a laugh in an ostentatious manner as he thought of a plan, "I've got it, he doesn't know anything about our sect's martial arts, I'll just teach him the formula to our sect's skills, but I won't teach how to practice it. Even if he remembers the few hundred sentences of the formulae what use is it to him? If Master or the Martial Uncles ask about this, I'll push the blame away and say it was his fault for not working hard enough." Now his mind was made up, with a kind and pleasant expression he said to Yang Guo, "Guo'er, come here."

Yang Guo said, "Are you going to hit me?"

Zhao Zhijing said, "I'm going to teach you kung fu, why should I hit you?"

Yang Guo saw that he was lively, and had come out with a surprise, he slowly entered, but he was on his guard, afraid that he has some evil scheme. Zhao Zhijing pretended nothing was going on and said, "Our Quanzhen sect's kung fu is learned from within to the outside, it is very different to other types of kung fu. I am now going to pass on to you the formula of our sect's internal energy, you must remember it clearly." He then passed on the formulae to the sect's internal energy theories, and recited a segment.

Yang Guo just listened to it once, and had already memorized it, and thought, "That old goat hates me, why would he teach me real kung fu? He's probably trying to make a fool out of me and teach me some useless fake formulae."

After a while, he pretended to forget, and asked Zhao Zhijing to repeat it again. Zhao Zhijing repeated it again.

The next day, Yang Guo asked his teacher again, and heard that it was exactly the same as it was the day before, he then believed they were real, if the formulae were made up, then it would be impossible that every single word was the same when repeated three times.

Ten days passed this way, Zhao Zhijing only taught him the formulae, and did not say one word on how to practice them. On the tenth day, Zhao Zhijing took him to Ma Yu, and said that he has taught him their sect's formulae for practicing internal energy, and told Yang Guo to recite it to Grand Master. Yang Guo recited the whole thing; he didn't say one word wrong. Ma Yu was pleased, and praised him for being so clever. He was a kind and generous Taoist, a gentleman; he would never have thought that Zhao Zhijing had such a scheme.

Summer went and autumn arrived, autumn passed and winter came, a few months passed in the wink of an eye. Yang Guo had memorized a stack of formulae, but he had not learned an ounce of kung fu, he had not improved his martial arts or his internal energy since he had been on the mountain. A few days after he first began to remember and recite the formulae, he knew that his teacher was making a fool out of him, but he didn't dare to complain. But he had no other ideas; the headmaster of the sect was peaceful and soft hearted, if he told him, he would only reproach Zhao Zhijing with a few words. He was scared that the old goat would conjure up some other plan to torture him; he could only wait for his Grand Master to come back before he could do anything. But after many months, Qiu Chuji still had not returned. It was fortunate that Yang Guo did not respect the martial arts of the Quanzhen sect, he didn't care if he learned them or not, but because Zhao Zhijing had used such a plan, he hated him even more. Yang Guo didn't want to suffer for no reason so he pretended to be even more respectful to him.

Zhao Zhijing felt pleased with himself and thought, "You caused offence to your master, in the end who suffers?"

Time passed and it was soon the last month of the lunar year, a custom that had been passed down by Wang Chongyang requests that in the three days before the eve of the new year, all the sect's students will spar with each other, testing how much each student has advanced in the last year. Every student knew the date was approaching, and each one of them trained non-stop.

On the day of the celebration, the students of the Seven Masters of Quanzhen had their own competitions, forming several small competitions. The students formed seven groups, the disciples and grand disciples of Ma Yu forming one group, Qiu Chuji, Wang Chuyi and the others disciples and grand disciples formed the others. Although Tan Chuduan was dead, his disciples and grand disciples still flourished and formed a group. Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and the others often thought about his early death, and so would pay special attention to his students. Because of this, at each year's duel, the students of Tan Chuduan would not lose to the other students.

After this year's incident at Chongyang Palace, where the Quanzhen sect was almost overthrown, all of the students thought that although the sect's kung fu is famous throughout the world for its orthodox style, they became a good challenge for many schools and sects. The title they had is highly dangerous, so everyone trained harder than ever before.

Wang Chongyang founded the Quanzhen sect and he was the sect's first generation. May Yu and the other seven of them were his disciples, and they made up the second generation. Zhao Zhijing, Yin Zhiping, Cheng Yaojia are the students of the seven, and they formed the third generation. Yang Guo was therefore in the fourth generation of the sect.

After the morning meal, the Shining Jade elder's students who included Zhao Zhijing and Cui Chifang and others assembled in the southeastern plain, where they dueled with each other. Wang Chuyi was not present, so his eldest student Zhao Zhijing was in charge of the proceedings. The fourth generation students demonstrated their punches and kicks, then with swords and spears, after that they performed with projectiles and finally showed off their internal energy, with Zhao Zhijing and the other third generation students in the group as the judges.

Yang Guo was the last one to enter the sect out of all of them; he sat aside and watched. He saw Taoists who were older than him, some who were about the same age as him and others who weren't Taoists demonstrate impressive skills, but he wasn't envious, instead he was full of hate. Zhao Zhijing saw that something was up with him, and wanted to make a fool out of him again, and so waited for two Taoists to finish competing with projectiles and then called out, "Come here Yang Guo!"

Yang Guo stopped for a second and thought, "You haven't taught me an ounce of martial arts, why are you calling me out?" Zhao Zhijing called out again, "Yang Guo, come here now!"

Yang Guo had no choice but to walk to where they were sitting, and then made a bow and said, "Disciple Yang Guo hereby greets teacher." Quanzhen sect was made up mostly of Taoists, but there were some members who were like Yang Guo and not Taoists, and so he performed the greeting for these members.

Zhao Zhijing pointed out to the Taoist in the arena who had just won and said, "He's only a few years older than you; you go and compete with him."

Yang Guo said, "Disciple does not know any martial arts, how can I compete with apprentice brother?"

Zhao Zhijing scolded, "I've taught you for half a year, how can you say you don't know any martial arts? What have you been doing for the last few months?"

Yang Guo had nothing to say and hung his head.

Zhao Zhijing said, "You are lazy and mischievous, you don't practice, of course your punches and kicks will become rusty. I ask you "What use is there to study the scheme of life? The heart dies, and passion with it." What are the next two lines?"

Yang Guo replied, "The pure air fills the tools of movement; The light of the soul shines brilliantly on the body."

Zhao Zhijing said, "Correct, I ask you again, "The teacher passes on the secret and comprehended at first; eventually there is no me." What are the next two lines?"

Yang Guo replied, "Every year the dust is ground to the end; One side of the soul dazzles to emptiness."

Zhao Zhijing gave a wry smile, and said, "Very good, not one word wrong. Go and use those formulae, enter the arena and compete with your apprentice brother."

Yang Guo was startled once again, and said. "I won't."

Zhao Zhijing was pleased with himself, his face was furious and he shouted, "You've learned the formulae but don't practice and only make up excuses, go down to the arena now."

Within those few lines are the most important ideas in cultivating internal energy, teaching that the heart must be calm, refining the chi, but each line needs a fist or kick to accompany it, only then will a set of Quanzhen sect's fist be formed. The rest of the Taoists heard Yang Guo reciting the formulae with their own ears, and not one word out of place, and knew that he was scared of competing, and tried to encourage him by ridiculing and laughing mockingly. The students of the Quanzhen sect are all good people, but after their battle with Guo Jing where the Taoists were beaten to the ground, he had offended many people. Many of them shifted their anger onto Yang Guo, and wished misfortune on him, although they might not have really meant it, they just wanted a way to vent their anger.

Yang Guo saw many people were urging him on, some were saying harsh words to get at him, he couldn't control his anger and made a decision and thought, "Today, I'm not going to care what happens to me." He then jumped into the arena, and moved his arms, running straight into the young Taoist. The Taoist saw that he wasn't showing respect for the opponent, and was not following the sect's rules by politely requesting a duel; he was shocked. He saw that Yang Guo was running around and fighting like a madman, he was surprised and moved back a few steps. Yang Guo had already decided to disregard his own life and ferociously attacked, every step going forward. The young Taoist moved back a few steps and saw that Yang Guo's lower body was unstable, he slanted his body and threw a kick, the stance "Sweeping Wind Descending Leaves" (feng sao luo ye), and swept his leg. Yang Guo didn't know how to dodge, he couldn't stay upright and fell down on the ground, hitting his nose and blood flowed.

The Taoists saw how he fell, and some laughed. Yang Guo flipped around and picked himself up, he didn't wipe the blood away; he dropped his head and jumped at the Taoist. The Taoist saw Yang Guo jumping at him and dodged to the side. Yang Guo did not use any orthodox kung fu, he reached with his two arms, and grabbed the opponent's left leg. The young Taoist's right palm came down, the stance "Wiping the Dust" (kai mo chen gou), it was a way to rid obstructions on your lower body. Yang Guo had not learned any martial arts when he was on Peach Blossom Island, and had not received any useful skills while at Chongyang palace, and didn't have a clue as to what stance the opponent would use. He only heard a thudding noise, he felt a sharp pain in his shoulder; he had been struck fiercely by a punch. The more he suffered, the more ferocious he became, he head butted the opponent's right leg; the Taoist's leg became unsteady and he was forced onto the ground by him. Yang Guo whirled his fist, and ferociously struck out at his head.

The young Taoist gained victory from the jaws of defeat, his elbow struck Yang Guo's chest fiercely, causing him severe pain, and used the chance to escape. He pushed and swung his hand, and caused Yang Guo to drop again; he had used the stance “No Debts No Dues” (wu qian wu yu). The young Taoist checked and said, “Apprentice brother Yang, thank you!”

Originally when dueling amongst each other from the same sect, once there was a clear winner the duel would stop, but he didn’t know Yang Guo was not finished. He came rushing forwards again. After two or three moves, Yang Guo was once again on the ground, but he became bolder as he went on, his punches and kicks coming out faster and faster.

Zhao Zhijing shouted, “Yang Guo, you’ve already lost, why are you still carrying on?”

Yang Guo ignored him, and kicked out; he had no plans to back down. The rest of the Taoists first thought it was funny but then thought, “When did our sect have such a reckless and rough kung fu?” After, they saw that he was fighting for his life and were afraid that something might happen. Many people called out, “Forget it...forget it. Its only sparring amongst apprentice brothers, there is no need to be so serious.”

They fought for another while; the young Taoist became frightened; all he did now was dodge and block, not daring to come close to him. There’s a saying: One man fighting for his life cannot be stopped by ten thousand men. Yang Guo had suffered for half a year on Mount Zhongnan, and he let it all out. The young Taoist’s skills were higher than Yang Guo’s, but how could he cope? He saw that he couldn’t block anymore, he could only hurry around the arena avoiding him.

Yang Guo chased after him, and shouted, “Rotten Taoist, you’ve had fun hitting me, now you want to run?”

The ten people who were watching from the side at that time, eight or nine of them were Taoists, when they heard him say rotten Taoist, scoundrel Taoist and other insults, they were angry but also thought it was funny. They all said, "That kid needs a good lesson."

The young Taoist was chased and harried, he was scared and shouted, "Master, master!" and hoped the Zhao Zhijing would come out and stop Yang Guo. Zhao Zhijing shouted, but Yang Guo did not take any notice.

When Yang Guo didn't stop, a shout came out from the crowd, and out came a large Taoist, he stepped in and grabbed Yang Guo's neck, picked him up, and struck three times across the face, the slaps were fierce, half of Yang Guo's face immediately swelled up. Yang Guo was dazed by the three slaps, when he looked up, it was the Taoist whom he had a run in with, Lu Qingdu. When Yang Guo first came to Mount Zhongnan, he was almost burned to death by Yang Guo, after that, his apprentice brothers ridiculed him saying he got outsmarted by a little kid. He had always kept this in his mind, now he saw Yang Guo was being rebellious; he couldn't resist and reacted.

When Yang Guo saw that it was Lu Qingdu, he knew that he was out of luck, and since he was being held up, he couldn't fight. Lu Qingdu smiled wryly, and struck him across the face three more times, and shouted, "You don't listen to master's orders, you are our sect's traitor, and anyone can hit you." He raised his hand again, wanting to hit out once more.

Zhao Zhijing's apprentice brother Cui Zhifang had seen Yang Guo fight and he had not used any of their sect's kung fu. He knew what kind of character Zhao Zhijing was, so he was afraid that there was another reason for all of this; he feared someone was going to get hurt so he called out, "Qingdu, stop!"

Lu Qingdu heard his Martial Uncle's shout, although he didn't want to, he had to put Yang Guo down and said, "Martial Uncle don't you know, that child is extremely mischievous and crafty, if we don't punish him heavily, how can there be order within our sect?"

Cui Zhifang ignored him, and went over to Yang Guo, he saw that both sides of Yang Guo's face were heavily swollen, there were blue and purple marks, his nose and mouth were bloody; he looked a very sorry sight. He softly said, "Yang Guo, your master taught you martial arts, why didn't you work hard and practice, and instead causing fights among your apprentice brothers?"

Yang Guo angrily said, "What master? He hasn't taught me anything."

Cui Zhifang said, "I heard with my own ears you reciting the formulae, not one word was wrong."

Yang Guo remembered how on Peach Blossom Island Huang Rong had made him read books and recite manuscripts, and knew that Zhao Zhijing had taught him something that was not related to practicing martial arts. He said, "I don't know how to incorporate them, what use is being able to recite a few words?"

Cui Zhifang pretended to be angry, and wanted to test that he really did not know any of their sect's kung fu; he then put on a face, and said, "You are talking to a senior, how can you have no manners?" He stretched out his arm and pushed his shoulder. Cui Zhifang is one of most skilled students of the third generation, although he can't be compared with Zhao Zhijing and Yin Zhiping, he was skilled, his internal energy high. His push was gentle yet it's strength was judged just right, but he felt Yang Guo's shoulder lean to the side, his internal energy emerged, and had already dispersed with just under half the force in his push. Although he stumbled back a few steps, he did not fall down.

Cui Zhifang was startled, he became suspicious and thought, "He is young, and has only entered our sect for just over half a year, how can he have such strong internal energy? He has good internal energy, just now when he was dueling; he was fighting madly, could there be something wrong here?" He didn't know that Yang Guo had practiced Ouyang Feng's formulae for internal energy cultivation; unwittingly his internal energy has gone up another level. The White Camel Mountain's sect's internal energy is easy to learn, progress can be made very quickly, but it cannot compare with the Quanzhen sect's kung fu foundations. Within the first ten years of practicing, the students of White Camel Mountain's internal energy will have increased very quickly until ten years pass, then the students of Quanzhen sect will have slowly caught up and start to overtake it. The two sect's internal energies are very different, but because Cui Zhifang had just given a push without any real intent, it was hard for him to tell the difference.

Yang Guo had been pushed by him, and was winded, and knew that he wanted to fight him. Right now, he feared neither heaven nor earth, even if Qiu Chuji was here in person, he would still fight him, why would he care about Cui Zhifang? He then lowered his head and rushed forward, aiming for his lower abdomen. How could Cui Zhifang mess around with a child, he smiled and stepped aside, he wanted to see his real kung fu, so he said, "Qingdu, come and duel with apprentice brother Yang, watch yourself and don't be too severe!"

Lu Qingdu could not believe those words, he immediately jumped in front of Yang Guo, his left palm came down, Yang Guo escaped to the right, Lu Qingdu hit out his right palm, this palm was the "Tiger's Way Hand", the strength behind it was not weak, a thudding sound, as Yang Guo was struck in the chest. If Yang Guo had not been practicing the White Camel Mountain's internal energy, he would have definitely thrown up a pool of blood. He felt a severe pain in his chest; his face was as white as a sheet of paper. Lu Qingdu saw that he had not felled Yang Guo with this palm, and secretly felt that he was careless, his right fist now came down at Yang Guo. Yang Guo stretched out his arms to attack; he didn't understand the finer points of fist skills; so he didn't know the best way to repel this incoming attack. Lu Qingdu moved his right fist and came out with his left fist, another thudding sound as he hit Yang Guo in the stomach. Yang Guo bent down with pain. Lu Qingdu didn't hold back, a right palm came crashing down on Yang Guo's neck. He wanted to hurt him, wanting him to fall over now, wanting to avenge what he did to him. His life was on the line now but he still did not fall down, but now Yang Guo was dazed and didn't have the strength to retaliate.

Cui Zhijing knew then that he didn't know any martial arts skills and said, "Qingdu, hold!"

Lu Qingdu said to Yang Guo, "Do you respect me now?"

Yang Guo shouted, "You damn Taoist, I'm going to kill you one day!"

Lu Qingdu was furious, and punched him twice in the nose.

Yang Guo was beaten badly, he was wobbling and was about to fall down. He didn't know where he was when suddenly a flow of warm chi surged through his "dan tian", and he saw that Lu Qingdu was about to throw a third punch at him. There was no way to dodge, no where to escape, he spontaneously bent both legs and gave out a loud shout, his palm pushed out, hitting Lu Qingdu in the stomach. He saw a large body fly through the air, a thudding sound as dust flew everywhere in the arena, falling about ten feet away. The body was lying on the ground, and didn't move.

The crowd of Taoists at the side watched Lu Qingdu taking advantage of his size and bullying someone smaller than him, and hitting Yang Guo venomously. It wasn't right, the older generation apart from Zhao Zhijing came over to stop him, but they didn't know there had been a sudden reversal of fortune. Lu Qingdu had been sent flying by Yang Guo's palm, his body lying there like a corpse not moving, everyone was astounded and rushed over to take a closer look.

Normally Yang Guo would not have been able to use the "Toad Stance", but in a life threatening situation, it could be used automatically. The first time this happened was on Peach Blossom Island where he knocked out Wu Xiuwen. After many months, his internal energy had increased; that, plus the fact that he hated Lu Qingdu, and it was comparable to the hate he felt for the Wu brothers, with this in mind, he was able to knock him flying across the arena. He heard the other Taoists say, "Oh no, it's terrible, he's dead! He's not breathing; his internal organs have been hurt! Quickly go and tell the leader and bring him here."

Yang Guo knew he had caused a major incident, no one was thinking in the midst of this chaos, he picked himself up and ran away. The Taoists were too busy with Lu Qingdu's life and didn't notice that Yang Guo had slipped away. Zhao Zhijing saw that Lu Qingdu's eyes were rolled back, and didn't know whether he was dead or alive. He was startled and angry, and shouted out, "Yang Guo, Yang Guo, where did you learn this witchcraft?" His skills were high, but he had remained at Chongyang Palace for most of the time, he didn't know much, of course he would not recognize the techniques of the "Toad Stance".

The Taoists turned around, but didn't see Yang Guo. Zhao Zhijing then gave out an order, and told them to go and capture Yang Guo; they thought how far could a small child like him get to in a short space of time?

Yang Guo didn't know the roads, and just ran, he eventually chose to dive into a forest. After a while, he heard shouts behind him, everyone was calling out from all directions, "Yang Guo, Yang Guo, come out quickly!" He was nervous, and ran away again; he felt someone was in front of him, a Taoist had seen him, and came after him. Yang Guo quickly turned around; in the west was another Taoist, who called out, "Here! Over here." Yang Guo crouched down and crawled underneath a bush. The Taoists were too big to crawl through; they had to go around it to find him. Yang Guo managed to escape but didn't know where to go. After Yang Guo went through the bush, he headed straight and after running for a while, he heard the voices become quieter but he still didn't dare stop. He avoided the paths, and ran through the long grass and rocks; he became bruised and cut up all over. When he couldn't move any more he sat down on a rock to catch his breath. He sat for a little while, but then he thought; "Escape quickly, escape quickly." But his legs felt like they weighed a ton, he almost couldn't stand up straight. He heard someone laugh coldly from behind, Yang Guo was startled and turned around, his heart jumped out of his mouth, as he saw a man with deep brows and flared eyes, a beard hanging to his chest, it was Zhao Zhijing.

The two stared at each other for several minutes; during this time they did not move an inch. Yang Guo suddenly shouted and turned around to run away. Zhao Zhijing went forward and stretched out his arm and grabbed his chest. Yang Guo jumped forward and it was lucky he gained a few inches and managed to escape his clutches. He then picked up a rock, and flung it backwards with all his strength. Zhao Zhijing swerved to the side, he increased his speed and the distance between the two closed. Yang Guo ran madly for about twenty steps, and saw a deep ditch in front of him but he had run out places to run to; he didn't know whether below was a deep valley or a mountain gorge but he didn't give it a thought and threw his body forward.

Zhao Zhijing ran to the steep ditch and looked on, he saw Yang Guo rolling through the grass down the slope, and eventually into a cluster of trees. From where he was standing to the bottom was about sixty or seventy feet, he didn't dare jump down; he quickly ran down the grassy slope. He saw the trail of flattened grass left heading into the forest, but he didn't see a trace of Yang Guo. As he went deeper it became tighter, eventually so dense that light was shut out. He went forward for about one hundred feet, and then suddenly stopped; he was now on the land of the Tomb of the Living Dead where the sect's ancestor had spent his younger years. Their sect had a strict rule: no one is allowed to take one step into the place. "Had Yang Guo escaped into here?" He wasn't pleased, he shouted, "Yang Guo, Yang Guo come out quickly!"

He shouted a few times, the forest became silent, he became bold and took a few steps forward and saw a large stone slab. He took a closer look. Some words were engraved on it, "Outsiders stop now". Zhao Zhijing paced back and forth for an hour, he then loudly called out, "Yang Guo you little scoundrel, if you don't come out I'll catch you and beat you to death." After he said this, he suddenly heard a sound coming from the forest, he saw a grey mist moving, and a swarm of white bees came out from the leaves and flew towards him.

Zhao Zhijing was startled, he waved his sleeve trying to push away the bees, his internal strength was deep, there was considerable power in his sweeps, but after waving many times, the swarm of bees became two, one coming from the front, the other coming from behind. Zhao Zhijing became even more frightened; he didn't dare to be slow and waved his arms frantically, protecting his body. The swarms dispersed, but then came back to attack from all directions from top to bottom, east to west, north and south. Zhao Zhijing didn't dare to defend anymore, he protected his face and turned around and ran out of the forest.

The swarm of Jade Bees followed, although they weren't very quick there wasn't anywhere to hide. Zhao Zhijing headed east, the Jade Bees followed and headed east, he headed west, the Jade Bees followed and headed west. His arm movements became slower; two bees flew through the gap and stung his right cheek. In a short while, Zhao Zhijing felt numb and it was hard to move, his internal organs began to itch, he thought, "My time is up today!"

Eventually he couldn't keep his legs still, and rolled in the grass by the forest, crying out loudly. The swarm of bees flew around his body for a while, and then returned to the forest.

End of Chapter 4.

Chapter 5 - Tomb of the Living Dead

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo climbed onto the bed; his body shivered and his teeth chattered noisily. He saw Xiao Long Nu take out a rope, and tied one end to a hook on the eastern side of the room, and tied the other end to a hook on the western side of the room, the rope was off the floor at a height similar to that of a person. She lightly jumped up and lay across the rope, using it as a bed.

Yang Guo had fallen down the hill, and rolled into the forest's long grass, he passed out, he didn't know how much time had passed when he suddenly felt his body being pierced, he opened his eyes and saw countless white bees flying around his body, he heard the buzzing sounds, then he felt his whole body itch to the bone, a white blur was all he saw, he didn't know whether it was real or an illusion, and he fainted again.

Some time passed when he suddenly felt a cold and fragrant liquid in his mouth, slowly flowing into his throat and then into his stomach but felt that he couldn't speak; he opened his eyes and suddenly saw just two inches in front of him an ugly face full of warts and pimples, the eyes were fixed on him. Yang Guo was startled, and fainted again. The ugly person stretched out the left hand and held his jaw, the right hand held a container, and then poured some more of the sweet liquid down his throat.

Yang Guo felt that the strange itching pain he had slowly diminish, and noticed that he was now sleeping on a bed, and knew that the ugly person had rescued him, he smiled, trying to say thank you. The ugly person also smiled, she finished feeding him the liquid and then put the container down on a table. Yang Guo saw that her smile was also extremely ugly, but within the ugliness was a soft and gentle look, he was touched and there was a warm feeling in his heart, he pleaded, "Grandma, don't let my master catch me!"

The ugly old maid softly said, "Child, who is your master?" Yang Guo had not heard such a soft and caring voice for such a long while, he became hot and started to cry. The old maid's left hand held his hand, she didn't say anything to console him, she just smiled and looked at him, her eyes were full of love and care; she waited for him to finish crying and then said, "Do you feel better?"

Yang Guo heard her tender voice; he couldn't help it and cried again. She wiped away his tears and comforted him, "Good child, good child, don't cry, don't cry, the pain will go away in a little while." The more caring she was, the harder Yang Guo cried.

Suddenly a soft voice from outside a hanging curtain said, "Grandma Sun, the child doesn't stop crying, what is wrong?"

Yang Guo raised his head; he saw a white jade hand lift the hanging curtain, a girl entered. The girl wore an old fashioned delicate white dress, it was as if her body was covered with smoke and mist, she looked like she was about sixteen or seventeen years of age. Apart from her black hair, her body was as white as snow, her face was extremely beautiful, with just a hint of redness on her cheeks, and her face was pale and white. Yang Guo blushed, he immediately stopped crying; he lowered his head and felt slightly embarrassed. From the corner of his eyes he took a quick peek, and saw that she was looking at him; he quickly lowered his head.

Grandma Sun laughed and said, "I don't have any ideas, you better take a look." The young girl came by to the bedside, she looked at the wounds that were caused by the bee stings; she stretched out her hand and touched his forehead and felt that he wasn't feverish. When her hand touched Yang Guo's forehead, he felt that it was extremely cold; he couldn't help but shiver a little. The young girl said, "It is nothing. You've already drunk the Jade Bee honey; you'll recover in half a day. Why did you enter the forest?"

Yang Guo raised his head, and looked into her eyes, he thought that she was beautiful, without comparison, but she exuded an icy and emotionless aura. She was as hard and as cold as ice and it was difficult to tell whether she was pleased or angry, a friend or foe. He thought, "Is that girl made out of crystal or made out of snow? Is she a person, a ghost, or an angel?" Although he heard her voice was soft there was no warmth in it, he didn't dare to reply.

Grandma Sun laughed and said, "Sister Long is the owner of this place, if she asks you something, you'd better reply!"

The beautiful girl in white was the owner of the Tomb of the Living Dead, Xiao Longnu. In reality her eighteenth birthday had passed, but because she had lived in the tomb since she was little and hadn't seen the light of day, the internal energy skill she has practiced restricted her emotions. That is why she looked younger than she really was. Grandma Sun was her teacher's maid, but since her teacher left the world, the two looked after each other. She heard the bees, and knew someone had entered the forest near the tomb, so Grandma Sun had come out to see who it was. She saw Yang Guo poisoned and unconscious on the ground; she rescued him and brought him back here. According to their sect's rules, no outsiders can enter the tomb even one step; a man entering the tomb was even worse. But Yang Guo was young, and she saw that his whole body was covered with wounds, so Grandma Sun could not ignore him and broke the rules to save him. Yang Guo got up from the stone bed and got onto the floor. He kowtowed to Grandma Sun and Xiao Longnu and said; "Disciple Yang Guo greets Grandma Sun, and greets Gu Gu (Auntie) Long."

Grandma Sun laughed then quickly went over to pick him up and said, "Ah, your name is Yang Guo, there is no need for such formalities." She has lived in the tomb for a few years, and had never interacted with outsiders, she saw that Yang Guo was handsome and polite; she was pleased. Xiao Longnu only nodded her head, and sat on a stone chair next to the bed.

Grandma Sun said, "How did you get here? How come you are wounded? Who beat you like this?" After she asked her questions she didn't wait for him to reply and went out to get some dim sum and cakes, and insisted on him having some.

Yang Guo ate a few delicacies, and told her his life story from start to finish. He was good with words, his story was already engaging, he added his emotions to it and it became even more touching. Grandma Sun kept on sighing, sometimes she would add her own comments, and her words all favored Yang Guo. She said that Huang Rong was a biased woman and unjust in her actions, and commented that Zhao Zhijing was narrow minded, bullying a child. Xiao Longnu didn't make a sound and sat still on the chair, but when Yang Guo mentioned Li Mochou, she and Grandma Sun looked at each other. When Grandma Sun heard Yang Guo finish, she stretched out her arms and hugged him, and said, "My poor child."

Xiao Longnu slowly got up, and said, "His wounds are not serious, Grandma, send him out!" Both Grandma Sun and Yang Guo were startled. Yang Guo loudly said, "I won't return, I'd rather die."

Grandma Sun said, "Miss, if he returns to Chongyang Palace, his master will punish him."

Xiao Longnu said, "You return with him, find his master and tell him there is no need to punish the child."

Grandma Sun said, "Ah, it's another sect's business, we can't do anything about it."

Xiao Longnu said, "Take a bottle of Jade Bee honey with you, and then tell them, the old Taoist will listen."

Her words seemed to be suggestions, but there was strictness within her tone, it was hard for a sect member to disobey. Grandma Sun sighed, she knew she always spoke her mind, and there was no use to try to argue. When she looked at Yang Guo; her eyes had a different intent.

Yang Guo got up and made a bow, and said, "Thank you Grandma and Gu Gu for tending to my wounds, I'll leave now!"

Grandma Sun said, "Where are you going to go?"

Yang Guo stood still for a while and then said, "The world is a big place, and there are many places for me to go." But he didn't really know where he would go, his face revealed a mournful expression.

Grandma Sun said, "Child, it's because Miss doesn't dare to let you stay, it's a rule of our sect not to allow outsiders, don't be sad."

Yang Guo raised his head and said, "Grandma why do you say this? We'll meet again some day."

He spoke like an adult, but his voice was young, when Grandma Sun heard him she thought it was funny, but also felt sorry for him. She saw that his eyes were watery, and he was holding back the tears. She said to Xiao Longnu, "Miss, it's the middle of the night, why don't we let him stay until morning and let him leave then?"

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "Grandma, have you forgotten the rules set by Master?"

Grandma Sun sighed and got up, she quietly said to Yang Guo, "Come, child, I'll give you an object to play with."

Yang Guo stretched out his hand and wiped his eyes, he lowered his head and rushed out of the door and said, "I don't want it, I'd rather die than return to the Taoists."

Grandma Sun shook her head and said, "You don't know the way, I'll lead you out." She held his hand. Outside the room, all Yang Guo saw was darkness, he was led by Grandma Sun, he felt them going around one corner and then another, he didn't know how Grandma Sun recognized her way in these dark and twisty paths.

Although the Tomb of the Living Dead was called a tomb, in actual fact it was a large spacious underground storeroom. Before Wang Chongyang had started to fight the Jin, he had used thousands of man-hours and many years to construct the tomb. He secretly stored some supplies there, and it became an important base in the area. From the outside it looked like a tomb, but this was to disguise the building from the ears and eyes of the Jin, and even if they did enter, the tomb had countless traps to repel the invaders.

If Wang Chongyang's soldiers failed in battle, they would retreat into the tomb. There were many rooms within the tomb, there were complicated tunnels, if outsiders entered, in the dark or even with bright torches and candles they would get lost easily.

The two exited the tomb, and in the middle of the forest they suddenly heard someone from the outside clearly shouting out, "It's Quanzhen's disciple Yin Zhiping, master has ordered me to greet Miss Long." The voice was spaced out; it came from a distance.

Grandma Sun said, "There are people outside looking for you, don't go out."

Yang Guo was angry and alarmed, his body shivered and said, "Grandma, don't worry about me. A person should be responsible for their actions, I accidentally killed someone, let them kill me." When he finished he ran out.

Grandma Sun said, "I'll follow you."

Grandma Sun held Yang Guo's hand and exited the forest, arriving in the open land in front of the forest. Under moonlight they saw six or seven Taoists standing together, another four of them were holding torches, and they carried the heavily wounded Zhao Zhijing and Lu Qingdu. The Taoists saw Yang Guo, they said a few quiet words amongst themselves and all took a few steps forward.

Yang Guo escaped from Grandma Sun's grasp and ran forward and said, "I'm here, if you want to kill or torture me, it's up to you."

The Taoists could not believe that such a small child was so bold; it was completely unexpected. A Taoist came forward and grabbed Yang Guo's neck and dragged him. Yang Guo chuckled and said, "I'm not going to escape, what's the hurry?" That Taoist was Zhao Zhijing's eldest student; he knew that his teacher suffered the pain of the Jade Bee's sting because of Yang Guo. He was in extreme pain and didn't know whether his life could be saved. He had always respected his teacher, and felt that the worst offence anyone can do is to rebel against their teacher. When he saw Yang Guo coming, he threw a punch at Yang Guo's head.

Grandma Sun and the Taoists had always been on relatively good terms, but when she saw Yang Guo being dragged; she wasn't pleased at all. Now he is being beaten, how could she control her temper? She immediately took a large step forward; she swept her sleeve and brushed away the Taoist's hand. The Taoist felt a severe pain in his wrist, and automatically loosened his hand. He was about to shout when Grandma Sun picked up Yang Guo, turned around, and walked away.

When they first saw her, they thought that she was just an old and feeble maid, but she was rapid in her movements in taking Yang Guo. The Taoists stood still for a while; she had already taken Yang Guo about ten feet away. Three Taoists angrily shouted, "Let him go!" and rushed forward.

Grandma Sun stopped and turned around; she chuckled and said, "You men want to stop us?"

Yin Zhiping knew that the people of the Tomb of the Living Dead and his sect had a deep affiliation, and didn't dare to offend them, he quickly stopped everyone and said, "Everyone spread out, and show manners in front of Senior."

He then walked up, and greeted Grandma Sun and said, "Disciple Yin Zhiping greets Senior."

Grandma Sun said, "What do you want?"

Yin Zhiping said, "That child is a disciple of the Quanzhen, can Senior please return him."

Grandma Sun's brows rose, she yelled, "You beat him when you were still in front of me. When you take him back to your palace, you are going to find ways to torture him. You want me to release him; not in a million years!"

Yin Zhiping kept his temper and said, "That child is extremely disobedient and mischievous, he showed no respect for his seniors, and broke the rules of our sect. In the Wulin world, one of the most important rules is to respect your master and seniors, it is right to blame him for his troubles."

Grandma Sun shouted, "Not respecting seniors; its just words." She pointed to the Taoist lying on the stretcher, Lu Qingdu, and said, "The child dueled with that fat Taoist, it was your Quanzhen sect's rules. To start with, he didn't want to compete, but you lot forced him into the arena. If you are going to fight, of course there is going to be a winner and a loser, if that fat Taoist is useless, who else can you blame?" She was already ugly, but now she was angry and swelled up, she was even more frightening. In the middle of her words, another ten Taoists came and stood behind Yin Zhiping, discussing the situation; they didn't know who the loud ugly old woman was.

Yin Zhiping thought to himself, hurting Lu Qingdu wasn't Yang Guo's fault, but he couldn't admit they were wrong in front of outsiders and said, "This matter is complicated, we will inform our leader, and let him be the judge of this. Can senior please return the child?"

Grandma Sun chuckled, "How could your leader be a fair judge? The Quanzhen sect from Wang Chongyang to now, there hasn't been one good person. Otherwise, how could you live so close and yet you don't associate with us?"

Yin Zhiping thought, "It's your sect who don't associate with us, how can you blame our Quanzhen sect? You've insulted our sect leader with your words and that may be a bit too disrespectful." But he didn't want to say anything to harm the relationship between the two sects, and said, "Senior please forgive us, if our sect has offended you, then our sect leader will apologize to you publicly."

Yang Guo held Grandma Sun's neck and whispered into her ear, "That Taoist is sly, grandma don't fall into his trap."

Grandma Sun had brought up Xiao Longnu for the last eighteen years, and she had a desire to bring up a boy. Yang Guo was warm towards her like she was towards him; she was extremely pleased. She made up her mind and thought,

“Whatever they say, they are not going to take the child away.”

She then called out. “You insist on taking the child, how exactly are you going to torture him?”

Yin Zhiping was startled, and said, “This disciple here and his father are from the same sect, I wouldn’t dare to harm a friend’s son, senior you can relax.”

Grandma Sun shook her head, “This old woman never listens to outsider’s words, leave me.” As she said this she continued on her way into the forest.

Zhao Zhijing was lying on the stretcher, the wounds from the Jade Bees were unbearable but he knew what was going on. He heard that Yin Zhiping couldn’t argue with Grandma Sun and the more he heard the angrier he got, he suddenly leapt off the stretcher, chased after Grandma Sun and shouted, “He is my disciple, if I want to beat him and insult him, it’s my choice. Not letting the master order his disciple, where is there such a rule in Wulin?”

Grandma Sun saw his face had swollen so much that he looked like a pig. When she heard these words, she knew that he was Yang Guo’s master, she didn’t have anything to say at the moment and could only make her way forward thinking, “I won’t let you order him, what can you do?”

Zhao Zhijing shouted, “What relation is that child to you? How can you stick your nose into this matter?”

Grandma Sun was startled, and shouted, “He isn’t a member of the Quanzhen sect anymore. He is now a member of our sect and has elected my master Xiao Longnu as his master; under heaven only Xiao Longnu can command him. There’s no need for you to meddle.”

When she said this, the Taoists were shocked. According to the rules of Jianghu, without the consent of your teacher, one must not have another teacher, even if that other teacher is ten times more skilled than their teacher. You are not allowed to do as you please and spread your wings whenever you want; to do so, they will have committed one of the worst offences there is. They will be despised by their peers in the Jianghu world.

When Guo Jing took the Jiangnan Seven Freaks as his masters, and later learned from Hong Qigong, he didn't call him master. Only later did Ke Zhen'E and the others allow this and he and Hong Qigong had a master disciple relationship.

Because Zhao Zhijing had made Grandma Sun speechless, and because she had never associated with people of Wulin she didn't know any rules. When she said what she said she didn't know she had broken a major rule.

Most of the Taoists originally felt sorry for Yang Guo, and felt that Zhao Zhijing had not done the right things. But when they heard that Yang Guo had openly expelled himself from the sect...well, there hadn't been such a thing since the founding of the Quanzhen sect and they were incensed.

Zhao Zhijing's wounds reacted to his anger and he was in pain; it was difficult for him to bear and he felt like dying, but he suddenly said, "Yang Guo, is this the truth?"

Yang Guo did not know how high the sky was or how deep the earth was, he only knew that Grandma Sun was arguing with Zhao Zhijing to protect him. Even if she said he did thousands or millions of wrong things, he would have said he did them. Now it's just a matter of changing sects and it was what he had wanted. She said he had made Xiao Longnu his master. Even if he was going to take a pig or a dog his master he wouldn't delay, he said, "Rotten Taoist, scoundrel face, dog brain, bull nose old goat, you hit me; why should I acknowledge you as my master? It's correct, I have already kowtowed and accepted Grandma Sun and Miss Long as my masters." Zhao Zhijing's temper flared up, he flew over, his hands aiming to grab his shoulders.

Grandma Sun insulted, "Scoundrel, you want to die?" Her right arm came out, aiming for Zhao Zhijing's wrist. Zhao Zhijing was Quanzhen's third generation's highest skilled fighter, when it came to martial arts he was above Yin Zhiping; although he had a serious injury, he was still able to produce a fierce attack. The two clashed, and both took two steps back.

Grandma Sun gave a 'humph' sigh, and said, "Scoundrel, you're not weak either."

Zhao Zhijing's first attack failed, and so launched a second. Grandma Sun didn't dare to clash with him and stepped aside, her leg came out of nowhere from under her skirt. Zhao Zhijing heard the wind sound, and tried to dodge but his wounds from the Jade Bee stings started to itch, he called 'ai', held his head and crouched down. Before he finished his shout he was kicked by Grandma Sun in the side of his body. Zhao Zhijing flew into the air; whilst in the air he called out 'ai' again because of the itching pain.

Yin Zhiping rushed forward two steps, stretched out his arms, caught Zhao Zhijing and passed him on to the other disciples. He saw that the ugly old woman's skills were extremely strange, he was up against a strong opponent, he made a signal, and six disciples came up and circled them, and formed a "Big Dipper Formation", with Grandma Sun and Yang Guo in the middle.

Yin Zhiping called out, "Apologies!" As the 'Tian Shu' and 'Yao Guang' Taoists on either side of him attacked. Grandma Sun didn't know the formation, after just a few stances she knew she was dealing with something powerful. She could only fight with one hand; the danger became evident after twelve or thirteen moves. Every attack she made was neutralized by Yin Zhiping's command of the formation, and the attack of the formation was relentless. Ten moves passed then Grandma Sun's right palm was trapped by two Taoists; from her left another two Taoists attacked, she had to drop Yang Guo and fend them off with her left hand. A whistle came from within the formation; two Taoists burst forward and grabbed Yang Guo.

Grandma Sun was alarmed and thought, "Those rotten Taoists do have some skill, and this old woman here can't handle it." She kicked away two of them, and a low 'weng' moaning noise was produced from her mouth. That moaning noise was initially quiet, and the Taoists did not take any notice of it, but after this noise, she made an opposite sound, high and low, the sound became louder.

Yin Zhiping raised his hands against Grandma Sun to guard himself. He knew the senior that used to live in the tomb had great skills and had competed with his sect's founder to see whose were greater; he knew that her descendants must not be ordinary. When he heard the noise, he knew that this was a type of resonating sound skill, he quickly prepared himself in case the enemy tried anything; he listened for a while and her sounds were getting louder, he didn't feel anything was wrong with himself and thought that this was strange. He suddenly thought of something and immediately became pale with fright. He was about to order the Taoists to leave, when he heard a 'weng' noise from far away, similar to the noise coming out of Grandma Sun's mouth, and then immediately called out, "Run quickly!"

The other Taoists all stopped, and thought, "We have the upper hand here, we have captured the young and old in a short time, the old woman is just calling out madly, what is there to be afraid of?"

Suddenly a grey blur emerged from the forest, out came a swarm of Jade Bees, all aiming to land on the Taoists' upper body. The Taoists had all seen the suffering of Zhao Zhijing, they all were frightened out of their wits, and immediately scattered and ran away. The swarm of bees chased after them.

When Grandma Sun saw that the Taoists could not escape, she laughed loudly. She suddenly saw an old Taoist dashing out of the forest, his hands holding two torches; thick smoke came out of the flames and he waved them at the swarm of bees. The black smoke smothered the bees, their formation became disorganized, and they couldn't hold together and flew away.

Grandma Sun was alarmed, she looked at the old Taoist, and she saw that he had white hair and eyebrows, his face was long and he looked like one of the highly skilled fighters of the Quanzhen sect. She shouted, "Hey, who are you old Taoist? You scattered away my bees."

The old Taoist laughed and said, "This old Taoist is Hao Datong, greetings Grandma."

Grandma Sun did not associate with any people of the Wulin world. But because she lived a stone throw away from Chongyang Palace, she knew that Hao Datong was one of the seven disciples of Wang Chongyang. She thought how Yin Zhiping, Zhao Zhijing and the other Taoists' abilities were not below hers, but now that old Taoist came and it would be troublesome. She smelled the thick smoke from the torches, it stank and almost made her vomit, and she then realized it was made from herbs that are used to kill insects. She saw that there were no bees around so she had to leave while she could, she shouted, "You've harmed my Mistress's bees, you'll pay for the damage, I'll resolve this with you later." She picked up Yang Guo and entered the forest.

Yin Zhiping said, "Martial Uncle, shall we follow or not?"

Hao Datong shook his head and said, "Our founder had set a strict rule, no one can enter the forest, we'll return to our palace and discuss what's to be done there."

Grandma Sun held Yang Guo's hand and took him back inside the tomb. The two had just shared a difficult situation and had become closer. Yang Guo was worried that Xiao Longnu will not allow him to stay. Grandma Sun said, "Don't worry; I'll be able to convince her to let you stay." She then ordered him to rest in a chamber, and then went to look for Xiao Longnu to inform her of the situation.

Yang Guo waited a long time, but still did not see her return, he became anxious and thought, "Long Gu Gu most probably decided not to accept me, even if Grandma Sun forced her to accept, there would be no point in me staying here." He thought for a long while and eventually made up his mind, he quietly went outside.

As soon as he left the room, Grandma Sun came over and asked, "Where are you going?"

Yang Guo said, "Grandma, I'm going now, when I get a bit older, I'll come and see you again."

Grandma Sun said, "No, I'll take you to a place, and tell people not to bully you."

When Yang Guo heard those words, he knew Xiao Longnu had not allowed him to stay, he was disappointed and sad, he lowered his head and said, "There's no use. I'm a mischievous child, where ever I go, no one will want me. There's no need for Grandma to waste your energy."

Grandma Sun had argued with Xiao Longnu for half a day, she saw that she will not be moved, she was troubled and didn't know what to do. She felt sorry for Yang Guo, her blood rose and said, "Child, if no one wants you, Granny wants you. You follow me, where ever you go, Grandma will follow you."

Yang Guo was delighted, he extended his hand and grabbed her's, the two of them exited the tomb. Grandma Sun was still angry and did not turn back to collect some luggage, she scoured around in her pockets and touched a container, and remembered she had to give Zhao Zhijing the antidote for the bee stings. She thought that the Taoist was detestable but death was maybe a bit too extreme and she didn't want to leave the trouble behind in case it caught up with them. So she took Yang Guo, and headed for Chongyang Palace.

Yang Guo saw that they were hurriedly heading for Chongyang Palace, he was frightened, he quietly said, "Grandma, why are you going there?"

Grandma Sun said, "I have to give your rotten master the antidote." After a few paths, they had arrived. She leapt onto the roof, and was about to go for the courtyard, when suddenly the bell started to ring in the darkness, and she heard whistle sounds near and far. In a second noises came from everywhere, and knew that she was heavily surrounded; she became alarmed.

The Quanzhen sect is Wulin's number one orthodox sect, they were normally well guarded, but things had happened recently and so they were more alert. There were lookouts everywhere and when they saw someone enter the palace, they sounded the alarm. The palace's disciples all came to repel the foe. Another group of Taoists scattered around, one, so they surrounded the enemy, and secondly, so they can repel any reinforcements that the enemy might have brought along.

Grandma Sun quietly cursed, "This old woman here has not come to fight; who are you trying to scare?" She loudly called out, "Zhao Zhijing, quickly come out, I have something to say to you."

Someone called out from the main hall, "Coming here in the middle of the night, what do you want?"

Grandma Sun said, "This is the antidote for the bee stings, take it!" She threw over the container.

A Taoist caught it, and believed her but then thought, "Does she have good intentions in coming back to give us the antidote." He called out clearly, "What medicine is this?"

Grandma Sun said, "Don't ask so many questions, just give it to him to drink, and you'll see the results."

The Taoist called out, "How do I know whether you've come with good or bad intentions, and how do I know if this is actually medicine not poison. Apprentice brother Zhao has been tortured enough by you, when did you gain the heart of Buddha?"

Grandma Sun heard his words, her good intentions had turned into some evil intent, she was furious and put Yang Guo down on the roof, then quickly jumped in front of the Taoist and snatched the bottle back. She opened the bottle, and said to Yang Guo, "Open your mouth!"

Yang Guo didn't understand but did as he was told. She tipped the bottle and poured the bee honey into his mouth and said, "Fine, just in case you think its poison. Guo'Er lets go!" She held Yang Guo's hand and ran to the edge of the roof and jumped down.

That Taoist was called Zhang Zhiguang, and was Hao Datong's second disciple, he was cursing himself. He regretted his words when he realized that she had bought along the real antidote, Zhao Zhijing now had no antidote and it would be difficult for him to survive, he quickly followed and blocked them with his hands. He smiled and said, "Old Senior, why are you so furious? I was just joking, there's no need to take it seriously. We are neighbors, and have seen each other a few times, ha-ha, please bestow the medicine to us."

Grandma Sun did not like his smooth talk, she stopped, and chuckled, "There is only one bottle of medicine, if you want some more, there isn't any. You can find your own way to cure Zhao Zhijing's wounds!" As she said this she sent out her hand and said, "Since you don't greet a senior, I'll teach you a lesson." The palm was extremely quick, Zhang Zhiguang couldn't avoid it, a clashing sound was heard, he was struck on the cheek, and his face was stinging.

By the door the two Taoists' faces changed and both of them said, "Even if you are a senior, how can we let you do what you want in Chongyang Palace?" One sent out his left palm, the other his right, the two of them attacking together from two sides. Grandma Sun had fought the "Big Dipper Formation" before and knew it was powerful; she knew it would be best to avoid it. If she went to attack them, how could she fight them all in their formation? She dodged past the two palms, and picked up Yang Guo and headed for the rooftops. She saw that there was no one on the roof; she wanted to escape via this route when suddenly someone jumped up on the roof and shouted, "Drop down!" sending two palms out. Grandma Sun was in midair, she had nothing to lean against, and could only fight with her right hand, one palm clashed with two, both of them were forced back, each of them on either side of the wall. Six or seven Taoists whistled, and crowded her into the corner.

These Taoists were the best fighters of Quanzhen's third generation, and had come out to protect the main hall. In a flash, they moved back, and then rushed forward; the Taoists used a storming tactic and attacked many times. Grandma Sun was forced into the corner, and tried to break out with Yang Guo in her hand, but the Taoists formed a human wall and kept her back, she tried to break through many times but was forced back each time.

Ten moves passed. The one in charge of guarding the main hall Zhang Zhiguang knew that the enemy could not do anything and immediately lit a torch. Ten large candles were lit up all around the main hall, and shone on Grandma Sun's pale face, an ugly face of a frightful person who hides in the forest.

Zhang Zhiguang called out, "Retreat."

The seven Taoists who were attacking Grandma Sun took a step back, their hands across their chests, each holding their position. Grandma Sun caught her breath and then chuckled, "The Quanzhen sect is famous throughout the world, indeed they live up to their name. Over ten young and athletic men teamed up together to bully an old woman and a child. Ha-ha, so powerful, so powerful!"

Zhang Zhiguang's face turned a shade of red and said, "We are only trying to catch an intruder in the palace. We don't care if it's an old woman or a young man, if they were tall when they enter, they'll be short when they leave."

Grandma Sun chuckled and said, "What do you mean 'short when they leave'? You want me to crawl out of here, is that it!"

Zhang Zhiguang had just been slapped painfully by Grandma Sun, he wasn't going to let her off lightly, and said, "If you want me to let you go, it's not hard, just agree to three things. One, you called your bees to hurt brother Zhao; you have to leave the antidote. Two, that child is a student of the Quanzhen sect, how can he expel himself from the school without the permission of our leader? You've got to leave him here. Three, you broke into Chongyang Palace, you have to kowtow in front of ancestor Chongyang to apologize."

Grandma Sun laughed loudly and said, "I have long said to Mistress Long that none of the Taoists here have a good future, aren't the old woman's words true? Come, come I'll go and kowtow."

Grandma Sun lowered herself and began to kneel down. For Zhang Zhiguang this was unexpected, he was stunned, he saw Grandma Sun lowering her head, when suddenly he saw a flash, a projectile was thrown straight at him. Zhang Zhiguang cried out 'ai ya', he had tried to move out of the way quickly but the projectile was extremely quick and hit the corner of his left eye, his forehead was full of blood.

Grandma Sun had scoured her pocket and had grabbed the empty bee honey bottle, and calmly used her sect's projectile throwing technique to send the projectile out. Her sect's kung fu was designed for females, the techniques were all soft and of a ying nature, the changes mysterious, this stance "First Bow Greet After" (qian ju hou gong) was unexpected. Though it was just an empty bottle, but because of the short distance it was shot out from, Zhang Zhiguang did not expect it and could not avoid it.

The Taoists saw that Zhang Zhiguang's head was covered with blood, they all shouted at the same time, and took out a weapon. Quanzhen's Taoists all used swords, the courtyard lit up with the blades light. Grandma Sun got up and chuckled, she knew that it would be hard for her to complete this day. But she was strong and stubborn, she wouldn't surrender, she turned her head and asked Yang Guo, "Child, are you afraid?"

When Yang Guo saw the long swords brandished, he had already thought to himself, "If Uncle Guo was here, even if there were more Taoists I wouldn't be scared. But with Grandma Sun's skills, we will not be able to break out." When he heard Grandma Sun ask him the question, he clearly replied, "Grandma, just let them kill me. This business has nothing to do with you, leave quickly."

Grandma Sun heard the child's proud resilient air, and his concern for her, and loved him even more, she loudly said, "Grandma will die with you to grant the rotten Taoists their wish." She suddenly shouted out "Now!" and dashed forward, she stretched out her arms, and caught hold of two Taoists' wrists; she twisted them and snatched their swords. Her "Empty Hands Entering a Hundred Blades" kung fu was extremely strange; it was reckless yet it was mystifying and not ordinary. The two Taoists could not defend against this, and all of a sudden they had lost their weapons.

Grandma Sun gave one of the swords to Yang Guo and said, "Child, do you dare to fight against the rotten Taoists?"

Yang Guo said, "Of course I'm not afraid. It's a pity that there are no other people here."

Grandma Sun said, "What other people?"

Yang Guo loudly said, "The Quanzhen sect is world renowned, such a heroic deed as bullying an orphan and an old woman, isn't it a pity that there's no one to spread this story?" He had heard how Grandma Sun and Zhang Zhiguang argued, and understood one of the points raised. His words were clear and simple, his voice was bright and loud.

When the Taoists heard his words, half of them felt ashamed, they thought that ganging up on a small child and an old woman was a shameful thing to do. Someone quietly said, "I'll go and tell our leader, and hear his decision."

Right now Ma Yu was ten miles away at the far side of the mountain meditating in a small room; the sect's affairs were handed to Hao Datong. The Taoist who said this was a disciple of Tan Chuduan, he felt that the situation has got out of hand and now the sect's reputation was on the line. This matter had to be dealt by their sect's leader personally.

Zhang Zhiguang's face was struck by the empty jar and his left eye was covered in blood; he was furious and acted out on impulse. He knew that their sect leader was peaceful and he would order them to release Yang Guo and Grandma Sun. He will have suffered for no reason. He called out loudly; "First we'll catch that evil witch, then we'll let leader decide what to do. Everyone, catch them."

The "Big Dipper Formation" gradually shrank back; they saw that she only had one hand to fight with but who would guess that when the seven of them rushed to within three paces of her, her sword swirled, and defended tightly; they couldn't advance another step. The formation was led by Zhang Zhiguang, and needed a change of direction, but he was afraid that the projectile that struck him had poison on it. If he fought then the poison would spread faster, he closed his left eye and stood to the side controlling the formation. Since he had decided not to fight, the formation's power weakened. The Taoists fought for a long time but couldn't make any progress and began to get impatient. Suddenly Grandma Sun gave a shout and flung her long sword away, she dashed forward three steps and dodged pass the Taoists' swords, and grabbed a young Taoist's chest and picked him up, she shouted, "Scoundrels, will or will you not let us pass?" The Taoists stopped, but suddenly a body flew out from behind them, stretched out their arm and attacked Grandma Sun's wrist. Grandma Sun did not see that person's face clearly; she felt a numbing sensation in her wrist and the young Taoist she had in her hands was taken by him. She felt a strong wind coming towards her, the person was sending out a palm to attack her. Grandma Sun thought, "That person's palm is extremely fast." She quickly pushed out her own palms to repel the attack. The two palms met and made a clashing sound, and Grandma Sun took a step back. The person also took a slight step back, about an inch or so, then immediately followed with a second palm without a pause. Grandma Sun also sent out her palms to attack, and was forced back another step. The person took half a step forward and sent out a third palm. The three palms sent out were faster than the last, and forced Grandma Sun back three steps, she didn't have a chance to see who her opponent was, by the fourth palm, Grandma Sun's back was forced up against the wall; she had nowhere to retreat. The person sent out a right palm, and locked palms with Grandma Sun, and he calmly said, "Grandma, leave the antidote and the child here!"

Grandma Sun raised her head, and saw that the person had a head full of white hair and white eyebrows, his face was purple, it was the man who had earlier used poison smoke to fend off her bees, Hao Datong. After the first three palms, she knew that his internal energy was profound, and above hers, if he increased his palm's power, she would not be able to hold on, but she was strong and stubborn, she would rather die than give in, she shouted, "If you want me to leave the child, first you have to kill me."

Hao Datong knew their sect and his teacher had a deep history and didn't wish to harm her, he held back on his palm, and said, "We have been neighbors for over ten years, why risk our friendship over a small child."

Grandma Sun chuckled, and said, "I originally came here to give you the antidote, so ask your disciples, what this is all about.”

Hao Datong turned his head around to ask his disciples when suddenly Grandma Sun sent out a kick, aiming for his legs. That kick came out of nowhere, her body or skirt didn't move, the opponent's leg was coming into his stomach, there wasn't time to move back, under this threat he reacted, and channeled more strength into his palm, a 'hey' sound was heard as Grandma Sun was pushed backwards. His push contained all the internal energy he has cultivated over the years using Quanzhen's advanced internal energy cultivation techniques. He heard a thudding sound as dust from the upper part of the wall fell down. Grandma Sun spat out a pool of blood, and slowly dropped down onto the floor.

Yang Guo was shocked, and hugged her body and said, “If you want to kill someone, kill me. There is no need to harm Grandma.”

Grandma Sun opened her eyes and chuckled and said, “Child, looks like we are going to die in the same place.”

Yang Guo loosened his arms, and guarded her, his back to Hao Datong and the others, he ignored his own safety. Hao Datong's palm was serious, he saw that his opponent was injured and was very regretful about his attack. He wanted to go over and take a closer look at Grandma Sun's injury, and give her medicine to heal the wound, but Yang Guo blocked his way and he couldn't get close. He softly said, “Yang Guo, move out of the way, let me take a closer look at Grandma.”

Yang Guo didn't believe him and held Grandma Sun tightly. Hao Datong tried to persuade him a few times but saw that Yang Guo was ignoring him; he became impatient and stretched out his arm to pull him away. Yang Guo loudly shouted, “Rotten Taoists, scoundrels, you can kill me, I won't let you harm Grandma.”

Just as he was saying he won't surrender Grandma Sun, a cold voice from behind suddenly said, "Bullying a child and an old woman, how heroic is that?"

Hao Datong heard the cold and icy voice, his heart shivered. He turned around to take a look and saw an extremely beautiful young girl standing at the entrance to the main hall. Her clothes were as white as snow, and her eyes froze those who looked at her. Once the palace's bell rang, within ten li, the area would be tightly guarded. Yet the girl managed to enter without alerting anyone. No one knew how she managed to enter without making a sound.

Hao Datong asked, "Miss, who are you? What do you want?"

The young girl glanced at him and didn't reply, and went over to Grandma Sun. Yang Guo raised his head and mournfully said. "Long Gu Gu this evil Taoists killed Grandma!" The girl in white was Xiao Longnu. She had witnessed everything clearly from Grandma Sun leaving the tomb with Yang Guo, going to the palace, and Grandma Sun fighting. If Hao Datong had not used such a lethal move, she would not have shown herself, but now Grandma Sun had suffered a serious injury. Had she wanted to come and help it was now too late. She had seen with her own eyes how Yang Guo had disregarded his life to protect Grandma Sun; his eyes were full of tears. She nodded and said, "Everyone dies, there is nothing special about death."

Grandma Sun had brought her up by herself and treated her like a daughter; but Xiao Longnu had lived in a detached state for these eighteen years, and cultivated the sect's internal energy; she didn't have a touch of grief or anger in her. She saw that Grandma Sun was beyond help and so there was no need to feel sorrow. However, for a split second, she felt grief for a loved one, but no emotion was shown on her face. Hao Datong heard Yang Guo had called her 'Long

Gu Gu', and knew that it was the Xiao Longnu who had chased Prince Huo Dou away, and he was surprised. The news of how Huo Dou had been forced to run away had spread throughout the world of Jianghu. Though Xiao Longnu had never taken a step away from Mount Zhongnan, her name was now known throughout the Wulin world.

Xiao Longnu turned her head around slowly, and looked at the Taoists. Hao Datong's internal energy was deep and he was able to keep a still body and mind. When the other Taoists saw her clearly, and looked into her frosty and captivating eyes, they could not stop their hearts from trembling.

Xiao Longnu stooped down to take a closer look at Grandma Sun and asked, "Grandma Sun, how are you?"

Grandma Sun sighed and said, "Miss, I have never requested anything from you in my entire life, I beg you, will you allow me a request or won't you."

Xiao Longnu wrinkled her elegant brows slightly and said, "What do you want me to do?"

Grandma Sun nodded her head, and pointed to Yang Guo, she wasn't able to speak for the time being.

Xiao Longnu said, "You want me to take care of him?"

Grandma Sun forced a deep breath and said, "I beg you to look after him forever, don't let others harm him, can you promise me that?"

Xiao Longnu hesitantly said, "Look after him forever?"

Grandma Sun sternly said, "Miss, if this old woman doesn't die, I will look after you forever. Who clothed you, fed you and changed you when you were little, wasn't it all done by this old woman? How...how...how have you repaid me?"

Xiao Longnu bit her lip and said, "Alright, I promise."

A smile crept upon Grandma Sun's face. Her eyes looked at Yang Guo; she wanted to say something but couldn't catch her breath. Yang Guo knew what she wanted and lowered his ear to her mouth and quietly said, "Grandma, you want to say something to me?"

Grandma Sun said, "Lower your head a bit more."

Yang Guo lowered himself further, and placed his ear right by her mouth.

Grandma Sun whispered, "Your Auntie Long has no one to depend on, you...you..." when she got up to this point she couldn't say anything more. She suddenly spat out a mouthful of blood, Yang Guo's face and clothes were speckled with blood, her eyes closed and she passed away.

Yang Guo shouted, "Grandma, Grandma!" He was grief stricken; he held her body and sobbed.

The Taoists who saw this felt a touch of sorrow, and Hao Datong was even more regretful, he went up to Grandma Sun and paid his respects and said, "Grandma, I didn't mean to hurt you. This sin that has come upon me is ruled by your fate. Grandma, go peacefully!"

Xiao Longnu stood up, but didn't say anything and waited for him to finish. The two of them stared at each other. Half an hour passed then Xiao Longnu frowned again and said, "What? You are not going to kill yourself to repay your debt; you want me to do it for you?"

Hao Datong was startled and said, "What?"

Xiao Longnu said, "You killed someone so you need to pay the life back, kill yourself and finish this and I'll spare the lives of all the Taoists here."

Before Hao Datong could reply, the Taoists that were around him spoke out. There were about thirty or forty Taoists here in the main hall, all saying; “Little girl, leave quickly now and we won’t make it hard for you.”

“What crap! Kill yourself and finish this, and you’ll spare our lives” “This young girl does not know how high the sky is or how deep the earth is.” When Hao Datong heard the Taoists clamor he quickly waved his hand to tell them to be quiet.

Xiao Longnu ignored all the Taoists’ comments, and slowly took out a silk object from her pocket, the object was a glove and she slipped it on her right hand. She separated her hands, with her right she placed a silk belt into her left hand and she quietly said, “Old Taoist, you are a coward, you are afraid of killing yourself, take out a weapon and get ready to fight!”

Hao Datong smiled and said, “This old man hurt Grandma Sun by accident, I don’t want to fight with you, take Yang Guo and leave this place.” He thought that although she has become famous for forcing Huo Dou to run away, she just relied on the threat of her Jade Bees. She is of a young age, even if her skills have their fine points, she would not be any better than Grandma Sun. So he decided to let her leave; firstly because of their sect’s first generation’s relationship, secondly he was troubled by accidentally killing Grandma Sun; it was for the best.

He didn’t guess that Xiao Longnu would not take any notice of his words, her left arm raised, a strip of silk suddenly flew out from the floor, heading straight for Hao Datong’s face. That move came without making a noise and out of nowhere, there was no warning. Under the candlelight, he saw a gold coloured sphere tied to the silk belt. Hao Datong saw that she unleashed her move extremely quickly, and the weapon she used was extremely strange, and was uncertain on how to react. He was old and the years had made him more prudent; although he had faced many skilled fighters before, he didn't dare to receive the attack head on and moved to the left.

He didn't know that Xiao Longnu's belt could change direction in midair. Hao Datong leaped to the left, the belt followed him to the left, three sounds were heard as the gold sphere shook three times, and hit his face's 'Meeting Fragrance' (Ying Xiang), 'Receiving Tears' (Cheng Qi) and 'Central' (Ren Zhong) three pressure points. The moves used to hit the pressure points were extremely fast, nothing more could be done during this time. It was one of the best skills in the Wulin world. He heard the gold sphere rattle two times, and although it wasn't loud it was extremely strange. As it entered the ear it moved the heart and shook the soul. Hao Datong was alarmed and quickly used the "Metal Board Bridge" (tie ban qiao), his body moved backwards; the silk belt swept swiftly inches away from his face. He was afraid of the gold sphere pursuing and attacking him. His kung fu was refined, and as he was stepping back he suddenly leaped up three meters. Xiao Longnu didn't predict this; a 'zheng' sound was made as the sphere hit the floor. Her pressure point hitting technique with the sphere was all linked and continuous, but in the midst of danger, Hao Datong managed to luckily escape. Hao Datong straightened his body, his face changed colour. The surrounding Taoists were either his disciples or were his martial nephews and they all respected his skills. Though he wasn't harmed, they were astonished at the way he scampered out of the last attack. Four Taoists raised their swords and aimed for Xiao Longnu.

Xiao Longnu said, "Yes, you should have used your weapons long ago!"

She waved her hands, two silk belts moved out like snakes, two 'ting' sounds were heard, the 'Spirit Channel' (ling dao) pressure points on their wrists were struck, and the four swords struck the floor. The Taoists' faces changed color, none of them dared to attack again after that move.

Hao Datong had initially thought Xiao Longnu's skills were ordinary, but didn't think that he would almost lose to her. His dislike for the enemy increased and he took a long sword out of the hands of one of the disciples, and said, "Miss Long's skills are excellent, this old Taoist applauds, come, come, let the old Taoist test some of Miss Long's advanced skills."

Xiao Longnu nodded her head, two 'ting' sounds were heard, the two belts swept in from the left and right.

According to seniority, Hao Datong was one level above Xiao Longnu and out of respect for dueling with a senior, Xiao Longnu should hold back on the first three moves. But her stances were full of killer intent immediately, and ignored any rules of the Wulin world.

Hao Datong thought, "Although the girl's skills are not weak, she doesn't seem to understand rules. She hasn't had much battle experience; I doubt that she can show much more ability in this battle." His left hand followed the sword as his right hand held it, and he fought against the white silk belts.

The Taoists all circled around and watched the battle closely. Under the flickering candlelight, one could only see a girl dressed in white, an old Taoist in grey. The belts looked like rainbows and the sword moved like lightning as they engaged in battle.

Hao Datong had put sweat and blood into training his sword skills. When it came to sword skills, his were ranked third or fourth. But Xiao Longnu flipped and rolled and avoided many of his stances, he wasn't able to gain any advantage. Xiao Longnu's silk belts were like sinuous snakes circling around, and the two gold spheres continuously sent out 'ting' sounds which was even more disturbing for the opponent.

Hao Datong had fought for a long while without gaining the upper hand. Although he wasn't losing, it was slightly embarrassing. He thought about how he was well known as a skilled fighter in the world of Wulin, yet he had fought over one hundred stances with the young girl but still was unable to gain any advantage. He became impatient and changed his sword style, fast became slow, though his stances became much slower than before, the force behind the sword increased many times over. At first he was only able to avoid his sword tip being trapped by the silk belts; now the sword strength increased, he was able to cut and chop the belts.

More stances passed when suddenly a clashing sound was heard as the sword tip clashed with a golden sphere. Hao Datong's internal energy was profound and he knocked the golden sphere out of the way, hitting it towards Xiao Longnu. He then attacked forward. The Taoists saw the sword pass the advance of a silk belt, heading for Xiao Longnu's wrist. They thought that she had to let go of the silk belt otherwise her wrist would be pierced.

Who would have guessed that Xiao Longnu's right hand turned over and caught the blade of the sword; a 'ka' sound was heard as the sword snapped in half.

The Taoists all gasped in surprise. Hao Datong quickly jumped backwards, his hand holding the snapped sword, and was left standing in shock. He didn't know that the opponent's glove was made out of an extremely fine and extremely tough white gold thread; it was a unique weapon that was passed down by her ancestors. Although it was fine and light, no blade or spear could pierce it; not even precious knives or sharp swords could damage it. She had held the sword's blade and used her strength to break it.

Hao Datong was pale; he had just suffered a great defeat. He didn't realize that there was something special about her glove and thought that she had mastered the advanced skills of being impenetrable by swords and spears. His voice quavered as he said, "Good, good, good, this old Taoist admits defeat. Miss Long, take the child and leave."

Xiao Longnu said, "You've killed Grandma Sun; now just a word admitting defeat and that's it?"

Hao Datong laughed out at the sky and said, "I'm really stupid!" He raised his broken sword and aimed for his neck.

A sudden noise was heard, his hand shook severely; a coin had come from beyond the walls, and knocked the sword out of his hand onto the floor. His energy was profound, how easy could it be for someone to knock the sword out of his hand?

Hao Datong shivered, from the ability to use a coin to knock the sword out of his hand, he knew his martial brother Qiu Chuji had arrived. He raised his head and said, "Martial Brother Qiu, little brother is useless." He heard a long laugh coming from outside the walls, followed by, "Winning and losing are normal; if those who lost cut their throats then even if your Martial Brother had eighteen necks they all would have been cut long ago."

Qiu Chuji leaped over the wall and into the scene, his hand holding a long sword. He was a very straightforward man, he hated unnecessary talk, and stretched out his sword, pointing it at Xiao Longnu's arm and said, "Quanzhen's Qiu Chuji wishes to test our neighbor's great skill."

Xiao Longnu said, "You are very straightforward." She stretched out her left palm and held Qiu Chuji's sword.

Hao Datong quickly warned, "Apprentice brother, careful!" But he was too late, Xiao Longnu exerted her energy, and Qiu Chuji channeled his energy into his sword. The two of them competed; a 'ka' sound and the sword broke in half. But Xiao Longnu's arm was shaken and was slightly numb; she felt a pain in her chest. Within this stance, she knew that Qiu Chuji's ability was well above Hao Datong's. She herself has not finished studying the "Jade Heart Manual", and she would not be able to beat him. She threw the broken blade onto the floor. Her left hand lifted the body of Grandma Sun, her right hand Yang Guo; then she leapt up and soared into the air, flying away gracefully from the top of the wall.

Qiu Chuji, Hao Datong and the others saw her demonstrate her lightness kung fu and they looked on in astonishment. Qiu Chuji and Hao Datong had fought with her; they knew that she was blessed with refined skills. But her martial arts level was still significantly weaker than theirs; however they had never seen such an admirable display of lightness kung fu.

Hao Datong sighed, and said, "It's finished, it's finished!"

Qiu Chuji said, "Apprentice brother, you have studied Taoism for many years, how could it be that you are not able to see past a small mistake? Our brothers and sister in Shanxi, didn't we have another set of problems?"

Hao Datong was alarmed and said, "What? Was anyone hurt?"

Qiu Chuji said, "It's a long story, we'll go and see apprentice brother Ma first."

After Li Mochou killed the Lu family she traveled to Shanxi, in Jinbei she killed a few more heroes of the Wulin world. She eventually provoked public indignation; the leaders of the Wulin world in that area sent our heroes invitations, inviting them to attack her. The Quanzhen sect was the receiver of one of these hero invitations. At that time, Ma Yu and Qiu Chuji discussed how Li Mochou has done many evil deeds, and though her sect and theirs had a long history, it would be best if they solved it and give her a chance to turn over a new leaf. Liu Chuxuan and Sun Bu'Er were at Meibei. However Li Mochou hid her tracks, and traveled around discreetly, Liu Chuxuan and Sun Bu'Er couldn't stop her and she hurt some more good men of Jinnan and Jinbei. Eventually Qiu Chuji and Wang Chuyi brought with them ten disciples, and rendezvoused with Liu Chuxuan and Sun Bu'Er. Li Mochou knew that it would be difficult for one person to fight off so many good fighters, and so she agreed with Qiu and Wang to a duel. The first day's duel was with Sun Bu'Er. Li Mochou secretly used her 'Soul Freezing Silver Needles' and pierced her. She immediately went up to them and gave them the antidote, and told Qiu Chuji they must accept it. This meant that they accepted a favour from her. According to the rules of Jianghu; they wouldn't be able to chase after and fight her. The Taoists could only laugh bitterly as they made their way back. It was lucky that Qiu Chuji hurried back by himself, not traveling with the group, and managed to arrive in time to save Hao Datong's life.

After Xiao Longnu left Chongyang Palace, she put Yang Guo down and carried Grandma Sun's body back to the Tomb of the Living Dead. She put her body on the bed that she normally slept on, and sat down on the chair in front of the bed and didn't speak a single word. Yang Guo threw himself on Grandma Sun's body and cried incessantly. After a while Xiao Longnu said, "She's already dead, why are you crying? Even if you cried some more, she wouldn't know about it."

Yang Guo was startled, and felt that her words were cold and emotionless, but when he thought about it her words made sense; then he was struck with grief once more and burst out crying again.

Xiao Longnu looked at him coldly, her expression remained the same, after another while she said, "We are going to bury her, follow me."

She picked up the body and exited the room. Yang Guo wiped away his tears with his sleeve and followed her. The tomb's passageways were pitch black, he opened his eyes wide but could only see the ghostly white image of Xiao Longnu, he could only follow closely, he didn't dare to lose track of her.

She twisted east and winded west, after half an hour, she pushed open a heavy stone door and from her pockets she took a match and lit two oil lamps on a stone table. Yang Guo took a look around and shivered, he saw a large empty room with five stone coffins. He took a closer look and saw that two of them were tightly closed, the other three were half open, and he didn't know if there were corpses inside.

Xiao Longnu pointed to the first coffin on the right and said, "Ancestor Grandma lies there." She pointed to the second one and said, "Master lies there."

Yang Guo saw her pointing to a third coffin, his heart jumped, he didn't know who she was going to say lies in that one. The lid was not closed; if there was a corpse inside wouldn't it be extremely putrid? He heard her say, "Grandma Sun will lie in that one."

Yang Guo knew it was an empty coffin, and let out his breath. He saw the other two coffins and became curious, he asked, "What about those two coffins?"

Xiao Longnu said, "One is for my apprentice sister Li Mochou, the other is for me."

Yang Guo froze and said, "Li Mochou! Miss Li is going to return?"

Xiao Longnu replied, "My teacher planned it all, she will return. There is one coffin short because my master didn't plan for you."

Yang Guo was shocked and quickly said, "I don't want one...I don't want one!"

Xiao Longnu said, "I promised Grandma Sun that I was going to look after you forever. Since I won't leave, then that means you won't either."

Yang Guo heard her talk about his life and death; he lost any sense of concern and said, "Even if you don't let me go, when you die, I'll be able to leave."

Xiao Longnu said, "I promised to look after you forever, I won't die before you."

Yang Guo said, "Why not? You are older than me!"

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "Before I die, I will kill you."

Yang Guo's heart jumped into his throat, and thought, "Maybe not. People have got legs, won't I run away?"

Xiao Longnu went up to the third coffin and opened the lid, she then picked up Grandma Sun and placed her inside. Yang Guo didn't want to abandon her just yet and said, "Let me take another look at Grandma." Xiao Longnu knew they had just known each other for a over a day yet they managed to become so closely bonded, she agreed to his request. She frowned and picked up the corpse of Grandma Sun unmoved. Yang Guo looked at Grandma Sun under the dim light, and wanted to cry again. Xiao Longnu looked at him, then placed Grandma Sun's body into the coffin; she pulled the lid over, a click sound, and the lid locked into place tightly sealing the coffin.

Xiao Longnu was afraid that Yang Guo would cry again and said, "Let's leave!" She waved her left sleeve, the two oil lamps in the room were put out, and the room was plunged into darkness. Yang Guo was afraid that she would trap him in there and quickly ran out.

In the tomb, there is no difference between night and day. The two of them had a long day and were tired. Xiao Longnu ordered Yang Guo to sleep in Grandma Sun's room. Yang Guo had wandered around Jianghu by himself since he was very young; he would normally sleep rough or in old temples, and was brave. But now, sleeping by himself in this room, he began to think about the dead people in the coffins and was frightened out of his wits. Xiao Longnu said a few words but he did not reply.

Xiao Longnu said, "Did you not hear me?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm scared"

Xia Long Nu asked, "Scared of what?"

Yang Guo replied, "I don't know. I'm afraid to sleep by myself."

Xia Long Nu frowned and said, "You can sleep with me in my room." She then led him to her room. She was used to the darkness and would not usually light a candle, but because of Yang Guo she lit a wax candle. Yang Guo saw that she was beautiful, the clothes she wore were as white as snow, with not a speck of dust, and he thought that her room must be very elegant and refined. When he entered however, he was disappointed; he saw that her room was empty and was like the room with the coffins. There was a blue green stone bed with a cover of long grass, a white cloth for use as a blanket, and apart from these objects there were nothing else in the room.

Yang Guo thought, "Where am I going to sleep? I'm afraid that she wants me to sleep on the floor." Then Xiao Longnu said, "Sleep on my bed!"

Yang Guo said, "That's not right. I'll sleep on the floor."

Xiao Longnu's face changed and said, "If you want to stay here then you have got to do as I say. If you want to fight with the Taoists of Quanzhen, it's up to you. If you argue with me, I'll immediately punish you with death."

Yang Guo said, "If you say you won't use that terrible punishment, then I'll listen to you."

Xiao Longnu said, "You dare to talk back?"

Yang Guo saw that she was young and beautiful, but she was strict and domineering, he stuck out his tongue and didn't say a word.

Xiao Longnu saw and said, "Why are you sticking out your tongue? You refuse to obey is that it?"

Yang Guo didn't say anything, he took off his shoes and climbed onto the bed and went to sleep. He slept on the bed a while and then awoke as he felt his bones chilled, he was alarmed and quickly jumped off the bed. Xiao Longnu saw that he was frightened out of his wits and sympathized with him, but there was a slight smile on her face as she said, "What is it?"

Yang Guo saw that smile on her face, he smiled and said, "There's something strange with that bed; you wanted to make a fool out of me."

Xiao Longnu became serious again and said, "Who's making a fool out of you? The bed is like that, quickly, go to sleep." As she said this she took out a broom from behind the door and said, "If you get off the bed again, you will get ten whacks with this broom."

Yang Guo saw that she was serious, and could only climb onto the bed again, but this time he was prepared and wasn't shocked. It was as if there was a block of ice underneath the layer of long grass; the longer he slept the colder he became, his body shivered and his teeth chattered noisily. After a while, the coldness went into his bones, he couldn't endure anymore and got off the bed again.

He turned around and saw Xiao Longnu looking at him; her face seemed to smile but didn't smile. She had a punishment in mind for him, he secretly cursed himself in his heart and he clenched his teeth tightly and used all his strength to resist the coldness of the bed. He saw Xiao Longnu take out a rope, and tie one end to a hook on the eastern side of the room, and tied the other end to a hook on the western side of the room. The rope was off the floor at a height similar to that of a person. She lightly jumped up and lay along the rope, using it as a bed. She waved her left palm and the wind of the palm blew out the candle.

Yang Guo was in awe and said, "Gu Gu, could you teach me this skill tomorrow?"

Xiao Longnu said, "This skill is nothing. Practice hard, I have many great skills to teach you."

When Yang Guo heard that Xiao Longnu was going to sincerely teach him martial arts, he then immediately wiped away his initial feelings about her. He was grateful and tears were forming in his eyes, and said, "Gu Gu, you treat me very well, before I hated you."

Xiao Longnu said, "I forced you out of the tomb, of course you would hate me, what is so strange about that?"

Yang Guo said, "I thought you were going to be like my previous master, teaching me useless kung fu."

Xiao Longnu heard him shiver as he talked and said, "Are you cold?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes, there's something strange underneath this bed, why is it so cold?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Do you like it or don't you?"

Yang Guo said, "I...I don't."

Xiao Longnu chuckled and said, "You don't like it, yet there are many skilled fighters on this earth who wish they could have the chance to sleep on this bed."

Yang Guo asked, "You aren't punishing me?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I treat you well, and you think I'm punishing you, you really don't know what's good for you."

From her tone, it seemed as she was saying that sleeping on this bed was a blessing, so he softly asked, "Gu Gu, what is so good about this cold bed, can you explain it to me?"

Xiao Longnu said, "If you sleep on this bed for the rest of your life, you'll find out the benefits for yourself. Close your eyes, don't speak anymore."

In the darkness he heard her clothes rustle lightly, it seemed like she was turning over; she was sleeping on a rope in midair, yet was able to turn over when she wanted to. It was uncanny.

Her last two sentences were said with a strict tone, Yang Guo didn't dare to question any further. He closed his eyes to sleep, but the coldness from below advanced on him; then he thought about Grandma Sun and he was depressed again, how could he sleep? After a while he quietly called out, "Gu Gu, I can't stand it." He heard Xiao Longnu's slow breathing; she was asleep. He quietly called out twice, but there was no reply and he thought, "If I get off the bed and sleep on the floor, she wouldn't know." He then quietly sneaked down from the bed, and stood on the floor, not daring to breathe out.

As soon as his feet touched the floor, a 'se' sound was made as Xiao Longnu leapt down from the rope, and bent his left arm behind his back, and forced him onto the floor. Yang Guo shouted in shock. Xiao Longnu grabbed the broom, and hit his backside with force. Yang Guo knew there was no use in pleading so he clenched his teeth and took the blows. The first five were very painful, but by the sixth hit Xiao Longnu held back a little, and by the last two hits she was afraid that he won't be able to endure it anymore and they were even lighter. After the ten blows, she put Yang Guo on the bed and said, "If you get off the bed again, I'll hit you again."

Yang Guo lay on the bed, and didn't make a noise; he heard her place the broom in the corner and then leaped back onto the rope. Xiao Longnu thought that he would definitely cry, but didn't think that he wouldn't make a sound. She was surprised and asked, "Why aren't you making any noise?"

Yang Guo said, "What is there to cry about, you said you were going to beat me, you beat me, even if I begged it wouldn't be of any use."

Xiao Longnu said, "Humph, you are cursing me secretly in your heart."

Yang Guo said, "I am not cursing you secretly in my heart, you are much better than my previous master."

Xiao Longnu asked, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "Although you hit me, you cared for my well being. The hits became lighter, you were afraid that I would be in pain."

Xiao Longnu blushed slightly when she heard those words, it was lucky that it was dark and Yang Guo didn't see her, she scolded, "Humph, who cares for you, the next time you are disobedient I'll beat you even harder."

Yang Guo heard her gentle tone and smiled and said, "If you beat me harder, I'll like it even more."

Xiao Longnu spat out, "Little rascal, I'm afraid you won't be able to sleep each day without a beating."

Yang Guo said, "It depends on who beats me. If it was someone who cared about me, then I won't be angry, I'll be pleased instead. If it were someone who hates me, insults me one word, when I grow up, I'll take my revenge on them."

Xiao Longnu said, "Listen to your words; who's going to hate you and who's going to love you."

Yang Guo said, "This is all clear in my mind. There is no need to mention those who hate me; there are countless people. The people who love me are my deceased mother, Uncle Guo, my Godfather, Grandma Sun and you."

Xiao Longnu chuckled and said, "Humph, I won't love you. Grandma Sun told me to take care of you; I will take care of you. There is no point in hoping that I will treat you well."

Yang Guo was feeling cold already, but when he heard those words it was like someone had poured a bucket of cold water over him. He asked, "What's wrong with me? Why do you hate me?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Whether you are feeling good or bad, what is that to do with me? And I don't hate you. I have lived in this tomb all my life, I don't love anything, and I don't hate anything."

Yang Guo said, "Is there anything fun around here? Gu Gu, have you ever been outside?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I have never left Mount Zhongnan, there's just trees and mountains, the sun and moon outside, what is so good about that?"

Yang Guo clapped his hand and said, "Ah, then you haven't lived properly. There are many colorful and interesting objects in the city, you should see them." Then he described all the things he had seen in his life. He was a good speaker, he added his own colorful descriptions and the objects he was describing sounded even more interesting and strange, he described hundreds of things. It was fortunate that Xiao Longnu had lived in the tomb for the past eighteen years; she didn't question his descriptions and believed them all, after he had finished, and she gave out a sigh.

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, I'll take you out to play, how about that?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Don't say such things! Ancestor Grandma passed down a rule; those who have lived in the Tomb of the Living Dead must not leave Mount Zhongnan one step."

Yang Guo was shocked, and thought, "Peach Blossom Island is an island in the middle of the sea, I went there and was able to leave, how can this large tomb keep me here?" and he asked, "Miss Li Mochou is your apprentice sister, she lived in the Tomb of the Living Dead, how did she leave Mount Zhongnan?"

Xiao Longnu said, "She didn't obey my Master, it was my Master who sent her out of the tomb."

Yang Guo was pleased and thought, "If there is such a rule, when I want to leave all I've got to do is disobey you and you will send me out of the tomb." He thought how he mustn't let this slip otherwise his plan wouldn't work.

The two of them talked, just for a moment, Yang Guo forgot all about the cold, but after a while his body started to shiver and shake. he then pleaded with Xiao Longnu, "Gu Gu, spare me please. I don't want to sleep on this bed."

Xiao Longnu said, "When you were fighting with your master in the Quanzhen sect, you didn't say a word about mercy, why are you like this now?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Those who ill treat me, even if they beat me I won't say a word. Those who treat me well, I'll be willing to die for them, what's a word of mercy compared to that?"

Xiao Longnu gave a 'humph' and said, "Little rogue, who's going to treat you well?"

Xiao Longnu was brought up by her teacher and Grandma Sun, and for these last eighteen years they were her only company. The two of them treated her well but because her Master wanted her to learn the "Jade Heart Manual" so, ever since she was small, she was told to purge her emotions. When she cried or smiled she would be punished heavily. Grandma Sun was a warm person but she didn't dare to disturb her refinement of the skill, and so Xiao Longnu became a cold, unfeeling, lonely girl. Now Yang Guo came. He was a young hot-blooded, emotional person, and the way he spoke was completely the opposite of Grandma Sun and her Master. Xiao Longnu heard him speak; she was aware that something was strange but she listened to him talking and forgot about their tiredness. When she first agreed to take in Yang Guo, it was at the request of Grandma Sun. Later on when she heard Yang Guo say that she treats him well, she felt that she indeed did treat him well.

Yang Guo heard her tone had no more strictness within it, he said loudly, "Its cold...its cold, Gu Gu, I can't endure it anymore." Indeed he was cold, but it wasn't anything too serious.

Xiao Longnu said, "There's no need to be noisy, I'll tell you about the bed."

Yang Guo was pleased and said, "Great, I won't call out anymore, please tell Gu Gu."

Xiao Longnu said, "I said that there are many fighters who wished that they had the chance to sleep on this bed, that wasn't a lie. The bed is made out of an ancient Chilled Jade; it aids those who practice advanced types of internal energy."

Yang Guo asked, "Isn't it just a stone?"

Xiao Longnu chuckled and said, "You've said that you have seen countless strange and wondrous objects, haven't you ever seen an icy cold piece of rock before? It was Ancestor Grandma who spent seven years of blood and sweat in the extreme cold of the northern plains to dig out the Chilled Jade from under thousands of feet of ice and snow. If you practice your internal energy on this bed, one year is equivalent of ten years of normal practicing."

Yang Guo was surprised and said, "Oh, so it has such benefits."

Xiao Longnu said, "When you first sleep on it, it is extremely cold and hard to endure. Only by circulating your chi to oppose it and slowly getting used to it, you'll be able to practice your internal energy in your sleep. A normal person who practices internal energy, even the most energetic, will have to spend a few hours each day in sleep. You have to be aware that practicing internal energy is opposing the natural flow of things, chi and blood intermix; it is completely different to what happens normally. But each night when you sleep, the chi that is produced in your sleep does not waste the energy you have accumulated in the day, it enhances your internal energy.”

Yang Guo understood and said, “If you sleep on ice and snow at night, then you will have the same effect.”

Xiao Longnu said, “Not so. Firstly, when you sleep on ice or snow, your body’s heat will eventually melt the snow and ice into water; secondly, the Chilled Jade is much colder than ice and snow. When you are refining internal energy, the most important thing to avoid is fire deviation; when you are practicing normally, half of your refined energy clashes with the fire in your heart. The Chilled Jade Bed is the world’s most yin and cold object. When sitting on the bed and refining your internal energy, the fire in your heart is cooled and neutralized. That means you will be able to press on further when cultivating your internal energy; how can that not be faster than practicing internal energy normally?”

Yang Guo was delighted, and said, “Gu Gu, you treat me very well, you lend the bed for me to sleep on, that means I won’t be scared of the Wu brothers and Guo Fu. Although Zhao Zhijing and the rest of the Taoists have practiced martial arts for so long, I still will be able to catch up with them.”

Xiao Longnu calmly said, “One of the decrees that Ancestor Grandma passed down was that once you have lived in the tomb, you must forget your struggles with other people.”

Yang Guo quickly said, “Even though they bullied me and killed Grandma Sun, we will just leave it just like that.”

Xiao Longnu said, "Everyone will die. Even if Grandma Sun did not die at the hands of Hao Datong, in a few years she would die of old age. Live a few more years or live a few less years, what difference does it make? Don't mention anything about revenge to me again."

Yang Guo felt that, although her words made sense, he could not let go; but he wasn't able to think of a reply to what she said. Then, the coolness of the bed entered his body again, he shook continuously.

Xiao Longnu said, "I'll teach you a method to oppose the coolness of the bed."

She then passed on the formulae and the way to practice internal energy to him; it was their sect's foundation kung fu. Yang Guo practiced according to the instructions. He had only practiced it for a while when he felt the coolness retreating; by the third repetition, his body felt like it was on fire. He didn't feel the bed's coolness, and instead felt that sitting on the bed was extremely comfortable, his eyes closed, and slowly he fell asleep. He slept for half an hour; his hot chi disappeared, and was wakened by the bed's coolness. He then repeated the method again. He spent the night this way, falling asleep and waking up again, but when he suddenly woke up he didn't feel any tiredness. In just a night, his internal energy level increased further.

The two of them ate breakfast, and then Yang Guo took the bowls and chopsticks into the kitchen and washed them, before returning to the main hall.

Xiao Longnu said, "There is one thing you must understand. If you really want me to be your master, you must obey me for eternity. If you don't want me to be your master, I will still teach you martial arts. If in the future you become better than me, then you can leave the tomb because of your skills."

Yang Guo replied without considering, "I am willing to take you as my master. Even if you don't teach me a drop of martial arts, I will still do as you say."

Xiao Longnu asked, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, don't you think I know that you care for me?"

Xiao Longnu made a face and said, "Whether I treat you well or not, don't talk about it. Since you've decided to enter my sect, then follow me and you will undergo the ritual."

Yang Guo followed her into the back hall, only to see it was sparse and empty, apart from two paintings on the eastern and western wall. On the western wall was a picture of two girls. One of them was around twenty five or six years of age, facing a mirror combing and adorning her hair. The other was a fourteen or fifteen years of age maiden, her hand holding a bucket, standing to the side. The tall girl looking in the mirror was extremely beautiful, her eyebrows tidy, yet in her eyes there was an air of death. Yang Guo took a few glances at the painting, and felt fear and respect towards the girl.

Xiao Longnu pointed to the tall girl in the painting and said, "That is our Ancestor, kowtow to her."

Yang Guo strangely asked, "That's our Ancestor, why is she so young?"

Xiao Longnu said, "She was young in the picture, later she wasn't as young anymore." Yang Guo focused on the two sentences, 'She was young in the picture, later she wasn't as young anymore', he felt sorrow and regret in his heart and tears came to his eyes.

Xiao Longnu didn't notice that he was thinking and pointed to the young girl and said, "That is my Master, quickly kowtow." Yang Guo looked at the painting, and saw the young girl, who could believe that she would become Xiao Longnu's Master; he didn't hesitate and immediately kowtowed.

Xiao Longnu waited for him to stand up and then pointed to the painting hung on the eastern wall and said, "Spit on that Taoist." Yang Guo took a look at the painting and saw the Taoist was quite tall, a long sword by his side, the index finger on his right hand pointing to the north eastern corner, his back facing out, his face could not be seen.

He was curious and asked, "Who's that? Why should I spit on him?"

Xiao Longnu said, "That is the Quanzhen sect's founder Wang Chongyang, our sect has a rule, after kowtowing to our Ancestor we need to spit on him."

Yang Guo was pleased, he hated the Quanzhen sect, he felt this rule of the sect was a suiting finish; he spat out at the painting, and felt that this was not enough and spat out twice. He was about to do it again when Xiao Longnu said, "Enough!"

Yang Guo asked, "Did our Ancestor really hate Wang Chongyang?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Yes."

Yang Guo said, "I hate him as well. How come the painting is hung on the wall but not destroyed?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I don't know, I only heard from Grandma Sun and my Master that there isn't one good man on earth."

Her voice suddenly became strict and she said, "When you become older and do bad things, shall I spare you or not?"

Yang Guo said, "Of course you'll spare me."

Xiao Longnu originally meant this as a warning, she didn't know he would answer, she was startled and didn't know what to do with him and said, "Quickly greet your Master."

Yang Guo said, "Of course, I must kowtow to my Master. But first you have to got to promise me one thing otherwise I won't kowtow."

Xiao Longnu thought, "According to Grandma Sun, before accepting a disciple, only the Master can request things from the disciple, how can it be turned around and the disciple requests something from the Master?"

She was an emotionless person and didn't get angry, she said, "What is it? Let me hear what you've got to say."

Yang Guo said, "I regard you as my Master, I respect you and obey you, but I don't want to call you Master, I want to call you Gu Gu."

Xiao Longnu was bemused again and asked, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "I had taken that rotten Taoist from the Quanzhen sect as my Master, he didn't treat me well at all, in my dreams I curse my Master. That's why I want to call you Gu Gu, in case I mistakenly insult you when I insult my Master."

Xiao Longnu smiled slightly and felt that the way in which this child thinks was amusing, and said, "Fine, I agree to this."

Yang Guo then knelt down grandly, and kowtowed loudly eight times in front of Xiao Longnu and said, "Disciple Yang Guo hereby pays respect and acknowledges Xiao Longnu Gu Gu as my Master. Yang Guo will obey her words forever, if Gu Gu is in any sort of danger, I will give up my life to protect her, if someone insults Gu Gu, then I will kill them." In reality Xiao Longnu's skills were better than his by ten fold, but he saw that she was a beautiful, gentle and fragile girl, a feeling of duty to protect weak girls stirred, and he came out with those words.

Xiao Longnu heard his sincere words, although he spoke with a childish tone, she was touched nonetheless.

Yang Guo finished kowtowing and picked himself up, his face full of glee.

Xiao Longnu said, "Why are you so pleased? My skills can't compare with Quanzhen's Qiu Chuji or your Uncle Guo."

Yang Guo said, "I don't care if they were even more skilled, you are really going to teach me kung fu."

Xiao Longnu said, "Actually there isn't much use in learning kung fu. It's just that there isn't much to do in the tomb, that's why I'm teaching you."

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, what's our sect called?"

Xiao Longnu said, "When our Ancestor came and lived in the tomb, she didn't have any contact with the Wulin world, our sect didn't have a name. Later my apprentice sister Li Mochou left and wandered around the world of Jianghu, others said she was a disciple from 'Gu Mu Pai' (Ancient Tomb sect), so let's call our sect the Ancient Tomb sect!"

Yang Guo shook his head, and said, "Ancient Tomb sect isn't a good name."

He had just entered the sect and found fault with the name, but Xiao Longnu wasn't too concerned and said, "Does it matter if the name is good or not? Wait here for me; I'm going outside for a while."

Yang Guo remembered that he would be on his own in the tomb and became scared and said, "Gu Gu, I'll go with you."

Xiao Longnu looked at him and said, "You said you'll obey for eternity, my first order and you don't listen?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm scared."

Xiao Longnu said, "You are a man, what is there to be afraid of? You said you were going to help me get rid of bad people."

Yang Guo thought for a while and said, "Fine, come back quickly."

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "I can't be certain how long I'll be; I don't know if I can catch them so quickly."

Yang Guo said, "Catch what?" Xiao Longnu didn't reply and walked away.

As soon as she left, there wasn't a sound in the tomb. Yang Guo wondered what on earth she's going to catch. She said she will never leave Mount Zhongnan, which means she was going to catch a Quanzhen Taoist, but who could it be. After capturing him I'll torture him for a while, that'll be fun; but Gu Gu is by herself, she might be in danger. He thought wildly for a while, and then exited the hall and headed west in the passageways. After ten or so steps, it was pitch black in front of his eyes. He was afraid that he was going to get lost, he touched the wall and made his way back but after twenty steps or so he lost the light of the main hall. He was afraid, and walked forward faster. He had originally been on the wrong path, but as he carried on, he became even more lost. He ran faster and faster, he crashed into the east and bumped into the west, but felt that there were paths everywhere; he was never going to reach the main hall again. He then loudly called out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu, save me quickly." The echo resonated for a while before disappearing.

He ran around again for a while, but then felt the ground was damp, his foot had stepped into some mud. He wasn't on the level of the tomb but had run into one of the passageways underground; he was scared and thought, "If I got lost in the tomb, Gu Gu will be able to find me. Now that I'm running around, she won't be able to find me, and when she finds out I escaped she will be very upset." He didn't dare run around anymore; he felt out a stone and sat down, he wanted to cry out but he couldn't.

He sat there for over an hour when he suddenly heard the faint calls of "Guo'er, Guo'er!" Yang Guo was delighted and quickly got up and shouted, "Gu Gu, I'm over here!" The calls of "Guo'er, Guo'er" became fainter. Yang Guo was in a rush and shouted at the top of his voice, "I'm over here!" After a while, he didn't hear anything, when suddenly he felt his ear being tugged, someone was pulling on his ear.

At first he was alarmed but now he was pleased and shouted out, "Gu Gu, you've come, how come I didn't notice anything?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Why are you here?"

Yang Guo said, "I took a wrong turn."

Xiao Longnu sighed and took his hand and walked, though it was pitch black, it was as if she was under the sun, she went around corners and changed paths, she walked extremely fast.

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, how can you see in here?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I grew up here in the darkness, so I don't need any light."

Yang Guo had sat there for over an hour and was frightened and regretful, now that he was rescued, he was delighted but he didn't know what to say.

After a while, Xiao Longnu took him to the main hall again. Yang Guo sighed and said, "Gu Gu, just now I was really worried."

Xiao Longnu said, "Worried about what? I'd eventually find you."

Yang Guo said, "I'm not worried about that, I was afraid that you might have thought that I had escaped and become sad."

Xiao Longnu said, "If you did escape, I wouldn't be able to keep the promise I made to Grandma Sun, what is so sad about that?"

Yang Guo heard this and knew there was no use, and said, "Gu Gu, you've caught it then?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I've caught them."

Yang Guo said, "Why did you go and catch them?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I caught them so you can start learning kung fu. Follow me!"

Yang Guo thought, "So she has caught a Taoist to fight with me; that will be interesting. It will be best if she caught that Zhao Zhijing; after being taken care of by Gu Gu, he will have to endure my punches and kicks without being able to retaliate, that'll be great fun." As he followed Xiao Longnu, the more he thought about it, the happier he was.

Xiao Longnu turned a few bends, pushed open a door, and entered a chamber lit with candles. The room was small; it was difficult to turn around with the two of them in there. The ceiling was low, and if Xiao Longnu stretched out her arm she would be able to touch the ceiling. Yang Guo didn't see any Taoists; he was slightly disappointed and asked, "Where is the Taoist you caught?"

Xiao Longnu said, "What Taoist?"

Yang Guo said, "Didn't you say you were going to catch some people to help me practice kung fu?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Who said anything about people? It's in there." She went over the corner of the room and picked up a bag; she untied the bag and tipped it upside down, three sparrows flew out.

Yang Guo thought, "Oh, so Gu Gu went out to catch some sparrows."

Xiao Longnu said, "Catch the three sparrows and give them to me. You mustn't harm their wings or claws."

Yang Guo said, "Fine!" He threw himself forward to catch them. But the sparrows were swift and quick; they flew to the west and darted to east. Yang Guo was out of breath, his head covered with sweat, yet he couldn't even touch a feather of theirs.

Xiao Longnu said, "You won't catch them like that, I'll teach you a way." She then taught him the technique to jump high and dart low, and the ability to catch things quickly. Yang Guo had realized that she caught the sparrows to teach him kung fu; he made sure he remembered this. Although he understood the formulae and method, it wasn't easy to use it straight away. Xiao Longnu let him practice, and left the room.

On the first day Yang Guo wasn't able to catch one. After supper he practiced on the Chilled Jade Bed. On the second day, he could jump higher than before, and his arm movements were much quicker. On the fifth day he eventually managed to catch one. Yang Guo was excited and quickly told Xiao Longnu. He couldn't guess that she wouldn't have any words of praise or encouragement. She calmly said, "What use is catching one; you must catch all three."

Yang Guo said, "I've already caught one, how hard could it be to catch all three?" He was mistaken; he tried for two days but wasn't able to catch them. Xiao Longnu saw that the sparrows were tired, so she fed them and then let them fly off. She then caught another three for him to practice with. By the eighth day, Yang Guo managed to catch all the sparrows in one go.

Xiao Longnu said, "It's time to go up to Chongyang Palace."

Yang Guo was alarmed and said, "Why?"

Xiao Longnu didn't reply and took him out of the tomb. Yang Guo had not seen daylight in seven days, when he was in the daylight again, he struggled to open his eyes. The two of them arrived at Chongyang Palace. Yang Guo was worried, he kept on glancing at Xiao Longnu but she was expressionless, he couldn't tell what she was thinking. Then he heard her call out in a clear voice, "Zhao Zhijing, come out quickly."

When they arrived at Chongyang Palace, there were people who had gone in and gave the message of their arrival. After she finished speaking, out came tens of Taoists. Two young Taoists supported Zhao Zhijing, his face was haggard, his eyes deep, he had no way of standing up by himself. When the Taoists saw the two of them, they all held their weapons tightly and angrily glared at them.

End of Chapter 5.

Chapter 6 - The Jade Heart Manual

Translated by Noodles

Xiao Long Nu's pair of delicate hands flew out, checking and tapping; the eighty-one sparrows were all kept within a meter of her. Her arms were as if there were engaged in a flying dance, her palms formed a thousand hands and a thousand palms, no matter how hard the sparrows tried to fly away, they couldn't escape from the boundary of her palms.

Xiao Longnu took out a container from her pocket and placed it in your Yang Guo's hand and loudly said, "This is the antidote to the Jade Bee stings, give it to Zhao Zhijing."

When Yang Guo saw Zhao Zhijing, he ground his teeth in fury, but he didn't want to disobey Xiao Longnu so he quickly walked up to Zhao Zhijing and placed the bottle down heavily in front of him. When the Taoists heard that Xiao Longnu had returned to the palace, they thought that she had come back to avenge Grandma Sun, they put up their guard and quickly told Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and the other elders the news, but they didn't guess that she had come back to bring the antidote, they were startled and could not think of anything to say.

After Yang Guo put down the bottle, he looked at Zhao Zhijing, a vicious expression was on his face; he turned around and walked away.

When Lu Qingdu saw Yang Guo, his blood began to boil, and shouted out, "Little punk, you've been kicked out of our sect, why have you come back?"

The day the "Toad Stance" struck him, he lost his breath, but because Yang Guo's internal energy was shallow, he wasn't seriously hurt. After a few restoring palms by Qiu Chuji and a few days rest, he recovered. Now, he immediately dashed out, wanting to avenge that day's push.

Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'Er, if you want, fight back."

Yang Guo heard footsteps behind him, and heard the wind of a palm, someone was aiming for his neck. In the Tomb of the Living Dead he had slept on the Chilled Jade bed for eight days, and practiced eight days of sparrow catching techniques. Although Xiao Longnu only taught him how to catch sparrows, the Ancient Tomb's lightness kung fu is outstanding, his skills today and that day in the arena were completely different. He didn't move backwards or forwards, and waited for Lu Qingdu's hand to arrive; he crouched down and darted out of the way, and tugged on the sleeve of that hand. Lu Qingdu could not believe that in just a few days, his lightness kung fu had increased dramatically. Influenced by anger he had acted without thinking about the enemy. He had quickly dashed out, his body inclined, his legs unsteady and after being tugged by Yang Guo, he fell down heavily onto the ground.

By the time he picked himself back up, Yang Guo had already hurried to Xiao Longnu's side. Lu Qingdu shouted and cursed, and wanted to go after him. Suddenly a Taoist hurried out from the crowd, grabbed his arm, and pulled him back. When Lu Qingdu was grabbed, he froze, he looked up to see Martial Uncle Yin Zhiping; he cursed under his breath and retreated.

Yin Zhiping called out clearly; "Thank you Miss Long for the antidote." He bowed down and greeted her.

Xiao Longnu didn't take any notice and held Yang Guo's hand and said, "Let's go."

Yin Zhiping said, "Miss Long, Yang Guo is a disciple of the Quanzhen and you insist on taking him away. How can we resolve this?"

Xiao Longnu was startled and said, "I don't want to hear annoying words." She held Yang Guo's arm and went back into the forest. Yin Zhiping, Zhao Zhijing and the other Taoist stood there startled.

The two went back into the tomb. Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'Er, your kung fu has improved, but you tripping the fat Taoist was wrong."

Yang Guo said, "That fat Taoist beat me up badly last time, it's a pity that I wasn't able to get some punches in. Gu Gu, why shouldn't I trip him?"

Xiao Longnu said, "It's not that you shouldn't trip him, it's the way you did it that was wrong. You shouldn't have pulled him to the ground, you shouldn't have raised your hands to make him fall, but let him fall by himself."

Yang Guo was pleased, and said, "That's a fun method, Gu Gu, teach me."

Xiao Longnu said, "I'll be Guo'Er, you'll be the fat Taoist, come and catch me." She then walked forward slowly.

Yang Guo laughed as he went to catch her. It was as if Xiao Longnu had eyes in the back of her head, when Yang Guo ran fast, her steps were fast, when he slowed down, she slowed down, the distance between she and Yang Guo stayed at around a meter.

Yang Guo said, "I'm going to catch you now!" He threw himself forward, Xiao Longnu didn't move. Yang Guo saw that his hands were going to grab her shoulders, but his hands grasped thin air as Xiao Longnu darted backwards, escaping his clutches. Yang Guo quickly turned around to try to catch her, but this move was rushed, he used a force opposite to his momentum, his legs became unsteady, he looked at the ceiling as he fell to the floor and his back ached.

Xiao Longnu took him by the right hand and pulled him up. Yang Guo said, "How come you are so fast?"

Xiao Longnu said, "If you catch sparrows for a year, then you can do this as well."

Yang Guo said, "I've caught them already."

Xiao Longnu chuckled and said, "That counts as catching sparrows? How can our sect's kung fu be learned so easily? Follow me." She then led him to another room. This room was larger than the room where Yang Guo first practiced catching sparrows, at least twice the size. There were six sparrows in this room. This room was larger than before; catching the sparrows will be more difficult. Xiao Longnu passed on some more lightness kung fu and catching techniques to him, eight or nine days later Yang Guo was able to catch the six sparrows in one go.

After that, the stone chambers became larger and larger, the number of sparrows also increased, eventually he moved to the main hall, with eighty-one sparrows.

The Ancient Tomb sect's formulae for internal energy were wondrous, the Chilled Jade Bed's ability to enhance internal energy cultivation was incredible, in just three months, Yang Guo could catch all eighty-one sparrows in one go. Xiao Longnu was pleased with his rapid progress, and said, "We will now go outside and catch sparrows."

Yang Guo had lived in the tomb for three months, and was becoming slightly restless, when he heard that he was going outside to practice, his expression changed to one of delight.

Xiao Longnu said, "What is there to be pleased about? This kung fu is hard to master. There are eighty-one sparrows, you must not let one go."

The two arrived outside. It was March, on the eve of spring. In front of them was a deep green forest, Yang Guo breathed in deeply, and the fragrance of flowers and grasses flowed into his lungs, it was extremely relaxing.

Xiao Longnu opened the bag, the sparrows flew out, then, her pair of delicate hands flew out, checking to the west, and tapping in the east, and forced the sparrows that had flew out to return. The flock of sparrows suddenly got their freedom back, how come they didn't all scatter everywhere? It was strange but Xiao Longnu was checking and tapping, the eighty-one sparrows were all kept within a meter of her. Her arms were as if they were engaged in a flying dance, her palms formed a thousand hands and a thousand palms, no matter how hard the sparrows tried to fly away, they couldn't escape from the boundary of her palms.

Yang Guo looked on with his mouth open. He was startled and pleasantly surprised; he pulled himself together and thought, "Gu Gu is teaching me a wondrous palm technique. Quickly concentrate." He studied her hand movements, how she attacked and how she took her palms back. Her palm technique was extremely quick, but each and every palm was clear, forming the different stances. Yang Guo studied them for over half an hour, although he didn't understand completely the essence of the palms, he understood a bit more than he did at the start.

Xiao Longnu demonstrated the palms again, then she separated her palms and placed them behind her back, the sparrows suddenly flew up towards the sky. Xiao Longnu waved her long sleeves, the two gust of wind from the sleeve pushed out, the sparrows were all pushed back, after much screeching, they beat their wings again to fly away.

Yang Guo was delighted; he tugged her sleeve and said, "Gu Gu, I don't think even Uncle Guo could do that."

Xiao Longnu said, "This set of palms is called the "Force of Nets Above and Snares Below" (tian luo di wang shi), it is one of the Ancient Tomb sect's foundation skills. Work hard and learn it!" She then taught him the stances of the palms; Yang Guo remembered all of them. Within ten days, Yang Guo learned all eighty-one stances of the "Force of Nets Above and Snares Below", and made more progress in his skills.

Xiao Longnu caught a sparrow, and told Yang Guo to prevent its' escape with his palms. At first he could only repel the escape two or three times before the sparrow escaped through the spaces in his hands. Xiao Longnu was standing to the side, she stretched out her hand and sent the sparrow back. Yang Guo continued with his palms, but because his palms weren't fast enough, in just two or three stances again the sparrow flew away. Xiao Longnu again forced the sparrow back so Yang Guo could practice again.

He continued practicing, spring turned to summer, and he advanced his skills a little further. Yang Guo was naturally gifted, and he worked tirelessly, his palm skills kept on improving, by mid autumn, he had mastered this set of "Force of Nets Above and Snares Below". When he used the palm skills he was now able to keep the eight-one sparrows under his control. However, because his internal energy wasn't refined enough, there were times where there were gaps in his stances and he allowed the birds to escape and so he wasn't able to do it all in one go.

That day Xiao Longnu said, "Now that you've completed this set of palms, when you meet that fat Taoist you'll be able to trip him up a few times without using any effort."

Yang Guo said, "What if I fight with Zhao Zhijing?"

Xiao Longnu didn't reply and thought, "When Zhao Zhijing fought Grandma Sun, if he wasn't poisoned, Grandma Sun may not have won. At the moment, your skills can not compare with his.”

Yang Guo knew what she was thinking when she didn't reply and said, “It doesn't matter if I can't beat him now, in a few years I'll be able to beat him. Gu Gu, our Ancient Tomb sect's skills are better than Quanzhen's, aren't they?”

Xiao Longnu looked up at the ceiling and said, “On this earth, only you and I believe that. When I fought with that Quanzhen Taoist named Qiu, I couldn't beat him, but this isn't because our Ancient Tomb's skills cannot compete with Quanzhen's, it's because I have yet to complete our sect's most refined kung fu.”

Yang Guo had believed all along that Xiao Longnu's skills exceeded Qiu Chuji's, when he heard about this he was curious and said, “Gu Gu, what is this skill? Is it hard to learn? Why don't you practice it again?”

Xiao Longnu said, “I'll tell you a story, then you'll understand our sect's origins. Before you kowtowed to me as your Master, you also kowtowed to our Ancestor. Her surname was Lin, her first name Chaoying, years ago; the two most skilled fighters were our Ancestor and Wang Chongyang. Originally, it was hard to decide who was better, later on Wang Chongyang was busy fighting the Jin, he was occupied night and day; our Ancestor concentrated on her martial arts and eventually became a level higher than him. But our Ancestor did not meddle in the affairs of Wulin, she didn't like showing off, and so hardly anyone in the world of Jianghu knew who she was. Eventually, Wang Chongyang failed in his quest to repel the Jin and resided in the Tomb of the Living Dead; he had nothing to do and refined his martial arts. Our Ancestor wasn't feeling well, and had two serious illnesses, so by the time Wang Chongyang left the tomb our Ancestor was below him again. Eventually the two dueled and made a bet, Wang Chongyang admitted defeat to our Ancestor, and gave the tomb to her. Come, I'll show the things that the two left behind."

Yang Guo clapped and said, "So this stone tomb was taken out of Wang Chongyang's hands by our Ancestor Grandma. If I had known earlier, I would have been even more pleased with living in the tomb."

Xiao Longnu smiled slightly, and took him to another chamber. Yang Guo saw that the room was extremely strange, it was narrow at the front and wide at the back, the east side was a semi circle, the west side was triangular, and he asked, "Gu Gu, why is this room so strange looking?"

Xiao Longnu said, "This is the room where Wang Chongyang refined his skills, at the front he practiced his palms, at the back he practiced his fists, at the east side he practiced with swords and the west side he practiced projectiles."

Yang Guo looked around the room but didn't find anything special about it.

Xiao Longnu stretched out her hand and pointed upwards and said, "The essence and core of Wang Chongyang's skills is up here."

Yang Guo looked up, but all he saw were some markings and scribbles, they were made by projectiles, some were deep and some were shallow, how could you pick up the essence from that?

Xiao Longnu went over to the east side and pushed an arc a few times, a large stone slowly moved across, revealing a door. She held a wax candle and told Yang Guo to enter. It was another room. It looked like the previous room but it was the complete opposite. The front was wide and the back was narrow, the west side was round and the east triangular. Yang

Guo looked up, and again the ceiling was marked in carvings and symbols.

Xiao Longnu said, "Those are the kung fu left by our Ancestor. She used her intelligence to win the tomb, had she used her martial arts, she would have lost to Wang Chongyang. After she moved into the tomb, she discovered the martial arts skills left by Wang Chongyang. Then she painstakingly developed a set of skills to counter all the skills left by Wang Chongyang. It's all marked down here."

Yang Guo was delighted and said, "That's great. Even if Qiu Chuji, Hao Datong and the rest of them have high skills, they could not be better than Wang Chongyang. All you've got to do is practice the skills left by our Ancestor and you'll be able to beat all the Taoists."

Xiao Longnu said, "You are correct, but it's a pity that there isn't anyone to help me."

Yang Guo said, "I'll help you."

Xiao Longnu glanced at him and said, "It's a pity that your skills aren't good enough." Yang Guo blushed and was embarrassed.

Xiao Longnu said, "The skill that Ancestor Grandma left is called the "Jade Heart Manual", it requires two people to practice it, mutually helping each other. Back then, Ancestor Grandma practiced it with my teacher. Ancestor Grandma had not practiced for long before she passed away, my master did not complete it."

Yang Guo suddenly became delighted again and said, "I'm your disciple, we could learn it together."

Xiao Longnu said, "Yes! Let's take a look. The first step, you have to learn our sect's skills. The second step is to learn the skills of Quanzhen sect. The third step is to learn the skill that counters Quanzhen sect's skills, the "Jade Heart Manual". When my master passed away, I was fourteen years old. I have learned all our sect's skills, and had just started to practice Quanzhen's martial arts; there is no need to talk about the "Jade Heart Manual". The first step I can teach you, the second and third steps we'll study and practice together."

From that day on, Xiao Longnu passed on all the martial arts of the Ancient Tomb sect to him; palm skills, fist techniques, projectile throwing and weapon stances. After two years, Yang Guo learned it all, plus with the help of the Chilled Jade Bed, his progress was amazing, but his internal energy was not developed as much. A woman developed the Ancient Tomb sect's skills, and the three generations have been women, it was unavoidable that the skills were of a soft nature, the hardness was inadequate. Yang Guo was impatient and rash; the way his skills developed reflected this.

Xiao Longnu had grown slightly older, and became even more beautiful. That year, Yang Guo was sixteen, he became taller, his voice broke, and was now a teenager. He was completely different from boy that first entered the tomb, but Xiao Longnu still looked upon him as the child that first came here. Yang Guo was becoming more and more respectful of his master. In these two years he had curbed his rebellious nature. Before Xiao Longnu opened her mouth to tell him what to do, he had already completed it. But Xiao Longnu's cold and emotionless persona did not change, she didn't casually smile at him, she was detached, she did not show any sign of caring for a loved one. Yang Guo did not mind though. Sometimes Xiao Longnu would play the zither, the music from it was peaceful and serene. Yang Guo would listen quietly by her side.

One day Xiao Longnu said, "You have already learned all of the Ancient Tomb's kung fu, tomorrow we'll learn Quanzhen's kung fu. It will not be easy, back then, even my master did not understand it all, and I of course understood even less. We'll learn from the beginning again, feel free to comment whenever you like."

The next day, the two of them went to the strange shaped room, and practiced according to the markings and symbols that Wang Chongyang left. Because Yang Guo's foundation was now strong, he was able to understand most of the points, and made rapid progress. But after the first ten days, though he practiced for many days instead of making progress he felt that he was going backwards, the more he practiced the worse it got. Xiao Longnu and he discussed this, and both felt there were some difficulties. Yang Guo was impatient and got in a blue mood.

Xiao Longnu said, "When my master and I learned Quanzhen's kung fu, after practicing for a while, we found it was difficult to make any sort of progress, and because Ancestor Grandma had passed away, we could not ask anyone. We didn't know the formulae to accompany it, and so we couldn't solve this problem. I once wanted to go and steal the formula from Quanzhen, and give it to master to study. This is all there is of this skill, it's only Quanzhen's skills, it's not too important if we can't learn it now. There is no need to be angry, there is a solution, all we got to do is go and capture a Quanzhen Taoist and force the formulae out of him, and then our problems will be solved. Let's leave."

These words suddenly awakened something in Yang Guo, and he remembered that Zhao Zhijing had taught him 'The Quanzhen Taoist Song'. 'When first practicing one must open the nine openings. The first originating from the back (wei luu) pressure point. First the spring flows from the bottom of the feet to the knee. Past the knee up to the back, the back's intent quickly reaching the peak. The Gold Lock passes under the Magpie Bridge, twelve palaces topple as it goes.” He then recited those words out loud.

Xiao Longnu listened to the meaning of the song and said, “It does sound like the important aspects of practicing Quanzhen’s kung fu. If you know more, that’ll be good.” So Yang Guo recited all the formulae that Zhao Zhijing had taught him. The formulae that Zhao Zhijing had taught him was the basics of Quanzhen’s advanced internal energy cultivation, but because he wasn’t taught how to use it, the ‘spring flows’, ‘twelve palaces’ and ‘backs intent’ were all words to him and he didn’t understand, so he just remembered it and didn’t use it.

Xiao Longnu was more experienced and pointed out the key points, and then Yang Guo understood immediately. Within a few months, the two managed to understand and grasp the essence of the skills that Wang Chongyang left on the ceiling.

One day, the two were in the room sparring with swords when Xiao Longnu sighed and said, “At first when I heard that Quanzhen’s martial arts were the most orthodox in the world, I didn’t think too much of it, but today, I know now Quanzhen’s kung fu is actually very profound. Although we have grasped the essence of these skills, if we wanted to learn it to a state where body and mind becomes one, I don’t know how many years and months it is going to take.”

Yang Guo said, “Although the skills of Quanzhen sect are refined, Ancestor Grandma did leave a way to counter their skills, the ability to beat them. That’s called each mountain has its own peak.”

Xiao Longnu said, “From tomorrow onwards, we will learn the “Jade Heart Manual”.

The next day, the two went to the second strange room, and practiced according to the markings left on the ceiling. It was much easier to learn than Quanzhen's skills, since the techniques were used to counter Wang Chongyang's and originated from her own kung fu. A few months passed, and the two had learned the external skills of the "Jade Heart Manual". Sometimes, Yang Guo would use Quanzhen Sword skills; Xiao Longnu would then use the Jade Sword skills to counter it. When Xiao Longnu used Quanzhen Sword techniques, he would use the Jade Sword techniques to neutralize it. The Jade Sword technique was indeed the Black Star (the neutralizing opposite) to Quanzhen's Sword techniques, every stance was designed to stop the attack of Quanzhen's Sword techniques, every step matched the other, every move restricted the opponent and predicted their next move, no matter what the user of Quanzhen Sword skills did, it could not break the confinement of the Jade Sword technique.

The external skills had now been learned; it was time to advance into learning the internal techniques. Quanzhen's internal energies were deep and profound, to invent a method to defeat Quanzhen's internal energies, how easy could that be?

Lin Chaoying's intelligence was unbeatable; she actually did find a way using unorthodox techniques. Xiao Longnu raised her head and looked at the symbols on the ceilings, she was deep in thought and didn't speak; she looked at it for days on end without saying a single word.

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, is it hard to learn?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I heard from master that the manual's internal energy requires two people to practice at the same time, but I know I will not be able to practice it with you."

Yang Guo was shocked and quickly said, "Why not?"

Xiao Longnu said, "If you were a girl, then we could."

Yang Guo said, "What is the difference? Aren't a boy and girl the same?"

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "No, not the same; look up at the ceiling, what kind of shapes are they?"

Yang Guo looked in the direction she pointed, and saw the ceiling was marked with countless forms of body shapes, there were about seventy or eighty of them, a closer look revealed that they were the shape of women, the bodies had lines going away from them. Yang Guo didn't understand and turned around to look at Xiao Longnu.

Xiao Longnu said, "The manual states, when practicing the whole body will emit heat, a spacious and deserted place is required; the body will need to be free of clothes to practice, this will enable the heat to disperse immediately. There mustn't be any obstructions, otherwise it will return to the body; a small consequence will be a serious illness, at worst the body will be destroyed."

Yang Guo said, "We'll take off our clothes to practice."

Xiao Long said, "Eventually, the two people will need to use their internal energy to protect the other, you are a boy and I am a girl, how can we do that with decency?"

Yang Guo had concentrated on practicing his kung fu for the last two years, and didn't take any notice of the difference in sex between him and his master. He felt there was nothing wrong with taking off their clothes and facing each other to practice the manual; he couldn't see what exactly was wrong with this. Xiao Longnu was now twenty years old and has lived in the tomb ever since she was small; she didn't know anything about the outside world. One of the important points of her sect's kung fu is to purge your emotions.

Although the two were of different sexes and faced each other night and day, one was cold and emotionless, the other was honest and respectful, so there weren't any formalities between them. But now when they were talking about taking their clothes off to practice, she felt awkward and didn't agree with his viewpoint.

Yang Guo suddenly said, "I've got it! We could practice on the Chilled Jade Bed."

Xiao Longnu said, "We mustn't. The heat will be drawn back by the coolness of the bed, after practicing for a few days, we both would be dead."

Yang Guo thought for half an hour and asked, "Why do you need two people to practice it? We could practice it by ourselves, if I don't understand anything, can't I ask you later?"

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "It won't work. With this type of internal energy, every step is extremely dangerous and you will go wrong at certain points. If there isn't anyone to help you, you will fire deviate; only if we mutually aid each other can we pass the dangerous phases."

Yang Guo said, "Learning this type of internal energy is indeed troublesome."

Xiao Longnu said, "If we master the external techniques, we will be able to beat the Taoists. We aren't really going to fight with the Taoists, so even if we can't beat them, so what?"

Yang Guo heard his master's words and agreed, and didn't keep the matter to heart.

One day after finishing practicing his kung fu, he went out of the tomb to forage for food. After a while, he chased after a grey rabbit; the rabbit dodged west and darted east, its agility was not like a normal rabbit's. Yang Guo's lightness kung fu was proficient, but he couldn't catch it. He was surprised but he didn't want to use a projectile to hit it; he wanted to chase after it with his lightness kung fu until the rabbit couldn't run anymore. The boy and rabbit ran faster and further away. As they went on, the rabbit turned into a treed enclosure in the mountain, and suddenly darted into a thicket of red flowers. The thickets were tens of feet wide, the layers close together; a fragrant scent was produced from them. He went around the thickets, but the rabbit had long disappeared. Yang Guo had chased the rabbit for half a day; but he liked living things, if he had caught up with it he would have let it go, so if he didn't catch it, it didn't matter. Yang Guo looked at the thickets; they had red flowers and green branches, and were beautiful to look at. Surrounding them were low hanging branches that hid them, forming a natural room made of flowers and a house made of trees. Yang Guo thought for while, and quickly hurried back and got Xiao Longnu to take a look.

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "I don't like flowers, if you like it, you can play here."

Yang Guo said, "No, Gu Gu this is a good place to practice martial arts, you go on one side, I'll be on the other. When we take off our clothes, we won't be able to see each other. Isn't that a good idea?"

Xiao Longnu heard this and thought it made sense. She leaped up onto a tree and looked around, all she could hear was the sound of a spring flowing and birds chirping; it was peaceful and serene all around, and there wasn't any trace of human activity. It was a good place to practice martial arts, and so she said, "It was lucky that you found this place, we'll come here tonight and practice."

That night, the two of them delved deep into the enclosure. In the still of the night, the flowers were even more fragrant.

Xiao Longnu then recited the formulae to practice the internal energy of the “Jade Heart Manual”. Yang Guo made sure he understood the intricacies of the manual, and the two went either side of the thickets and took their clothes off, and started practicing. Yang Guo’s left arm went through the thicket, and met with Xiao Longnu’s right palm, if either came up with difficulties during the practice; the other will notice and immediately circulate their chi to help them.

The two then used the night for work, and the day for rest. It was summer; the night was cool when they practiced; after two months of practicing there were no problems. The “Jade Heart Manual” was divided into nine sections, one night, Xiao long Nu had reached the seventh level, and Yang Guo the sixth. That night, the two were practicing their own levels, their body emitted great heat, and the scent of the flowers was carried in the heat, and was even more aromatic. Gradually the moon moved into the middle of the sky, another half an hour and the two will have finished completing their respective levels. Suddenly the sound of footsteps and people talking came from some distance away; two people were talking and coming closer.

On the odd levels of the “Jade Heart Manual” the practitioner has to ‘Yin Jin’ (forcing yin to the limit), the person on the even levels has to ‘Yang Tui’ (Drawing back the yang). Yang Guo was practicing the ‘Yang Tui’ techniques, and could rest at any time, but Xiao Longnu was practicing the ‘Yin Jin’ technique, which had to be completed in one go without the slightest pause. Right now she was at the most important phase of the technique, and ignored the sounds of speaking and footsteps.

Yang Guo heard this clearly, he was alarmed, and forced the chi that was in his ‘dan tian’ out of his body, and breathed in three times and stopped practicing. He heard the two people gradually getting closer, their voices seemed familiar; one of them was his previous master Zhao Zhijing, the other Yin Zhiping. The voices became louder as they went on, the two were arguing.

He heard Zhao Zhijing say, "Apprentice brother Yin, there is no point in denying it. I'll go and tell Martial Uncle Qiu, and let him judge."

Yin Zhiping said, "You keep on pressing me, what do you want? You think I don't know? You want to become the head of the third generation students, so in the future you can become the sect's leader."

Zhao Zhijing chuckled and said, "You don't keep to the rules. Now that you've broken one of sect's rules, how can you be the head of the third generation disciples?"

Yin Zhiping said, "What have I done wrong?"

Zhao Zhijing scolded, "The fourth rule of Quanzhen sect, wanton!"

Yang Guo hid in the thicket and peeped out, and saw the two Taoists standing facing each other. Yin Zhiping's face was pale, under the moonlight it was colorless, and he said deeply, "What wanton crime?" As he said these words he reached for the handle of his sword.

Zhao Zhijing said, "Ever since you saw that Xiao Longnu from the Tomb of the Living Dead, you daydream all the time. You have thought about taking Xiao Longnu many, many times and doing unspeakable things to her. Our sect aims to bring enlightenment, but with these thoughts, how have you not broken the 'wanton' rule?"

Yang Guo respected his master very much, when he heard those words from Zhao Zhijing, he was furious, and hated the two Taoists even more.

He heard Yin Zhiping tremulously saying, "What rubbish; just how could you know what I think?"

Zhao Zhijing chuckled and said, "The thoughts in your heart, of course I don't know them, but when you mumble in your sleep, is there anyone to hear it? When you write Xiao Longnu's name repeatedly, is there anyone to see it?"

Yin Zhiping shuddered twice, and didn't say anything.

Zhao Zhijing looked smug, and took out a piece of paper from his sleeve and waved it around and said, "Isn't this your handwriting? I'll show this to our leader Martial Uncle Ma and your master Martial Uncle Qiu."

Yin Zhiping couldn't endure this anymore, and drew out his sword with a shout and thrust out. Zhao Zhijing leaned to the side to avoid it, and put the piece of paper in his sleeve and laughed, "You want to kill me and shut my mouth? I'm afraid it won't be easy."

Yin Zhiping didn't say a word and thrust out his sword three times, but each thrust was avoided. By the fourth thrust, a sound was made as Zhao Zhijing drew out his own sword, and fought with him by the thicket of red flowers. The two of them were the highest skilled fighters of Quanzhen's third generation, one, Yin Zhiping, was Qiu Chuji's finest disciple, and the other, Zhao Zhijing, was the head disciple of Wang Chuyi. Yin Zhiping clenched his teeth and fought with his life, within the exchange of moves, Zhao Zhijing would say a few sarcastic words, angering his opponent into making mistakes. Yin Zhiping had the highest martial arts amongst Qiu Chuji's disciples, however in the recent years Yin Zhiping has placed Taoist cultivation above martial arts. Hence, his younger martial arts brother Yin Zhiping and Wang Chuyi's head disciple, Zhao Zhijing, have surpassed Yin Zhiping in the field of martial arts. Yin Zhiping often retreated to contemplate Taoist philosophies and meditation and had expressed no interest in leadership. Zhao Zhijing had the highest martial arts of the entire third generation disciples. The Six Masters of Quanzhen intended to appoint him as the leading disciple of the third generation. However, he made two enormous errors; one was leading the Big Dipper Formation against Guo Jing instead of Huo Du and his men. As result a portion of the Chongyang Palace was burnt down. His second error was mistreating Yang Guo, which angered the six masters. As result they felt that Zhao Zhijing's martial arts may be good, but he does not have the talent to lead. So after much deliberating the Six Masters agreed to appoint Yin Zhiping as the leading disciple of the third generation.

Yang Guo had learned all the stances of Quanzhen's Sword skills, and saw them fight, attacking and defending, though the stances were quick and changes numerous, he saw through all of it and thought how his Gu Gu had indeed taught him correctly. He saw them struggle for tens of stances; Yin Zhiping had used all his attacking stances as Zhao Zhijing kept on moving. He chuckled, "I have learned all that you have learned, and you have learned all that I have learned. You want to kill me? You're dreaming." He defended smoothly, Yin Zhiping had used all his strength but each stance was blocked. After a while, he saw that the two was getting closer to Xiao Longnu, Yang Guo was alarmed and thought, "If they two fight until they get to Gu Gu, it would be terrible!"

Suddenly Zhao Zhijing counterattacked, and forced Yin Zhiping back. He quickly sent out three stances, Yin Zhiping moved back three steps. When Yang Guo saw the two getting further away from his master, he was pleased, but suddenly Yin Zhiping handed his sword over to his left hand and sent out a palm, aiming for the chest.

Zhao Zhijing laughed and said, "Even if you've got three hands, you've only got the ability to be a petty thief, you can't kill me." He then sent out his left palm to meet it. The two exchanged sword stances and palms, and the struggle became fiercer.

Xiao Longnu was concentrating, and ignored everything that was around her. When the two took a few steps closer, Yang Guo became worried; when they took a few steps further away he relaxed a bit.

After a while, Yin Zhiping suddenly called out and attacked, he ignored the opponent's sword and just rushed forward. Zhao Zhijing thought about it, and knew that he had nothing to lose, if he killed him, then he wouldn't be able to blackmail him. Although the two weren't on friendly terms, he had no intent in killing him, and after a while, he was on the way to losing. After a number of moves, Yin Zhiping then thrust out his sword, threw out a palm and his left leg swept out, it was Quanzhen's "Three Circulations". Zhao Zhijing leapt up ten feet, and swung his sword down. Yin Zhiping threw his sword away, and threw himself at his opponent, a 'hei' sound was made by him as he threw out his two palms. Yang Guo saw that the last few stances were ruthless, it wasn't how he knew them to be, he broke out in a cold sweat, he saw Zhao Zhijing's body in midair, one was yielding, one was firm, it looked like the two palms were aiming to break his bones. How it could be that in this urgent and dangerous situation, Zhao Zhijing managed to flip himself in midair, fly back a few meters and lightly land.

From the way he was going to land, it looked like he was going to land right in front of Xiao Longnu, Yang Guo was alarmed and had not time to think, he stood up, his left palm shot out from below his right palm, and pushed the back of Zhao Zhijing, a stance of "Bright Building Flinging the Ball" (cai lou pao qiu), he pushed out with strength, and hit him away about seven meters. Right now his internal energy wasn't developed enough, he had used an enormous amount of strength in this attack, all concentrated in his left arm, his lower body was weak, he could not stand up properly and his left foot stepped on a branch. The branch quickly rebounded back to its original position, and touched Xiao Longnu in the face. It was only a slight touch, but Xiao Longnu was greatly disturbed, she broke out in a sweat, at that time she was in the middle of rapidly circulating her chi and holding it in her 'dan tian', it didn't disperse and she fainted.

All of a sudden Yin Zhiping saw Yang Guo jump out, and saw the woman he has been thinking about hiding in the thicket, he froze, and didn't know whether this was real or an illusion. Zhao Zhijing had steadied himself by this time, and under the moonlight he was able to recognize Xiao Longnu's face. He said, "Ah, so she's here; and with a man!"

Yang Guo was alarmed and shouted out, "Don't go anywhere you two rotten Taoists, I'll come back and finish this." He saw Xiao Longnu had fallen onto the ground and was not moving. He remembered that he was told that when they were practicing they must stay together to help each other, if there were any disturbances a disaster would happen. Now Xiao Longnu had experienced a shock, she would have serious injuries; he was extremely frightened and touched her forehead. It was cold as ice; he quickly grabbed her clothes and covered her up. He picked her up and said, "Gu Gu, are you alright?" Xiao Longnu moaned but didn't say anything.

Yang Guo was slightly more relaxed and said, "Gu Gu, we'll go back to the tomb first, then I'll come back and kill the two Taoists." Xiao Longnu had no strength and lay limp in his arms. Yang Guo advanced in large steps, and went past the two Taoists. Yin Zhiping stood there like a statue.

Zhao Zhijing laughed and said, "Apprentice brother Yin, your dream lover and that man over there have just done dirty things; you want to kill me, you should kill him!” Yin Zhiping didn’t take any notice and didn’t reply.

Yang Guo heard the words ‘done dirty things’, although he didn’t know exactly what he meant, he knew it was an insult and he was furious. He lightly put Xiao Longnu down and rested her against a tree and took a branch in his hand, and pointed to Zhao Zhijing and shouted, “What rubbish are you talking about?”

Two years had passed, Yang Guo had changed from a small child to a tall young man, at first Zhao Zhijing didn’t know who he was, when he heard him a second time and saw his face under the moonlight, he recognized it was his disciple. He had been made to fall by him and was angry, he saw his body was exposed and shouted, “Yang Guo, so it’s you, you little bastard!”

Yang Guo said, “You can insult me, but why are you insulting my Gu Gu?”

Zhao Zhijing laughed and said, “Everyone knows the Ancient Tomb sect is a female sect, skills are only passed on to women and not men, all of them are pure and untouched virgins, but it’s a filthy sect, secretly hiding a man, doing these things in the open!”

Xiao Longnu had just wakened up and heard what he said, and was alarmed. Her chi had begun to flow normally but now it flowed the opposite way, her chi and air were both stimulated and she knew that she was suffering from internal injuries. She could only shout “You talk rubbish, we have not...” before she spat out blood violently from her mouth.

Yin Zhiping and Yang Guo were worried when they saw this, and both of them rushed closer.

Yin Zhiping said, "How are you?" and bent down to take a closer look at her injuries.

Yang Guo knew that he wanted to harm her and pushed him in the chest with his left hand. Yin Zhiping moved his palm to block it. Yang Guo was familiar with every stance of Quanzhen's kung fu, he turned his palm over and grabbed his wrist, he first pulled and then let go, and tossed him away.

At present, Yang Guo's kung fu could not actually compare with that of Yin Zhiping, and if Yang Guo fought with other sect's fighters who were of the same ability as Yin Zhiping he would definitely have lost. But years ago Lin Chaoying had invented techniques to counter Quanzhen's, every stance matched every stance. Since she invented these techniques they had never been used in practice, so Quanzhen's disciples do not know that there is a kung fu which is the 'Black Star' of theirs. Yang Guo now used it. Yin Zhiping was not prepared and wasn't concentrating, and didn't have any way to respond; although he didn't fall, he was flung over six meters and was standing next to Zhao Zhijing.

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, ignore them, I'll take you back to the tomb first."

Xiao Longnu struggled for air as she said, "No; kill those two so they can't...can't talk about me outside."

Yang Guo said, "Fine." He leapt out at them, his branch pointing at Zhao Zhijing's chest. Zhao Zhijing didn't care about Yang Guo and waved his sword, cutting down at his branch. He didn't know that Yang Guo was using the 'Black Star' of Quanzhen's sword skills; the branch swiveled past and struck the pressure point on Zhao Zhijing's wrist. Zhao Zhijing's wrist went numb, and he secretly cursed. Yang Guo's left hand chopped across, aiming for his left cheek, this was an extremely strange move, and it was the most unexpected. If Zhao Zhijing wanted to keep his sword, he would have to straighten his head and suffer the chop, if he wanted to avoid the chop, the sword will definitely be lost.

Zhao Zhijing was skilled, although he was in a precarious situation he kept calm, he let go of his sword and ducked his head, if he followed it with a left palm, he will be able to get his sword back in the blink of an eye. He could not have guessed that years ago Lin Chaoying had thought of how the enemy would react, and developed techniques to counter any changes, no matter how good, clever or lethal, any of highly skilled Quanzhen fighters were. Zhao Zhijing felt that he made the best decision possible, and would allow him to definitely gain victory from the jaws of defeat. But he didn't know that Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo had learned all the techniques that would counter their changes.

Yang Guo removed the enemy's weapon and saw his left palm move, and knew what he was going to do; he pushed the sword forward, aiming to pierce the opponent's wrist. Zhao Zhijing was alarmed and quickly moved his arm back. Yang Guo pointed the sword tip at his chest and shouted, "Get down!" as his left leg hooked out. Zhao Zhijing was afraid of being pierced and had to move, he was hooked and fell backwards. Yang Guo raised the sword, wanting to thrust at his stomach.

Suddenly, a wind came from behind him, a sword was approaching and someone shouted out, "You dare to kill your master?" That stance was to attack first and then allow him to rescue Zhao Zhijing, Yang Guo was in the middle of an angry attack but could still see what was happening, and he immediately parried it with his sword, the two swords clashed. Yin Zhiping saw that the sword was extremely fast and couldn't help from secretly praising it, and suddenly felt his sword going out of his control, sticking to the opponent's sword. Alarmed, he quickly circulated his chi to get it back.

His internal energy was profound, the two competed, and Yang Guo's sword was lead along. He didn't know that Yang Guo lured him into doing this, he held the sword for a split second before letting go, his arms straightened and he attacked the enemy's chest. At that point the sword handle rebounded up, two palms and a sword, the three of them with the same intent, even if Yin Zhiping's skills were higher, he would not be able to block this extremely strange attack.

At this time, Yin Zhiping could only throw away his sword and send out his own palms, he quickly put his hands across his chest to block this move, but because his arms were too bent, he could not put any strength in them. Yang Guo's internal energy wasn't high enough and wasn't able to break his arms with this move, but was still able to strike his chest painfully. Yin Zhiping's arms became numb; he moved back three steps and circulated his chi to protect the important pressure points in his chest. Zhao Zhijing got up. The two swords were in Yang Guo's hand, and he attacked both of them.

In just a few moves, the two of them were made to hurry around and scamper by a teenager; they were both afraid and angry and didn't dare be careless. The two of them stood up, and used their palms skills; they only defended and didn't attack. They wanted to find out more about their opponent's techniques before doing anything. Although Yang Guo had weapons to fight against his empty handed opponents, the two defended tightly, and weren't being beaten as badly as they were at the start. The "Jade Heart Manual's" sword techniques did not have any stances that countered Quanzhen's fists and kicks. Lin Chaoying wanted to defeat Wang Chongyang's techniques completely, she felt that using weapons to defeat his hand to hand combat techniques was unfair and below her so she did not give it any thought. That, plus the fact that the Taoists internal energy was well above Yang Guo's, and since all they cared about was to remain undefeated, Yang Guo's swipes and chops did not have much effect, and eventually he began to lose.

Zhao Zhijing's internal energy was profound; he kept incessantly producing palm winds that aimed at Yang Guo's sword.

Yin Zhiping stopped, and secretly thought that here they were, two seniors attacking a young boy, how ridiculous did they look? He saw that victory was in sight but worried about the safety of Xiao Longnu so he shouted, "Yang Guo, quickly take your Gu Gu away, what are you doing tangling with the two of us?"

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu hates you for talking rubbish, and told me that I must kill you."

Yin Zhiping sent out a palm that shook Yang Guo's sword in his left hand and then jumped left three steps and said, "Leave!"

Yang Guo said, "You want to escape?"

Yin Zhiping said, "Yang Guo, you want to kill us but that will not be possible; but your Gu Gu can relax, if the one named Yin reveals a single word about what happened today, I will immediately kill myself to apologize. If I don't do this" as he said this, he suddenly leapt towards Yang Guo and took the sword in his left hand and said, "then I'll be like these fingers!" He spread his left hand and cut down with his right, and cut the last two fingers off his hand.

Those few moves happened extremely quickly and Yang Guo wasn't prepared. He stopped and knew that he was sincere and thought, "It is indeed difficult to kill them both; why don't I first kill the one named Zhao and then come back and kill him."

He then shouted, "The one called Yin, what use is cutting off your fingers? If you cut off your head, then I'll believe you."

Yin Zhiping smiled and said, "If you want my life, all I need is a word from your Gu Gu, then why not?"

Yang Guo said, "Go!" He leapt forward two steps and suddenly thrust out behind him, straight at Zhao Zhijing's chest.

The move "Orchid Shoots Back" (mu lan hui she) was extremely ruthless, Zhao Zhijing was listening to what they were saying and never thought that he would suddenly ambush him, he was frightened. The tip of the sword pierced his stomach. Zhao Zhijing felt a slight pain, and immediately circulated his chi throughout his 'dan tian', and his stomach pulled back half an inch, he raised his right leg and kicked Yang Guo's sword out of his hand. Yang Guo didn't wait for his leg to come and down, and extended his finger and pointed at the pressure point on his knee. Although Zhao Zhijing had escaped with his life, he couldn't stand up, his right knee kneeling down in front of Yang Guo.

Yang Guo caught the descending sword and pointed at Zhao Zhijing and said, "I once kowtowed eight times to you as you were my master, now you are not my master anymore, give the eight kowtows back."

Zhao Zhijing had completed circulating his chi, his face became purple, almost becoming black. Yang Guo pressed the sword tip into his throat.

Zhao Zhijing shouted, "If you want to kill me, kill me, why are you talking so much?"

Yang Guo was about to thrust the sword forward when suddenly he heard Xiao Longnu say, "Guo'Er, killing your master is not auspicious, tell him to swear that he won't reveal today's events and let him go!" Yang Guo regarded Xiao Longnu's commands above all else, and after hearing what she said, he said, "Swear it."

Zhao Zhijing was angry, but his life was more important and said, "I won't say anything, what need is there to swear it?"

Yang Guo said, "That won't do. You must swear a venomous oath."

Zhao Zhijing said, "Fine, today's events will be kept between the four of us, if I reveal it to a fifth person, then let my name be in ruins, be expelled from my sect, everyone in Wulin will be against me, and I'll have a terrible death."

Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo did not know much about the world's matters and thought that he was really swearing a venomous oath."

Yin Zhiping heard that there was a hidden meaning in his oath and wanted to warn Yang Guo but felt that it wasn't right to help outsiders; he watched Yang Guo carrying Xiao Longnu, his steps extremely quick, and they disappeared around a bend in the mountain. His fingers hadn't stopped bleeding; he stood up bemused without stopping it.

Yang Guo carried Xiao Longnu back to the tomb and placed her on the Chilled Jade Bed.

Xiao Longnu sighed and said, "I'm seriously injured, how can I oppose the Chilled Jade Bed?"

Yang Guo said 'ah' and was alarmed, he secretly thought, "So Gu Gu's injury is very serious." He then carried her to her room. When she first let Yang Guo sleep on the Chilled Jade Bed, she slept in the same room as him; after about a year she moved into the next room. As soon as she arrived in her room, she spat out another pool of blood, and covered Yang Guo's exposed body. Yang Guo was so frightened that he couldn't move his arms and legs, and started to cry.

Xiao Longnu calmly laughed and said, "Now that I've spat out this blood, I won't throw up anymore, what is there to be sad about?"

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, don't die."

Xiao Longnu said, "You are afraid of dying aren't you?"

Yang Guo was startled and said, "Me?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Before I die, I will kill you first."

These same words were spoken two years ago, Yang Guo had forgotten them long ago, and didn't expect that she would bring it up again now.

Xiao Longnu saw that Yang Guo was astounded and said, "If I don't kill you, how will I be able to see Grandma Sun? Who will look after you if you are alone in the world?"

Yang Guo's mind was scrambled, and didn't know what to say.

Xiao Longnu had thrown up blood, but she looked fine as if nothing was wrong. Yang Guo thought of something, he quickly went to find a jar of Jade Bee honey and gave it to her to drink. The honey did have healing properties; after a while she slept on her bed. Yang Guo was able to relax, but he was worn down with worry, and wasn't able to endure anymore, he sat down and slept against the wall.

After some time, he felt someone cold against his throat, and was awakened. He has lived for a long time in the tomb, although he wasn't able to see things in the dark as clearly as Xiao Longnu could, he could still see things without the aid of candlelight. He opened his eyes, and saw Xiao Longnu sitting forward on the bed holding a sword, pointing at his throat. He was alarmed and said, "Gu Gu! You..."

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "Guo'Er, my injury won't get better, after I kill you we'll both see Grandma Sun together!"

Yang Guo quickly replied, "Gu Gu!"

Xiao Longnu said, "You are afraid, aren't you? It will be quick, one slash and that's it."

Yang Guo saw Xiao Longnu's eyes light up, and knew that she wanted to kill him immediately. He wanted to live, and didn't consider what will happen later, he rolled around and kicked out at Xiao Longnu's sword. Though Xiao Longnu's internal injuries were serious, she was still very swift, not slower than normal; she avoided his kick and pointed the sword at his throat again. Yang Guo used many different stances, but each one of them had been taught by Xiao Longnu so how would she not know what he would do? The sword moved swiftly, not leaving him by more than three inches.

Yang Guo was frightened; his body was covered with sweat. He thought, "If I don't want to die today, then I must kill Gu Gu."

In this urgent situation he pushed out his two palms, he took advantage of her not having any strength after her injury, her stances were refined but she did not have the internal energy to clash palms with him. Xiao Longnu knew what he was thinking, she slanted her body slightly and let his palms' power skim over her shoulders and called out, "Guo'Er, don't fight anymore!" Her sword extended out, the tip quivered a little, an incomparable stance in terms of mastery and exquisiteness was used, "Separating Flower Splitting Willow", shimmering to the left but moving to the right, and the sword pointed at Yang Guo's throat. She then circulated her remaining energy wanting to pierce his throat; but she saw his pleading eyes, and felt pain in her heart. At that instant, her eyes went blank, her body went limp, a 'dang lang' sound was made as the sword dropped to the floor, as Xiao Longnu fainted.

Had the sword been thrust forwards, Yang Guo would have died; he didn't know that she would faint at the most vital point. He stopped, wondering if he'd really escaped death, and quickly ran out of the tomb. The sun dazzled in his eyes, the light breeze blew his clothes, the scent of flowers was around him, birds sang in the trees, isn't this better than living in the tomb?

Yang Guo made his decision; he utilized his lightness kung fu and ran down the mountain, he became quicker as he ran, and by midday he was at the foot of the mountain. When he knew Xiao Longnu had not chased after him, he relaxed, and slowed his pace. After a while, his stomach growled. He had wandered the world of Jianghu ever since he was little; his ability to search for food was brilliant. He looked all around, and on the western slope, he saw a large field of corn, went over, and then picked five stalks. The corn wasn't ripe but it was still edible. He had a match and was about to light a fire to smoke the corn, when he suddenly heard footsteps behind him, someone was approaching.

Yang Guo first hid the corn in case a farmer had caught him in the act of stealing, and then peaked out. It was a Taoist priestess, dressed in apricot yellow, her steps were light and she was slowly advancing. A pair of swords hung on her back, a blood red tassel was tied to the handles, floating in the breeze. Yang Guo thought that this person must be a member of the Quanzhen sect, and was likely to be a disciple of Sun Bu'Er. Yang Guo was still slightly afraid and didn't want to cause any trouble so he looked down at a branch.

The Taoist priestess went up to him and asked, "Hey, point the way to Chongyang Palace?"

Yang Guo secretly thought, "If this girl is a disciple of Quanzhen, then how come she does not know the way up there? Something was wrong here." He then pointed to the mountain without looking around and said, "Just follow that main road."

The Taoist priestess saw that Yang Guo's upper body was uncovered, he was wearing a pair of old and worn trousers, and was here picking up firewood, and assumed that he was just a villager. She regarded herself as an attractive woman; any man that looked at her would stare at her without blinking for half an hour. This young boy just took a glance at her and didn't look back again, like if he was blind. She couldn't refrain from getting angry and suddenly thought, "What does a stupid villager like him know?" She then said, "Stand up; I have something to ask you."

Yang Guo hated everyone in the Quanzhen sect, so he pretended to be blind and dumb, and pretended not to hear.

The Taoist priestess said, "Foolish boy, you didn't hear what I said?"

Yang Guo said, "I heard, it's just that I don't want to stand."

When the Taoist priestess heard him she laughed and said, "Look at me, I told you to stand up!" Her voice in the last two sentences was soft, enchanting and sweet. Yang Guo shivered and thought, "Why does she speak so strangely." He looked up and saw her skin was smooth and white, her cheeks were red, her eyes were like staring into a pool of water, there didn't seem to be any evil intent; after looking at her again, he lowered his head.

The Taoist priestess saw that his expression had a childish air, though he did look at her for a second time, he wasn't moved. Instead of being angry she laughed, and thought, "It's just a kid who doesn't know anything." She took out two silver ingots [small boat/shoe shaped silver castings of a few ounces known as Yinzi] from her pockets, two 'ting' noises were heard as they collided with each other, she said, "Little brother, if you follow my instructions then I'll give these ingots to you."

Yang Guo originally didn't want to have anything do with her, but he heard that her words were suspicious and wanted to find out what she wanted so he pretended to be stupid, and looked at the ingots and said, "What use do those shiny rocks have?"

The Taoist priestess smiled and said, "It's money. If you want new clothes, chickens, rice, you could buy them with this."

Yang Guo put on a baffled expression and said, "You want to lie to me, I don't believe you."

The Taoist priestess laughed and said, "When have I lied to you? Hey, little kid, what is your name?"

Yang Guo said, "Everyone calls me 'Sha Dan' (Dumb Egg), don't you know that? What's your name?"

The Taoist priestess laughed and said, "Sha Dan, you can call me Angelic Priestess, where's your mother?"

Yang Guo said, "My mum just scolded me, and went over to the other side of the mountain to chop firewood."

The Taoist priestess said, "I need a hatchet, go to your home and get one, and then lend it to me."

Yang Guo was curious, he opened his eyes wide, drooled and made himself look even more like a stupid person, he shook his head incessantly and said, "I can't; I can't lend my family's hatchet. If dad finds out I'll be punished."

The Taoist priestess smiled and said, "When your parents see the money, they'll be too pleased to punish you." As she said this she passed an ingot in his direction. Yang Guo extended his hand to catch it, and then pretended to miss it, and let the ingot hit his shoulder and when it came down it hit his right foot, he held his right foot with his hands and hopped on his left foot and called out, "Ah, ah, you hit me! I'm going to tell mother!" He called and shouted; he ignored the ingot and ran forward.

The Taoist priestess thought that he was interesting, and smiled. She took off her belt, and waved it at his right foot. Yang Guo heard the wind sound and turned his head around, he was alarmed, and thought, "That's our Ancient Tomb sect's kung fu! Isn't she a disciple of Quanzhen?" He didn't dodge and let her belt wrap around his right leg, he fell on the ground and relaxed his body, letting her pull him towards her, and secretly feared, "Is she going up the mountain to attack Gu Gu?"

He thought about Xiao Longnu, he didn't know whether she was dead or alive, he was extremely worried about her. He made up his mind, even if he was going to die by her hand he needed to see her. As he was thinking he was pulled up to the Taoist priestess, she saw that although his face was covered with dirt, he was handsome, and thought, "This country hick is handsome, it's a pity that although the top is like a beautiful flower, the lower part is a pile of grass." She heard him shouting and calling out, making a commotion; she smiled and said, "Sha Dan, do you want to die or do you want to live?" She took out her sword and pointed at his chest.

Yang Guo saw that she used the stance “Flower from the Embroidery Pen” (jin bi sheng hua), it was a sword stance of the Ancient Tomb sect, he was perplexed, “This person is probably a disciple of Martial Uncle Li Mochou, and has come to find Gu Gu, she must have ill intentions, from her belt and sword stances her kung fu is good, I’ll keep on pretending to be dumb so she’ll be off guard.”

He put on a frightened expression and begged, “Xian Gu (Angelic Priestess), don’t...don’t kill me, I’ll listen to you.”

The Taoist priestess laughed and said, “Good, if you don’t listen to me I’ll kill you with one sword stroke.”

Yang Guo called out, “I’ll listen...I’ll listen.” The Taoist priestess waved her belt, and it returned to her waist, her expression was leisurely. Yang Guo quietly said, “Great!” but his face still had a blank expression. The Taoist priestess thought, “How could the stupid boy appreciate this skill? I might as well show it off in front of a blind man.” She said, “Quickly go home and get the hatchet.”

Yang Guo hurried to a nearby farmer’s house, he pretended to limp; his footsteps were heavy, strutting and staggering, appearing clumsy. The Taoist priestess saw he wasn’t a pleasant sight and shouted, “Don’t tell anyone, hurry.”

Yang Guo replied, “Okay!”

He quietly opened the door to the farmer’s house, and saw no one was inside, and assumed that they were working in the fields; from the wall he picked up a short hatchet that was used to chop firewood. He also took an old shirt from a rack and wore it, and then returned still carrying the dumb expression.

Although he was trying making a fool out of the Taoist priestess, he was worried about the safety of Xiao Longnu, and couldn't stop from having a burdened look on his face.

The Taoist priestess angrily said, "What's with the crying face? Quickly smile for me."

Yang Guo opened his mouth and laughed foolishly.

The Taoist priestess wrinkled her brows and said, "Follow me up the mountain."

Yang Guo quickly said, "I can't...I can't, mother told me not to run around."

The Taoist priestess shouted, "If you don't listen then I'll kill you immediately." She stretched out her left hand and held his ear, while her right hand raised her sword, as if she was about to slash down.

Yang Guo quickly blurted out, "I'll go...I'll go!"

The Taoist priestess thought, "That person is as stupid as a pig, just what I need." She then pulled on his sleeve and started up the mountain. Her lightness kung fu was not weak so naturally her steps were quick. Yang Guo kept on stumbling about, his left foot high, right foot low, he was far behind her and after a while he sat on a rock by the roadside, incessantly wiping away his sweat and was out of breath. The Taoist priestess ran on ahead.

Yang Guo said, "You run like a rabbit, how can I keep up?"

The Taoist priestess saw that the sun was in the west, she was troubled and impatient, she returned and grabbed his arm, and hurriedly went up the mountain.

Yang Guo couldn't keep up, his arms and legs were everywhere, and soon kicked her in the back of the leg.

The Taoist priestess shouted "Ai ya!" and angrily said, "Do you want to die?" But she saw that he was out of breath and extremely tired, so she stretched out her left hand and grabbed his waist and said, "Let's go!" She seized his body and headed up the mountain, she utilized her lightness kung fu, and in a few moments she had passed over many li.

As Yang Guo was being carried by her, he felt her soft body and smelled her feminine scent, he didn't waste an ounce of energy and let her carry him up the mountain. She hurried for a while and then looked down and saw a smile creep upon his face. He was looking very comfortable; she couldn't stop from being angry, loosened her arm, and tossed him on the ground and angrily shouted, "Are you feeling happy?"

Yang Guo rubbed his backside and called out, "Ai yo, ai yo, the Xian Gu hurt Sha Dan's backside."

The Taoist priestess was angry but was amused at the same time and said, "Why is your surname Sha (Foolish/Dumb)?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes, I'm called Sha Dan. Xian Gu, mother said my surname is not Sha; it's Zhang. Why is your surname Xian (Angel/Immortal)?"

The Taoist priestess said, "Just call me Xian Gu, and don't worry about my surname." She was the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' Li Mochou's disciple Hong Lingbo. She was the young Taoist priestess who was sent to kill the Lu couple and Madam Wu. Yang Guo wanted to know her surname but she didn't reveal it. The Taoist priestess sat on a rock, the wind scattered her hair. Yang Guo secretly glanced at her and thought, "That priestess is quite pretty, but can't compare with Peach Blossom Island's Auntie Guo, and of course cannot compare with my Gu Gu."

Hong Lingbo glanced at Yang Guo, smiled and said; "Sha Dan, why are you staring at me?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm just looking what reason is there? If you don't let me look, I won't look, what's so special?"

Hong Lingbo said, "Look then! Hey, am I nice to look at?" She then took out a comb from her pocket, and slowly combed her hair.

Yang Guo said, "You are nice to look at, but...but..."

Hong Lingbo said, "But what?"

Yang Guo said, "But you are not white enough."

She had always regarded her skin as white and smooth as gems, when she heard him say this; she couldn't refrain from getting angry, she stood up and shouted, "Sha Dan, do you want to die? Saying I'm not white enough...humph!"

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "Not white enough."

Hong Lingbo said, "Who's whiter than me?"

Yang Guo said, "The one that slept by my side last night is much whiter than you."

Hong Lingbo said, "Who? Is it one of your family members?" The thought of killing the woman who had whiter skin than her crossed her mind.

Yang Guo said, "Nope, it's my family's white lamb."

Hong Lingbo turned her anger into laughter and said, "You really are stupid, how can you compare a person with an animal? Let's go!" She took his upper arm and hurried up the mountain. Straight ahead was the road to Chongyang Palace, but Hong Lingbo headed west, in the direction of the Tomb of the Living Dead.

Yang Guo thought, "Indeed she is trying to find my Gu Gu."

Hong Lingbo ran for a while and then took out a map from her pocket, looking for her destination.

Yang Guo said, "Xian Gu, we can't go ahead, there are ghosts in the forest."

Hong Lingbo said, "How do you know this?"

Yang Guo said, "The forest has a large tomb, the tomb has evil spirits, no one dares to go near it."

Hong Lingbo was delighted and thought, "True enough, the Tomb of the Living Dead is around here."

In the past few years, she has been under the tutelage of Li Mochou, and her martial arts had made good progress. In Shanxi, she helped her master to defeat many people of the Wulin world, and pleased her master. She heard her master mention the matter of dueling with the Quanzhen Elders, and said if she'd mastered the "Jade Heart Manual", she wouldn't have feared the Quanzhen Taoists. She said that there was a pile of manuals and scriptures of their sect's skills in the tomb. Hong Lingbo asked why she didn't go to the tomb and study their sect's skills. Li Mochou ambiguously replied, saying that she had conceded the place to her younger apprentice sister, there wasn't much friendly feeling between the two, and were not in contact with each other. Li Mochou was extremely proud, the many times she tried to enter the tomb, being found out and being sent scurrying away were not mentioned to her disciple. Instead she said that her apprentice sister was young, her martial arts were ordinary, and being the elder apprentice sister it wasn't right to bully the younger one. She then encouraged her master to enter the tomb and take the manuals. In reality, there wasn't a day that Li Mochou didn't think about this, but she wasn't familiar with the booby traps in the tomb, and so did not dare to do anything. When she heard her disciple talking about this she just smiled and did not reply.

Hong Lingbo mentioned this many times, but when she saw that her master did not care one way or another, she secretly decided to be more attentive, and asked her about the way to Mount Zhongnan's tomb. She managed to draw a map, but she didn't know that Li Mochou had not revealed everything to her. At this time, Li Mochou had sent her on a mission to kill one of their enemies; after she finished, she went to Mount Zhongnan by herself, and by coincidence met Yang Guo; she now ordered Yang Guo to chop down the pine trees that were blocking the way to the tomb.

Yang Guo thought that even with a year and a half of pine chopping, they would not be anywhere near the tomb; but he pretended to be dumb and followed her orders. More than half an hour later, the sky became dark, they had not even traveled a few li, and they were still very far from the tomb. He was becoming more and more anxious about Xiao Longnu. He thought, why not lead her forward to the tomb and see what she has planned; so he raised his hatchet and hacked down a few times, and then hacked a rock, sparks flew and the edge of the hatchet rolled up.

He loudly shouted, "Ai ya, ai yo, there's a rock here. The hatchet is ruined; father is going to beat me. I...I need to go back home."

Hong Lingbo was extremely anxious, she looked for the way to the tomb, she must enter the tomb tonight, and shouted out, "Sha Dan, stay here!"

Yang Guo said, "Xian Gu, aren't you scared of ghosts?"

Hong Lingbo said, "If ghosts try to scare me then I'll chop them in half with my sword."

Yang Guo was happy and said, "You aren't lying to me?"

Hong Lingbo said, "Why should I lie to you?"

Yang Guo said, "Since ghosts are scared of you, I'll take you to the large tomb. If ghosts come out, you must scare them away!"

Hong Lingbo delightedly said, "You know the way to the tomb? Quickly take me there." Yang Guo was afraid that she was going to become suspicious and so made her promise three times that she must kill the evil ghosts. Hong Lingbo comforted him, and told him to relax, and promised him that even if ten ghosts come out she will kill them all.

Yang Guo said, "A few years ago, I was grazing my lambs near the tomb and fell asleep, when I woke up it was the middle of the night. I saw a female ghost dressed in white exiting the tomb, it scared me to death, and I tripped while I was trying to run away and cracked my head, look there's a scar here." He then walked up to her, wanting her to feel his forehead. She had carried him all along the way, and he felt that she had the scent of orchids around her, leaning against her was quite relaxing. He continued with his plan, and put his forehead in front of her face.

Hong Lingbo laughed and said, "Sha Dan!" and just felt his forehead, she didn't feel any scars but didn't really notice and said, "Take me there quickly."

Yang Guo took her hand and lead her out of the forest, and took her to the secret path leading to the tomb. It was nearing the middle of the night; there was no light from the stars or moon. Yang Guo took her hand, and felt a warm and soft hand and wondered, "Gu Gu and her are girls, why is it Gu Gu's hands are as cold as ice and hers are warm." He took her hand and pulled it. If anyone from the Wulin world treated Hong Lingbo with any disrespect, she would have killed them, but she knew that Yang Guo was just a simple fool, and she wanted his help. She thought that he was handsome, she was secretly quite pleased and quietly said,

“That Sha Dan is not completely stupid; he knows that I’m good looking.”

Very soon, Yang Guo had led Hong Lingbo to the tomb. When he’d left the tomb he was confused and flustered, he didn’t close the tomb’s door; now he saw the large stone slab that was used as the door was still to the side. His heart jumped around and he prayed, “I hope Gu Gu is not dead so I’ll be able to see her again.” He decided that he couldn’t mess around with Hong Lingbo, and said, “Xian Gu, I’ll lead you forward, if a ghost eats me up and I become a ghost, I’ll haunt you forever.” They then entered.

Hong Lingbo thought, “That Sha Dan is strangely brave.” She didn’t give it any more thought, and followed closely in the dark, she had heard from her master that the paths in the Tomb of the Living Dead were complicated, all you need to do is take one wrong step and you’ll be lost. She watched Yang Guo moving without delaying for the slightest second, turning to the east and then twisting to the west, opening a door there, and pushing a stone over here, like he knew the way.

Hong Lingbo thought, “What’s so hard about the paths in the tomb? Could it be that master lied to me, in case I entered alone?” In just a few moments, Yang Guo had led her deep into the tomb, outside Xiao Longnu’s room.

He opened the door lightly, and listened carefully, he couldn’t hear anything and wanted to call out “Gu Gu!” but remembered that Hong Lingbo was right behind him so he quietly said, “We’re here!”

Hong Lingbo was now deep within the tomb, although she was skilled in martial arts and daring, she felt uneasy. When she heard Yang Guo say this, she quickly entered and took out a match, and lit the candle on the table. She saw a girl in white lying on a bed. She knew she would meet her Martial

Uncle in the tomb, but she didn't know that she would find her lying down peacefully, not knowing whether she was sleeping or ignoring her. She held her sword across her chest and said, "Disciple Hong Lingbo greets Martial Uncle."

Yang Guo opened his mouth, it felt as if his heart jumped out of it, he concentrated on the Xiao Longnu's movements, but she didn't move an inch. After a while, she gave out a quiet 'en' sound. From when Hong Lingbo first said something to Xiao Longnu up to Xiao long Nu's reply, Yang Guo was extremely anxious and worried, he wanted to throw himself on Xiao Longnu to hold her and cry. When he heard her reply he was very relieved; he was also extremely delighted and wasn't able to hold in his tears and cried loudly.

Hong Lingbo asked, "Sha Dan, what's wrong with you?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm...I'm scared."

Xiao Longnu slowly turned around and quietly said, "Don't be afraid, I've just died once, it wasn't painful at all."

Hong Lingbo saw that she had an extremely beautiful face, and was startled. She thought, "Such a beautiful girl living on this earth!" She couldn't but feel inferior, and said, "Disciple Hong Lingbo greets Martial Uncle."

Xiao Longnu quietly said, "My apprentice sister? Is she here?"

Hong Lingbo said, "My master told me to come here first, and asked about Martial Uncle's well being."

Xiao Longnu said, "Just leave, this place is not for you, even your master can't come here."

Hong Lingbo saw that her face looked unwell, there were bloodstains on her chest, she was short of breath when talking, it looked like she had a serious injury. She then let down her guard slightly and asked, "Where's Grandma Sun?"

Xiao Longnu said, "She died a long time ago...just leave now."

Hong Lingbo became even more relaxed and thought; "It's fate; who would have thought that I, Hong Lingbo, would become the heir to the tomb." She saw that Xiao Longnu seemed to be on death's doorsteps, and was afraid that if she died, no one would know the whereabouts of the "Jade Heart Manual". She quickly said, "Martial Uncle, Master ordered me to obtain the "Jade Heart manual". If you give it to me, then I'll immediately help you cure your injury."

Xiao Longnu had practiced the tomb's martial arts for a long time, she didn't have any emotions, nothing was able to affect her; but now she was suffering a serious internal injury and lost her self control. When she heard what she said, she was alarmed, and fainted again. Hong Lingbo dashed over and searched her body, Xiao Longnu woke up and said, "Where's my apprentice sister? Get her here; I have something to say to her."

Hong Lingbo saw that their sect's highest arts were within her grasp, she couldn't wait, she chuckled and took out silver needles from her pocket, and said, "Martial Uncle, you recognize these needles, if you don't give the "Jade Heart Manual" to me then don't blame me for being impolite."

Yang Guo had experienced the poison of the "Soul Freezing Silver Needles" before; he had only held one in his hand and he felt the effects. If one pierced the body, what's going to happen then? He saw the danger and quickly called out, "Xian Gu, there's a ghost, I'm scared." He threw himself over her, hugging her back, and used his finger to press down on the 'Chaste Shoulder' (jian zhen) and 'Main Entrance' (jing men) pressure points. Hong Lingbo could not have dreamed that 'Sha Dan' would possess such advanced martial art skills, her whole body became numb and she stood there paralyzed. Yang Guo was afraid she had the ability to unblock her pressure points so he heavily pressed down on 'Large Bone' (ju gu) pressure point, and said, "Gu Gu, this girl is really evil, should I prick her a few times with these needles?" He wrapped his hand with his garment and picked up the needles.

Hong Lingbo wasn't able to move an inch and she heard what he said clearly. He saw him pick up the needles and laughing 'ha-ha' towards her, she was frightened out of her wits. She wanted to plead but couldn't open her mouth, her eyes revealed the state of mind she was in.

Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'Er, close the door to the tomb in case my apprentice sister arrives."

Yang Guo said, "Yes!"

He was about to turn around when he heard an enchanting female voice from behind saying, "Apprentice sister, how are you? I arrived a long time ago."

Yang Guo turned around alarmed, under the candlelight, he saw a beautiful Taoist priestess standing at the door, her cheeks peach, her mouth seemed to form a smile but it did not, it was the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' Li Mochou.

When Hong Lingbo first started to ask about the whereabouts of the Tomb of the Living Dead, she knew that Hong Lingbo would go to the tomb herself to steal the "Jade Heart Manual". When she sent Hong Lingbo to Changnan to kill, she had really planned it all. She secretly followed all along; she saw how Hong Lingbo met Yang Guo, how they entered the tomb, how she tried to force Xiao Longnu to hand over the manual and how she lost. Because she was extremely quick and her steps extremely light, Hong Lingbo and Yang Guo did not notice her. Now she revealed herself.

Xiao Longnu got up and called out, "Apprentice sister!" then coughed incessantly.

Li Mochou coldly pointed at Yang Guo and said, "Who is he? Ancestor Grandma's rule, no man is allowed to take one step into the tomb, and you allow him here?" Xiao Longnu was coughing violently, and had no way to reply. Yang Guo stood in front of Xiao Longnu protecting her and clearly said, "She's my Gu Gu, this is none of your business."

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Good Sha Dan, you're very brave!" She waved her fly whisk three times, making three 'fu' sounds. Although the three moves were done one after the other, they arrived at the same time. It was one of the lethal stances of the Ancient Tomb sect; other sect's fighters do not know the essence of the stance and would have their bones broken as soon as she used it. Yang Guo was familiar with all the skills of the Ancient Tomb sect, though his internal energy wasn't as profound as Li Mochou's he was still able to dodge the three moves in one "Three Swallows in the Forest". Li Mochou's fly whisk returned, she was secretly alarmed, she saw that his dodging techniques were from their sect, she sternly said, "Apprentice sister, who is this little scoundrel?"

Xiao Longnu was afraid that she was going to throw up blood again and didn't dare raise her voice, and quietly said, "Guo'Er, greet your Martial Uncle."

Yang Guo gave a 'humph' sound and said, "She counts as my Martial Uncle?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Bend your ear over, I've got something to say to you."

Yang Guo knew that she wanted him to kowtow to Li Mochou, but he didn't want to, so he still lowered his ear.

Xiao Longnu quietly said, "On the corner of the bed by my leg, there is a stone panel, turn it to the right and quickly leap up onto the bed."

Li Mochou thought that she was ordering her disciple to apologize to her; in front of her was a seriously injured person, the other was a youngster, why would she care about them? She was thinking of a way to torture them and force her apprentice sister to hand over the "Jade Heart Manual".

Yang Guo nodded his head, and clearly said, "Disciple greets Martial Uncle!" He slowly stretched out his hand towards the part of the bed near Xiao Longnu's leg, indeed there was a stone panel, so he turned it with all his strength and quickly leaped onto the bed.

Li Mochou was shocked, and remembered there were booby traps everywhere in the tomb. Her master was biased; she concealed them from her and taught her apprentice sister where they were and how to use them; she immediately dashed over to grab Xiao Longnu.

Xiao Longnu had no strength to retaliate at present. The bed was heavy, Li Mochou had spotted this earlier, and she was extremely quick in her movements and was about to grab Xiao Longnu off the bed. Yang Guo was alarmed, and with all his strength pushed out a palm to repel her hand away. He suddenly saw darkness in front of him, two thudding sounds, and the bed had dropped into a lower level. The stone slab on the ceiling automatically pushed back up; Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo were separated from Li Mochou and her disciple.

Yang Guo could make out that there was a table and some chairs in the room, he made his way to the table and took out a match and lit a half burned candle.

Xiao Longnu sighed and said, "There isn't enough blood in my body, I am unable to circulate my internal energy to heal myself. Even if I wasn't hurt, the two of us would not be able to beat my apprentice sister". When Yang Guo heard her say there wasn't enough blood in her body, he raised his left arm, and singled out his vein on his wrist and bit down on it as hard as he could; blood came flowing out. He placed his wound by Xiao Longnu's mouth, and his blood dripped in.

Xiao Longnu's body was ice cold, when the warm blood entered her, her body started to warm up, she knew this wasn't right and wanted to struggle, but Yang Guo knew what she was thinking and pressed down on a pressure point on her waist, stopping her from moving. After a while, the wound started to dry up, Yang Guo bit on it again, and then bit his right wrist. After donating blood several times, Yang Guo felt faint and dizzy, he sat up straight and unsealed her pressure point. Xiao Longnu looked at him for a while and didn't say anything then started to heal herself. Yang Guo saw that the candle was about to burn out, and replaced it.

That night the two of them meditated together. Yang Guo was recovering from his lost of blood. After taking in Yang Guo's blood, Xiao Longnu strengthened, and knew that her life was saved. She opened her eyes and smiled slightly towards Yang Guo. Her cheeks were normally white, but Yang Guo now saw that they were red, like rouge on white jade; he was delighted and said, "Gu Gu, you've recovered." Xiao Longnu nodded her head. Yang Guo was happy but didn't know what to say.

Xiao Longnu said, "We'll go to Grandma Sun's room, I have something to say to you."

Yang Guo said, "Aren't you tired?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I'm fine." She stretched out her hand and pulled on a bracket on the wall, a stone slab moved and revealed a path. Yang Guo had never seen this path before. Xiao Longnu led him in the darkness and eventually arrived at Grandma Sun's room.

She lit a candle, and turned Yang Guo's garment into a bag, and placed her gold silk gloves in it. Yang Guo stood there looking at her and asked, "Gu Gu, what are you doing?"

Xiao Longnu didn't reply, and placed two jars of Jade Bee honey into the bag.

Yang Guo delightedly said, "Gu Gu, we are leaving, aren't we? That will be great."

Xiao Longnu said, "You go by yourself, I know you are a good boy, you treat me very well."

Yang Guo was shocked and said, "What about you?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I made an oath to my master, I must stay in the tomb and never leave. Unless...unless...I won't leave." She shook her head as she said this.

He saw that her face was stern, her voice still, she wasn't going to allow any back chat from him so he didn't say anything. But this was an important matter; he eventually plucked up the courage and said, "Gu Gu, if you don't go, I won't go. I want to stay with you."

Xiao Longnu said, "Right now, my apprentice sister is probably guarding the paths out of the tomb, she wants to force me to hand over the "Jade Heart Manual". My kung fu is not near hers, and I'm hurt, I won't be able to beat her, will I?"

Yang Guo said, "No."

Xiao Longnu said, "The food we've got left will only last twenty days if we stretch it, if we also eat the Jade Bee honey, we'll last a month. After the month passes, then what?"

Yang Guo stood there for a while and said, "We'll rush out, although we won't beat Martial Uncle, it may be possible to escape with our lives."

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "You know your Martial Uncle's martial arts and temper, and should know that we won't be able to escape. Not only will she torture us, but our deaths will be unbearable."

Yang Guo said, "If this is the case, it will be even harder for me to escape by myself."

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "No! I'll fight with her and lure her deep within the tomb; this will give you a chance to escape. When you get to the entrance, shift the large stone on the left, and pull on the brackets, two large stones weighing ten tonnes will drop down, sealing off the tomb forever."

Yang Guo became even more startled as he heard this, and said, "Gu Gu, you'll be able to open the stones, won't you?"

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "No. Years ago when Wang Chongyang was rebelling against the Jin, he made a plan; this stone tomb was his storage place for money, supplies and weapons. It is heavily booby trapped, the layout a secret, and he set up two large ten tonne stone slabs at the entrance, called the "Dragon Snapping Stones" (duan long shi). In case they failed against the Jin and the Jin found out about this place and came to attack, it would be a few against many. In that case he would lower the stone, sealing off the tomb; the attackers of the tomb would not be able to leave with their lives. Once the stone drops, it will not open again. You know how narrow the path leading into the tomb is; it only allows for one person at a time to pass. Even if there were thousands of the enemy that entered the tomb, they could only form a long line; only one person could touch the large stone and that one person will not be able to lift the stone. With this plan, that old Taoist was saying that even in death he will not give in, and he wanted to perish with the enemy. After he failed against the Jin, he lived by himself in the tomb. The Jin emperor knew where he was, and sent tens of martial artists to kill him; in the end they were all captured or killed by Wang Chongyang. Not one returned. Later, that Jin emperor died suddenly, a new emperor was appointed, and left him alone, and so the two 'Dragon Snapping Stones' were never used. When Wang Chongyang left the tomb, he told Ancestor Grandma about all of the tomb's booby traps.

The more Yang Guo listened the more startled he became, with tears in his eyes he said, "Gu Gu, I'll follow you in life and death."

Xiao Longnu said, "What use is there in following me? You said the outside world was a great place to play, just go and play. With your standard of martial arts, the Quanzhen Taoists will not be able to do much to you. You managed to trick Hong Lingbo, you are much cleverer than me; there is no need for me to look after you."

Yang Guo rushed up to her and hugged her, crying, "Gu Gu, if I'm not able to leave with you, I won't be able to enjoy my life."

Xiao Longnu was cold and loveless, her words were cold and harsh, but right now for some reason she felt a rush of warm blood to her chest, her eyes ached, she wanted to cry. She was startled and remembered what her master had told her before she died, "The kung fu you are practicing is an emotionless type of advanced martial arts, if, later on, you cry and reveal your true feelings, not will only your martial arts suffer, your life will be in danger. Remember this.” Then she pushed Yang Guo away and coldly said, “Whatever I say, you have to listen.”

Yang Guo saw that she was still strict and stern, and didn't dare to say another word. Xiao Longnu put the bag on his back and took a long sword off the wall, and gave it to him and then sternly said, “When I tell you to go, you must immediately go, once you are outside, immediately lower the stone to close off the tomb. Your Martial Uncle is extremely ruthless, the chance will be gone very quick, are you going to obey me?”

Yang Guo choked, “Yes.”

Xiao Longnu said, “If you don't do as I have told you, when I'm dead in hell, I'll hate you forever. Go!” She took hold of his hand, opened the door and left. Whenever Yang Guo touched her hand, it always felt like ice, but now in her grasp, he felt her palm was sometimes cold, sometimes warm, and completely different from normal. But right now he was too emotional; he had no time to think about such trivial things, and followed her out. After traveling for a while, Xiao Longnu touched a stone slab and quietly said, “They are just in front. I'll lure my apprentice sister away, and you'll leave by rushing to the exit in the northwest corner. If Hong Lingbo chases you, attack her with ‘Jade Bee Needles’.” Yang Guo's heart was fluttering all over the place, and just nodded.

The “Jade Bee Needles” are a skill of the Ancient Tomb sect; years ago Lin Chaoying had two lethal projectiles, one was the “Soul Freezing Needles”, the other was the “Jade Bee Needles”. The “Jade Bee Needle” was a gold needle that was as thin as a hair, sixty percent was made of gold, the other forty percent consists of steel, and had a drop of poison from the Jade Bees on it. Although it was small, the gold was heavy and allowed it to be thrown over a long distance. This projectile was too venomous, Lin Chaoying rarely used it; after her middle age, her kung fu had reached the acme of perfection, and so there wasn't a need to use them at all. Because Li Mochou had not agreed to swear an oath that she would remain in the tomb forever, when her master passed on the skill of the "Soul Freezing Needles" she did not teach her the "Jade Bee Needles".

Xiao Longnu waited, and then rotated the brackets on the wall, two 'zha' 'zha' sounds were made as the wall slowly opened to the left. Her pair of silk belts immediately flew out, the left heading for Li Mochou, the right heading for Hong Lingbo, her body flying extremely swiftly forwards. Li Mochou had long ago unblocked Hong Lingbo's pressure points and she had shouted at her for a little while. They were in the room trying to figure out where they were and looking for a way out when suddenly they saw Xiao Longnu attacking, the both of them were startled.

Li Mochou's fly whisk flew out to block Xiao Longnu's belt. The fly whisk and the silk belt were soft objects, soft against soft, but Li Mochou's internal energy was superior to that of Xiao Longnu's, the two weapons clashed, and Xiao Longnu's weapon was sent back. The belt in her left hand returned, the right was sent out, in just a short while many stances were exchanged, the two silk belts were gentle and swift. Li Mochou was startled and angry, thinking, "So master was biased, she did not teach me these skills!" But she was able to defend against it, but didn't want to try to kill her, firstly the "Jade Heart Manual" wasn't yet in her hands, if she killed her it would be difficult to find the manual in this large stone tomb, and secondly, she wanted to see what other great skills that her master had bestowed on Xiao Longnu.

Hong Lingbo had always regarded herself as intelligent, but today she was tricked by a boy, she was fooled into thinking he was dumb for over half a day and wasn't able to see through it. She was furious with him, she saw that her master and Xiao Longnu were fighting heatedly, and said, "Sha Dan, your little scoundrel's trickery isn't bad." She took out her swords, and took half a step and called out, "See if I can cut your nose off." Her swords chopped and slashed, 'chi' 'chi' 'chi' as several stances were unleashed. Yang Guo saw that she was advancing fiercely and could only raise his sword to block. In normal circumstances, Yang Guo would make some sarcastic comments and joke around with her, but now he was thinking about having to part with Xiao Longnu, warm tears were in his eyes, everything was blurry in front of him, he made a few stances, but there wasn't any intention of attacking.

Hong Lingbo had used many stances; although she wasn't able to hurt him, she saw that there was no strength in his stances. She thought that he must possess average skills. She became even more careless, and didn't even consider the fact that he had sealed her pressure points before.

Li Mochou and Xiao Longnu fought for another ten moves, Li Mochou's fly whisk flipped up wrapping around her left silk belt and said, "Apprentice sister, take a look at my skills." She dispersed her chi into her weapon and the belt was cut into two pieces. In normal duels with weapons, it was difficult for one person's weapon to shatter the enemy's weapon. The fly whisk and the silk belts were extremely soft objects, she had just used her fly whisk to split the belt in half, and this was ten times more difficult than using a sword to shatter another sword. Li Mochou demonstrated her skills and her face swelled with pride.

Xiao Longnu didn't react, and said, "How good are your skills?" Her half belt shot out and wrapped itself around the thread end of the fly whisk, the belt in her right hand shot out and tangled the handle, one pulled to the left and one to the right, and the fly whisk snapped in half. In terms of power, this move was lower than when Li Mochou had snapped the belt in half, but it was extremely fast and the technique of dispersing her chi into the belts was exquisite, Li Mochou's move cannot compare with Xiao Longnu in this department. She was slightly alarmed and threw down her weapon; she snatched the belts, gradually forcing Xiao Longnu back. Another ten moves passed and Xiao Longnu was forced to the eastern wall, and saw that she had nowhere else to go. She suddenly touched the wall and called out, "Guo'Er, escape quickly!" A 'ka' sound was heard as an exit appeared in the northwest corner.

Li Mochou was shocked and quickly turned around, wanting to stop Yang Guo. Xiao Longnu threw down her belts and threw out two palms with the intent to kill. Li Mochou had to turn around to block it.

Xiao Longnu shouted, "Guo'Er, why aren't you leaving?"

Yang Guo looked at Xiao Longnu and saw that there was no over turning of this decision and shouted, "Gu Gu, I'm going now!" He quickly threw out three stances, the sword tip pointing towards Hong Lingbo.

Hong Lingbo had seen Yang Guo's sword stances were weak, but of a sudden it had strengthened so much, she could only jump back from the danger. Yang Guo darted out of the door, he turned around, wanting to look at Xiao Longnu for one last time.

Xiao Longnu and her apprentice sister were fighting bare handed, after practicing the "Jade Heart Manual" her variation of stances had greatly increased, although she was seriously wounded, she managed to hold her own after tens of moves. She saw the image of Yang Guo's back at the door, and thought how they would never meet each other again, her chest heated up, her eyes ached, wanting to cry. She has never shown her true emotions before; today she wanted to cry twice. She was frightened.

When clashing palms with a highly skilled fighter, how can one allow oneself to be slow? Li Mochou saw Xiao Longnu standing there and took the opportunity to advance; she grabbed her wrist and sealed the 'Returning Orthodox' (hui zong) pressure point, and hooked out a leg. Xiao Longnu wasn't able to stand upright and fell onto the floor.

Yang Guo turned his head around, only to see Xiao Longnu hooked onto the floor by her apprentice sister. He then saw Li Mochou was about to harm his master, blood rushed through his chest and he called out, "Don't harm my master!" He darted back into the room, then leapt over to her and grabbed Li Mochou by the waist. This move didn't belong to the stances of any school or sect; it was just an urgent reaction from Yang Guo in this dangerous situation.

Li Mochou was preoccupied with wanting to pick up Xiao Longnu, and wasn't prepared for Yang Guo coming back and grabbing her, for the time being she wasn't able to escape. She was ruthless and violent, not restrained by the practice of religion like she should be, but she guarded her body like a treasure. After spending many years wandering the world of Jianghu, she was still a virgin, and now suddenly she was held tightly by Yang Guo. All she felt now was the warmth of a man spreading from her back into her heart, her heart stirred, her whole body softened, her face was red, and there was no strength in her hands. Xiao Longnu took the chance to unblock her pressure point, but Hong Lingbo was now pointing her sword towards Yang Guo's back. Xiao Longnu was looking up from the ground, when she saw the sword coming she rolled to the left, and moved Yang Guo and Li Mochou at the same time, Hong Lingbo's sword pierced thin air.

Xiao Longnu leapt up and shouted, "Guo'Er, get out quickly!"

Yang Guo held tightly onto Li Mochou's waist and called out, "Gu Gu, get out quickly, I'm holding her down, she won't be able to move." During this time, Li Mochou's head was filled with thoughts, she knew that this was a urgent situation where there is only a hair separating life and death, but being held by Yang Guo caused her heart to be enchanted, and didn't think of escaping.

Xiao Longnu was curious and wondered, "With my apprentice sister's martial arts, how could she be held down by Guo'Er, not moving an inch? Could it be that her pressure points have been blocked?"

She saw that Hong Lingbo's left hand was about to try to pierce Yang Guo again, so she stretched out two fingers and pushed the flat side of the sword in her right hand, the sword leaped up, heading for the sword in Hong Lingbo's left hand. A clashing sound, Hong Lingbo's hands became numb, the handles of the swords dropped on the floor. She jumped back in shock.

When the swords clashed, sparks flew, it was during this time when Li Mochou noticed that Xiao Longnu had looked at her strangely; she couldn't stop from being furious and shouted, "Little punk, do you want to die?" She generated chi into her arms and escaped from Yang Guo's hold, she leapt up and was about to throw out a palm towards Xiao Longnu.

Xiao Longnu was busy concentrating on Yang Guo's movements when she suddenly felt Li Mochou's palm arriving, there was no time to use stances to neutralize the palm, she could only return a palm to block, but she felt her apprentice sister's profound internal energy, she felt pain in her chest. She saw Yang Guo had picked himself up, and was coming to help her, she shouted, “Guo’Er, you aren’t going to listen to me, are you?”

Yang Guo said, “I’ll listen to whatever you say, but I won’t listen to what you are saying now. Gu Gu, I’ll follow you in life and death.”

Xiao Longnu heard his sincerity in his words, and was touched again, she saw that Li Mochou was about to throw out another palm, she knew right now that with her serious internal injuries, she would not be able to take this palm, so she ducked and darted to the side and picked up Yang Guo, and hurried out of the room through the stone door. Li Mochou followed the blur, and stretched out her hand to grab her back and shouted, “Don’t go!”

Xiao Longnu waved her hand back, ten or so “Jade Bee Needles” were shot back. Li Mochou suddenly smelled the sweet scent of honey, and knew that this projectile was lethal. She was startled and quickly bent back, she knocked into Hong Lingbo and both of them dropped onto the floor.

They heard extremely quiet ‘ding’ ‘ding’ ‘ding’ sounds, as the needles struck the wall, then they heard two ‘zha’ ‘zha’ sounds, it was Xiao Longnu who had taken Yang Guo out of the room, turned the switch, and closed the door.

End of Chapter 6.

Chapter 7 - Chongyang's Markings

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo pushed open one of the stone lids, gently placed her inside the coffin, and then leaped inside, lying together face to face with her. The two of them together in the coffin didn't allow much space to move. Xiao Long Nu was happy and also puzzled.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu rushed through the passages of the tomb, and hurriedly exited the tomb; Yang Guo was delighted and took some deep breaths under the starlight. He said, "Gu Gu, I'll lower the 'Dragon Snapping Stone' and trap the two evil women in the tomb." As he said this he searched around for the switch to the booby trap.

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "Wait, let me return inside first. My master instructed me to guard the tomb, and mustn't allow it to fall into other people hands."

Yang Guo said, "If we block the door, they won't be able to live."

Xiao Longnu said, "If that happens, I won't be able to return to the tomb. I will never dare to disobey my master. Not like you!" She stared at him.

Yang Guo's blood rose through his chest, he held her arm and said, "Gu Gu, I'll listen to you orders."

Xiao Longnu resisted her feelings, she was afraid of getting emotional, she didn't dare to say another word and pulled his hand off, she entered the tomb and said, "Lower the stone!" She kept her back to him, she was afraid she was going to change her mind so she didn't look at him again.

Yang Guo made up his mind, he breathed in deeply, his chest was filled with the fragrance of flowers and grasses, he looked up and saw the sky filled with stars, glittering continuously, and thought, "This is the last time I'll be able to look at stars.” He quickly went to the left of the tomb’s monument, and followed the instructions of Xiao Longnu, he used his internal energy to shift a stone, behind it was a round stone, he held the round stone and pulled out. The stone revealed a hole, sand started to pour out, and the two large stones above the tomb’s door descended slowly down.

The two stones weighed over ten tonnes, years ago when Wang Chongyang was designing the tomb; he had used the combined strength of hundreds to complete it. Now the tomb was being sealed, even if Li Mochou, Xiao Longnu and Hong Lingbo’s skills were higher, they will not be able to escape from the tomb. Xiao Longnu heard the sound of the stones descending; she couldn’t hold back her tears and turned around. Yang Guo waited for the stone to be two feet away from the ground and then suddenly used a stance “The Jade Girl’s Dive” (yu nuu tou suo), his body like an arrow darting through the space.

Xiao Longnu gave out an alarmed call, Yang Guo got up, smiled and said, “Gu Gu, you can’t send me out anymore.” As he finished, heavy loud sounds were heard, the two large stones had reached the ground.

Xiao Longnu’s tears and emotions reached their peak, her face looked as if she was going to faint again, she leaned against the stone wall out of breath, after a while she said, “Fine, we’ll die together.” She held Yang Guo’s hand and went back into the heart of the tomb.

Li Mochou and her disciple were searching around for the switch everywhere; they didn’t have the slightest clue and were getting anxious, when the two suddenly appeared. They couldn’t help from being pleased. Li Mochou’s body immediately darted behind the two, blocking their path of escape.

Xiao Longnu coldly said, "Apprentice sister, I'll take you to a place."

Li Mochou didn't reply and thought, "There are traps everywhere in the tomb, don't listen to her. If she's up to something then I won't be able to guard against it."

Xiao Longnu said, "I'm taking you to see Master's tomb, if you don't want to, fine."

Li Mochou said, "There is no need to use Master's name to lie to me." Xiao Longnu chuckled and didn't reply, and walked out of the door. Li Mochou felt that her words seemed like an order, it sounded like no one can disobey, and so the two of them followed, taking care in every step, not daring to be careless. Xiao Longnu held Yang Guo's hand and led the way, she wasn't afraid of being ambushed by Li Mochou, and led the two to the coffin room.

Li Mochou had never been here; she remembered the teachings of her master and felt slightly touched; but then she thought of how her Master was biased and her emotions immediately changed to anger. She didn't kowtow to her Master's coffin and said, "Our master disciple relationship has long been cut; why have you brought me here?"

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "There are two empty coffins, one for me and one for you. I'll let you pick, which one do you want?" She pointed to the two coffins.

Li Mochou was alarmed and shouted, "You dare to make fun of me?" As she finished she threw out a palm towards Xiao Longnu's chest. She didn't know that Xiao Longnu would ignore the palm when she saw it coming. Li Mochou was alarmed and thought, "This palm will kill you." The palm was inches away from Xiao Longnu's chest, when she took the palm back.

Xiao Longnu said calmly, "Apprentice sister, the tomb's 'Dragon Snapping Stones' have been activated!"

Li Mochou's face immediately turned white, although she didn't know much about the tomb's booby traps, she knew that the 'Dragon Snapping Stones' were the tomb's most powerful and last line of defense. Years ago her master had come up against a strong enemy, she almost activated the 'Dragon Snapping Stones', blocking the enemy outside, but eventually she was able to hurt the enemy with the "Soul Freezing Silver Needles" and "Jade Bee Needles". She would never have guessed that her apprentice sister would trap herself in the tomb, alarmed and frightened, her voice quavered, "You have another way out, don't you?"

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "When the 'Dragon Snapping Stones' are set, there is no other way out of the tomb, don't you know this?"

Li Mochou clutched Xiao Longnu's dress and said, "You lie!"

Xiao Longnu didn't move and said, "The 'Jade Heart Manual' that master left is over there, if you want to take a look, go ahead. Guo'er and I are here; if you want to kill us, go ahead. But if you want to leave the tomb alive, then I'm afraid it won't be possible!"

Li Mochou's hand gradually loosened, and she stood still. She saw that Xiao Longnu had a carefree air, and knew that she wasn't lying and said, "Fine, I'll kill you two first!" She threw out a palm at Xiao Longnu. Yang Guo quickly moved in front of Xiao Longnu's body, shielding her and called out, "Kill me first!"

Li Mochou's palm became heavy, when the palm reached Xiao Longnu she wasn't able to exert its power, she looked at Yang Guo with hate and said, "The way you are protecting her, you are willing to die for her, aren't you?"

Yang Guo calmly said, "That's correct!"

Li Mochou's left hand darted out and took the sword from his waist, and pointed it at his throat and said, "I am only going to kill one person. Tell me, is it going to be you or her?" Yang Guo didn't reply, he only looked at Xiao Longnu and smiled. The two of them had already forgotten about life and death; they didn't care who Li Mochou was going to kill.

Li Mochou sighed and said, "Apprentice sister, your oath has been released, and you can leave the mountain now."

Years ago, the ancient Tomb's founder Lin Chaoying recollected her feelings for Wang Chongyang, and was unable to forget him in the end. A broken hearted Lin Chaoying made a rule, those who wanted to be her heir will first have to swear an oath that they will live in the tomb forever, never to leave Mount Zhongnan; but if there was a man who was willing to die for them, then the oath will be released. But the man must not know this oath. Lin Chaoying was positive that there wasn't a man on earth who treated love above all else. The hero Wang Chongyang had become a Taoist, for her there wouldn't be a man who would die willingly for their loved one. If there was such a man, her descendants will not leave the mountain in vain. Li Mochou entered the sect before Xiao Longnu, but because she didn't take the oath, Xiao Longnu became the heir.

Li Mochou saw that Yang Guo was sincere towards Xiao Longnu, and couldn't help becoming envious. She became angry again as she remembered how Lu Zhanyuan rejected her, she frowned as she called out, "Apprentice sister, you are very lucky." She thrust the sword towards Yang Guo's throat. Xiao Longnu saw that she was really going to kill him, now that the time had come, she wasn't able to stop herself from saving him. She waved her left hand; more than ten "Jade Bee Needles" were thrown out.

Li Mochou quickly leapt back to avoid the poisonous needles. Xiao Longnu took Yang Guo's hand and darted to the door, she turned around and said, "Apprentice sister, it doesn't matter whether my oath has been released or not, our four lives will perish in the tomb. I don't want to see your faces, just go and die on your own." She extended her hand to a switch and activated it, the stone door descended, separating the four again.

Xiao Longnu was emotional; it was hard for her to walk. Yang Guo took her to Grandma Sun's room to rest, and took out two jars of Jade Bee honey; he fed her a bottle and drank one himself.

Xiao Longnu quietly sighed and said, "Guo'er, why were you willing to die for me?"

Yang Guo said, "On this earth, only you treat me well, why should I be afraid to die for you?"

Xiao Longnu didn't say anything. Half an hour later she said, "If I'd known earlier, then there was no need for us to return to the tomb and die with them. But if we didn't return, I wouldn't have known that you were willingly to die for me; my oath would not have been released."

Yang Guo said, "Why don't we try to find a way to get out of here?"

Xiao Longnu said, "You know about the tomb, so you should know that that there is no way out for us." Yang Guo sighed.

Xiao Longnu said, "You regret it, don't you?"

Yang Guo said, "No, now I'm with you, outside, there's no one that loves me."

Xiao Longnu had not allowed him to say 'you care about me' in the past, and Yang Guo never mentioned it again; but now she's had a change of heart, when she heard this she couldn't help but feel touched, and asked, "So why did you sigh?"

Yang Guo said, "I was thinking that if we left the mountain, there are countless fun things to do, and with you by my side, life would be immensely enjoyable."

Xiao Longnu had grown up in the tomb, her heart has always been as cold as ice, her master and Grandma Sun never mentioned the matters of the outside world, so of course she never thought about it. Now Yang Guo mentioned it, she felt her emotions soar, but felt blood rising up into her chest, and tried to circulate her chi to counter it, however she wasn't able to make herself calm, and was frightened. She has never experienced this in her life, and knew that after recovering from her injury, she will not be able to recover her internal energy. She didn't know that this method of suppressing her emotions was against the natural flow of things, being loveless doesn't mean you will be able to do this, only by applying chi strictly can one succeed. She was now past twenty, in her time of danger, a young man was willing to die for her, and she didn't want to reveal her true feelings and wanted to guard against injuring herself further. She tried to suppress her thoughts. She sat on the bed and meditated for a while, but became impatient, and got off the bed and walked around, she was becoming bored. Her steps became quicker and she was dashing around the room. Yang Guo saw that her cheeks were red, and she seemed emotional, he had never seen her like this before, and he was startled. After walking around for a while she sat down heavily on the bed, and looked at Yang Guo, and saw a concerned expression on his face and thought, "Right now I am about to die, so is he. Why should we distinguish ourselves as master and disciple, auntie and nephew? If he comes and hugs me, I won't push him away, and will allow him to hold me tightly."

Yang Guo saw that she had tears in her eyes, she was gasping for breath and assumed that she was having a reaction to her injury again and quickly said, “Gu Gu, are you okay?”

Xiao Longnu softly said, “Guo’er, come here.”

Yang Guo went over to the bedside and Xiao Longnu grasped his hand and lightly brushed her face with it and quietly said, “Guo’er, do you love me?”

Yang Guo felt her face was as hot as a fire; he was frightened and quivered, “Does your chest hurt?”

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, “No, my heart feels extremely comfortable. Guo’er, I’m going to die soon, tell me, do you love me very much?”

Yang Guo said, “Of course, on this earth, you are my only loved one.”

Xiao Longnu said, “If another girl treats you the way I treat you, would you treat them like you treat me?”

Yang Guo said, “Whoever treats me well, I’ll treat them well back.” When he said this he felt the hand that Xiao Longnu held him with quivered, and immediately turned cold as ice, he raised his head and saw that her red face had now turned pale and white, as she was normally.

Yang Guo was alarmed and said, “What did I say wrong?”

Xiao Longnu said, “If you are going to love other girls then its better that you don’t love me.”

Yang Guo smiled and said, “We’ll die in a few days, when will I be able to love other girls? Could it be that I’m going to treat Li Mochou and her disciple well?”

Xiao Longnu smiled captivatingly and said, "I'm really stupid. But I want to hear you swear an oath with your own mouth."

Yang Guo said, "Swear what?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I want you to say, from now on you will only have me in your heart, if there is another girl, I will be allowed to kill you."

Yang Guo smiled and said, "It goes without saying, I will never do this, if I actually did something wrong and don't listen to you, then I deserve to die." He then swore, "Disciple Yang Guo, I will only have Gu Gu in my heart in my lifetime, if my heart changes, there will be no need for Gu Gu to kill me, when I see her face I will kill myself."

Xiao Longnu was delighted and said, "Very good, I can relax now." She held his hand tightly, not letting go. Yang Guo felt warmth returning to her hands.

Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'er, I haven't been kind."

Yang Guo quickly said, "No, you have always been kind."

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "I treated you terribly before, at first I kicked you out of the tomb, it was lucky that Grandma Sun made me promise to take care of you. If I didn't turn you away, Grandma Sun would not have died!" When she said this, she couldn't stop tears flowing from her eyes. She had begun to practice martial arts at the age of five, and had never cried since; now she cried heavily, she was in a disturbed state of mind, her bones and joints made cracking noises, and she felt her internal energy draining away from her.

Yang Guo was alarmed and said, "Gu Gu, what's happening? How are you feeling?"

Just as he said this, two 'zha' 'zha' noises were heard from behind and the stone door opened, Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo entered. Once the 'Dragon Snapping Stone' had been set, Li Mochou thought they were going to die anyway so there wasn't any need to be wary of the tomb's booby traps, and boldly dashed throughout the tomb. She managed to go through some rooms before finally arriving at Grandma Sun's room. She knew she must have had extraordinary luck, she managed to avoid the booby traps but she didn't know that the tomb's booby traps were actually designed to repel Jin soldiers, once the large heavy stones had been set, someone must activate the traps to ambush the enemy. Xiao Longnu didn't do this, and so the tomb's booby traps were not armed.

Yang Guo immediately darted across, and blocked Xiao Longnu.

Li Mochou said, "Move out of the way, I have something to say to your master."

Yang Guo was afraid that she was going to harm his master and didn't dare to move and said, "Just say it there."

Li Mochou stared at him for a while and sighed, and said, "There are very few men like you left in this world."

Xiao Longnu got up and asked, "Apprentice sister, is it good or bad that you have described him this way?"

Li Mochou said, "Apprentice sister, you have never left the mountain, you don't know how evil people's hearts can be. Someone who views love and passion as deeply as him, it would be difficult to find another under heaven's skies." She has been hurt by love, her anger and fury was great, and she killed many men in the world who were loving and passionate.

Xiao Longnu was extremely pleased and quietly said, "If that is true, then having him die with me won't make my life be without purpose."

Li Mochou said, "Apprentice sister, who exactly is that person to you? You want to marry him?"

Xiao Longnu said, "No, he is my disciple. He said I treat him extremely well. But whether I have been kind or not, I don't know."

Li Mochou was puzzled, she shook her head and said, "Apprentice sister; let me see your arm." She stretched out her left hand and grasped Xiao Longnu's arm, she lifted her right arm's sleeve and saw on her white skin a red dot, it was the 'shou gong sha' (virginity dot) left by her master. Li Mochou was secretly respectful, "The two of them having a relationship like this in the tomb yet they've kept respect, she is still a pure and untouched virgin." She then rolled up her sleeve, a 'shou gong sha' was on her arm, the sight of two white arms next to each other was captivating. She had no alternative but to be chaste; however her apprentice sister has a lover who was willing to die for her, fortunate and unfortunate. The two women were very different, she couldn't stop herself from sighing, and let go of Xiao Longnu's hand.

Xiao Longnu said, "What have you got to say to me?"

Li Mochou had originally wanted to insult her, saying that she seduced men and had brought the sect to shame, and thereby anger her into revealing the way out of the tomb. But right now she had nothing to say. After a while, she had another idea, and said, "Apprentice sister, I have come to apologize to you."

Xiao Longnu was shocked by this, she knew that her apprentice sister was a very proud woman, never has she lowered her head to anyone, she didn't know what she wanted. So she calmly replied, "You live your life, and I live mine, we go our own ways, there is no need to apologize for anything."

Li Mochou said, "Apprentice sister listen to me, in my entire life, the happiest time was when I had a lover. There's an old saying 'It's easy to get money and treasures, but it's difficult to find a lover'. There is no need to talk about sister's bitter life. That young man treats you well, you do not lack anything."

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "Yes, I am very happy. I know that he will never forget about me."

Li Mochou's heart ached and said, "You should leave the mountain and enjoy life. It's a beautiful world; the two of you together will have boundless pleasures."

Xiao Longnu raised her head and quietly said, "Yes, it's just a pity that it is too late now."

Li Mochou said, "Why?"

Xiao Longnu said, "The 'Dragon Snapping Stones' has been set, even if our Master was resurrected, will we not be able to get out of here."

Li Mochou quietly breathed out, blowing through her lips and thought, "you had hoped to take advantage of Xiao Longnu's will to live, and rely on her familiarity with the tomb to find a way out; but in the end it was useless", she became angry and her urge to kill suddenly emerged, her hand twisted slightly and she raised a palm towards Xiao Longnu's head.

Yang Guo was at the side listening to the two of them talking when he suddenly saw Li Mochou attack, alarmed, he automatically lowered his body and threw out two palms, called out, and unleashed the "Toad Stance" that Ouyang

Feng had taught him. This was the kung fu he learned when he was younger, but since he lived in the tomb he did not practice it. But it was etched in his mind, at the most dangerous times he would use it without thinking. Li Mochou's palm had yet to be unleashed, when she suddenly felt an extremely powerful wind pushing her from the side, she quickly sent the palm out to block the attack. Yang Guo had practiced martial arts in the tomb for two years, his internal energy had improved, though it was different to the internal energy of the "Toad Stance", the power behind the push was still great, a thudding sound was made as he sent Li Mochou across the room, and she crashed into the wall causing pain in her back.

Li Mochou was angry and she wiped her palms, in the middle of a battle she fell into someone's trap.

Xiao Longnu knew that Yang Guo's last attack was a lucky hit, if her apprentice sister used her most refined "Divine Serpent Palm", Yang Guo and she would not be able to hold her off. She grabbed Yang Guo's arm and dashed towards the door.

Li Mochou sent out a palm, she didn't guess that while her palm was in midair she would be struck across the left cheek. Although it didn't hurt the sound was crisp, she heard Xiao Longnu call out, "You want to learn the skills of the "Jade Heart Manual"; well here it is!" Li Mochou was struck on the right cheek and she was also startled by what she said. She knew that the "Jade Heart Manual" was extremely powerful, and now she saw Xiao Longnu's palm was extremely swift and quick, the variations mysterious, it was undoubtedly from their sect's skills. But she couldn't see through it or understand the essence of the palm, but knew that the skills just used belonged to the "Jade Heart Manual". She immediately became frightened, and stared as her apprentice sister took Yang Guo's hand and exited the room, shutting the door. She felt her cheek and thought, "At least she held back, if she used all her strength behind the palms, wouldn't I have died?" She didn't know that Xiao Longnu had yet to complete this kung fu, although the palm stances were refined, the power in them would not hurt anyone.

Yang Guo saw his master strike Li Mochou's cheek and was delighted and said, "Gu Gu, Li Mochou would definitely not be able to beat the manual's skills" before he finished he saw Xiao Longnu shaking and she wasn't able to control it, alarmed, he called out, "Gu Gu, how are you...you" and Xiao Longnu shivered and said, "I'm... I'm cold."

Although the attacks she used were light, she still had to use her internal energy. She had yet to recover her internal energy; this injury was serious. She has always practiced on the Chilled Jade Bed, her foundation was of this nature, now the strength to oppose was gone; an extreme cold penetrated her and her teeth chattered incessantly.

Yang Guo was alarmed and called out, "What should I do?" In this urgent situation he held Xiao Longnu tightly, using his body heat to counter the cold, but after a while he felt she was becoming colder, he himself gradually could not endure it for much longer.

Xiao Longnu felt her internal energy dripping away, and said, "Guo'er, I won't make it, take me to the room with the stone coffins."

Yang Guo was distressed and couldn't say anything, but he thought about how they only had a few days to live anyway, it would be just the same if he died with her now so he quickly replied, "Fine." He carried her to the room and then placed her on one of the lids and lit a candle. In candlelight, and with the backdrop of the stone coffins, Xiao Longnu appeared even weaker.

Xiao Longnu said, "Push one of the lids open and place me in the coffin."

Yang Guo said, "Alright!"

Xiao Longnu couldn't hear any sadness in his voice and was slightly surprised. Yang Guo pushed open one of the stone lids and placed her inside the coffin, and then leaped inside, lying together face to face with her. The two of them together in the coffin didn't allow much space to move.

Xiao Longnu was happy and also puzzled, she asked, "What are you doing?"

Yang Guo said, "Of course I'm going to follow you. I'll let the other two sleep in the other coffin."

Xiao Longnu gave a deep sigh, she was feeling calm and relaxed, her body's coldness wasn't as severe as before. She turned her eyes on Yang Guo and saw his eyes looking at her. Her dress was on top of Yang Guo, she wished that Yang Guo would put his arms around her, but she saw his arms were straight; they were placed in his lap as they should be, afraid that he was going to touch her.

Xiao Longnu was slightly embarrassed, her face turned red, she turned her face away not daring to look at Yang Guo; her mind was enchanted for half an hour when she suddenly saw that something was written on the coffin lid. She looked closely and indeed there were some words:

"The art of the Jade Heart Manual wants to overcome Quanzhen's. But Chongyang, in his life, was inferior no one."

The words were written in heavy ink, the words refined and their form large. The lid was only half open yet it was very clear.

Xiao Longnu gave an 'hmm' sound and said, "What does this mean?"

Yang Guo followed her eyes and saw the words; he pondered and said, "It's written by Wang Chongyang?"

Xiao Longnu said, "It looks like it was written by him. He is saying that our "Jade Heart Manual" is superior to Quanzhen's kung fu, but he is saying that he is not weaker than our Ancestor Grandma, isn't that it?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "That old Taoist is bullshitting."

Xiao Longnu looked at the words again, and saw that after them, there were many small words, because the words were small and they were lower down on the lid, Xiao Longnu couldn't make it out and said, "Guo'er, get out."

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "I won't leave."

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "Just get out for a second and you can come back to be with me later." Yang Guo climbed out of the coffin.

Xiao Longnu sat up, and got Yang Guo to lower the candle, and then turned her body around to read the small words. She looked at the words and read each one, after she finished two passages she felt that she had no strength left and the candle fell onto her chest. Yang Guo's hand quickly darted in and pulled her out of the stone coffin and asked, "What is it? What does the writing say?"

Xiao Longnu regained her composure and then sighed again, and said, "After Ancestor Grandma died, Wang Chongyang returned to the tomb."

Yang Guo asked, "Why did he come back?"

Xiao Longnu said, "He came back to pay his respects to our ancestor. He saw that the "Jade Heart Manual" martial art skills left on the ceiling of the training room had defeated all the skills of the Quanzhen sect. The writing left on the lid says that the martial arts that our ancestor defeated were Quanzhen's basic and coarse skills, but compared with the most advanced skills of Quanzhen, the skills of the "Jade Heart Manual" could not defeat them?"

Yang Guo gave an 'humph' sound and said, "Ancestor Grandma is dead, he could say whatever he wants."

Xiao Longnu said, "He also said that in another room he has the techniques to defeat the "Jade Heart Manual", if her descendants were fated to, they will know it when they see it."

Yang Guo was curious and said, "Gu Gu. Let's go take a look."

Xiao Longnu said, "Wang Chongyang stated that the room is below this one. I have lived here for a lifetime and didn't know that such a room exists."

Yang Guo begged, "Gu Gu, let's think of a way to get there."

Xiao Longnu wasn't strict with him anymore, although she was tired, she let him have his way and smiled, and said, "OK!"

They looked all around the room, and in the end they came back to the coffin they had just rested in and she said, "This stone coffin was left by Wang Chongyang. The base opens."

Yang Guo was delighted and said, "Ah, I know, it's the way to that room." He leapt into the coffin and searched around; true enough, he found a hollow for a hand, he pulled up strongly, but nothing happened.

Xiao Longnu said, "First turn to the left and then pull up."

Yang Guo followed the instructions, a 'ka' sound was heard as a stone panel on the base of the coffin responded to the switch; he was delighted and called out, "Let's go!"

Xiao Longnu said, "There's no need to rush, let the old air rush out first and then we can go."

Yang Guo was sitting restlessly, after a while he said, "Gu Gu, can we go now?"

Xiao Longnu sighed and said, "With your impatient character, it must have been hard for you living with me for the last few years." She slowly got up, and picked up a candle, and went down into the coffin with Yang Guo, below it was a series of stone steps that formed a short passageway, after a few turns they did indeed arrived at a stone chamber.

The room was empty, and both of them looked up at the ceiling, it was covered with carvings and symbols; on the far right were written the words "Nine Yin Manual".

The two of them didn't know the "Nine Yin Manual" was martial arts at its highest level; they looked at it for a while and felt that it was hard to explain.

Xiao Longnu said, "Even if that kung fu is unbeatable, it is of no use to us."

Yang Guo sighed and was about to lower his head when something got his eye in the southwestern corner, a picture, it had nothing to do with martial arts, he looked closer and saw it looked like a map and asked, "What's that?"

Xiao Longnu followed his finger and stared at it for a while, her body was like a corpse, not moving an inch. After a long while, she was still like statue, lost in thought as she examined the map closely. Yang Guo was frightened and tugged her sleeve, and asked, "Gu Gu, what is it?"

Xiao Longnu gave a moan, and suddenly fell into his chest and started crying.

Yang Guo softly said, "Your body hurts again, isn't it?"

Xiao Longnu said, "No, it's not that." After half an hour she said, "We can escape from here."

Yang Guo was delighted and leapt up, and called out, "Really?"

Xiao Longnu nodded her head and quietly said, "That map reveals the secret passage out of here." She was familiar with the layout of the tomb, one look and she understood the map.

Yang Guo was ecstatic and said, "That's great! Why are you crying?"

Xiao Longnu contained her tears and smiled, and said, "I never used to fear death, I was going to live in the tomb forever, die early, die late, what difference would it make? However in the last few days I've felt the urge to go and see the outside world. Guo'er, I'm afraid and happy."

Yang Guo tugged her hand and said, "Gu Gu, when we go outside together, I'll pick flowers for you to wear, and I'll catch crickets for you to play with, okay?"

Although he has grown up, all his thoughts were either amusing or about things that children play and do. Xiao Longnu had never played with anyone, she listened quietly to what he said, and thought, "It'll be better if we leave as soon as possible." But her body was sore, and had no strength, she wasn't able to endure anymore and slowly rested on Yang Guo's shoulder. Yang Guo talked for a while and didn't hear her reply so he turned his head around to take a look, her eyes were closed, her breathing slow, she had fallen into a deep sleep. He was feeling tranquil; he was tired as well and eventually also fell asleep.

After a long while, he felt his back ached; someone had sealed the 'Centre' (zhong shu) pressure point on his back. He woke up alarmed, and wanted to jump up but someone was holding his neck down and preventing him from moving. He turned his head and saw Li Mochou and her disciple standing there laughing; his master also had her pressure points sealed. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu didn't have the Jianghu experience of guarding yourself; in their delight, they had forgotten to go back up and close the coffin lid. Li Mochou had discovered that there was a room below the coffin and succeeded in her ambush.

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Good, this is such a comfortable place here, and the two of you escaped to enjoy such comfort. Apprentice sister; think long and hard, you might be able to think of a way out of here."

Xiao Longnu said, "Even if I knew, I wouldn't tell you."

Li Mochou had believed what she said before, once the 'Dragon Snapping Stones' were set, there was no way out; but judging from the tone in her last two sentences, it sounded like she did know the way out of here. When Li Mochou heard this she was delighted, and said, "Kind apprentice sister, if you take us out of here, I will never bother you again."

Xiao Longnu said, "You came here by yourself, you can find a way out by yourself, why do you need me to lead you out."

Li Mochou knew that her apprentice sister was tough to break, even in the days when master was still here, she still had to be wary of her, using force would be of no use. But right now it is a matter of life and death; she still needed to try to force it out of her some way so she sealed their

'Charging Sky' (tian tu) pressure points on their necks, and sealed their 'Fifth Centre' (wu shu) pressure point on the abdomen. The 'Charging Sky' pressure point was where the body holds together its yin, the main blood vessels return here, the 'Fifth Centre' pressure point is where the 'little yin' vessels return. Li Mochou used the pressure point skills of the Ancient Tomb sect. She knew that in not too long, their body would start to become numb and the pain hard to endure, they would have to reveal the secret.

Xiao Longnu closed her eyes and ignored it. Yang Guo called out, "If we knew the way out, then why didn't we escape instead of staying here?"

Li Mochou laughed and said, "You have just revealed that you know the way out, don't deny it. Of course she would know that the tomb has to have a secret passage out, when you two had rested fully, you would have got out. Apprentice sister, are you going to tell me?"

Xiao Longnu quietly said, "When you get out, all you are going to think about is how to kill people, what good is having you leaving this place?"

Li Mochou folded her arms and sat to one side, she chuckled and did not reply.

Yang Guo couldn't endure anymore and said, "Hey, Li Mochou, the pressure point sealing techniques that Ancestor Grandma passed down was supposed to be used on the enemy, why are you using it against us? You are using it to harm your apprentice sister, how can you face Ancestor Grandma?"

Li Mochou laughed and said, "You are calling me Li Mochou, we are not old friends."

Yang Guo whispered into Xiao Longnu's ear and said, "Don't reveal the secret path out, if she doesn't find out, she won't kill us; once she finds out she will kill us immediately."

Xiao Longnu said, "Ah, you are correct, I didn't think of that. I wasn't planning on telling her anyway." She was lying on the floor, she opened her eyes and saw the map and thought, "It would be awful if apprentice sister finds out about the map. I mustn't look at it in case I draw her attention."

Years ago, Wang Chongyang had known that Lin Chaoying had left the earth, and reminisced about her; his debts to her were immeasurable, but people and ghosts are worlds apart. He wasn't able to console the pain he had in his heart so he secretly entered the tomb. He avoided her maid, and stared at the things that his old friend left, and cried, and then took a look around the tomb he designed. He saw the painting that Lin Chaoying drew, and saw the markings left by her in the two training rooms. He saw the skills of the "Jade Heart Manual" were refined and ingenious, every stance was the "Black Star" to Quanzhen's martial arts, he couldn't stop his face from turning grey and he left the tomb.

He retreated deep into the mountains and built a thatched hut. He didn't leave it for three years, studying a way to break the skills of the "Jade Heart Manual"; although there were a few successes, he wasn't able to develop a complete set of skills to counter it. He was down heartened, and respected Lin Chaoying's intelligence even more, he admitted defeat and stopped researching.

Ten or so years later, he managed to get his hands on the extraordinary "Nine Yin Manual" after the Mount Hua tournament. He made his mind up, he wasn't going to learn the skills within the manual, but curiosity defeated him, and he couldn't refrain from taking a look.

His martial arts at that time was the world's greatest, the skills in the "Nine Yin Manual" were all profound and refined, after a glance and pondering for ten days, he understood, he laughed out loud to the sky, and returned to the tomb, and left the main aspects of the "Nine Yin Manual" on the ceiling in the most hidden room in the tomb, and the stances that would defeat the "Jade Heart Manual". He studied the tomb's circumstances, and assumed that the heirs of Lin Chaoying would use the empty coffin. They would only use it when they were about to die and waiting for death, and at that time then they would know that the founder of the Quanzhen sect had never lost to anyone in his life. He left words on the lid of the coffin, telling the descendants of Lin Chaoying before they died, that the martial arts of the founder of the Quanzhen sect would not be defeated by the skills of the "Jade Heart Manual".

At that time, he was just impulsive and proud, he didn't mean to leave the "Nine Yin Manual" behind in the world, and assumed that when the descendants of Lin Chaoying saw the "Nine Yin Manual", they would be at their last breath and could only take the secret to the grave with them.

Wang Chongyang and Lin Chaoying were both gifted in martial arts, and formed a heavenly pair. Between the two, there wasn't a third person that interfered with the relationship; also they didn't have any matters to resolve with relatives, apprentice brother, sister or enemies. Before Wang Chongyang entered the priesthood, he concentrated on fighting the Jin, and had no time for relationships. When he lost the war and retreated to the tomb, it was Lin Chaoying who came and comforted him, she was kind and touching, there wasn't any reason for them not to be together. But from love it turned to hate, one became a Taoist; the other lived until death in the stone tomb. The actual reasons behind this, Qiu Chuji and the others did not know, it was difficult for Wang and Lin to explain themselves, they could only use the words 'not meant to be' to label what happened. 'Not meant to be' was the result and not the reason for their falling out.

Both of them were highly skilled and very proud; each assumed they were the higher. Every time the seeds of love were about to sprout, they struggled over their martial arts, neither backing down, even until death. Lin Chaoying invented the "Jade Heart Manual" to defeat the skill of the Quanzhen. Wang Chongyang didn't admit defeat and so left the "Nine Yin Manual" in the tomb. Wang Chongyang thought about how Lin Chaoying invented the "Jade Heart Manual" by herself, and he himself relied on a book written by someone else, after their exchange, he yielded. After that he always warned his students to allow for times when they will be subdued, and to learn the Taoist ways well.

The map on the ceiling was left there when the tomb was first created, just in case the Jin surrounded the tomb, they would still have a way to escape. Even Lin Chaoying did not know about this passageway. Lin Chaoying only knew that once the 'Dragon Snapping Stones' have been set, they will perish with the enemy, she didn't know that when Wang Chongyang designed the tomb, he had a strong will to retake the central plains, how could he allow one defeat to stop him? Later on when Wang Chongyang gave up the tomb to Lin Chaoying, he was afraid that Lin Chaoying would look down on him for leaving a way to save his life if he had to use the 'Dragon Snapping Stones'. He would lose his manly air, so he didn't tell her about it out of pride.

Xiao Longnu didn't dare to look at the map, her eyes looked at another corner, and the words "Unsealing Pressure Points Technique" caught her eye. She shivered, and looked at the words and was delighted, almost too delighted in fact as she almost forgot to hide her joy by calling out. The technique shows how to unseal one's pressure points, if one fire deviates when refining their kung fu, and the pressure points are sealed, they could use this technique to unseal it themselves. Those who practiced the “Nine Yin Manual” would have reached an extremely high standard of martial arts, it will be very rare for them to have their pressure points sealed by someone else; this technique was devised to quell one’s inner demons. When one cultivates highly advanced skill, one’s thoughts should be pure and clear. If your concentration is suddenly disturbed by random thoughts or anxiety (inner demons) the chances are high that you’ll die. In Xiao Longnu’s present situation, it was a life saving technique.

She thought, “If I’m able to unseal my vessels, but can’t defeat my apprentice sister, then it will of no use.” She then searched the writings on the ceilings, trying to search for a skill that she can use immediately, one that will, as soon as she uses it, allow her to subdue Li Mochou. After a quick glance she could see that each skill was hard and complicated, even the easiest one will take ten of days to learn. She didn’t dare to any more; she was afraid that Li Mochou will follow her eyes, look above, and discover the ceiling’s map and “Nine Yin Manual”.

She heard Yang Guo calling and shouting, arguing with Li Mochou. It was fortunate, her careful apprentice sister was now not taking any notice of her, she suddenly thought of a plan. She turned her head and memorized the “Nine Yin Manual’s Unsealing Pressure Point Technique” and “Air Closure Technique” (bi qi mi jue) sections, she moved her lips over Yang Guo’s ear and quietly taught him. Yang Guo immediately understood.

Xiao Longnu whispered, “First unseal your pressure points.”

Yang Guo was afraid that Li Mochou and her disciple would find out, so he loudly called out and talked rubbish, “Ai ya, Martial Uncle Li, you are too ruthless, you are not respecting Ancestor Grandma, you further do not respect Ancestor Grandma's grandma, grandma's great grandma."

The two followed the instructions of the "Unsealing Pressure Point Technique" left by Wang Chongyang. The two have a good foundation, and in just a short while they managed to unseal their two pressure points. On the outside the two appeared still, but Li Mochou felt something was wrong and shouted, "What are you doing?" and walked up to them. Xiao Longnu quickly got up and threw out a palm, lightly striking her shoulder, it was the more advanced skills of the "Jade Heart Manual". Li Mochou could never have guessed in a million years that she had the ability to unseal her pressure points and was alarmed, and quickly jumped back.

Xiao Longnu said, "Apprentice sister, do you want to leave?"

Li Mochou was happy when she heard this, her kung fu seemed high, her intelligence rarely seen, right now she had been made a fool of and had been struck by the palms of a girl who has never seen the outside world. She couldn't prevent herself from getting furious, but she thought that she must hold her temper for the time being, first leave the tomb and then it still wouldn't be too late to finish them off. Although her stances were strange, there was no power behind them. It wasn't that she held back but because she didn't have internal energy; this meant that she wasn't anything special. Li Mochou laughed and said, "That's a good apprentice sister, I've already apologized, take us out of here."

Yang Guo thought this would be a good chance to get in between the relationship of Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo and said, "Gu Gu said that she is only able to take one of you out, is it going to be you or your disciple?"

Li Mochou said, "You little scum, shut your mouth."

Xiao Longnu didn't know what Yang Guo meant but protected him and said, "That's right, I can only take one person, I can't take anymore."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Martial Uncle, why don't you let apprentice sister Hong leave, you are older than her, you've lived enough. She's also prettier than you."

Though Li Mochou was older than Hong Lingbo, she was more beautiful. When she heard this she became angrier, but didn't make a sound.

Yang Guo said, "Fine! We're going! Gu Gu leads the way, I'm second, the last one will not be able to get out."

Xiao Longnu now knew what he meant and smiled; she held Yang Guo's hand and left the stone chamber. Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo moved forward at the same time and both reached the door; they were afraid that Xiao Longnu was going to switch on a trap and leave the last person there in the tomb.

Li Mochou angrily said, "Trying to take the place from me?" Her left hand shot out, wanting to strike Hong Lingbo on the shoulders. Hong Lingbo knew that her master was ruthless; if she didn't stop she would die violently at the hands of her master. She knew she had to let her master go first; she was both angry and frightened.

Li Mochou followed the back of Yang Guo tightly, making sure she was always within one step of him; she felt Xiao Longnu turning west and winding east, the path was heading lower. At the same time she felt her feet getting damp, she knew that they would leave the tomb soon but she glanced up and saw there were branches in the path everywhere. After a while, the path suddenly became steep, almost like a straight drop, if the four of them didn't have such good martial arts, they would have slipped long ago.

Li Mochou thought, "Mount Zhongnan is not high, if we keep going like this we'll be at the foot of the mountain, could it be that we are in the depths of the mountain?"

After dropping for an hour the path became level, the dampness in the air became stronger, and eventually they could hear running water. Soon they were in water up to their ankles. As they went further, the water grew deeper, from the legs to the stomach, and gradually to the chest.

Xiao Longnu quietly asked Yang Guo, "Do you remember and understand the "Air Closure Technique"?"

Yang Guo quietly replied, "I remember."

Xiao Longnu said, "In a minute remember to lock your air, and don't take in any water."

Yang Guo said, "Yes, Gu Gu, you have to be careful yourself." Xiao Longnu nodded.

While they were speaking the water had reached their throats. Li Mochou was secretly alarmed, and called out, "Apprentice sister, do you know how to swim under water?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I've lived in the tomb for all my life; how would I know how to swim underwater?"

Li Mochou became slightly more relaxed, she took another step, and felt nothing was there, water seeped into her mouth. She was alarmed and quickly leapt back, but she saw Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo dive underwater. At this stage, even if it was a mountain of knives or an ocean of swords she would still have to enter. She felt her clothes tighten, her dress was grasped by Hong Lingbo; she quickly attacked behind her, the attack wasn't light but she wasn't able to push her away. Right now the water was making a terrific noise, as though it was flowing down into the ground, the sound was frightening. Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo didn't know how to swim, they couldn't stand and floated up. Li Mochou was a skilled fighter, but right now she was alarmed and flustered, she extended her arms and legs and madly thrashed. In the midst of this she felt something so she used her strength to hold on; it was Yang Guo's left arm. Yang Guo was sealing his air, and was following Xiao Longnu on the floor of the water passage walking forward step by step. He was grabbed suddenly by Li Mochou and quickly tried to free himself; but Li Mochou was holding on tightly, how could she let go? Water rushed into her mouth and nose, but even when she passed out she was still holding on. Yang Guo tried a few times but was unable to pry her off; he was afraid that he was exerting too much energy and will start swallowing water, so he left her alone.

The four of them moved on for a while, then Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo couldn't hold their breath any longer and swallowed some water. Luckily the water slowed and the ground began to rise; not long after, they managed to get their heads above the water. After the time it takes for an incense stick to be burned, the path became brighter, and they exited through a cave. The two were exhausted and first circulated their chi to get rid of the water they swallowed, and then lay on the ground, recovering their breath.

Li Mochou was still holding onto Yang Guo tightly and Hong Lingbo onto her. Yang Guo loosened her fingers and took her hands off him. Xiao Longnu first sealed the pressure points on their shoulders, and then placed them on a rock, and let the water seep out of them slowly. After a while, Li Mochou spluttered and gave a few 'ah' sounds, she'd regained consciousness first and she saw the sun in her eyes. She was actually seeing daylight again. She remembered being trapped in the tomb and the danger and fear of diving under the water. Though her body was aching and numb, she felt much better than before. Not too long later, Hong Lingbo slowly woke up.

Xiao Longnu said, "Apprentice sister, you can go now!"

The arms of Li Mochou and her disciple were both paralyzed but the lower body could move freely; they got up, looked at each other and walked away.

Yang Guo took a look around, and saw they were in a shaded area, flowers were everywhere, he was delighted and said, "Gu Gu, isn't this nice?" Xiao Longnu nodded and smiled. The two remembered the events of the past few days; it really was the complete opposite. There wasn't anyone around; the cave was at the foot of Mount Zhongnan in a rare piece of uncultivated land. That night, the two slept under the shelter of a tree on the grass.

They woke up in the morning, Yang Guo said they could now go out and play, but Xiao Longnu has never seen the outside world before, and didn't know what it was like, she was frightened and said, "No, we'll first recover and then we'll finish learning the "Jade Heart Manual"."

Yang Guo slapped his head and said, "I'm so dumb! I forgot about your injuries." He thought again about how it would be inconvenient to take off their clothes here and practice, so he first helped Xiao Longnu to cure her injuries. Within two weeks, Xiao Longnu had recovered.

Under a large pine tree, they built two thatch huts for shelter. The roof was filled with purple rattan. Yang Guo liked the scent of flowers, so in front of his hut he planted roses, jasmine and the like. Xiao Longnu however liked simple decorations, and said the scent of the pine needles was better than a flower's, and so there wasn't anything in her hut, and surrounding it was just open space and grass.

The two of them slept in the day and practiced at night. In a few months, Xiao Longnu had completed learning the "Jade Heart Manual". A month or so later, Yang Guo also finished.

The two had completed everything and had nothing to do, and so Yang Guo mentioned going out into the world again.

Xiao Longnu felt the way of life now was great, nothing in the world could compare to it. But then she thought about how difficult it would be for Yang Guo's character to stay here, and so said, "Guo'er, our kung fu is now much better than before, but how are they compared to your Auntie and Uncle Guo?"

Yang Guo said, "We are still no where near them."

Xiao Longnu said, "Your Uncle Guo passes on his skills to his daughter, and the Wu brothers, if we meet them, then we'll have to suffer them."

When he heard this Yang Guo leaped up and angrily said, "If they bully me again, how will I be able to just let them?"

Xiao Longnu calmly said, "You can't beat them, it'll just be pointless."

Yang Guo said, "You can help me."

Xiao Longnu said, "If I can't beat your Uncle Guo, then it's no use."

Yang Guo lowered his head and tried to think of a plan. After a while he said, "Out of respect for Uncle Guo, I won't start trouble with them."

Xiao Longnu thought, "He has lived in the tomb for two years and practiced the Ancient Tomb's kung fu, his temper has mellowed."

Actually, when Yang Guo became older, he understood a lot of things; he knew that the way Guo Jing treated him was out of love and caring, he was touched. Now he was willing to back down, and besides, he didn't really have any serious feuds with Guo Fu and the Wu brothers. All they had was a little argument over crickets when they were younger, as time passed his feelings about this went away.

Xiao Longnu said, "It's good that you won't have fights and arguments with them. But according to you, even if you concede to others, others will still come and bully you; if we don't learn the kung fu that Wang Chongyang left, when we meet skilled enemies, we won't be able to fight them off."

Yang Guo knew that she didn't want leave this peaceful place, and he couldn't bear to go against her wishes and said, "Gu Gu, I'll listen to you, from tomorrow onwards, we'll begin practicing the "Nine Yin Manual".

As a result of this conversation, the two lived in the valley for another year. The two went back into the tomb via the secret passage, and learned the text of the "Nine Yin Manual". When they were sure they remembered every single word, they left and practiced outside. Within the year, their internal and external skills improved in every aspect. But the markings that were left in the tomb by Wang Chongyang were only the parts which could defeat the "Jade Heart Manual" and consisted only a small part of the "Nine Yin Manual", compared with what they know and what Guo Jing and Huang Rong knew, it was much inferior, but now, they weren't the only two that knew it.

One day after finishing practicing their martial arts, both of them felt that they had made great improvements. Yang Guo jumped up and down in delight, while Xiao Longnu was worried and unhappy. Yang Guo kept on telling jokes to help break her boredom. Yang Guo knew that they now have learned all the kung fu that Wang Chongyang left in the tomb. If they wanted to learn it to its highest level, one didn't know how many years it would take, but they grasped the essence and ideas behind the skills. All they needed to do now is to keep practicing and the skills will become more refined. He knew that Xiao Longnu did not want to leave the mountain, but there wasn't anything to stop them now, he was troubled and said, "Gu Gu, if you don't want to leave, then we'll stay here forever."

Xiao Longnu delightedly said, "Good" but as she said this she stopped, she knew that Yang Guo didn't want to stay, she wouldn't live happily, she quietly said, "We'll talk about this tomorrow." She didn't eat supper, and returned to her hut and slept.

Yang Guo sat down on the grass and stared, up until there were stars in the sky, and then retired to his hut. He slept until the middle of the night, when he heard wind sounds, the sounds were urgent, something was wrong. He woke up alarmed, and listened; it was the sound of fists and palms. He quickly darted out of his hut, and went outside of his master's hut and quietly said, "Gu Gu, can you hear?"

Right then, the sounds of the winds were louder, Xiao Longnu would definitely hear it but there was no reply from the hut. Yang Guo called out twice, and then entered, the room was empty; his master was not here. He became even more alarmed, and searched for the origins of the wind sounds. He ran for about a hundred feet, he didn't see anyone but from the wind sounds, he knew one of them was his master, but the opponent's wind from their palms were heavy and severe, their kung fu level would be above his master's.

Yang Guo dashed over, in the moonlight he saw Xiao Longnu and a strongly built person hovering around, fighting frantically. Although Xiao Longnu was swift and quick, the opponent's skills were powerful and strong; under the force of those palms, Xiao Longnu had to use all her strength to avoid them.

Yang Guo was startled and said, "Master, I'm here!"

The two of them came down, and Yang Guo was at their sides and faced that person, he was happily surprised, the person had a beard, his limbs like lances, his long face like a thorn, it was his Godfather Ouyang Feng.

But he saw him standing there like a mountain, throwing out palms at Xiao Longnu, she could only dodge them, she didn't dare to meet their power.

Yang Guo called out, "We all know each other, there's no need to fight."

Xiao Longnu was startled and thought how could this madman be a friend of theirs, while she was thinking she slowed down. Ouyang Feng threw out a palm, a strong force threw itself at her, it was extremely powerful. Yang Guo was startled and quickly leapt in front of them only to see Xiao Longnu's left palm meeting Ouyang Feng's right, he knew that his Master's internal energy couldn't compare with his Godfather, she will suffer a serious internal energy in a short while, so he stretched out his five fingers and stroked Ouyang Feng's elbow lightly, it was the newly learnt skill from the "Nine Yin Manual" "Hand Waves Five Strings" (shou hui wu xian). Though he wasn't too familiar with this skill, he knew the aspects of this attack, Ouyang Feng's arm became numb, his body's strength dispersed.

Xiao Longnu saw a chance to gain victory, she felt the enemy had become weak and immediately attacked, in a flash Ouyang Feng had become completely defenseless, just a light attack would have seriously hurt him.

Yang Guo intercepted his Master's palm, and sandwiched himself between the two, he smiled and said, "Watch it you two, we're friends." Ouyang Feng had not recognized him, he just saw that this young man was extremely skilled and angrily said, "Who are you? What friends?"

Yang Guo knew he was mad and disturbed and was afraid he would forget who Yang Guo was so he loudly called out, "Father...it's me, I'm your son." His words were filled with emotion. Ouyang Feng stood still, he took his head and studied his face under the moonlight, it was the son he has been searching for the past few years, but because he had grown tall, and his martial arts were high, it was hard for him to recognize him. He held Yang Guo and called out, "Son, I've endured many hardships searching for you!" The two held each other tightly, both of them producing tears.

Xiao Longnu has always been cold and detached, she knew that the only person in the world whose emotions towards her were as hot as fire was Yang Guo, but right now, when he saw Ouyang Feng, he was also like this. She feared leaving the mountain and sat aside pondering.

After Ouyang Feng and Yang Guo separated at the Iron Spear Temple, he hid under the large bell; Ke Zhen'E couldn't get at him. He meditated with his divine skills to cure his internal injuries, after seven days and nights his internal energy had recovered. But the external injuries that he received from Ke Zhen'E were not minor; he wasn't able to recover from them in such a short time. When he left the large bell, he went to an inn and rested his wounds for twenty days. When his wounds were healed, he went and looked for Yang Guo. But a month had passed, the world is a large place, how could he find him? He thought, "The child is most probably on Peach Blossom Island." He got a small boat and sailed to the island. He didn't dare to approach during the day, so at night he anchored in a bay behind a mountain. He knew he wasn't a match for Guo Jing and Huang Rong, plus he didn't know that Huang Yaoshi wasn't on the island. Even if his skills were twice as good, he wouldn't be able to fight all three of them. During the day he hid in a cave on a wild piece of land, and patrolled at night. The layout of the island was ingenious; he didn't dare run around where ever he pleased. Over the year, he was extremely cautious, in the light of day he didn't dare to take one step out of the cave, no one discovered him. One night, after his one meeting with Yang Guo, he heard the Wu brothers chatting and then he knew that Guo Jing had sent Yang Guo to the Quanzhen sect to learn martial arts. Ouyang Feng was pleased, he stole a boat and left the island, and rushed to Chongyang Palace. But he didn't know about the incident between Yang Guo and the Quanzhen sect, or that he was now in the Tomb of the Living Dead. Quanzhen was ashamed of what happened, no one talked about this matter, Ouyang Feng couldn't get any news from them. He searched for miles and miles around Mount Zhongnan, but he didn't know that Yang Guo was below ground so of course he couldn't find him.

Tonight by chance, he was walking by the valley when he saw a girl dressed in white with folded arms, sighing and looking at the moon.

Ouyang Feng asked madly, "Hey, where's my son? Have you seen him?"

Xiao Longnu glanced at him, then ignored him. Ouyang Feng went over to her and grabbed her arm, and shouted, "Where's my son?"

Xiao Longnu felt that his hands were extremely powerful, she had never met someone with such high skills, even the skilled fighters of Quanzhen could not compare. She was startled and used her a little capturing hand kung fu to escape. Ouyang Feng's grab was a certainty but he could not have guessed the opponent could just lightly brush him off; he didn't ask who she was and attacked. That's how the two started their fight.

The two of them told each other what had happened to them. Ouyang Feng was half clear and half confused, he wasn't able to explain clearly what had happened in the past, and didn't understand much of what Yang Guo said. But when he mentioned that in the past few years he has been learning martial arts from Xiao Longnu, Ouyang Feng loudly said, "Her kung fu is not as good as mine. Why are you learning from her? Let me teach you." Xiao Longnu didn't want to argue with him, she smiled calmly and went off to the side by herself.

Yang Guo felt this wasn't polite and said, "Father, Master has treated me extremely well."

Ouyang Feng was jealous and said, "So she's good and I'm not?"

Yang Guo smiled and said, "You are good as well. On this earth, only you two treat me well."

Ouyang Feng's words didn't make sense, but Yang Guo knew that he had suffered many hardships in the past few years searching for him.

Ouyang Feng held his hand, he laughed foolishly and after a while he said, "Your kung fu is not bad, it's a pity that you don't know the world's two most powerful martial arts."

Yang Guo said, "What are they?"

Ouyang Feng's eyebrows rose and he shouted, "You are a martial artist yet you don't know the world's two most powerful skills. What's the point of having her for a master?"

Yang Guo saw that he was pleased and angry; he was concerned about him and thought, "Father's illness is serious, when will he be able to recover from it?"

Ouyang Feng laughed loudly and said, "Hmm, let father teach you. The two most powerful skills are, one, the "Toad Stance", two, "Nine Yin Manual". I'll first teach you the foundation of the “Toad Stance”. He then recited the formulae for it.”

Yang Guo smiled and said, “You’ve taught me before, don’t you remember?”

Ouyang Feng scratched his head and said, “So you’ve already learned it, that’s great. Show it to me.”

Since Yang Guo entered the Ancient Tomb sect, he hasn’t practiced the strange skill that Ouyang Feng taught him; when he heard what he said, he immediately did as he was told. He had practiced it when he was on Peach Blossom Island, now with the advanced internal energy he has developed; he was able to demonstrate it spectacularly.

Ouyang Feng laughed and said, “Good! Good! Even though the stances don’t match, it’s better than nothing. I’ll teach you the rest of it now.” He waved his hands and bent his legs, and started reciting non stop, he didn’t care if Yang Guo remembered it or not, he taught a section of “Toad Stance”, and then taught him a section of the “Contrary Nine Yin Manual” (the deliberately flawed version of the Nine Yin Manual). Yang Guo listened for half an hour, and felt that the formulae’s ingenuity was boundless, but it was complicated and strange, how would he be able to understand in just a short while of time?

Ouyang Feng continued for a while when he caught a glimpse of Xiao Longnu from the corner of his eye, and called out, “Ah, it’s no good, I don’t want your baby Master to secretly listening in on us.” He went over to Xiao Longnu and said, “Hey, little girl, I’m teaching my son kung fu, don’t secretly listen in.”

Xiao Longnu said, “What’s so good about your kung fu? Who wants to steal it?”

Ouyang Feng thought for a while, and said, "Fine, just go far away."

Xiao Longnu was leaning against a tree and calmly said, "Why do I want to listen? If I want to go, I'll go, if I don't want to go, I won't."

Ouyang Feng was angry, his eyebrows raised and he stretched out his hand to grab her face, but Xiao Longnu pretended she didn't see and ignored him.

Yang Guo called out, "Father, don't disrespect my Master."

Ouyang Feng took his hand back and said, "Fine, fine, we are going to a far away place, are you going to follow us and listen in?"

Xiao Longnu thought that Guo'er's Godfather was extremely impolite; she didn't want anything to do with him and turned around without a reply. She didn't guess that her back would suddenly become numb, Ouyang Feng had stretched out his arm and sealed a pressure point on her back, he was uncannily fast, plus Xiao Longnu wasn't aware, by the time she felt something was wrong and put her guard up, it was too late, her whole body was paralyzed. Ouyang Feng then sealed another pressure point on her waist, he smiled and said, "Little girl, don't be anxious, after I've completely taught my son kung fu, I'll come back and release you." He then laughed loudly and walked away.

Yang Guo was memorizing the formulae of the "Toad Stance" and the "Nine Yin Manual", and felt that some of it was unclear and some a complete mess, but there were many ingenious points within it so he didn't suspect anything was wrong. He pondered deeply; he didn't know what was happening to Xiao Longnu.

Ouyang Feng came over and took his hand, and said, "We'll go to another place so your Master can't hear."

Yang Guo wondered why Xiao Longnu would try to listen; even if you were trying to teach it to her she wouldn't learn it. But his godfather's mind was confused and disturbed, there wasn't a need to argue with him and so he let him have his way and went with him.

Xiao Longnu was laying paralyzed on the ground, she was angry but also wanted to laugh, thinking that although her skills were refined, she has little experience in fighting real enemies. She was ambushed by Li Mochou and now her pressure points had been sealed by a crazy man; so she utilized her "Nine Yin Manual" skills, and tried to unseal the pressure points herself, she breathed in deeply to clear her pressure points. How could it be that the two pressure points did not show any sign of unsealing, but instead they became even more sore and numb, she couldn't stop herself from being startled. Ouyang Feng's pressure point skill was from the "Contrary Nine Yin Manual", and she used the "Nine Yin" skills that Wang Chongyang had left in the tomb. Instead of unsealing them it became worse. She tried a few more times, but the pain just got worse so she didn't dare to try it again and thought that after that madman has taught his kung fu, he will come back and unseal the pressure points. She thought there was no need to rush, she looked up at the sky and looked at the stars, and soon closed her eyes and fell asleep.

After a while she felt something brushing against her eyes, she could see things as clearly at night as if it were in the day, but now she couldn't see a thing. Someone had blindfolded her eyes, and at the same time she felt someone's arm holding her. When that person first held her, they were extremely afraid, but afterwards they gradually became more daring and didn't show any restraint.

Xiao Longnu was extremely frightened; she wanted to open her mouth and call out, but her mouth and tongue wouldn't move. She felt that person's mouth was coming close and kissed her on the cheek. She first thought that it was Ouyang Feng who was trying to rape her, but she felt this person's face was smooth; it was not Ouyang Feng's face which was bearded. Her heart shook, and her fear gradually disappeared, a passionate desire began to appear; she thought that it was Yang Guo who had come back to her. She felt his hands were beginning to become more and more improper, slowly taking her clothes off. Xiao Longnu had no way to move, and could only let him do as he pleased, she couldn't help herself from being embarrassed and surprised.

Ouyang Feng saw that Yang Guo was extremely clever, although he wasn't able to understand the formulae he passed on completely, he memorized it all. He was pleased and he spoke until the sky became bright before he had explained all the main aspects of the two skills. Yang Guo memorized it all and after a while said, "I have also learned 'Nine Yin' kung fu, but it is very different to your version. But what is the reason?"

Ouyang Feng said, "Rubbish, apart from this one, what other 'Nine Yin Manual' is there?"

Yang Guo said, "Take for example the method to learning the 'Changing Muscle Forging Bone' technique, you said the third step was air and blood must flow contrarily, surging through 'Sky Pillar' (tian zhu) point. My Master said, first protect the 'dan tian' and then surge through the 'Sealing Door' (zhang men) point."

Ouyang Feng said, "No, it's not correct, wait" he did what Yang Guo told him, and felt the way his internal energy was circulating was completely different. He didn't know that the manual that Guo Jing wrote out for him had been changed;

he couldn't help but go mad. He murmured to himself, "Why? Am I wrong or is your baby Master wrong? How is there such a thing?"

Yang Guo saw that his eyes stared straight, he looked like he was in a trance, he called him several times but there was no reply. He was afraid that Ouyang Feng was going to go mad again and was deeply concerned. He suddenly heard a noise from a tree behind him, an image appeared; within the thickets of flowers he saw the corner of an apricot yellow Taoist gown. This place was secluded, why would someone be here? The person was sneaking around, showing they weren't up to any good; he couldn't help but get suspicious, and chased after him. The person's steps were fast; from behind it appeared to be a Taoist.

Yang Guo called out, "Hey, who are you? What are you doing here?" He utilized his lightness kung fu and chased the person down.

When the Taoist heard the shouts he increased his speed; Yang Guo also increased his slightly, his body like an arrow shooting forward and he grabbed the Taoist's shoulder. He turned him around and saw that it was Quanzhen's Yin Zhiping. Yang Guo saw that his gown was untidy, his face was red for a while and then white for a while, he called out, "What are you doing here?"

Yin Zhiping was the head of the third generation students of Quanzhen, his martial arts were high. Usually he has an air about him, but for whatever reason now, his face was flustered and he couldn't speak a word. Yang Guo saw that he was extremely frightened, and remembered that day when he cut off his fingers and swore an oath. He wasn't a bad person and so he loosened his hand and let him go. He said, "Since it's nothing, go!" Yin Zhiping turned around and took a few glances back and hurried away.

Yang Guo laughed, "That Taoist looks like he's lost his soul, very amusing."

He returned towards the thatch huts and saw Xiao Longnu's legs appearing out of a thicket of flowers not moving at all, it looked as if she was asleep.

Yang Guo called out twice, "Gu Gu!" But there was no reply. He went over to her only to see Xiao Longnu lying on the ground; a blue green cloth was covering her eyes.

Yang Guo was slightly alarmed. He took off the blindfold; her eyes and cheek seemed to be different, seemingly showing a limitless delicate shyness.

Yang Guo asked, "Gu Gu, who tied this blindfold?"

Xiao Longnu didn't reply, her eyes hinted at his responsibility. Yang Guo noticed that her body was paralyzed, it appeared that her pressure points had been sealed, he stretched out his hand to pull her up, indeed, she couldn't move. Yang Guo thought for a while and assumed, "It must be Godfather who used his contrary pressure point sealing skill, otherwise no matter how high one's pressure point sealing skill is, Gu Gu would be able to unseal it herself." He then used the technique that Ouyang Feng had just taught him and unsealed her pressure points. Before, when Xiao Longnu's pressure points were sealed, she wasn't able to move, but he didn't predict that when he unsealed them, she would still lay softly in his arms, as if all her muscles and bones had melted away. Yang Guo stretched out his arm and supported her shoulders and softly said, "Gu Gu, my Godfather does things without any thought, don't take much notice of him."

Xiao Longnu placed her head on his chest and softly said, "You do things without thinking, you should be ashamed talking about other people like that!"

Yang Guo saw that she was completely different than she normally was, he was confused and said, "Gu Gu, I...I"

Xiao Longnu raised her head and irately said, "You still call me Gu Gu?"

Yang Guo became even more confused and said, "If I don't call you Gu Gu, what should I call you? You want me to call you Master?"

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "The way you treated me, how can I be your master any more?"

Yang Guo asked, "How...how did I treat you?"

Xiao Longnu rolled up her sleeve and revealed an arm that was as white as jade with no flaws; where there was a red 'Shou Gong Sha' before, now it had disappeared, embarrassed she said, "Take a look."

Yang Guo touched his head and stroked his ear and said, "Gu Gu, I don't understand."

Xiao Longnu, irritated, said, "I told you, don't call me Gu Gu anymore." She saw Yang Guo was frightened, and unable to speak his feelings so quietly said, "The disciples of the Ancient Tomb sect have always been virgins. Every generation has been virgins. My master gave me the 'shou gong sha', last night...last night what you did to me, how would my arm still have the 'shou gong sha'?"

Yang Guo said, "What did I do to you last night?"

Xiao Longnu turned red and said, "There's no need to talk about it."

After a while she softly said, "Before, I was afraid to leave the mountain, it's different now, where ever you go, I'm willing to follow you."

Yang Guo was delighted and called out, "Gu Gu, you're great."

Xiao Longnu's face changed and said, "Why are you still calling me Gu Gu? Could it be that you've not treated me genuinely with all your heart?" She saw that Yang Guo did not reply, her heart was anxious, she shivered, "What exactly am I to you?"

Yang Guo earnestly said, "You are my Master, you took care of me, you taught me, I swore that I will respect and revere you for the rest of my life, and listen to all you say."

Xiao Longnu said loudly, "Could it be that you don't regard me as your wife?"

Yang Guo had never ever thought about this; after being asked this he didn't know how to reply, he mumbled, "No, no! You can't be my wife, how could I be worthy to be your husband? You are my Master, you are my Gu Gu."

The chi in Xiao Longnu's body was aggravated; she spat out a pool of blood.

Yang Guo's arms and legs were flailing, and called out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu!"

Xiao Longnu heard that he was still calling her this way and stared at him with hate, she raised her left palm, wanting to strike down on his head, but the palm did not come. Her eyes turned from fury to blame, and then turned from blame to pity, she sighed and quietly said, "Since it's like this, then there's no need to see me ever again." She waved her sleeve, got up and hurried down the mountain.

Yang Guo called out loudly, "Gu Gu, where are you going? I'll come with you."

Xiao Longnu turned around, beads of tears were swirling in her eyes, she said, "If you see me again, then I'm afraid...I'm afraid I won't be able to control myself, I won't be able to spare your life."

Yang Guo said, "You are angry at me for learning martial arts with my Godfather, is that it?"

Xiao Longnu coldly said, "Why would I blame you for learning martial arts from other people?" She turned around and flew away.

Yang Guo was startled by all this and didn't know what to do, he saw her white image gradually getting further away, and eventually disappeared around the mountain side. He was filled with sorrow; he fell onto the ground and cried. He thought and thought, he didn't know what he did to disrespect his Master. What made her behave so strangely, she was gentle and tender one minute, the next she was furious? Why did she say she wanted to be his 'wife', why wasn't he allowed to call her Gu Gu anymore, he thought for half a day. "This must have something to do with my Godfather; he must have disrespected master somehow." So he ran to Ouyang Feng, but Ouyang Feng's eyes still blankly stared into space, he didn't move an inch.

Yang Guo said, "Father, what did you do to disrespect my Master?"

Ouyang Feng said, "Nine Yin Manual", "Nine Yin Manual".

Yang Guo said, "Why did you seal her pressure points and make her so angry?"

Ouyang Feng said, "Is it surge through 'Sky Pillar' contrarily, or is it surge through 'Sealing Door'?"

Yang Guo desperately said, "Father, why did my Master run away? Tell me, what did you do to her?"

Ouyang Feng said, "Who is your Master? Who am I? Who is Ouyang Feng?"

Yang Guo saw that his illness was acting up again, he was frightened and sad, he softly said, "Father, you are tired, we'll go and rest in the huts."

Ouyang Feng flipped upside down, his head on the ground and called out, "Who am I? Who am I? Where is Ouyang Feng?" He waved his palms wildly, his body flipping around, he used his hands to walk, and like the wind, he flew down the mountain.

Yang Guo called out, "Father!" He wanted to grab him but was kicked on the chin by his flailing leg. It was a heavy kick; Yang Guo couldn't keep upright and fell backwards. By the time he got back up, Ouyang Feng was over a hundred feet away. Yang Guo chased after him for a few steps, then stopped; he stood there for half an hour, and by that time there wasn't a trace of Ouyang Feng. He looked around, and saw the valley was empty, he could only hear the quiet sound of birds.

He became frightened and called out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu! Father...Father!" After a while, the valley echoed back, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu! Father...Father!"

Within the past few years he had never been away from Xiao Longnu one step, like a mother and son, a sister and brother; now she suddenly went away without an explanation. How could anyone tell him not to be sad? In his grief he thought about crashing his head into a rock and killing himself. But there was optimism in his heart; if his Master could suddenly leave, she could suddenly come back. His Godfather may have disrespected her, but when she considers that I haven't done anything, she will come back and search for me.

How could he sleep well that night, as soon as he heard the wind blow, or the cry of birds, he would think that Xiao Longnu had returned. He would laboriously get up and call out, "Gu Gu!" and go out to meet her; but each time he was disappointed. Eventually he decided against sleeping, he hurried to the summit of the mountain, and strained his eyes and looked around, he looked until the sky got bright. The peak was covered in mist, and on this large earth, there was only Yang Guo left.

Yang Guo suddenly thought, "Master isn't coming back, I'll find her myself. As long as I can see her, I don't care if she shouts at me or beats me, I won't ever leave her. If she wants to beat me to death, then I'll let her." He made up his mind and he felt rejuvenated. He went back to the huts and put his and Xiao Longnu's belongings into a bag, strapped it across his back, and headed away from the mountain.

As soon as he arrived at a place where there were people, he would ask if they have seen a beautiful girl dressed in white. In half a day, he asked tens of villagers, they all shook their head and said no. Yang Guo was anxious and asked again, but he lacked any manners in the way he asked. The villagers saw this young man boldly asking about the whereabouts of a beautiful girl, they couldn't help but get angry; someone asked him who the girl was. Yang Guo said, "That doesn't concern you. I ask you have you seen a girl like that pass here." The person wanted to question him instead.

An old man to one side tugged at his sleeve, pointed and said he saw a beautiful angel heading east, "I thought that the Goddess of Mercy had appeared but it was your woman." Yang Guo did not wait for him to finish and quickly thanked him and headed in the direction he pointed, he heard a laugh behind him as he hurried, but he didn't take any notice. He didn't know that the old man had seen that he was young and impolite so deliberately lied to him.

After a while, a fork appeared in the road, he didn't know which one to pick. He thought, "Gu Gu doesn't like crowds, it's more likely she will pick a quiet and secluded road." He picked the small twisty path on the left. How would he know that the path became wider as he walked, after a few turns, the path joined up with a large road. He hadn't had anything to drink or eat for one whole day, his stomach growled, and then he saw a few buildings in front of him. It was a town, he hurried to the inn and called, "Bring me some rice and vegetable dishes."

The inn owner bought him some everyday vegetable dishes and rice, he took a few gulps before he started to feel sad, he was beginning to choke up, he couldn't eat anymore. He thought, "Although it is dark, I still need to find Gu Gu. If I miss this chance to tonight, I'm afraid that I will never be able to see her again." He pushed away the dishes and called out, "Inn owner, I have something to ask you."

The inn owner smiled and walked over, "What orders has Master got for me? Aren't the dishes to your taste? I'll go and make something else, what does master like to eat?"

Yang Guo waved his hand and said, "It's nothing to do with the food. I ask you, have you seen a beautiful girl dressed in white pass by here?"

The inn owner pondered and said, "In a white dress, hmm, why is the girl dressed like that? Has someone from her family died?"

Yang Guo was getting impatient and asked, "Have you seen her?"

The inn owner said, "A girl yes, and she was wearing white."

Yang Guo was pleased and said, "Which way did she go?"

The inn owner said, "She's been gone for half a day! Master, it's best not to provoke that girl," he suddenly lowered his voice and said; "I offer you advice! Don't go and try to find her."

Yang Guo was alarmed and pleased, he's finally found the whereabouts of his Gu Gu, he quickly asked, "Where is she?" His voice quivered as he said this.

The inn owner said, "I'll ask you first, do you know that girl knows martial arts?"

Yang Guo thought, "How wouldn't I know?" He quickly said, "I know she knows kung fu."

The inn owner said, "Why are you still looking for her? It's dangerous."

Yang Guo said, "What exactly happened?"

The inn owner said, "First tell me, who exactly is that beautiful girl dressed in white to you?"

Yang Guo had no other ideas, it seemed like if he didn't answer his question the inn owner would not tell him the whereabouts of Xiao Longnu so he said, "She is...she is my older sister, I need to find her."

When the man heard him he immediately became even more respectful but shook his head and said, "It doesn't look like it, it doesn't look like it."

Yang Guo was impatient and grabbed him by the throat, then shouted, "Are you going to tell me or not!"

The inn owner's tongue hung out and said, "Yes, yes, it looks like it!"

Yang Guo shouted, "What doesn't look like and what does?"

The inn owner said, "Master, first let go, my throat is being choked by you, 'hei' 'hei', I can't talk. I can of course force myself to talk but..."

Yang Guo thought about this person and decided that using force on him would be in vain so he let go.

The inn owner coughed a few times and said, "Master, I said it doesn't look like it because that girl, 'hei' 'hei', your bigger sister looks younger than you, it looks more like your younger sister, not older. When I said it looks like it, I was talking about your fiery temper was the same as hers, both of you like using your fists."

When Yang Guo heard this he became slightly more relaxed and a smile appeared, and said, "My...my sister fought someone?"

The inn owner said, "Is that bad news? Not only did she fight, she hurt some people as well, look, look." He pointed to some weapon marks on a table. He said, "It was extremely dangerous, your sister's skills are great, one chop and she cut off two Taoists' ears."

Yang Guo laughed and asked, "What Taoists?" thinking that it must have been the Quanzhen Taoists who were causing trouble for his Gu Gu.

The inn owner said, "They are..." as he said this, his face suddenly changed, his head shrunk back and he turned around and walked away.

Yang Guo knew something was wrong and didn't chase after him; he picked up his bowl of rice and chopsticks, and scooped rice into his mouth. He glanced over, and saw two Taoists entering the inn. They were about twenty-six or seven years of age, there was a bandage across their cheeks and they sat at the table next to Yang Guo. A thick browed Taoist gave an order to quickly bring out some dishes and wine. The inn owner smiled and came over; he winked at Yang Guo and twisted his lips in their direction. Yang Guo pretended he didn't see and buried his head and started eating. When he heard news of Xiao Longnu his appetite was better, after one bowl there came another. His clothes were Xiao Longnu's work, they were rough and simple; traveling for one day and night covered his body with mud and dirt; he looked like a young villager. The two Taoists didn't look at him; they talked to each other quietly.

Yang Guo deliberately ate noisily, and twisted his body over to listen to what they were saying.

He heard the thick browed Taoist say, "Apprentice brother Pi, do you think Han and Chen will come tonight?"

The other Taoist had a large jaw, he replied deeply, "Those two are good and honest men of the Beggar Clan, and have a friendship with our Martial Uncle Shen. At Martial Uncle Shen's request, they will definitely be here."

Yang Guo took a closer look at them, and surveyed their faces; he didn't know them and thought, "The Quanzhen have over a thousand Taoists, I can't recognize them but they could recognize that I'm the little punk that was expelled from the sect, I better not face them. Huh, they couldn't beat my Gu Gu, now they are meeting some Beggar Clan members to get help."

The thick browed Taoist said, "You really can't be sure, it's a long journey..." The Taoist named Pi said, "Hmm, apprentice brother Ji, there's no use in worrying about it now, forget the fact that she is a girl, she has..."

The Taoist name Ji quickly said, "Drink the wine, don't talk about it." They talked to the inn owner, and ordered an upper class room; they were going to rest in the inn that night."

Yang Guo heard their words, and thought that if he followed them quietly, he would be able to see his master. As he thought about this, there was no limit to his happiness. After the two went to their room, he ordered the inn owner to prepare a small room for him next to theirs. The inn owner took a lamp and quietly whispered into Yang Guo's ear, "Master, you need to be careful, they want to take revenge on your sister for cutting their ears off."

Yang Guo quietly said, "My sister's temper is extremely good, why would she cut off their ear?"

The inn owner revealed a smile and quietly said, "Of course your sister treats you well, but not to others. Your sister was having a meal here... 'Hei' 'hei', is she really your sister? I don't really believe it, even if it was your sister, all the Taoists did was sit by her and stare at her leg a few times. Your sister got into a rage; she took her sword and started to attack the Taoists..." he wanted to carry on. Yang Guo saw that the light next door had been extinguished, he waved his hand to tell him to keep quiet, he was angry and thought, "The Taoists must have seen that my Gu Gu was beautiful and stared at her, making her angry. Huh, why would there be any good people in the Quanzhen sect?" He then thought, "Gu Gu once had a fight with Chongyang Palace, the two Taoists would recognize her, why were they staring at her face?"

He waited for the inn owner to leave, and then extinguished his light and got into bed. He decided he wouldn't sleep that night, he went over the two skills that Ouyang Feng had taught him, but the two skill's formulae were very complex, Ouyang Feng had recited it confusingly, he could only remember at most twenty or thirty percent, he didn't dare to give it much thought just in case he became lost in thought and become unaware of what happened next door.

He quietly kept guard up until the middle of the night, then suddenly he heard two noises; someone was jumping over the wall from outside. The window next door opened.

The Taoist named Ji asked, "Is it Han and Chen?"

Someone replied, "It's us."

The Taoist named Ji said, "Please enter!" He lightly opened the door and lit the oil lamp. Yang Guo concentrated and listened in.

He heard the Taoist named Ji say, "We Ji Qingxu and Pi Qingxuan greet the heroes Han and Chen."

Yang Guo thought, "The Quanzhen follow the motto 'Aim for Tranquility', these two Taoists belong to the fourth generation disciples, I don't know whether they follow the teachings of Hao Datong or Liu Chuxuan."

He heard a person with a high voice say, "We received the message from your Martial Uncle Shen, we didn't even stop our horses once and rushed straight here. Is that little bitch so powerful?"

Ji Qingxu said, "It's embarrassing, the two of us fought for a while but we weren't her match."

That person said, "What kind of martial arts does she have."

Ji Qingxu said, "Martial Uncle Shen suspects that she is a disciple of the Ancient Tomb sect, though she is young she has very good martial arts."

When Yang Guo heard the three words 'Ancient Tomb sect' he couldn't refrain from making two quiet grunts.

He heard Ji Qingxu add, "When Martial Uncle Shen mentioned the Ancient Tomb sect, the little bitch cursed and insulted the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' Li Mochou, but we don't know what it was about."

That person said, "So it looks like she doesn't have any powerful connections. You are going to meet tomorrow? How many people has the opposition got?"

Ji Qingxu said, "Martial Uncle Shen and that girl agreed to meet tomorrow at high noon, at 'Chailang' (wolf) valley forty li southwest from here, and having a duel to decide the matter. We don't know how many people the opposition has. With the help of the skilled Beggar Clan fighters Han and Chen, we won't be afraid that the opposition has too many people."

The other older voice said, "Fine, we'll be at that place at high noon tomorrow, brother Han, let's go."

Ji Qingxu showed them to the door and quietly said, "We are not far from Chongyang Palace, this duel must not be known to the Grand Masters Ma, Qiu, Wang, Liu, otherwise we'll be punished severely."

The one named Han laughed and said, "Your Martial Uncle Shen had already said this in his letter, and otherwise, why would you need the help of us two when Chongyang Palace has so many skilled fighters?"

The one named Chen said, "Relax, we won't leak anything. It goes without saying that Elder Ma, Liu, Qiu, Wang, Hao, Sun mustn't know about this; if your Martial Uncles find out about this I'm afraid that it'll be the same result for you." The two Taoists agreed at the same time.

Yang Guo thought, "They are ganging up together to bully my Gu Gu, but are afraid that others will find out, huh, sneaking around like this, they know they are scoundrels."

He heard the four speak a few more words, and then Ji Qingxu and Pi Qingxuan escorted them to the wall where Han and Chen departed.

End of Chapter 7.

Chapter 8 - Girl in White

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo saw Lu Wushuang was now staring danger in the face; he had no time to delay; he poked the bull in the buttocks. The bull started to dash at the six. The six of them were absorbed in battle when they suddenly saw a mad bull rushing forward; they were all alarmed and leaped out of the way.

Yang Guo quietly opened the window and slipped inside the room of the two Taoists. He saw two bags on the bed, he lifted one up and felt its weight, there were about twenty taels of silver and thought, "Just what I need for traveling expenses." He took it and placed it into his pocket. The other bag was around four feet long; it held two long swords. He took each one out separately and easily snapped the two swords; then placed each back into their sheath. He then wrapped the swords up. He was about to leave the room when another thought crossed his mind, he took off his trousers and urinated all over the Taoists' quilts and blankets.

He heard the sounds of someone climbing up a wall, and knew that the Taoists' lightness kung fu was very ordinary; they weren't able to clear the wall in a single leap. They had to first climb up on top of the wall and then leap down. He quickly darted back into his room, quietly closing the window. The Taoists did not notice anything. Yang Guo placed his ear against the wall to hear what was happening. He heard the Taoists quietly talking; they seemed to think that victory in tomorrow's duel was in their grasp. They were undressing when suddenly Pi Qingxuan called out, "Hey, why are the blankets damp and wet? Ah, it stinks, apprentice brother Ji, why are you so lazy; wetting yourself on the blankets?"

Ji Qingxu spat out, "What wetting yourself?" He picked up the blanket and called out, "When did a stinking cat urinate here?”

Pi Qingxuan said, “How can a cat urinate so much?”

Ji Qingxu said, “Hmm, that’s strange; where’s our money?” Suddenly the room was turned upside down as the two searched for their money. Yang Guo sniggered.

He heard Pi Qingxuan call out loudly, “Inn owner, inn owner, this is an evil inn, isn’t it? Stealing money from guests in the middle of the night?”

They called out a few times; the inn owner woke up from his sleep and came to ask what they wanted. Pi Qingxuan grabbed his chest and said that he was running an evil inn. The inn owner made a clamor, and alerted the inn’s waiters, kitchen staff and the attendants. The guests of the inn also all came out to see what it was all about. Yang Guo hid himself amongst the crowd, and saw the inn owner having his way in the argument, his mouth and tongue couldn’t stop moving, refuting so much that the two Taoists couldn’t get a word in edgeways. That inn owner loved to argue; normally he would stir up trouble with others even when nothing had happened. Now someone had started to provoke him first, in spite of the fact was that justice was completely on his side. He spoke until his mouth started to foam up, and his spirits were becoming more and more intense. The two Taoists were angry and embarrassed; they wanted to use force but they remembered the rules of their sect. They were now at the foot of Mount Zhongnan, how would they dare start trouble? They could only swallow their anger, close their door, and sleep for the night. The inn owner continued to chatter and grumble outside non-stop.

The next morning Yang Guo got up and ate a bowl of noodles. The chatty inn owner came over to greet him and he kept on mumbling curses and insults under his breath. Yang Guo smiled and asked, “How are those two villainous Taoists?”

The inn owner brashly said, "Real bastards. Those Taoists wanted to eat and live here free and so in respect for the Chongyang Palace I was going to allow it. But they dare to say that I am running an evil inn. Huh, I'm definitely going to tell the Chongyang Palace. The Taoists of Quanzhen are thousands and thousands in number, which one of them doesn't adhere to the strict rules and regulations? I can clearly remember the two villainous scoundrel Taoists' faces; I'm definitely going to point them out..." Yang Guo was amused and stirred in a few words of his own; he gave him the money for the room and food, and then made sure he knew the way to 'Wolf Valley' and he left.

In the wink of an eye he had already traveled over thirty li and wasn't far from the 'Wolf Valley'. He looked up at the sky and saw that it was still early. He thought, "I'll first hide off to the side and watch how Gu Gu copes with the enemy. It's best if Gu Gu does not recognize me at first."

Yang Guo thought about the day when he fooled Hong Lingbo, and felt pleased with himself, and decided to do the same once more. He went to a nearby farmer's house, and looked around in the back garden, he saw a large bad tempered bull, its horns knocking into the bull pen and making loud noises. Yang Guo's brain lit up and thought, "I'll pretend to be a farmer, and Gu Gu will definitely not be able to recognize me."

He quietly sneaked into the house. In the house he saw two babies playing on the floor so he didn't dare make any sort of noise. He found a set of farmer's clothes and changed into them and then put on a pair of grass shoes. He got some dirt and rubbed it onto his face. On the wall was a bamboo rain hat, which he took and wore. He picked up a grass rope and tied it around his waist, and then inserted a short flute in it. He went out and opened the gate to the bull pen. When the bull saw him coming, it began to get angry and when it saw the gate was open, it charged forward aiming to ram into his body. Yang Guo's left palm pushed down on the bull's head, and he flipped onto its back. The bull was tall and bulky; each leg weighed nearly one hundred kilos, its tail long and horns sharp. It was extremely large. In the blink of an eye it had already charged onto the main road. It was angry, violent and hot-tempered at this moment in time; it used all its strength to jump upwards, wanting to buck Yang Guo off its back. Yang Guo rode on its back steadily, and was extremely pleased with himself. He laughed and said, "If you don't obey you are going to suffer." He raised his palm, and chopped down on the bull's head. He only used twenty percent of his strength, and the bull could not endure it and bellowed. It wanted to jump again but Yang Guo sent down another chop. He chopped it on the head about ten or so times and the bull eventually did not dare to retaliate. Yang Guo then poked the bull's neck with his finger on the left side and it turned right; when he poked it on the right side of the neck, it turned left, when he poked it on the back it moved forward, and when poked at the front it moved back. He was able to control its movements with his finger. Yang Guo then used his strength to poke its behind and the bull headed forward fiercely. It dashed ahead as if it were a horse. In a short while they passed a forest, and came to a valley surrounded by mountains. It was how the inn owner described it. He leapt down from the bull's back, and allowed it to graze on the grass on the mountain slopes. His hand held the rope as he lay down on the ground.

He looked at the sun and saw it gradually approaching the middle of the sky. He was becoming more and more nervous; he was afraid that Xiao Longnu would ignore the meeting and wouldn't show up. It was quiet and peaceful all around, with only the bull making a few snorting noises. Suddenly, at the entrance to the valley were the sounds of palms clashing, followed by more sounds of palms clashing from the south side. Yang Guo was lying on the slope, one muddy leg crossed over his knee, his bamboo hat was covering his face, only his right eye was revealed.

After a while, three Taoists appeared at the entrance to the valley. Two of them were the Taoists from last night at the inn, Ji Qingxu and Pi Qingxuan, the other was about forty years old, he was quite short. He was probably Martial Uncle Shen. Yang Guo studied his face and remembered that he saw him at Chongyang Palace before. Two men followed. One was a rugged looking man; the other was an old man with a head full of white hair. They were the Beggar Clan members Chen and Han. The five walked closer and saluted each other. Then they formed a line, all looked around.

At that time, a quiet trotting sound was heard from outside the mouth of the valley. The five men all looked at each other and stared at the entrance to the valley. They heard the sound getting closer and closer; then there was a black and white object at the entrance of the valley. It was a girl in white riding on top of a black donkey coming forward.

When Yang Guo saw this his heart quivered, "It's not Gu Gu! Could it be another one of their team?" He saw the girl rein in the donkey a few feet away from the five. She glanced at them coldly; her face was filled with contempt and it looked like she didn't want to speak to them.

Ji Qingxu called out, "Little Bitch, well, well, well, you do have guts; you might as well call your help out."

The girl chuckled, a 'shua' sound was heard as she pulled out a small thin saber from her waist; it looked like the curved moon, the silver glittering in one's eye.

Ji Qingxu said, "There are five of us, we can't wait patiently for your help to arrive."

The girl waved her saber and said, "This is my help." The saber producing a 'weng' noise as it was waved in the air." When she said this, the six of them were shocked. The five were shocked at the fact that a girl, by herself, would have the guts to fight five skilled fighters without any help. Yang Guo was extremely disappointed and hurt, he was sure that he would see Xiao Longnu. How could he know that the so-called 'beautiful girl in white' was another person? The air in his chest surged up; he wasn't able to control it anymore and called out. When he called out, the other six were alarmed; but all they saw was a farmer letting his bull graze on the slope and they didn't take any notice of him. They thought that it was just a young country bumpkin who had suffered some problem and was crying out.

Ji Qingxu pointed at the one named Han and said, "This is the Beggar Clan's hero Han." He pointed to the one named Chen and said, "This is the Beggar Clan's hero Chen." He then pointed to 'Martial Uncle Shen' and said, "Our Martial Uncle Shen Zhifan, you've seen him before."

The girl ignored him, her eyes cold, she glanced at them a few times, treating them as nothing.

Shen Zhifan said, "You came on your own; so we can't fight with you. We'll give you a deadline of ten days. In ten days you need to bring four helpers to meet us."

The girl answered, "I've said I've already got my help; against you bunch of nobodies why do I need to get more people?"

Shen Zhifan angrily said, "Little girl, you really are bold." His words were meant to be insults and he managed to force himself to ask, "Are you from the Ancient Tomb sect?"

The girl said, "So what if I am? So what if I'm not? You stupid old Taoist, do you have the guts to fight with me or don't you?”

Shen Zhifan saw that she was alone but was sure that she had strong back-up and had them nearby. He was also afraid that he would invite trouble from the Ancient Tomb's Li Mochou so he said, “Miss, I have a question; why did you hurt members of my sect for no reason? If it was our fault, then I will publicly apologize to your master, but if Miss can't give a good reason then forgive us for being impolite.”

The girl chuckled and said, “Of course it was those two bullish Taoists' fault and I just taught them a lesson. If there weren't so many scoundrels in the world, why would I cut off their ears?”

Shen Zhifan saw that she was extremely brash and couldn't help being startled. The beggar named Chen was old but he still had a temper; he took a step forward and shouted, “Little girl, you are talking to Seniors here, how come you haven't got off your donkey?” As he said this he shot forward towards the black donkey and stretched out a hand to grab her right arm. His hand came out extremely quick. The girl wasn't able to dodge it and she was grabbed immediately. Her right hand was also the hand that was holding her blade, so she wasn't able to use it to repel the attack. Unexpectedly, the cold light of the saber moved, the girl's arm twisted and the curved blade sliced down. Beggar Chen was startled and quickly let go. At least he was alert, and quickly changed his stance but the blade had cut two fingers. He quickly leapt back and drew out a saber and called out, “Bitch, you must be bored with your life.” The beggar named Han drew out a lead hammer, and Shen Zhifan drew out his sword. Ji Qingxu and Pi Qingxuan took hold of their swords' handles and pulled them out. But they felt that something was wrong with the sword's weight. Both of them called out ‘Ai!’ in shock, the swords in their hands were broken.

When the girl saw the two Taoists' expressions she couldn't stop herself from laughing. Yang Guo was lamenting at this time, when he heard the girl laugh he looked at the two Taoists' embarrassed expression. He couldn't stop himself from turning his tears into laughter. He saw the girl bend her waist and hack down with her saber at Pi Qingxuan's head. Pi Qingxuan quickly pulled back his head but he didn't know the move wasn't finished, a slight turn of the wrist and the saber turned in the air and eventually cut Pi Qingxuan's right cheek; blood started to flow from it. The other four were alarmed and angry, they quickly surrounded her. The Taoists Pi and Ji retreated to the rear, their hands holding onto the broken swords. They didn't want to throw them away but they weren't much use. They didn't know what to do.

The girl called out clearly, her left hand pulled on the reins and the donkey dashed forward. Beggar Chen and Han were the closest, the blade and the hammer both attacked. Shen Zhifan followed and used Quanzhen's sword techniques, every stance aiming for the important points of the enemy. Yang Guo saw that although his sword skills were vicious, compared with Zhao Zhijing and Yin Zhiping, their skills were far apart. Out of the Taoists with the name Zhi, he was the lesser skilled. Yang Guo was now calm, he studied the girl's face carefully; he saw that she had a pretty oval face and she was younger than him by a year or so. It's no wonder the inn owner didn't believe that the 'beautiful girl in white' was his older sister. Though she wore white, her skin was slightly dark; it was very different from the brilliant snow white of Xiao Longnu. He saw that her saber stances were light and swift and seemed to be derived from the Ancient Tomb sword stances; there were more stabs and thrusts and rather less chops and hacks.

Yang Guo watched for a few stances and thought, "Indeed she is using our sect's kung fu, could it be that she is a student of Li Mochou?" Yang Guo thought that both sides weren't good people and he didn't care less who won or lost; but then another thought entered his mind. "How could you be the 'beautiful girl in white'? You're not even worthy to be my Gu Gu's maid." He folded his arms behind his head and lay down facing the sky, watching the battle.

For the first ten moves or so, the girl was able to hold her own; she was on the donkey's back, attacking from above with the saber. The five of them had no choice but to jump back and dodge. Another ten moves passed, Ji Qingxu saw that the broken sword in his hand was useless, then thought suddenly entered him and he called out, "Apprentice brother Pi, follow me." He quickly headed to the nearby woods and picked a fine small tree; he chopped its roots and branches with his broken swords and made a large club. Pi Qingxuan did the same. The two attacked from the left and right, thrusting toward the donkey.

The girl quietly said, "Shameless!" She waved her saber at them to fend them off and became distracted. Beggar Han's hammer and Shen Zhifan's sword arrived. The girl quickly used a risky technique; she lowered her head and slanted her body, the hammer's wind swept over her face. A clashing sound was heard as the saber met with the sword and at that moment the black donkey cried out in pain and reared. Ji Qingxu had struck it with the club. Beggar Chen did a roll and used his saber techniques. The flat side of his saber struck heavily down on the donkey's leg; the donkey immediately rolled over. The young girl was now unable to fight them from the donkey's back. She saw a sword coming straight at her and immediately flew away; she grabbed Pi Qingxuan's stick and snapped it in half. Her legs landed on the ground and she slashed across with her saber, repelling beggar Chen's chop.

Yang Guo was startled, "What? Is she hurt?"

The girl was actually slightly lame in her left leg, from the leap, one could see her restricted movements, and this is why she had refused to come down from her donkey. Yang Guo's heroic nature was moved and he wanted to intervene and help her. But a thought entered his mind, "Gu Gu and I were fine living in the tomb; it was that evil woman Li Mochou who caused us to be in this situation. That girl pretends to be my Gu Gu, wanting people to call her the 'beautiful girl in white', she's shameless!" He turned away and stopped watching.

But he kept on hearing the continuous sounds of clashing weapons and wasn't able to curb his curiosity, he turned his head again. He saw that the situation had now changed, the girl was now dodging east and evading west, and she was defending more than attacking. Suddenly the Han beggar's metal hammer came flying in, the girl moved her head and dodged it, at the same time, Shen Zhifan's sword slashed across. A 'ding' sound was heard, her silver hair loop was cut; half her hair swept down. The girl's brows raised, her mouth opened, a frosty look came upon her face as she turned her hand and slashed across.

Yang Guo saw her angry expression and his heart shook, "When Gu Gu was angry, she looked exactly like this." Because the girl became angry Yang Guo decided to help her. He picked up seven or eight stones and placed them in his pocket. He glanced at her again and saw that she was in a frantic situation.

Shen Zhifan called out, "What exactly is your relationship to the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' Li Mochou? If you don't tell us truthfully, don't blame us for our actions!"

The girl's saber slashed across, hooking across the back of his head. Shen Zhifan couldn't predict that she would do this and wasn't able to block. Beggar Chen quickly called out, "Careful!"

Ji Qingxu fiercely struck the curved saber with his large stick and managed to save the life of Shen Zhifan. The five saw that her stances were all ruthless, not leaving anything to chance. In a short while, the girl continuously unleashed a series of dangerous stances. Shen Zhifan was sure that she was connected to Li Mochou somehow; if news of this ever got to that evil woman, he would have boundless troubles. He saw that she indeed did not have any back up, now was a good chance to kill her and seal her mouth. Every stance he used was aiming to wound the girl.

Yang Guo saw that the girl was now staring danger in the face; he had no time to delay so he flipped up and got on the bull's back. He hung his legs from its back and dangled down underneath and then poked the bull in the buttocks. The bull started to dash at the six.

The six of them were absorbed in battle when they suddenly saw a mad bull rushing forward; they were all alarmed and leaped out of the way. Yang Guo was dangling below the bull and saw the pressure points on the backs of the five men, the pebbles shot out, they were struck in the 'Soul Entrance' and the 'Spirit Hall' pressure points. He heard calls of 'Ai Ya!' and the five felt their arms become numb; their weapons dropped from their hands. Yang Guo then sent the bull up the slope. He dropped down from the bull's stomach onto the ground and called out, "Oh no, the bull's gone mad!"

Shen Zhifan's pressure points were sealed and his weapon escaped from his hand; but he didn't see the enemy do this and thought that this was the deed of the girl's backup. That person was highly skilled, how did he dare to fight anymore? Luckily his legs were still able to move, he quickly ran away but he still remembered his friends and called out, "Brother Chen, Brother Han, let's go!" The others didn't think about it and followed. Pi Qingxuan lost his bearings and was actually running towards the girl. Ji Qingxu called out, "Apprentice brother Pi, over here!" Pi Qingxuan was about to turn around when the girl took a step forward and chopped down with her saber. Pi Qingxuan was alarmed, he didn't have a weapon and quickly dodged to the side, but how would he know that the girl's saber wasn't chopping down in a fixed direction, it went east and then west, the light of the blade glimmered as it was about to slash down across his face. Pi Qingxuan raised his arm; a 'ca' sound was made as the saber hacked off four fingers. He had yet to feel the pain as he quickly turned around and ran away.

Beggar Han ran ten or so steps and saw that the girl did not follow and thought, "That Bitch is lame, how can she chase us?" When he considered that she was lame, he glanced at her left leg, then turned around and hurried away. How would he know that look angered the girl, she couldn't contain her fury and shouted out, "Scoundrel, don't you think I can't catch up with you?" She lifted her saber and swung it around a few times; a 'fu' sound was made as she threw it. She saw the saber glimmer in midair, a 'pu' sound was heard as the saber plunged itself in the left shoulder of beggar Han. That person kept on running with the saber in his back. In a short while, the five of them had escaped into the forest.

The girl chuckled but was suspicious, "Could there be someone nearby? Why did they help me?" The beggar named Han had taken the saber that she normally used away; she felt that it was such a pity. She picked up the saber that Beggar Chen had left and quickly went over to the forest to take a look but there wasn't a trace of anyone around and returned to the valley. She saw Yang Guo sobbing miserably on the ground, calling and shouting out that woe is me.

The girl asked, "Hey, little farmer, what woe are you talking about?"

Yang Guo said, "The bull's gone mad, it's skin and body is ripped and bruised, when I get back to Master's house he's definitely going to kill me."

The young girl took a look at the bull, but saw nothing was wrong with it and said, "Fine, your bull did help me out, I'll give you some money." As she said this she took out some money and threw it down to the ground. She thought that Yang Guo was going to thank her, but she didn't predict that Yang Guo would still have the same expression on his face, shaking his head not picking up the money.

The young girl said, "What's wrong with you fool, its money."

Yang Guo said, "One ingot is not enough." The girl took another ingot and threw it down to the ground. Yang Guo wanted to tease her some more and shook his head.

The young girl got angry and raised her eyebrows, and shouted, "I've no more fool!" She turned around and walked away. When Yang Guo saw her angry expression, he couldn't stop the blood in his chest and head rushing. His eyes ached, he remembered the expression that Xiao Longnu had when she scolded him, he made a decision, "If I can't find Gu Gu for the time being, I might as well look at that girl's angry look." He stretched out and grabbed her right leg and called out, "You can't go!"

The girl tried to pull away but he held her so tightly that she wasn't able to escape; she became even angrier and shouted, "Let go! Why are you holding onto me?"

Yang Guo saw that her anger was growing and he became happier. He called out, "I'm not going to return home, save me." He then loudly called out, "Save me, save me!"

The young girl was angry but was amused at the same time, she raised her saber and called out, "If you don't let go I'll chop you to death in one go."

Yang Guo held on even tighter and pretended to cry, he said, "Chop me to death, I'll be dead anyway if I return home."

The girl said, "Where do you want to go?"

Yang Guo said, "I don't know, I'll follow you."

The young girl thought, "There's no reason to have a little idiot following me around." She raised her saber and hacked down. Yang Guo thought that she wasn't really going to do it so he held tightly to her leg. He couldn't have guessed that the girl was ruthless; her chop was really heading for his head. Although she didn't want to kill him she did want to cut down on his head and let him suffer a little so he won't dare to bother her again. Yang Guo saw the saber coming down on him, when there was just a few inches between his head and the blade he rolled away and called out, "Murderer, murderer!"

The girl became angrier and dashed forward wanting to slash down again. Yang Guo was lying on the ground, his legs flying everywhere, he called out, "I'm dead...I'm dead!" His muddy legs and hands were scrambling about everywhere; he made himself look as dreadful as possible. But when the girl came hacking down with her saber, his leg would kick her wrist and in the end she wasn't able to hack down again. Yang Guo saw her angry expression; it was what he wanted to see and he stared at her. The girl saw that he was looking weird and shouted, "Get up!"

Yang Guo said, "Are you going to kill me?"

The girl said, "Fine, I won't kill you." Yang Guo picked himself up and gasped deeply, he secretly restricted his blood flow, and his face became pale, as if he was scared to death.

The young girl was pleased with herself and gave an 'humph' sound, and said, "Let's see if you'll still dare to trouble me." She raised her saber and pointed to the slope where Pi Qingxuan's fingers were hacked off and said, "I'm fierce and violent; I slashed off his fingers." Yang Guo pretended to be frightened and worried, he kept on shuffling backwards. The girl placed the saber in her belt and turned around to search for her black donkey, but the donkey had long disappeared. She could only travel by foot.

Yang Guo picked up the money and placed it in his pocket. He held the bull's rope and followed her and said, "Gu Gu, take me away."

The girl ignored him and sped up, in a short while she had left him without a trace. Who could have guessed that while she was taking a little break, he was hurrying towards her with the bull calling out, "Take me away...take me away."

The girl eyebrows raised and then utilized her lightness kung fu, in one breath she had gone a few li, and knew that he wouldn't be able to catch up. But in a short while she could hear a quiet call of "Take me away!"

The girl became furious; she turned around and took out her saber, raising it in the air.

Yang Guo called out, "Oh no!" He held his head and ran away. The girl just wanted him to stop following and that was it, she then turned around and walked away. Soon, she heard the snort of a bull; she turned around and saw Yang Guo about forty steps away, holding on to the bull following behind her. She stopped and waited for him. When Yang Guo saw her stop, he stopped moving as well, when she walked, he followed and when she chased after him with the saber he ran away. This stopping and following continued until it started to get dark; the young girl was still unable to escape from Yang Guo's pursuit. The girl saw that although he looked dumb, his pace was not ordinary and she thought that he must be used to running around in the mountains. She wanted him to catch up to her so she could knock him out or hurt his legs but each time he was able to roll out of the danger and escape.

After a few while, the girl was becoming tired; her left leg was lame and moving was troublesome. She had an idea and called out, "Fine, I'll take you away, you have to listen to what I say."

Yang Guo said delightedly, "You really are going to take me away?"

The girl said, "Yes, why would I lie to you? I'm tired; you ride on the bull and then let me ride with you."

Yang Guo lead the bull forward and caught up, under the cloudy skies, he saw her eye glistened and knew that she was up to something. He climbed onto the back of the bull. The girl's right leg pushed up and she lightly flew up onto the bull's back, sitting in front of Yang Guo. She thought, "My donkey is gone, riding on this bull won't be bad." She kicked the bull hard in the side. The bull felt pain and dashed forward quickly. The girl chuckled and suddenly elbowed backward with strength, hitting Yang Guo in the chest. Yang Guo called out 'Ai Ya!' and rolled off the back of the bull.

The young girl was extremely pleased and thought, "You little scoundrel, you suffered at my hands in the end." She poked the bull in the side and the bull hurried forward even faster. She suddenly heard the calls and shouts from Yang Guo, and the voice was just behind her, she turned her head to look around and saw him holding tightly onto the bull's tail, his legs in midair. He was towed in the air by the bull and his face was full of dirt and mud. Tears flowed from his eyes; he was extremely frantic but he still held onto the bull's tail tightly. The young girl had no other ideas and so raised her saber aiming to slash down at his arm. She suddenly heard a clamor; the bull had reached a little town.

In the crowd of people the bull had nowhere to go and stopped. Yang Guo wanted to tease the young girl and see her angry face; he lay on the ground and called out, "My chest hurts, you're beating me to death!" The town's people all gathered around and asked why.

The girl was going to take this chance of being surrounded by people and slip into the crowd and escape; but she didn't foresee that Yang Guo would pick himself up and hold onto her right leg. He called out, "Don't go... don't go!" Yang Guo called out, "She's my wife; she doesn't want me and beats me."

A person said, "A wife beating her husband, what is the world coming to?" The girl's eyebrows raised and she kicked out with her left leg. Yang Guo clambered up to the side of a burly man and gave him a push; the kick landed on his waist. The burly man shouted, "Little Bitch, kicking people?" He raised his massive fist. The young girl held the man's elbow and used his strength to fling him away. The hundred kilo body flew into the crowd, causing the people in the crowd to scream and shout, making quite a scene. The girl used all her strength to pull free but how could she when Yang Guo was holding on with all his life? She saw that another five or six people were coming up towards her, adding to her problems. She could only lower her head and say, "I'll take you away, quickly let go."

Yang Guo said, "Are you still going to beat me?"

The young girl said, "Fine, I won't!" Yang Guo loosened his hand and stood up. The two of them rushed out of the crowd and headed out of the town. They heard shouting from behind. Yang Guo had managed to hold on to the bull.

Yang Guo laughed, and said, "People say that the wife cannot beat the husband."

The young girl angrily said, "Stupid Sha Dan [Dumb Egg]! If you keep on talking this rubbish, saying I'm your wife and what not, just watch me cut your head off." She raised her saber as she said this.

Yang Guo held his head and jumped to the side and pleaded, "Miss, I won't say it anymore."

The girl said, "Look at you, even an ugly old hag wouldn't marry you." Yang Guo laughed foolishly and didn't reply.

Now, the sky was dark, the two stood in the unkempt land; they turned around, and saw smoke from cooking rising up from the town and both felt hungry.

The young girl said, "Sha Dan, go to the market and buy ten buns."

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "I won't go." The young girl's face turned angry and she said, "Why not?" Yang Guo said, "I won't go! You are tricking me to go buy some buns so you could sneak off." The young girl said, "I said I won't slip away so I won't." Yang Guo shook his head. The girl curled up her fist wanting to hit him but he quickly jumped to the side. The two of them ran around the bull like they were playing hide and seek. The girl was lame and it wasn't easy for her to move. She saw the boy tripping up in front of her crying and shouting out, yet, although she possessed lightness kung fu, she was still unable to catch up with him.

The girl was furious, she thought about her martial arts, yet for some reason, she had allowed an ugly and smelly country bumpkin Sha Dan to stay on her tail. She had no way to escape, it might be said that she was incompetent. Yang Guo had made himself so much like the character he was supposed to be that when the girl failed three or four times to kill the Sha Dan, she was not suspicious. She followed the main road south and she saw that Yang Guo was holding onto the bull and catching up. She thought that she must find a way to kill him unexpectedly. In the short time it takes to cook rice, the sky had become even darker. She saw an old and run down stone house; it looked abandoned and thought, "Tonight I'll sleep here and when that idiot is sleeping in the middle of the night, I'll kill him with one slash." She walked towards the house and entered, dust entered her nose, the chairs and tables were broken and it appeared that this house was deserted long ago. She cut some grass and wiped a long table clean; she lay on the table, closed her eyes and rested. She saw that Yang Guo hadn't followed her, and called out, "Sha Dan! Sha Dan!" She didn't hear a reply and thought, "Could it be that the fool knows that I was going to kill him and left!" She wasn't concerned with it, and after a while she fell asleep. Suddenly the smell of cooking meat entered her nose. She got up and went outside. She saw Yang Guo sitting in the moonlight holding a piece of meat and opening his mouth to bite into it. Before him was a fire, on top of the fire was an array of branches, meat was roasting on it, the smell of it floating towards her.

Yang Guo saw her come out and laughed, and said, "You want some?" He picked up a roasted piece of the meat and threw it towards her. She caught it with her hand and looked at it, it was a shank of meat, and she was hungry and started to eat it. Although it had no salt, it was still tasty. She sat by the fire and politely ate the meat. She first tore the meat off the shank, and then placed it into her mouth slowly, but she saw Yang Guo munching noisily, annoying her. She was hungry so she turned around and looked away from him. When she finished her meat, Yang Guo gave her another piece.

The young girl said, "Sha Dan, what's your name?"

Yang Guo said, "Are you an angel? How do you know I'm called Sha Dan?"

The young girl laughed and said, "Ha, so your name is Sha Dan. Where are your parents?"

Yang Guo said, "They've been dead a long time. What's your name?"

The young girl said, "I don't know. Why are you asking?"

Yang Guo thought, "Since you won't say then I'll anger you." He said brashly, "I know, you are called Sha Dan too, that's why you won't say."

The young girl got angry. She got up and punched him in the head and scolded, "Who said I'm called Sha Dan? You are the Sha Dan."

Yang Guo cried out and covered his head and said, "When someone asks me what I'm called, I say I don't know so other people call me Sha Dan; since you don't know, that means you are a Sha Dan as well."

The young girl said, "Who says I don't know? I just don't want to tell you. Do you know that my surname is Lu?"

This young girl was the little girl who was picking lotuses in Jiaxing's South Lake, Lu Wushuang. When she was plucking flowers with her cousin Cheng Ying and the Wu brothers, she broke her leg. While Madam Wu was helping to set her leg bones back together, Hong Lingbo arrived to take their lives, so her leg bones weren't set properly. When it healed, her left leg was shorter by an inch or so. Because of this she walks like a lame person. Although her skin was not white, she was still beautiful. When she was grown up she was even more so, but because her leg was lame, she was hateful.

When Li Mochou killed her parents and took her away, she was going to kill her but when she saw the handkerchief on her neck she remembered Lu Zhanyuan, and so she did not kill her. Lu Wushuang was clever; she knew that her life was hanging on a thread now that she was in Li Mochou's grasp. That witch goes and comes like the wind; she would not be able to run away, so she pretended to be obedient and tried to please her. Eventually the urge to kill the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity', who kills without blinking, calmed down. Sometimes Li Mochou remembered the hurtful events of the past and would summon Lu Wushuang and shout at her for a while. Lu Wushuang would put on a pitiful face and limp along. When Li Mochou saw her sorry look and after shouting at her and getting rid of her anger that would be it. Lu Wushuang pleaded to stay with her, and because she was just a little girl, Li Mochou did eventually allow her to stay. She buried her thoughts of revenge for her parents in her heart. If Li Mochou asked her about it, she pretended that she had forgotten all about them. When Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo were practicing kung fu, she would stand to the side and pass over swords and towels, tea and fruits, concentrating on the practice. She already had a decent foundation, when she watched them practice she noted everything, and when Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo went out, she would secretly practice. She would normally try to get in Hong Lingbo's favour. Later Hong Lingbo took advantage of the mood that Li Mochou was in and pleaded on behalf of Lu Wushuang. Eventually she became her disciple. A few years passed, Lu Wushuang's kung fu improved every day, but Li Mochou was still suspicious of her so did not teach her the most advanced skills. Even the intermediate skills were not passed on. Hong Lingbo took pity on her and would give her some pointers in secret. Although it couldn't be said that Lu Wushuang's skills were high, her skills were not low either. That day when Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo went to the tomb to search for the "Jade Heart Manual", Lu Wushuang noticed that they did not return for a long time, so she decided to escape and go to Jiaxing in search of news of her parents. Although she saw with her own eyes Li Mochou seriously wounding her parents, she had not seen them die; there was still a glimmer of hope. She held onto this glimmer of hope and went to find out the truth. Before she left, she thought she might as well go all the way, and took Li Mochou's book, the 'Five Poison Codex'; it was a copy of a list of poisons and their antidotes.

Her left leg was lame, and she hated those who looked at it. One day in an inn, two Taoists looked at her leg and she immediately shouted at them. The two Taoists did not have good tempers, so after a few words they used force and they started to fight. With her curved saber, she cut off their ears and agreed to meet them at Wolf Valley the next day.

That day when Li Mochou took her away and headed north, she and Yang Guo met each other at the entrance to the cave. They were both young, their faces had now changed; they weren't able to remember their encounter of years ago.

Lu Wushuang was full after she finished the second piece of roasted meat. Yang Guo used the light of the fire to look at her face, "Where on earth is my Gu Gu? If the girl in front of me was Gu Gu, and I was roasting meat for her, wouldn't that be wonderful?" He was deep in thought, and stared at her as if he was mad.

Lu Wushuang thought, "I'll endure your disrespectful stare for now; I'll kill you later in the middle of the night." She then returned to the stone house and slept.

In the middle of the night, she quietly got up; she went outside and saw Yang Guo by the fire not moving. The fire had gone out long ago. She went over to him and slashed him with her blade across his back. Her wrist suddenly shook, it started to ache; she couldn't hold onto the saber and let it go. She felt that the place she slashed across was like metal or stone. She became extremely frightened and leapt away, and thought, "Could it be that Sha Dan has reached the state of being impenetrable by blades and spears?" She moved away tens of feet, but Yang Guo had not chased after her. She turned around; he was still by the fire, not moving an inch.

Lu Wushuang was suspicious and she called out, "Sha Dan... Sha Dan, I have something to say to you." Yang Guo did not reply. She took a careful look, and saw Yang Guo's body had formed a circle, it looked extremely strange, she boldly went over and saw that it did not look like the body of a person, she stretched out her hand and touched him, it felt like the clothes were placed on top of a rock. She grabbed the clothes and lifted up; indeed there was a large rock below. Where was Yang Guo?

She stood there for a while and called out, "Sha Dan, Sha Dan!" She didn't hear a reply so she listened carefully; there seemed to be a snoring noise coming from the house. She went over there quietly and saw Yang Guo sleeping on the table that she had just slept on. His back towards her and he was snoring loudly in a deep sleep.

Lu Wushuang was angry, and didn't even think about how he ended up sleeping on the table. She immediately leapt forward raising her saber, and pierced into his back.

The saber's tip had plunged into flesh but she didn't feel any resistance in her hands. She heard Yang Guo snore a few times and then said in his sleep, "Who's scratching my back, don't, don't, I'm scared."

Lu Wushuang turned pale, her arms quivered, thinking, "Is this person a demon?" She turned around to run but her legs didn't listen. She then heard him say, "There must be a mouse on my back trying to steal my meat." He stretched out his hand to his back and took out a lump of meat, and threw it onto the ground.

Lu Wushuang finally breathed out and understood, "So that Sha Dan put the meat on his back and just now I stabbed into that, I've just suffered a fright for no reason."

She had failed twice to stab him and she hated him even more, she clenched her teeth and quietly said, "Rotten Sha Dan, see if I'm able to kill you this time." She dashed forward and raised her saber, then slashed down across his back. In the midst of the snoring, Yang Guo turned his body, the saber slashed down deeply into the wood. Lu Wushuang circulated her chi around her hands trying to remove the saber. Yang Guo pretended he was having a nightmare, "Mum, mum, the little mouse is biting me." His muddy legs shot out, the left leg striking Lu Wushuang's 'Crooked Reservoir' (qu chi) pressure point on the side of her body, his right leg landing on her shoulder sealing the 'Shoulder Well' (jian jing) pressure point. Those two points are two of two of the body's important pressure points. When those legs came out, of all the places to hit, they hit precisely those two places. Lu Wushuang wasn't able to move, she stood there, becoming a support for his legs.

Lu Wushuang was furious, although her body wasn't able to move, her mouth still could, she shouted out, "Hey Sha Dan, quickly move your stinky feet away." She just heard his snoring becoming louder. She didn't know what to do, in anger she opened her mouth and spat at him. Yang Guo moved his body; his right foot brushed across and struck her 'Large Bone' pressure point. Lu Wushuang's body immediately became numb all over, even her mouth wasn't able to open, the stench from his feet flowed into her nose.

In a short while, Lu Wushuang's anger stirred up again, and she swore to herself, "Tomorrow when my pressure points are unsealed, I'm going to chop up Sha Dan into seventeen or eighteen pieces."

After a while, Yang Guo felt that he'd had enough fun, he released his legs and turned around, although it was dark, he was still able to look at her angry expression clearly. The angrier she got, the more she looked like Xiao Longnu. Yang Guo stared at her in a daze, how would he be able to close his eyes? In actual fact, Lu Wushuang and Xiao Longnu did not look like each other. It's just that when girls get angry they all have a similar look. Yang Guo missed his master and looking at Lu Wushuang's angry expression reminded him of Xiao Longnu. It was like looking at a picture of her.

After a while, the moon was in the west, its light shooting into the room. Lu Wushuang saw Yang Guo's eyes were open, staring at her in a daze and shivered, "Could that Sha Dan be pretending to be mad? He sealed my pressure points, could it be that it wasn't an accident?" When she thought about this, she couldn't stop herself from breaking out in a cold sweat. At this moment in time, she saw Yang Guo's eyes looking at the floor; she followed his eyes and saw three shadows. There were three people standing at the entrance. She looked carefully and saw that the three shadows were holding weapons, she secretly cursed herself, "Crap, the enemy has to come now when Sha Dan has sealed my pressure points." Although she was suspicious, she couldn't believe that this dirty and humble farmer possessed a set of good martial arts.

Yang Guo closed his eyes and snored loudly. He heard someone call out from the door, "Little Bitch, come out, do you think this Taoist Master will let you off by standing still?"

Yang Guo thought, "Oh, it's him again."

Another person said, "We don't want your life, we just want to cut off your two ears and three fingers." The third person said, "This Old man is waiting for you outside; just get it over and done with." As they said this they moved outside. The three of them stood in a semi circle.

Yang Guo stretched up and slowly sat up and said, "Why are you calling outside, Miss Lu, you are here? Why are you standing there without moving?" He pushed her in the back a few times. Lu Wushuang felt a surge of strong chi running into her body, her body shook and the three pressure points in her body unsealed. She didn't bother thinking about what had happened and immediately got up and took up her saber. She leaped out of the house and saw three men with their backs facing the moon. She didn't say anything and flipped her wrist and thrust out at the person on the left. That person was holding a chain and saw the saber slashing towards him. His chain was heavy, its power was great and so was its accuracy. A clashing sound was heard as Lu Wushuang's saber flew out of her hand. Yang Guo was lying across the table and saw Lu Wushuang leap to the side, her left hand stretched out and thought, "Good, that Taoist will not be able to hold on to his sword." Indeed when her wrist turned up, she used the Ancient Tomb sect's kung fu, and she had taken the Taoist's sword. She chopped down, a 'pu' sound; the Taoist's shoulder had been struck by the sword.

Lu Wushuang used the sword and fought with the man who used the chain. The other short man held a spear; he pierced east and west, but was out of the order and stayed back. The man using the chain had good martial arts, after ten moves or so, Lu Wushuang gradually felt that she wouldn't be able to stand still. That person's steps seemed to be measured, he honored his status, Lu Wushuang had failed to get at him many times yet he didn't force the issue.

The Taoist wrapped up his wound, pointed at Lu Wushuang and cursed, "Ancient Tomb Bitch, such evil attacks!" He ran towards her attacking with his fists and legs. A white light glimmered; the Taoist's back was pierced by the sword. At that time, the short man thrust his spear at Lu Wushuang's back, and the man using the chain smashed down on her shoulders.

Yang Guo thought, "Oh no!" He picked up two stones and flicked them out, one at the spear, the other at the man's right wrist. He didn't know that the man was skilled, once the stone struck his wrist, he wasn't able to smash down with his chain, but his left palm came out like lightning and struck Lu Wushuang on the chest. Yang Guo was alarmed, he was young and inexperienced and wasn't able to tell that the man's fists and palms were good. He quickly dashed out and grabbed onto the man's neck, the man's body suddenly flew up and was flung away tens of feet. The Taoist and the short man saw that Yang Guo was powerful; they picked up the man and ran away without turning back.

Yang Guo lowered his head and took a look at Lu Wushuang, he saw that her face was golden and she was breathing weakly, her injury was serious. He put his arm around her back and slowly sat her up. He heard 'ge la' 'ge la', two light sounds, it was the sound of bones grinding. Two of her ribs had been broken by that man. She had passed out but once the bones moved, the pain was intense and woke her up; she gave out a quiet groan. Yang Guo said, "What is it? Does it hurt?"

Lu Wushuang was in extreme pain, she clenched her teeth and scolded, "Why are you asking? Of course it hurts. Carry me into the house."

When Yang Guo picked her up, it was unavoidable that there was going to be some movements. Lu Wushuang's ribs touched each other and the pain ignited again, she scolded, "Fine, bastard Sha Dan, you...you want to torture me. Where have the three scoundrels gone?" When Yang Guo used his skills, she had already fainted and didn't know that it was him that saved her life.

Yang Guo laughed, and said, "They thought you were dead, they clapped and left."

Lu Wushuang scolded, "Why are you laughing? Bastard Sha Dan, the more pain I'm in the happier you are, is that it?" Every time she shouted at him, Yang Guo would remember how Xiao Longnu would scold him. He lived in the Tomb of the Living Dead for a few years with Xiao Longnu and it was the happiest time in his life. Each time Xiao Longnu scolded him; he couldn't help but be moved as he knew that his Master was treating him with her heart. At present he wasn't able to find his Master, but at this time when he was alone, he had at least bumped into another girl in white. In actual fact, Xiao Longnu was cold and detached; when she scolded him it was just a few calm words. How was she like Lu Wushuang who screamed and shouted out insults and curses? In Yang Guo's present state, having a young girl scolding him was better than having no one, he ignored her insults and curses and just smiled, he placed her on the table. When Lu Wushuang lay on the table, her broken ribs moved again, she couldn't endure the pain and called out. When she called out in pain her lungs breathed out and this disturbed the ribs again causing further pain. She clenched her teeth as cold sweat poured off her head.

Yang Guo said, "Shall I fix your ribs back in place for you?"

Lu Wushuang scolded, "Rotten Sha Dan, what bones do you know how to fix?"

Yang Guo said, "My dog at home fought with the neighbor's dog. Its bone was bitten in half and it was me who fixed his bone back in place. Also, when Uncle Wang's sow had its rib broken, it was me who fixed it back into place."

Lu Wushuang was angry, but she didn't dare to shout out loudly, she huskily said, "You're calling me a sow, a dog. You're the dog, the sow."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Even if I was a pig, I'd be a boar. Furthermore, that dog was a bitch; a male dog won't be like that."

Although Lu Wushuang was clever and quick with words, every time she spoke a word her chest would hurt, she wanted to argue with him but she had no strength left, she closed her eyes and endured the pain and ignored Yang Guo.

Yang Guo said, "Once I fixed that dog's bone it recovered after a few days. When it fought again, it was as if its bone had never been broken."

Lu Wushuang thought, "It could be that Sha Dan really knows how to connect bones. If no one heals me I'll be dead. But if he helps to fix my ribs, he's going to touch my chest, how can I let him? Hmm, if he doesn't cure me, then we'll die together, if he does cure me, I won't let one who's seen my body live."

She'd had a tragic life since she was young. She endured it and fought for her life. Her character was different to others; she had been with Li Mochou a long time, her ears and eyes had endured many things. She had learned Li Mochou's ruthless and vindictive streak and at such a young age she was already filled with many evil thoughts. She quietly said, "Fine! If you lie to me Sha Dan, your death will be painful."

Yang Guo thought, "If I don't make it hard for her now, I'm not going to have a chance again." He calmly said, "When Uncle Wang's sow broke its ribs, his daughter begged and pleaded with me for help, she called me 'Big Brother' one hundred times, and then I helped her"

Lu Wushuang said, "Bull, bull, bull, rotten Sha Dan... rotten Sha Dan, ai ya" her chest was filled with severe pain again.

Yang Guo laughed and said, "If you won't call me that then fine. I'm going home now, have a nice rest." He got up and turned towards the door.

Lu Wushuang thought, "If that person goes, then I'm definitely going to die." She had to hold down her temper and said, "What do you want?"

Yang Guo said, "Originally, all I wanted was for you to call me 'Good Brother' one hundred times, but all along you have scolded and insulted me. I'll help you if you call me that one thousand times."

Lu Wushuang planned it in her heart, "I'll promise him now, once I get better, it won't be too late to get rid of him." So she said, "I'll call good brother, good brother, good brother ai ya ai ya"

Yang Guo said, "Fine, there are still nine hundred and ninety seven times left, remember that, you can finish it when you are better." He walked over to her, and stretched out his hand to take off her clothes.

Lu Wushuang automatically cringed back, she was alarmed and said, "Go away, just what are you doing?"

Yang Guo took a step back and said, "I don't know how to put your bone back in place with your clothes in the way, the dog and sow didn't have clothes when I fixed their bones."

Lu Wushuang thought this was funny but she would be embarrassed if she allowed him to take her clothes off. After a while she lowered her head and quietly said, "Fine, I won't trouble you."

Yang Guo said, "If you don't want to be healed, then don't. I don't care..."

As he said this, he heard someone suddenly say from outside, "That little Bitch must be within twenty miles of here, we'll quickly search around here..." when Lu Wushuang heard this voice she immediately turned pale with fright, she didn't care about her pain and covered Yang Guo's mouth, the person who was talking outside was Li Mochou.

When Yang Guo heard this voice he too was alarmed. He heard the voice of another girl say, "The saber that was planted in that man's shoulder looked like the silver saber of apprentice sister, and it's a pity that we couldn't get it for a closer look." That person was Hong Lingbo.

After the two left the tomb, they returned to Scarlet Cloud Manor, and discovered that Lu Wushuang had escaped, Li Mochou wasn't too bothered, but they didn't expect that she had also stolen the 'Five Poison Codex'. When Li Mochou roamed Jianghu, what the martial artists of the Jianghu world were afraid of was not her kung fu, but her 'Divine Five Poison Palm' and her 'Soul Freezing Silver Needles'. In the 'Five Poison Codex', it had the types of poison, its concentration, the antidote and the processing technique of the 'Divine Five Poison Palm' and 'Soul Freezing Silver Needles'. If the secrets were leaked, the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' would be like a poisonous snake without its fangs. She had long ago memorized the contents of the codex; there was no need to take it with her, and she hid the codex in a secret place in the Scarlet Cloud Manor. But she didn't know that Lu Wushuang was especially aware and noticed every detail, and knew her master's hiding place. When she decided to escape, she took the book with her.

Li Mochou was furious; she took Hong Lingbo and chased after her night and day. But Lu Wushuang had left long ago, and she kept to the small roads. Li Mochou and her disciple went north and then south, she searched east to west, and then she went over the places again several times but still couldn't find any trace of her.

One night, by coincidence, the two of them were near Tongguan, and heard members of the Beggar Clan spreading news that there was going to be a meet for the members along the western roads. Li Mochou considered the fact that there are numerous Beggar Clan members everywhere, their ears and eyes see and hear everything; there must be someone who had seen Lu Wushuang. The two rushed to the meeting place to scout for news. On the way there they saw a fifth band disciple being carried by another Beggar Clan member, around them was seventeen or eighteen Beggar Clan members escorting them. Li Mochou saw the person had a saber in his back; it was Lu Wushuang's silver saber. She slipped to the side to listen in, and heard a few angry Beggar Clan members talking, saying that it was a lame little Bitch who did this. Li Mochou was delighted when she heard this, she knew that this person was recently wounded so she quickly left and scouted around, eventually coming up to the stone house. When she got there, she saw the remains of the fire and smell of fresh blood and under the moonlight she saw drops of blood on the floor, they were new stains. It displayed the signs of a recent battle. Li Mochou tugged her disciple's sleeve and pointed to the house. Hong Lingbo nodded; she took out her sword and charged in.

When Lu Wushuang heard the voices of her Master and apprentice sister she knew that she had ran out of luck, she decided to lay there and wait for her death. She heard the sound of the door, a person in yellow dashed in, it was her apprentice sister Hong Lingbo. Hong Lingbo had friendly sentiments towards her apprentice sister, but she knew that this time her master would use every method that she knew to torture her and then slowly kill her. She saw that Lu Wushuang was lying on the table and thrust a sword at her chest to spare her the pain. As the sword tip was about to pierce her chest, Li Mochou stretched out her hand and patted Hong Lingbo's shoulder; her hand lost all her strength immediately and lowered.

Li Mochou chuckled, "Do you think I won't kill her? Why do I need you to rush into it?" She faced Lu Wushuang and said, "You see your Master in front of you and you don't greet her?" Although she was furious, her tone was normal.

Lu Wushuang thought, "Now that I'm in her clutches, even if I beg or plead, I'm going to suffer." She calmly said, "You and my family had deep feuds over the years, there is no need to say anything." Li Mochou stared at her; one couldn't tell if her eyes were filled with joy or hate. There was an expression of pity on Hong Lingbo's face. Lu Wushuang's lips curled up, her expression was one of pride.

The three of them stared at each other and after a while Li Mochou said, "Where's the book? Give it to me."

Lu Wushuang said, "An evil Taoist and a beggar took it!" Li Mochou was startled inside. Although she hasn't done anything to offend the Beggar Clan, she's had run ins with the Quanzhen. She knew that the Beggar Clan and the Quanzhen sect had a deep history; what's going to happen now that her book has fallen into outsiders hands? Lu Wushuang saw a wry smile on the face of her Master and knew that she was thinking up ideas of how to torture her. All along during her escape, the only thing she was afraid of was that her Master was going to catch up with her and now she has. Instead of first feeling fear she thought, "Where's Sha Dan? Where did he go?" She is facing death and when she thought about the ugly and dumb farmer, unwittingly she felt a warm feeling inside her. Suddenly a light from a fire appeared, a rumbling sound was heard.

Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo turned around to see a large bull heading inside. On the bull's right horn there was a saber attached to it, on the left horn was a torch; the force it was approaching at was frightening. Li Mochou immediately leapt to the side but saw the bull turn around in the house and rush out. When the bull first entered it was dashing ferociously, when it left it rushed away with the same speed. In the wink of eye it had traveled tens of feet. Li Mochou looked at the image of the bull running away and at first wondered, "Who attached the saber and torch to the bull's horn?" She turned around and both she and Hong Lingbo called out in shock, the body of Lu Wushuang that was lying on the table had disappeared.

Hong Lingbo searched the house and leaped up onto the roof. Li Mochou thought that it must have something to do with the bull so she chased after it. In the darkness she saw the light of the torch on the bull's horn entering the forest. By the light of the torch she saw that no one was on the bull's back, Lu Wushuang had not escaped on the bull. She then thought, "It must be, someone outside sent the strange bull in to divert my attention and then rescued her." She didn't know which direction to chase after, she then sped up and in a flash she had caught up with the bull. She leaped up onto the bull and saw that there wasn't anything strange so she leapt down again. Then she kicked the bull in the behind. She whistled and signaled Hong Lingbo, one was going to scout north to south, the other west to east.

Of course it was Yang Guo who sent the bull into the house. When he heard the voices of Li Mochou and her disciple, he slipped out through the backdoor and listened in through the window, after just one sentence he knew that Li Mochou had come to take Lu Wushuang's life. He immediately thought of a plan, he went over to the bull and attached the saber that Lu Wushuang had earlier dropped to the bull's horn, he then gathered some twigs and attached it to the other horn and lit them. He then hung below the bull and forced the bull to rush into the house; quickly he grabbed Lu Wushuang and hid underneath the bull, exiting the house. His movements were quick and the bull looked weird, Li Mochou had good eyesight but was caught unaware and didn't notice anything wrong. By the time Li Mochou had caught up with bull, Yang Guo had carried Lu Wushuang into the long grass and hid. When she moved, she was in severe pain, so all of the things that had happened; how Yang Guo rescued her, how they hid underneath the bull and how they dived into the grass was all unclear to her. After a while she regained her awareness and called out an 'ah' sound. Yang Guo quickly covered her mouth and whispered into her ear, "Don't make a noise!" They heard footsteps and Hong Lingbo's voice saying, "How can someone disappear in the flash of an eye?" Further away Li Mochou said, "Let's go. That little Bitch must have gone far away." They heard the footsteps of Hong Lingbo gradually moving away. Lu Wushuang was being smothered and was in pain. Yang Guo still held his hand over her mouth without loosening. Lu Wushuang struggled for a little. When she felt that she was being held in his arms she was embarrassed and anxious, she wanted to hit him.

Yang Guo whispered in her ear, "Don't move, your Master is lying." As soon as his words were said, they heard Li Mochou saying, "She really isn't here." Her voice was extremely close by; it seemed that they were right next to them.

Lu Wushuang was startled and thought, "If it weren't for Sha Dan, I would be dead!"

Li Mochou had suspected that she was hiding nearby. While she was talking far away, she immediately used her lightness kung fu without making a sound and arrived close by. Lu Wushuang almost fell into the trap.

Yang Guo carefully listened, when the two had really gone he removed his hand and laughed, "There's no need to be scared now."

Lu Wushuang said, "Let me go."

Yang Guo lightly placed her flat onto the grass and said, "I'll immediately push your bones back into place and then we'll leave this place. If we wait until tomorrow we won't be able to escape." Lu Wushuang nodded.

Yang Guo was afraid that she would call out in pain when he pushes the bone back into place and alert Li Mochou and her disciple. He sealed her numbing pressure points and stretched out his hand to take off her clothes, and said, "Don't make a noise whatever you do."

After taking off her outer garment, a white undergarment was revealed, removing this revealed an apricot yellow brassiere. Yang Guo didn't dare to take it off and looked up, and saw Lu Wushuang's eyebrows wrinkled, her eyes closed tightly, she was embarrassed and scared. Yang Guo had his first awakening of lust; when he smelled the fragrant scent of a virgin girl, his heart pounded wildly.

Lu Wushuang opened her eyes and quietly said, "Just cure me!" After she said this, she closed her eyes again and turned away. Yang Guo's hand shook as he unbuttoned her underwear; when he saw her breasts, he didn't dare to touch her chest. Lu Wushuang waited a while but felt a cool breeze brushing across her naked chest, she felt cold and turned around opening her eyes, and saw Yang Guo looking at her in a daze, she angrily said, "What...What are you looking at?"

Yang Guo was startled; he stretched out his hand and touched her ribs, when his hand touched her skin he shivered, like as if his hand was touching a fire, he immediately pulled back.

Lu Wushuang said, "Quickly close your eyes, if you look at me again I'll... I'll..." When she said this, tears flowed from her eyes.

Yang Guo quickly said, "Yes, yes, I won't look anymore, don't cry." He closed his eyes and felt out the broken ribs and pushed them back into place, he quickly covered up her chest with her underwear and calmed down. He gathered four sticks and placed two across the front of her and two behind. He then got some vines and tied the sticks tightly into place so the bones won't move out of place. He then buttoned up her garments and unsealed her pressure points.

Lu Wushuang opened her eyes and saw the moonlight on Yang Guo's face. His cheeks were red, he was blushing, he looked at her face and their eyes met, he quickly turned away. Her bones were now fixed into place, although they still hurt, it wasn't as painful as before. She thought, "That Sha Dan does know how to seal pressure points." She now could see that Yang Guo isn't an ordinary person, he is definitely not a 'Sha Dan', but ever since she met him she had insulted him and looked down on him. Now she had seen him save her yet she didn't change the way she talked to him.

She asked, "Sha Dan, what do you think we should do now? Shall we wait here or run away and hide."

Yang Guo said, "What do you think?"

She replied, "Of course we should run. Are we going to wait here for our death?"

Yang Guo said, "Where?"

Lu Wushuang said, "I want to go Jiangnan. Can you accompany me there?"

Yang Guo said, "I need to find my Gu Gu, I can't go far."

When Lu Wushuang heard this, her face dropped and said, "Fine, leave! Let me die here."

If Lu Wushuang had kindly asked him Yang Guo would of course reject her request, but when he saw her angry face, it reminded him of Xiao Longnu. It was hard for him to reject her and he thought, "Maybe Gu Gu headed south, if I escort Miss Lu there, maybe good deeds will be repaid, and the heavens might pity me and let me see Gu Gu again." He knew that this was a remote possibility but he had no way to reject Lu Wushuang's request, so he convinced himself, sighed, and then picked her up.

Lu Wushuang angrily said, "Why are you picking me up?"

Yang Guo laughed, "I'm carrying you to Jiangnan."

Lu Wushuang gave a smile and was delighted, she said, "Sha Dan, Jiangnan is far from here, can you carry me all the way there?" Though she said this, she was leaning on Yang Guo peacefully without moving.

The large bull had disappeared. Yang Guo was afraid that they might bump into Li Mochou and her disciple so he kept to the small paths. Although his legs were quick, his upper body did not move and did not disturb Lu Wushuang's wound. Lu Wushuang saw the trees by her recede, he was hurrying along the path like a dashing horse. He was much faster than she would be without carrying anything. His lightness kung fu was not below her Master's; she was curious and thought, "So this Sha Dan is highly skilled, how could he learn to such a level at such a young age?"

Not long after, the east began to lighten, she lifted her head and saw that although his face was dirty, he was handsome, his eyes captivating, and her heart was moved. She gradually forgot about the pain and after a while she fell into a deep sleep.

When the sky became bright, Yang Guo felt a little tired, he dashed over to a large tree and placed her gently down, and then rested next to her. Lu Wushuang opened her eyes and smiled, she said, "I'm hungry, aren't you hungry?"

Yang Guo said, "Of course I'm hungry, let's find a restaurant and get something to eat." He got up and picked her up again, but because he had carried her for half the night his arms felt numb so he lifted her onto his shoulders and slowly walked.

Lu Wushuang's legs were bouncing off lightly off Yang Guo's chest, she laughed and said, "Sha Dan, what exactly is your name? If you don't tell me I'll call you Sha Dan in front of others."

Yang Guo said, "I don't have a name, everyone calls me Sha Dan."

Lu Wushuang hurtfully said, "If you don't want to say, fine! Who's your Master?"

When Yang Guo heard the word 'Master', he didn't dare mess around because he respected Xiao Longnu so much, he turned serious and said, "My Master is my Gu Gu."

Lu Wushuang believed him and thought, "So his skills are passed on from his family." She asked again, "What family or sect is your Gu Gu from?"

Yang Guo dumbly said, "I don't know whether she is at home or what rank she is." (Yang Guo is playing on her words, the word for family can also mean home, the word for sect can also mean order.)

Lu Wushuang angrily said, "You idiot! I ask you, from whose school of martial arts have you learned?"

Yang Guo said, "Are you asking about my family's main door? It's made out of wood." (Again, a play on words)

Lu Wushuang's heart sank and thought, "Could this person really be a Sha Dan (Dumb Egg / idiot)? His martial arts are good but he's dumb?" So she softly said, "Sha Dan, tell me honestly, why did you save my life."

Yang Guo couldn't think of a reply, after a while he said, "My Gu Gu told me to save you so I saved you."

Lu Wushuang said, "Who is your Gu Gu?"

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu is Gu Gu. Whatever she tells me to do I'll do it."

Lu Wushuang sighed, and thought, "This person really is dumb." She had some warm feelings for him but now they turned into loathing.

Yang Guo didn't hear her say anything and said, "Why aren't you speaking?"

Lu Wushuang gave a grunt. Yang Guo asked again.

Lu Wushuang angrily said, "If I don't want to speak, I won't speak! Sha Dan, shut your mouth!"

Yang Guo knew that her face right now was a nice sight, but since she is sitting on his shoulders he wasn't able to see, he couldn't help but think, "What a pity."

Not long after, they reached a little town. Yang Guo found a restaurant and ordered rice and dishes, and the two sat down together. Lu Wushuang smelled the stench of cow shit on him and wrinkled her eyebrows, and said, "Sha Dan, sit over there, don't sit at my table."

Yang Guo laughed and sat at another table. Lu Wushuang saw that he was still looking at her, she was vexed, the more she looked at him the more loathsome he was, she hid her face and said, "Don't look at me." She pointed at a faraway table and said, "Sit over there."

Yang Guo gave a laugh and grabbed his bowl and sat at the entrance of the inn, and ate his rice.

Lu Wushuang said, "That's better." Although she was hungry, her chest hurt, it was hard to swallow. She felt an urge to take her anger out on Yang Guo but he sat faraway, she wasn't able to shout at him. Just as she was feeling troubled some people were outside singing, "Little Miss do good deeds." Another person followed, "Give the beggar a bowl of rice!"

Lu Wushuang raised her head and saw four beggars outside lined up all looking at her, she could tell from their eyes that they had come with ill intentions; she was secretly alarmed. She heard the third beggar singing, "The path of heaven is not for you!" The fourth one sang, "Hell has no doors yet you've entered through!" The four beggars were singing the 'Lotus Falling' begging tune, each one holding a bowl in their right hand and a stick in their left. There were four coarse pockets on their shoulders. Lu Wushuang once heard her apprentice sister say that the Beggar Clan members use the coarse pockets to differentiate between rank within the clan, fourth band members will have four pockets, these beggars were fourth band members. She remembered how she fought beggars Han and Chen yesterday at Wolf Valley, they had five pockets; it seems they were a level higher than these people in front of her. If she wasn't injured, she wouldn't fear the beggars; now she hardly had the strength to pick up chopsticks. How could she fight the enemy? Sha Dan's lightness kung fu maybe excellent, but he acts mad. Even if he knows martial arts it won't be too high a level. She couldn't help but be at a wits end.

Yang Guo was worrying about his stomach; it was as if he hasn't seen the beggars yet. After he finished his bowl he went over to the rice bucket and filled another, he stretched out his hand and picked a fish up from the plates in front of Lu Wushuang, the soup and juices of the fish spilled all over the table, he laughed foolishly and said, "Ha-ha, I'm going to eat a fish."

Lu Wushuang frowned slightly; she had no time to scold him. She heard the four beggars sing again, singing 'Little Miss' again. The four beggars repeated this three times, the eight eyes all fixed on her. Lu Wushuang didn't know how to deal with them, she slowly spooned the rice, pretending that she didn't hear but she was extremely worried inside.

One of the beggars loudly called out, "Little Miss, if you won't spare a bowl of rice, then how about sparing a curved saber." Another one said, "Come with us and we won't make it hard for you. We just want to clear a few things up and come to a fair conclusion." After a while someone said, "Just quickly come, do you really want us to use force?" Lu Wushuang thought that it would be no use whether she replied or kept quiet; she didn't know what to do. The fourth beggar said, "We won't use force against you, the heroes of Jianghu would laugh at the four of us for bullying a little girl, we just want you to come along and talk." From their tone, Lu Wushuang knew that they were about to attack, she knew that it would be hard for her to fight them off, yet she couldn't wait for defeat. Her left hand held the bench, when the enemy came she would use the bench to fight them off.

Yang Guo thought, "Time for me to do my stuff!" He ran over to Lu Wushuang's table and picked up the bowl of soup, his mouth was biting down on the fish, he mumbled, "I'm...I'm going to spill the soup!" The bowl tipped and half the hot soup spilled on the Lu Wushuang's right arm. She was facing east, her arm was slightly inwards, and when the soup came she immediately pulled back and turned around to take a look.

Yang Guo called out, "Ai Ya!" He used his right arm and wiped her arm and leg and at the same time, his left hand waved, four bamboo chopsticks flew out, each one shooting out at the beggars. The four chopsticks were extremely fast; before the beggars could see it their arms were in pain, a crashing sound was heard as four bowls crashed onto the floor. Yang Guo used his garment and wiped Lu Wushuang's sleeve continuously and said, "Don't...don't get angry...I'll...I'll...I'll wipe it clean."

Lu Wushuang scolded, "Don't mess around!" She turned around to look at the beggars and was alarmed. She saw the backs of the beggars going around the street corner and disappearing, the floor covered with the remains of broken bowls.

Lu Wushuang questioned, "Those four beggars are strange; why did they leave all of a sudden?" She saw Yang Guo's hands was filled with fish soup and vegetable sauce, and was wiping frantically on the table, she scolded, "Go away, aren't you embarrassed?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes, yes!" He wiped his hands on his clothes.

Lu Wushuang frowned and asked, "Why did the four beggars go?"

Yang Guo said, "They saw you were short tempered and wouldn't spare anything, there wasn't any use in begging anymore so they left." Lu Wushuang pondered for a while and didn't understand, she took out some money and told Yang Guo to buy a donkey with it. After she paid her bills she got on the donkey. As soon as she got on the donkey, her ribs moved and she shouted out in pain.

Yang Guo said, "It's a pity that I'm dirty and smelly, otherwise I could support you."

Lu Wushuang said, "Humph, still talking crap." She pulled on the rope, the donkey was extremely stubborn, and it leaned against the wall and forced her against the wall as well. Lu Wushuang had no strength in her arms and legs, she called out and fell off the donkey. Her right leg landed on the ground and slowly stood up, her wound was disturbed again and she was in pain. She angrily shouted, "You saw me fall yet you didn't help me."

Yang Guo said, "I'm dirty."

Lu Wushuang said, "Can't you wash first?" Yang Guo gave a stupid laugh and didn't say anything.

Lu Wushuang said, "Help me get on the donkey." Yang Guo did as he was told and helped her onto the donkey. As soon as the donkey felt someone on its back it immediately started to buck. Lu Wushuang said, "Quickly lead the donkey."

Yang Guo said, "No, I'm scared that the donkey is going to kick me. It would be better if it was my bull."

Lu Wushuang was exasperated and thought, "He's not completely stupid. Obviously he wants to hold on to me." She had no alternative and could only say, "Fine, you can ride on the donkey as well."

Yang Guo said, "Remember you told me, don't shout at me for being dirty and smelly."

Lu Wushuang said, "Yes, why are you wasting time?"

Yang Guo laughed and climbed onto the back of the donkey, his arms gathered around her, he kicked with a bit of strength in his legs, the donkey felt pain and didn't dare to cause trouble anymore and obediently walked forward. Yang Guo said, "Which way are we going?"

Lu Wushuang had already planned out her route, she wanted to go east through Tongguan and then through Zhongzhou and then go south following the main road. But after seeing the four beggars, she knew that she would encounter more Beggar Clan members along the way so she thought about going along the small paths. Go through the bamboo forest and towards Colt Dragon Stockade and then south via Purple Meadow. Although this would make the journey longer, it was a lot safer and it would be harder for her Master to catch up with her. After pondering for a while she pointed southeast and said, "That way."

The donkey trotted along slowly, as soon as they left the town, a small child rushed up to them and called out, "Miss Lu, I have something for you." As she said this she flung a flower to them, and then turned around and ran away. Lu Wushuang stretched out her hand and caught it, and saw a letter wrapped around it, she quickly opened the envelope and saw a yellow piece of paper, it read; "Your Master will be here shortly, quickly hide!" The yellow paper was coarse but the writing on it was elegant. Lu Wushuang gave out an alarmed shout, she pondered, "Who is that little kid? How does he know my name is Lu? And how do they know that my Master is going to be here shortly?" She asked Yang Guo, "You know that child don't you? It was your Gu Gu who sent him isn't it?"

Yang Guo had already read the letter from behind her and thought, "That kid was just a normal country kid, he must have been ordered to take the letter to us by someone. But who wrote the letter? It looks like it has good intentions. If Li Mochou really caught up, what should I do?" Although he had learned the "Jade Heart Manual" and "Nine Yin Manual", and possessed two of the greatest skills in the world of Wulin, he had only practiced them for a short time. Though he understood the essence behind them his internal energy wasn't deep enough. If Li Mochou caught up he would not be a match for her and in broad daylight there wasn't anywhere to hide. He was pondering but had no idea. When Lu Wushuang asked him he replied, "I don't know that little Sha Dan, but my Gu Gu did not send that kid."

As soon as he said this, he heard a noise; ahead was a carriage. Tens of people were crowding and pushing around; there was a wedding taking place. Although it was the countryside, the event was done with an extravagant air; it was done with much enthusiasm and energy.

A thought suddenly popped up in Yang Guo's mind, he asked, "Do you want to be a bride?"

End of Chapter 8.

Chapter 9 - A Hundred Ideas to Avoid the Enemy

Translated by Noodles

Lu Wushuang seemed to still feel the pain of her broken ribs in her dreams. When Yang Guo saw her face like this he immediately remembered Xiao Long Nu and then remembered the oath he swore. He broke out in a cold sweat and two slapping sounds were heard, he had slapped himself heavily across his cheeks.

Lu Wushuang was frightened at this moment in time, when she heard him ask such a stupid question she angrily said, "Sha Dan! What the hell are you talking about?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Let's play bride and groom. Why don't you pretend to be a bride? Won't that be beautiful? With a red veil covering your face, when people look they won't see your face."

Lu Wushuang was startled and said, "You're instructing me to pretend to be a bride to avoid my master?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "I don't know, you pretend to be a bride and I'll be the groom."

This was an urgent matter, Lu Wushuang had no time to scold him, she thought, "Sha Dan's idea is a strange one, but apart from this idea, there's nothing else." She asked, "How should we do it?"

Yang Guo didn't want to waste time, he lashed the donkey and it hurried forward. The small roads of the countryside were tight and narrow, with eight people carrying the sedan chair lining up along the road; the two groups had nowhere to pass. When the people saw the donkey charging forward they all shouted, telling the riders to rein it in and slow down. Yang Guo squeezed his legs, and urged the donkey to go even faster, in a flash it had come up to the crowd. Two strong men had earlier stepped up wanting to pull the donkey back so that it won't knock into the sedan chair. Yang

Guo's rope lashed out and wrapped around the two men's arms, he raised his arm and let go, the two men fell onto the ground. He turned around to Lu Wushuang and said, "I want to be a groom." He leaned forward and stretched out his hand to grab the groom who was riding on a white horse. The groom was about seventeen or eighteen years of age, he was fitted out with new clothes and with gold flowers on his head; the sudden grab by Yang Guo frightened him. Yang Guo lifted his body and flung him up, his body flew up over a distance of ten feet, when he was about to land, the people shouted and called out, stretching out their arms to catch him. There were about thirty people who were helping to celebrate, half of them were tall strong men of Guanxi but when they saw his skills and the groom in his hands, how did they dare attack? An experienced old man dashed up; thinking it was bandits, he said, "Please spare the groom Da Wang (king). The amount of money that Da Wang wants, we can discuss it."

Yang Guo turned around to Lu Wushuang and said, "Wifey, why are they calling me Da Wang? My surname is Da? I think he's even more stupid than me."

Lu Wushuang said, "Don't waste time, I think I can hear the bell of my master's donkey."

Yang Guo was startled, he listened carefully, and indeed he could hear a faint ringing sound. He thought, "She's quick." He then said, "Ling Zi (Bell) What Ling Zi? It's a sweets seller? Great, let's buy some sweets to eat." He turned around to the old man and said, "If you listen to my instructions then I'll let you go, otherwise" he lifted up the groom and threw him up in the air. The groom was so frightened that he began to cry. The old man made a bow and said, "We'll do as Da Wang instructs."

Yang Guo pointed to Lu Wushuang and said, "That's my little Wifey, when she saw that someone was getting married she thought that it was amusing, she herself wants to take part too."

Lu Wushuang scolded, "Sha Dan, what did you say?"

Yang Guo ignored her and said, "Quickly take the bride's clothes and put them on her, I'll be the groom."

It's not unusual for kids to pretend to be a bride and groom. But who would think that a bandit on a narrow road would suddenly want to play this game? The people all looked at each other in dismay, and refused. Looking at the two, one was a young man, the other was a young girl, and one could describe them as a married couple. But the crowd of people didn't care. Yang Guo heard the ringing of the bell getting closer so he leapt off the donkey and placed the groom on the saddle letting Lu Wushuang guard him and went over to the sedan chair, he pushed aside the curtain and pulled the bride out. The bride screeched out in fright, her face was covered with a red veil and didn't know what was happening outside. Yang Guo brushed aside her red veil and saw a face like the moon, a face full of joy. He laughed and said, "The bride is beautiful." He lightly touched her cheek. The bride froze in fright and didn't make a sound.

Yang Guo's left hand held up the bride and called out, "If you want me to spare her, quickly take her clothes and give them to my Wifey to wear."

Lu Wushuang heard the ringing of her master's donkey getting closer, she gave him a stare and thought, "That Sha Dan doesn't know how high the sky is or how deep the earth is and his mouth is still joking at this time?" She heard the old man following his instructions, "Quick, quick! Quickly change the bride's clothes." The nanny accompanying the bride quickly took off her phoenix headdress and her bridal costume and dressed Lu Wushuang with them. Taking off the groom's costume, Yang Guo changed himself. He turned around to Lu Wushuang and said, "Good Wifey, enter the sedan chair." Lu Wushuang told the bride to enter the sedan chair first and then she entered, lowering the curtain afterwards.

Yang Guo took a look at his grass shoes and wanted to change them when he heard the ringing sound from just around the bend in the road, he called out, "Turn around and head in a southeast direction, quickly! If someone comes and asks about us don't say you've seen us." He leapt onto the white horse and rode along with the groom on the donkey. When the crowd saw the couple had fallen into their hands, they didn't dare to disobey; they raised their gongs and cymbals and started their tune.

The sedan chair was picked up and turned around but after about a hundred feet, the ringing sound was becoming quicker, two donkeys trotted after them. Lu Wushuang was thinking about whether she would be able to escape from this danger and heard the now much closer ringing sound; her heart jumped and she carefully listened to the activities of outside.

Yang Guo pretended to be embarrassed and lowered his head looking at the horse's neck. He heard Hong Lingbo call out, "Hey, have you seen a lame girl walking past here?"

The old man from the crowd called out, "No...no..."

Hong Lingbo asked again, "Have you seen a girl on an animal pass by?"

The old man said, "No." The two passed the crowd and rushed on by. After a short while the two pulled the donkeys around and returned. Li Mochou's fly whisk flew out and wrapped around the sedan chair curtain, she pulled back and after a 'chi' sound, the curtain ripped in half. Yang Guo was alarmed and rushed forward, as soon as the fly whisk comes out a second time he will make his move and rescue her. He didn't know that after one look in the sedan chair, Li Mochou would smile and say, "The bride is handsome." She raised her head and said to Yang Guo, "Little punk, your luck isn't bad." Yang Guo lowered his head not daring to face her, but heard them trotting away.

Yang Guo wondered, "Why did she spare Miss Lu?" He opened the sedan chair curtain only to see the bride scared out of her wits, and Lu Wushuang had disappeared. Yang Guo was even more baffled and called out, "Ai Ya, where's my Wifey gone?"

Lu Wushuang laughed and said, "I've disappeared." He saw the bride's dress move and Lu Wushuang darted out; she had hidden underneath the bride's gown. She knew that her master was very meticulous and careful, she would examine all possibilities; she knew that her master would come back so she hid.

Yang Guo said, "You can relax and be the bride from now on, sitting in the sedan chair is much more comfortable than riding on the donkey."

Lu Wushuang nodded and said to the bride, "You are suffocating me, quickly get out." The bride could do nothing and exited the sedan chair and rode on the donkey that was previously ridden by Lu Wushuang. The bride and the groom had never met before, the groom saw that the bride was healthy and attractive, the bride saw the groom and she too was pleased. The two were delighted even with their fear, and soon forgot that they were being held hostage by a bandit.

They walked on for about twenty li (10 km/6.2 miles) and the sky gradually became dark. The old man kept on pleading with Yang Guo to let them go in case they missed the wedding's lucky period.

Yang Guo scolded, "Why are you so annoying?" As soon as he said this, something flashed by the roadside and two people hurried into the forest. Yang Guo was suspicious and chased after them. Indeed he saw the backs of two people, their clothes were old and torn, and they looked like beggars. Yang Guo reigned in his horse and thought, "Could the Beggar Clan have seen through us and set up a trap ahead? But at this moment in time, all we can do is head forward."

Not long after, the sedan chair caught up with him. Lu Wushuang poked her head out and asked, "What did you see?"

Yang Guo said, "Your curtain is torn and your face is not covered by the red veil. To be a proper bride one must cry and sob, even if the bride wants to get married, tears should flow and noses should run, calling out for your father and mother but not daring to leave. Where can you find such an unabashed bride as you under heaven's skies?" Lu Wushuang heard his words and understood the meaning behind it, their movements seemed to have been discovered. She lightly called out 'Sha Dan' and didn't say anymore. After a while the mountain path in front of them became steep, narrow and rugged, the people leading the procession were extremely tired long ago but didn't say anything in case they incurred Yang Guo's wrath.

In the wink of the eye the sun was now above the mountain, crows screeched as they flew in the sky. Suddenly, voices were heard around the mountain, they were singing, "Little Miss do a good deed, please spare us a silver saber."

Lu Wushuang's face turned pale, and she thought, "So the four beggars are hiding around here."

After the sedan chair turned a corner, three men could be seen in front of them, they were beggars. They were tall and strongly built; they were completely different to the four beggars they previously encountered.

Yang Guo saw that there were five pockets on their shoulders and thought, "These three five pocket beggars must be better than the other four, it looks like I'm going have to use my real skills."

The crowd carrying the couple had waited impatiently, one of them had taken a whip and lashed out at one of the beggars calling out, "Move out of the way... move out of the way!" The beggar did not move, he held the tip of the whip and pulled, the person holding the whip fell down. If this happened normally the crowd of people would have rushed up, but they had been frightened by Yang Guo previously and all thought, "So the three beggars are with him." No one dared to move forward and instead took a few steps back.

One of the beggars clearly said, "Congratulations Miss, little beggar here just want to beg for some money."

Lu Wushuang quietly said, "Sha Dan, I'm injured at the moment and can't fight, get rid of them for me."

Yang Guo said, "Fine."

He galloped forward on his horse and said, "Today is my wife's special day, she doesn't want any beggars to spoil it, now move." One of the beggars took a few glances at Yang Guo but couldn't recognize him from anywhere. The four beggars who had been struck in the wrist by the chopsticks all thought it was Lu Wushuang who did this and so did not tell their Martial Uncles about Yang Guo.

One of the beggars waved out his right hand. Yang Guo's horse was frightened and reared up. Yang Guo pretended to wobble and fell off the back of the horse and didn't pick himself up for a long time. The three beggars all thought, "So that person really is the groom."

The Beggar Clan is a righteous and chivalrous clan; they have always helped the weak against the strong and aided those who were in danger. They had only decided to go after Lu Wushuang because she hurt a member of their clan. When they saw Yang Guo falling onto the ground and didn't seem to know ANY martial arts they all felt apologetic, one of the beggars stretched out a hand to pull him up and said, "Sorry."

Yang Guo mumbled, "What's wrong with you people, if you want to beg for money then beg for money, why are you scaring my horse." He took out some change and handed it out. The three beggars thanked him according to the clan's rules.

Yang Guo laughed and said to Lu Wushuang, "You told me to give them money, I've already done it."

Lu Wushuang angrily said, "What use is there of pretending to be stupid to me?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes, yes!" He stepped to the side and brushed off the dirt off his body.

Lu Wushuang saw the three beggars were still blocking the way, she calmly said, "What do you want?"

One of the beggars said, "Miss is a skilled fighter of the Ancient Tomb sect, the three of us admire your skills and want a few pointers."

Lu Wushuang said, "I have a serious wound, how can I fight with you? If you don't like it, then we can arrange a later date and test out each other's skills after my injury has healed. You are skilled fighters of the Beggar Clan, today you are ganging up on an injured young girl; can you still call yourself a hero?"

After hearing her words, the three beggars felt that they were indeed in the wrong. Two of them said, "Fine! We'll come back for you after your wound has recovered."

The other beggar said, "Wait, where exactly are you injured? You have to let me take a look to see whether it's real or fake. If it is a real wound then I'll spare you today."

He didn't know that she was hurt in the chest; his words had no harmful intentions. But Lu Wushuang's cheeks immediately turned red, and couldn't stop herself from being angry. Feeling this anger she wasn't able to think of anything to say, after half a minute she scolded, "In Jianghu the Beggar Clan is known to be heroic and chivalrous, this is a lie, you people are in fact shameless scoundrels."

When the three heard her denigrate the Beggar Clan's name their faces immediately changed, one of them was rash and impatient; he dashed forward, stretching out his hand wanting to grab her out of the sedan chair. Yang Guo saw that the situation had become urgent, he called out, "Wait... wait. You lot asked for money, I gave you money, why are you still arguing with my wife?" He dashed forward in front of the sedan chair and said, "Although you three are beggars now, according to your faces you will become rich and become officials in the future, how can you do such disgraceful things and treat my new wife with such disrespect?"

The three beggars were startled and had no reply. The impulsive beggar said, "Move out of the way, we just want to test out the Ancient Tomb's kung fu, who's bullying who?" He lightly pushed out his hand. Yang Guo called out loudly and dropped to the side. The Beggar Clan has a rule, one must not hit out at someone who doesn't know martial arts. The beggar didn't know that this groom was so useless, just a light push and he fell onto the ground. If he was seriously hurt he would be punished within the clan and the other two would not be able to escape punishment as well. The three of them were startled and went over to pick him up.

Yang Guo shouted and called out, "Ai Ya, Ai Yo, mum!" The three beggars could not see clearly if he was hurt or not.

Yang Guo called out in pain and said, "You three are stupid, my wife is shy; how can she speak to strangers? And about this, what do you want to test out? First tell me. I'll then go and ask my wife and then come back to speak with you, is that alright?" The three of them saw that he was dumb but not stupid, they had had enough of this but it wasn't suitable to attack him. The oldest of the beggars thought, "That Lu girl is pretending to be a bride; if that young man really is the groom then he should help her. But if he is pretending to be a groom then he shouldn't be so useless." He carefully studied him but couldn't find anything wrong. The impulsive beggar waved out his hand and shouted, "Are you going to move?"

Yang Guo spread out his two hands and loudly said, "You can't harm my wife."

Another beggar said, "Miss Lu, are you ordering this Sha Dan to block for you, could it be that you think we won't be able to get to you with this obstruction? Just get it over with and come out here."

Yang Guo said, "Oh, you know that I'm called Sha Dan, how strange."

The impulsive beggar faced Lu Wushuang and said, "We don't have to fight, we just want to see how you used your saber to hack into someone's shoulder, what is this move called?"

Lu Wushuang knew that Yang Guo was trying to annoy them but without results, she was thinking about how to escape when she heard the beggar's question and replied without thinking, "It's called "The Mink greets the Moon", what about it?"

Yang Guo interrupted and said, "Correct, once my wife's saber comes out, with a 'fu' sound, it will be in your shoulder." His right hand extended out and found its way to the beggar's shoulder. He pushed downwards and the palm of his hand lightly touched the shoulder. When the three beggars saw this move they were all startled, and all thought, "He pretended to be a fake groom all along to trick us."

Although Yang Guo had not put any strength into his palm, the impulsive beggar who was struck felt embarrassed, and called out, "Fine, you scoundrel, pretending to be dumb, come, let me first test out your skills."

Yang Guo said, "You said you wanted to fight with my wife first, why do you want to fight with me now?"

The beggar angrily said, "It's all the same if I fight with you."

Yang Guo said, "Oh no, I don't know what to do." He turned around to Lu Wushuang and said, "My darling wife, my little Wifey, tell me what should I do to them?"

Lu Wushuang was beyond doubt now, she knew that he must be highly skilled, the palm he had just demonstrated was crisp and clean, she couldn't manage something like that but she didn't know what his martial arts origins were so she just said, "Do another stance of "The Mink greets the Moon" (diao chan bai yue)."

Yang Guo said, "Fine!" He bent his waist and extended his hand, a clapping sound was heard as he struck down on the beggar's shoulder again. The three beggars were astonished with that last attack. Yang Guo was definitely facing away from them and he didn't take a step to turn around, all he did was stretch out his hand and the chop came down on the Beggar's shoulder; that palm technique was extremely strange.

Lu Wushuang's heart shook, "That's definitely my Ancient Tomb sect's kung fu, how does he know it?" She then said, "A stance of 'The West Offers the Heart' (Xi Shi Peng Xin)."

Yang Guo said, "Alright!" His left fist came out, and landed on his opponent's chest. The beggar who was struck in the chest felt a strong force pushing him forward; he couldn't stop himself from flying away about a ten feet. He struggled to stay on his feet but the area of his chest where he was struck was not in pain, it was if someone had carried him and placed him further away. The other two beggars dashed up.

Yang Guo called out urgently, "Wifey, I don't know how to deal with them, teach me."

Lu Wushuang said, "The Illustrious Gentlemen Pushes Out" (zhao jun chu sai), "The Numb Nun Offers Life" (ma gu xian shou)."

Yang Guo's left hand rose and slanted, the fingers on his right hand stretched out, his form was in the position of strumming a zither, his five fingers flicked out at the beggar on the right, this was "The Illustrious Gentlemen Pushes Out". He immediately moved across and kicked the beggar on the left, his fists came together and pushed upwards, a clashing sound was heard as his fists struck the opponent's jaw. He then called out, "This is 'The Numb Nun Offers Life', isn't it?" He didn't want to hurt anyone so he didn't put any strength behind his attacks.

The four stances he used were all exquisite stances of the Ancient Tomb's "Beauty Fist Techniques". Ever since Lin Chaoying founded the Ancient Tomb sect, all the arts were passed on to females, never males. Lin Chaoying's "Beauty Fist Technique" took the names of famous beauties for the name of its stances. When it is used it is elegant, graceful and enchanting, yet it was deadly at the same time. Yang Guo learned martial arts from Xiao Longnu so of course he learned this set of fist techniques. He felt that although it was a refined set of skills, its nature meant that when a man practiced it, it wasn't appealing. When he was practicing he inadvertently changed its soft nature to hard and yang; its changes became swift and stylish, though the nature of it was slightly different, the technique of this set of fists remained intact.

The three beggars were all struck by the stances without knowing what happened but they didn't feel any pain from the stances. They weren't in awe of Yang Guo's skills; they whistled and attacked all at once. Yang Guo dodged to the east and darted to the west, he called out, "Wifey, it looks like it's becoming desperately serious; you are going to be a widow today!"

Lu Wushuang scoffed and said, "Heaven's Grandson Weaves Cotton"! (tian sun zhi mian).

Yang Guo's right hand wiped his left, his left pushed the right, and his stance resembled a loom weaving cloth, one scatter one push; his hands struck the beggars on the shoulders again.

Lu Wushuang called out again, ""The Civil Gentlemen as a Stove" (wen jun dang lu), "The Concubine is Drunk" (gui fei zui jiu)!"

Yang Guo raised his hand as if he was pouring wine and cut down on the impulsive beggar's forehead and caught his body; he twisted him around and flung him out to the right, his shoulder hitting another beggar squarely in the chest. The three beggars were alarmed and angry, the three of them used the kung fu they had obtained throughout their lives, yet now they couldn't even touch this kid's clothes. The boy looked and his hand waved out, whoever he wanted to hit he struck; although it wasn't painful when they were hit, it was extremely weird.

Lu Wushuang called out three stances in a row, "'Foolish Jade Blows the Flute' (nong yu chui xiao), 'The Descending Goddess Encroaches the Wave' (luo shen ling bo), 'Enticing Shoot Holding Fist' (gou yi wo quan)." Yang Guo did as he was told. Lu Wushuang was in awe, she deliberately gave him a hard stance, as Yang Guo was throwing out his fist, she immediately called out, "'Ruling Sky Hangs' (ze tian chui)." According to his form at the moment, it was impossible to use this stance, but because Yang Guo's internal energy was much higher than the enemy's, he actually managed it; his body went forward, his palms hanging down. The three beggars saw that his chest was exposed and there was a weakness, they were delighted and dashed forward, but they didn't know that his internal energy would hold them back and force them to retreat a few steps.

Lu Wushuang was pleasantly surprised and called out, "'One Laugh Overturns the Country' (yi xiao qing guo)!" This was a stance that she had just invented. A captivating beauty could overturn cities and countries with a smile, but how could this be used to fight with others?

Yang Guo was startled; he immediately laughed out loud, "Ha-ha-ha-ha, hei-hei-hei-hei, hu-hu-he-he", and circulated the profound internal energy of the "Nine Yin Manual". Although he hadn't refined this internal energy to a good level that could be used to fight off skilled fighters, the three band five beggars were just run of the mill fighters. When they heard this strange laugh, they couldn't stop their heads from shaking and eyes from being dazzled; their bodies shook a few times and they fell down onto the ground. Every person has a moon shaped small object in their ear which controls the person's balance, if this object is forced to shake, headaches and feeling light headed will be unavoidable. Eventually they won't be able to stand upright. Yang Guo's laugh was created by his strong internal energy, everyone's eardrums were being shaken continuously, and it was like the earth and sky were flipping over. Lu Wushuang felt faint and urgently grabbed onto the carriage to support herself. Calls of 'ai ya' and thudding noises all sounded together, the well wishers of the wedding, the bride and groom all fell onto the ground.

Yang Guo's laughter stopped, the three beggars got up, their faces grey and they ran away without turning their heads back. The rest of the party rested for half an hour and then carried the sedan chair on, now they treated Yang Guo's order as words from the gods, they didn't dare to revolt.

At 'er geng shi fen' (I assume its nine o'clock in the evening) they reached a town and Yang Guo let the people go. The people knew that they would be detained after being captured by this bandit, and would most likely suffer his wrath. How were they to know that this bandit really wanted to have a laugh and pretend to be a newly wed? They were surprised and all thanked and expressed gratitude to Yang Guo. The nanny was much more vocal and said, "Da Wang and his wife would stay together for hundred of years until both of you are old with white hair. You are going to have many little 'Da Wangs'." This made Yang Guo laugh; Lu Wushuang was embarrassed and angry with this.

Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang found an inn and called for some rice and other dishes. They were about to eat when they saw someone enter and after seeing the two of them, immediately turned around and walked away. Yang Guo knew something was wrong and went over to the entrance and saw two people standing in a pavilion. It was the two Taoists who fought with Lu Wushuang at Wolf Valley, Shen Zhifan and Ji Qingxu. The two of them took out their long swords and darted forward.

Yang Guo thought, "Why are you two trying to make trouble for me? Are you looking for pain?"

The two approached but slanted their body and brushed past him; they hurried into the hall and headed for Lu Wushuang. At this time, the ringing of a bell was suddenly heard, 'ding ling' 'ding ling'.

By the time the ringing sounds were in their ears, the source had arrived. The two Taoists' faces changed and they glanced at each other. They darted to the first room of the western wing and closed the door, and didn't come out again.

Yang Guo thought, "Rotten Taoists, you've probably tasted Li Mochou's pain before, that's why you're acting like this."

Lu Wushuang quietly said, "My master is near, Sha Dan, what should we do?"

Yang Guo said, "What shall we do? Let's run!" As soon as he stretched out his hand to help her up, the ringing sound had arrived at the entrance of the inn. They heard Li Mochou say, "Guard the roof."

They then heard the waiter say, "Angelic priestess, old senior's room, ai ya, I ..." A thudding sound was heard as he landed on the floor, there wasn't another sound. He didn't know that Li Mochou hated people who mentioned the word 'old'. What about when someone called her 'old senior'? The fly whisk was waved and robbed the old waiter of his life. She asked another waiter, "There's a lame girl here, where is she?" That waiter was already scared out of his wits, he couldn't reply and just said, "I...I..." Li Mochou kicked him away with her left foot; her right foot kicked open the door of the first room of the western wing. She went in and took a look; it was where the Taoists Shen and Ji were staying.

Yang Guo thought, "It's best if we leave by the backdoor, although Hong Lingbo will see us, it won't be too much trouble." He quietly said, "Wifey, escape with me."

Lu Wushuang looked at him and got up, thinking that if she was able to escape this time then heaven must be looking out for her. As soon as the two got up, a guest from the table in the eastern corner came up to them and quietly said, "I'll lure the enemy away, quickly think of a way to escape." That person sat in an out of sight place, Lu Wushuang and Yang Guo couldn't see his face. When the person was speaking his face was turned away, as soon as they finished speaking, he immediately left through the main door. They could only see the person's back. That person wasn't tall; he wore a flowing blue green gown. Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang looked at each other and then heard the bell ringing, going towards the north.

Hong Lingbo called out; "Master, someone's escaping." A yellow blur came out of the room; Li Mochou dashed out of the inn and chased after the escapee.

Lu Wushuang quickly said, "Quickly run!"

Yang Guo thought, "Li Mochou's lightness kung fu is extremely quick, she will be able to catch up with that person in just a second, and then she will return here. I won't be able to go that fast with Miss Lu on my back; we won't be able to run away." An idea dawned on him; he dashed into the first room of the western wing. He saw the Taoists Shen and Ji sitting by the bed, their faces' were still carrying the shocked look from before. There was no time to delay, Yang Guo didn't allow for the two to get up and ask questions as he dashed forward and moved his finger, sealing the two's pressure points, keeping them still. He called out, "Wifey, enter." Lu Wushuang entered the room. Yang Guo closed the doors and said, "Quickly take off your clothes!"

Lu Wushuang's face blushed and hissed, "Sha Dan, what are you saying now?"

Yang Guo said, "It's up to you whether you want to take off your clothes or not, I'm going to." He took off his outer garment and put on Shen Zhifan's Taoist gown and hat.

Lu Wushuang then understood, and said, "Fine, we'll pretend to be Taoists to fool my master." She stretched out her hand and undid her buttons. Her face turned red and she kicked Ji Qingxu. She said, "Close your eyes you filthy Taoist!" The two Taoists could not move but still had control of their five senses. They closed their eyes immediately; how would they dare to look at her?

Lu Wushuang said, "Sha Dan, turn around, don't watch me change."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "What are you worried about, I helped you fix your ribs back into place, haven't I already seen you?" As soon as he said this he felt that he was impolite and had offended her, he couldn't stop himself from feeling a bit embarrassed. All Yang Guo had to do was to lower his head and move away but he was in a trance, a slap came and he was heavily struck on the left cheek. Lu Wushuang thought that she could never have hit him in a million years, still she didn't hold back. She felt apologetic; she laughed and said, "Sha Dan, does it hurt? Who told you to speak such crap?"

Yang Guo touched his cheek and laughed, he turned around.

Lu Wushuang changed into the Taoist gown and laughed, "Take a look! Don't I look like a young Taoist?"

Yang Guo said, "I can't see so I don't know."

Lu Wushuang said, "Sha Dan, turn around."

Yang Guo turned around and saw her Taoist gown was flowing, it showed off her figure even better, he was about to say something when Lu Wushuang gave a grunt and pointed to the bed, and saw a Taoist's head sticking out of the covers, it was the Taoist whose fingers had been cut off by her, Pi Quanxuan. All along he had been lying on the bed resting, when he saw Lu Wushuang enter, he immediately hid his head under the covers. The two of them were preoccupied with changing and didn't notice him.

Lu Wushuang said, "He...he..." She wanted to say 'he saw me changing' but couldn't say the words. At this time, the donkey's bell was heard. Yang Guo listened and knew that Li Mochou had taken the donkey back. When the guest in blue green rode the donkey, the bell's ringing was scattered, when Li Mochou rode her donkey, though she rode it fast the bell's ringing was ordered. An idea came; he picked up Pi Quanxuan and sealed his pressure point at the same time. He opened the compartment underneath the bed and placed him in there. It's cold in the north, on winter nights the bed will be warmed by a fire underneath it, it was now summer, there was no need to light a fire but there was ash and coal beneath, Pi Quanxuan's face was covered with grey ash. The ringing sound of the bell stopped, Li Mochou had come back to the inn.

Yang Guo said to Lu Wushuang, "Sleep in the bed."

Lu Wushuang's brows raised and said, "A smelly Taoist has slept there, its dirty, how can I sleep in it?"

Yang Guo said, "It's up to you!" As he said this he stuck Shen Zhifan underneath the bed as well and unsealed Ji Qingxu's pressure point at the same time. Though Lu Wushuang felt that the bed and covers were dirty, she thought about how venomous her Master was so she got into the bed, facing the wall. As soon as she pretended to sleep, Li Mochou kicked open the door and came to search the room for a second time. Yang Guo took a tea cup and lowered his head, drinking tea, his left hand covering the fatal pressure point on Ji Qingxu's back. Li Mochou saw that there were still three Taoists, Ji Qingxu's face was grey and was shaking; Li Mochou laughed and searched the second room.

When she searched the room for the first time, she had studied the faces of the three Taoists carefully afraid that Lu Wushuang had disguised herself as one of them; she didn't take a closer look the second time.

That night Li Mochou and her disciple searched the town's inns, disturbing everyone. Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang lay on the bed with their heads together; he smelt her womanly scent and was happy. Lu Wushuang had many thoughts, she felt that Yang Guo was an extremely strange person, if one said he was a 'Sha Dan', he was extremely clever, if one said he was intelligent, he would act mad and crazy. She lay on the bed not daring to move, thinking that Sha Dan would definitely try to hug her, what would she do then? A while passed but there was no movement from Yang Guo, she was actually disappointed. She smelt the manly scent of Yang Guo and was captivated by it; time passed as she slowly fell asleep.

When Yang Guo woke up the sky was bright, he saw Ji Qingxu in deep sleep across the table; Lu Wushuang was quiet, her cheeks were rosy, her red lips slightly apart, he couldn't stop himself from being moved and thought, "If I lightly kiss her, she won't know."

He's a young man who is experiencing his first awakenings of desire (qing dou chu kai). He had never been close to a girl before and right now he was at his most emotional state. He thought about the time when he was fixing her ribs and saw her naked breasts, it was even harder for him to resist. Yang Guo moved his head forward, wanting to kiss her on the lips. Before the lips met he smelt a fragrant scent, his heart stirred, his blood rushed, then her brows crinkled; she seemed to still feel the pain of her broken ribs in her dreams. When Yang Guo saw her face like this he immediately remembered Xiao Longnu and then remembered the oath he swore, "I will only have Gu Gu in my heart in my lifetime, if my heart changes, there will be no need for Gu Gu to kill me, when I see her face I will kill myself." He broke out in a cold sweat and two slapping sounds were heard, he had slapped himself heavily across his cheeks and leapt off the bed.

This woke up Lu Wushuang; she opened her eyes and asked, "Sha Dan, what are you doing?"

Yang Guo was feeling embarrassed and guilty, he mumbled, "Nothing, it's just a mosquito biting my face."

Lu Wushuang remembered how she slept with him last night, her face suddenly turned red, she lowered her head and gently said, "Sha Dan, Sha Dan!" Her voice carried a soft and caring tone. After a while she raised her head and asked, "Sha Dan, how come you know the Ancient Tomb's "Beauty Fist Technique"?"

Yang Guo said, "When I dream at night many beautiful women and minks came and taught me a stance, that's how I know."

Lu Wushuang gave a 'humph' sound; she knew that he wouldn't answer anything about it if she asked again. Just as she was about to change the subject, she suddenly heard the ringing sound of Li Mochou's donkey. They headed in a northwest direction and then returned. Li Mochou thought about how the 'Five Poison Codex' was in Lu Wushuang's hands; another day without the book meant another day of danger, she didn't dare to waste any time. Before the sky became bright she rode her donkey and searched everywhere nearby.

Yang Guo said, "When she can't find us she will leave. It's a pity that you're hurt and can't move much, otherwise we would steal a pair of horses and gallop for one day and one night, how would she be able to catch up then?"

Lu Wushuang angrily said, "You're not hurt, why don't you go and steal a horse and gallop for a day and night?"

Yang Guo thought, "This girl takes everything to heart, I just said something without thinking and she got angry." But he wanted to see her angry expression and wanted to anger her further and said, "If it weren't for you begging me to take you to Jiangnan, I would have long gone."

Lu Wushuang was furious and said, "Just go, go! Sha Dan, just looking at you makes me angry, just go and die by yourself."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Huh, I'll miss you if you die." He was afraid that Lu Wushuang was going to get angry for real and aggravate her injury so he laughed and exited the room. He found an ink block and returned to the room. He placed the ink block in a basin of water and rubbed it about, and then suddenly he touched Lu Wushuang's face. Lu Wushuang wasn't prepared for this hand coming towards her and touching her face, she scolded, "Rotten Sha Dan, bastard Sha Dan." She then saw him take out a pile of ash from underneath the bed, he smeared the ash and brushed the water on his face, his face was dirty and unsightly, as if his face was full of pimples and boils.

She then understood, "Although I've changed into Taoist clothes my face hasn't changed, if my master catches up with me, how could she not recognize me?" She then smeared the ink water over her face. Girls naturally love to make themselves as beautiful as possible, although she was smearing ink water, she applied it as if she was applying make up.

The two finished with their disguises. Yang Guo stretched out his leg underneath the bed and unsealed the two Taoist's pressure points. Lu Wushuang saw that Yang Guo didn't even take a look and after some kicks the two Taoists made a relieved grunt. She was secretly in awe of him and thought, "That Sha Dan's kung fu is ten times better than mine." But she didn't show any sign of this and instead kept on scolding him, as if she thought nothing of him. Yang Guo went to the market to look for a cart but the market was too small, there were no carts for rent, he could only buy two horses. That day, Lu Wushuang's injury had eased; both of them rode on the horses and slowly went southeast.

They rode for a few hours; Yang Guo was afraid that she was tired so he helped her down off the horse and sat on a rock and rested. He remembered how he almost treated Lu Wushuang with disrespect; although he felt that treating Lu Wushuang with disrespect wasn't anything serious, he would have done something disrespectful to his Gu Gu. He was a bastard. He was insulting and cursing himself when Lu Wushuang suddenly asked, "Sha Dan, why aren't you talking to me."

Yang Guo smiled and didn't reply. He suddenly thought of something and asked, "Ai ya, crap, I'm so dumb."

Lu Wushuang said, "You are dumb!"

Yang Guo said, "When we disguised ourselves, the three Taoists saw us. If they tell your master, won't that be a disaster?”

Lu Wushuang pursed her lips and smiled, then said, “Those three Taoists rode past us long ago and my master is still behind us. What’s wrong with you Sha Dan, what were you in a daze about, you didn’t even see them ride past us.”

Yang Guo gave an ‘ah’ sound and laughed. Lu Wushuang felt that his laugh had a hidden meaning behind it, she remembered the words she just said, “What’s wrong with you Sha Dan, what were you in a daze about”, she couldn’t stop her face from turning red. At this time, they suddenly heard the neigh of a horse.

Lu Wushuang turned around and saw two beggars approaching from around the corner. Yang Guo took a look and saw a head peep out and withdraw back behind the edge of the mountain, it was Shen Zhifan and Ji Qingxu. He thought, “So the three Taoists told the Beggar Clan that we’ve dressed up as Taoists.”

He held up his hand and said, “Beggar masters, if you want to ask for food or money, old Taoist here has already given as much as he could today, you’ll have to leave empty handed.”

One of the beggars had a voice like an overwhelming bell, he said, “Even if you shaved your head and disguised yourselves as a monk or a nun, you won’t be able to get past my eyes and ears. Don’t play dumb anymore, just get it over with and come with us to see the elder and sort this matter out.”

Yang Guo thought, “Those two old beggars have eight pockets on their back, I’m afraid that they might be very skilled.”

The two beggars were eight band members, they saw that the two of them were at most twenty years old yet they managed to defeat four band four members and three band five members. They thought that there must something strange going on here.

Both sides were suspicious of each other. In the northwest the ringing of a gold bell could be heard, 'ding ling' 'ding ling', it was light and swift, it was pleasant to the ear.

Lu Wushuang thought, "Crap... crap. Although I have disguised my face, I had to bump into those two old beggars at this time, if they've uncovered my identity, how will I be able to escape from my master? Oh crap, I'm really out of luck this time. There had to be someone with nothing better to do with themselves once they've been fed, they just had to come and find me."

In a short while, the bell's ringing became closer. Yang Guo thought, "I won't be able to beat her, the only thing I can do is to quickly find a path to escape on." He said, "You two aren't begging for alms, and you won't come close, just let us pass." As he said this he took large steps forward. The two beggars saw that his steps weren't solid; it seems that he didn't know any martial arts; each one stretched out their arm and grabbed him.

Yang Guo chopped out his right hand and clashed with the two palms, the three palms pulled back and each one took three steps back. The two eight band Beggar Clan members have practiced martial arts for tens of years, their internal energy was profound, in the world of Jianghu there were few who could match them. In terms of kung fu foundation they were ahead of Yang Guo but when it comes to the mastery of exquisite stances, they weren't a match for him. Yang Guo borrowed strength to use strength and dispersed the two's palms but if he wanted to dash pass them, it would be impossible. The three of them were secretly startled. At this time Li Mochou and her disciple had arrived at the scene.

Hong Lingbo called out, "Hey, Beggar, Taoist, have you seen a lame girl pass by here?"

The two beggars had a high status in the world of Wulin, when they heard Hong Lingbo question them like this they became angry but the Beggar Clan had strict rules, the members mustn't get into feuds with others as they pleased so the two just replied, "No!"

Li Mochou's eyes were sharp and saw the back of Lu Wushuang, she was suspicious and thought, "I think I've seen those two before?" She saw the four facing each other, their weapons braced as if they were about to fight, she thought she should stand aside and see what happens.

Yang Guo glanced over and saw that she had a wry smile on her face, standing by watching the battle, he had a thought, "I've got it, and if I do this I'll erase her suspicions." He turned around and went over to Hong Lingbo to ask her something, he disguised his voice and said, "Greetings Taoist friend." Hong Lingbo returned the greeting.

He said, "This Taoist was just passing by when these two evil beggars started to cause trouble, wanting to fight me. This Taoist has not got weapon, I hope you will lend me a weapon in respect of Lao Jun." As he said this he made another bow.

Hong Lingbo saw that his face was black and ugly, but he was respectful and modest, he referred to the Taoist's Tai Shang Lao Jun. It didn't seem right to reject his request so she held out her sword and glanced at her master. She saw that she was nodding her head and so handed the sword to him. Yang Guo bowed as he received the long sword, the tip pointing to the ground, he said, "If this Taoist can't fight off the enemy, I hope that Taoist friend here will look upon the fact that we are people of religion and will assist me."

Hong Lingbo raised her eyebrows and gave a 'humph' sound without replying.

Yang Guo turned around and loudly said to Lu Wushuang, "Apprentice brother, sit by the side and watch and don't move, I'm going to teach the Beggar Clan beggars the skills of our Quanzhen sect."

Li Mochou shivered, "So the two Taoists are from the Quanzhen sect. But Quanzhen sect and the Beggar Clan have always been good friends, why are they arguing?"

Yang Guo was afraid that the two beggars would speak and reveal who Lu Wushuang was so he raised his sword and dashed forward, calling out, "Come, come, come, I'll fight two by myself."

But Lu Wushuang was concerned, "Sha Dan doesn't know that my master has fought Quanzhen sect on many occasions, how would she not be able to recognize the stances of the Quanzhen sect? There are many Taoist sects in the world, Zhengyi, Dadao, Taiyi, they are all good choices for our cover why the hell did he pick Quanzhen?"

The two beggars heard him say 'From the Quanzhen sect' and were alarmed, the both called out, "Are you really from Quanzhen sect? You and..."

Yang Guo didn't allow them to mention Lu Wushuang and thrust his sword forward, separately attacking the stomachs of the two; it was Quanzhen's "Di Chuan" sword skills. The two beggar's status was high, they could gang up and fight a young boy like him but Yang Guo's stance came out extremely quick. They had to attack together with their sticks. As the metal rods were raised, Yang Guo's sword darted through the gap and aimed for their chests. The two beggars could never have predicted that his sword skills were extremely quick; they quickly retreated. Yang Guo didn't hold back, he kept on applying the pressure, in a flash he had unleashed eighteen swords, every stance had two intentions, when the sword comes out it was one stance, but within it was artifice, the sword stance separated into two. This was Quanzhen's "One Sword into Three Distinctions" (yi jian hua san qing) technique; every stance can be made into three. Every stance that Yang Guo threw out, the beggars moved back three steps, after the eighteen stances had been unleashed, the beggars had not even attacked back once, and they had retreated back a total of fifty-four steps. The kung fu of the "Jade Heart Manual" was designed to counter Quanzhen's kung fu. Before Yang Guo practiced the "Jade Heart Manual" he practiced the kung fu of the Quanzhen sect. But because he had not practiced enough and it wasn't refined enough, he wasn't able to do "One Sword into Three Distinctions", but he was good enough to turn it into two distinctions.

Li Mochou saw that the young Taoist's sword skills were refined, she couldn't help being shocked and thought, "No wonder Quanzhen's name is so famous, there are able people from the sect, in ten years time how will I be able to beat him? It looks the mantel of the Quanzhen sect is going to fall into his hands in the future."

If she fought with Yang Guo, she would know that although the stances were real on the outside, underneath it was the Ancient Tomb's kung fu, but from its appearance, it was hard to distinguish between the two. Yang Guo had learned the Quanzhen song from Zhao Zhijing, and practiced it afterwards, and so his Quanzhen kung fu wasn't completely a fake. Lu Wushuang and Hong Lingbo looked on, dazzled.

Yang Guo thought, "If I slow down and allow the two beggars to talk, we'll be finished." Once the eighteen stances had passed, the long sword quickly turned around and attacked the two beggars backs, another set of two distinctions. The two beggars quickly turned around to attack. Yang Guo didn't allow the metal rods and the sword to collide, he quickly darted behind the two's backs. The beggars turned around, Yang Guo darted behind the beggars again. He knew that if it came to a real kung fu contest, he would not be able to handle one beggar let alone two; he utilized his lightness kung fu and circled around the two beggars. In the Quanzhen sect, as soon as one has refined their kung fu to a high level, they will practice lightness kung fu so later on they will be able to use it when practicing the "Big Dipper Formation". Although Yang Guo is now using the steps of Quanzhen's kung fu, but his breathing and circulation are from the formulae of the "Jade Heart Manual". The Ancient Tomb's lightness kung fu was second to none in the world, as soon as he used it, the two skilled Beggar Clan fighters were not able to catch up, they saw him moving like lightning, a white blur, the sword piercing forwards. If he wanted to kill them, even if twenty beggars were here he would be able to kill them. The two beggars quickly turned around and waved their rods in defense, right now they weren't able to defend against the incoming stances; they used all their strength in defense and hoped that heaven was on their side. They ran around like this for around ten loops, the two beggars were dizzy and dazed, their feet rapid, they felt that they were about to faint.

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Hey, my Beggar Clan friends, I'll teach you a method, stand back to back so you won't have to keep on turning around." With this pointer, the two beggars were filled with joy, they were about to follow this method when Yang Guo thought, "Crap! If this happen I'm going to lose." He stopped circling them, two stances in one, as the sword was thrust forwards aiming for their backs. The two beggars heard the wind sound from the sword; they weren't able to use their rods to block it so advanced forward. As soon as they took a step the stance arrived, they were shocked and quickly hurried out of the way. How could they have predicted that Yang Guo's sword was like a shadow, no matter how fast they ran away, the sword remained behind their backs? The two's steps slowed, their backs were pierced by the sword. The two beggars knew that Yang Guo didn't want to kill them; otherwise all he had to do was just add an ounce more strength. The sword would have moved an inch further; wouldn't the sword have gone through their chests? But they still didn't dare to slow their steps. The three used their energy and in a flash they had moved over two miles, leaving Li Mochou and the others behind. Yang Guo suddenly sped up and dashed in front of the two. He laughed and said, "Walk slowly, be careful of tripping!" The two threw out their rods at the same time. Yang Guo stretched out his left hand and held onto one of the rods, at the same time he extended the flat side of his sword and hit the metal rod to the left. His left palm opened and held the two rods. The two beggars felt something was wrong and quickly distributed their chi. Yang Guo's internal energy wasn't a match for theirs, he didn't dare to try and match them, and swept the long sword across. If the two beggars didn't let go, their eight fingers would be slashed off immediately, they could only let go and jump back. Their faces had an expression of embarrassment. Not being able to win and using such a way to escape may have been going too far.

Yang Guo said, "My sect and your clan have always been friends, please don't believe what others say my friends. Every event has its source, the Ancient Tomb's 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' Li Mochou is over there, why aren't you questioning her?"

The two beggars did not know Li Mochou but knew that she was ruthless and vindictive, when they heard Yang Guo say this they both shivered and said at the same time, "Is this true?"

Yang Guo said, "Why should I lie? That witch chased this Taoist until I had nowhere else to run, that's why I had to fight with you two." As he said this, he raised the metal rods and politely gave them back to the beggars. He said, "It is well known what objects the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' always carries with her, haven't you two heard about this?"

One of the beggars understood and said, "Yes, she holds a fly whisk, her donkey has a golden bell. The woman is in yellow isn't she?"

Yang Guo smiled and said, "Correct, correct. The girl who used the silver saber to hurt your clan member is her disciple." He then made his voice slightly deeper and said, "I'm afraid that it's ominous, it ominous."

The beggar with the voice like an overwhelming bell was impatient and asked, "What are you afraid of?"

Yang Guo said, "Ominous, ominous."

The beggar urgently asked, "What's ominous?"

Yang Guo replied, "Li Mochou is notorious in Wulin, everyone is afraid of her. Your clan may be powerful but no one is her match. Since it was a disciple of hers who injured one of your members, it would be best to leave it."

He angered that beggar; the beggar raised his metal rod and said, "Huh, I don't care if she's the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' or 'Lizard Deity', I must fight her today." As he said this he headed back towards the path. The other beggar was more cautious, thinking how they could not overcome a young man, if they incurred the wrath of the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' are they not signing their death warrants? He held the other beggar's arm and said, "There's no need to rush, let's go back and plan this first." He made a salute to Yang Guo with one hand and said, "Please can we have the pleasure of knowing your name."

Yang Guo smiled and said, "My surname is Sa, first names Huazi. Hope we'll meet again." He made a bow and turned around hurrying back to the others.

The two beggars mumbled, "Sa Huazi, Sa Huazi? I have never heard this name; this person's skills are excellent at such a young age..." One of the beggars suddenly leaped up and cursed, "Scoundrel, animal!"

The other beggar asked, "What?"

The beggar replied, "He's called Sa Huazi, it means kill beggars (Kill a beggar has the same Pinyin as Sa Huazi), we've been insulted without knowing it." Though the two cursed, they didn't dare to return to finish this matter with him.

Yang Guo laughed on the inside, he quickly returned and saw Lu Wushuang on top of the horse looking to the side, revealing how anxious she was. As soon as she saw Yang Guo her spirits immediately raised, she quickly met him on the horse and quietly said, "Sha Dan, leaving behind me, that was so thoughtful!"

Yang Guo smiled and offered the long sword back to Hong Lingbo with the handle end facing towards her. He bowed and said, "Thank you for the sword." Hong Lingbo stretched out her hand to receive it. Yang Guo was about to turn around when Li Mochou suddenly said, "Wait." She saw that the young Taoist was skilled; she thought that if she let him go now he would become a problem in the future. While his kung fu was still lower than hers, she would get rid of the potential problem now.

As soon as Yang Guo heard the word 'wait' he knew something was wrong, he lowered the sword a few inches into Hong Lingbo's hand and immediately took his hand away. Hong Lingbo could only take the handle of the sword and smiled, she said, "The young Taoist has some fierce skills."

Li Mochou originally wanted to anger him into attacking and kill him in one stroke with her fly whisk. But now he did not have a weapon. She was of a high status and so could not use her weapon to harm him. She flashed her fly whisk to one side and asked, "Which of the Quanzhen seven masters is your master?"

Yang Guo smiled and said, "I'm Wang Chongyang's disciple." He had no good feelings towards the Quanzhen sect; he had no respect for them. Although Qiu Chuji treated him fairly well, he was only with him for a short while, but before he left he was strictly scolded by him. He knew he didn't mean any harm but in his heart he was still angry. When he remembered Hao Datong and Zhao Zhijing, he became even angrier. In the Ancient Tomb he had practiced the important aspects of the "Nine Yin Manual" left by Wang Chongyang, so technically he could say that he was his disciple. But according to his age, he could only be the disciple of Taoists in Zhao Zhijing's and Yin Zhiping's generation. When Li Mochou saw that his skills weren't weak and asked him which one of the Quanzhen seven masters was his master, it was holding him in a lofty light. If Yang Guo replied Qiu Chuji or one of the others, Li Mochou would have believed him. But he didn't want be a generation lower than the Taoist who killed Grandma Sun, Hao Datong, so he said Wang Chongyang. Wang Chongyang was the person who founded the Quanzhen sect. In his lifetime he had only taken in seven disciples; everyone knew this in the Wulin world. When this young Taoist was born Wang Chongyang had left the world long ago.

Li Mochou thought, "This ugly freak doesn't know how high the sky is or how deep the earth is, and he doesn't know who I am, how dare he talk such nonsense in front of me." She then thought, "How could a Quanzhen Taoist use their founder for a joke? And how could they dare to say the words 'Wang Chongyang'? But if he isn't a disciple of Quanzhen, then how come each of his stances were from Quanzhen?"

Yang Guo saw that although she had a smile on her face, she was frowning and she was in deep thought. He thought about the day when he pretended to be a farmer to trick Hong Lingbo, and in the tomb they had exchanged blows. He couldn't let them find out who he really was through his words so without delay he carried on; he raised his hands in respect. He turned around and leapt onto the horse, and was about to gallop away.

Li Mochou floated over in front of his horse and said, "Come down, I have something to say to you."

Yang Guo said, "I know what you want to ask me. You want to ask me have I seen a pretty girl, who is lame in her left foot, isn't that it. And where has she taken your book?"

Li Mochou was shocked and calmly said, "Yes, you are clever. Where is the book?"

Yang Guo said, "Just now, my apprentice brother and I were resting by the side of the road, we saw that girl fighting with three beggars. One of the beggars suffered a slash from the girl but when the other two beggars joined in, she wasn't a match for them. Eventually she was captured by them."

Li Mochou was always calm no matter what, but when she thought about Lu Wushuang being caught by the beggars and her 'Five Poison Codex' falling into their hands, she couldn't stop herself from showing signs of being alarmed.

Yang Guo saw that the lie worked and continued, "One of the beggars fished out a book from the girl's pockets, she wouldn't give it to them and suffered disrespect from him."

Lu Wushuang glanced at him and thought, "Fine Sha Dan, talking rubbish about me, you think I won't do anything to you?"

Yang Guo knew that she was frightened but deliberately asked her, "Apprentice brother, doesn't it get people mad? That girl was touched all over the place by the beggars and suffered great insults didn't she?"

Lu Wushuang hung her head down and gave a grunt. As he said this, there were the sounds of horse hoofs around the hill, a crowd of horses and people came up. It was a group of Mongolian soldiers. Once the Jin were overthrown, everything north of the Mie River was under the control of the Mongolians. Li Mochou didn't care about the soldiers, but she was in a rush to find out the whereabouts of Lu Wushuang. She didn't want anything to delay her so she stood aside feeling the ground shaking as over a hundred Mongolian soldiers escorting an official passed by. The Mongolian official wore a bright garment, a bow hung from his waist, his horse riding technique was excellent and he exuded an air of calmness as he rode past. Once the soldiers passed, Li Mochou wiped the dust away from her body using her fly whisk. Every time the fly whisk waved, Lu Wushuang's heart missed a beat, she knew if the fly whisk was waved at her and not the dust, her head would have split open immediately.

After she finished cleaning herself up she asked, "And then?"

Yang Guo said, "The beggars took the girl and headed north. This young Taoist couldn't just stand by and tried to interfere, and two of the beggars stayed behind to fight with me."

Li Mochou nodded her head and smiled, she said, “Good, thank you. My name is Li Mochou, people in Jianghu call me the ‘Scarlet Serpent Deity’, and some call me the ‘Serpent Demon’. Have you heard my name before?”

Yang Guo shook his head and said, “I have never heard of you. Miss, with your beauty you are like a deity, how can you be a demon?”

Li Mochou was thirty, but she had profound internal strength, her skin was soft and tender, her face had no wrinkles and one could mistake her for a twenty year old. She had always regarded herself as beautiful and when she heard him praising her like that she was pleased, she fluttered her fly whisk and said, “You joked with me. Saying that you are the disciple of Wang Chongyang, I should make you suffer and then kill you. Since you’ve said this, I’m going to teach you a lesson with my fly whisk.”

Yang Guo shook his head and said, “That won’t do, that won’t do, this young Taoist cannot fight with someone in a lower generation than he is.”

Li Mochou said, “You are about to die and you still joke. How am I in a lower generation than you?”

Yang Guo said, “My master is elder Chongyang, he is in the same generation as your ancestor; how am I not in an older generation than you? You are just a pretty young girl; an old man can’t bully you.”

Li Mochou gave a wry smile and said to Hong Lingbo “Let him borrow the sword again.”

Yang Guo waved his hand and said, “That won’t do, that won’t do, I...” Before he finished his words Hong Lingbo pulled out the sword from its sheath, a ‘ting’ sound was heard; her hand holding only the handle, the blade remained in the sheath. She was startled but then understood, when Yang Guo returned the sword he had done something to it; he broke the sword but kept the handle intact. As soon as someone applied some force to the sword, it immediately broke. Li Mochou's face changed colour.

Yang Guo said, "Originally I didn't want to fight pretty girls who are beneath me, but since you are forcing me to fight, then so be it! I'll face three stances of your fly whisk empty handed. Let's make it clear first, as long as you can receive my three stances then I'll let you go, but once the three stances are over, you can't trouble me anymore." In this present situation he knew that he must use force otherwise he won't be able to get out of this situation. But if they really fight, he won't be a match for her. So he acted like a senior and made her promise that she will only use three stances and not more. He was not her match anyway so it didn't matter if he had a weapon or not; hopefully she would not use her most lethal fly whisk stances.

How could Li Mochou not understand his intentions, she thought, "You think you can receive three of my stances?" She said, "Fine, senior, let junior experience your skills."

Yang Guo said, "You're too kind" but suddenly he saw a yellow blur; there were traces of the fly whisk everywhere. This stance of Li Mochou's is called "No Holes that can't be Penetrated" (wu kong bu ru), attacking the enemy's bones all over their body. Although this is one stance, the threads were all over the place, so in one stance it included tens of stances, attacking all the body's main pressure points. She had seen him fight with the beggars and saw that his sword skills were refined, he wasn't a weak opponent. Hurting him in three stances was not going to be easy so she used the techniques that she was most proud of, "Three Without Three Without Hands" (san wu san bu shou). She had invented these three stances; even Xiao Longnu had never seen these stances before. When Yang Guo saw this he jumped back in shock. There was actually no defense to this stance. Moving to the left and right would result in one's pressure points to be sealed; moving forward would result in the pressure points on the back being harmed. Only fighters who were much more skilful than she was could force her back. Attacking her front ruthlessly would force her to use her fly whisk to defend. Yang Guo did not have this ability. In this urgent situation he flipped around, his head below his legs and used the skill that Ouyang Feng taught him, "Reversal of the Veins". His pressure points were all closed; he felt all his pressure points ache a little and then nothing more. He quickly flipped over and gave out a flying kick. Li Mochou had seen that she had hit many of his pressure points but he still had the ability to counter attack. She was shocked and followed with a stance of "Penetrate Everywhere" (wu suo bu zhi). This stance attacked all the pressure points on his sides. Yang Guo's head was on the ground, he stretched out his left hand to seal her right knee's 'Central' pressure point. Li Mochou was even more shocked and leapt away. The "Three Without Three Without Hand" technique's third stance "Stop At Nothing" was immediately used.

This stance does not aim to seal pressure points; instead it attacked the eyes, throat, stomach, the groin and all the places that are soft and delicate. That's why it's called "Stop at Nothing", it was ruthless and showed no respect towards the opponent. When she refined this skill she did not know that there were people who knew how to fight upside down. When she rushed out in this stance, she used it as she normally would, but there was no way the attack hit the eyes, it struck the leg, where it attacked the throat it struck the lower thigh, where it attacked the stomach it struck the upper thigh, where it attacked the groin it struck the chest, it aimed for the soft points but struck the hard and the stance was not effective at all.

This shocked Li Mochou to the extreme. She had seen many battles in her life, she had met those who were better fighters than her so she knew what the enemy would do, how they attacked, defended, dodged, she knew it all; but she couldn't have guessed this young Taoist had such unimaginable kung fu. As she stood there in a daze, Yang Guo opened his mouth and bit down on the fly whisk; he flipped his body and stood up. Li Mochou's hand shook; her fly whisk was taken away.

At the second Mount Hua competition, Ouyang Feng reversed his veins and bit down on Huang Yaoshi's finger. When one reverses their veins, chi is distributed through their lips, the mouth will open and close, the intent to bite someone is automatically created. In the body, nothing can compare with the strength of teeth biting down; the teeth can shatter and tear things that hands can't. Because of this, although Yang Guo's internal strength was weaker than Li Mochou's, once his teeth bit down on the fly whisk; he was able to pull it from her hands.

This move shocked Lu Wushuang and Hong Lingbo, both of them called out in surprise at the same time. Li Mochou was also shocked but she didn't show any fear, her palms lightly came out, she was using her "Diving Serpent Palm" and jumping forward to snatch back her fly whisk. She was about to hit out with her palms when she suddenly called out, "What! It's you! Where's your master?"

Yang Guo's face had been covered in dirt but after a series of quick flips, some of the dirt was brushed off, revealing half of his face. At the same time Hong Lingbo recognized Lu Wushuang and called out, "Master, it's apprentice sister." Before, Lu Wushuang had dared not to face Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo. When Yang Guo and Li Mochou were fighting, she was concentrating on watching the fight and forgot about hiding her face from Hong Lingbo.

Yang Guo's left foot touched the ground lightly and flew onto Li Mochou's donkey, at the same time his left hand flicked out, a 'Jade Bee Needle' was shot at the head of Hong Lingbo's donkey. Li Mochou was furious and flew over to Yang Guo who flew away from the saddle and flipped the fly whisk around, a 'pu' sound was heard as he struck the donkey on the head and called out, "Wifey, quickly take your husband away." He leapt on the back of the horse and he waved the fly whisk madly behind him. Lu Wushuang immediately spurred the horse on. Once Li Mochou utilized her lightness kung fu, she could catch up to four legged animals that were within half li or so. But after being shocked by Yang Guo's strange stances she didn't dare to chase too closely, she just used her trapping hand kung fu to snatch back her fly whisk. On her fourth stance three of the fingers on her left hand managed to grab hold of the threads of the fly whisk; she turned her hand and pulled. Yang Guo couldn't hold on and the fly whisk flew out of his hand.

Hong Lingbo's donkey had been struck with the 'Jade Bee Needle', it suddenly went mad, and it rushed up to Li Mochou and started to bite.

Li Mochou shouted, "Lingbo, what are you doing." Hong Lingbo said, "The donkey is resisting." She pulled the reins with all her strength causing the donkey to have a mouthful of blood. Suddenly the donkey's legs became soft and it fell over, Hong Lingbo leapt up and called out, "Master, let's chase after them!" But by then Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang were half a li away, they weren't able to catch up.

Lu Wushuang and Yang Guo rode hurriedly for a while. She turned around and didn't see her master chasing after them and said, "Sha Dan, my chest really hurts, I can't stand it anymore!"

Yang Guo leapt off the horse and placed his ear against the ground, there weren't any sound of footsteps behind and he said, "There's no need to be afraid, let's go slowly." The two then carried on normally. Lu Wushuang sighed and said, "Sha Dan, how did you manage to take my Master's fly whisk?"

Yang Guo said, "I threw out some words of praise which pleased her and so she gave the fly whisk to me. Old man didn't feel right taking the young girl's things so I gave it back to her."

Lu Wushuang said, "Huh, why was she pleased, she thought you were handsome?" As she said this she blushed.

Yang Guo laughed and said, "She saw that I was an interesting fool, that's why."

Lu Wushuang said, "Crap! What's so interesting about you?"

The two traveled slowly for a while but they were afraid that Li Mochou would catch up so they rode fast. They did this slowing down and speeding up until it was dusk.

Yang Guo said, "Wifey, if you want to save your little life, you'll have to endure the pain in your chest and ride throughout the night."

Lu Wushuang said, "If you talk crap again, just see if I continue to pay attention to you."

Yang Guo stuck out his tongue and said, "It's a pity that our horse is tired, another night of riding and we could escape."

It was now getting dark but suddenly, the sound of horses could be heard ahead, Yang Guo was delighted and said, "Let's change horses."

The two hurried on for about a mile and saw over a hundred horses outside a village. It was the group of Mongolian soldiers that they had seen earlier. Yang Guo said, "Wait here, I'll go and take a look." He leapt down from the horse and headed towards the village. He saw a light coming from the window of a large house. Yang Guo darted forward and looked inside; he saw a Mongolian official sitting in the room with his back facing the window.

Yang Guo's mind suddenly lit up, "If we're going to change horses why not change people." He waited for a while and saw the Mongolian official stand up, walking up and down across the room. That man was about thirty years old; it was the official in bright clothing he had seen earlier in the day. He had an air about him; it appeared that his post wasn't low. Yang Guo waited until he turned his back and quietly opened the window and slipped in. The official heard a wind sound behind him, he took a step forward and raised his left hand for protection and turned around, and his ten fingers like an eagle's claws came out ferociously. It was the lethal technique of the "Vigorous Eagle Claw Stance". Yang Guo was slightly surprised by this, he didn't know that a Mongolian official would know some kung fu; he slanted his body and dodged past his hands. The official clawed out many times but each time they were calmly dodged. That official had been under the tutelage of the Eagle Claw sect when he was younger, his kung fu was quite good, but after exchanging many stances with Yang Guo, he had no way of using his moves. Yang Guo saw that his hands were coming in ferociously once again, he suddenly leapt up, his left hand grabbed the man's left shoulder, his right hand grabbed the man's right, he circulated his chi through his arms and shouted, "Sit down!" The official's knees became weak and he sat down on the floor. His chest felt like he was being smothered, it seemed like a surge of blood was rushing up to his head. Yang Guo stretched out his hand and rubbed the pressure points on his chest. The official immediately felt his chest loosen, a breath of air was released and he slowly got up. He stared at Yang Guo, startled. After a few minutes he asked, "Who are you? Why are you here?" Those two phrases in Han were spoken quite clearly.

Yang Guo laughed and asked him some questions instead, "What is your name? What post do you hold?" The official's eyes lit up in anger, he was about to jump out at him again. Yang Guo ignored him and sat down on the seat that the official had previously sat on. The official's arms came out waving up and down, attacking ferociously; Yang Guo just waved out his hands without trying and didn't use any strength to neutralize his attacks. He said, "Hey, you've got a wound on your shoulder, its better if you don't use any energy."

The official was startled and said, "What wound?" His left hand rubbed his right shoulder, there was a slight pain there, he quickly stretched out his right hand and checked his left shoulder, and there was an identical pain. He had not moved his shoulders so didn't notice the wounds; when he used his fingers to touch his shoulder, there was a small area that ached to the bone. The official was shocked, he quickly took off his garment and looked over his shoulder; he saw a red dot on his left shoulder and there was a similar dot on his right. He understood, just know when Yang Guo held his shoulders, he had a concealed weapon in his hands and now had fallen into his scheme. He was startled and shocked, he shouted, "What weapon did you use? Does it have poison or not?"

Yang Guo gave a wry smile and said, "You've learned martial arts, how come you don't know the rules? Large concealed weapons have no poison, small ones of course have." The official believed him but hoped that he made it up to scare him. His face's expression seems to be convinced but also seemed to be suspicious.

Yang Guo smiled and said, "Your shoulder has fallen victim to my divine needle, its poison deepens an inch every day, by the sixth day the poison will have reached the heart, then you'll be dead."

The official wanted him to cure the poison yet he didn't dare ask. In anger he shouted, "Since it has ended up like this then this Master is going to take you with me." He threw himself forward again. Yang Guo slipped past him.

He took out two 'Jade Bee Needles' and waited until his claws came out again, the hands came out, he sent the needles into his palms. The official felt a pain in his palms and stopped, he raised his hands to take a look and saw a fine needle in his palms. He immediately felt his palms go numb; he was shocked and didn't dare to attack again. Another half hour passed before he said, "Fine, I admit defeat!"

Yang Guo laughed out loud and asked, "What's your name?"

The official replied, "My name is Yelu Jin, can I have the honour of knowing the hero's name?"

Yang Guo replied, "My name is Yang Guo. What post do you hold within the Mongolian government?"

Yelu Jin told him everything. He was the Mongolians Prime Minister Yelu Chucai's son. Yelu Chucai aided Genghis Khan and Wo Kuo Tai (Ogedai) to take over many lands. His achievements were outstanding, that is why although Yelu Jin was of a relatively young age, he held the high position of 'Bianliang Jinglue Emissary' (Military Governor of Bianliang city), he had come south to Henan to complete a mission.

Yang Guo didn't know what kind of position this was, he just nodded his head and said, "Fine, fine."

Yelu Jin said, "I don't know what I have done to disrespect the hero, please forgive my ignorance. If the hero has an order please say it.”

Yang Guo laughed and said, “You haven’t done anything.” He suddenly darted out of the window.

Yelu Jin was shocked and called out, “Hero Yang” and ran to the window, but there was no trace of Yang Guo. Yelu Jin was troubled, “This person comes and goes as he pleases. I’ve fallen victim to his poison needles, what should I do?” He quickly took out the needles from his palm and felt the numbness in his palms and shoulders to begin to feel unbearable. In the midst of all this the window opened, Yang Guo suddenly returned and the room had another person, it was Lu Wushuang.

Yelu Jin said, “Ah, you’ve come back.”

Yang Guo pointed to Lu Wushuang and said, “She is my Wifey, kowtow to her!”

Lu Wushuang shouted, “What did you say?” She turned her hand and gave him a slap. If Yang Guo wanted to avoid it how would she be able to hit him? For an inexplicable reason, when he was slapped and scolded by her he felt good. He didn’t move and a slapping sound was heard as his cheek was hit. Yelu Jin didn’t know that these two always argued like this. He assumed that Lu Wushuang’s kung fu was stronger than Yang Guo’s; he stared in a daze at the two.

Yang Guo rubbed his cheek and laughed at Yelu Jin. He said, “You’ve suffered the poison of my divine needles, but you won’t die straight away. All you’ve got to do is listen to my orders and then I’ll heal you.”

Yelu Jin said, “I’ve always admired heroes and good men, but I have never seen people with such abilities. Today I have finally met someone worthy of this title, it is an honour. If hero Yang doesn’t tell me to live, I could still die with my eyes closed.” These words maintained his high status but praised the other at the same time. Yang Guo had never spoken with officials before and he didn’t know that they’ve all learned how to praise their superiors; the higher the official, the better they are at flattery without being obvious. The officials from Mongolia were rough and coarse people but after they entered the central plains, they learned the ways of the officials of China. After some words of praise, Yang Guo was pleased, he raised his finger and said, “Well, I didn’t guess that you are a man of honour as well. Come, I’ll immediately cure your poison.” He then used a sucking metal stone to remove the needles from his shoulder and then applied the antidote to the wounds.

Lu Wushuang had never seen the ‘Jade Bee Needles’ before; she saw that the needles were as fine as hair and it looked as though if one placed the needles on water, they will float. She thought, “A gust of wind can blow that away, how can you use it as a concealed weapon?” She was even more in awe of Yang Guo but the words from her mouth said, “That type of evil weapon isn’t honorable, aren’t you afraid of others laughing at you?”

Yang Guo laughed and ignored her, he said to Yelu Jin, “The two of us want to rely on you, your honour and be your attendants.”

Yelu Jin was startled and quickly said, “Hero Yang jokes with me, whatever you want just tell me.”

Yang Guo said, “I’m not joking, I really want to be your attendant your honour.”

Yelu Jin thought, “So the two want work for the government and gain something for themselves.” He couldn’t stop himself from being pleased, he gave a cough and returned to a serious face and said, “Hmm, you’ve learned great martial arts, working for our king will lead to great prospects.”

Yang Guo laughed and said, "You've got it all wrong. We are being chased by an extremely powerful foe. We can't beat her and want to disguise ourselves as your attendants to evade her."

Yelu Jin was disappointed, his serious face loosened then he chuckled and said, "With your martial arts, who gives a care about enemies. If there are too many of them I'll gather my troops and catch them and let you decide on what to do."

Yang Guo said, "Even I can't beat them, there is no need for you worry about it your Honour. Quickly order your attendants to give us some clothes to change into." He said this casually but there was a stern tone within his voice.

Yelu Jin ordered his attendants to bring some clothes for them to change into. Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang went to another room to change. Lu Wushuang got a mirror and examined herself, the person in the mirror was dressed in bright clothes, their eyes sparkled; it looked like a handsome Mongolian general. She felt that this was going to be interesting. They left early next morning. Lu Wushuang and Yang Guo were in a sedan chair lifted by attendants, Yelu Jin was still on horseback, before noon they heard the faint sounds of a ringing bell, from afar it came near, and it brushed past the crowd of people.

Lu Wushuang was delighted and thought, "Comfortably sitting here in the sedan chair resting my wound is an ideal situation. Sha Dan's mad idea has its good points. I'll let them carry me to Jiangnan."

They traveled like this for two days and didn't hear the bell sounds of Li Mochou again. Li Mochou must have gone straight ahead without turning back. There were also no traces of the beggars and Taoists that were looking for Lu Wushuang. By the third day they arrived at the Colt Dragon Stockade. This was an important trafficking point, many towns and cities flourished around here. After supper, Yelu Jin entered Yang Guo's room and asked for martial arts advice. Words of flattery were said to Yang Guo, praising him highly. Yang Guo gave one or two pointers to him. Just as Yelu Jin was about to listen intently an attendant rushed in and said, "Your honour, our master has sent a letter here."

Yelu Jin was delighted and said, "Fine, I'll come now." He was about to stand up and say goodbye to Yang Guo when he had a thought, "If I open the letter in front of him and show that I don't treat him as an outsider, he'll definitely teach me with all his efforts." He then said to the attendant, "Send the messenger in."

The attendant had a look of surprise on his face and said, "That ...that..."

Yelu Jin waved his hand and said, "Don't delay, and tell him to enter."

The attendant said, "It's the master himself."

Yelu Jin's face fell and he said, "Why are you still wasting time, quickly go" before he finished someone laughed from outside and entered, and said, "Jin'er, you couldn't have guessed that it was me."

Yelu Jin was shocked and pleased, he quickly dashed forward. He said, "Father, why are you..." That man laughed and said, "Yes! I've come here in person." That person was Yelu Jin's father, the Mongolian Prime Minister Yelu Chucai.

Yang Guo heard Yelu Jin call that man father, but didn't know how powerful that person was. He was under one person but above millions; the person with the most power in court, the Prime Minister. He saw that he wasn't very old, his face elegant, within his air of authority was an air of peace; he couldn't stop himself from respecting this person.

As soon as that person sat down on a chair, two other people entered, they greeted Yelu Jin and called him 'Big Brother'. It was one male and one female. The male was around twenty-three or four years of age, the female was about the same age as Yang Guo. Yelu Jin was pleased and said, "Brother, sister, you are here as well." He said to his father, "Father, I didn't have a clue that you had left the court."

Yelu Chucai nodded and said, "Yes, there is some important business that must be attended to; if I didn't do it myself I wouldn't be able to relax." He looked at Yang Guo and the rest of the attendants, indicating that he wants them to leave.

Yelu Jin was in a dilemma, he should tell his attendants to leave but Yang Guo was a person you couldn't mess around with, his face had an expression of being unsure of what to do. Yang Guo knew what he was thinking; he laughed and exited the room by himself. Yelu Chucai was aware of Yang Guo, when he entered by himself all the other attendants greeted and bowed to him except for one, the person did as he pleased and had a proud air, he couldn't stop himself from being wary and asked, "Who is that?"

Yelu Jin was a high official, if he said who Yang Guo was in front of his brother and sister he will have lost face, he answered ambiguously, "He is a friend that I made along the way. Father has made the trip to Henan personally, what is this about?"

Yelu Chucai sighed; his face looked troubled and slowly explained everything. When Genghis Khan died, his third son Wo Kuo Tai (Ogedai) succeeded him. Wo Kuo Tai was the Khan for about thirty years before he too died, his son Gui You (Guyuk) succeeded. Gui You lost himself in drink and died just after three years of being the Khan, his queen (Oghul Ghamish) took over the affairs of state. The queen trusted very few, the first generals and ministers caused chaos in the court. Yelu Chucai was a senior member of the court, and was one of the people who founded the state; whenever the queen made a wrong decision he would speak up truthfully. The queen saw that he opposed her orders, and of course was angry, but because he was a powerful minister and what he said was right, the queen could not take action lightly. Yelu Chucai knew that once he offended the queen the hundred or so lives of his family would be in danger and so he thought of a plan. He said that Henan in the south was not under control; a minister was needed to go down there and sort it out and he nominated himself. The queen was delighted, thinking the further this person goes the better and she can avoid getting angry everyday. So she agreed to the order. So Yelu Chucai took his second son Yelu Qi and daughter Yelu Yan to Henan. Officially he was down here to dissipate the unrest, but unofficially he was down here to avoid a disaster.

Yang Guo went into another room and chatted and joked with Lu Wushuang but Lu Wushuang turned away and ignored him. After getting no reply, Yang Guo crossed his knees, sat down and meditated. Lu Wushuang wasn't interested. She saw that he closed his eyes and didn't move for half a day and said, "Hey, Sha Dan, why are you meditating now?" Yang Guo didn't reply. Lu Wushuang angrily said, "There is no need to rush your kung fu, are you going to chat with me?" As she was about to move him with her hand, Yang Guo suddenly leapt up and quietly said, "There's someone on the roof!"

Lu Wushuang didn't hear anything, she raised her head and look up at the roof, she said, "Are you lying again?"

Yang Gu said, "No, they're on the roof two buildings over."

Lu Wushuang didn't believe him. She laughed and quietly scolded him, "Sha Dan." She assumed that he was playing dumb.

Yang Guo tugged her sleeve and quietly said, "Let's hide before your Master finds us."

When Lu Wushuang heard the word 'Master' and her back broke out in a cold sweat and she followed him to the window. Yang Guo lifted his head to the west, Lu Wushuang also lifted her head, and indeed, she saw someone in black on the roof of the building two rooms over. It was now the middle of the night, there was no light from the moon and stars; if one didn't carefully examine the roof, it would be hard to spot anything. She admired him secretly, "How did Sha Dan detect this?" She knew that her Master held herself very highly, when she moved at night she would still wear her apricot yellow gown, she would never wear black. She bent over to Yang Guo's ear and whispered, "It's not Master."

As soon as the words were spoken, the person in black suddenly got up and flew across the roofs arrived outside the window of the room that Yelu Chucai was in. She kicked open the window, and leapt in holding a saber, she called out, "Yelu Chucai, I'm going to take you to hell along with me." It was a girl's voice.

Yang Guo's heart shook, "That girl's movements are extremely fast, her skills are above Yelu Jin. His father is afraid that his life will be in danger."

Lu Wushuang called out, "Let's go." The two hurried to the scene and witnessed what was happening through the window. He saw that Yelu Jin was holding up a bench moving back and forth, battling with the girl in black. The girl was young but her saber techniques were vicious, the Willow Leaf Saber in her hand was extremely sharp, a series of slashes hacked off the four legs of the bench. Yelu Jin saw he that wasn't going to hold her off and called out; "Father, run away!" He then shouted, "Men, men!" The girl threw out a kick; Yelu Jin was not prepared for it and was kicked in the waist, his body flipped as he fell onto the floor. The girl dashed forward and raised her saber above Yelu Chucai's head and slashed down.

Yang Guo thought, "Oh no!" Thinking that he should rescue that person first and then talk about it later, he held a 'Jade Bee Needle' and was about to shoot it out at the girl's wrist when he heard Yelu Chucai's daughter Yelu Yan called out, "This one mustn't have any manners!" She chopped out at the girl's face with her right palm; her left hand used "Empty Hands Entering a Hundred Blades" kung fu to take her saber. Those two moves suited each other exquisitely, the girl moved her head to avoid the palm and her wrist was held by Yelu Yan, she quickly threw out a kick, Yelu Yan had to move back, her blade wasn't taken away. Yang Guo saw that the two girls' attacks were swift and quick and was slightly surprised. In a flash the two had hacked and slashed and seven or eight moves had passed.

At that time, ten guards burst into the room; when they saw the two girls fighting, they dashed forward. Yelu Jin said, "Wait! Sister doesn't need your help."

Yang Guo quietly said to Lu Wushuang, "Wifey, those two girls' skills are better than yours."

Lu Wushuang was angered and threw out a palm. Yang Guo slipped away and laughed, he said, "Don't get angry, it's better to watch them fight."

Lu Wushuang said, "Tell me the truth, am I better or are those girls better."

Yang Guo quietly said, "One on one, the two girls' have nothing on you. Two on one, based on kung fu only, you will lose. But they are too honest in their attacks. They can't compare with your tricks, ruthlessness and viciousness, and so you would win.”

Lu Wushuang was pleased, and whispered, “What ‘tricks, ruthlessness and viciousness’, that doesn’t sound too nice! When it comes to trickery, no one can compare with Mister Sha Dan.”

Yang Guo smiled and said, “Doesn’t that mean you are Mrs. Sha Dan?” Lu Wushuang gave a quiet grunt.

They watched the two girls battle. Yelu Yan did not have a weapon and after many tries still could not take the girl’s saber away, and now she was forced to defend and evade with no way to attack. Yelu Qi said, “Sister, let me try.” He slanted his body and moved forward, his right hand threw out three palms in succession. Yelu Yan stood by the wall said, “Fine, let’s watch you.”

After Yang Guo saw Yelu Qi’s three stances, he couldn’t stop himself from being slightly surprised. His left hand was planted on his waist not moving, his right hand extended and pulled back, his feet didn’t move. He was able to fend off the girl’s saber, his stances were refined, and positioning accurate, he wasn’t ordinary. Yang Guo thought, “That person is exceedingly good, his skills looks like Quanzhen yet there are some things different.”

Lu Wushuang said, “Sha Dan, his skills are much better than yours.” Yang Guo was in a trance as he watched and he didn’t even hear what she had said.

End of Chapter 9.

Chapter 10 - The Young Hero

Translated by Noodles

Li Mochou felt Yang Guo's sword skills were extremely refined and ingenious. Every stance and every move of hers was predicted by the opponent and was intercepted by him. She thought her Master was really biased. She changed her stance and suddenly moved forward, leaping onto a table, her right leg kicked out, her left leg supporting herself on the top of the table. Her body moved back and forth without effort, like a leaf floating in the breeze.

Yelu Qi said, "Sister, watch carefully. I'll hit her 'Scholarly Arm' (bei ru) pressure point and she will move her body and retreat, I'll follow this by hitting her 'Big Bone' pressure point, she must raise her saber to attack. At this time the attack must be fast and then you'll be able to snatch her saber."

The girl in black said, "Huh, it won't be that easy."

Yelu Qi said, "It will be like that." As he said this he used his right hand to attack her 'Scholarly Arm' pressure point. This palm was sent out in a crisscross, blocking all her paths to the front, back and right, leaving only a space to the left. If the girl wants to avoid his palm she must retreat two steps. Yelu Qi nodded his head and indeed, he did strike her 'Big Bone' pressure point.

The girl had always remembered, "I mustn't raise my saber to counterattack." But in this situation the only way to get any sort of advantage is to raise the saber and slash down; at that time she didn't think for long, she raised her saber and slashed down.

Yelu Qi said, "Just like that!" Everyone thought he was going to snatch the saber away but who would have thought that he would take his right arm back and put his hands together in his sleeve. The girl had not slashed down with her saber yet, when she saw his arms in his sleeves she stopped momentarily. Yelu Qi suddenly stretched out his right arm, his two fingers held the saber's blade and he lifted up; the girl could not hold on, her saber was snatched away.

After the crowd of people saw this great skill they stood there for a while, the room quiet as though empty. The girl in black stood there without moving, her face looked dejected. Everyone thought, "Second Master hasn't made another move, he's giving her a chance to run away. If she doesn't escape, what does she want?"

Yelu Qi slowly moved away and said to Yelu Yan, "She hasn't got a weapon now, fight with her again, be a bit braver and be more aware of her palms and kicks."

Yelu Yan stepped forward two steps and said, "Wanyan Ping, we are giving you a chance to run, but you still remain here and keep forcing us to fight, will you not give up today?"

Wanyan Ping did not reply, her head lowered in deep thought. Yelu Yan said, "If you want to fight with me then quickly get it over with!" After she said this she dashed forward and threw two fists towards her front. Wanyan Ping leapt back and said coldly, "Give back my saber."

Yelu Yan was startled and said, "My brother took away your weapon so we could have a fair fight, why are you asking for your weapon?" She said, "Fine!" She took the Willow Leaf Saber from her brother's hand and flung it towards her.

A guard offered out his saber and said, "Third mistress, you use a weapon as well." Yelu Yan said "No." But then she thought, "I can't beat her empty handed, we'll compete with sabers." She took the saber and tried out two slashes, the sword was a bit on the heavy side but she could use it if she had to.

Wanyan Ping's face was pale white, her left hand raised her saber, her right hand pointed at Yelu Chucai and said, "Yelu Chucaï, you helped the Mongols kill my parents; I won't be able to take my revenge in this life. We'll sort this out in hell!" After she finished her words her left hand raised the saber and moved it towards her neck.

Yang Guo heard her words and saw that her eyes and expression was cold and mournful. His heart jumped, his chest was in pain, his voice cracked as he said, "Gu Gu!"

At this time, Wanyan Ping had raised her saber to kill herself. Yelu Qi dashed forward two steps, his right arm came out and stretched out his two fingers and snatched the saber back again, and sealed her arm's pressure points. He said, "You're fine at the moment, why must you be so short sighted?" The time it took the saber to rise and its being snatched away happened in a flash. By the time the crowd of people saw what had happened, the saber was in Yelu Qi's hand. Everyone in the room let out a call of surprise, no one noticed Yang Guo's shout of 'Gu Gu', but Lu Wushuang was by his side and heard what he had said, she quietly whispered, "Who are you calling? Is she your Gu Gu?"

Yang Guo quickly replied, "No! No." When he saw Wanyan Ping's eyes showing a feeling of hurt and grief, her expression was bleak; it was just the way Xiao Longnu had looked like when she left him. After he saw this he was sentimental and mad; he didn't know where he was.

Yelu Chucai slowly said, "Miss Wanyan, you have tried to kill me three times. I am the Prime Minister of Mongolia; I overturned your country and killed your parents. But do you know who killed my ancestors?"

Wanyan Ping shook her head and said, "I don't know."

Yelu Chucai said, "My ancestor were Da Liao's (Khitan) royals; Da Liao was conquered by the Jin. The Wanyans didn't leave many of us behind. When I was young I made an oath; I will help the Khan of Mongolia to rid the world of you Jin. Ah... When will this cycle of revenge end?" When he said these two last sentences, he looked out of the window and thought about how helping these countries to fight for power had resulted in the loss of many lives; mountains of bodies and rivers of blood were a result.

Wanyan Ping had no reply, she revealed a few of her white teeth as she bit down on her lip; she gave a grunt and said to Yelu Qi, "I failed three times because my abilities aren't good enough; I want to leave it at that. I want to kill myself, what does that have to do with you?"

Yelu Qi said, "If Miss promises that she won't come back to seek revenge again then you can go!"

Wanyan Ping gave another 'huh' sound and stared angrily. Yelu Qi used the handle of the Willow Leaf Saber and touched her waist lightly, unsealing her pressure points. He then threw the saber back towards her. Wanyan Ping struggled to catch it but eventually did, she said, "Master Yelu, you have let me go many times and have held back each time, do you think I don't know this? It's just that the debts between the Wanyans and Yelu's are as deep as the sea, I must avenge my parents."

Yelu Qi thought, "That girl insists on following us, and she's not weak; if I leave father's side just a few steps what will happen then? Ah, why don't I force her into coming after me only?" He clearly said, "Miss Wanyan, you are seeking revenge on behalf of your parents, I admire your will. It's just that the older generation's matters should be dealt with by the older generations. We juniors have our own debts. The matter between our families should be dealt with between us; if you want to take revenge, find me. If you go after my father again, then next time we meet I will not make it easy for you."

Wanyan Ping said, "Huh, my martial arts aren't as good as yours, how can I avenge my parents? Just leave it, leave it." She turned around to exit. Yelu Qi knew that as soon as she leaves she plans to end her life. He wanted to save her and chuckled, "Huh, the Wanyan girl has no will."

Wanyan Ping stopped and turned around and said, "How do I have no will?"

Yelu Qi chuckled and said, "You are correct when you said my skills are higher than yours, but what's so good about that? It's only because I have been taught by a great Master, and not because I have some kind of great ability. Your "Iron Palm" kung fu is one of the best palm techniques; it's just that the person who taught you has not reached a refined stage. You have only begun to practice it recently; of course it will be hard for you to defeat enemies with it. You are young, all you've got to do is to find a better Master, can't you do this?" Wanyan Ping was angry originally but after hearing these words she nodded.

Yelu Qi continued, "Every time I fight with you I only use my right hand it's not because I'm arrogant. It's just that my left hand is strong, every attack aims to hurt someone. How about this, after you've studied under a better Master, you can come and find me at anytime. All you've got to do is to force me to use my left hand and my life will be in your hands." He knew that the difference between their skills was great. Even after getting advice from a skilled teacher, it will be hard for her to beat his one hand. When someone wants to kill themselves it's just an impulsive decision; once she searches for a Master, her priorities will change and eventually the thought of killing herself will have gone.

Wanyan Ping thought, "You're not a god! I'll practice hard; do you think I won't be able to use my two hands to beat your one hand?" She raised her saber in the air and slashed down and she said, "The words of a gentlemen"

Yelu Qi finished, "A whip on a fast horse!" Wanyan Ping did not look at the crowd and held her head high as she left, but her face could not hide her anguish. When the guards saw that second Master had let her go, they didn't dare to block her. They all paid their respects to Yelu Chucai and exited. Yelu Jin saw that this event was like heaven and earth turning upside down. Yang Guo did not show himself, he was surprised.

Yelu Yan said, "Second Brother, why did you let her go again?"

Yelu Qi said, "What?"

Yelu Yan smiled and said, "If you want her to be my sister in law then you shouldn't have let her go."

Yelu Qi's face turned serious and said "Don't talk rubbish!"

Yelu Yan saw that he was serious, she was afraid that he would get angry so didn't tease again.

When Yang Guo heard Yelu Yan say 'want her to be my sister in law', for no reason at all his heart ached slightly. He saw that Wanyan Ping was heading in a south easterly direction and said to Lu Wushuang, "I'll go and take a look."

Lu Wushuang said, "Look at what?" Yang Guo didn't reply and utilized his lightness kung fu and chased after her.

Wanyan Ping's martial arts skills weren't strong but her lightness kung fu was good, Yang Guo chased after her but only saw her again after they were outside the Colt Dragon Stockade town. He saw her arriving at a manor; she opened the door and entered. Yang Guo followed and hid by the wall. After half an hour, a light could be seen from the double room in the western wing, followed by a long sigh. That long sigh contained much anguish, hate and worry. Yang Guo heard this from outside the window; he was startled and was moved. Unconsciously he too gave out a long sigh. Wanyan Ping heard that someone was sighing outside her window so she quickly blew out the light and went over to the wall and quietly asked, "Who is it?"

Yang Guo said, "Someone like you, someone whose heart is in pain."

Wanyan Ping was startled; she heard that his voice did not seem to carry any evil intent so she asked, "Who exactly are you?"

Yang Guo said, "There's a saying; 'When a gentleman wants revenge, ten years is not long'. You failed a few times and then wanted to kill yourself; are you viewing your life with disregard? What about your revenge, aren't you disregarding that matter even more?"

A creaking sound was heard as the doors were opened; Wanyan Ping lit a candle and said, "Please enter." Yang Guo made a bow outside the door and entered. Wanyan Ping saw that he was dressed in the clothes of a Mongolian General and was very young. She was astounded and said, "Your advice makes sense, could I have pleasure of knowing your name?"

Yang Guo didn't reply, he placed his arms in his sleeves and said, "That Yelu Qi talks big, thinking that only using his right arm makes him highly skilled. Sealing pressure points and snatching a saber away, how hard can it be if it's done with no hands?"

Wanyan Ping objected to this but because she didn't know he was teasing she didn't rebuke him.

Yang Guo said, "I'll teach you three stances and you'll be able to force Yelu Qi to use both hands. I'll fight with you now, I won't use my arms and legs, how about that?"

Wanyan Ping was shocked, she thought, "Could it be that you know some kind of witchcraft, you could blow me down in one breath?"

Yang Guo saw that she was hesitating and said, "Use your saber; if I can't avoid it then I'll die without complaining."

Wanyan Ping said, "Fine, I won't use my saber, I'll only use my fists and palms."

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "No, you'll only believe me if I can snatch away your saber without using my arms and legs."

Wanyan Ping saw that he seemed to be joking but serious at the same time. She was slightly angry and said, "I have never heard or seen someone who has your abilities." As she finished she waved her saber and slashed down at his shoulder. She saw that Yang Guo's hands were in his sleeves as if nothing was happening. She was afraid that she would hurt him so moved her saber slightly to the side. Yang Guo understood, he didn't move and said, "Don't hold back, and hack down for real!" The Willow Leaf Saber hacked down; there were only a few inches between the saber and his shoulder. Wanyan Ping saw that he didn't make body movements and respected his courage, she thought, "Is he a demon?" The Willow Leaf Saber slanted and hacked down, she wasn't holding back with this slash. Yang Guo lowered his body and the saber brushed past him; there were only a few inches in between. Wanyan Ping concentrated; she raised her saber and slashed down again. Yang Guo dodged past the slash and said, "You can add your palm attacks as well."

Wanyan Ping said, "Fine." The saber slashed across, followed by a palm.

Yang Guo slanted his body and evaded these attacks and said, "There's no harm in going faster."

Wanyan Ping started to use her saber techniques, she used her palms in between, and it became faster as she used them. Yang Guo said, "Your palms are swift, it's better than your saber techniques. Yelu Qi said this was the "Iron Palm" technique, is it?"

Wanyan Ping nodded; her attacks became even more lethal. Yang Guo's hands were still in his sleeves, it floated around in between the saber and palms. Wanyan Ping used a saber and her "Iron Palm" but didn't even manage to touch his clothes. She had used over half her saber techniques and Yang Guo said, "Careful, within three moves I'll take your saber."

Wanyan Ping respected him but still did not believe him. Would he be able to take her saber in three moves? She couldn't stop herself from holding the handle of the saber even tighter and said, "Come and get it!" She slashed her saber across using the stance "Qin's Crossing" (yun heng qin ling) and slashed across his throat. Yang Guo lowered his head and darted below the blade; he slanted his head and his forehead struck her elbow's 'Crooked Pond' pressure point. Wanyan Ping's arm went numb, her fingers lost their strength. Yang Guo moved his head up and opened his mouth; he lightly and skillfully snatched the saber away. His head moved, the handle of the saber struck her side, hitting a pressure point. Yang Guo raised his head and loosened his teeth, he flung the saber upwards a ways so he could speak clearly, he said, "How about it, are you in awe?" As he finished the saber dropped back down, he opened his mouth and caught it. He laughed as he looked at her. Wanyan Ping was startled but pleased, she nodded her head.

Yang Guo saw that her eyes were sparkling, her beauty was enchanting and moving, he couldn't stop himself from wanting to hold her, kiss her. But this was too daring, he bit down on the saber as his face blushed.

How could Wanyan Ping know what he was thinking, she saw that he had a strange expression and was slightly surprised. She felt her whole body going soft, her legs were about to give way and she would fall over. Yang Guo stepped forward, he was just about an inch away, he wanted to fling the saber away and kiss her on her eyelids when he suddenly thought, "She's touched by the respect that Yelu Qi treats her with, could it be that I'm inferior to him? Huh, I want to beat him in every department." He lowered his head and swung it; the handle of the saber touched her waist and unsealed her pressure points. He offered the handle to her.

Wanyan Ping did not take the saber; her knees bent down onto the floor and said, "I beg Master to teach me, I'll be forever indebted to you if I can avenge my parents."

Yang Guo quickly picked her up and took the saber from his mouth, he said, "How can I be your Master? However, I can still teach you a method to take Yelu Qi's life."

Wanyan Ping was pleased and said, "As long as I can kill him. I'm not afraid of his brother and sister and then I'll be able to kill his father." She suddenly thought of someone and sadly said, "Ai... by the time I've achieved the ability to kill him, will Master Yelu still be alive? I still won't be able to avenge my parents' death."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "That Yelu Chucai's life will still be there for you to take."

Wanyan Ping wondered, "How?"

Yang Guo said, "How hard is it to take Yelu Qi's life? I'll teach you three stances, you'll be able to kill him tonight."

Wanyan Ping had tried to kill Yelu Chucai three times, but each time Yelu Qi stopped her. She knew that Yelu Qi's skills were ten times better than her's, she thought that although the young Mongolian general in front of her was skilled, he may not be able to beat Yelu Qi. Even if he could beat him, there is no way that teaching her three moves will allow her to kill Yelu Qi. And to kill him tonight was even more difficult. She was afraid that Yang Guo would get angry so she didn't say anything to rebuke him. She just shook her head slightly, and her eyes showed that she was thinking that he was mad.

Yang Guo knew what she was thinking and said, "Correct, my kung fu may not be better than his. If we really fought, it could be that I would have more losses than wins. But teaching you three moves to take his life is not a difficult task. I'm only afraid that because he spared you three times you won't kill him."

Wanyan Ping's heart shook, and immediately said without any feelings, "Though he has been kind to me, I must avenge my parents."

Yang Guo said, "Fine, I'll teach you the three stances. If you have the chance to kill him and you spare him, what then?"

Wanyan Ping said, "I'll do whatever you say. With your ability, you can beat me or kill me, how can I escape?"

Yang Guo thought, "How can I kill you? If you kill him or not, what has that got to do with me?" So he chuckled and said, "Actually doing the three stances isn't anything special. Watch carefully." He picked up the saber and slowly slashed from the left to the right, and said, "The first stance, it's 'Qin's Crossing'."

Wanyan Ping thought, "I already know that move, who needs you to teach it to me?" She saw the saber coming towards her and slanted her body to avoid it. Yang Guo suddenly stretched out his hand and grabbed her right hand and said, "The second stance is the stance that you've used twice before, "The Rattan around the Tree"."

Wanyan Ping nodded and said, "Yes, it's my "Iron Palm's" trapping hand stance."

Yang Guo held her soft and smooth hand, his heart stirred and he smiled and said, "You should have learned the Jade Flesh Palm kung fu, why did you learn the "Iron Palm's" capturing hand kung fu?"

Wanyan Ping didn't know he was joking and said, "Is there a "Jade Flesh Palm"? The name sounds beautiful." She felt him holding her palm, tight and then loose, the force behind it was extremely light, she felt that this palm technique wasn't as lethal as her "Iron Palm's" capturing hand techniques and thought, "I know the first two stances that you are teaching me, could it be that just with the third stance, Yelu Qi could be killed?"

Yang Guo stared at her eyes and said, "Watch closely!" Suddenly he flipped his wrist and slashed the sword towards his neck.

Wanyan Ping was startled and called out, "What are you doing?" Her right hand was held tightly by Yang Guo, she quickly stretched out her left hand to snatch away his saber. Even though it was an urgent situation, her "Iron Palm's" capturing hand came out with great accuracy, she grabbed his wrist and pulled backwards, the saber was pulled away from his neck. Yang Guo loosened his hand and took two steps back. He laughed and said, "Do you understand?"

Wanyan Ping wasn't settled yet; her heart was jumping all over the place, and didn't understand what he meant.

Yang Guo laughed and said, "First use 'Qin's Crossing' and then use 'The Rattan around the Tree' holding tightly to his right hand, the third stance is to kill yourself; he will definitely rescue you with his left hand. He swore an oath to you, all you've got to do is to force him to use his left hand and he'll let you kill him without objecting. Won't that do?"

Wanyan Ping thought this would happen, she stared at him, startled.

Yang Guo said, "Those three stances will not fail; if it doesn't work I'll kowtow to you."

Wanyan Ping shook her head and said, "He said he won't use his left hand, he definitely won't. What then?"

Yang Guo said, "What about it? Since you'll never be able to avenge your parents then won't dying be a clean solution?"

Wanyan Ping nodded her head mournfully and said, "You are right. Thank you for the advice. Who exactly are you?"

Before Yang Guo replied, a girl's voice from outside the window called out, "He's called Sha Dan; don't listen to what he says."

When Yang Guo heard Lu Wushuang's voice he laughed and didn't reply. Wanyan Ping went over to the window and saw a black image, a person leapt over the wall.

Wanyan Ping wanted to chase after them but Yang Guo pulled her hand and laughed, he said, "There's no need to chase after her, it's my companion. She loves to make trouble for me."

She looked at him and thought deeply for a while, and said, "Since you don't want to tell me then I won't force you. I believe that you have good intentions."

Yang Guo saw her eyes sparkled, her expression was crystal clear, he couldn't stop himself from being filled with pity and sympathy, and he pulled her hand and sat shoulder to shoulder on the bed. He softly said, "My surname is Yang, first name Guo, I'm a Han, not a Mongol. I'm like you, my parents are also dead."

When Wanyan Ping heard his words her heart felt sad, two tear drops escaped from her eyes. Yang Guo was emotional and suddenly cried out. Wanyan Ping took out a handkerchief from her pocket and gave it to him. Yang Guo took it and wiped his face, he remembered his past and more tears rained down. Wanyan Ping smiled and said, "Master Yang, you're making me cry now."

Yang Guo said, "Don't call me Master Yang. How old are you?"

Wanyan Ping said, "I'm eighteen, what about you?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm eighteen as well." He thought, "If I'm born later than her and she calls me little brother, it won't seem right." I was born in the first month; you can call me big brother Yang. I won't be formal with you; I'll call you sister Wanyan."

Wanyan Ping blushed, she felt that he was straightforward and extremely strange but it seemed that he had no ill intentions towards her so she nodded her head. When Yang Guo saw that she nodded her head he was pleased. Wanyan Ping's face was elegant, she was slim but she's had tragic experiences, it seemed that she was born to attract sympathy and pity. But what was most important was that her eyes and Xiao Longnu's were extremely alike. He didn't consider the fact that when someone's heart is full of grief, their eyes will be filled with sorrow and anguish. Everyone is different in this world, when he thought that her eyes looked like Xiao Longnu's he was just consoling himself. As he stared into her eyes, he imagined her black clothes were white; he turned her slim and oval face into Xiao Longnu's beautiful face. He was in a daze as he stared at her, his face revealed an expression of beseeching, of being sentimental, of affection, of love. Wanyan Ping was slightly afraid and lightly pulled her hand away, she quietly said, "What are you doing?"

Yang Guo woke up from his dream and sighed. He said, "Nothing. Are you going to kill him?"

Wanyan Ping said, "I'm going now. Brother Yang, are you coming with me?"

Yang Guo was about to say "Of course" but then he thought, "If I'm there, she will know that she has strong backup. She won't really commit herself to suicide; Yelu Qi will not fall into the trap." He said, "I'm not going with you."

Wanyan Ping's eyes showed some signs of disappointment. Yang Guo's heart softened, he was about to agree when Wanyan Ping suddenly said quietly, "Fine brother Yang, I'm afraid I won't see you again."

Yang Guo quickly said, "Why...why...I..."

Wanyan Ping shook her head she exited the manor and in a flash had arrived at the Yelu's residence. At that time, Yelu Chucai and the others were about to go to bed. Wanyan Ping knocked twice at the front door and clearly said, "Wanyan Ping wants to see Master Yelu Qi."

Some guards were about to go up to her and block her way when Yelu Qi opened the door and asked, "What can I do for Miss Wanyan."

Wanyan Ping said, "I want to test your skills."

Yelu Qi wondered, "How come you don't admit your limits?" He slanted his body and stretched out his right hand and said, "Please enter."

Wanyan Ping entered the room with her saber and unleashed three strokes with it, sandwiched between the slashes were six "Iron Palms", this "One Slash with Two Palms" attacked together from the left and right. Yelu Qi's left hand hung down, his right hand chopped and grabbed as he neutralized the three slashes and six palms. He thought, "How can I force her to go away and stop her from bothering our family ever again?" The two fought for a while and Wanyan Ping was about to use the three stances that Yang Guo taught her, when a girl's voice from outside called out, "Yelu Qi, she wants to trick you into using your left hand, careful." It was Lu Wushuang.

Yelu Qi was startled, Wanyan Ping didn't give him time to think and immediately used a stance of Qin's Crossing" and waited for him to slant his body to dodge it. She stretched out her left arm and used "The Rattan around the Tree", she grabbed his right arm, and her right arm turned over and slashed the saber towards her throat. In that short period of time many thoughts ran through Yelu Qi's mind, "Must I save her? But she's tricking me into using my left hand, once I use it my life will be in her hands. How can a gentleman stand by and do nothing?"

Yang Guo had seen through Yelu Qi's thoughts, once the three stances were out, he would definitely try to rescue her, but he couldn't have predicted that Lu Wushuang will have popped up and messed with the plan, informing Yelu Qi of the danger.

The plan wouldn't have worked, but Yelu Qi was heroic and generous, he knew that if he saved her his life would be hers.

In this danger he still stretched out his left hand and blocked Wanyan Ping's right wrist, his wrist turned and took her Willow Leaf Saber. After these three stances, each one of them took two steps back. Yelu Qi didn't wait for her to open her mouth and threw the saber back and said, "You have forced me to use my left hand, you can kill me but I have one request."

Wanyan Ping's face was pale and said, "What is it?"

Yelu Qi said, "I beg you not to harm my father." Wanyan Ping gave a 'humph' grunt and walked forward, she raised the saber; under the candlelight she could see that he was still calm, and saw his manly air. She thought about how he used his left hand to save her, how could she hack him down? The intent to kill in her eyes slowly turned to peace, she threw down her saber and left.

She ran without thinking and someone followed her steps until she arrived at a stream outside the town. She stared at the reflection of the stars in the stream, her mind and heart in a mess. After a while, she sighed.

Suddenly, a sighing noise could be heard from behind. Wanyan Ping was startled, she turned around and saw someone standing behind her; it was Yang Guo. She called out 'Brother Yang' and didn't say anything else.

Yang Guo went forwards and held her hands; he consoled her, "Avenging your parents isn't an easy thing to do. There is no rush."

Wanyan Ping said, "You saw everything?" Yang Guo nodded. Wanyan Ping said, "Of course it will be hard for one as useless as me to avenge their parents. All I need is half your ability and I wouldn't be in this situation."

Yang Guo took her hand and led her to under a tree where they sat next to each other and said, "Even if you learned everything I know, what use is it? Although you can't avenge your parents now, at least you know who to take revenge against; won't you have chances again in the future? What about me? I don't even know how my father died, let alone who killed him, I can't even talk about revenge."

Wanyan Ping froze and said, "Your parents were killed by someone too?"

Yang Guo sighed and said, "My mother died from an illness, my father died without reason. I never saw my father."

Wanyan Ping said, "How do you know?"

Yang Guo said, "By the time I was born, my father had died. I ask my mother how did my father die, who is our enemy? Every time I asked mother she would always end up in tears and wouldn't reply. After a while I stopped asking. At that time I thought it wouldn't be too late if I asked her when I get a bit older; but I didn't think that mother would die suddenly. Before she died I asked her again. Mother just shook her head and said, "Your father... your father... ai... son, don't ever, ever think about revenge. Promise mother that you'll never think about avenging your father." I was sad and grief stricken, I called out, "I won't promise, I won't promise!" Mother didn't breathe again and died. Ai...tell me what should I do?" He wanted to say these words to console Wanyan Ping but after he finished he himself was sad. There's a saying, 'One mustn't live under the same sky as the person who killed your father'. If someone didn't avenge their father, that is the most unfilial thing to do; they would suffer disgrace and humiliation and be despised by other people. Yang Guo didn't even know the name of his father's killer; he had hidden this matter in his heart for a long time, now that he got it off his chest, his voice was filled with sadness and anger.

Wanyan Ping said, "Who brought you up?"

Yang Guo said, "Who else? It was me of course. Once my mother died I wandered around the world of Jianghu, I asked for a meal here and pleaded for shelter there, sometimes I couldn't endure hunger any longer and would steal a melon or a potato from a family. I always got caught and got beaten for a while. Look, I have many scars, my bones stick out, and these are all from when I got beaten when I was younger." He smiled and rolled up his leg for her to see. The stars and moonlight was indistinct, Wanyan Ping could not see clearly, Yang Guo took her hand and rubbed it over the scars on his lower leg. Wanyan Ping could make out the bumps of the scars and couldn't stop her heart from aching. She thought about herself, how although she has lost her family, her father had many old friends and acquaintances, and had left money and treasures; compared to him, she was a lot more fortunate.

The two were silent for a while, Wanyan Ping pulled her hand lightly away from his leg but her hand was still held by him, she quietly asked, "How did you learn your great martial arts? And how did you become a Mongolian official?"

Yang Guo smiled and said, "I'm not a Mongolian official. I'm wearing Mongolian clothes so I can hide from my enemy."

Wanyan Ping was pleased and said, "That's good."

Yang Guo asked, "What's good?"

Wanyan Ping's face turned slightly red and said, "The Mongols are the mortal enemies of the Jin, of course I hoped that you weren't a Mongolian official."

Yang Guo held onto her soft and smooth hand, his mind wasn't settled, and said, "If I was a Jin official, how would you treat me?"

When Wanyan Ping saw that he was handsome and skilled in martial arts, she had liked him a bit, and now in her troubled times she had his help. She heard about his past and sympathized with him even more. Right now, she heard his voice had some ill intent but she was not angry and sighed, saying, "If my father was alive, whatever you wanted, my father could have given it to you. Now my parents are gone, what use is there in talking about it?"

Yang Guo heard her voice was gentle and peaceful, he stretched out his hand and placed it on her shoulder and whispered into her ear, "Sister, I have one request."

Wanyan Ping's heart jumped, she had an idea as to what he wanted to ask and quietly asked, "What?"

Yang Guo said, "I want to kiss your eyes, relax! I just want to kiss your eyes; I won't do anything to violate you."

Wanyan Ping had thought that he wanted to ask for her hand in marriage, and was afraid that he wanted to get intimate, if she refused and he used a little force, how would she be a match for him?

She was a girl touched by young love, her hand was tightly held by his strong, coarse hand; she was enchanted by the tangles of love. Without saying he would use force and even if he didn't use force, it was hard for her to refuse. Who would think that all he wanted was to kiss her eyes; she couldn't stop herself from letting out a sigh of relief, but there was a touch of disappointment in her heart. She felt surprise and her heart was tangled up like thread. Her eyes sparkled as she stared at him, startled, her eyes revealed a touch of shyness. Yang Guo stared at her eyes and remembered the time Xiao Longnu left him. Her shy and loving eyes stared at him; he couldn't help groaning and he jumped up.

Wanyan Ping flinched in fright; she wanted to ask what it was but couldn't open her mouth.

Yang Guo's heart was in a mess, all he saw in front of him were Xiao Longnu's eyes. That last day when he saw her eyes, he was a young boy who wasn't yet clear about things; he respected Xiao Longnu but didn't understand what her words meant. After leaving the mountain, he had now spent a few days with Lu Wushuang; and now he was brushing Wanyan Ping's face by the side of her ear. Suddenly his heart came alive, he understood now, he now understood the affection and love of Xiao Longnu. He couldn't refrain from feeling thousands of regrets and grief. He wanted to run into a tree and kill himself. He thought, "Gu Gu loves me deeply and said she wanted to be my wife. I unexpectedly rejected her good intentions; where on earth do I start searching for her?" He suddenly cried out and threw himself forward, holding Wanyan Ping, and kissed her eyes forcefully.

When Wanyan Ping saw his forceful and mad actions she was frightened and pleased; she felt his arms were like metal, holding tightly to her waist, she closed her eyes and let him do what he wanted. She felt his lips kiss her eyes only and didn't move from them. She thought how although his action is forceful, he kept his word, but she didn't know why he kissed her eyes only.

Abruptly Yang Guo called out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu!" The voice carried the warmth of love, yet it carried extreme sorrow. Wanyan Ping was about to ask him who is he calling out when suddenly a girl's voice from behind said, "May I trouble you two!"

Yang Guo and Wanyan Ping were both startled; they both jumped away from each other and saw someone standing by the tree. That person wore a blue green gown.

Wanyan Ping's heart was still jumping; her face red, she lowered her head and tugged at the corner of her clothes, and didn't dare look at the person.

Yang Guo recognized this person, it was the one who had lured Li Mochou away from the inn a few days ago; he and Lu Wushuang had their lives saved thanks to that person. She had two knots of hair on her head, it was a girl; he bowed deeply and said, "I won't forget Miss's help that day."

The girl returned the greeting and said, "Master Yang, at this moment in time do you still remember your companion?"

Yang Guo said, "You are talking about..."

The girl clearly said, "Li Mochou and her disciple have just captured her!"

Yang Guo was shocked; his voice quivered and said, "Really? Is she ...she in danger?"

The girl clearly said, "She will be alright for the time being. Miss Lu said that the beggars took the codex, the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' is holding her and chasing after them. Her life will be safe for the moment but she won't avoid torture."

Yang Guo called out, "We'll quickly go and rescue her."

The girl shook her head and said, "Master Yang's kung fu is high but I'm afraid you are still not a match for the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity'. There is no use in us losing our lives in vain."

Under the flat starlight he saw that the girl's face was unspeakably ugly, the flesh on the face did not move, like the face of a dead person. When one sees it, they can't refrain from being terrified. Yang Guo looked at her a few times and then didn't dare to look at her again, but thought,

“That girl is a kind and considerate person, but she has such an odd face, what a pity. If I look at her again, I’ll show some signs of being shocked; I’ll offend her then.” He asked, “Can I have the name of Miss?”

The girl said, “There is no need to remember such a lowly name, Master Yang will know it in the near future; what’s most important now is to think of a way to rescue Miss Lu.” When she talked, the flesh on her face didn’t move, if one didn’t hear words coming from her mouth, they would think that she was a walking corpse. But it’s strange, her voice was simple, soft, and gentle, it could revitalize a tired person and make one forget their worries.

Yang Guo said, “Since it is so, we’ll rely on Miss’s advice to rescue Miss Lu. I will listen to your orders.”

The girl was courteous and said, “Master Yang please don’t be so formal, your skills are better than mine ten times over. When it comes to intelligence, I’m even further behind. You are older than me, and you are a man; whatever you say we’ll do; this young girl will follow your decisions.”

Yang Guo heard that these words were polite and gracious, his heart had an incredibly comfortable feeling, he thought that although the girl’s face was frightening, her words were gentle and soothing; one should not judge someone by their looks. He pondered and then said, “How about we follow them in secret and make the rescue when the chance comes.”

The girl said, “That’s a good idea; but what about Miss Wanyan?” As she said this she moved away and let the two discuss the matter.

Yang Guo said, “Sister, I need to go and rescue a friend, we’ll meet again some day.”

Wanyan Ping lowered her head and said, "Although my abilities are low, I can still be of help. Brother Yang, I'll follow and help you in your rescue."

Yang Guo was pleased and said, "Good, good!" He raised his voice and said to the blue green girl, "Miss, Miss Wanyan is willing to come along with us for the rescue."

The girl came closer and said to Wanyan Ping, "Miss Wanyan, you are of an important status, you must think about this. Our enemy is extremely ruthless and vindictive; people in Jianghu call her the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity'. It's really in one's best interests to avoid her." Her tone was still courteous and polite.

Wanyan Ping said, "Without mentioning the fact that I'm indebted to brother Yang, his business is my business. A friend like sister is definitely worth making. I'll follow sister and we'll be cautious."

The girl came over and held her hand and softly said, "Nothing could be better than that. You are older than me, call me younger sister."

In the dark, Wanyan Ping could not see her ugly face, but she heard her soft and gentle voice, a soft and tender hand held onto hers, she assumed that she was a beautiful girl. She was happy and asked, "How old are you?"

The girl laughed lightly and said, "Let's not compare our ages. Master Yang, what's most important now is to rescue your friend, is it not?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes. Can Miss please show us the way?"

The girl said, "I saw them heading in a southeast direction, they must be heading for Wuguan."

The three then utilized their lightness kung fu and hurried to the southeast. The Ancient Tomb sect's kung fu's forte is lightness kung fu; it could be classed as the world's number one. Wanyan Ping's martial arts may not be anything special but her lightness kung fu was not weak. How was it that the girl in blue green followed behind her without breaking speed? When Wanyan Ping was going fast, she went fast, when she slowed down, the girl slowed down, the gap between them remained constant at one or two paces. Yang Guo was secretly surprised, "What sect is that girl from? From her lightness kung fu, her skills are higher than sister Wanyan's." He didn't want to lead the two girls and so slipped to the rear.

They traveled until the sky became bright; the girl took out some food from her bag and gave it to the two. Yang Guo saw that although her blue green gown was plain and natural, its design was exquisite, it fitted perfectly to her body. On her, the gown showed off her slim, graceful and elegant disposition, it was superior to embroidered clothing. Water, food and all other supplies were prepared by her, showing off how meticulous and careful she was.

Wanyan Ping saw her face and was startled; she didn't dare to take any more glances and thought, "Is there such an ugly girl on this earth?"

The girl waited for the two to finish their food and said, "Master Yang, Li Mochou knows you, yes?"

Yang Guo said, "She's seen me a few times."

The girl took out a thin towel like object from her bag and said, "This is a human skin mask, when you wear it she won't be able to recognize you."

Yang Guo took it in his hand and saw that the mask had four holes for the eyes, mouth and nose, when he placed it on his face it matched the shape of his face, like as if he was born with it, he thanked her with joy.

Wanyan Ping saw Yang Guo put on the mask, his face was now extremely ugly and then she understood, "Sister, so you're wearing a human skin mask as well; I'm really foolish, I thought you really were born with that weird face. I'm really sorry."

The girl gave a quiet laugh and said, "With Master Yang's handsome face, wearing this mask is asking a lot from him. With my face, it's the same whether I wear it or not."

Wanyan Ping said, "I don't believe that! Sister, could you take off your mask and let me see your face?"

Yang Guo also was curious and he too was anxious to see her face, but the girl took two steps back and laughed, and said, "Don't look, don't look, my face will scare you guys." Wanyan Ping saw that she won't take it off and so didn't ask her again.

By midday the three arrived at Wuguan. They found a restaurant in the town and had something to eat. The waiters saw Yang Guo was wearing Mongolian clothes and didn't dare to be slow; they made sure they tended to his needs first. The three were halfway through their food when they saw three females enter the restaurant; it was Li Mochou and her disciple along with Lu Wushuang as their captive.

Yang Guo thought that although Li Mochou could not possibly recognize him at this moment in time, his strange face would attract her suspicions. It wouldn't be convenient for him to act so he turned around and ate his rice, shifting his body to hear their conversation. Who would think that Lu Wushuang would not make a sound? After Li Mochou and Hong Lingbo ordered, they too didn't speak.

Wanyan Ping had heard Yang Guo describe Li Mochou and her disciples before. She was anxious and dipped her chopstick into a bowl of soup and wrote on the table, "Time to move?"

Yang Guo thought, "Even with the three us and 'Wifey' it'll be hard for us to beat the two of them. We can only win by using our brains, we can't use force." He waved his chopstick.

There were footsteps from the stairs and two people emerged. Wanyan Ping glanced over; it was Yelu Qi and Yelu Yan. The two people also noticed that Wanyan Ping was there and both were surprised; they nodded and then found a table to sit down. The two knew that Wanyan Ping had left and wasn't going to try to assassinate their father again so they left their father and brother and went traveling. They were even more relaxed when they saw Wanyan Ping was here.

Li Mochou was troubled by the fact that the 'Five Poison Codex' had fallen into the hands of the Beggar Clan. These past few days she had no appetite for food; she just ate half a bowl of noodles and then placed her chopsticks on the table. She raised her head and looked out of the restaurant; on the corner of the street she saw two beggars, on their backs their were five pockets, they were five band beggar clan members. She had a thought and went over to the window, she signaled to the beggars and said, "Beggar Clan members, please come here, This Taoist priestess has a message for your clan's chief." She knew that if she asked them to come up for no reason, they might not come, but if she said she had a message for their chief, they would definitely come. Lu Wushuang heard her Master calling the beggars and knew that she wanted to inquire about the whereabouts of the 'Five Poison Codex'; her face couldn't refrain from turning white. Yelu Qi knew that the Beggar Clan was a powerful force up here in the north, yet this beautiful priestess actually had something to say to them; he didn't know who she was, his curiosity was roused, he stopped drinking and watched them.

In a short while, the sound of footsteps could be heard outside, two Beggar Clan members entered and greeted Li Mochou and said, "What does the Angelic Priestess want, we'll honor the request." After they greeted her they stood up. One of the beggars saw that Lu Wushuang was present and his face immediately changed, he had tangled with her before, he pulled his friend and leapt to the stairs entrance.

Li Mochou gave a wry smile and said, "Please take a look at the back of your hands." The beggars looked on their back of their hands only to see three red prints, they didn't know how on earth she managed to do this; she had used her "Divine Five Poison Palm" without 'disturbing ghosts or gods' (roughly 'completely un-seen'). The beggars didn't even know she had done anything, even Yang Guo and Yelu Qi couldn't see clearly what had happened.

The beggars were startled and both called out, "You're... you're the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity'?"

Li Mochou softly said, "Go and tell your chief, 'your clan and the one named Li have always kept away from each other', say 'the river water does not mix with the well water'. I have always admired the heroes of the Beggar Clan, it's just that I've never had the chance to acquaint myself with the clan, I really regret that."

The beggars looked at her and thought, "It sounds nice but why did you use your poisonous techniques on us for no reason?"

Li Mochou took a break and then carried on, "The two of you have fallen victim to the "Divine Five Poison Palm", don't worry, all you've got to do is return the book you stole and I will help you cure it."

One of the beggars said, "What book?"

Li Mochou laughed and said, "That old book isn't worth much, if your clan won't return it, its not too important. I'll just take the thousand Beggar Clan member's lives as compensation."

The two beggars' arms didn't feel anything strange but each time they listened to a sentence, they would look down at their hands. They have heard about how evil and poisonous the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' was; after falling victim to her, you will suffer extreme pain as you die. Their hearts were now imagining things, the three red marks on their hands seemed to be getting bigger and they heard the ruthlessness and evil way she spoke. They wanted to go and tell their elders and plan what to do. They looked at each other and hurried down the stairs.

Li Mochou thought, "If your chief wants you to live, she will definitely hand over the 'Five Poison Codex' obediently... crap! If they copy the book and return the original to me what then?" She had another thought, "My divine palm's and concealed weapons' antidotes are all written in the book, they've got the book, why will they beg me?" When she thought about this her face changed, she flew over to them and blocked their path. Two palm clashes were heard as she pushed them up the stairs. She was a yellow blur as she moved up and down the stairs. When she returned upstairs she held one of the beggar's arms and twisted it, a 'ka la' sound and the bone was broken. The other beggar was alarmed but he was loyal to his friend, he didn't run away and dashed forward to protect his friend. He saw Li Mochou coming forward and threw out a fist. Li Mochou grabbed his wrist without effort and twisted it; the arm was broken. The two beggars knew that they had suffered serious injuries in just one stance and they knew that they were out of luck today; the two stood back to back and raised their good arm, deciding to fight to the end.

Li Mochou said courteously, "You two better stay here and wait for your chief to bring the book here as ransom."

The two beggars saw her return to her table and drink wine, her back to them; they slowly edged towards the stairs and waited for a chance to escape.

Li Mochou turned around and laughed and said, "It seems that the two of you are going to remain here only if your legs are broken." She stood up.

Hong Lingbo couldn't bear it anymore and said, "Master, just let me guard them, I won't let them escape."

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Huh, you've got a good conscience." She slowly walked towards the two beggars.

Yelu Qi and his sister had been watching from aside, they couldn't bear it any longer and both of them stood up. Yelu Qi whispered, "Sister, run away, this woman is very powerful."

Yelu Yan whispered, "What about you?"

Yelu Qi said, "As soon as I've saved the two beggars, I'll immediately run as well."

Yelu Yan knew that there weren't many people that her brother couldn't beat; when he said that he needs to run to escape with his life, she couldn't believe it.

At this time, Yang Guo slapped the table with force, and went over to Yelu Qi and said, "Brother Yelu, how about we save them together?" He knew that if he wanted to save Lu Wushuang, he would eventually have to fight. With a skilled person who was willing to save someone like Yelu Qi, how could he avoid dragging him down with him?

Yelu Qi saw that he was dressed in the clothes of a Mongolian general, his face was extremely ugly, and he had never seen this person in his life. He thought that if this person was actually sitting with Wanyan Ping then he knew who he was; but with Li Mochou's kung fu, it would be hard for him to win. If a normal person intervened they would definitely lose their life in vain. He couldn't reply for the time being. Li Mochou heard Yang Guo talk and examined him, his voice seemed familiar but no one can forget a face like his, and decided that she didn't know him.

Yang Guo said, "I don't have a weapon, I need to borrow one." As he said this he flew past Hong Lingbo's body and picked up the sword from her belt; he smelled her scent and said, "Very fragrant!" Hong Lingbo threw out a palm, he ducked and darted underneath it, then stood between Li Mochou and the beggars. The essence of his movements were remarkable, it was the advanced kung fu he learned while catching sparrows in the ancient tomb. Li Mochou was secretly alarmed.

Yelu Qi was delighted and said, "What is this brother's name?"

Yang Guo swung his left arm and said, "Little brother is called Yang." He raised the sword sheath and said, "I stole a broken sword." He took the sword out of its sheath, the sword was indeed broken.

Hong Lingbo realized who he was and called out, "Little punk! Master, it's him!"

Yang Guo took off his mask and said, "Martial Aunt, apprentice sister, Yang Guo greets you."

When he said 'Martial Aunt, apprentice sister', Yelu Qi was mystified; Lu Wushuang was even more surprised, "Why on earth is Sha Dan calling them Martial Aunt and apprentice sister?"

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Hmm, how's your Master?"

Yang Guo's heart ached a little, his eyes went red.

Li Mochou then coldly said, "Your Master has taught a good disciple."

Days ago, Yang Guo had used unorthodox techniques to neutralize her most lethal stances the "Three Without Three Without Hands" technique, and after he took away her fly whisk with his teeth. His skills were strange, in fact they were unimaginably strange; although she managed to take her fly whisk back and knew that her skills were much higher than his, she pondered, "This little punk is making very rapid progress, and apprentice sister is even more extraordinary. So the "Jade Heart Manual" is this good. It was lucky that apprentice sister did not team up with him to fight me, otherwise, otherwise..." Now he's appeared again, she was secretly afraid as she looked around, checking to see whether Xiao Longnu was here or not.

Yang Guo knew what she was thinking; he laughed and said, "My Master asks after Martial Aunt's health."

Li Mochou said, "Where is she? We sisters haven't seen each other for a long time."

Yang Guo said, "Master is nearby. You will see her shortly." He knew that he wasn't a match for her, even with Yelu Qi's help it would still be difficult, so he used an 'Empty City Idea', frightening her by mentioning his Master.

Li Mochou said, "I'm disciplining my disciple, what has that got to do with your Master?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "My Master pleads with Martial Aunt to let apprentice sister Lu go."

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "You had relations with your senior, you and your Master have done such disgusting things, in front of others, yet you say Master this and Master that, aren't you ashamed?"

Yang Guo knew that she was insulting his Master, his blood boiled up in his chest; he picked up the sword sheath and unleashed his sword skills, and fiercely attacked.

Li Mochou laughed and said, "You can do such unspeakable things, yet you are afraid of others talking about it?"

Yang Guo used the sword sheath and attacked continuously; it was severe and pressed forward without restraint. It was the sword skills left by Wang Chongyang to counter Lin Chaoying's Jade Sword techniques. Li Mochou didn't dare to be careless; she used her fly whisk and concentrated on the incoming stances. The techniques of Li Mochou's whisk originated from the Jade Sword techniques; many stances passed and she felt the opponent's sword skills were extremely refined and ingenious. Every stance and every move of hers was predicted by the opponent and was intercepted by him. If were not for the fact that she was much more powerful than he, she would have begun to lose. She thought with anger, "Master was really biased; only teaching apprentice sister this set of sword techniques. Huh, she probably wanted apprentice sister to use this to neutralize me. Although this sword technique is extraordinary, does that mean I'm going to be afraid of it?"

She changed her stance and suddenly moved forward, leaping onto a table, her right leg kicked out, her left leg supporting herself on the top of the table. Her body moved back and forth without effort, like a leaf floating in the breeze. She laughed and said, "Did your lover teach you this move? I don't think even she will know this one."

Yang Guo was alarmed and angrily said, "What lover?"

Li Mochou laughed, "My apprentice sister had sworn a serious oath, if there wasn't a man who was willing to die for her, she would spend eternity in the tomb and never set foot off the mountain. She has followed you down from the mountain; you two aren't husband and wife, if she isn't your lover then who is?"

Yang Guo was extremely angry and didn't reply; he rushed forward with the sword sheath and leaped onto the table. His lightness kung fu couldn't compare with his opponents' so he didn't step on the top of the table, he stepped on some bowls but he remained steady and chopped across fiercely with the sheath.

Li Mochou raised her fly whisk and repelled the sheath. She laughed and said, "Your lightness kung fu is not bad! Your lover has treated you well, it could be said that she loved you very much."

Yang Guo was furious and couldn't restrain himself, he shouted, "The one called Li, are you a human? Are you speaking a human language?" He raised his sheath and quickly attacked again.

Li Mochou calmly said, "If you don't want others to know then don't give them anything to know about. My Ancient Tomb sect has come up with these two scum; we have lost all face." As she was attacking, she incessantly came out with sarcastic comments. She may be ruthless but when she spoke she was normally polite and courteous; what she was saying now was against her character. It was because she was worried about Xiao Longnu watching from the side, if she suddenly came out and attacked it would be difficult for her to fight them off, so she kept up the insults, wanting to make Xiao Longnu so ashamed that she wouldn't appear.

Yang Guo could not bear it, if she was insulting him, he wouldn't care but Xiao Longnu was the one being insulted. With such anger, his arms and legs shivered, his head felt faint, his eyes suddenly went blank and he couldn't stand up and fell from the table. Li Mochou raised her fly whisk and attacked down onto the crown of his head.

Yelu Qi saw that this was an urgent situation; he picked up some wine cups and threw them at Li Mochou. Li Mochou heard the wind sounds and took a glance; it was some wine cups, she breathed deeply and protected the pressure points on her back. She had to kill Yang Guo now and worry about this later, thinking, why should she be worried about two little wine cups. Who would have thought that before the cups arrived the wine splashed out, she felt her 'Two Yang', and 'Central' pressure points go numb after being hit by the wine, she secretly thought, "Crap! Apprentice sister is here. If the effects of the wine are like this, what about the wine cups?" She quickly turned her fly whisk around and knocked the two wine cups away just in time. She felt her arms shake, and was even more worried, "How did she get so strong?"

When she turned around, she saw that it wasn't Xiao Longnu who shot the cups out, it was a tall young man dressed in Mongolian clothes, and she was extremely surprised. "Are there so many good fighters in the younger generation?" She saw him take out his long sword and clearly say, "The Angelic Priestess's attacks are ruthless; I want to experience a few stances." Li Mochou saw him slowly advancing, his foot steps solid. He was about twenty or so, but judging from how he shot out the cups and how he was moving with his sword, his internal energy exceeded his age. She examined him and laughed, "Who are you? Who is your Master?"

Yelu Qi bowed and said, "I am Yelu Qi, I'm under the tutelage of the Quanzhen sect."

Yang Guo had leapt to the side, when he heard that Yelu Qi was from the Quanzhen sect he thought, "He indeed is from Quanzhen; could he be Liu Chuxuan's disciple? Hao Datong can't teach something to such a standard."

Li Mochou asked, "Is your Master Ma Yu or Qiu Chuji?"

Yelu Qi said, "No."

Li Mochou asked, "Is it Liu, Wang or Hao?"

Yelu Qi said, "Wrong as well."

Li Mochou chuckled and pointed to Yang Guo, "He said he was the disciple of Wang Chongyang that makes you two apprentice brothers."

Yelu Qi was surprised and said, "It's not true is it? Elder Chongyang died a long time ago, how can that brother over there be his disciple?"

Li Mochou's brows wrinkled and said, "Hei, hei, Quanzhen has many disciples who can lie without blinking, I'm going to change Quanzhen's name into 'Quanjia', prepare!" (Quanzhen could be translated as Whole Truth, Quanjia is translated as Whole Fake.) Her fly whisk moved and attacked his head.

Yelu Qi's left hand raised his sword, his left foot stepped forward, a stance of "Fixed Yang Needle", the sword was thrust upwards, it was the orthodox sword skills of Quanzhen. This stance's air and chi were absolute, the strength, power and movement all has its fine points. At first appearance it looks very ordinary, but to reach a state where there was no weakness is incredible. People whose talent is just slightly lacking may not be able to reach such a state with a lifetime of practice. Yang Guo had learned the Quanzhen sword techniques in the Ancient Tomb so of course he knew the essence of the sword skills; but he just learned it without really practicing it. No matter what, he would not be able to demonstrate this stance with such profoundness.

When Li Mochou saw him unleashing this stance she knew that he was a strong enemy, she strode across and lashed her fly whisk. Yelu Qi saw a grey blur move, the fly whisk's threads were to the left and back of him, sweeping in from all directions, his battle experience was shallow and this is the first time he has met a strong enemy; he concentrated and used all his strength to fight her. In a flash forty stances were exchanged, Yelu Qi coiled his sword back slightly, he saw defeat in front of him but if Li Mochou wanted to win right now, she would not succeed.

She secretly praised him, "This little punk is indeed using the refined skills of Quanzhen; although he can't compare with Qiu, Liu and Wang, he wouldn't lose to Sun Bu'Er. There are indeed many able people in Quanzhen.

A few more stances passed when Li Mochou made a dummy move. Yelu Qi didn't know it was trap, he raised his sword and thrust forward, Li Mochou suddenly threw out her left leg and struck his wrist. Yelu Qi's arm was in pain, the sword escaped from his hands. Though he was being defeated he didn't panic, his left hand slashed across, his right hand used the "Trapping Hand Techniques" to try to steal her fly whisk.

Li Mochou smiled and praised him, "Very handsome kung fu!"

After many moves, she felt that his techniques had extreme softness, Liu Chuxuan and Sun Bu'Er and the others did not have this; she was secretly surprised.

Yang Guo interrupted with an insult, "Bitch, I'll never acknowledge you as my Martial Aunt ever again." He raised the sword sheath and attacked.

Li Mochou saw Yelu Qi's sword had fallen, she wrapped the sword with her fly whisk and shot it out at Yang Guo's face and laughed, saying, "You are your Master's man; you could call me apprentice sister."

Yang Guo saw the incoming sword and raised his sword sheath forward. Lu Wushuang and Wanyan Ping both called out in alarm, but there was a 'shua' noise as the sword was shot into the sword sheath exactly. The placement of the sheath to catch the sword was extremely difficult. If the sheath was just a millimeter or so out and with the force that Li Mochou shot the sword with, the sword would have pierced his chest. However, he had learned the art of projectile throwing in the Ancient Tomb, the timing, weight and accuracy of his skills had reached a stage where there weren't any errors. The hair like 'Jade Bee Needle' would hit its target as soon as he shoots it out, so catching the sword with the sheath wasn't a difficult skill for him. He took the sword out of the sheath and attacked with Yelu Qi.

The tables and benches were all overturned, bowls were broken, and all the guests had long gone. In all the time that Hong Lingbo had been with her Master, she has never seen her losing in battle. She lost out to Xiao Longnu in the Ancient Tomb because she couldn't swim. Her fly whisk was snatched away by Yang Guo but was taken back immediately and she forced Yang Guo to back away. Watching the two teaming up and attacking her Master, she was slightly worried about her but she stood to the side and watched. The three of them fought engagingly in battle; Li Mochou changed her stances, her fly whisk producing strong winds, forcing the two to wobble. In a flash, Yang Guo and Yelu Qi faced some dangerous stances.

Yelu Yan and Wanyan Ping both called out; “Oh no.” They both stepped up to help. After using just three stances, Yelu Yan was struck on the left leg with the fly whisk; she was flung to the side and knocked into a table. Yelu Qi saw that his sister was hurt and became flustered, under the fierce attack of Li Mochou he kept retreating backwards.

The girl in blue green saw the situation was urgent, she dashed forward to take Yelu Yan out of the danger. Li Mochou’s eyes saw everything and ears heard everything. She saw that the girl’s movements were light, displaying signs that she was a disciple of a famous name; she swung her fly whisk across her face and asked, “What is Miss’s name? Who is your Master?” There was a distance of over ten feet between them, in a flash the fly whisk was swung in front of her face. The girl in blue green was startled, her right hand waved out; from her sleeve she took out a weapon, and blocked the fly whisk. Li Mochou saw that this weapon was extremely strange, it glittered like a gem, it was about one meter long and it looked like a jade flute, she searched her mind, “Which sect or family uses such a weapon?” She quickly attacked wanting her to display her skills. The girl could not hold on, Yang Guo and Yelu Qi dashed forward to help. But it was hard to defend against Li Mochou’s swift and fluent style. Stances from the east and palms from the west, in a flash danger came again.

Yang Guo thought, “All we’ve got to do is make one little mistake and our lives would be hard to protect.”

He opened his mouth and called out, “My good Wifey, sister, my sister in blue green, sister Yelu, let’s all leave the restaurant and take a break! This Bitch is very lethal.”

The four girls saw him calling out madly; no one could say a word, they frowned and saw it was now a very urgent and desperate situation. Lu Wushuang first went downstairs followed by the girl in blue green who was supporting Yelu Yan. The two beggars saw the young heroes fighting Li Mochou because of them, they wanted to go forward and help but their arms were broken and they couldn't fight. The two were very loyal, although Li Mochou was not watching them; they didn't dare to leave before Yang Guo and the others.

Yang Guo and Yelu Qi fought together against Li Mochou's stances, which were becoming more and more lethal; they carried Wanyan Ping and retreated downstairs.

Yang Guo said, "Brother Yelu, our movements are restricted, let's go downstairs and fight." He thought that once they were in a crowded place, they would be able to escape.

Yelu Qi said, "Fine!"

The two stood shoulder to shoulder and retreated down the stairs. Li Mochou kept on attacking, although she was winning she was angry, "In my life, whoever I wanted to kill I killed; today two young punks are blocking my way, if that little Bitch Lu Wushuang escapes, where will the great name of the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' go?" She wanted to snatch back Lu Wushuang and so attacked down the stairs.

Everyone fought with all their strength; they battled from the restaurant into the street, from the street they battled into the suburbs.

Yang Guo kept on calling out, "Good Wifey, my dear sister the further you run the better. Sister Yelu and my sister in blue green, you'd better leave, the two of us won't die."

Yelu Qi didn't say a word; he was older than Yang Guo by only a few years, but he had a serious and stern air, completely different to Yang Guo's easy going, rash and hot-tempered personality. The two of them fought together against the enemy, Yelu Qi dealt with the ruthless attacks of the enemy, Yang Guo darted around to divert the enemy's attention.

Li Mochou saw that Xiao Longnu had not appeared and was now at ease, she concentrated on the battle. The internal energy that Yang Guo and Yelu Qi had accumulated could not compare with Li Mochou's. As they battled to this point, the two of them were red faced and out of breath.

When Li Mochou saw this she was pleased, "In under an hour I'll be able to take their lives."

At this moment, the air was suddenly filled with the calls of birds, the calls were clear, two large eagles attacked her head, four wings created gusts of wind, dirt and dust filled the area, the force of the calls was tremendous.

Yang Guo knew that it was the pair of eagles that belonged to the Guo couple. When he was younger, he had played with the eagles on Peach Blossom Island; since the eagles were here, the Guo couple would be nearby. He had expelled himself from Chongyang Palace and didn't want to see Guo Jing again; he quickly leapt back many steps and put on the human skin mask.

The eagles flew left and right, up and down, their wings attacking Li Mochou incessantly. The two eagles had a very good memory; they kept in their hearts what had happened years ago when they suffered the pain of the 'Soul Freezing Needles'. When they saw her from faraway they immediately came and attacked, but they were still afraid of her needles, every time she waved her hands, they quickly circled around.

Yelu Qi was watching carefully and knew that it would be hard for the two eagles to win, he called out, "Brother Yang, let's go again, how would she cope with the four of us?" He was about to dash forward when he heard the sounds of horse hoofs from the southeast; a horse was galloping straight for this place.

The horse was extremely fast, by the time the sounds of hoof beats reached him, the horse was in front of him, it was long and tall, covered in red fur, its spirit was amazing.

Li Mochou and Yelu Qi were both startled, “How can this horse gallop so fast?” There was a girl in red on the horse’s back; the girl and horse looked like an oncoming flame, the only thing that wasn’t red was the girl’s white face. Yang Guo saw the eagles and red horse and knew that it was the daughter of Guo Jing and Huang Rong, Guo Fu. He saw her reign in the horse, the horse immediately held its ground. The horse stopped after being ordered to, it didn’t make a sound and was composed. Yelu Qi grew up in Mongolia, he has seen countless spirited horses; but one with such a magnificent air he had never seen, he couldn’t stop himself from being surprised. He didn’t know that this horse was a blood sweating precious horse that Guo Jing obtained from the plains of Mongolia. Then it was just a foal, now it was grown up and could be said to be in its senior years; but this extraordinary horse was different from other horses in old age, its bones and muscles were extremely strong, it hadn’t lost any of its strength in its transition to old age.

Yang Guo hadn’t seen Guo Fu for a long time. He remembered she was an arrogant and bullying little girl; now she had grown into a young girl who was as pleasant as a spring flower. After riding urgently for a time, sweat had formed on her forehead; her cheeks reflected her red dress and looked even more glamorous. She looked at the eagles for a while and then glanced at Yelu Qi and the others. She saw Yang Guo dressed in the Mongolian uniform wearing the human skin mask; his face was extremely strange, she frowned, showing signs of disrespect.

Yang Guo and she had never got along since they were young. He saw her looking at him with disgust and his feelings of hate and humility were strengthened. He thought, "You don't respect me but does that mean that I want you to look upon me with respect? Your father is a living hero, your mother is the chief of the Beggar Clan, your grandfather is one of the prominent martial artists in the world; there is no one who doesn't look at the Guo family with respect. What about my father and mother? My mother was a country girl and I don't know who my father was. He died without reason. I don't want to compare myself with you; I was born into hardship, and suffered the abuse of others. If you try to insult me again I won't care."

He stood aside, feeling hurt and wretched; he felt that no one in the world looked upon him highly; there was no good reason to live on in this world. Only his Master Xiao Longnu treated him with love, but where is she now? Is there going to be a day in this lifetime when they will see each other again? His heart was filled with sorrow; he heard the sound of horse hoofs and two more horses rode arrived. One of the horses was grey, the other yellow, they both were good quality animals but there was a big gap when compared to Guo Fu's red horse. On the horses were two young men, both of them wearing yellow.

Guo Fu called out, "Wu Brothers, it's the evil woman again."

The young men on the horse were the Wu brothers, Wu Dunru and Wu Xiuwen. Both of them saw Li Mochou; she was the person who killed their mother. In these past few years there wasn't a day when they didn't remember this. Who could have thought that they would meet again here; they quickly leapt off the horses, each drew out a long sword and attacked from the left and right.

Guo Fu called out, "I'm going as well." She took out a precious sword by the horse's reigns and leapt off the horse to help.

Li Mochou saw that the longer the battle went on the more enemies there were; even though they were young. As soon as the two young men came forward, their faces and eyes red, they fought fiercely with their lives; the sword techniques refined showing that they were under the tutelage of a famous Master. The young girl in red joined in as well; as soon as she attacked the tip of her sword quivered slightly, sparkling in the eye, the sword thrust forward. Buried within the stance was an extremely lethal secondary aim, though the internal energy was weak, the sword technique was profound and ingenious. Her heart shivered and she called out, "You are Peach Blossom's Island Miss Guo?"

Guo Fu chuckled and said, "So you know me." She unleashed two stances aiming to harm her chest.

Li Mochou raised her fly whisk and blocked the stances, thinking, "This little girl is very arrogant; attacking me without respect with your lowly skills. If I wasn't afraid of incurring your parent's wrath, even if there were ten of you, I'd kill you all." The fly whisk flipped around, she wanted to take away her long sword, when suddenly the sounds of wind came from each side; the Wu brothers thrust forward at the same time. Guo Jing taught the Wu brothers and Guo Fu martial arts personally; the three lived and played together on the island, their sword skills were the same. The three sword skills were tightly matched, the advance and retreat complimented each other, although it wasn't some kind of formation. As the swords came forward, the force of it wasn't weak. The three and the pair of eagles continuously attacked, placing Li Mochou in their confinement. With the ability of the three, in a little while longer Li Mochou could definitely hurt one of them and the other two would not be able to protect themselves. But in front of her were many enemies, if she attacked forward it still wouldn't be easy for her. And if she forced the Guo couple to come out and attack, she wouldn't be able to escape; she took back her fly whisk and chuckled, "Little babies, watch how the 'Scarlet Serpent Deity' fights monkeys."

She unleashed six stances in a row, every stance aimed to harm, forcing Guo Fu and the Wu Brothers to scurry, leaping and jumping around to avoid the stances, they did look a bit like monkeys jumping around.

Li Mochou stood on her left leg and laughed, she turned around and called out, "Lingbo, let's go!" The two of them hurried away in a northwest direction.

Guo Fu called out, "She's scared of us, go after them!" She ran after them. The Wu brothers utilized their lightness kung fu and followed.

Li Mochou waved and brandished her fly whisk behind her, carefree and smoothly. Not an ounce of dust rose from beneath her feet and she lightly floated away as though walking slowly. Hong Lingbo ran hurriedly.

Guo Fu and the Wu brothers increased the energy in their legs but the distance between them and the Li Mochou Master and disciple was getting greater and further away. Only the pair of eagles were faster; they repeatedly attacked. Wu Dunru saw that they would not be able to take their revenge today so he whistled and called the eagles back.

Yelu Qi and the others were afraid that the three of them would lose the battle and hurried to meet up with them; only to see Guo Fu and the others returning. They went forward and greeted them. All of them were young, and in just a few words they spoke with great joviality. Yelu Qi suddenly thought of something and called out, "Where's brother Yang?"

Wanyan Ping said, "He left by himself. I asked him where he was going but he ignored me." She hung her head after she said this.

Yelu Qi hurried to a hill and took a look all around, only to see the girl in blue green walking shoulder to shoulder with Lu Wushuang faraway. There wasn't a trace of Yang Guo. Yelu Qi felt at a sense of loss; the first time they met they fought together to repel an enemy, though it was for just a short time; but their lives were on the line so many times and both shared a bitter hate for the enemy. Now he had suddenly disappeared without a trace, it was as if he had lost an old friend.

When Yang Guo saw the Wu brothers arrive with Guo Fu, they attacked Li Mochou; the three of them were very close, the sword skills they used were refined and in a few moves they had driven Li Mochou back. But he didn't know that Li Mochou left because she was worried about the Guo couple. It was not because buried within the sword stances were extremely strong internal energies that forced her to flee. That day when Guo Jing took him to Mount Zhongnan to learn martial arts, he had seen him show his might, defeating countless Quanzhen Taoists. His martial arts were extremely high. This was etched into Yang Guo's young mind, and he thought that disciples of Guo Jing would be ten times better than him. He thought of worrying about himself first. When he saw Guo Fu and the Wu's unleash their superb stances, he assumed that there must be some kind of ingenuity and mastery behind it. He was getting angrier as he watched. He remembered how he had fought with the Wu brothers when they were younger, with Guo Fu by the side calling out, "Hit him harder, harder!" And remembered how Huang Rong deliberately chose not to teach him martial arts and Guo Jing with his great skills did not dare to pass on any martial arts to him. Instead he sent him to Chongyang Palace to suffer torture and abuse. He felt anger and hatred in his chest, he couldn't stop himself; then he saw Wanyan Ping, Lu Wushuang, the girl in blue green, Yelu Yan all looking at him. They looked surprised and he thought, "You believe the insults that Li Mochou called out at my Gu Gu. It doesn't matter if you look down on me but how can you dare to look down on my Gu Gu? My face is angry because I'm angry at Guo Fu, the Wu brothers, Uncle Guo and Auntie Guo. You think that I've done unspeakable things with my Gu Gu and that's why I look like this, is that it?" He suddenly ran away; he didn't follow the main roads and just ran without thinking into the wild lands. Right now he couldn't pull himself together; he thought that everyone in the world was against him. He didn't remember that he was wearing the human skin mask, although there was jealousy, hate and anger on his face, how could Wanyan Ping and the others see this? Why would others laugh at him for no reason at all? Li Mochou's infamy is well known throughout the Wulin world, who could believe what she says?

He originally was heading from northwest to southeast, but he wanted to get away from these people as far as possible so turned and headed northwest instead. His heart was in a mess, he loathed the world; he took off his mask and ran madly in the wild hills and mountains. When he was hungry, he plucked some wild fruits and vegetables to ease his hunger. He traveled further and further; within a month, his hair was wild and unkempt, his clothes old and torn, and reached a tall mountain. He didn't know that this was one of the most famous five mountains in the world, Mount Hua. He saw the mountain was dangerous and rugged; he became mad and climbed up the mountain furiously. Though his lightness kung fu was good, Mount Hua is a dangerous place, one could not climb it on a whim. By the time he was halfway up the mountain, the weather suddenly became cold, the ground became hard, and the north wind gradually blew stronger and flakes of snow began falling from the sky. He was angry; he wanted to torture himself and did not try to find a place to avoid the snow. The stronger the wind and snow, the further he traveled. He carried on until it became night, the snow was heavy, the ground was slippery, and it became harder to recognize the paths. If he stepped into an empty space, he would definitely fall down to his death in the deep valley. He didn't care and took his life lightly; he looked up and walked forward.

After a while, he suddenly heard a light 'chi' 'chi' sound, it sounded like some kind of beast was traveling in the snow; he immediately turned around and saw the image of a person flash past, darting into a valley. Yang Guo was startled and quickly went over to take a look in the valley. He saw someone hooking his three fingers into the rock, hanging in midair. Yang Guo saw that the three fingers supported the whole body above the valley; this person's martial arts were extremely high and had reached an unimaginable level. So he politely said, "Old senior please come up!"

The person laughed, his voice shaking the valley, his fingers pulled up and he leapt up from the side of the mountain. The person suddenly shouted, "You are with the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border aren't you? What are you doing sneaking around here in the middle of the night during a snowstorm?"

Yang Guo was scolded for no reason and thought, "What am I doing sneaking around here in the middle of the night during a snowstorm?" This disturbed his thoughts and he suddenly let out a cry; remembering how unlucky he was, suffering the abuse of others, and his most respected and loved one Xiao Longnu blamed him for not understanding and had disappeared. They would probably never meet again in this lifetime. As he cried about this, all his life's worries and all the resentment and abuse he had suffered surfaced in his mind.

When that person saw him cry he was shocked; he heard him getting more pitiful as he cried, and was even more surprised. When the person saw that his cries weren't going to end he suddenly laughed, the laughter and crying joined together and shook the snow down from the mountaintops.

When Yang Guo heard the laugh, his crying stopped and he angrily said, "What are you laughing at?"

The person laughed and said, "What are you crying about?"

Yang Guo was about to reply hatefully when he remembered this person's martial arts were extraordinary; he calmed down his anger and politely bowed and said, "Junior is Yang Guo, I hereby greet Senior."

The person held a bamboo rod in his hand, and he lightly pushed him on the arm. Yang Guo did not feel any great force yet his body couldn't stop from falling backwards. With the force of that push, one would fall down and have to struggle to get up. But he had learned the "Toad Stance" where one's legs are above their head; he flipped over in the air and remained upright.

Neither of them could have guessed what had just happened. With Yang Guo's present abilities, making him fall in one push wasn't easy, even Li Mochou or Qiu Chuji and the like couldn't do this to him. The other person saw him standing up steadily after flipping over in midair, he widened his eyes and looked at him and asked, "Why are you crying?"

When Yang Guo examined him, he was a white haired and bearded old man; the clothes on him were old and torn. It appeared that he was a beggar. Although it was dark, the white snow reflected off him, there was a red glow to his face, yet he looked graceful. Yang Guo's respect for him became evident and he replied, "I'm a person with a life full of despair, there is no point in living, I should just die."

The old beggar heard that his voice was full of resignation and resentment; the beggar nodded his head and asked, "Who's bullying you? Quickly tell Grandpa."

Yang Guo said, "My father was killed by someone, but I don't know who. My mother died from illness, there is no one left in the world who loves or cares for me."

The old beggar gave an 'en' grunt and said, "That is sad. Who is the Master who taught you kung fu?"

Yang Guo thought, "Auntie Guo technically was my Master but she didn't teach me any martial arts. Mentioning the Quanzhen Taoists fills me with hate. Ouyang Feng is my godfather, not my Master. My kung fu was taught by Gu Gu, but she said she wants to be my wife. If I said she is my Master she will be angry. Wang Chongyang and Lin Chaoying ancestors left their martial arts in the stone rooms, how can I say they are my Master? I have many Masters but I can't mention any of them."

This question disturbed his feelings again and he let out a cry again, calling out, "I don't have a Master, I don't have a Master!"

The old beggar said, "Fine, fine! If you don't want to say, that's fine."

Yang Guo sobbed, "It's not that I don't want to say, it's just that I don't have one."

The old beggar said, "If you haven't got one, you haven't got one, what need is there for crying? Do you know the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border?"

Yang Guo said, "I don't know them."

The old beggar said, "I saw you alone in the dark and thought that you were the friend of the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border, since you aren't then that's good."

This person was the "Nine-Fingered Wondrous Beggar", Hong Qigong. After he passed on the position of the Chief of the Beggar Clan to Huang Rong, he traveled alone, savoring the world's finest foods. The weather in Guangdong was pleasant and the amount of exquisite foods endless. Afterwards he went to Lingnan and he had all the food he wanted; for the last ten years he had not returned to the central plains.

In the lands of Guangdong, poisonous snakes were used in soups, tough cats were used in stews, fishes were like mice, the prawns were like dragons, fat snails were fried, dragon lice were steamed, the roast piglets had crisp skin and the flesh of simmered fruit was red. Hong Qigong was in heaven, his pleasure boundless. Whenever he saw injustice, he would secretly help; he killed evil doers and punished traitors with his abilities. No one knew where he was or where he went. Sometimes he would listen in on some Beggar Clan members talking; he knew that under the orders of Huang Rong and Lu Youjiao, the Beggar Clan was calm. The internal fight between the 'dirty' clothed and 'clean' clothed factions was subsiding; so had the outside force of the Jin and the Iron Palm Clan. He had no worries; everyday he would just open his mouth, chew and swallow.

This year, the second clown of the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border killed some innocents in cold blood, killing numerous people. Hong Qigong wanted to take revenge; he was going to kill that clown, but thought killing one person is easy, finding the other four would be hard. So he secretly followed the second clown, waiting for him to meet up with the other four and then he would kill them all at once. But he didn't predict that he would have to follow him north for thousands of li, eventually winding up at Mount Hua. Right now, four clowns were present, only the first one had yet to arrive. In the middle of the night, Hong Qigong bumped into Yang Guo in the snow.

Hong Qigong said, "Let's stop chatting, I can see you are hungry, let's cure our hunger first and then we'll talk some more." He cleared the snow, found some firewood and made a fire. Yang Guo helped him pick up some firewood and said, "What are you going to cook?"

Hong Qigong said, "Centipedes!"

Yang Guo knew he was joking and he gave a chuckle and didn't ask again.

Hong Qigong laughed and said, "I've chased the Five Tibetan Border Clowns from Lingnan to Mount Hua, if I don't have something good to eat, how can I say I'm sorry to this?" He patted his stomach. Yang Guo saw that his bones and muscles were distinguished; only his stomach was a bit paunchy.

Hong Qigong continued, "Mount Hua is the world's most cold and shady place; centipedes that are born here are soft and tender. Guangdong is a warm place, living things grow quickly, the centipedes there have tough and coarse flesh.

Yang Guo heard that he was serious; it seems that he wasn't joking, Yang Guo was confused.

Hong Qigong surrounded the fire with four stones, he took a pan from his back and placed it on the stones, he took two lumps of snow and placed them in the pan and said, "Follow me to catch some centipedes."

After some ups and downs, they came across a twenty foot tall cliff. Yang Guo saw the cliff was extremely steep and didn't dare to leap up.

Hong Qigong called out, "Useless boy, come up quickly!"

Yang Guo hated people who looked down on him, when he heard this he clenched his teeth, his spirit rose and thought, "What's there to be scared of? If I fall to my death then so be it." His courage grew and there was more intent in his lightness kung fu when he used it. He followed close to Hong Qigong, in an extremely dangerous and slippery place; he actually managed to pull himself up.

In a short while, the pair climbed up to a peak where there were traces of human activity. Hong Qigong saw that he possessed much courage and lightness kung fu and was very pleased. With his experience he couldn't tell the boy's martial arts origins, he wanted to ask but remembered about his food so he went over to a rock and dug the soil with his hands. Not long after a dead chicken was revealed.

Yang Guo was curious and asked, "Hey, how come there's a chicken here." He immediately understood and said, "Ah, Senior must have buried it here."

Hong Qigong gave a chuckle and picked up the chicken. Yang Guo could see clearly in the reflection of the snow; he saw over a hundred centipedes, each about seven or eight inches long, biting into the chicken. The centipedes were large, had red and black stripes and were wiggling about. He had wandered around the world of Jianghu since he was young, he wasn't afraid of poison but when he suddenly saw the large centipedes he couldn't refrain from being afraid.

Hong Qigong was pleased with himself and said, "Centipedes and chickens are of an opposite nature; I buried this chicken yesterday and indeed it has lured centipedes from all over." He took out a bundle of cloth and wrapped it around the chicken and centipedes, he descended the peak delightedly.

Yang Guo followed behind wondering, "Could it be that you can actually eat centipedes? But judging from his actions, it doesn't seem like he's trying to scare me."

The lumps of snow in the pan had now turned to boiling water; Hong Qigong opened his bundle and picked up the centipedes by the tail, and threw them into the pan. The centipedes struggled for a second or two but were soon boiled to death.

Hong Qigong said, "Before it dies, the centipede excretes all of its poison, the poison in that pan is incomparable." Yang Guo threw the pan of poisonous water down the valley. Hong Qigong took out a small knife and chopped off the heads and tails of the centipedes. He took the shell off to reveal the flesh; it was white as snow and was like a large shrimp, quite an attractive sight.

Yang Guo thought, "Using this method, I'm afraid that you really can eat them."

Hong Qigong melted another two lumps of snow and cleaned the flesh of the centipede so there would be no traces of poison, and then he took out seven or eight small and large boxes from his back pack. In the boxes were ingredients such as oil, salt, jams, vinegar and the like. He placed some oil in the pan and fried the centipedes, immediately an appetizing scent flowed into the nose. Yang Guo saw that he was drooling, revealing his glutton side, he couldn't stop himself from being startled and laughed at the same time. Hong Qigong fried the centipedes until they were slightly golden, and then mixed in some other ingredients. He stretched out his hand and placed a centipede in his mouth, he lightly chewed it a few times and closed his eyes and sighed. He felt that none of the pleasures in the world can be compared with this. He took a wine gourd from his back and placed it to the side and said, "When eating centipedes don't drink wine, otherwise the taste of the centipedes will be ruined." He ate ten or so centipedes in one go and then said to Yang Guo, "Just eat; why are you being so polite?"

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "I don't want to eat."

Hong Qigong was startled and then laughed, he said, "That's right, that's right, I've seen many heroes and good men who can kill without blinking but none of them dare to eat centipedes with this old beggar, hei-hei, so you are just a cowardly punk."

Yang Guo angered by him and thought, "I'll close my eyes and swallow without chewing, this'll stop him from looking down on me."

He picked up two small twigs and used them as chopsticks and picked up a centipede. Hong Qigong knew what he was thinking and said, "You are going to close your eyes and swallow without chewing; that's called being a scoundrel, not a hero."

Yang Guo said, "What's so heroic about eating poison?"

Hong Qigong said, "There are many people who talk big and class themselves as heroes, but those who dare to eat centipedes are few and far between."

Yang Guo thought, "Nothing is bigger than death." He placed the centipede in his mouth and bit down. As soon as he bit down, he felt his mouth fill with a sweet taste, it was crisp and fragrant and extremely sweet. He had never tasted anything like it in his life, he chewed a few more times and swallowed; he then picked up a second centipede and said, "Extraordinary, extraordinary."

Hong Qigong saw that he was eating with pleasure and was delighted. The two of them grabbed and snacked, soon the hundred or so centipedes were all gone. Hong Qigong licked the juices around his lips and wished that there could be another hundred centipedes for his stomach.

Yang Guo said, "I'll go and bury the chicken again, and lure some more centipedes."

Hong Qigong said, "It's no use, one, the chicken has lost its attraction, secondly, there aren't anymore fat and large centipedes around here anymore." Hong Qigong stretched and yawned, he got down onto snowy ground and said, "I have rushed here without sleeping for five days and five nights; now that I've had a great meal, I'm going to sleep for three days. Don't wake me even if the sky falls down. Look after me, don't let any monsters bite my head off in one go while I'm not aware."

Yang Guo laughed, "Yes sir." Hong Qigong closed his eyes and in a short while, he fell into a deep sleep.

Yang Guo thought, "This Senior is really an extraordinary person. Is he really going to sleep for three days? It doesn't matter if he's lying or telling the truth, I have nowhere to go anyway, I'll just wait for three days."

The Mount Hua centipedes are one of the coolest objects in the world, after Yang Guo ate them, he felt a chill in his stomach so he found a rock to sit on and after a while of meditating, his body became more comfortable. Right now the sky was filled with falling snow that was like the feathers of swans; it snowed without stopping. Hong Qigong's head and body was covered with snow, he was like a lump of cotton wool. A person breathes warm air, as soon as a snowflake meets it, it will immediately melt; how did the snow remain intact on his face? Yang Guo did not understand at first but then it was clear to him, "That's it; when he is sleeping he is circulating his incredible internal energy, keeping the warm air within his body. He is a living person, but when he is sleeping he looks like a corpse, this level of internal energy is frightening. Gu Gu let me sleep on the “Chilled Jade Bed” in hopes that I would be able to refine my internal energy to a such profound state. Ai... ‘Chilled Jade Bed, Chilled Jade Bed’.”

Dawn came. Hong Qigong’s body was buried within the snow, nothing could be seen where he was except for the fact that the snow on the ground was higher there. Everywhere was deep with snow, but Yang Guo was not tired. He suddenly heard footsteps in the snow towards the mountains in the northeast, he looked carefully and saw five black shadows approaching; their movements were rapid, the sabers on their backs glittered.

Yang Guo thought, “They are probably the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border that senior mentioned.” He hid behind a large rock.

In a short while, the five people arrived in front of the rock. One of them said ‘ah’, and called out, “It’s the old beggar’s gourd!”

Another one’s voice quivered as he said, “He’s...he’s on Mount Hua?” The five of them were frightened; they came together and quietly consulted with each other. Suddenly, the five of them separated, and descended down the peak. The paths of the peak were narrow; one of them dashed forward a few steps and stepped onto Hong Qigong, and felt something soft below his feet. The person called out ‘ai’. The other four stopped and drew near; they wiped away the layers of snow and saw Hong Qigong lying on the ground, appearing as if he had died a long time ago.

The five of them were delighted, they stretched out their finger across his nose, there was no breathing, and his body was as cold as ice. The five of them shouted out in joy and leapt about, they were a hundred times happier than the joy they would feel if they found a precious treasure.

One of them said, "The old beggar has been following all along, he made things hard for me and he died here."

Another person said, "That scoundrel Hong Qigong has extraordinary martial arts, why would he die all of a sudden?"

Another one said, "Even if one's martial arts are high, does that mean they don't have to die? Just think, that old scoundrel is pretty old."

The other four called out together, "It's lucky that the devil has come and taken him, otherwise he'd be difficult to handle."

The one ranked first said, "Come, let's vent our anger on the old beggar by chopping him a few times. No matter if he is the 'Nine Fingered Wondrous Beggar' Hong Qigong, hero of the world; in the end, he's going to end up being chopped into seventeen or twenty eight pieces by the Five Heroes of the Tibetan Border."

Yang Guo thought, "So that old Senior is Hong Qigong, no wonder his martial arts are so good."

He had heard Hong Qigong's name and of his famous "Eighteen Subduing Dragon Palms" from Xiao Longnu before when they were talking. But Hong Qigong's appearance and behavior weren't known to Lin Chaoying let alone Xiao Longnu. His hand held some 'Jade Bee Needles', thinking fighting the five of them together would be hard, he could only ambush them with his projectiles. After hurting two or three of them, he could deal with the remaining ones. As he heard them say that they would chop up Hong Qigong to vent their anger; he was afraid that they would harm him. He didn't shoot out the needles and immediately shouted and leapt out from behind the rock. He didn't have a weapon so he picked up two twigs; he quickly unleashed his swift stances diverting the five. The five stances were extremely fast, it was a pity that he called out first and gave the five clowns some time to prepare, otherwise one or two of them would have been hit. The five clowns were worried about themselves first and darted and dodged away to avoid the attacks.

The five turned around and saw it was a young kid with old and torn garments, his hands holding two branches, their fright now dissipated.

The big clown shouted, "Little punk, you're a little beggar of the Beggar Clan aren't you? Your old beggar ancestor has gone to heaven, quickly kneel and kowtow to us five Masters."

Yang Guo saw how they moved; their movements revealed their kung fu. The five of them had a large saber on their backs, their kung fu came from the same Master; there were some difference between their abilities but they all had the same type of stances. If it was one on one, he would definitely win, but if the five of them attacked all at once he would not be able to fight them off. He heard the big clown telling him to kowtow and replied, "Yes, junior here will kowtow to the five Masters." He took a step forward and bowed down. He kneeled and bowed according to the stance "First Greet Bow After", this move was used by Grandma Sun on the Quanzhen Taoist Zhang Zhi Guang when he wasn't expecting it. An empty container shot out and almost took his eye. After Yang Guo used the stance "First Greet Bow After", he followed with a stance of "Push the Window to see the Moon", his arms swept across and the two branches came out from the left and right. On his left was the fifth clown; on his right was the third clown. This stance of "Push the Window to see the Moon" was extremely evil; the third clown's kung fu was quite high, he quickly brought down his saber to block it. The back of his saber had been struck and his hand heated up, he almost lost his saber. The fifth clown was struck on the leg, a 'ka la' sound was heard, although the leg wasn't broken it was still painful, he couldn't stand up. The other four clowns were angry, four sabers chopped down, 'fu fu fu fu'. Yang Guo was swift and nimble, he darted east and dodged west, the four clowns couldn't do anything to him for the time being. After fighting for a while, the fifth clown joined in, he was extremely angry and fought with his life.

Yang Guo's lightness kung fu was much higher than the five clowns, if he wanted to escape it wasn't hard, but he remembered Hong Qigong. He was afraid that if he left then the clowns will kill Hong Qigong. But he couldn't beat the five of them fighting together; he unleashed some dangerous stances and in the middle of it he bent down and picked up Hong Qigong. His right hand fought with the branch as he found a path to escape. He took a deep breath and hurried over a hundred feet. The Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border chased after him.

Yang Guo felt that Hong Qigong was icy cold, he couldn't stop himself from being alarmed. He thought that if Hong Qigong was going to get deeper into his sleep he won't be able to wake up. Could it be that he really was dead? He called out, "Senior...Senior!"

Hong Qigong didn't move an inch, it appeared that he was dead but he wasn't stiff like a corpse. Yang Guo stretched out his hand and felt his chest, there seemed to be a faint heartbeat but there were no indication of breathing from the nose.

In this pause, the first clown caught up with them, but because he saw that Yang Guo's skills were excellent, he was worried and didn't dare to fight alone. By the time the second clown and fourth clown arrived, Yang Guo had gone another hundred feet. The Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border saw him ascending the peak and saw that there was only one trail up there. They thought, "Could it be that you know how to fly?" There was no need to rush, they followed step by step.

The mountain path was getting more and more treacherous as he went on; when Yang Guo turned around a corner he saw an extremely narrow path before him. It wasn't easy for one person to pass. By the narrow path was a two thousand foot deep abyss; the mists obscured the bottom, he thought, "This is the best place, I'll fend them off here." He quickened his pace and got over the narrow path. He placed Hong Qigong down by a large rock and turned around; the first clown had reached the entrance to the narrow path.

Yang Guo dashed over and shouted, "Ugly freak! Do you dare to come over?"

The first clown was really scared of being knocked over into the abyss by Yang Guo and hurriedly leapt back. Yang Guo stood at the entrance of the path, the morning sun was now in the sky. The eye could see a fine jade mountain, gems circled the floor of the abyss, and the sunlight reflected off the white snow; the scene was magnificent.

Yang Guo placed the human skin mask on his face and shouted, "Are you ugly or am I ugly?"

The Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border were ugly, but they weren't that ugly. The 'Clown' comes from their actions and the amount of bullshit they talk about on the road. They saw Yang Guo touch his face and his face changed. His face was yellow, looked wooden, like a corpse out of a cemetery; the five clowns looked at each other and all without exception were startled.

Yang Guo retreated to the narrowest point of the path, he used "The Kicking Force of the Leading Star"; his left leg stood on the ground, his right leg kicked out at the sky, his body moving lightly like the wind in midair. In the blink of an eye, his heroic air emerged, even if the enemy was thousands of soldiers and ten thousand horses, I could still block them one on one.

The five clowns muttered to themselves, "Where from the Beggar Clan did this strange young kid come from?" They saw that in front of them was dangerous ground, they didn't dare to rush through and they consulted each other, "We'll wait here and take turns to leave the mountain for food, within two days, he will definitely have no strength due to hunger." Four of the clowns lined up at the mouth of the narrow path and let the second clown descend the mountain to look for food.

The sides were deadlocked, Yang Guo didn't dare go over, and the four clowns didn't dare go over either.

By the second day, the second clown had come back with food; the five clowns took big bites and ate noisily. Yang Guo was already burning up with hunger, he turned around and looked at Hong Qigong and saw him looking the same as the day before and thought, "If he is sleeping, then he would toss and turn in his dreams, but he hasn't moved an inch, I'm afraid that he really is dead. If I endure another day, I will have no strength, it will be even harder for me to defend, why don't I leave now and I may have a chance of escaping." He slowly stood up and thought, "He told me that he is going to sleep for three days and told me to look after him, I promised him with my own mouth; how can I leave him now?" He fought off the hunger and closed his eyes to rest.

By the third day, Hong Qigong was still motionless like he was on the first day, Yang Guo looked on and began to question himself, "He's already dead, and I'm still guarding him, that's too dumb. If I endure another half a day of hunger, there will be no need for the five clowns to kill me; I will have already died of starvation.” He picked up some snow from the rocks and swallowed some, his empty stomach gradually felt a bit better. He thought, “I haven’t been filial to my parents, I have hurt Gu Gu, I have no brothers or sisters, I haven’t even got a best friend, I should stop mentioning the words ‘personal loyalty’. The words trust, good and bad echoed in his mind; I still need to guard him.” He continued, “When Auntie Guo and I were talking about literature, we talked about the meeting of a boy and girl underneath the bridge. The girl was stopped by a flood but the boy didn’t dare to miss the meeting, he held onto the bridge and died in vain. Later, that person was famous for hundreds of years. I, Yang Guo have suffered the world’s mistreatment, if I don’t keep to this promise then I’ll be even more despised by the world, even if it means death, I must guard him for three days.”

A day and night passed by in the wink of an eye, early on in the fourth day, Yang Guo went over to Hong Qigong and checked his breathing; still there was no sign of life. He sighed and saluted him saying, “Senior Hong, I have kept to my promise of guarding you for three days, it’s too bad that Senior has passed away tragically. This disciple has not got the power to protect your corpse; it would be best if I throw you into the deep valley and avoid the insults and disrespect of the scoundrels.” He picked up his body and went over to the narrow path.

The five clowns knew that he couldn’t endure the hunger and now wanted to escape; they all called out and flew over. Yang Guo gave a shout and flung Hong Qigong down the deep valley, and dashed forward to the first clown.

End of Chapter 10.

Shen Diao Xia Lu (Divine Eagle, Gallant Knights)

by Jin Yong

Disclaimer

This work is an unofficial fan translation of Jin Yong's Shen Diao Xia Lu, 2nd Edition. The Copyright owner is Jin Yong and the publisher of his original Chinese text. The copyright owner of the English translations posted here is the respective translator(s). No part of this translation may be reproduced or stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means without the prior written permission of the copyright owner(s) nor be otherwise circulated for commercial purpose.

Table of Contents

Chapter 11 - A Pause from Roaming

Chapter 12 - The Heroes' Feast

Chapter 13 - The Chancellor of Wulin

Chapter 14 - Defending against Custom and Tradition

Chapter 15 - The Disciples of Eastern Heretic

Chapter 16 - Avenging a Father's Death

Chapter 17 - The Secluded Passionless Valley

Chapter 18 - Valley Master Gongsun

Chapter 19 - The Old Woman Underground

Chapter 20 - A Hero's Imperative

Chapter 11 - A Pause from Roaming

Translated by Noodles

Northern Beggar and Western Poison have been adversaries for many years, they hated each other, how could it be that they ended up dead together on Mount Hua. The two of them were enemies when they were alive, just before they died they were hugging each other and laughing. All the feuds and arguments that they have had over the years were finished with a laugh!

Yang Guo had dashed forward only two steps when suddenly a gust of wind brushed over his head, a person darted past and stood between him and the five clowns and laughed, "That was a great slumber!" It was the 'Nine-Fingered Wondrous Beggar' Hong Qigong. Yang Guo was delighted while the five clowns were startled and shocked. When Hong Qigong first lay down on the snow he really was sleeping, but woke up when the fifth clown stepped on him. He wanted to test the young man and see whether he could keep his promise of guarding him for three days. Every time Yang Guo checked his breathing, he would stop breathing and pretended to be dead. Now he was standing at the mouth of the path with an awe-inspiring air. His left hand made a semi-circle, his right hand pushed out a palm; it was his life's proudest work, the stance of "Overcoming the Dragon with Regret" from the "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms". The first clown couldn't avoid it; he knew he couldn't meet this stance head on but all he could do was to push his palms out and use his strength to fend off the attack.

Hong Qigong was keeping his palm's power in check; he only used ten percent of his internal energy but the first clown felt his arms go numb and his chest ache. The second clown saw that he was in danger; he was afraid that Hong Qigong's palms will force him into the deep valley so he quickly stretched out his hand and pushed the first clown's back. Hong Qigong's palm power increased; the second clown moved back, almost slipping down into the deep valley. The fourth clown was standing behind them and stretched out his arm to support them. Hong Qigong's palms power spread through them, it spread towards the fourth clown who in turn passed it onto the third clown and the third clown spread it towards the final one in the line, the fifth clown. The clowns had nowhere to hide and nowhere to run; in the blink of an eye, they were defeated by Hong Qigong's single palm.

Hong Qigong laughed, "You five scoundrels are evil and wicked you should be able to die without complaint under the single palm of the Old Beggar."

The five of them positioned themselves into the mount posture; they flared up their chi and united their internal energy to resist the single palm but they felt the force of the palm getting heavier. Their chests felt tighter and gradually it was becoming more difficult to breathe. Hong Qigong suddenly gave out a 'yi' call showing his surprise. He took back eighty percent of his palm's power and said, "Your internal energy has its good points, who is your master?"

The first clown still had his two palms pushing out against him; he struggled for breath as he said, "We are... are under the tutelage of Master Da'erba."

Hong Qigong shook his head and said, "Da'erba? I haven't heard of him. Hmm, your internal energy can be spread mutually to each other, this kung fu is terrific."

Yang Guo thought, "To get Hong Qigong to say 'terrific', then it really must be terrific. Yet when I looked at their skills I thought they were very ordinary and none of them can beat me."

Hong Qigong asked, "What's your sect?"

The first clown said, "Our master is... is the second... second disciple of Western Tibet's Holy ... Holy Monk Jinlun Fawang."

Hong Qigong shook his head again, and said, "Western Tibet's Holy Monk, Jinlun Fawang? I've never heard of him. Western Tibet has a monk, his name is Reverend Lingzhi, he I have seen; his kung fu is stronger than yours but his skills aren't advanced. Your kung fu is good; hmm, it makes sense. Go and get your Grand Master here to fight with me."

The first monk replied, "Our Grand Master is a holy monk, the living Buddha, Mongolia's number one martial artist, all knowing and all powerful. How...how..."

The second clown noticed from Hong Qigong's tone that he was going to spare them, but with the way that the first clown was replying they were cutting off their escape route so he quickly interrupted and said, "Yes, yes. We'll quickly go and get our Grand Master here to duel with Hong Qigong. Only our Grand Master can fight with senior Hong. We juniors will raise our wine gourds and... and..."

As he said this, there came a 'duo' 'duo' 'duo' sound; a person appeared from around the corner of the mountain. His body was upside down, each hand holding a piece of rock, walking with his palms, it was Western Poison Ouyang Feng. Yang Guo's voice cracked as he called out, "Father!"

Ouyang Feng did not bother to find out what was happening and leapt behind the five clowns and stretched out his right foot and placed it on their backs; a strong energy rushed through the five clowns. Hong Qigong was shocked with the sudden appearance of Ouyang Feng; he heard Yang Guo call him 'Father' and understood that he was his son; no wonder he was so good. He felt his arm sink as the opponent's internal energy reached him; he quickly increased his strength and returned the attack.

Since the second Mount Hua competition, Hong Qigong had not seen Ouyang Feng for over ten years. Although Ouyang Feng's mind was unclear, he practiced the "Contrary Nine Yin Manual"; the more he practiced the stranger his kung fu became, and the stranger it became the more powerful he became. Guo Jing and Huang Rong had recited a small portion of the manual to Hong Qigong; it made an impression on his kung fu and great progress in his martial arts. The final stage of the "Nine Yin Manual" is superior to the "Contrary Nine Yin Manual", although Hong Qigong only knew a little; he wasn't inferior to Ouyang Feng.

Tens of years ago it was difficult to separate the two, since then they had both met new boundaries. Today they came across each other on Mount Hua for the third time, once internal energy went out; it was indeed hard to differentiate between the two. The ones that were to be pitied are the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border; being sandwiched between two of the world's most powerful fighters, they became the apparatus for kung fu practice. A sandbag for punches and kicks, they were cold for a while, then hot for a while, their breathing was tight and then slow, the bones all over their body made 'ka la' noises; it was a hundred times more excruciating than the most severe punishments. Ouyang Feng suddenly asked, "The five's internal energy is very good. What sect are you from?"

Yang Guo thought, "Even Godfather says their internal energy is very good; the five clowns indeed are not run-of-the-mill fighters."

He heard Hong Qigong say, "They said they are the grand disciples of Western Tibet's Holy Monk Jinlun Fawang."

Ouyang Feng said, "Jinlun Fawang compared to you, who's better?"

Hong Qigong said, "Don't know, I don't think there's much difference."

Ouyang Feng said, "How about compared with me?"

Hong Qigong said, "He's better than you a bit."

Ouyang Feng was shocked and called out, "I don't believe it!"

In between the exchange of words, the energy in the hand and foot increased. Hong Qigong sent out different levels of palm energy but they were all dispersed by Ouyang Feng's foot energy; the power in the foot increased but it was difficult to move Hong Qigong back even half an inch. After this exchange both admired each other, they laughed and jumped back.

The strong force within the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border suddenly disappeared; they couldn't stop themselves wobbling about as if they were drunk on wine. The five had the internal energies of two great fighters circulated to and fro between them, their internal organs had been seriously injured, the muscles weakened and bones softened; they had become invalids. They wouldn't be able to fight off even a small child of seven or eight years of age.

Hong Qigong shouted, "You five scoundrels, your lifelines haven't reached their end today; it doesn't matter anyway since you can't do anymore harm, just crawl away. Remember to go and tell your Grand Master Jinlun Fawang to come to the central plains and find me so we can do a little sparring."

Ouyang Feng said, "With me too." The Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border all agreed and limped away, supporting each other as they descended down from the peak.

Ouyang Feng flipped upright and stared at Hong Qi Gong and then shouted, "Hey, your kung fu is very good, what's your name."

After hearing this and seeing the confused look on his face, Hong Qigong knew that since he went mad over ten years ago, he hadn't recovered and so said, "I'm called Ouyang Feng, what's your name?"

Ouyang Feng's heart shook, he felt that the words 'Ouyang Feng' were very familiar but he couldn't remember what he was called, and he shook his head and said, "I don't know. Hey, what am I called?"

Hong Qigong laughed and said, "You don't even know your own name. Go home and think about it."

Ouyang Feng angrily said, "You must know, tell me."

Hong Qigong said, "Fine, you're called Smelly Toad." The word 'Toad' was very familiar to Ouyang Feng, when he heard this it felt right, but there was also a feeling that it was wrong. He and Hong Qigong had been adversaries for tens of years; the hate had been etched deeply into his mind, although he didn't understand right now. Yet when he looked at him, Ouyang Feng felt aggravated.

Hong Qigong saw him standing there in a daze, a fierce glow was in his eyes. Hong Qigong secretly put his guard up, indeed he heard Ouyang Feng shout out and ruthlessly throw himself forward. He didn't dare hesitate and immediately used his "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms". The two fought in the wind and the slippery snow on a narrow path that was only about a foot wide; using their greatest skills with great effort in the battle. On one side was a two thousand foot deep chasm, just one little mistake and they would fall to their deaths; this was much more dangerous than fighting on flat, even ground. The two of them were now fairly old, though their vigor has lessened; their study of martial arts had reached an extremely pure level. The stances were pure and profound, so profound that everything was ingenious and masterly, only ten or so moves were exchanged. The two couldn't stop themselves from admiring each other.

Ouyang Feng said, "The Old Beggar is very lethal."

Hong Qigong laughed and said, "Smelly Toad is also terrific."

Yang Guo knew that the terrain was extremely dangerous, he was afraid that Ouyang Feng would fall down into the valley; but then he could see that Hong Qigong was in distress and hoped that he too would be safe. Ouyang Feng was his Godfather, he had deep feelings for him; nevertheless, Hong Qigong was gallant, he had the air of a great hero around him. As soon as he met him an impression was left in his heart. He had endured hunger, cold, extreme dangers in guarding Hong Qigong for three days and three nights. Although they didn't say a word to each other in the three days, in Yang Guo's mind, it was as if they both endured hundreds and hundreds of life threatening dangers together.

Tens of stances later, Yang Guo saw that the two's incomparably swift and powerful attacks had changed from dangerous to safe. He soon forgot about the safety of the two and concentrated on watching the masterly kung fu that was on display. The "Nine Yin Manual" is the peak of the world's martial arts, he only knew odd fragments of it; now he saw the two use the theories of the manual within their stances. He couldn't help himself from being shocked and surprised, he thought, "So even an ordinary sentence from the manual has so many ways to express its meaning."

Over a thousand stances passed, although the two had yet to use all their skills, their age was catching up with them. They felt they were getting out of breath and their hearts were beating faster, it was unavoidable that their arms and legs would get slower."

Yang Guo called out, "You two have been fighting for over half a day, you must be hungry, how about eating first and then carry on later?"

As soon as Hong Qigong heard the word 'eat' he immediately jumped back and said, "Great idea, great idea!"

Yang Guo had seen the fifth clown bring up cold food in a bamboo basket and had placed off to the side. He went to it and brought it over and opened the lid, he saw cold chicken and meat, white wine and cold rice; everything that was needed was there. Hong Qigong was delighted, he picked up a cold chicken and bit down with large bites hurriedly, eating noisily.

Yang Guo picked up some cold meat and passed it to Ouyang Feng and softly said, "Father, where have you been all this time?"

Ouyang Feng stared at him and said, "I've been searching for you."

Yang Guo's heart ached and thought, "There is someone on this world that actually loves me like this." He held his arm and said, "Father, you are Ouyang Feng. Senior Hong is a good person, don't fight him."

Ouyang Feng pointed to Hong Qigong and said, "He's Ouyang Feng, Ouyang Feng is a bad person." Yang Guo saw that his mind was confused and felt sad.

Hong Qigong laughed and said, "You're right, Ouyang Feng is a bad person, Ouyang Feng deserves to die."

Ouyang Feng looked at Hong Qigong and then at Yang Guo. He exhausted his strength trying to remember but his mind and memories were still scrambled. Yang Guo fed Ouyang Feng some food and then stood up, he said to Hong Qigong, "Senior Hong, he is my Godfather. He has a severe mental illness, his mind is confused, please pity him and don't make it hard for him."

Hong Qigong heard this and nodded a few times, and said, "Young man, so he's your Godfather."

Who could have expected that Ouyang Feng would suddenly leap up and called out, "Ouyang Feng, we can't find a winner using our fists and kicks, we'll compete again using weapons."

Hong Qigong shook his head and said, "There's no need to compete, let's just say you win."

Ouyang Feng said, "What win or lose? I must kill you." He stretched out his hand and broke off a branch; he took off the twigs and leaves from the branch forming a staff. He attacked downwards at Hong Qigong's head. His snake staff was famous years ago, it was extremely lethal, although there wasn't a snake at the head of this staff, before the attack arrived, the wind produced was so strong that it made it difficult for Yang Guo to breathe. Yang Guo quickly dived out of the way. When he looked up at Hong Qigong, he saw him pick up a branch and used it as a short rod, the two battled again. Hong Qigong's "Dog Beating Stick Technique" has nothing like it in the world, but he doesn't use it casually; apart from this technique, he has many refined and ingenious rod stances and right now he was using them.

This heated battle was another spectacular fight like the last one with fists and kicks; the stick was like an elusive dragon, the staff like an efficacious dancing snake. It was like watching a rainbow traveling across the sky or a shooting star chasing after the moon, the fight held Yang Guo entranced as he watched. The staff and stick went to and fro, they fought until dusk, and again it was difficult to separate the two. Yang Guo saw that the ground was extremely dangerous; the mountain was covered with ice and snow and was extremely slippery. The two of them were old, if they fought for much longer they would definitely lose their footing so he loudly called out, telling them to stop. But Hong Qigong and Ouyang Feng were fighting with great pleasure, why would they stop? Yang Guo knew that mentioning food to Hong Qigong made him stop, so he thought that luring him with good food would be effective. So he went to the wild mountainside and dug up some mountain herbs and yams, started a fire and roasted them.

Hong Qigong smelt the fragrant scent and called out, "Smelly Toad, I don't want to fight with you, eating is more important." He ran to Yang Guo's side and picked up two clumps of mountain herbs and ate them. Although they burnt his mouth he kept on chewing. Ouyang Feng rushed over and raised his staff over Hong Qigong's head chopping down. Hong Qigong ignored him and threw him a clump of the mountain herbs and called out, "Just eat!" Ouyang Feng stopped. He caught it and started to eat it, forgetting about the heated battle they were just in.

That night the three of them slept in a cave. Yang Guo wanted to help his Godfather regain his memories and mentioned past events to him. Ouyang Feng stood there in a daze not replying, sometimes he would hit his head with his fist, showing that he's trying extremely hard to remember but he could not, it was extremely hard for him. Yang Guo worried that he would get even crazier so made him go to sleep, he himself was tossing and turning and couldn't sleep. He was thinking about the fist and palm stances that the two used, the more he thought about it the more excited he got. He couldn't stop himself and got up quietly. Studying them, he felt that the ingenuity and mastery of the stances was boundless; he practiced into the middle of the night until he was extremely tired and went to sleep.

The next morning, Yang Guo had not yet wakened up from his sleep when he heard gusts of wind from outside the cave, in between them were the sounds of leaping and jumping. He quickly hurried outside to see Hong Qigong and Ouyang Feng battling each other heatedly again. He sighed and thought, "These two old seniors aren't acting their age, what's the point of fighting like this?" He could only sit aside and watch. He saw Hong Qigong's stances and understood every stance and every move but it was difficult for him to grasp Ouyang Feng's strange stances, every time Hong Qigong seemed to gain the upper hand, Ouyang Feng's strange stances would bring them to a level pegging again.

The two of them battled in the day and slept at night, they fought for four days running, both of them were exhausted but neither of them dared to let slip even half a stance. Yang Guo pondered, "Whatever happens tomorrow I mustn't allow them to fight again." That night he waited for Ouyang Feng to go to sleep and then quietly said to Hong Qigong, "Senior, please come outside, I have something to say." Hong Qigong followed him outside. About a hundred feet away from the cave, Yang Guo suddenly got down on his knees, and kept on kowtowing, yet he didn't say a word. Hong Qigong was startled but understood; he knew that Yang Guo wanted him to have pity on Ouyang Feng and his illness and leave. He laughed at the sky and said, "So be it."

After only walking away for a few tens of feet, his garments were held in a gust of wind, Ouyang Feng darted out of the cave and swept out his staff angrily shouting, "Old Beggar, trying to escape?"

Hong Qigong conceded three stances to him as he tried to find a path of escape but he was held up by the gusts of wind created by the staff. When skilled fighters are dueling, one mustn't concede even half a move, Hong Qigong had the intention of conceding to him and immediately fell into danger. It was a desperate situation; many times he almost lost his life to the staff. He saw the staff heading straight for him, attacking his lower abdomen; he knew that this stance must have a lethal move to follow it. He couldn't avoid it and let him have this stance. He raised his stick to block it. He suddenly felt a powerful internal energy surging through the staff, he couldn't stop himself from being shocked, "You want to compete internal energy with me?" He thought, "The enemy's internal energy is arriving, there is no other way to defend apart from using my own internal energy to block it." He quickly circulated his internal energy and prepared to defend. If they lose concentration for a split second and get struck by the opponent's weapon or palm, their internal energy will be all over their body and will defend against the attack. Although they would be injured, it won't be anything serious. Now that they are competing with internal energy, they couldn't concede to the other one iota; they had reached a stage where it wouldn't finish unless one died. The two of them had fought each other many times in the past, and each time both were worried about their own safety and how strong the other was.

Normally they wouldn't use such a dangerous way to attack each other since they were afraid that in their quest to seek glory, they would be disgraced instead and lose their lives for no purpose. But Ouyang Feng wasn't thinking properly; he hadn't managed to gain victory in the last few days so suddenly circulated his internal energy to attack.

Decades ago, Hong Qigong hated Ouyang Feng to the bone, but now he was old and had mellowed. Now Ouyang Feng was mad and Yang Guo had pleaded for his life; Hong Qigong had no intentions of killing him, so he circulated his chi throughout his 'dan tian'. He just defended and didn't attack, waiting for Ouyang Feng to exert all his energy. He didn't know that his opponent's internal energy was like the waves of a large river, the source of it incessantly sending out waves of internal energy. After one wave, came another, there was no sign of it weakening but instead it was getting fiercer and fiercer. Hong Qigong always believed that his internal energy was profound. In these past years he had refined his fierce internal energy to new levels; even if he couldn't beat Western Poison, if he used all his energy to defend, he would not lose. But who could have guessed that after all these exchanges of internal energy, Ouyang Feng was getting stronger and stronger.

Hong Qigong remembered the time when he was competing internal energy with Ouyang Feng with the Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border sandwiched in between them; Ouyang Feng had sent out his internal energy with his foot three times, each time stronger than the last. He noticed, at that time, that before the first wave of internal energy had dissipated the second wave had arrived, after the second wave arrived, the third followed. If he just defended and let him keep on pressing, it would definitely be hard to defend against. Only by returning his own energy between the gaps and forcing him to defend will he stop Ouyang Feng from amassing a great force. Once he thought about this he immediately circulated his internal energy and attacked. The two's bodies shook as the energies collided.

When Yang Guo saw the two competing internal energy he was extremely worried; if he attacked Hong Qigong's back, he would help his Godfather gain victory. He looked at Hong Qigong and saw a head full of white hair, and within his commanding air there was a compassionate and merciful part. In the spaces between his heroic natures there was peacefulness to go with it. He couldn't stop himself from bowing down to him, not to mention that he had responded to his plea and was willing to leave. How could he harm him?

The two of them froze for a while, white smoke came out from Ouyang Feng's head, and gradually it became denser and denser, like steam coming from a steamer. Hong Qigong had also used all his strength to defend; right now he had no way to control whether or not he would harm his opponent's life. If he could just protect himself that would be fortunate enough.

They competed from dawn until morning, from morning until midday until Hong Qigong gradually felt his internal energy draining away. However, his opponent's internal energy kept on surging towards him like a violent storm. He quietly said, "So the madder the old poisonous animal gets, the more powerful he becomes; the Old Beggar's life is going to end today." He knew that his battle would have an ending; he now had no way to avoid this and could only use all his strength to resist. But he didn't know that Ouyang Feng's internal energy was also declining due to exhaustion, it was hard for him to maintain his palm's power. They continued for another four hours until it got dark. Yang Guo saw that their faces had changed; he thought that if they battled any longer, they would definitely perish together. The difference in internal energy between him and the two was vast. If he wanted to break them up himself, most probably he would not be able to separate them. Instead he would lose his life in the attempt. He delayed for a while and saw Ouyang Feng's face looked worried and Hong Qigong was out of breath, he thought, "Even if it is dangerous I need to save their lives." So he went and broke off a tree branch and got down on his knees between the two; he circulated his chi around his body to protect himself and stretched out his branch placing it in between the staff and stick.

Who could have known that this separation would not waste any energy? The two's internal energy rushed into the branch and after meeting his circulated chi, the energies were dispersed. A strong bow cannot pierce a silk cloth; although the Northern Beggar and Western Poison are two of the most renowned men in the world of Wulin, they had spent many days consuming and exhausting their energy. After being disturbed by his interference, the two of them fell onto the ground, their faces grey as ash and it was hard for them to move.

Yang Guo was alarmed and called out, "Father, Senior Hong, are you okay?"

The two of them struggled to breath and didn't reply. Yang Guo wanted to move them into the cave to rest but Hong Qigong lightly shook his head. Yang Guo knew that the two were severely injured and could not be moved. That night he slept between the two, afraid that they would get up in the middle of the night and fight again. The two of them couldn't even circulate their chi to recuperate, how could they fight each other? The next morning, Yang Guo saw that they looked like they were on the point of death, they looked worse than yesterday. He was alarmed and flustered; he dug up some more mountain herbs and roasted and fed it to them. On the third day, the two of them showed signs of being a little better. Yang Guo moved them into the cave, placing them on either side with him in the middle.

They rested like this for several days. Once Hong Qigong regained his appetite he started to recover. Ouyang Feng didn't say anything but his expression was calm, Yang Guo tried to get him to talk but he wouldn't say anything.

That day, the two of them were lying on the ground facing each other when Hong Qigong suddenly called out, "Smelly Toad", do you revere me now?"

Ouyang Feng said, "Revere what? I still have many stances that I haven't used, once I use them all, you'll be beaten into dust."

Hong Qigong laughed and said, "What a coincidence, I too have many kung fu that I haven't used yet. Have you heard of the Beggar Clan's "Dog Beating Stick Technique"?"

Ouyang Feng trembled, and thought, "The "Dog Beating Stick Technique" sounds familiar, it seems to be extremely potent, could it be that the Old Beggar knows it? But how come he hasn't used it when we've been fighting for our lives? He's probably used it already. Or, he doesn't know it." So he said, "What's so special about the "Dog Beating Stick Technique"?"

Hong Qigong was regretful; during the days when he was fighting with him, all he had to do was just use a few stances of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" and he would definitely be able to subdue him. But he felt that Ouyang Feng was mentally unstable so he already has an advantage over him. Using the Beggar Clan's treasured "Dog Beating Stick Technique" against him wouldn't be fair. It was not the actions of a hero. But who knew that although his mind was unstable, his kung fu did not decline one bit. In the end, both of them ended up seriously injured. He wanted to use this set of skills but he had no energy to do so. When he heard Ouyang Feng ask this question he couldn't take it and had a thought, he signaled to Yang Guo telling him to lower his ear and said, "I am the Beggar Clan's previous chief, do you know that?"

Yang Guo nodded, in Chongyang Palace he heard the Taoists talk about the famous people of the world. They said that the Beggar Clan's previous chief the "Nine Fingered Wondrous Beggar" Hong Qigong had supreme martial arts and was courageous, a real hero.

Hong Qigong said, "I have a set of techniques that I'm going to teach you. This set of techniques is passed onto the Beggar Clan's chief only and never to outsiders. Because your Godfather is belittling me with his words, I want you to perform it for him to see."

Yang Guo said, "Since this skill of Senior's is never passed on to outsiders, this junior will not learn it. My Godfather's mind hasn't recovered yet, there is no need for Senior to torment him."

Hong Qigong shook his head and said, "If you learn the stances but don't know the formulae to accompany it, should you face an enemy, it would be useless. And so, you can't really say that I'm teaching you kung fu. I don't want you to attack your Godfather, just demonstrate it to him and once he sees it, he will understand."

Yang Guo thought, "Since that this set of kung fu is a treasure of the Beggar Clan, my Godfather may not be able to beat it; why should I help you to defeat my Godfather?" He rejected the offer, saying that he can't learn the secret skill of the Beggar Clan.

Hong Qigong saw through him and loudly said, “Smelly Toad”, your Godson knows that you can’t beat my “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, he doesn’t dare to demonstrate it to you.”

Ouyang Feng was angry and called out, “Son, I have many great skills that I haven’t used yet, why should I be afraid of him? Quickly demonstrate it for me.”

The two were forcing him, he had no other response but to go over to Hong Qigong’s side. Hong Qigong told him to take a branch and taught him a stance of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, “The Stick Beats Two Dogs”, carefully describing it to him. Yang Guo understood immediately and demonstrated it. Ouyang Feng saw that the stick technique was indeed wondrous and powerful, it would be difficult for him to overcome it straight away, he thought for a while and taught a staff technique stance to Yang Guo.

Hong Qigong gave a slight smile and said, “Fine, here’s another stance.”

The two of them then compared martial arts with their mouths and tongues. They continued until night fell, only ten or so moves were exchanged yet Yang Guo was exhausted and sweating all over. The next morning they continued, and they carried on for three days, by then, the thirty six stances of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” were described. Though there were only thirty six stances, the changes in between them had boundless ingenuity, in the end, Ouyang Feng took longer and longer to come up with a solution. But the stances that he came up with attacked and defended at the same time, the strength and power of them was excellent; when Hong Qigong saw this he let out a sigh of respect.

By the night of that day, Hong Qigong described the thirty-sixth stance “No Dogs Under Heaven” sixth change. This was the “Dog Beating Stick Technique’s” final stance and final change; once this stance was used, there would be a stick everywhere and when the internal energy arrived, had there been eighty evil dogs, all of them would be killed at the same time. It was called “No Dogs Under Heaven” because of this, the ingenuity and mastery of the rod technique had reached the highest echelons of martial arts. Ouyang Feng couldn’t think of a reply. He spent that night tossing and turning as he pondered that stance.

Before Yang Guo woke up the next morning, Ouyang Feng suddenly called out, “I’ve got it... I’ve got it. Son, use this staff stance to break his.” His voice was excited and urgent at the same time. Yang Guo could hear that there was something wrong with him, he took a look and was shocked. Though Ouyang Feng was old, his internal energy was profound, so the hair on his face and head was grey white in colour; but he had exerted himself too much that night thinking. In just a night his hair became completely white, as if he’d suddenly aged ten years.

Yang Guo was sad, he wanted to ask Hong Qigong to stop the competition, but Ouyang Feng repeatedly forced him to do as he said, in the end he could only comply. This stance was extremely complicated, Ouyang Feng repeated it and explained it until Yang Guo understood and did as he was instructed. When Hong Qigong saw this stance his face changed. He was lying on the floor, unable to move; suddenly he somehow gained divine strength and leapt up calling out, “Old poisonous animal, Ouyang Feng! Today, Old Beggar is in awe of you.” He jumped forward and hugged him tightly. Yang Guo was startled, he assumed that he was trying to harm his Godfather. He tried to pull him away but Hong Qigong was holding on tightly, he was unable to pull him away. He heard Hong Qigong laugh and called out, "Old poisonous animal, Ouyang Feng, you actually thought of a stance to break mine, you really are something! Good Ouyang Feng, good Ouyang Feng."

After many days of fighting and a whole night of thinking, Ouyang Feng had exhausted all his strength. When he heard Hong Qigong call him 'Ouyang Feng' three times, suddenly something lit up in him. His mind was like a mirror, all the events of the past came before his very eyes; he also laughed and called out, "I'm Ouyang Feng! I'm Ouyang Feng! I'm Ouyang Feng! You're the Old Beggar Hong Qigong!"

The two white haired men hugged each other and laughed. After a bout of laughter, the voices became quieter, then suddenly stopped, and the two of them lay motionless.

Yang Guo was shocked and kept on calling out, "Father, Senior!" neither replied. Yang Guo pulled Hong Qigong's arm, but as soon as he did so the arm hung limp, he was dead. Yang Guo was startled and bent over to take a look at Ouyang Feng; he too had all lost signs of being alive. Though the two's laughter has ended, their faces still held a smile, and the valley quietly echoed back the sounds of two people laughing. Northern Beggar and Western Poison had been adversaries for many years and they hated each other. And now they ended up dead together on Mount Hua. The two of them were enemies when they were alive, but just before they died they were hugging each other and laughing. All the feuds and arguments that they have had over the years were ended with a laugh!

Yang Guo was shocked and sad at the same time; he had no idea what to do. He remembered that Hong Qigong pretended to be dead for three days and three nights, could it be that the two of them were pretending to be dead? But judging from how they looked, it didn't appear that they were pretending. He thought, "Maybe after dying for a while they'll come back to life. Their martial arts are extremely good; they wouldn't die just like that. Maybe they are competing again, seeing who can fake death the longest."

He guarded the two for seven days and nights and every time a day passed, a bit of his hope drained away. He saw that the two's faces had changed colour and knew then that they had really passed away. He sobbed for a while, and then, in the side of the cave, he dug two holes and buried the two extraordinary figures of the Wulin world. The weapons they used and Hong Qigong's wine gourd were buried with them. He saw that the footprints that the two had left when they were fighting had turned to ice, the prints were still here yet their bodies have now been placed in the ground. Yang Guo stepped into the footprints and reminisced, he couldn't stop himself from being depressed again. He then thought about how even with their frightening abilities, in the end they were buried by someone the world despised. What is fame, what is reputation; it's just a dream that's finished.

He kowtowed eight times in front of their tombs, thinking, "Though Godfather was brilliant, in the end he was a level below Hong Qigong." When the "Dog Beating Stick Techniques" were demonstrated, Godfather had to think for quite a while before he overcame them, if he really faced this in battle, who would allow him to carefully study it and then think of a way to counter it?"

After many sighs, he found a path down the mountain and left it behind. This time when he was leaving the mountain, he was trusting in his footsteps again, he didn't distinguish between east, south, west or north. He thought that since the world is a large place, he was alone, he would wander around and when his time comes, he'll lie on the ground somewhere and die. He hadn't been on Mount Hua for a month, yet to him it was like many years had passed. When he was ascending the mountain, he was thinking about how everyone looked down on him, he was full of hate and anger. As he descended, he felt life was like a passing cloud, if others respect him or look down on him it's all the same. What's it have to do with him anyway? At such a young age, he was resentful of the world's customs, he won't rise in respect for the world.

Within a day's time he arrived at a wild place in Xianan; he took a look around and saw withered trees and wilted grass everywhere. The grass was fluttering in the wind. The sound of quiet hoofs could be heard in the west, dust and smoke rose, after a short while, tens of wild horses galloped past about a mile or so in front of him. He saw the herd of horses galloping wildly, freely, Yang Guo also felt carefree and joyous. With wild lands in front of his eyes and horses galloping afar, the world was vast and had no obstructions. Just as he was feeling satisfied he suddenly heard a horse hissing out for mercy from behind.

Yang Guo turned around and saw a yellow haired skinny horse pulling a cart of firewood slowly along the main road. He thought that the horse must have seen the other horses galloping freely in the wild lands. It was toiling with hard work and it hissed out as it lamented for itself. The horse was so skinny that its breast bone was sticking out, its four legs had no muscle and they were as thin as branches. Its fur was patchy, its skin was covered in scabies, and there were numerous traces of blood from wounds caused by whipping. A rude man was sitting on the cart, he disliked that the horse was going slow and whipped it incessantly. Yang Guo has suffered by others many times before; when he saw the horse suffering such punishment, it felt like he himself was suffering the whippings. His chest ached and tears almost escaped from his eyes. He stood in the road and angrily shouted, "Hey you, why are you whipping the horse?"

The rude man saw a kid in torn and old garments looking like a beggar blocking the road, he raised his whip and shouted, "Move out of the way now, don't you want your life?" As he said this he slapped his whip on the horse's back again. Yang Guo was furious and called out, "If you hit the horse again, I'll kill you." The man laughed and lashed out at Yang Guo's head. Yang Guo stretched out his hand to take the whip and turned it around. He swung the whip and it made a tangling loop around the man's neck and pulled him down, beating him on the head and face. Although the skinny horse was ugly, it was very lively, when it saw the man getting beaten; it neighed with delight and stretched out its head rubbing Yang Guo on the leg, displaying signs of affection. Yang Guo pulled apart the cart's collar and harness then patted the horse on the back. He pointed in the direction of the other horse's trail and said, "Go, no one's going to harm you anymore."

The horse reared and neighed, and galloped forward. But the horse's body was weak; he wasn't able to continue this sudden burst. It galloped for around a hundred feet then its front legs weakened and it fell onto the ground. Yang Guo couldn't bear it, he ran over and picked up the horse by its stomach and shouted, "Up", pulling the horse back onto its feet. The man saw Yang Guo's unbelievable strength and was frightened, so frightened that he didn't want his cart of firewood. He picked himself up and ran. About half a mile away, he shouted, "There's someone strong stealing horses and firewood!"

Yang Guo thought this was funny. He pulled up some green grass for the horse. He saw that the horse had such an unfortunate life and couldn't help but feel linked with it. He stroked the horse's neck and said, "Horse, horse, follow me from now on." He held its rope and walked slowly to a town. He bought some barley for the horse to eat. On the second day the horse seemed to regain its spirit and so he rode it slowly. At first the horse struggled along and limped, when wasn't losing its footing it would stumble, but the further it walked the better it got. After seven or eight days of having enough to eat, it regained its strength; its steps as light as if it were flying. Yang Guo couldn't speak his delight and took even more care of it.

One day Yang Guo was in an outdoor restaurant awaiting an order when the horse walked over to a table and kept neighing at a bowl of wine on the table, as if he wanted to drink the wine. Yang Guo was curious and ordered a large bowl of wine and placed it on the table, and then stroked the horse's head. The horse drank it all in one go; its tail raised its legs stepped, it was feeling very pleased. Yang Guo felt that this was interesting and called some more wine; the horse drank over ten bowls one after the other, and wasn't finished. Yang Guo wanted to call for more wine but the waiter saw he was dressed in ragged garments and afraid that he had no money to pay so said that they didn't have any more wine. Afterwards he got on the horse. The horse was under the influence of the wine and took large steps, galloping like crazy; the trees by the side of the road receded, it was extremely fast. When a normal spirited horse galloped, it would gallop steadily. Though this horse was fast, its body would be high and then low, jolting about very uncoordinated, if it weren't for the fact that Yang Guo possessed excellent lightness kung fu, he would not have been able to ride it. The horse also had another strange characteristic, whenever there was another animal on the road, it would speed up and overtake it, no matter if it was a cow, horse, pony or donkey, it would gallop past them before slowing. This proud and competitive air seems to have come about because of the suffering it has had in its life.

Yang Guo thought that this thousand-mile colt has been trapped in the hands of the villager, wasting half its life; now that its spirit is free, it wants to gallop and fly over the lands. This behavior was similar to Yang Guo's; the man and horse were like good friends. He was bored sometimes and would play with the horse, in a few days he was happy again. He has been heading south and had arrived at the banks of Han Shui. As he rode the horse he thought about how he teased Lu Wushuang and tricked the Li Mochou Master and disciple team, he couldn't stop laughing. He then remembered he didn't know where Xiao Longnu was or when they were going to meet again, he became sad and despondent.

That day he traveled until noon and on the road he kept on seeing beggars. From their appearances, most of them knew kung fu, he thought, "Could it be that the matter between Wifey and the beggars hasn't finished yet? Or could it be that the Beggar Clan has summoned all these people to fight with Li Mochou? I must take a look." He didn't like the Beggar Clan much, but because he admired Hong Qigong, he couldn't stop himself from feeling close to the Beggar Clan. He thought as long as the beggars don't trouble Lu Wushuang he will give them the news that Hong Qigong had passed away. He carried on for a while and saw the road was filling up with more and more beggars. When the beggars saw Yang Guo they were surprised, there was no difference in the way they were dressed but if there wasn't an urgent matter, members of the clan would not travel by horseback. Yang Guo ignored them and slowly carried on.

He continued until afternoon when suddenly he heard the cries of eagles in the air; two white eagles flew past, and descended ahead of him. He heard a beggar say, "Chief Huang is here, there's probably going to be an assembly tonight."

Another beggar said, "Will Hero Guo come?"

The first beggar replied, "The two are never apart." he saw Yang Guo reign in his horse listening to their words; he gave him a glance and closed his mouth.

When Yang Guo heard the names Guo Jing and Huang Rong he was slightly alarmed, and then in his heart laughed coldly. "Earlier I lived in your home, ate your food and you made a fool out of me; then I was young and useless and I suffered a lot. Right now I'm relying on the world, who needs your support?" He had another thought, "Why don't I pretend I have nowhere to go and have come to them for help and then see how they treat me."

He then found a quiet place and messed up his hair. Then he punched himself in the left eye, he scratched his cheek a few times; there was now a blue green bruise on his left eye and there were some red marks on his face. His clothes were already torn and old but he tore them even more making them look even more ragged. He rolled in the mud and dust a few times and then got up on the horse that was covered in scars and skin ulcers. Indeed, he now looked like he was a person with nowhere to go and on his last legs. As soon as he finished he limped back to the main road, he didn't ride on the horse and walked amongst the beggars. He didn't lead the horse along, the horse just followed on its own. Someone from the Beggar Clan asked whether he was on his way to attend the great feast, Yang Guo stared and didn't reply and slipped back into the crowd, walking back and forth. The group of people wound along the road and eventually came up to a large, old and ruined temple. He saw the two white eagles roosting on top of a pine tree in front of the temple.

One of the Wu brothers was holding a dish, while the other took a slab of meat from the dish and flung it towards the eagles. Yang Guo had seen the two before when they teamed up with Guo Fu to fight Li Mochou, but at that time he was too busy thinking about Guo Fu. He didn't take the two to mind, but now he took a closer look at the two. He saw Wu Dunru looked intense, he was concentrating one hundred percent, on the other hand Wu Xiuwen was active and lively; he ran to east and darted to the west, not taking a moment's respite. Wu Dunru was wearing a purple coloured Chong silk gown, Wu Xiuwen was wearing a large blue coloured Shandong silk gown, and around their waists were tied an embroidered satin 'hero' sash. They were indeed young heroes, standing out from the crowd. Yang Guo went up to them and made a bow, and stammered, "Greetings... greetings brothers Wu, I hope you've been... been well."

At this time there were beggars everywhere around the temple, all their clothes were ragged, so although Yang Guo was covered in dirt, he did not look out of place in the crowd of beggars. Wu Dunru returned the favour and glanced up and down at Yang Guo, he couldn't recognize him and said, "Forgive my inexperienced eyes, what is brother's name?"

Yang Guo said, "There is no need to worry about such a lowly name, little brother... little brother wants to meet with Chief Huang."

Wu Dunru thought his voice sounded slightly familiar, he was about to question him when a voice like a silver bell came from the entrance of the temple, "Big brother Wu, I asked you to buy me a soft horse whip, have you bought it?"

Wu Dunru quickly moved Yang Guo aside and walked forward saying, "I bought it ages ago, give it a test, does it feel right?" He fished out a horse whip from his pocket as he said this.

Yang Guo turned his head and saw a girl in a light green dress hurrying from the temple's doors; her brows were curved, her little nose slightly raised, her face like white jade, her smile like a flower, it was Guo Fu. The adornments in her hair weren't extravagant, only a pearl was worn in her hair, the light make her look as if she was adorned with jade gem make up. Yang Guo only gave her a glance but he couldn't stop himself from having a feeling of inferiority; he turned his head and didn't look back. Wu Xiuwen also dashed forward and the two brothers spent all their effort talking to her. After speaking with Guo Fu for a while, Wu Dunru remembered Yang Guo and turned around saying, "You've come because of the 'Heroes Feast'?"

Yang Guo did not know what the 'Heroes Feast' was and just answered agreeably. Wu Dunru summoned one of the beggars with his hand and said, "Take care of this friend, tomorrow take him to Da Xingguan." After he said this he turned his attention back to Guo Fu and ignored him. The beggar agreed and after greeting each other, asked for his name. Yang Guo told him truthfully. He was a nobody. Of course the beggar won't have heard of his name before and wouldn't think anything of it. The beggar called himself Wang Shisan; he was a second band Beggar Clan member. He asked, "Where has brother Yang come from?"

Yang Guo said, "From Xiayi."

Wang Shisan said, "Ah, Brother Yang is from Quanzhen sect?"

As soon as he heard the words 'Quanzhen sect' Yang Guo's head ached, he shook his head and said, "No."

Wang Shisan, "Brother Yang you've got the 'Heroes' invitation with you?"

Yang Guo was startled and said, "I've just wandered around Jianghu, how can I call myself a hero? I have met your clan's chief Huang once before, I only want to see her and ask for some money to return to my home."

Wang Shisan's eyebrows wrinkled and he thought for a while and then said, "Chief Huang is receiving the heroes at the moment, I'm afraid that she won't have time to see you." Yang Guo had deliberately made himself such a sorry sight, the lower the regard the other person had for him, the prouder he'll get, he made himself more pitiful and pleaded earnestly.

The members of the Beggar Clan are all people from poor environments, they have always helped those in need and distress; they would never look down on other poor people. Wang Shisan heard him speak with such grief and woe, and so said, "Little brother Yang, have a meal first, tomorrow we'll go to Da Xingguan together. I'm your big brother, I'll go and tell the elders, who in turn will inform our chief. We'll wait and see what orders she gives, how about that?"

Wang Shisan had called him brother Yang, but now he heard that he wasn't one of the guests for the 'heroes' feast. He was a fair few years older than him so he changed his greeting to little brother Yang. Yang Guo thanked him repeatedly. Wang Shisan invited him into the derelict temple and bought out some rice and dishes for the guest. One of the rules of the Beggar Clan is when a Beggar Clan member arrives to celebrate a ceremony, they'll first need to get chicken, fish, beef and lamb and leave it until it starts to rot, and gets like a soup of spoiled meat. The meaning was that they shouldn't forget their origins; but when treating guests, proper wine and dishes are bought out.

As Yang Guo was eating, a flash of light shone in his eyes, he saw Guo Fu enter the hall, her face with a smile, the Wu Brothers followed behind on her left and right. He heard Wu Xiuwen say, "Fine, we'll leave tonight and travel through the night to rush to Da Xingguan. I'll go and get your red horse." The three of them were too busy talking to notice Yang Guo who was sitting on the floor eating. The three of them went to the back garden to get their bags and weapons and exited the temple. Many hoof beats could be heard as the horses galloped away. Yang Guo planted his chopsticks into his bowl, and heard the hoof beats of the horses become distant; a hundred emotions went through his mind, but was it worry or hate, anger or sorrow?

The next day, Wang Shisan looked after him as they went back to the road. On the road, apart from the crowds of Beggar Clan members, there were many eminent names of Wulin, some traveled by horseback, some traveled on foot, all heading for the 'Heroes Feast'. Yang Guo didn't know what the 'Heroes Feast' was or what the 'Heroes' invitation was about; he knew that Wang Shisan wouldn't dare to reveal it to him so he pretended to be stupid and miserable. They arrived at Da Xingguan at around seven o'clock that night. Da Xingguan is an important strategic point in the Henan province, the topography of the area was divine yet there weren't many towns and cities around. This was because the Mongolian soldiers were situated north of here. Wang Shisan led Yang Guo past a town and traveled for another seven or eight miles. In front of them were hundred of Japanese Scholar trees surrounding a large manor; all the heroes were heading for this manor. Building followed building inside the manor, all folding over each other and it was hard to see how many rooms there really were; but it appeared that the manor could easily hold thousands of guests and have room to spare.

Wang Shisan was just a lowly member of the Beggar Clan, he knew that their Chief was occupied right now; how could he go disturb her over such a trivial matter such as borrowing traveling money? He arranged quarters for Yang Guo and then went away with his friends.

Yang Guo saw that this was a very grand manor, there were many servants busy with serving the guests; he was curious and wondered who the master of the manor was and how come they had so much respect? He suddenly heard the three blasts from a trumpet and a musical ensemble started their music. Someone said, "The master and mistress of the manor are meeting the guests now, let's go take a look and see who the hero is that just arrived?" He saw the guest and servant move to one side. The crowd of guests also stood to either side of the hall.

A man and a woman entered the hall shoulder to shoulder, they were both around forty years of age. The male wore an embroidered gown, he had a slight moustache, exuding an air of authority and prosperity; the woman had white skin, she was courteous and gracious like an affluent mistress. The guests quietly discussed amongst themselves, "Master Lu and Mistress Lu are greeting this important guest personally."

Behind them was another couple, when Yang Guo saw them his heart trembled, he became flustered; it was Guo Jing and Huang Rong. He hadn't seen them for many years, Guo Jing seems to be more serious, there was a slight smile of Huang Rong's face; her beauty had not diminished slightly.

Yang Guo thought, "So Auntie Guo is this beautiful, I never noticed it when I was younger."

Guo Jing wore a coarse long gown, Huang Rong was wearing a light purple silk gown, but because she was the Chief of the Beggar Clan, she could only tie the gown with pins in the places where it doesn't catch the eye and that was it. Behind Guo Jing and Huang Rong followed Guo Fu and the Wu brothers. Right then, the hall was lit up with countless red candles, under the candle light the crowd could see that the males were noble and the girl was lovable and glamorous.

The crowd pointed, "That is hero Guo, and that is Madam Huang, Chief Huang."

"Who's that girl who's cute as a flower?"

"It is the Guo couple's daughter."

"Are those young men their sons?"

"No, they're their disciples."

Yang Guo didn't want to meet the Guo couple in the crowd so he hid behind a tall man and watched; four Taoists appeared from the direction of the music. When Yang Guo saw them, he couldn't refrain from feeling angry. The first one that entered was an old Taoist with a head of white hair, his face was purple, it was the Blithe Elder Hao Datong; behind him was a grey haired old Taoist priestess, Yang Guo has never seen her before. Behind them entered two middle-aged Taoists standing shoulder to shoulder, one was Yin Zhiping, and the other was Zhao Zhijing. Master and Mistress Lu greeted them; they greeted the old Taoist priestess Master; they received the Guo couple, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers and led them forward.

Yang Guo heard from the crowd, "That old Taoist priestess is Quanzhen's sword heroine; her name is Sun Bu'Er."

"Ah, she's the Sage of Tranquility, famous throughout the northern and southern sides of the Changjian River."

"Yes. She is Mistress Lu's master. However, Master Lu's kung fu was not taught by her."

Master Lu's first names are Guanying, his father Lu Chengfeng was a disciple of Huang Rong's father Huang Yaoshi, and so, they could be regarded a generation lower than Guo Jing and Huang Rong. Lu Guanying's wife Cheng Yaojia is Sun Bu'Er's disciple. The couple originally resided in Lake Tai's Returning Echo Manor. The manor was burned down by Ouyang Feng. Lu Chengfeng was furious and influenced by his anger, he told his son that he didn't want to be on the minds of Lake Tai's bandits again; so he took his family north and resided in Da Xingguan. Lu Chengfeng had now passed away. Years ago, Cheng Yaojia was in trouble, she was rescued by Guo Jing, Huang Rong and the Beggar Clan; she had always remembered this. When the Beggar Clan sent out the 'Heroes' invitation, the Lu couple took on the task themselves and arranged the 'Heroes Feast' here at their manor.

Guo Jing waited for the greetings to be over and led Hao Datong and Sun Bu'Er towards the hall to meet the gathering of heroes. Hao Datong stroked his beard as he said, "When Ma, Qiu, Liu and Wang received Chief Huang's invitation, they wanted to come here in person but apprentice brother Ma has not been feeling well, apprentice brother Liu and the others are helping him to recuperate and can't leave him, they can only apologize to Chief Huang."

Huang Rong said, "Well said, well said. Those seniors are too polite."

Though she was young, she was the leader of the world's greatest clan, Hao Datong and the others treated her with great respect. Guo Jing and Yin Zhiping knew each other when they were young and had met when Qiu Chuji took Yin Zhiping and 18 or 20 others to meet Genghis Khan. When they saw each other both of them were delighted; the two of them entered together. Guo Jing asked about Ma Yu's illness and missed him very much. The main hall was arranged for the feast, the noise of people and the reflection of the red candles created a great atmosphere.

Yin Zhiping looked to the east and then west, it was as if he was searching for someone in the crowd of people.

Zhao Zhijing chuckled and quietly said, "Apprentice brother Yin; will the one named Long make an appearance here?" Yin Zhiping's face became red and didn't reply.

Guo Jing did not know they were talking about Xiao Longnu and interrupted, "There's a hero named Long? Are they your friend?"

Zhao Zhijing said, "It's apprentice brother Yin's friend, I dare not to make such a friend." Guo Jing saw they looked strange; there was something else going on and he didn't inquire any further.

Suddenly, Yin Zhiping spotted Yang Guo in the crowd; his whole body trembled like he was struck by lightning. He knew that if he's here, Xiao Longnu would also be here. Zhao Zhijing followed his gaze and his face suddenly changed, he angrily shouted, "Yang Guo! It's Yang Guo! That ... That Xiao Longnu is here as well!"

When Guo Jing heard the two words 'Yang Guo' he immediately turned around. The two haven't seen each other for years; Yang Guo has now grown up, Guo Jing would have not been able to recognize him straight away. But when he heard Zhao Zhijing's shout, he immediately recognized who he was. He was shocked and delighted, he dashed over and took his hand and said with joy, "Guo'er, you're here as well? I was afraid that I was going to disturb your training so I did not request your presence. It's great that your master has bought you here."

Everyone in Quanzhen was ashamed about the incident of Yang Guo expelling himself from Chongyang Palace; no one had leaked a word about this to outsiders. Guo Jing did not know about it; at the time he was on Peach Blossom Island. The reason that Zhao Zhijing came to the 'Heroes Feast' was to tell Guo Jing about this event, he couldn't predict that he would encounter Yang Guo here. He was afraid that he had heard Yang Guo's account of the events and would take his side, but judging from his reaction he knew that the two had just met again. His face became clear and faced the sky saying, "How could this Taoist dream of being Master Yang's Master?"

Guo Jing was shocked and asked, "Why does brother Zhao say this? The child does not listen to your teachings?"

Zhao Zhijing saw that the hall was filled with heroes, if he talked about this he would definitely get into an argument with Yang Guo. Quanzhen sect would lose face; he just chuckled coldly and didn't say a word. Guo Jing was worried about Yang Guo, he saw his eye was bruised and nose blue, his garments were torn and ragged, his body covered in mud. It showed that he had suffered a lot and he held him to his chest. As soon as Yang Guo was held, he secretly circulated his chi to protect his body from harm. This hug was out of love, why would Guo Jing have any intentions to harm him? He called out to Huang Rong, "Rong' Er, look who's here."

When Huang Rong saw Yang Guo she was shocked. She did not feel Guo Jing's delight and calmly said, "Great, you're here as well."

Yang Guo lightly struggled free and said, "My body is filthy, there is no need to dirty your clothes." His sentence was said coldly and he had a scornful tone in his voice. Guo Jing felt slightly sad and thought, "This child doesn't have a father or mother; it looks like even his Master doesn't care for him." He held his hand, wanting him to sit at the same table as he. Yang Guo arranged to sit in the corner table. He didn't want to sit with such people and said coldly, "I'll sit over there. Uncle Guo, take care of your important guests." Guo Jing felt that since there were many guests here, it wasn't convenient to leave the guests alone so he lightly patted his shoulder and made a toast at the main guest's table.

After three rounds of wine, Huang Rong stood up and said clearly, "Tomorrow is the day for the 'Heroes Feast'. There are still many heroes and good men who have yet to arrive. Tonight I ask you to enjoy your appetite and don't stop drinking until you are drunk; we'll talk about the serious matters tomorrow."

Meat piled up like mountains on the tables, wine flowed like rivers; the guests either played drinking games or told stories. That day, the amount of pigs and sheep that were prepared and the amount of wine that was poured in the Lu manor were beyond measure.

After the meal, the servants led the guests to their rooms to rest. Zhao Zhijing said a few quiet words to Hao Datong, Hao Datong nodded. Zhao Zhijing stood up and saluted with his hands towards Guo Jing and said, "Hero Guo, the Taoist has a heavy burden to reveal. It is extremely shameful, and today I have come to apologize because of this."

Guo Jing quickly returned the greeting and said, "You are too modest apprentice brother Zhao. We'll go and speak in the study. Whatever the child has done to offend apprentice brother Zhao, I will heavily punish him to ease apprentice brother Zhao's anger." He said these words clearly, though Yang Guo was a couple of tables away, Yang Guo heard it and decided, "If he shouts at me just once, I will get up and leave and never see him again. Though my kung fu cannot compare to his, if he beats me I will fight him with my life." Once he made this decision he felt slightly more comfortable, he wasn't as fearful as he was when he first saw Zhao Zhijing. He saw Guo Jing signaling to him with his hand and went over to him and followed behind him.

Guo Fu and the Wu brothers were drinking wine at another table, she didn't know who Yang Guo was, but after being told the news by Guo Jing and Huang Rong, she remembered that it was the boy who they played with when they were younger on Peach Blossom Island. They had been separated for a long time; young people change their appearances the most, and after a few months great changes can be seen, let alone a few years. The fact that Yang Guo had made himself look in such a sorry state, and then hiding himself in the crowd, of course Guo Fu would not know who he was.

When she saw Yang Guo had returned, she couldn't help herself from thinking: she remembered how they had a little argument when they were small on the island, would he still be angry at this event? She saw him in such a weary state, compared with the graceful and the distinguished look of the Wu brothers; they were poles apart. She couldn't help but feel some pity for him and said to the Wu Dunru, "Father sent him to Quanzhen to learn martial arts; I wonder how his skills are compared to ours?"

Before Wu Dunru could reply, Wu Xiuwen interrupted, "Master's skills are unequalled; how could he compete with us?"

Guo Fu nodded, "His foundation was bad before, it would be difficult for him to make any progress, how did he end up in such a state?"

Wu Xiuwen said, "Those old Taoists stared at him as if they wanted to swallow him whole. That kid has such a bad temper; he must have caused a major incident."

The three of them talked quietly for a while, and then they heard Guo Jing inviting Hao Datong and the others to the study. He said he was going to punish Yang Guo heavily; she was curious and said, "Quick, we'll go and hide ourselves in the study first and listen to what they are talking about."

Wu Dunru was worried about being punished by their master if they found out and didn't reply. Wu Xiuwen agreed and went ahead. Guo Fu's right leg stopped; a slightly angry expression came across her face and she said to Wu Dunru, "Don't listen to me then."

Wu Du Run saw her face showed signs of anger but her brows, eyes and smile were still exuding their beauty, his heart jumped and he couldn't disobey and followed her quickly. As soon as they hid behind the bookshelf, Guo Jing and Huang Rong led Hao Datong and the others to the study, and they sat down. Yang Guo followed and stood to one side.

Guo Jing said, "Guo'er, just sit!"

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "I won't sit." Even in the presence of six great fighters of the Wulin world he was still bold, but he couldn't help but feel a little bit restless.

Guo Jing had always treated Yang Guo as his own son, he was also extremely respectful of the Quanzhen seven masters. He thought that it wasn't necessary to ask about the rights and wrongs of what happened; it must be the junior's fault, he put on a face and said to Yang Guo, "You are very bold, how dare you not greet your master. Quick, kowtow to your Martial Grandmasters, your Master and your Martial Uncle to apologize."

The relationship between an emperor and his subjects, a father and son, a master and disciple were all very significant. When a subject is called upon by an emperor to die, they dare not stay alive; if the father wants the son to perish, the son must do so; the same can be said for the Wulin relationship between Master and disciple, a hint of disobedience is not allowed. Guo Jing reprimanded him this way because he pitied him for the suffering he has had alone, his tone was very gentle and soft. Had it been someone else, he would have shouted 'bastard, animal' long ago, and struck him with his fists on the head and face.

Zhao Zhijing stood up and chuckled, "How can I be Master Yang's Master? Hero Guo, there is no need for you to ridicule me. Our Quanzhen sect has done nothing to offend hero Guo, why is it necessary to insult me in public? Master Yang, this little Taoist will kowtow to apologize to the Senior; it was my fault for being blind, I didn't recognize such a hero and good man."

The Guo couple saw that his expression had changed completely, the more he said the angrier he became, both of them were shocked. If a disciple did something wrong, the Master punishing them would be normal, why is it necessary for such a reaction? Huang Rong knew that whatever Yang Guo did, it was very serious. After this bout of anger by Zhao Zhijing, Guo Jing couldn't speak so she slowly said, "I am extremely sorry for giving apprentice brother Zhao such trouble. Please don't get angry apprentice brother Zhao, sit down and discuss what the child has done to offend his Master."

Zhao Zhijing said loudly, "How can I, Zhao Zhijing dare to be someone's Master with my lowly skills? Won't that just make the heroes and good men of the world laugh their heads off? How does that make me look?"

Huang Rong's eyebrows wrinkled, she was resentful. She and the Quanzhen sect weren't the greatest of friends; years ago they used the "Big Dipper Formation" against her father. Qiu Chuji also tried to arrange for Mu Nianci to be Guo Jing's bride; though these events happened long ago, the animosity had disappeared; but this outburst by Zhao Zhijing in front of her may have been a bit too impolite. Though both Hao Datong and Sun Bu'Er felt that it was hard to blame Zhao Zhijing for getting so angry, but the way he was acting was not how a Taoist should act.

Sun Bu'Er said, "Zhao Zhijing, explain everything to hero Guo and Chief Huang. Look at the way you're acting and think how it looks! We are Taoists, what kind of Taoism have we been studying?" Though Sun Bu'Er was a woman, she was very stern, her juniors all feared her; when Zhao Zhijing heard her speak slowly he didn't dare to make any more outbursts and said, "Yes, yes." He returned to his seat.

Guo Jing said, "Guo'er, look how your Master treats his Seniors with such respect, why don't you follow his example."

Zhao Zhijing wanted to say, "I'm not his Master", but he took a look at Sun Bu'Er and managed to restrain himself. But who knew that Yang Guo would say loudly, "He's not my Master!" When he said this, Guo Jing and Huang Rong were both extremely shocked; Guo Fu and the Wu brothers who were hiding behind the bookshelf were also extremely surprised. The master disciple relationship was very significant in the world of Wulin, there's a saying, "A Master for one day, a Father for life."

Guo Jing was brought up the Jiangnan Seven Freaks and was taught martial arts by Hong Qigong; he was very grateful to his Masters. Ever since he was young he believed that the ways of his Masters were right and proper. How would he know that Yang Guo would dismiss his Master in public, and say such treasonous and heretical things? He got up and pointed at Yang Guo; his voice trembled as he said, "What...what... what did you say?" He wouldn't scold anyone but his face went green, he was very angry. Huang Rong had very rarely seen him get so angry; she whispered to him, "Brother Jing, that child has always been bad; there is no need to get angry over him."

Yang Guo was actually afraid but when he saw his loving Uncle Guo change his face to such an angry expression, he made a decision and thought, "Nothing is greater than death, and the worst that will happen is that you people will kill me." So he said clearly, "My character has always been bad, but I have never begged you to teach me martial arts. You two are eminent people of the Wulin world, why was it necessary for you to use such a crafty plan to harm a child who doesn't have a mother or father?" When he said 'who doesn't have a mother or father', he pitied himself, his eyes became slightly red but he bit down on his lips and thought, "Even I die today, I won't shed a single tear."

Guo Jing angrily said, "Your Auntie Guo and Master taught you martial arts sincerely because of the friendship between me and your deceased father, who... who used a crafty plan? Who...who wants to harm you?" He wasn't the most articulate; he stuttered even more now that he is angry.

Yang Guo saw how impatient he was and spoke even slower, "Uncle Guo has treated me very well, I will never forget this."

Huang Rong slowly said, "Auntie Guo has wronged you; if you want to remember this for the rest of your life that's up to you."

At this stage, he might as well boldly go on, he said, "Auntie Guo has not treated me badly, nor has she wronged me. You said you were going to teach me martial arts, in reality, you taught me to study. You didn't teach me an ounce of kung fu. Studying is a good thing; this nephew has learned a few more words and heard you speak about the stories of the past. But those old Taoists" He pointed to Hao Datong and Zhao Zhijing and said furiously, "There will be a day when I will take my revenge."

Guo Jing was shocked and quickly asked, "Whaa...What? What revenge... what happened?"

Yang Guo said, "The one named Zhao calls himself my Master, he didn't teach me any martial arts, fine, but he ordered many young Taoists to beat me up. Auntie Guo didn't teach me martial arts and the Quanzhen sect didn't teach me martial arts, I could only take the beatings. The one named Hao saw that there was a Grandma that loved me, and he killed her. The rotten Taoist named Hao, speak, isn't this the truth?" When he remembered how Grandma

Sun died for him, he ground his teeth and wanted to leap over to Hao Datong and kill him.

Hao Datong was an eminent Taoist of Quanzhen, he had learned martial arts, and he had reached a deep level in both areas. He accidentally killed Grandma Sun and in all these years he hadn't had a moment's peace. This was the most hateful thing he had done in his life. The Seven Masters of Quanzhen had killed countless people in their lives, but all the people they had killed were scoundrels, traitors and crooks; they had never harmed an innocent. Now, he heard Yang Guo blaming him in front of everyone, he couldn't stop his face from turning grey. The events of that day when he made Grandma Sun throw up blood with his palm flashed in front of his eyes. He didn't have a weapon so he stretched out his left hand and took a long sword from Zhao Zhijing's waist.

Everyone thought that he wanted to stab Yang Guo with the sword, Guo Jing took a step forward to protect Yang Guo but who could have known that he would turn the long sword around with the handle facing Yang Guo and say, "Correct. I killed the wrong person. Take revenge for Grandma Sun, I won't retaliate."

When everyone saw him do this, they were surprised. Guo Jing was afraid that Yang Guo would take the sword and harm him so he called out, "Guo'er, don't be impolite."

Yang Guo knew that he wouldn't be able to avenge Grandma Sun in front of Guo Jing and Huang Rong; he said coldly, "You know that Uncle Guo won't let me attack, so why are you pretending to be so gracious? If you really want me to kill you, then why don't you hand me over the sword in a place where there isn't anyone about?"

Hao Datong was a Senior of Wulin, he was made speechless by the words of this young man. He couldn't hand over the long sword or take it back; he circulated his chi through his hands and forced the sword to snap in half. He flung the sword on the floor and gave a long sigh, he said, "It's finished, it's finished!" He exited the study. Guo Jing wanted to persuade him to remain behind but his head did not turn back.

Guo Jing looked at Yang Guo and then at Sun Bu'Er and the others, he thought that from what had happened, the child has not lied. He thought for a while and said, "Why didn't Quanzhen teach you any martial arts? What have you been doing for the past few years?" As he said this, his words had slowed down a lot more.

Yang Guo said, "When Uncle Guo went up Mount Zhongnan, he defeated hundreds of Taoist without reply, even if Ma, Qiu, Liu, Wang and the others didn't mind, would the others just forget about it? They couldn't do anything to Uncle Guo but could it be that they wouldn't vent their anger on a child like me? They wished they could kill me; why would they teach me martial arts? These few years I have experienced days where there was no light, the fact that today I have the chance to see Uncle Guo again is all down to heaven opening its eyes." Those words did not mention the fact that he expelled himself from Quanzhen and pushed all the blame on Guo Jing. He said he had endured 'days where there was no light', this wasn't a lie exactly, when he was living in the tomb, he didn't see much light or day. When Guo Jing heard these words, he couldn't stop his pity and compassion from rising.

Zhao Zhijing saw that Guo Jing more or less believed him and became anxious, he said, "You... you bastard talking such crap, the name of Quanzhen has been tarnished by... by"

Guo Jing believed that what Yang Guo said was the truth. Huang Rong's face was not moved, she saw Yang Guo's eyes sparkled and he had a clever expression on his face; she thought, "This child is extremely crafty, there must be a lie somewhere." She said, "From what you said, you don't know any martial arts? All these years in Quanzhen were wasted?" As she asked these questions she slowly got up, she suddenly stretched out her left hand and sent put a palm towards the crown of his head. The fingers of the palm was aiming for the head's 'Hundred Meetings' pressure point, the base of the palm was heading for the 'Rising Star' pressure point that was an inch from the hairline, these two main pressure points were fatal. If there was a heavy blow to these places the person would die, there would be no saving them.

Guo Jing was shocked and he called out; "Rong'er!" But Huang Rong was extremely fast, this palm was her family's "Descending Brave Divine Sword Palm", there was no warning, as soon as the hand moved the palm arrived; if Guo Jing wanted to save him, it was too late.

Yang Guo moved back slightly and wanted to avoid it, but with Huang Rong's kung fu, now that she had attacked, just how would he dodge it; he saw the palm going towards his head. Yang Guo was shocked, he quickly stretched out his arm to react but his mind had a quick thought, his right arm moved slightly and then hung down. Someone such as Guo Jing who was greatly skilled but slow in thought would not understand what was happening; they would quickly repel this attack. But Yang Guo was extremely quick, he immediately understood, "Auntie Guo is trying to test my kung fu, if I avoid this palm, then it will show that I've been lying." He saw Huang Rong's attack was fatal, if she wasn't testing out his kung fu and he himself didn't react, wouldn't that mean he will have lost his life in vain? In a flash he fired up his stubborn nature and thought, "Fine, if I die then I die!" Though his kung fu may not be as good as Huang Rong's, if he wanted to stretch out his hand and repel her palm, it wouldn't be hard, but now he risked his life and didn't move his arms.

Indeed Huang Rong was testing his kung fu with this stance, as soon as the palm reached his head she didn't increase her strength, she saw a frightened and shocked expression on his face. He didn't stretch out his hand to repel this attack and he didn't secretly circulate his chi to protect his vital pressure points, showing he didn't know an ounce of martial arts. She smiled and said, "I didn't teach you kung fu because I wanted what was best for you. It looks like the Taoists of Quanzhen had the same thought as me." She returned to her seat and quietly said to Guo Jing, "He really hasn't learned any of the Quanzhen's martial arts." As soon as she said this, her mind secretly called out, "Ai yo, something's wrong! I almost fell for his lie." She remembered how when he was little he used the "Toad Stance" to attack Wu Dunru; he had some kung fu foundation. Even if he hasn't made an inch of progress but knew she was about to strike with her palm, he would definitely block the attack. She thought, "Young man, young man, you're too clever, if you scrambled and waved your hands in a frantic state to block my attack, I might have believed your lie. But there is one point that doesn't make sense in your charade, you've left a flaw." She didn't reveal this and thought that she would watch him and see what other schemes he'll come up with. She looked at Zhao Zhijing and then at Yang Guo, and she just smiled slightly.

Zhao Zhijing saw Huang Rong test out a stance on Yang Guo who didn't fight back, he knew that Yang Guo had managed to conceal his kung fu from her, displaying even more signs that he was in the wrong. His anger erupted and said loudly, "That bastard is very crafty; if Chief Huang couldn't find anything then let me try." He went over to Yang Guo and pointed to his nose and said, "Little bastard, you really don't know any martial arts? If you don't defend, I will not hold back, if you want to live or die, it's up to you." He knew that Yang Guo's kung fu was above his, but under his fatal attacks, there would be no other option for him but to reveal the truth. If he still kept up this charade, he might as well take his life. The worst that would happen is he will lose the Guo's couple's friendship and be heavily punished by his sect's leader. Fury filled his chest, hate filled his guts, he thought, "You knew that Chief Huang wouldn't harm your life that's why you were so bold; you acted very well. Let's see if you still have the guts to keep up the charade?" His sleeve waved, he was about to attack.

Guo Jing called out, "Please wait!" He was afraid that he would harm Yang Guo's life and wanted to intervene.

Huang Rong tugged his sleeve and quietly said, "Don't do anything." She knew that Zhao Zhijing was extremely angry, his attacks would not be light, and Yang Guo had no way to avoid his attacks by mere luck. When he defends, the truth will come out. How would Guo Jing know that there are so many other things going on here; he was worried but knew that his wife's plans had never failed before. He didn't say anything else and just took one step forward, if there was a real danger he would still be able to make a rescue.

Zhao Zhijing said to Sun Bu'Er and Yin Zhiping, "Martial Uncle Sun, apprentice brother Yin, that bastard is pretending that he doesn't know martial arts, I am forced with no other option but to test him myself. If he keeps it up to the end and I kill him, please be a witness for me in front of our leader, Martial Uncle Qiu and my Master."

Sun Bu'Er knew what had happened with the incident of Yang Guo expelling himself from the Quanzhen sect. She saw him using his wits and craft to make sure Zhao Zhijing could not back down and make sure it was Quanzhen sect who was in the wrong. She hoped Zhao Zhijing would force him to use his martial arts and chuckled, "That disobedient disciple and traitor to our Quanzhen sect. Killing him wouldn't be anything serious." She is an eminent Taoist, how could she tell someone to kill? Those words were actually meant to scare Yang Guo, wanting him to stop pretending.

Zhao Zhijing had his Martial Uncle's support and was even more daring; he raised his right foot and aimed for Yang Guo's abdomen. The stance "Flying Past Heaven's Mountains" had softness within its hardness; in the yang there was yin, it was a really lethal stance. Though this kick was very powerful, it wasn't very profound; it was a stance that is taught when one first enters the Quanzhen sect. It was a very ordinary stance when it is used, and as long as someone knows a little kung fu, they would be able to neutralize it. On the first day of practicing martial arts, the disciples of Quanzhen would first learn the stance of "Flying Past Heaven's Mountains" and then "Force of the Retreating Horse"; this was the stance to avoid the stance of "Flying Past Heaven's Mountains". One attack one defense, this was the most basic set of kung fu. By using this stance, he wanted Guo Jing and Huang Rong to understand one thing, "Even if I did not teach him advanced martial arts, could it be that I didn't even teach him the basic kung fu of our sect's very first lesson?"

When Yang Guo saw the kick come, he did not use the "Force of the Retreating Horse"; his left hand hung down protecting his abdomen. Zhao Zhijing saw that he was so bold that he didn't even move or dodge, he didn't hold back on his kick and kicked straight across, when the tip of his foot was about three inches away from Yang Guo's abdomen, he saw in the moonlight Yang Guo's left thumb slightly sticking out, aiming for his right foot's ankle 'Large Opening' pressure point. If he kicked out with power, before the tip of the foot had reached the abdomen, his pressure point will be sealed first; the opponent wouldn't actually seal the pressure point themselves. As the foot strikes his finger, it will be struck on the pressure point, sealing it in the process.

He was the best fighter of Quanzhen's third generation; in the midst of danger he quickly changed his stance, he turned and changed the direction of the kick, his right leg passing Yang Guo's side. At least he was able to avoid the trap but his body was off balance, and his face turned red.

Guo Jing and Huang Rong were behind Yang Guo and didn't see his thumb, they thought it was because Zhao Zhijing was holding back, at the very last second he changed his stance. But Sun Bu'Er and Yin Zhiping could see this clearly. Yin Zhiping didn't say a word.

Sun Bu'Er stood up and shouted, "Little punk, very crafty!"

Zhao Zhijing's left palm hung in the air, his right palm aimed to chop across Yang Guo's left cheek; this stance of "Purple Lightning Striking through Words" was a refined stance of advanced martial arts. As the palm arrives halfway, the direction suddenly changes, originally aimed to the left cheek it now was aiming to chop down on his neck on the right side. How could he know that Yang Guo has learned the "Jade Heart Manual" to a very fluent state, the manual was the Black Star of Quanzhen's kung fu. Every lethal fist techniques and palm stances that Wang Chongyang invented were all defeated ingeniously by Lin Chaoying years ago. When Yang Guo saw his left palm hanging in the air, he quickly covered his head with his arms as if he was scared, his left index finger hid itself by his neck on the right side but because he covered it with his right palm, Zhao Zhijing had no way to see it. As soon as the palm arrives, Yang Guo's right hand slanted slightly, a 'bo' sound was heard as the finger sealed the 'Back Stream' pressure point on Zhao Zhijing's palm.

Once again, it was Zhao Zhijing himself who forced his own pressure point to be sealed by hitting it on his finger; Yang Guo knew what the opponent would do and prepared his finger in place. Once Zhao Zhijing's pressure point on his palm was sealed, his arm immediately went numb; he knew he had fallen into his trap. He was furious and his left leg came sweeping out.

Yang Guo called out, "Oh no!" He bent his left arm and placed his elbow two and a half inches above his waist. When Zhao Zhijing's left leg came, the elbow struck his ankle's 'Reflecting Sea' and 'Great River' pressure points. This kick came out of fury; it was kicked with great strength. The pressure points were severely struck, his left leg went numb and he kneeled down on the floor.

Sun Bu'Er saw that her martial nephew was being embarrassed, she stretched out her left arm and pulled him up with her hand and then pushed his back a few times, unsealing his pressure points. Yang Guo quickly backed away. He saw that she unsealed Zhao Zhijing's pressure points with ease. He knew that her martial arts were far superior Zhao Zhijing's. Yang Guo was afraid of her and kept a distance between himself and Sun Bu'Er. Though she had been practicing Taoism for many years, she was still very stubborn and strong. She saw that his kung fu was extremely crafty, it looked like that it was their sect's Black Star; if she fought herself she might not be able to win, so she called out, "Let's go!" She then said goodbye to Guo Jing and Huang Rong. Her sleeve swept out and she leapt out of the study through the window, and then jumped up onto the roof.

Yin Zhiping had seemed to be out of it all this time; he wanted to tell Guo Jing and Huang Rong what happened when Zhao Zhijing angrily shouted, "What more is there to talk about?" He pulled on his sleeve and the two of them leapt out of the window and then followed Sun Bu'Er.

With Guo Jing's and Huang Rong's awareness, of course they knew that Zhao Zhijing's pressure points had been sealed, but Yang Guo had not stretched out his finger, could it be that a eminent person was secretly helping him?

Guo Jing immediately went over to the window to take a look, where was the person? Guo Jing thought that as Zhao Zhijing was about to kill him, he couldn't bear to and so pretended to have his pressure points sealed and left in the confusion. However, Huang Rong could see this was the doing of Yang Guo, firstly because she was behind him and couldn't see his elbow and secondly, she was not aware of the existence of a martial art skill such as the "Jade Heart Manual". This enabled the prediction of the enemy's reaction and countered the skills of Quanzhen without reply; she wasn't able to understand exactly what had happened. She wouldn't act like Guo Jing and view others with the heart of a gentleman. When she saw the four Quanzhen Taoists sweeping their sleeves and leaving, it was very impolite, secretly, she was furious. She pondered and turned around to see Guo Fu's dark green shoes sticking out from under the bookshelf, she immediately called out, "Fu'er, what are you doing here?"

Guo Fu laughed and came out with a silly look on her face and said, "Me and the Wu brothers are looking for a book to read."

Huang Rong knows that the three of them have never been interested in books, why would they have suddenly taken an interest today? One look at her daughter's face and she knew that they must sneaked in earlier to hide so they can eavesdrop on what was happening. As she was about to tell them off, a Beggar Clan member came with news of a guest arriving, she took a look at Yang Guo and then she and Guo Jing went out to meet the guest.

Guo Jing said to the Wu brothers, "Brother Yang is a childhood friend of yours, take good care of him."

The Wu brothers had never been friendly with Yang Guo; right now they looked at the state that he was in. They knew that he hadn't learned any martial arts at the Quanzhen sect and was called 'bastard, animal' by his Master. They looked down on him even more; they summoned a servant and told him to take care of Yang Guo.

However, Guo Fu was very curious about Yang Guo, she asked, "Brother Yang, why doesn't your Master want you?"

Yang Guo said, "There are many reasons. I'm dumb and lazy, I have a bad temper and I don't know how to treat the relatives of my Master well. 'Buying horse whips and donkey whips and what nots'."

When the Wu brothers heard this their faces changed, Wu Xiuwen was the first who couldn't control himself anymore and shouted, "What did you say?"

Yang Guo said, "I said I'm useless, I don't know how to please my Master."

Guo Fu smiled captivatingly, and said, "Your Master is a Taoist, how would he have a daughter?" Yang Guo saw her smile, it was as if a flower suddenly blossomed, bright, beautiful and glamorous, unconsciously his heart jumped, his face went red and he turned his head away. Guo Fu had managed to control the Wu brothers and could mess them around long ago, now she saw Yang Guo turn his head away and knew that he was moved by her beauty, she was very proud of herself.

Yang Guo looked to the west and saw a couplet on the wall, the first line said: 'The image of peach blossoms descending with the divine flying sword', the second line was 'The jade sea brings new waves according the jade flute'. Yang Guo has seen this couplet in the practicing sword pavilion on Peach Blossom Island. He knew that it was Huang Yaoshi who wrote it but underneath this couplet was signed 'The five useless people who were ill fated'. Compared to the three people in front of him, he was only a few years older but as he read and studied the writing it was as if he was ten years older. When he saw the words 'the five useless people', he remembered about himself, how all those close to him had either died or have gone away; he wandered the world alone, there was no difference between himself and a useless person. The pride he felt just now forcing Zhao Zhijing to scamper away disappeared; a sad, lamenting feeling filled his heart, he couldn't stop himself from dropping his head and pitying himself.

Guo Fu softly said, "Brother Yang, go and rest, I'll come and speak with you tomorrow."

Yang Guo calmly replied, "Fine!" He followed the servant out of the study and heard Guo Fu flare up at the Wu brothers, "I want to speak with him; can you two stop me? His kung fu is not good, I'll ask father to teach him."

End of Chapter 11.

Chapter 12 - The Heroes' Feast

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo said, "Miss Guo, please tell your parents that I've gone." Guo Fu was shocked and said, "You're fine, so why are you leaving?" Yang Guo gave a dull laugh and said, "There's no reason, originally I came here for no real reason, and now that I've been here I feel I should go."

The next morning, while Yang Guo was eating breakfast in the hall, Guo Fu signaled him to the courtyard. The Wu brothers were at the side looking a bit troubled. Yang Guo was amused and went over to Guo Fu and asked, "You're looking for me?"

Guo Fu laughed and said, "Yes, come with me outside, I want to ask what you've done in the last few years." Yang Guo exhaled deeply, thinking that it wasn't easy to explain, even if he spoke for three days and nights he would not have finished, and how could he reveal these things to her?

The two of them walked shoulder to shoulder to the main door, Yang Guo slightly turned his head and saw the two Wu brothers following. Guo Fu had noticed a long time ago and pretended that she didn't see them and talked to Yang Guo. Yang Guo picked some insignificant events to talk about, he pushed and pulled making Guo Fu laugh. She knew that Yang Guo was keeping things from her but she still felt amused by his words. The two slowly walked to a Willow tree. Suddenly they heard a neigh; a skinny and scabby horse came hurrying over to Yang Guo, rubbing against him in an affectionate manner.

When the Wu brothers saw such an ugly horse, they couldn't hold themselves back and burst out laughing. They went over to the two. Wu Xiuwen laughed and said, "That precious horse is very special, only someone with your ability could one find a horse like that. When are you going to find me one like that?"

Wu Dunru said seriously, "That is a Da Shi Guo's (Great Master Guo's) priceless treasure, how could you buy it?"

Guo Fu looked at Yang Guo and then at the ugly horse, when she saw the two had the same dirty and pitiful appearance, she couldn't resist laughing. Yang Guo laughed and said, "I'm ugly, my horse is ugly, we're a match. The horses that the Wu brothers ride must be very spirited horses."

Wu Xiuwen said, "The horses that we ride are only a bit better than yours. Sister Fu's red horse, now that is a precious horse. You've seen it before when you were on Peach Blossom Island."

Yang Guo said, "So Uncle Guo gave the red horse to a girl."

The four of them chatted as they walked. Guo Fu suddenly pointed to the west and said, "Look, mother's teaching stick techniques again." Yang Guo turned his head and saw Huang Rong with an old beggar walking towards the mountainside, the two of them holding a stick in their hands.

Wu Xiuwen said, "Elder Lu is so dumb, he's been practicing the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" for so long but he still hasn't managed to learn it."

When Yang Guo heard the words "Dog Beating Stick Technique" his heart trembled but he didn't show any signs of it, he turned around and looked away, pretending to appreciate the scenery. He heard Guo Fu say, "The "Dog Beating Stick Technique" is the treasure of the Beggar Clan; my mother said that the mastery and ingenuity of the stances are unbeatable. It has the most powerful stances in the world of weapons; you can't just learn it in ten days or a fortnight. You said he's dumb, are you very clever?"

Wu Dunru sighed and said, "It's a pity that apart from the Chief of the Beggar Clan, no one is allowed to learn it."

Guo Fu said, "If you become the Chief of the Beggar Clan in the future, Chief Lu will impart it to you. Even my father does not know this skill, there's no need to cry."

Wu Dunru said, "How can I be the Chief of the Beggar Clan? Sister Fu, why did Master's wife select Elder Lu to replace her?"

Guo Fu said, "Over the last few years, my mother just held the title. The running of the clan is all done by Elder Lu Youjiao. All the many bothersome things that go on in the clan give my mother a headache. She said why is it necessary to have the name and not do anything; so why not pass the position on to Elder Lu and make it official. Once Elder Lu learns the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", my mother will pass on the position to him officially."

Wu Xiuwen said, "Sister Fu, how exactly do you use the "Dog Beating Stick Technique"? Have you seen it before?"

Guo Fu said, "I haven't seen it. Ah, I have seen it!" She picked up a branch off the ground and lightly attacked his shoulder and laughed, "It's like this."

Wu Xiuwen called out, "Fine, just see if I'll let you go now you've called me a dog." He stretched out his hand to grab her. Guo Fu laughed and jumped away. Wu Xiuwen chased after her. The two ran around a few times and returned to their original places.

Guo Fu laughed and said, "Little Brother Wu, don't get angry. I've got an idea."

Wu Xiuwen said, "Fine, tell me."

Guo Fu said, "We'll watch in secret, we can see exactly how special the "Dog Beating Technique" is." Wu Xiuwen clapped his hand in agreement.

But Wu Dunru shook his head and said, "If Master's wife finds out we are secretly trying to learn the skill she will lecture us severely."

Guo Fu said, "We are just going to watch, we're not trying to learn it in secret. Anyway, an ingenious and masterly kung fu such as this, how could you learn it after just a few glances? Big brother Wu, so do you count as someone who's amazing?" After this put down, he just smiled slightly. Guo Fu continued, "Last night when we were in the study eavesdropping, did my mother shout at anyone? You're just a little chicken. Little Brother Wu, let's go."

Wu Dunru said, "Fine, fine, your reasoning does make some sense; I'll go with you."

Guo Fu said, "Is it possible that you don't want to watch one of the world's best skills? It doesn't matter if you don't go, once I've learned it I'll come back and beat you with it." As she said this she raised her stick and waved it at him.

The three of them had heard about the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" a long time ago and were fascinated by it but they had never seen what it looked like. Guo Jing once discussed martial arts with them; he told them how years ago on Mount Jun Huang Rong used the technique at the Beggar Clan's gathering to beat everyone there and claimed the position of the Chief of the Beggar Clan. The three of them listened enchanted. Right now Guo Fu was encouraging them to take a look, though Wu Dunru spoke out against it, in his heart there wasn't anything he wanted to do more. He pretended to be coerced into it and all he's doing is listening to Guo Fu's suggestion; if they are found out then his Master's wife can't blame him.

Guo Fu said, "Brother Yang, you come as well." Yang Guo was gazing at the faraway mountains as if he was absorbed in thought and didn't hear what they said. Guo Fu called out again and Yang Guo turned his head around, his face looked lost, he asked, "Fine, fine, follow you where?"

Guo Fu said, "Don't ask; just follow me."

Wu Dunru said, "Sister Fu, why do you want him to come, he won't understand; his dumb brain is going to make some noise, how can Master's wife not notice?"

Guo Fu said, "Relax, I'll take care of him. You two go first; brother Yang and I will follow. The four of us will make too much noise with our footsteps." The Wu brothers didn't want to but they knew they couldn't defy Guo Fu's orders. The two of them walked ahead discontentedly.

Guo Fu called out, "We'll hide in a large tree nearby first; my mother will not notice if we are careful and don't make any noise." The Wu brothers nodded in reply and quickened their steps.

Guo Fu glanced at Yang Guo and saw his clothes were extremely ragged and torn, she said, "When we get back I'll get mother to buy you some new clothes; once you've changed, you won't be as ugly."

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "I was born ugly; even if I change clothes and tidy myself up I'll still be ugly." Guo Fu said fine and didn't take it to mind; she glanced at the backs of the Wu brothers and gave out a light sigh.

Yang Guo said, "Why are you sighing?"

Guo Fu said, "My mind is really troubled, you wouldn't understand."

Yang Guo saw a delicate redness on her face, her eyebrows slightly wrinkled, she really was an extremely beautiful girl. Compared to Lu Wushuang, Wanyan Ping and Yelu Yan, she was more beautiful than they. His heart was moved slightly and said, "I know why you are so troubled."

Guo Fu said, "That's strange, how would you know? You really are talking rubbish."

Yang Guo said, "Fine, if I guess correctly, you can't deny it."

Guo Fu placed her little white and tender finger against her right cheek, her pupils glimmered, a smile was on her lips and said, "Fine, take a guess."

Yang Guo said, "It's not simple. The Wu brothers both like you, they both try to please you, and it's hard for you to give up one of them."

After hearing this, Guo Fu's heart raced. He knows about this, the Wu brothers know about this, her parents know about this and even Ke Zhen'E knows about this. But it was hard for anyone to mention it; everyone knew in their hearts but no one mentioned a word about it. Now, Yang Guo suddenly mentioned this matter, she couldn't stop her face from going red; she was happy but sad, she wanted to laugh but also wanted to cry, droplets of tears rolled from her eyes.

Yang Guo said, "You're thinking 'Big Brother Wu is courteous and reliable, Little Brother Wu can keep me entertained. The two of them are both handsome, their martial arts are excellent and they treat me with respect and listen to me. The elder has his good points, the younger has his strong points; I'm just one person, how can I marry two men?"

Guo Fu listened to him startled, after she heard his last sentence, she said, "Your mouth is full of rubbish, who wants to pay attention to what you say?"

From her reaction, Yang Guo knew he had guessed correctly, he quietly repeated, "I'm just one person, how can I marry two men?" After repeating it a few times, Guo Fu still seemed to have something on her mind; it was as if she didn't hear him.

After a while she said, "Brother Yang, tell me, who do you think the better of the brothers?" She asked this quite suddenly. Though she and Yang Guo were childhood friends, there was still some animosity between the two even though they not seen each other for a long time. Now that they're grown up, how can she reveal such things to him? Yang Guo is a lively person, as long as you don't get on the wrong side of him, he will joke with you, laugh with you, in a flash he will make you feel as if you were in a spring breeze, as if you were drinking a beautiful wine. Anyway, Guo Fu had gone over this hundreds and thousands of times in her mind. She felt that both of them had their good points; when it came to playing around and joking, she got on with Wu Xiuwen very well, but when it came to doing something serious Wu Dunru was much better. She was a girl going through puberty; she would alternate from being angry with them, or be pleased with them. She made the brothers fall in love with her; in her heart she was really troubled, she didn't know who to treat better. As she and Yang Guo raised this point she couldn't help herself but ask this question.

Yang Guo laughed and said, "I don't think either of them is good."

Guo Fu was startled and asked, "Why?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "If those two are good then what chance have I, Yang Guo, got?" He had been used to joking around with Lu Wushuang on the road and he didn't mean what he just said, he was just teasing her when he said it.

Guo Fu was stunned, she was a girl who was used to being pampered and treated well, no one has ever said half an offensive word to her. Right now she didn't know whether or not to be angry; she put on serious face and said, "If you don't want to say, fine, who wants to joke with you? Let's go." As she said this she utilized her lightness kung fu and hurried along the small path to the mountainside.

Yang Guo felt there was no point to this and thought, "Why am I mixing with these three? I'd rather be far away and be on my own!" He turned around and slowly walked away, thinking, "The Wu brothers think that girl is a goddess, they're afraid that she won't marry them. If they really marry her, and spend everyday with such a pretty yet bullying girl, they will definitely experience more pain than joy, huh; crazy people like them are very funny."

Guo Fu hurried for a while and assumed that Yang Guo would go after her and apologize; but after stopping for a while there was no trace of Yang Guo. She had a thought and said, "That person does not know martial arts, of course he won't be able to catch up. She turned around and returned to see that he had actually gone in the opposite direction. She thought this was strange and went over to Yang Guo. She asked, "Why aren't you coming?"

Yang Guo said, "Miss Guo, please tell your parents that I've gone."

Guo Fu was shocked and said, "You're fine, so why are you leaving?"

Yang Guo gave a dull laugh and said, "There's no reason, originally I came here for no real reason, and now that I've been here I feel I should go."

Guo Fu has always like crowded atmospheres; although she didn't think very highly of Yang Guo, listening to him joking felt fresher and newer than listening to the Wu brothers. She really didn't want him to leave, she said, "Brother Yang, we haven't seen each other a long time, I have many things to say to you. Anyway, tonight is the 'Heroes Feast, all the heroes from all over the world will be gathering here, why don't you want to experience this?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm not a hero, if I'm actually there, won't I just become an object of ridicule in front of all the heroes?"

Guo Fu said, "That makes sense." She pondered for a while and said, "There are many people in the Lu Manor who don't know martial arts, just eat and drink with the servants."

When Yang heard this he was very angry, he thought, "Little Bitch, you class me with nobodies." His face didn't show any signs of anger; he laughed and said, "That's a pretty good idea." He had wanted to leave but now had a change of heart, he decided he was going to do something that would embarrass and disgrace her. Guo Fu was used to being pampered and cared for. She wasn't wise and didn't understand worldly matters; she didn't have any ill intent in her words and didn't know that she had deeply offended someone.

She saw that Yang Guo had changed his mind, she laughed and said, "Let's go, if we're late and mother gets there first, we won't be able to peek." She hurried ahead with Yang

Guo following behind, he appeared out of breath and his footsteps seemed heavy showing that he was extremely clumsy and inept. They easily arrived in time at the place where Huang Rong normally taught Lu Youjiao the stick techniques. They saw the Wu brothers in a tree looking out. Guo Fu leapt up on the branch and then reached out her hand to Yang Guo pulling him up. When Yang Guo held her soft and warm hand, he couldn't stop his heart from stirring but immediately thought, "Even if you were ten times as beautiful, you can't compare with my Gu Gu."

Guo Fu quietly asked, "My mother hasn't arrived yet?"

Wu Xiuwen pointed to the west and quietly replied, "Elder Lu is practicing over there, Master and Master's wife went away to talk about something."

The only person that Guo Fu is afraid of is her father, when she heard that he was here she felt slightly uneasy. But when she saw Lu Youjiao holding a bamboo stick pointing to the east and stirring to the west, she forgot her fear and quietly said, "That's the 'Dog Beating Stick Technique'?"

Wu Dunru said, "Most likely. Master's wife was teaching him when Master came over and said he had something to discuss with her, he led her to the side while Elder Lu practiced by himself."

Guo Fu watched a few stances and felt that it was sluggish and didn't see anything special about it, she said, "Elder Lu hasn't learned it yet, and it isn't nice to watch, let's go."

Yang Guo saw that the stances that Elder Lu was using were identical to the ones that Hong Qigong taught him on top of Mount Hua, he chuckled in his heart, "That girl doesn't know anything."

The Wu brothers always followed Guo Fu's orders, they were about to jump down when they heard footsteps below; the Guo couple were walking over. They heard Guo Jing say, "Of course a decision about Fu'er's future can't be decided so lightly and suddenly. But Guo'er is young; it is unavoidable that young people will get into trouble. That business with the Quanzhen sect doesn't seem to be all his fault."

Huang Rong said, "I don't care about him causing trouble at Quanzhen. You are respecting the long friendship between the families of Yang and Guo, as you should. But Yang Guo is very crafty, the more I look at him the more he looks like his father, how can I relax and allow Fu'er to get married to him?" When Yang Guo, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers heard this, they all were shocked. The four of them knew that the Guo and Yang families had some ties but they didn't know that the previous generations had such deep ties. They could never have guessed that Guo Jing wanted to betroth his daughter to Yang Guo. That sentence affects all four of them, they all listened carefully, their hearts all racing.

Guo Jing said, "Brother Yang Kang was unfortunate that he ended up in the Jin palace and fell in with the wrong crowd. That's how he ended up like he did, in the end he died without a full corpse. (a soul?) Had he been in the care of Uncle Yang Tiexin, he would never have ended up like that."

Huang Rong sighed as she remembered the frightening events of that night at Jiaxing's Iron Spear Temple, her heart froze and she quietly said, "You could say that."

Yang Guo does not fully understand his background, he knew that his father died earlier by someone's hand but his own mother never revealed how he died or who killed him. Now he heard Guo Jing talking about his father and mentioned 'ended up in the Jin palace and fell in with the wrong crowd' and 'died without a full corpse', his body quivered as if he was struck by lightning, his face turned grey. Guo Fu glanced at him and saw that he was looking like he was in a trance; she was frightened and worried that he would suddenly fall and drop to his death.

Guo Jing and Huang Rong sat down on a rock with their backs to the tree. Guo Jing lightly stroked Huang Rong's arm and warmly said, "Since you've been carrying our second child, your body has not been feeling well; quickly pass on all the responsibilities of the Beggar Clan to Lu Youjiao so you can rest properly."

Guo Fu was delighted, "So mother's having a baby, it'll be great to have a little brother. How come mother never told me about this?"

Huang Rong said, "I don't worry about the matters of the Beggar Clan that much. What I'm worried about is Fu'er's future."

Guo Jing said, "Since the Quanzhen won't take in Guo'er, I'll teach him myself. He's a very clever boy, once he's learned all my skills in the future, the brotherly vow between his father and I won't have been in vain." Yang Guo now knew that Guo Jing was his father's sworn brother, the words 'Uncle Guo' had a real meaning behind it, when he heard Guo Jing treating him with love in his words he was touched, tears almost rolled from of his eyes.

Huang Rong said, "That's what I'm afraid of, in case he's too clever for his own good. That's why I taught him to study and didn't teach him any martial arts. I hoped that he would become a deep, understanding and righteous man, even if he didn't know any martial arts. I would have happily betrothed Fu'er to him in that case."

Guo Jing said, "You have always planned everything to the last detail. This idea would have been good but with Fu'er's temper and martial arts, wouldn't having her to marry a weak scholar be a bit harsh for her? Tell me, how could she respect him? In my opinion such a couple would not get on well with each other."

Huang Rong laughed and said, "You're shameless! So the reason why we are such a good couple is because you have better martial arts than me. Hero Guo, come, come, come, let's have a duel."

Guo Jing laughed and said, "Fine, Chief Huang, give me your best." A light sound was heard as Huang Rong lightly patted on Guo Jing's shoulder.

After a while Huang Rong sighed and said, "Ah... this matter is complicated, even with Guo'er to one side, how can you separate the two Wu brothers? In your opinion, who is better?" Guo Fu and the Wu brother's hearts naturally jumped. This wasn't related to Yang Guo but he wanted to hear Guo Jing's opinion of the two.

He heard Guo Jing go 'hmm' and didn't say anything for a while, in the end he said, "I can't give my opinions on them on small matters. Only when a person is faced with an important matter will they show their real character." His voice became soft and said, "Fu'er is still young, we can still wait a few years. It could be that by then everything will have sorted itself out and we won't have to worry about it. There's no need to exert your self too much when teaching Lu Youjiao the stick techniques. In the last few days I've noticed that you don't seem to look well, I'm worried. I'll go and find Guo'er and talk to him." After he said this he got up and walked to the road.

Huang Rong sat on the rock and evened her breathing for a while before she instructed Lu Youjiao to come over and perform the techniques. Lu Youjiao displayed all thirty-six strokes of the technique, but Lu Youjiao had yet to understand the formulae. Huang Rong kept her patience and explained everything more clearly to him. The stances of the “Dog Beating Stick Techniques” are of course ingenious and masterly, and the formulae behind it extremely clever and ingenious, otherwise how could a little bamboo stick become the treasure of the Beggar Clan? Even with Ouyang Feng’s great skills he had to think deep and hard for a long while; how could the opponent overcome a stance or half a move? Huang Rong had used a month’s time to teach Lu Youjiao the stances. Now she recited the formulae and the principles behind the changes a few times, and told him to remember this. When it comes to understanding and being able to use the skill, it depends on the person’s ability and intelligence. The Master cannot teach the disciple this.

Guo Fu and the Wu brothers did not understand the stick techniques, they didn’t have a clue as to what was going on. What the ‘seal’ point was like, how the ‘coil’ aim was meant to be, how the eighteenth change transforms into the nineteenth change and how the nineteenth change can be altered into the twentieth change. The three of them wanted to leap down from the tree but were afraid that Huang Rong would discover them; they hoped that she would go through it quickly and then leave with Lu Youjiao. But who could have guessed that Huang Rong had decided to hand over the position of Chief to Lu Youjiao today before the ‘Heroes Feast’. She decided she would impart all the formulae to him now, if he didn’t understand it she would slowly go over it with him later on. According to the rules of the clan, when he takes over the position he must have learned the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”; this is why that she spoke almost non-stop for around two hours. However, Lu Youjiao wasn't the most gifted and he was now old, his memory is fading, how could he remember all this in just a short time? Huang Rong kept on going, passage after passage; it was hard for him to remember everything. Huang Rong had met Guo Jing when she was fifteen and was used to being around someone who was slow and not the most gifted. She was angry about Lu Youjiao's poor memory. The rules of the clan states that the formulae to the technique must be passed on down orally and must not be written down. Otherwise writing it down and letting him slowly memorize it would have saved a lot of effort and energy.

That day on the peak of Mount Hua after both Hong Qigong and Ouyang Feng had suffered internal injuries in their duel, Hong Qigong had taught Yang Guo every stance and every change so that he could perform it for Ouyang Feng. But he didn't teach him a single word of the formulae that are needed when fighting an enemy. Hong Qigong thought that without the formulae, the techniques would be useless to him. This doesn't really go against the rules of the clan and at the time he wasn't fighting Ouyang Feng for real, so there was no need to pass on the formulae to the technique. Who could have guessed that Yang Guo would now hear the whole thing in its entirety? He was over a hundred times more gifted than Lu Youjiao; after just three recitations he was able to remember the whole thing without forgetting a word, but Lu Youjiao still wasn't able to remember as he recited it ambiguously.

When Huang Rong became pregnant for the second time, she became careless one day while meditating and disturbed the chi of the fetus; because of this she has become very weak. Today she had taught for over half a day and had become very tired, she sat on the rock and rested, she closed her eyes for a while and then called out, “Fu’er, Ru’er, Wen’er, Guo’er, come down at once!”

The four of them were shocked and thought, “So she knew we were here long ago!”

Guo Fu said, “Mother, you really are great, nothing can be kept from you.” As she said this she used a stance of “The Forest Sends a Sparrow” and lightly leapt down in front of her. The Wu brothers followed while Yang Guo climbed down slowly.

Huang Rong gave a ‘heng’ sound and said, “You wanted to steal a look with your kung fu? If I couldn’t even notice you little rascals, I’m afraid that when that I’m traveling around Jianghu I’d be ambushed in half a day.”

Guo Fu felt embarrassed by her mother’s comments but knew that her mother was lenient and wasn’t afraid of being scolded by her. She laughed and said, “Mother, I brought these three along to take a look at the world famous “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, but who knew that when Elder Lu uses it, the skill doesn’t look good at all. Mother, perform the skill for us.”

Huang Rong laughed and took the bamboo stick from Lu Youjiao’s hand, she said, “Fine, watch out, I’m going to trip a little puppy.”

Guo Fu concentrated on her lower body, as soon as the bamboo stick comes towards her, she will immediately jump and avoid the trip. Huang Rong’s bamboo stick flashed across, Guo Fu quickly leapt up, her legs were half way away from the ground when the bamboo stick came across and skillfully and lightly tripped her up. Guo Fu got up and called out, “I’m not taking about that! It was my fault.”

Huang Rong laughed and said, "Fine, you chose what you want to do."

Guo Fu steadied herself in the Mount Posture and stood solidly, she had another thought and then said, "Big brother Wu and little brother Wu, come to my side and get into the Mount Posture as well." The Wu brothers did as they were told and stood solidly. Guo Fu stretched out her arm and hooked it around the Wu brothers' arms combining the strength of the three, as solid as Mount Tai. She said, "Mother, I'm not afraid of you, only father's "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms" can push us."

Huang Rong gave a slight smile and waved the stick across the three's faces, a strong gust of wind rushed upon them. The three of them all moved backwards to avoid it, the Mount Posture of the lower body loosened as a result. Huang Rong's bamboo stick returned and used the 'turn' formulae, the stick brushed across the three's legs, the three of them could not stand steady and all fell down at the same time. At least the three's kung fu had a good foundation, their bodies had just touched the ground slightly and they up immediately. Guo Fu called out, "Mother, that's just trickery; I'm not taking about that either."

Huang Rong laughed and said, "Just now I passed on the eight formulae to Lu Youjiao, 'trip', 'chop', 'coil', 'poke', 'stir', 'lead', 'seal' and 'turn'; which one uses reckless strength? You said this is trickery, that's correct, in the martial arts, ninety percent of it is used to trick someone, as long as you've tricked a skilled fighter, you've won. Only your father's "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms" type of martial arts uses real kung fu to battle and doesn't use any sort of trickery. But how many people in the world can reach such a stage?"

These words made Yang Guo nod in secret, he remembered the formulae that Huang Rong had recited and combined it with the stances that Hong Qigong taught him, the ingenuity and mastery behind it really was boundless. Though Guo Fu and the others understood what Huang Rong said, they didn't appreciate the meaning behind it. Huang Rong continued, "The "Dog Beating Stick Technique" is Wulin's most unique kung fu, it forms a branch on its own, and does not involve any other sect's kung fu. If you just learn the stances but don't know the formulae to accompany it, it is useless. Even if you are extremely clever it will be very difficult to come up with formulae to accompany the stances. But if you just know the formulae without me personally teaching you the stances, and only know the eight words 'trip', 'chop', 'coil', 'poke', 'stir', 'lead', 'seal' and 'turn', the result is the same. Because of this I'm not afraid of letting you four rascals eavesdrop. If I teach any sort of kung fu, without my permission, you must not eavesdrop or practice in secret ever, understand?"

Guo Fu agreed and laughed, "Mother, why should I try to practice your kung fu in secret? Could it be that you have other skills that you dare not teach me?"

Huang Rong used the bamboo stick to lightly hit Guo Fu's behind, she laughed, "Go and play with your two Wu brothers. Guo'er, I want to speak with you. Elder Lu, take your time, if you can't remember it all I'll teach you again tomorrow." Lu Youjiao, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers went on their way back to the Lu Manor, only Yang Guo remained.

Yang Guo's heart raced, he was afraid that Huang Rong knew that he had secretly learned the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" and now wanted to take his life. Huang Rong saw the frightened expression on Yang Guo's face; she took his hand and told him to sit down on the rock. She softly said, "Guo'er, there are many things that I don't understand about you, if I ask you, I know you won't tell me. But I can't blame you. When I was young I was extremely eccentric, your Uncle Guo had to tolerate me in everything I did." As she got up to this point, she lightly sighed and then a smile came across her face as she remembered the times when she vented her anger when she was younger. She continued, "I didn't teach you martial arts because I wanted what's best for you, who could've known that this caused you to suffer many hardships instead. Your Uncle Guo loves and adores me; of course I will do my best to repay his love. He has great faith in you and hopes that you will become a great man. I will do my best to help you so his wish can be granted. Guo'er, don't ever disappoint him, please!"

Yang Guo has never heard Huang Rong speak to him like this before, soft, gentle and sincere, he saw her eyes were filled with love and he couldn't stop himself from being moved, hot blood rose to his chest and he groaned. Huang Rong stroked his hair and softly said, "Guo'er, I won't keep anything from you anymore. In the past I didn't like your father, which is why I have always disliked you. But from now on, I will treat you well; once my body has recovered I will teach you all the martial arts I know. Uncle Guo said he will do the same thing as well."

Yang Guo was feeling sadder, he cried even louder and choked, "Auntie Guo, there are many things that I've kept from you, I'll...I'll... I'll tell you everything."

Huang Rong stroked his hair and said, "Today I'm very tired, it won't be too late if you tell me in a few days, all you've got to do is be a good child and I'll be happy. When the Beggar Clan's meeting is on, come and take a look."

Yang Guo thought that important news such as the passing away of Hong Qigong needed to be revealed at the meeting, he wiped his tears and kept on nodding.

The two of them spoke with their true feelings under the tree and managed to scatter away the mutual dislike that they used to have for each other. As they finished, Yang Guo's tears turned into a smile, he remembered the faith and love that Guo Jing had in his words to him, this is the first time he had felt so warm and affectionate since he and Xiao Longnu split up.

After speaking for a while, Huang Rong felt a slight pain in her stomach; she slowly got up and said, "Let's go." She held his hand and they slowly walked.

Yang Guo thought that he should tell her the news of the Hong Qigong's death and said, "Auntie Guo, I have something very important I have to tell you."

Huang Rong just felt the chi in her 'dan tian' was uncomfortable and not fluent; she frowned and said, "Tell me tomorrow, I'm... I'm not feeling well."

Yang Guo saw that she was pale and couldn't help from worrying, he felt her hand was slightly cold, he became bold and secretly circulated his chi and sent a warm energy from his hand into her. When he and Xiao Longnu were practicing the "Jade Heart Manual" on Mount Zhongnan, he had become very fluent in this technique of passing energy through the palms. But he was afraid that his and Huang Rong's internal energy would clash with each other so at the start he only sent a little; afterwards when he felt no resistance, he started to increase the energy. Huang Rong felt the internal energy that he was passing on was soft and concentrated; it was very different to the internal energies of the Quanzhen sect. It was soft and fluid, it wasn't below the skilled fighters of Quanzhen, her body had a use for it and in a short while she felt the opposing chi and her blood flow became more fluid and comfortable, her cheeks glowed, she was surprised, "Where did the child learn this advanced internal energy?" She smiled at him.

Just as she was about to ask him, Guo Fu called out from afar, "Mother, mother, guess who's here?"

Huang Rong laughed and said, "Today all the heroes of the world are gathered here, how do I know who's here?" She suddenly had a thought and said happily, "Ah, it's the Wu's Martial Uncles; I haven't seen them for many years."

Guo Fu said, "Mother, you are really clever, how did you get it in one guess?"

Huang Rong smiled and said, "What's hard about that? The Wu brothers never leave your side, since they're not following, it must be because their relatives have arrived." Yang Guo has always been assured of his intelligence but when he saw that Huang Rong predicted things like a god, he couldn't stop himself from being startled and in awe of her.

Huang Rong continued, "Fu'er, congratulations, you can learn another advanced martial art but I'm afraid that you might not be able to learn it."

Guo Fu asked, "What kung fu?"

Yang Guo blurted out, "The 'Solitary Yang Finger'!"

Guo Fu ignored him and said, "What do you know? Mother, what kung fu is it?"

Huang Rong laughed and said, "Hasn't brother Yang mentioned it?"

Guo Fu said, "Ai... so mother told you." Yang Guo and Huang Rong both smiled and didn't say anything. Huang Rong thought, "Guo'er is very intelligent, he's ten times cleverer than the Wu brothers. And there's no need to mention Fu'er. He knows that the "Solitary Yang Finger" is Reverend Yideng's skill, the Wu brothers' Martial Uncles are here, and they will pity the Wu brothers because of their parents and will definitely teach them the "Solitary Yang Finger". The brothers are always trying to please Fu'er, whatever they learn will be passed onto her."

Guo Fu was surprised, "Why did mother tell Yang Guo first, could it be that she wants to betroth me to that little beggar?" When she thought about this, she gave Yang Guo a look and put on a silly face.

Reverend Yideng of Dali has four disciples: 'Fisherman, Woodsman, Farmer, and Scholar'. The Wu brothers' father Wu Santong is the third disciple, Farmer. Ever since the battle with Li Mochou where he was wounded, he hadn't been seen since. The ones that have arrived for the 'Heroes Feast' today are the Fisherman, Si Shuiyuyin and the Scholar, Zhu Ziliu. Whenever Huang Rong and Zhu Ziliu meet, they start to battle with their wits. They haven't seen each other for over ten years and as soon as they saw each other, they were at it again. After the greetings, Si Shuiyuyin and Zhu Ziliu found a room and they indeed did start to teach the "Solitary Yang Finger" to the Wu brothers.

That morning, the Lu Manor was filled with countless heroes and good men; though the Lu Manor was large, there were people everywhere. After lunch, the members of the Beggar Clan assembled in the forest outside the Lu Manor. The ceremony of the old Chief passing the position to a new one is the grandest ceremony in the Beggar Clan. All the members from the east, south, west and north no matter what rank gathered here. The heroes that were invited to the Lu Manor were also invited to watch the ceremony.

Over the last ten years or so, Lu Youjiao had helped Huang Rong in running all the matters of the clan; he was just, he did things boldly and accepted the consequences, the members from the 'dirty' clothed and 'clean' clothed factions all respected him. Elder Jian of the 'clean' clothed faction had passed away, Elder Liang has been incapacitated by illness and Elder Peng had revolted and left. There wasn't anyone that could challenge for the position of chief; this is why this year's ceremony proceeded smoothly. Huang Rong acted accordingly to the clan's rules, after passing on the clan's historic treasure, the Dog Beating Stick, to Lu Youjiao, she and the rest of the members spat on him to complete the procession. His face and body was covered in spittle.

Yang Guo saw that this procession was extremely strange. He was just about to go and tell them the news of Hong Qigong's death when suddenly an old beggar leapt up onto a rock and said loudly, "Chief Hong Lao has an order, he told me to tell everyone." When the clan members heard this they all gave a cheer. They hadn't had any news from Hong Qigong for over ten years, they all missed him, now they heard that he had news, they all called out in joy. An old beggar in the crowd called out, "Blessings to Elder Hong Lao!" The crowd all cheered, their voices really shook the earth. Cheer followed after cheer, and only after a while did it cease.

Yang Guo saw that everyone was moved, some even had tears on their faces, he thought, "If a man can achieve respect like this, his life will not be in vain. Look at all these people's joy, how can I tell them that Hong Qigong has passed away? Never mind the fact that I'm a nobody; if I tell them such news they might not believe me. Once they hear this there'll be chaos, this isn't good news anyway, why spoil things for them?" He continued his thought, "If they asked 'how did Hong Qigong die', I can't keep the fact that he was dueling with Godfather from them. The Wu brothers know that I've learned the "Toad Stance" from Godfather, what reason have they got not to tell everyone this? There are many beggars here and it would be unavoidable for some of them to be suspicious that I might have helped my Godfather kill Chief Hong Lao. I'll have no way to argue against hundreds of mouths. After the meeting I will explain everything carefully to Auntie Guo and allow her to tell them the news." He thought that it was fortunate for him that the old beggar dashed out and allowed him time to think, if he blurted it out, he would have caused himself a lot of trouble. He heard the old Beggar say, "Half a year ago, I was on the Guangnandong road in the Shao province and met Elder Hong Lao in Xingjun, and drank wine with him. He's very healthy and his appetite is great; his drinking ability is the same as before and it's still the only one of its kind."

The crowd of beggars all cheered with delight again; within the cheers were sounds of laughter. That old beggar interrupted and continued, "Over the last few years, Chief Hong Lao has killed many unscrupulous officials and evil scoundrels who have terrorized our citizens. He said he had heard news that there are five evil bastards called the 'Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border' who are following the orders of the Mongols. They have done many evil things in places like Chuandong and Huguang, he said that he was going to take a look himself and if it is true, of course he's going to take their lives."

A middle-aged beggar got up and said, "The 'Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border', they caused trouble a while back, but they move without a trace, our brothers in Chuandong were not able to find them. Recently, there has been no news of them; Chief Hong Lao must have sorted out this problem.” The beggars and heroes who watched the ceremony all applauded.

Yang Guo was gloomy, “How would you people know that after Chief Hong Lao and my Godfather made the ‘Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border’ into invalids, the two of them left the world not long after.”

The old beggar continued, “Chief Hong Lao said, ‘Right now the world is in a mess, the Mongols are slowly invading southwards, eating into our Song land. Those in our clan must have loyalty in our hearts, swear to kill our enemies and defend against aggressors with all our might.’ All the beggars agreed and their spirits soared. The beggar said, “The government is in a mess, corrupt ministers hold the power, and we can’t expect some rotten officials to protect the people and defend the land. They’ll never be able to do this. The foreign aggressors are getting closer, everyone must have the will to protect our country, and Chief Hong Lao ordered me to tell all of our brothers to remember the word ‘loyalty’.”

All the beggar clan members responded; they all called out, “We swear to follow Chief Hong Lao’s orders.”

Yang Guo had never been taught much since he was young and didn’t know how important the word ‘loyalty’ is; he saw the beggars all trembling with justice and righteousness, and he couldn’t stop himself from being touched. He felt that his making fools out of the Beggar Clan members before was wrong.

After the meeting, the clan’s matters were discussed; there was no need for the outsiders to listen and they took their leave.

When evening came, the Lu Manor was filled with lanterns and candles, all glowing brilliantly. There were over two hundred tables all together in the main hall, side halls, back and front halls, and the courtyard; over half of the world's heroes attended this feast. This 'Heroes Feast' is an exceptional event, a once in a lifetime event; if the host didn't have so many acquaintances who all respected him, it would be difficult for anyone to invite so many heroes of the Wulin world. Guo Jing and Huang Rong accompanied the main guests and sat in the main hall. Huang Rong arranged a place for Yang Guo and he sat at the table next to hers. Guo Fu and the Wu brothers sat quite a distance away.

Guo Fu was surprised at first and thought, "That person doesn't know martial arts, why did mother give him such a good seat?" She had a sudden thought, and couldn't stop herself from being alarmed, "Oh no, crap! Father said he was going to betroth me to him, could it be that mother is listening to father?" The more she thought about it the more frightened she became; she remembered how she saw her mother holding Yang Guo's hand while walking, looking very close. She also thought about how her father and mother respected each other, if her father wants to do this, mother would not disagree. She was worried and angry, she thought, "How can I get married to that little beggar?" She wanted to cry.

Wu Xiuwen happened to speak at this time, "Sister Fu, look at where that punk named Yang is sitting. He counts as a hero?"

Guo Fu forced out, "If you've any skill then drive him away!"

The Wu brothers had originally just looked down on him but after hearing Guo Jing saying that he wanted to betroth Guo Fu to him, they made him their enemy.

Wu Xiuwen heard what Guo Fu said and thought, "Why don't I insult and embarrass him? He'll be humiliated in front of all these heroes. Master's wife has always favored those with a strong character, when the one named Yang trips up in public, Master's wife will not want him to be her son-in-law." He had just learned the "Solitary Yang Finger" from his Martial Uncle, now was a good time to test it, he said, "Since he wants to pretend that he is a hero, I'll let him show off and then make him lose face." He stood up and poured two cups of wine; he went over to Yang Guo and said, "Brother Yang, you must be proud of yourself regarding these last few years. I give you a toast."

When Yang Guo saw Wu Xiuwen coming towards him, he had seen him glancing over at Guo Fu incessantly and his face had a sly look, showing that he didn't have any good intentions. He thought, "He's come over here to give a toast, he must be up to something. But he wouldn't dare put poison in the wine." So he stood up and received the wine, he said, "Thank you." He drank the wine in one gulp.

Just at this moment, Wu Xiuwen stretched out his index finger and touched Yang Guo's waist. He turned his body to block the view of others, he had sealed Yang Guo's 'Laughing Waist' pressure point, according to his Marshal Uncle, if you use the "Solitary Yang Finger" to seal an enemy's 'Laughing Waist' pressure point, the opponent will laugh and call out. If the pressure point is unsealed, the opponent will keep on laughing without stopping.

Yang Guo had already put his body on guard, how could he fall for the surprise attack? With Yang Guo's present skills, he would never be ambushed by his opponent's surprise attack. With Yang Guo's temper, normally he would not take this ill intent and would definitely counterattack fiercely. If he hadn't caught Wu Xiuwen out then he would have sealed Wu Xiuwen's 'Laughing Waist' pressure point instead. But after having that conversation with Huang Rong, he was feeling happy and relaxed, he thought, "Although there is some animosity between us, you are still Uncle and Auntie Guo's disciple, I won't mess around with you." He secretly circulated the internal energy that Ouyang Feng had taught him, in a flash all his bodies' veins circulated the opposite way, all his pressure points changed places, but because he wasn't upside down and he didn't have much experience with this type of kung fu. After one inhalation and one exhalation, his body reverted back to normal; he needed to circulate his internal energy again to reverse his veins. But this short period of time it was enough to render Wu Xiuwen's attack useless.

Wu Xiuwen saw that after touching his pressure point, Yang Guo had a little smile on his face, he was still sitting in his original position and there was no reaction from him. He was surprised and returned to his table. He quietly said, "Brother, how come the kung fu that Martial Uncle taught us doesn't work?" Wu Xiuwen told him what had just happened.

Wu Dunru chuckled and said, "Your stance must have been wrong or you've pointed to the wrong place."

Wu Xiuwen quickly said, "What's wrong? Take a look." He raised his finger and then pointed to his brother's waist; the appearance, stance and strength were exactly the same as the method that his Martial Uncle taught him.

Guo Fu's lips pursed and she said, "I thought that the "Solitary Yang Finger" was something amazing, huh! It doesn't look like its much use." She knew that the Wu brothers had learned the "Solitary Yang Finger" but she herself didn't know it. She knows that they will definitely teach her eventually, she still had a feeling of unhappiness in her.

Wu Dunru stood up and poured two cups of wine, he went over to Yang Guo and said, "Brother Yang, me and my brother haven't seen you for many years, now we meet again, junior also presents a toast to you."

Yang Guo laughed in his heart and thought, "Your little brother has already shown his skills, let's see what other great skills you have as the elder brother." He was holding up a piece of beef with his chopstick and didn't put it down; he stretched out his left arm to take the cup and laughed, "Thank you."

Wu Dunru didn't try to hide it, he stretched out his right arm, his sleeve carried a gust of wind, he stretched out his finger to seal the pressure point on Yang Guo's waist. Yang Guo saw that the finger was coming in fiercely, his kung fu of reversing his veins was limited and he was afraid that he would not be able to block this attack. He dropped his arm and used the slab of beef to protect his 'Laughing Waist' pressure point. This move started second but arrived first, Wu Dunru did not notice this, and his finger went forward and pierced the slab of beef. Yang Guo placed his chopsticks down and said, "After drinking wine, it would be best to follow it with a slab of beef." Wu Dunru raised his hand and saw his five fingers holding onto a large piece of beef, its juice dripping everywhere, he couldn't hold onto it but couldn't fling it away, he gave a furious stare at Yang Guo and scurried back to his seat. Guo Fu saw that he was holding a piece of beef, it was very strange and she asked, "What's that?"

Wu Dunru's face turned red, he couldn't reply. Just at this time, the Beggar Clan's new chief Lu Youjiao raised a cup and stood up. He gave a toast to all the heroes and then clearly said, "Our clan's Chief Hong Lao has passed on an order, and he said that the Mongols are invading south and commanded all our clan members to defend our country against them with our lives. All the heroes of the world are gathered here today, everyone here has loyalty in their hearts, we need to discuss the situation and come up with a plan that will drive the Mongols away, never to come back to the land of the Song.”

After he finished, all the heroes stood up, a word here and there, everyone had the same thought. Most of the heroes that attended this feast are patriots, when they saw that their country was close to danger, they all were worried, and now someone has raised this issue, all the loyal and patriotic heroes responded.

A silver bearded old man stood up, his voice was like a bell as he said, “There’s a saying, ‘A snake without a head will not move’, we have loyalty in our hearts but without a leader we will not be able to accomplish our goals. Today, most of the world’s heroes are here; we need to elect a worthy, revered and respected hero who will take charge and lead us.”

A lot of them shouted out, someone called out, “Let the Senior take charge!” “There is no need to elect someone else!”

The old man laughed and said, “What sort of class does a rotten old man such as I belong to? The great fighters of Wulin have always been Eastern Heretic, Western Poison, Southern Emperor, Northern Beggar and Central Divinity. Central Divinity Elder Chongyang had passed away long ago, Eastern Heretic Island Master Huang does as he pleases by himself, Western Poison does not belong to our group; Southern Emperor is far away in Dali and is not a Song citizen. Only Northern Beggar senior Hong Lao can be the Chancellor of all the heroes here.” Hong Qigong is one of Wulin’s most eminent men, everyone agreed to this and started to clap, no one had any other suggestions.

A voice from the crowd said, "Of course Chief Hong Lao can be the Chancellor of the heroes here. Apart from him, is there another who is as skilled, as revered and has the ability to take on such an important position?"

The voice was clear; everyone looked in the direction of the voice but didn't see anyone. Actually, it was a very short person who had spoke out and was covered by the others around him. Someone asked, "Who said that?" The short man leaped on the table. He was about three feet tall, over forty years of age; his face exuded a serious air. A few of the crowd knew that he was a good man of Jiangxi, 'Short Lion' Lei Meng. The crowd wanted to laugh but when they saw his fierce eyes, they swallowed their laughter.

They heard him continue, "But Chief Hong Lao goes and comes as he pleases; over the last ten years he has only shown himself once. But when we discuss the important matter of defending against the enemy, but have no way to call on him, what should we do then?"

Everyone thought, "What he said does make sense."

Lei Meng said, "Everything we are doing today is for protecting our country, not for ourselves. We will elect a Vice Chancellor; since Chancellor Hong Lao is roaming around the lands, we will follow the Vice Chancellor's orders."

In the midst of shouts and applause, someone called out, "Guo Jing Hero Guo!" Someone else called out, "Chief Lu is the best candidate." Another person said, "The previous Beggar Clan chief is wise and clever, and she is the disciple of Chief Hong Lao, I elect Chief Huang." Someone called out, "Let the present Master Lu..." Another one called out, "The Quanzhen sect leader Ma Yu. The "Eternal Spring" Elder Qiu..." Everyone discussed this. In this chaos, four people quickly entered the main hall; it was Hao Datong, Sun Bu'Er, Zhao Zhijing and Yin Zhiping.

When Yang Guo saw they had returned he thought, "Huh, you want to go another round with me?" Guo Jing and Lu Guanying were delighted; they left their table to meet them. The Quanzhen sect is famous for its orthodox martial arts, if there were not any skilled fighters from Quanzhen attending today's 'Heroes Feast', of course their reputation will be tarnished. Hao Datong whispered into Guo Jing's ear, "There is an enemy coming to cause trouble, be careful. We have come back especially to bring this news."

Guo Jing pondered, the "Blithe Elder" Hao Datong is one of the skilled fighters of Quanzhen, there aren't many people in the world of Jianghu with better skills than him; he trembled slightly as he said these words, the enemy must be extremely powerful, he quietly asked, "Ouyang Feng?"

Hao Datong said, "No, it is the Mongol that I've suffered from before."

Guo Jing searched his mind and nodded, "Its Prince Huo Dou?" Before Hao Datong could reply, the sound of a horn blowing was heard outside.

Lu Guanying called out, "Greet the guest!" As soon as he finished, tens of people short and tall stood at the front of the hall.

There many heroes that were eating and drinking happily in the hall and all were slightly surprised when they saw these people suddenly enter, but they assumed that these people had come to attend the 'Heroes Feast'. They didn't see anyone they knew and didn't take much notice.

Guo Jing passed on this news to Huang Rong, the both of them stood up and along with the Lu couple, they went out to meet the visitors. Guo Jing knew the elegant and prosperous looking Mongolian Prince Huo Dou; the sharp faced and skinny Tibetan monk was Huo Dou's apprentice brother Da'erba. Guo Jing had met the two before; though the two were extremely good fighters, their skills were below his, there was no need for him to be alarmed. He saw the two standing away from each other, a person in a red gown walked forward; the person was extremely tall and skinny. It was a Tibetan monk who looked like a bamboo tree; there was a groove on his head, like a plate. Guo Jing and Huang Rong glanced at each other. Huang Yaoshi had told them about the martial arts of the secret school of western Tibet before. When one has reached an extremely high level, the person's head will have a groove. This person has a very deep groove; could it be that this person's skills are extremely high? How come they had never heard about such a highly skilled fighter from the Western Tibet Jianghu world? The both of them were on guard. They bowed to greet the visitors at the same time.

Guo Jing said, "Everyone has come from afar, come in and have a few drinks." He knew that they were the enemy and didn't use any fake pleasantries. Lu Guanying ordered his servants to set up another table. The Wu brothers have always helped their Master and Master's wife in general affairs. They directed the servants and arranged for a table to be placed at the best position. They kept on apologizing to the guests as they did this and asked them to move their seats.

Guo Fu saw Yang Guo was sitting there comfortably without moving; she didn't like this one bit and thought, "You count as a hero? When all the world's heroes die, it still won't be your turn." She made a signal to Wu Xiuwen with her eyes and then mouthed in the direction of Yang Guo. Wu Xiuwen understood, he went over to Yang Guo and said, "Brother Yang, you need to move your seat a little.” He didn’t wait for his reaction and instructed the servants to move his cup and chopsticks to the table in the furthest corner in the room. Yang Guo’s temper started to flare up, but he didn’t say anything and just chuckled to himself.

Prince Huo Dou said to the tall Tibetan monk, “Master, I’ll introduce you to the two most famous heroes in the central plains.”

Guo Jing was alarmed, “So he’s the Mongolian Prince’s master.”

The monk nodded, his eyes seemed to be open but also appeared to be closed. Prince Huo Dou said, “That person has been Mongolia’s Western Levy Right General Guo Jing...Hero Guo, and that is Mrs. Guo, she is the Beggar Clan’s Chief Huang.”

When the monk heard the words ‘Mongolia’s Western Levy Right General’ he suddenly opened his eyes and looked around, He took a look at Guo Jing’s face and then his eyes half closed again, he didn’t take the Beggar Clan’s Chief to heart.

Prince Huo Dou said clearly, “This is my mentor, the holy monk of Western Tibet; everyone calls him Jinlun Fawang. The reigning Mongolian Queen has assigned him the title of the First Protector of Mongolia.” Those words were said very clearly; all the heroes that were present heard everything he said. The crowd was stunned and looked at each other thinking, “We are here discussing the Mongols invading the South, where on earth did this Protector of Mongolia come from?”

Yang Guo was even more alarmed, he remembered how Hong Qigong and his Godfather praised the kung fu the ‘Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border’, calling it terrific. They told them to tell their Grandmaster to come down and have a duel. Right now both Jinlun Fawang and the master of the 'Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border' Da'erba are here, while his Godfather and Hong Qigong have both passed away, he was sad. He knew that this tall and skinny Tibetan monk must be extraordinary.

Guo Jing didn't know how to confront these people, he just said calmly, "You have come from afar, please have a few drinks."

After three rounds of wine, Prince Huo Dou stood up and opened his fan, revealing a delicate and beautiful peony flower; he said with a clear voice, "We have not received a 'Heroes' invitation but we have come here to attend the 'Heroes Feast'. We are uninvited guests, but when I considered all the worthy and admirable people that would be gathered here, I had to take the risk. The gathering of the world's heroes is a rare event. In my opinion, a chancellor needs to be elected who will organize the Wulin world in the interests of the worlds' heroes, what does everyone think?"

'Short Lion' Lei Meng said loudly, "What you said is not wrong. We have already elected the Beggar Clan's Chief Hong Lao as our chancellor, now we are in the middle of the electing a vice chancellor, what are your views?"

Huo Dou chuckled, "Hong Qigong had passed away a long time ago. By electing a spirit as a chancellor, do you treat us all as dead people?" As he said this, all the heroes made a clamor, the Beggar Clan members were especially angry, all were shouting.

Huo Dou said, "Fine, if Hong Qigong isn't dead, then please invite him here."

Lu Youjiao raised the Dog Beating Stick twice and said, "Chief Hong Lao is roaming the world; he never stays in one place. How can you see him so easily?"

Huo Dou chuckled, "Without mentioning the fact that it isn't clear whether Hong Qigong is alive or dead, and even if he was alive and were sitting here, with his martial arts and virtue, how could he compare with my master Jinlun Fawang?" All the heroes of the world listened. "Apart from my master Jinlun Fawang; there isn't a second person who can take the position of the Chancellor of Wulin."

When the crowd heard these words, they all knew the reason these people had come here. They knew that the 'Heroes Feast' would not be in the best interests of Mongolia and so came here to compete for the place of Wulin's Chancellor. If Jinlun Fawang manages to take the place of Chancellor by virtue of his kung fu, the heroes of the central plains will of course ignore his orders. But the Han defensive force against the Mongols would have been severely weakened.

Everyone knew that Huang Rong was wise and ingenious; they all turned their heads and looked at her, thinking, "Even if these people's kung fu was a lot stronger, they will never be a match for the few thousands of us that are here. Whether it is one on one or a mass brawl, we won't lose. Everyone just listen to Chief Huang's instructions."

Huang Rong knew that today's matters would not be settled unless martial arts were used. A mass brawl will of course result in victory but the opposition will not be convinced. She said clearly, "Right now, all the heroes here have elected Hong Qigong to be the Chancellor of Wulin. This Mongolian gentleman has another suggestion and wants to elect a person that no one here has heard of or seen; someone called Jinlun Fawang. If Hong Qigong were here, then they both could show their divine skills and duel to a result, but senior is roaming the world and enjoying life. Killing Mongols and getting rid of our country's traitors, he didn't predict that today you would come here by your own choice. He isn't here to greet you; when he hears of this news later on, he would definitely regret his absence. Luckily, Hong Qigong and Jinlun Fawang both have disciples, why don't we let the disciples represent their masters in this exchange?"

Most of the heroes of the central plains knew that Guo Jing's skills were terrifyingly good and now in the prime of his life, he could be said to be the world's number one fighter. Even if Hong Qigong came out right now, he might not be stronger than him. If he fights with the disciple of Jinlun Fawang, victory is certain, there is no way for him lose. Everyone called out and shouted loudly, shaking the tiles of the roof. When those in the side halls and back hall heard this news, they all rushed over. The front and back courtyard, the entrances to the room were full of people, everyone calling out to help enforce this suggestion. The numbers on Jinlun Fawang's side were small, their voices could not compete.

Years ago, Huo Dou had been defeated by Guo Jing in one stance. He thought that Guo Jing was a disciple of Quanzhen's sect; after that he looked into who he was and found out about his background. His apprentice brother Da'erba and he were afraid that even if the two of them went up at once, they would most probably lose to this disciple of Hong Qigong, Hero Guo. But if they didn't follow Huang Rong's suggestion, they would not be able to challenge for the position of Wulin's Chancellor. This change of events really was unexpected and they couldn't think of a way to respond.

Jinlun Fawang said, "Fine, Huo Dou, go ahead and compete with the disciple of Hong Qigong." Those words were extremely heavy, he said this all in one breath without a need to breathe in again. He had always lived in Western Tibet and thought that with Huo Dou's martial arts, he would have little competition in the central plains. The only people that he wouldn't be able to beat are the likes of seniors such as Northern Beggar, Eastern Heretic, and Western Poison. He didn't know that he had lost to Guo Jing before.

Huo Dou agreed but then quietly said, "Master, that disciple of Hong Qigong is amazing, this disciple is afraid that he will not be able to achieve victory. I do not want to tarnish Master's name."

Jinlun Fawang's face sank, and said, "Could it be that you can't beat someone else's disciple? Go now."

Huo Dou was in a very embarrassing situation; he had kept the matter of losing to Guo Jing away from his master. Right now he didn't dare to tell him about it in this final moment. He knew that his master has the ability to go through heaven and penetrate earth; he had no match under heaven. He thought that all that they had to do was to hurry to the 'Heroes Feast' and the position of Wulin's Chancellor will be in their hands. How could he have guessed that he would have to fight with Guo Jing? In this urgent situation, a fat man dressed in the clothes of a Mongolian official went over to him and whispered a few words into his ear. As soon as Huo Dou heard this he was delighted, he stood up and opened his fan, fluttering it a few times before he said clearly, "I have heard that the Beggar Clan has a treasured martial art, its called the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" or something; it is Chief Hong Lao's most powerful skill. Little Prince is brazen; I'll rely on my fan to break this skill. If I break this skill, then it appears the martial arts of Hong Qigong are merely mediocre!”

At first, when Huang Rong saw someone whispering into Huo Dou’s ear, she didn’t take it to heart; suddenly she heard him mentioning the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”. In just a few words he had placed their most powerful fighter Guo Jing to one side; who exactly came up with this plan? She took a look at that Mongolian and then it became clear; she recognized that it was one of four elders of the Beggar Clan Elder Peng. So he has gone over to the Mongols; he is now wearing Mongolian clothes and has grown a beard. His hat hung down, covering his eyes and if she hadn’t studied him carefully, she would not have been able to recognize him. Only he would know that the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” is passed on from chief to chief only; though Guo Jing’s skills are high, he doesn’t know this set of kung fu. These words were deliberately aimed to challenge Huang Rong and Lu Youjiao.

Lu Youjiao had just started to learn the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, his understanding is limited and may not be able to use it; she herself will have to fight.

Guo Jing knew that his wife’s “Dog Beating Stick Technique” is ingenious; it would be able to beat Huo Dou. But in the past few months, her baby’s chi had moved, her body was not in tune, she cannot fight with someone else; so he got out of his seat and stood between the tables and said, “Chief Hong Lao has never used his “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, come and experience his “Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms”.”

Jinlun Fawang’s eyes half opened and half closed, he saw Guo Jing moving out of his seat and standing up, he had an extraordinary air about him. He couldn’t stop himself from being secretly alarmed, “This person really is extraordinary.”

Huo Dou laughed and said, “At Chongyang Palace in Mount Zhongnan, we met once before; that day, you said that you are under the tutelage of Ma Yu, Qiu Chu Ji and the other Taoists; why are you now calling yourself a disciple of Hong Qigong’s?”

Guo Jing was about to reply when Huo Dou continued, “A person having many masters is a common thing. Today, it is an exchange of kung fu between Jinlun Fawang and Hong Qigong; though your kung fu is great, your skills come from a variety of schools, you cannot show Hong Qigong’s real abilities.”

His argument made some sense; Guo Jing was clumsy with words and had no way to rebuke.

The crowd all called out, “If you’ve got guts, then fight with hero Guo, if you haven’t scurry away with your tail hanging behind you.” “Hero Guo is Hong Qigong’s disciple, if he doesn’t qualify, then who can represent Hong Qigong?” “First suffer under the “Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms”, you’ll still have time to experience the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”.”

Huo Dou laughed towards the sky, as he laughed he circulated his internal energy, ‘ha’ ‘ha’ ‘ha’ ‘ha’, ‘he’ ‘he’ ‘he’ ‘he’; he drowned out the clamor made by the heroes; his voice shaking the flames of the candles in the hall. The heroes looked at each other, their faces losing color, they thought, “Who would have thought that such a young man, who looks like a well to do person, have such strong internal energy.” In a flash, it had become quiet.

Huo Dou said to Jinlun Fawang, “Master, we have allowed ourselves to be wronged by these people. At first, when we heard that today is the 'Heroes Feast', we rushed to attend from thousands of li away, but who knew that these people are cowards. Let's go quickly, if you unluckily become the Chancellor of these people, it'll make our people say that you are in the same league as these people, won't that tarnish your great name?"

The heroes all knew that he was trying to anger them, wanting to force Huang Rong to come out and battle; but his words were extremely infuriating, it really was difficult for anyone to endure them.

In the midst of these shouts and calls from the crowd, Lu Youjiao showed his bamboo stick and walked forward, standing between the tables. He said, "I am the newly appointed Beggar Clan Chief Lu Youjiao, I have only learnt less than ten percent of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", I actually shouldn't use it. But if you insist on tasting the pain of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", I'll beat you with a few stances."

Lu Youjiao's martial arts was already profound, though he hadn't learned all of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", it had improved his martial arts a significant level. He saw that Huo Dou was around thirty years of age; he thought that even with a great teacher, his internal energy will not be profound. He saw that Huang Rong wasn't well, whether he wins or loses, he couldn't let her take the risk.

Huo Dou just wanted to ensure that he would not have to fight Guo Jing; he wasn't afraid of anyone else and immediately held his hand and bowed, he said, "Chief Lu, nice to meet you. There's no one better to exchange moves with than you."

Huang Rong was secretly anxious, but she remembered that Lu Youjiao was the newly appointed chief; since he had made the challenge she couldn't stop him. Otherwise she will question Lu Youjiao's clout and show that her power is above the chief's; she had to allow him to fight for a while and then decide what to do afterwards.

The managers of the Lu Manor instructed the servants to move the tables, creating seven or eight tables' worth of space and added more red candles, lighting up the centre of the hall as if it were daytime.

Hou Dou called out, "Ready!" As he said this his fan swept across, a gust of wind threw itself towards Lu Youjiao, carrying a slight fragrance. Lu Youjiao was afraid that the wind carried poison and quickly darted out of the way of the wind. Huo Dou's fan waved out, a 'ca' sound was heard; the fan folded and formed an eight-inch long pressure point sealing stick, and was thrust towards the enemy's side. Lu Youjiao's bamboo stick went forward, he ignored the threat of having his pressure point sealed and used the 'coil' formulae to trip and lift. The "Dog Beating Stick Technique" really was extremely ingenious, its direction is extremely difficult to predict; Huo Dou lightly leapt up to avoid this but he couldn't have guessed that the stick would suddenly flip up fiercely and would hit his lower leg. He stumbled, leaped forward three steps and stopped himself from falling down.

The watching heroes all cheered and called out, "The dog's been hit!" "This will teach you the power of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique"!"

Huo Dou's face turned red immediately after this, he gracefully turned around and threw out a left palm. Lu Youjiao kicked out his left leg and swept with bamboo stick, the stick was in a flying dance, it kept on changing without stop.

Huo Dou was secretly alarmed, "The "Dog Beating Stick Technique" does live up to its name!" He concentrated and used all his strength with the fan in his right hand and palm with his left. Lu Youjiao has yet to complete the final stage of the stick technique, he had victory in his grasp many times but in the end it was a waste of his efforts. Guo Jing and Huang Rong watched from the side and kept on saying to themselves, "What a pity!"

After another ten stances or so, the weaknesses in Lu Youjiao's "Dog Beating Stick Technique" began to show themselves. Yang Guo saw every stance clearly and couldn't stop himself from frowning. Luckily the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" name is famous, and as soon as it was used, Huo Dou was struck in the lower leg. Huo Dou was worried and didn't dare get too close, otherwise Lu Youjiao would have lost long ago. Huang Rong saw that something was wrong and was about to call out and tell Lu Youjiao to come back when Lu Youjiao suddenly used a stance of "Hitting the Dog's Back from the Side", the bamboo stick flashed across and struck Huo Dou's left cheek. But his stance was too heavy; the lightness of the skill was lost. Huo Dou suddenly stretched out his hand and held the bamboo stick in his hand, he had no more worries and suddenly threw out a palm that struck Lu Youjiao in the chest and then followed it by a sweep, a 'ka la' sound was heard as Lu Youjiao's leg was broken. He spat out a pool of blood as he fell forwards. Two seven band members dashed forward to support him. When everyone saw how ruthless Huo Dou was, they were extremely angry and they all shouted and cursed.

Hou Dou displayed the gem green jade bamboo stick; he was proud of himself and said, "The Beggar Clan's treasure is the Dog Beating Stick, so it's nothing more than this." He wanted to insult the central plain's largest heroic clan. He held the Dog Beating Stick in his two hands and wanted to snap it in half.

Suddenly a green image flashed, an elegant and beautiful young woman stood in front of him, she said, "Wait!" It was Huang Rong.

Huo Dou saw that her movements were extremely fast and was in shock, all he could say was, "You..." Her left hand swept across and her right hand scoured across his eyes. Huo Dou quickly stretched his arm out but by that time, Huang Rong had already snatched the Dog Beating Stick back. This stance of snatching the stick back is called, "Snatching the Stick from the Dog's Mouth" and is one of the extremely advanced stances of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique". Years ago at the Mount Jun Beggar Clan gathering, Huang Rong used this technique to snatch the Dog Beating Stick away from Yang Kang three times. The changes of this stance are extremely mysterious; when snatching the stick in a hundred ways there would be one hundred successes, even a stronger opponent cannot avoid this.

All the heroes cheered. Huang Rong returned to her seat with the Dog Beating Stick by her side, leaving Huo Dou in the middle of the room in an embarrassing situation. Though his martial arts were profound, he couldn't explain how Huang Rong snatched the stick away, he thought, "Could it be that this woman knows how to perform illusions?" He heard the onlookers ridiculing him; he glanced at his master and saw his face was not pleased. He thought that such a beautiful woman must have limited abilities so he called out, "Chief Huang, I have handed the Dog Beating Stick back to you, please come and exchange a few moves. You won't dare turn this invitation down will you?" As soon as he said this, indeed there were people who thought that it wasn't Huang Rong who had snatched back the Dog Beating Stick, but it was Huo Dou who handed it back to her so they can duel. Only people with high martial arts could see that it was Huang Rong who had used force to take the Dog Beating Stick back.

When Guo Fu heard these words she was extremely angry, in her life she had never seen anyone who dared treat her mother with such disrespect. A 'shua' sound was heard as she took out her precious sword. Wu Xiuwen said, "Sister Fu, I'll help you vent your anger." Wu Dunru also had the same thought, the two of them leapt into the heart of the main hall at the same time.

One of them said, "My Master's wife's body is very precious."

The other one said, "How can she fight with a ruffian like you."

The other said, "First experience little Master's kung fu first before doing anything else."

Huo Dou saw that the two were young but their movements were steady, they have been taught by famous masters, he thought, "We have come here today to show off our martial arts and break the spirits of the Han martial artists, fighting a few more rounds will be great. But there are many of them and few of us, if we induce a brawl, things would be hard to handle." So he said, "All the world's heroes listen, these two little punks want to duel with me, if I do fight then I'm afraid that people will say I'm bullying them. If I don't I'm afraid that people will think that I'm afraid of them. Let's do it this way, we will agree to compete for three rounds, whichever side wins two rounds, then the place of Chancellor goes to them. The fight between Elder Lu and me does not count, we will start again. Does everyone agree?" Those words were said with his status in mind, displaying his great generosity.

Guo Jing, Huang Rong and all the special guests discussed this quietly; they felt that it would be difficult to reject this suggestion. Today, apart from Huang Rong who cannot come out and fight, the strongest people here are Guo Jing, Hao Datong and Reverend Yideng's fourth disciple Zhu Ziliu. Zhu Ziliu is a citizen of Dali but he still had ties to this matter. Dali and Song depended on each other, and in the recent years Dali has suffered the oppression of Mongols; it could be said that they shared the same enemy. Never mind the fact that he had a very good friendship with the Guo couple, he was duty bound to help. They decided that Zhu Ziliu would battle with Huo Dou in the first round, Hao Datong with Da'erba in the second, Guo Jing and Jinlun Fawang in the final round. Whether or not this plan would assure victory was uncertain; suppose Jinlun Fawang's martial arts are so high that even Guo Jing can't withstand him. It wouldn't be inconceivable that they would lose all three rounds, and if that happens they would really have suffered a crushing defeat. Before the decision was definite, Huang Rong suddenly said, "I have a way to guarantee victory."

Guo Jing was delighted and was just about to ask her when suddenly wind sounds created by weapons could be heard, everyone turned their heads and saw the Wu brothers using their long swords fighting with Huo Dou and his fan. The Guo couple and the disciples of Reverend Yideng Diancang Yuyin and Zhu Ziliu were worried about their safety so all of them concentrated on the battle.

The Wu brothers heard Huo Dou was rude towards them in his words, calling them little punks, these words were heard by everyone, how could they live this down? Never mind the fact that they just saw their Master's wife snatch the bamboo stick back from him. They thought that although he beat Lu Youjiao, it was because Lu Youjiao's kung fu wasn't up to scratch, not because that this person is terrific. They also thought that since they both had been taught great martial arts by Guo Jing, if one of them can't beat him the two of them will definitely be able to overcome him. They didn't care about competing over three or four rounds, they really were like newborn calves that were not afraid of tigers, the brothers signaled with their eyes and thrust out their swords together.

However, though Guo Jing's martial arts were high, he had yet to pass on most of his skills to his disciples. He himself understood the theories of advanced martial arts but when he was passing it on, he wasn't able to express clearly its meanings. The Wu brother's natural endowments were just average to normal, how much could they learn in just a few years? In just a few moves, their long swords were controlled by Hou Dou; they were unable to use them fully. Hou Dou wanted to show off in front of these people, he saw Wu Xiuwen's sword coming in and threw up his left index finger holding up the sword on the flat side, the fan waved across and the base struck the top of the blade, a 'zheng' sound was heard as the sword snapped in two. The Wu brothers were shocked, Wu Xiuwen quickly leapt out of the way, Wu Dunru was afraid that his brother would be hurt so he extended his sword towards Huo Dou's back forcing him to stop his attack. Huo Dou had predicted this move, he didn't turn back and folded his fan sending it backwards. The two weapons met, the fan hitting against the flat side of the sword, Huo Dou twisted his fingers around twice. Only his fingers moved but the Wu Dunru's sword followed the fan in turning around, his joints would definitely twist out of place if he didn't let go. He could only loosen his hand and let go of the sword. He leapt back and saw the sword flying upwards, the sword glimmered in the candlelight before it fell down to the floor.

The Wu brothers were shocked and angry, although they were empty handed they were not afraid. Wu Dunru's left hand hung horizontally in the air, holding the position of a stance of "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms". Wu Xiuwen's right hand hung down, his left index finger slightly crooked; as soon as the enemy attacks he would use the "Solitary Yang Finger".

Hou Dou saw that these stances looked serious, he was wary and didn't dare to look lightly upon them, he thought, "Winning up to this point is enough, there is no need to refuse something good, asking for more is not in my interests." The "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms" and "Solitary Yang Finger" are first class skills in the world of martial arts, though the Wu brothers' internal energy was weak, the stances they put out were perfect. When normal people saw it they didn't think much of it, but in the trained eyes of Huo Dou, he knew that it wasn't that simple, he laughed and then bowed with his hands, he said, "Please sit down, we are just trying to find a winner, not fighting to the death." His tone sounded a lot more polite.

The Wu brothers' faces showed signs of embarrassment; they knew that fighting empty handed with him will most probably result in an even more embarrassing defeat. The two of them hung their heads with a gloomy expression and retreated to the side, but not going back to where Guo Fu was. Guo Fu dashed forward and called out, "Wu Brothers, the three of us will go up and fight him again." The crowd looked on. Guo Fu's right hand held her sword and her left hand waved out, she said, "We three, apprentice brother and sister, will go up together."

Guo Jing shouted, "Fu'er, stop making trouble!" Guo Jing was the person that Guo Fu most feared; she could only retreat a few steps and stare angrily at Huo Dou. Huo Dou saw that she was beautiful and desirable, he laughed as he nodded his head. Guo Fu gave him a glance and turned her head away, ignoring him. The Wu brothers were really frightened that Guo Fu would ridicule them, now they saw her shielding them, showing care for them, they felt great comfort in their hearts.

Huo Dou opened his fan and fluttered it a few times and then said, "Of course that last battle does not count. Hero Guo, the three people from our side will be my master, my apprentice brother and I. My kung fu is the weakest; I'll be in the first round. Who have you elected to fight? Whoever wins or loses, it is now not a game."

Guo Jing heard that his wife had a plan for a guaranteed victory; he knew that she was cunning and intelligent and had hundreds of ideas. Though he didn't know what ingenious plan she had in mind he had great confidence in her and said loudly, "Fine, we will decide this over three rounds."

Huo Dou knew that the strongest person on the opposite side was Guo Jing, his master has no match on earth, he will definitely beat him. Though Huang Rong used a strange move to take the stick back, judging from her delicate and apprehensive appearance if she really fought she may not be that strong. The others don't even need any consideration, his eyes swept across the crowd and then said, "If anyone has another suggestion then please express it now. Once victory is decided, then the orders of the Wulin Chancellor must be followed."

The heroes wanted to agree but they had seen him defeat Lu Youjiao and the Wu brothers one after the other sparingly; they didn't know what other abilities he hadn't shown yet, none of them dared to interrupt and all turned their heads towards the Guo couple. Huang Rong said, "You are competing in the first round, your apprentice brother in the second, your master in the third, that's decided and won't change right?"

Huo Dou said, "That is correct."

Huang Rong said quietly to those around her, "Our victory is assured."

Guo Jing said, "How?"

Huang Rong said quietly, "Now, the king wins when the third class 'si' (team of four horses) competes against his first class 'si'." After she said this she looked at Zhu Ziliu. Zhu Ziliu laughed as he continued quietly, "Beat the king by using first class 'si' against his second class 'si'; beat the king by using middle class 'si' against his third class 'si'. The result of these races was that Tain Ji lost the first one but won the last two and received a thousand gold bars from the king." Guo Jing looked blank; he didn't understand what they were talking about. Huang Rong whispered into his ear and said, "You're well versed in military techniques, have you forgotten the ingenious plan of the ancestor of military strategies Sun Bin?"

Guo Jing immediately remembered the times when he read 'Wu Mu Yi Shu' (a book containing military strategies) when he was younger; Huang Rong had told him a story; Qi's general Tain Ji and the King of Qi had a horse race, the stake was a thousand gold bars. Sun Bin taught Tian Ji a method that would guarantee victory; use his third class horses to compete against the King of Qi's first class horses, use his first class horses against King of Qi's second class horses, use his second class horses against the king of Qi's third class horses. The result was two wins and a loss, winning the thousand gold bars. Now, Huang Rong was using this idea.

Huang Rong said, "Apprentice brother Zhu, with your "Solitary Yang Finger", beating that Mongolian Prince is not a hard thing to do."

Years ago, Zhu Ziliu had been a lawyer and a governor in Dali; he was an educated and intelligent man. The martial arts of the school of the Mu Li Duan's rely on one's understanding. When Zhu Ziliu first entered the tutelage of the Southern Emperor, his kung fu was the worst out of the four disciples 'Fisherman, Woodsman, Farmer, Scholar'; ten years later he moved up to second place, now his martial arts were much higher than his three older apprentice brothers. Reverend Yideng treated his four disciples equally, he taught them all the same kung fu; in the end it was Zhu Ziliu who had understood the most, especially the "Solitary Yang Finger", he had refined it to a superb state. Right now his kung fu could not compare with Guo Jing, Ma Yu and Qiu Chu Ji but he was better than Wang Chuyi, Hao Datong and the others.

When Guo Jing heard his wife say this he interrupted, "Asking Taoist Hao to fight Jinlun Fawang may be a bit too risky. If the victory or loss won't affect the overall result, then I'm afraid during that round the enemy might too be ruthless, it would be difficult to defend against him." He spoke frankly and didn't care that he counted as the first class 'si', regarding Hao Datong as the third class 'si' may be a bit too impolite.

Hao Datong knew that this duel will affect the fate of the country; this was not the normal duels for fame that occurs frequently in the world of Wulin. If the position of the Chancellor of Wulin is taken by the Mongolian Protector, not only will the Han martial artists lose face, they will also lose their spirit. The goal of uniting together and fighting against the invaders will be unachievable, he said, "There is no need to worry about that, as long as it'll help my country, losing my life to that Tibetan monk is not important."

Huang Rong said, "All we need to do is to win the first two matches, then there will be no need for the third match." Guo Jing was delighted and agreed.

Zhu Ziliu laughed and said, "I have an important mission; if I lost to that Mongolian Prince then I'd suffer a lifetime of insults from the world's heroes."

Huang Rong said, "There's no need to be modest, please go ahead."

Zhu Ziliu went to the middle of the hall and saluted Huo Dou with his hands and said, "In the first match, it will be me who'll be asking for some advice. My surname is Zhu first names Ziliu; the things that I love most in life are poetry and literature, my kung fu is very coarse. I have come to request some pointers from you." As he said this he searched himself, from his sleeve he took out a pen, he circled it a few times in the air, looking completely like a scholar.

Huo Dou thought, "These types of people will have profound skills, I cannot take it easy." He held his fists and returned the greeting and said, "Little Prince requests pointers from senior, please show your weapon."

Zhu Ziliu said, "Mongolians are a barbaric nation, they have yet to be enlightened, since you want some pointers, then I will point you in the right direction."

Huo Dou was furious, "You insult my country; then I can't spare you." He opened his fan and said, "This is my weapon, are you going to use a saber or a sword?"

Zhu Ziliu wrote the word 'pen' in the air and laughed as he said, "In my life I have always been associated with a pen; how would I know how to use other weapons?"

Huo Dou concentrated on his pen, he saw the bamboo tube and the brush head, at the tip of the pen was half an inch of black ink, there was nothing special about it. It was completely different to the 'chun gang' pen that people in Wulin used for sealing pressure points, he was about to ask about it when a girl in white entered from outside.

She stood at the entrance of the hall, her eyes slowly scoured across the crowd; it was as if she was looking for someone. Everyone in the hall was concentrating on Zhu Ziliu and Huo Dou when the girl in white entered; they turned their heads involuntarily and looked at her. They saw her face was pale white as if she was ill; though the light of the candles was like red clouds, her face had no hint of blood in it, showing off her elegance even further, her beauty was incomparable. People use the phrase 'as beautiful as a goddess' to describe a girl's beauty but no one knew how beautiful a goddess was. As soon as these people saw this girl, they couldn't stop the words 'as beautiful as a goddess' from running through their minds. It was as if a light fog, a thin mist, surrounded her body; she appeared real but also looked like an illusion; she was not from this world.

As soon as Yang Guo saw this young girl, he was overjoyed, his chest felt like it had been struck by a metal hammer; he leapt from the corner of the room and hugged her, he called out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu!" That young girl was Xiao Longnu.

After she left Yang Guo, she circled around the land a few times and then returned to the ancient tomb. Before she was eighteen, living in the ancient tomb was not hard for her, but after she met Yang Guo and experienced many twists and turns, she could never return to the way she was before, not caring about anything.

Every time she sat on the chilled jade bed to practice her martial arts she remembered that Yang Guo had slept on this bed; when she sat at the table eating she remembered the times when she ate with Yang Guo. After practicing kung fu for a little while she would become troubled and impatient, it was difficult to carry on. She spent over a month like this before she could endure it no longer; she decided to look for Yang Guo. She didn't know how she would treat him once she had found him. She didn't know anything about worldly matters, similar to a person from the mountains or wild lands, now something had suddenly changed and was unfamiliar, she was completely at a loss. After she left the mountain, everything that she saw was new to her; how would she know the roads, whenever she saw someone passing by she would ask, "Have you seen Yang Guo?" When she was hungry she would take other people's food because she didn't know that money was needed. She created a lot of trouble along the way. But when people saw that she was innocent and beautiful, they couldn't refrain from making her allowances; no one caused trouble for her. One day she heard two men talking in a restaurant, they said that the famous heroes of the world will be going to Da Xingguan's 'Heroes Feast' at the Lu Manor. She thought that Yang Guo might be there so she found out how to get there and headed for the Lu manor.

Apart from Hao Datong, Yin Zhiping and Zhao Zhijing, no one amongst the two thousand present knew a thing about her; all they saw was that she was extremely beautiful, everyone's heart felt touched. Sun Bu'Er knew about this person but had never seen her before. Yin Zhiping's face was pale, his body trembled. Zhao Zhijing looked at him and chuckled. Guo Jing and Huang Rong were greatly surprised with how Yang Guo reacted to her. Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'er, indeed you are here, I've finally found you."

Tears flowed from Yang Guo's eyes as he choked, "You... you won't abandon me again will you?"

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "I don't know."

Yang Guo said, "Where ever you go I will follow." There were over a thousand people here in the main hall but the two acted as if no one else was there, talking naturally. Xiao Longnu held Yang Guo's hand, she didn't know whether she was happy or sad.

Though Huo Dou's heart was moved when he saw Xiao Longnu, he didn't know that this was the girl whose hand in marriage he was trying to get years ago at Mount Zhongnan. He saw that Yang Guo's garments were ragged and torn but the two of them looked very close, his heart was disgusted and he said, "We are dueling, go and find another place for this!"

Yang Guo was not in the mood to talk to him, he held Xiao Longnu's hand and went over to the side and they sat down shoulder to shoulder on the rock base of a pillar. His heart was bursting with joy. Huo Dou turned around and said to Zhu Ziliu, "Since you are not using a weapon, we'll fight with our fists."

Zhu Ziliu said, "Not so. We Chinese are a polite nation, not like the barbaric Mongols. In a treaty, one uses a pen to communicate; the enemy has a pen but no saber, so who needs a weapon?"

Huo Dou said, "Since it is like this, prepare!" He opened his fan and swept it across. Zhu Ziliu slanted his body, a step to the side and swung his head. His left hand swept lightly across himself, the pen in his right hand went towards Huo Dou's face. Huo Dou moved his head to avoid it; he saw the opponent's movements were light and his stances strange. He didn't dare to attack, waiting to see through his kung fu clearly before making a decision.

Zhu Ziliu said, "The enemy's pen can sweep away a thousand soldiers, you need to be careful." As he said this the tip of the pen went forward. Huo Dou learned martial arts in Western Tibet, Jinlun Fawang was very knowledgeable, there was nothing he didn't know about the central plains' martial arts. When Huo Dou's training was drawing to a close, he decided to go to the central plains to make his name, and so Jinlun Fawang taught him how to defeat the proudest kung fu of the central plain's most famous sects. How could he know that he would meet up with Zhu Ziliu, the weapon he used was strange, his stances were unimaginably strange, he had never heard of such things. He saw the pen tip stroking across and hooking down; it was as if he was writing but the places where the pen was pointing were the places of the body's main pressure points.

Zhu Ziliu is the number one calligrapher of the northern sky, though he practices martial arts he hadn't stopped studying literature, in the end, the more he practiced his kung fu the further refined it became and eventually the two arts became connected to each other. The "Solitary Yang Finger" and calligraphy became one. This kung fu was his own invention; if the opponent was stronger but didn't have a background in literature, it would be extremely difficult for them to defend against this martial art. From literature and literature on martial arts came a kung fu where both literature and martial arts have reached an extremely advanced state. Luckily, Huo Dou has studied under a Han scholar when he was young, he had read books and recited poems, and was able to defend against this attack. He saw the tip of the pen flashing across, in the calligraphy was the aim of sealing pressure points, in the pressure point sealing was the aim of calligraphy. It was like a silver hook and metal scull, the strokes were swift and powerful and in the midst of this there was a leisurely and elegant air.

Guo Jing wasn't versed in literature, as he watched he thought this kung fu was extraordinary. Huang Rong's father taught her both martial arts and literature, when she saw this excellent kung fu, she couldn't stop herself from admiring and enjoying it. Guo Fu went over to her mother's side and asked, "Mother, he's holding that pen, stroking it here and there, what kind of game is that?"

Huang Rong was concentrating on the battle and just replied, "The Fang Xuan Ling Inscription."

Guo Fu didn't understand and asked, "What Fang Xuan Ling Inscription?" Huang Rong was absorbed in the battle and didn't reply.

The 'Fan Xuan Ling Inscription' is a work written by the Tang minister Chu Sui Liang, and it is also a refined calligraphy style. The people before them have judged Chu's book and likened it to 'a girl from heaven scattering flowers'; the calligraphy style was firm, graceful and elegant, concentrating on creating beauty, every stroke was airy, completely focusing on this aspect. Zhu Ziliu's "Solitary Yang Book Finger" uses a pen as the finger; every stance was measured and cautious, like a pen writing a book.

Though Huo Duo did not understand the intricacies of the "Solitary Yang Finger", at least he had read the 'Fang Xuan Ling Inscription' before, he knew that the horizontal stroke will be followed by a vertical stroke, he defended well, and he didn't show signs of losing. Zhu Ziliu saw that he knew this style of calligraphy; he called out and shouted, "Careful! A cursive calligraphy style is coming." Suddenly he took off his hat and shot it at him, his sleeve flew across the air, and he dashed forward madly, his stances not following the style. He looked as if he were mad, crazy, drunk, as if a spell was put on him, the pen's aim raining down, the finger moving like a dragon and snake. Guo Fu was startled and laughed as she asked, "Mother, has he gone mad?"

Huang Rong said, "If he drank three cups of wine then the pen would be even better." She picked up a wine pot and poured three cups, she called out, "Brother Zhu, drink three cups to further your enjoyment." The cup was in her left hand, the middle finger of her right hand flicked it, and the wine cup flew steadily across to him.

Zhu Ziliu raised his pen and brushed down, forcing Huo Dou to the side as he caught the cup, drinking it in one go. Huang Rong flicked the second and third cup over in the same way. Huo Dou saw the two of them offering wine in the battle, not even noticing that he was there, he wanted to wave his fan and knock the cups out of the air but Huang Rong followed Zhu Ziliu's pen's intent, she flicked out the cups in the gaps. Huo Dou was unable to knock them out of the air. Zhu Ziliu drank the three cups dry and called out, "Thank you. That is very handsome "Divine Flicking Finger" kung fu!"

Huang Rong laughed and said, "Very spirited 'Zi Yan Tie'!"

Zhu Ziliu gave a laugh and thought, "I have always thought that I am clever, but I am still a level below that girl. I have studied this skill diligently for over ten years; just one look and she saw through it."

The work that he was using now was Zhang Xu's 'Tie Yin Tie' of the Tang dynasty. Zhang Xu has been given the title of 'Cao Sheng', the saint of cursive calligraphy. Du Fu's poem 'The Song of the eight drinking Immortals' says; "Zhang Xu's three cups passes onto Cao Sheng, the hat is removed showing his head in front of the king, the pen descending on the paper like a fog."

Huang Rong offered him three cups firstly to acknowledge the class of kung fu he was using, secondly, once the influence of wine increases, the calligraphy will be even better, and lastly she wanted to dampen Huo Dou's spirits. She then saw Zhu Ziliu write 'The Bold Man Fights for the Road', on the 'road' word, the pen hooked up and brushed across Huo Dou's clothes. The heroes all laughed as Huo Dou retreated backwards.

End of Chapter 12.

Chapter 13 - The Chancellor of Wulin

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo's five fingers then gently waved out, a slight smile on his face; it was a stance of "Dressing of Li Hua" from the Jade Maiden. Yang Guo's smile infected Da Er Ba, he followed and smiled. Yang Guo's face was handsome and striking, when he smiled, he was even more so, Da Er Ba's cheekbones were high and his cheeks deep, when the crowd saw him follow Yang Guo and smile, all of them shivered.

Jinlun Fawang's eyes sometimes opened and sometimes closed, it was as if he didn't care about what happened in the battle but in actual fact, he saw everything clearly. When he saw Huo Dou was losing he suddenly called out, "A gu si jin de er, mi ma ha si deng, qi er qi er hu!" The crowd didn't know what these Tibetan sentences were but Huo Dou knew, his master was reminding him not to defend so tightly, he needs to start using the "Ferocious Wind Rapid Thunder Skill" against the enemy, Huo Dou started to whistle, the fan on the right and his sleeve on the left created a strong gust of wind, rushing forwards to Zhu Ziliu.

The force of the wind was very strong, the crowd who were watching couldn't help but move backwards slowly, they heard him making thunderbolt like noises with his mouth, they all thought that apart from using weapons, fists and kicks, this "Ferocious Wind Rapid Thunder Skill" also uses the surprising calls of thunder to subdue and control the opponent; it is a very powerful technique. Zhu Ziliu's sleeve took flight, he carried himself proudly and matched him.

The two of them went back and forth for over a hundred moves, Zhu Ziliu had finished writing the 'Zi Yan Tie', the intention of his pen changed, his moves were slow and delayed, the pen strokes were fine and stiff, overflowing with ancient intent.

Huang Rong soliloquized, "There's an ancient saying: 'The fine and obstinate direction leads to the soul', this "Stone Carving of Commending the Wrong Path", never has there been such a display."

Huo Dou continued to use the "Ferocious Wind Rapid Thunder Skill" but because the opponent's strength was strong, the power in his fan increased as did the volume of his shouts and calls. The people who were watching the fight in the main hall could not stand still; step by step they retreated to the courtyard.

Huang Rong saw Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were sitting shoulder to shoulder by the pillar, they were only about ten feet away from the battle, deep in conversation, completely ignoring the battle. The wind that Huo Dou generated had completely no effect on them. She saw Xiao Longnu's belt floating in the wind but Xiao Longnu was unmoved, she just stared lovingly at Yang Guo. The longer that Huang Rong looked, the more curious she became, in the end, she was concentrating on these two more than the battle between Huo Dou and Zhu Ziliu, she thought, "That little girl looks like she possess advanced martial arts, Guo'er and she are so close, I wonder which eminent master is she a disciple of?"

Xiao Longnu was now twenty years old, she had lived in the ancient tomb all her life, avoiding the sunlight, her skin was especially soft and delicate, her internal energy was high, from her appearance, she looked like a sixteen or seventeen year old. Before Xiao Longnu met Yang Guo, experiencing happiness, anger, grief and joy was a rare thing for her. Emotions have the greatest harmful affect on the body and its appearance; and she had spent the last two years like a normal person. If she actually followed her master's teachings and practiced with a clear mind, not only could she meet her hundredth birthday, but when she reaches that age, her appearances would be the same as a normal fifty year old. Because of this, in Huang Rong's eyes, Xiao Longnu looked younger than Yang Guo, her childlike and innocent air was even more obvious than Guo Fu, no wonder Huang Rong thought that she was a little girl.

Now, Zhu Ziliu's pen was becoming unsightly, but its power was becoming stronger, the delivery of the pen was like a spider web, strong yet soft. Huo Dou was secretly alarmed; it was gradually becoming harder for him to grasp his kung fu.

Jinlun Fawang shouted, "Ma mi ba mi, gu si hei si." No one knew what those eight words meant but the words shook everyone's ears, leaving a ringing sound in them.

Zhu Ziliu was getting impatient, he thought, "If he changes his technique again, I don't know when this battle will end. I am fighting in Dali's name for the Song in this first round, I must not lose. Otherwise shame will be bought onto our nation and school." He suddenly changed his calligraphy style again, the pen didn't appear to be writing words, it now resembled a hatchet hacking into rocks.

Guo Fu managed to see what was happening and asked her mother, "Uncle Zhu is carving words?"

Huang Rong smiled and said, "My daughter is not stupid, the finger technique he's now following is the 'shi gu' script. This is the scriptwriting that one uses in the spring and autumn period; it's the characters that can be seen when one uses a hatchet to carve words on a stone drum. See whether you can recognize the words that Uncle Zhu is writing."

Guo Fu followed the pen but saw that every word he wrote was windy and twisty, all looking like a small painting, she didn't know one word. Huang Rong smiled and said, "That's an ancient style of calligraphy (used in Zhou dynasty c11 to 256BC), no wonder you wouldn't know any of them; even I can't recognize all of them."

Guo Fu clapped and said, "Naturally, it'll be even harder for that Mongolian idiot to recognize them. Mother, take a look at him, his head is full of sweat and his legs and arms are all over the place."

Indeed, Huo Dou could only recognize a word or two of this ancient style of calligraphy. Since he doesn't know what the opponent is writing, of course he will not be able predict where the pen will attack. It was now difficult for him to respond.

Zhu Ziliu kept on producing word after word of this ancient calligraphy, the characters were profound with an ancient air, and the power of the "Solitary Yang Finger" which the calligraphy style uses as a base also increased.

Huo Dou's fan waved out but he was a bit too slow to take it back, Zhu Ziliu's pen moved and scripted an ancient character on his fan. Huo Dou took a look and asked uncertainly, "Is that 'net'?"

Zhu Ziliu laughed and said, "Wrong, that is 'you'." He then wrote another character on his fan.

Huo Dou said, "Most probably that's 'moon' isn't it?"

Zhu Ziliu shook his head and said, "Wrong, that's 'hence'."

Huo Dou was discouraged, he shook his fan to shake off the pen tip and stop Zhu Ziliu from writing on his fan but he didn't predict that Zhu Ziliu would suddenly sent out a left palm to attack. Huo Dou sent out a palm to block this but this allowed Zhu Ziliu in and he wrote another two characters on his fan but because there wasn't much time, the characters were not written in the ancient calligraphy style but cursive calligraphy. Huo Dou recognized these characters and called out; “Barbarian!”

Zhu Ziliu laughed and said, “Correct, it is ‘You are hence a barbarian’.”

Everyone hated the Mongols for invading their country and killing their citizens, hate and anger was in their hearts; when they heard Zhu Ziliu insulting Huo Dou by saying ‘You are hence a barbarian’, they all cheered and shouted.

Huo Dou could not handle Zhu Ziliu’s “Solitary Yang Book Finger” with the cursive and ancient calligraphy, he was already afraid. When he heard the cheers and calls, he was even more disturbed. He saw Zhu Ziliu’s pen shaking and waving, writing three ancient characters in a row in midair, how could he think about trying to recognize these characters?

He could only force himself to fight on; he raised his fan to try to protect his vital points on his chest when suddenly he felt his knee go numb. His pressure point had been sealed by the opponent’s pen as it turned. Huo Dou’s knee felt numb and wanted to collapse, but he thought if he kneels, he would have no face. He took a deep breath and surged a current of chi towards the pressure point in his knee. He wanted to leap away and admit defeat when Zhu Ziliu’s pen came in like lightning, sealing his pressure point again. Zhu Ziliu used his pen to replace the finger, using the tip of the pen to make use of the “Solitary Yang Finger” technique, continuously attacking. Could Huo Dou defend against this? His knee became numb and he eventually knelt down onto the floor, his face was devoid of colour.

All the heroes cheered with thunderous noise. Guo Jing said to Huang Rong, “Your ingenious plan worked.” Huang Rong gave a slight smile.

The Wu brothers were watching from the side, when they saw the boundless changes of their Martial Uncle Zhu's "Solitary Yang Finger", they were both in awe, and were thinking, "Martial Uncle Zhu's internal energy is profound and strong, embedding itself into calligraphy, there are many ingenious and masterly aspects within it. I don't know when I will be able to reach such a stage."

One called out, "Brother!"

The other called, "Little brother!"

The both of them were thinking of the same thing and were about to say something in praise of their Martial Uncle's martial arts. Suddenly Zhu Ziliu called out, 'ah', they quickly turned their heads and saw that he had fallen.

Everyone was shocked at this sudden change of events. After Huo Dou had admitted defeat, Zhu Ziliu had come over to unseal his pressure point. The technique of sealing pressure points using the "Solitary Yang Finger" is completely different than conventional pressure point sealing; it is extremely difficult for others to unseal it so Zhu Ziliu went over to him and tapped his sides a few times, circulating his chi to unseal his pressure point. He couldn't have known that as soon as Huo Dou's pressure point was unsealed, there was an opportunity for Huo Dou to take advantage of him. He gave a grunt and before he stood up, he activated a booby trap in his fan; four poison nails flew out from the fan's spine, all of them hitting Zhu Ziliu in the body.

When skilled fighters duel, when a win or loss is declared, they cannot act again. Never mind that everyone was watching, who could have guessed that that he would suddenly launch an ambush? If Huo Dou had launched his projectiles in the middle of the duel, even though the booby trap was ingenious, he would not have succeeded in harming his opponent. When Zhu Ziliu was unsealing his pressure point, he was only an inch away from him. The weapon was activated close to the body, even if one's skills were higher, it would have been difficult to avoid this attack. The poison on the nails was produced from the snowy mountains of Western Tibet and is very lethal. As soon as Zhu Ziliu was struck with the nails, his body broke out in unbearable pain; it was difficult for him to stand up properly.

Everyone was shocked and angry, they were all pointing at Huo Dou, insulting and cursing him, saying that he was a brazen scoundrel and despicable.

Huo Dou laughed and said, "The 'Little Prince' has turned defeat into victory, what shame is there in that? Before we started, we did not forbid the use of projectiles. If that brother Zhu succeeded in using a projectile against me, I would have admitted defeat."

Though not everyone agreed with what he said, they did not have a reply to his words, but the insults and curses kept on coming.

Guo Jing dashed over and picked up Zhu Ziliu, he saw the four nails sticking out of his chest, his face looked strange. Guo Jing knew that the poison on the nails was extremely exotic, he quickly sealed three main pressure points to slow down the blood flow, the veins were completely sealed stopping the poison from reaching his heart. He asked Huang Rong, "What should we do?"

Huang Rong frowned without replying, she knew that if she wanted to cure this poison, the antidote must come personally from Jinlun Fawang or Huo Dou. For the time being, she paced back and forth without an idea.

When Diancang Yuyin saw that his apprentice brother was poisoned, he was worried and angry; he tucked in his gown, wanting to dash forward and fight Huo Dou.

Huang Rong was still thinking about the plan, she thought, "The opponent has already won a match, if Brother Fisherman goes, Da'erba will be the one who will be sent out to meet him, and we won't have a way to win." She quickly said, "Brother, please wait!"

Diancang Yuyin asked, "What for?"

Though Huang Rong was wise and clever, she couldn't give a reply, they had already lost the first match, and there will be some difficulty in the last two matches.

Huo Dou used a trick to beat Zhu Ziliu and he stood at the front of the hall pleased with himself, he took a look all around and felt that he was on top of the world. In the corner of his eye he saw Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo sitting shoulder to shoulder on a stone base, holding each other hands, engaged in conversation. They completely ignored his victory as if nothing had happened; he couldn't stop himself from getting angry and pointed his fan at Yang Guo, shouting out, "Bastard; get up!"

All of Yang Guo's attention was on Xiao Longnu, though the world is a big place, there was nothing that would distract him. Because of this, the heated battle between Huo Dou and Zhu Ziliu was nothing to him; he didn't see or hear it.

In the years he lived with Xiao Longnu in the tomb, he didn't know that he had etched Xiao Longnu deep into his heart and soul, in life or death. That day when Xiao Longnu said she wanted to be his wife, it was such a sudden event, he had never thought about this before and, startled, he could not think of a reply. After Xiao Longnu had disappeared, he repeated in his heart hundreds of times, "I want her, I want her. Even if I die immediately, I want Gu Gu to be my wife."

The love between he and Xiao Longnu bloomed unconsciously, after they departed, the love kept on flourishing without stop. Yang Guo wasn't afraid of anything, Xiao Longnu was blind to the world and its ways, they just knew that if they desired to love, they loved, if they desired happiness, then they'd get happiness, what had it to do with other people? One didn't care and the other didn't understand, in the midst of a thousand people in the middle of a heated battle, the two of them were holding hands talking to each other, wrapped in love.

When Huo Dou cursed him, Yang Guo was still oblivious of him. Huo Dou wanted to curse him further when Jinlun Fawang ordered, "Our side has won the first round, and we can now proceed onto the second round."

Huo Dou glanced at Yang Guo with hate and then returned to his table and said clearly, "We have won the first round, my apprentice brother Da'erba will fight in the second round, which hero from the other side will come out to meet him?"

Da'erba took out a weapon from his Buddhist robe and went to the middle of the hall. When everyone saw his weapon, they were all shocked; it was a long coarse golden rod. The "Golden Demon Subduing Rod" was around four feet long, the ends of the rod were thick and rough, and the body of the rod glittered with a golden light. It appeared that the weapon was made out of pure gold; it was a lot heavier than an identical rod made out of steel.

He went to the middle of the hall and bowed to the heroes, and then threw his metal rod up in the air. The golden rod fell down and with a crash sound; two of the large jade flower bowls on the floor were smashed. The rod buried itself one foot into the floor. This was meant as a warning; he was a shriveled and skinny monk but he had the ability to use such a weapon, indicating the level of martial arts he had.

Huang Rong thought, "Brother Jing can subdue this rude monk but Fawang will fight in the third round, then our side will have no one to fight him, the match will be over. This is unspeakable; I'll go and force myself to fight using masterly kung fu to battle him." She raised the Dog Beating Stick and said, "I'll go!"

Guo Jing was extremely shocked and quickly said, "You can't...you can't. Your body is not well, how can you fight?"

Huang Rong felt that there was no other way to achieve victory, if they lost this round then there will be no need for the third round. Just as she was hesitating, Diancang Yuyin called out, "Chief Huang, allow me to fight that evil monk." When he saw the condition that his apprentice brother was in after contracting the poison, his heart was burning and he wanted to take revenge. Huang Rong had no other good ideas, she thought, "We can only struggle on, if he beats the monk, brother Jing will fight Jinlun Fawang to settle this." So she said, "Please be careful apprentice brother."

The Wu brothers took the pair of metal oars that their Marshal Uncle used to him. Diancang Yuyin held them under his arms and went to the middle of the hall. His eyes were red with fury as he circled Da'erba. Da'erba didn't know what it was about, when he saw him walking around him, he turned with to him. Diancang Yuyin suddenly called out, his oars waved out as he hacked down towards his head. Da'erba's movements were extremely fast; he quickly picked up his Golden Subduing Rod and raised it up in response. The rod and oars met, the clashing sound rang in everyone's ears. Both of them felt a slight pain and both knew their opponent's power was strong, and then they both leapt backwards. Da'erba said a sentence in Tibetan while Diancang Yuyin insulted him in a Dali dialect. Though the two didn't understand the other, they suddenly came close to each other again, the oars and rod came out at the same time, another clashing sound of gold and metal colliding was heard.

This battle was completely different to the graceful and civil fight between Huo Dou and Zhu Ziliu. The two of them fought like copper versus iron, brute force against brute force, the two of them fought with advanced external hard kung fu. The oars and rod created gusts of wind; the onlookers were shocked and astonished.

Diancang Yuyin's natural strength was already high; when he was serving Reverend Yideng he lived in secret in Xiangxi, he used his irons oars to row upstream against the current everyday, his arms became like steel. He is the first disciple of Reverend Yideng and was under his teaching for the longest time. Because he was simple and crass, Reverend Yideng had always treated him with care and love. His natural ability was lacking, his internal energy couldn't compare with Zhu Ziliu's. However, his external hard skills were extremely powerful. Right now, the two were competing with their external hard skills, his strong point; his oars flew up and down as he attacked. Each metal oar was about fifty kilos (110+ lbs) but he lifted them up as if they were light, he was as fluid as normal people with sabers or swords that weighed a few kilos.

Da'erba has always thought shi natural strength was unbeatable; he couldn't have guessed that he would meet a man with such divine strength in the central plains. Not only was the opponent's strength high, his stances were also profound, he needed all his efforts to use his golden rod. The rod attacked the oars, the oars attacked the rod; the two of them attacking more than defending.

When Zhu Ziliu and Huo Dou were fighting, the people who were watching were forced backwards because of the great gusts of the winds they generated. Now, three extremely heavy weapons were clashing; along with resisting the wind generated by the weapons, the loud noises created by the clashing of the weapons was also extremely hard to endure. Most of them covered their ears as they watched.

Under the candlelight, the golden rod glittered, the two steel oars were like two streaks of black, the weapons swirled and tangled with each other; the fight was becoming more and more spectacular.

The crowd had never seen such a battle in their lives. Of course there had been even more dangerous and perilous situations, but when skilled fighters compete with internal energy one with another; the effects are on the inside. From the outside, it looks very ordinary. When it came to the stances and the countering techniques of weapons and fists, it had ingenious and refined aspects but it couldn't compare with the ferocious aspects of the stances. It is extremely rare to see someone with Diancang Yuyin's kind of divine strength, but it is even rarer to see two people with the same kind of divine strength engaged in such a heated battle as this one.

Guo Jing and Huang Rong watched with sweating palms. Guo Jing said, "Rong'er, do you think our side will win?"

Huang Rong said, "I can't make it out right now."

In reality, how would Guo Jing not know what was happening in the battle, but he hoped that his wife would say 'Yuyin can win' so his heart could be comforted.

Tens of moves passed but their energy didn't decrease; instead it became even more vigorous. Diancang Yuyin called out as he attacked with his oars to increase his clout.

Da'erba asked, "What did you say?" He spoke in Tibetan, how would Diancang Yuyin understand?

He too called out, "What did you say?" Da'erba didn't understand either.

The two of them assumed that they were insulting each other, they fought fiercely, the chairs and tables in the hall flew up. The crowd was worried that the one of them would lose concentration and hit one of the pillars in the hall, causing the hall to collapse.

Jinlun Fawang and Huo Duo were both secretly alarmed, if this battle continued on for much longer, even if Da'erba gains victory, he will be severely injured. But how could the fight stop with the two battling so heatedly?

The two of them leapt and jumped around, calling out as they fought violently, the yellow glow and dark trail forced the candlelight to darken; suddenly, a ferocious heaven shattering noise was heard, the two of them called out and leapt away at the same time.

When the oar in Yuyin's right hand collided with the golden rod, the two of them were using all their strength, the handle of the oar was narrow and not as firm as the golden rod, hence, the oar snapped in half. The blade part flew away and a 'dang' sound was heard as it dropped in front of Xiao Longnu.

Xiao Longnu was completely absorbed in conversation with Yang Guo, she was unaware and the oar blade part struck her on the toes of the left foot. She gave out a cry of 'ai ya' and leapt up. When she called out in pain, Yang Guo was alarmed and quickly asked, "Are you hurt?" Xiao Longnu rubbed her toes, the wincing at the pain that could be seen on her face.

Yang Guo was furious; he turned around to look for the person who used the metal slab to hurt his Gu Gu. He saw Diancang Yuyin holding the handle of the broken oar in his right hand and was disagreeing with Da'erba; he wanted to use his single oar to fight him. Da'erba shook his head; he knew that the enemy's strength and stamina compared to his was six of one and half a dozen to the other. If they continued, it would be difficult to get a result, since now he has the advantage in weaponry; the winner of this round is himself.

Huo Dou stood up tall and said clearly, "We have won two rounds out of the three; the position of the Chancellor belongs to my master, everyone..."

Before he finished, Yang Guo said to Yuyin, "How did your steel oar break, how did it fly over and hit my Gu Gu?"

Yuyin said, "I... I..."

Yang Guo said, "Your steel oar is poorly made, quickly go and apologize to my Gu Gu." Diancang Yuyin saw that he was a little boy and didn't pay him any attention. Yang Guo suddenly stretched out his arm and snatched the broken handle out of his hand and called out, "Quickly go and say sorry to my Gu Gu."

Huo Dou was interrupted by him and was furious, he shouted, "Little bastard! Get out of the way!"

Yang Guo called out, "Little bastard is insulting who?"

When Huo Dou heard him say ‘Little bastard is insulting who’ he replied without much thought, “Little bastard is insulting you!” How would he know that boys from the south had always talked in this manner to argue, he wasn’t concentrating and fell into the trap.

Yang Guo laughed out loud and said, “Correct, it is a little bastard who’s insulting me!”

Everyone in the main hall was very worried and anxious, but after hearing this young man’s sudden comment, everyone broke out in laughter. Huo Dou was furious; he took out his folded fan and attacked Yang Guo’s head.

Everyone had just seen Huo Dou in action and knew that his martial arts were terrific, if the fan lands on Yang Guo’s head, if he didn’t die, he would be severely injured, they all called out, “Hold it!” “You can’t bully someone younger.”

Guo Jing darted out and was about to snatch the fan away when Yang Guo ducked down and darted underneath Huo Dou’s arm. The handle of the oar swirled round; Yang Guo used the “Dog Beating Stick Technique’s” ‘coil’ formulae and tripped up Huo Dou’s legs. Huo Dou could not stand up properly; he stumbled and almost fell onto the floor. Huo Dou was highly skilled, he changed the stumbling force into a leaping force, he leapt into the air and came down steady.

Guo Jing was startled, he asked, “Guo’er, what’s the matter?”

Yang Guo laughed and said, “Nothing. He doesn’t respect Hong Qigong’s “Dog Beating Stick Technique”. I wanted to use the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” to trip him up; it’s a pity that he managed to jump away.”

Guo Jing was surprised and asked, “How do you know this technique?”

Yang Guo lied and said, "Just now when Chief Lu fought him; I learned a few stances after watching him."

Guo Jing knew that he wasn't the sharpest tool in the box, he knew that there are a lot of people who were cleverer than him, and he believed what Yang Guo said without any doubts.

Huo Dou assumed that it was his fault for being careless and this allowed Yang Guo to make him stumble; how would he know that a teenager like Yang Guo would possess such great martial arts? The most serious matter now is fighting for the position of the Chancellor of Wulin, it won't be too late if he first completes the serious task and then punishes the punk. So he took a large step towards Guo Jing and said, "Hero Guo, it is we who are the victors in today's duel, my master Jinlun Fawang is the Chancellor of Wulin. If there is anyone who doesn't agree with this..."

Before he finished, Yang Guo sneaked up behind him, he sent the oar handle forward and used the "Dog Beating Stick Technique's" fourth stance of the 'poke' formulae, suddenly poking Huo Dou's backside. With Huo Dou's abilities, how would he not know when someone was sneaking up behind to ambush him? However, the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" is extremely ingenious and masterly; though he realized what was happening, his sudden dodge was not perfect and there was still a chance to hit him. A 'pu' sound was heard as he was hit in the backside. Even though his internal energy was profound, the buttocks are an area of the body with a lot of flesh, the attack was very painful, and was coupled with the shock of getting hit. He thought that he would definitely avoid this attack but the attack managed to get him, and he couldn't stop himself from giving out a 'ah' call.

Yang Guo shouted, "What was that? I don't agree to this!"

In a flash the hall was filled with laughter. The heroes all thought not only is this teenager naughty, he was extremely bold, the Mongolian Prince was twice undone by him.

Now that it has reached this point, how could Huo Dou not be angry? He turned his hand and wanted to smack him across the face to vent his anger before doing anything else. This was a casual palm but the force behind the palm is derived from the main theories from the school of Tibet. This palm was meant to knock the young man unconscious.

Guo Jing knew that this palm was powerful, he stretched out his left arm and hooked it up, grabbing Huo Dou's palm. Guo Jing said, "How can you mess around with a little kid?"

When Huo Dou's arm was grabbed, he felt half his body going numb, he couldn't stop his shock and anger from rising.

Yang Guo took the opportunity and swept the oar handle across, striking him heavily across the backside, he called out, "Disobedient bastard, father's going to spank you!"

Guo Jing shouted, "Guo'er, get back, don't make trouble." But the crowd all laughed.

The Mongolian warriors on the other side were all calling out, "Two versus one?" "You don't want face!" "Does that count as dueling?"

Guo Jing was startled, and released Huo Dou's hand.

Huang Rong saw Yang Guo's trip and poke that he just used were definitely the stances of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique"; she was very suspicious. "Where did he steal this technique from? Could it be that in the past few months that I've been teaching Lu Youjiao, he has been spying on us? But each time I start teaching, I've searched around, how could he hide from me?" She called out, "Brother Jing, come back."

Guo Jing returned to this wife's side but he was worried that Yang Guo would suffer, his eyes did not leave the two people in the middle of the hall. He saw Huo Dou sending out palms and kicks, attacking Yang Guo.

Yang Guo was dodging and calling out at the same time, "I'm going to spank you, spank you!" The oar handle kept on attacking Huo Dou's backside, but Huo Dou's movements were quick, each hit met thin air. Huo Dou wanted to use his folded fan to hit Yang Guo on his head, but Yang Guo kept on using the oar handle to hit his backside. The two were chasing and rushing around; the two of them circled the hall very rapidly but neither of them could hit each other. At first, the onlookers just felt something weird was going on, but when they saw the two of them circling around the hall, they were extremely shocked. Though Yang Guo is of a young age, his footsteps were light and his movements were swift and nimble, there was no difference between him and Huo Dou. Huo Dou attacked him a few times but each time, Yang Guo managed to escape cleverly.

Dianchang Yuyin and Da'erba were originally arguing about their weapons and staring angrily at each other. One would want to dash forward and fight again; the other was completely prepared in case the opponent suddenly attacked. When they saw that Huo Dou couldn't handle such a young man, they both were extremely surprised; one of them opened his mouth and laughed loudly, the other shouted out insults in Tibetan.

In the blink of an eye, Huo Dou and Yang Guo had circled around the hall three times; Huo Dou could see that his opponent's lightness kung fu was terrific, if he continued to follow and chase him like this, he might lose. He suddenly turned around, his left palm came out in front of him to grab the oar handle, the fan in his right hand came out to seal the 'Looping Jump' pressure point of the side of his leg.

However Yang Guo did not want to meet him face on, he swerved his body around the fan and kept on hitting out with the oar handle, calling out, "Father wants to spank you! A day doesn't go past without three spanks, I have spanked you twice, there's one more!" To use such a method to ridicule your opponent in battle without danger, your kung fu must be a lot better than the opponent's in all areas. Although Yang Guo had learned many advanced martial arts, his kung fu still could not compare with Huo Dou's; acting like this would definitely result in trouble. However, the crowd was watching with passion, they all cheered, called out, and they applauded to urge him on.

When Huo Dou heard this, his mind was disturbed; if his backside is struck once more by this child in front of these people, even if he killed this boy, he still will have lost a lot of face. Because of this he concentrated on dodging and evading and forgot about attacking; Yang Guo was able to avoid danger for now.

By now, Huang Rong could tell that an eminent master had instructed Yang Guo, his kung fu really was terrific. She also remembered the day when he passed on his internal energy to her to help her recuperate; the internal energy he had developed was not ordinary. She thought that by allowing him to stir up trouble for a while, attention had actually been drawn away from the two defeats, so she called out, "Guo'er, go and fight him, I don't think he's your match."

Yang Guo stuck his tongue out at Huo Dou and said, "Do you dare?" He stood still and pointed to his nose.

Although Huo Dou was furious, he couldn't allow a little thing like this get in the way of the mission. Their side had now won two rounds; they have taken the position of Chancellor of Wulin. Why should he get involved with a little kid? He said, "Little bastard, I'll take my time in teaching you a lesson. Right now, the Chancellor of Wulin Jinlun Fawang will say a few words, everyone listen to his orders."

All the heroes made a hue and cry, disagreeing, clamoring and shouting.

Huo Dou said loudly, "We agreed before hand, two wins out of three. Doesn't your word count?"

All these heroes are famous people of the Jianghu world, they all knew what his words meant, he wanted them to go back on their words, this would never happen; but they had lost the last two rounds in a unjust way. The first round they lost due to an ambush, in the second, only the weapon was broken, they haven't really lost that round yet, and it was difficult for them to accept that justice was done. When Huo Dou asked them this question, they didn't have a reply.

Yang Guo said, "Look at that old monk, look how tall and skinny he is, he looks weird, how can he be the Chancellor of Wulin? I don't think he's worthy."

Huo Dou angrily said, "Who's the Master of this child? Take a control of him. If he continues to cause trouble, I won't hold back."

Yang Guo said, "My Master is worthy to take the position of the Chancellor of Wulin, what skill does your master have?"

Huo Dou said, "Who is your Master? Please invite them out." He saw Yang Guo's martial arts weren't ordinary; he assumed that his master must be a skilled fighter so he used the word 'please' in his sentence."

Yang Guo said, "Today, the disciples are representing their masters to fight for the position of Chancellor of Wulin, isn't that it?"

Huo Dou said, "Correct, our side has won two of the three rounds, because of this, my Master is the Chancellor of Wulin."

Yang Guo said, "Fine, even if you beat them all, so what? You won't be able to beat my Master's disciple."

Huo Dou asked, "Who is you Master's disciple?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Donkey! My Master's disciple is of course me." The crowd listened to his words with amusement and broke out in laughter. Yang Guo said, "We'll compete for another three rounds, if you can win two rounds out of the three, I'll recognize that monk as the Chancellor of Wulin. If I win two rounds, then sorry, the position of the Chancellor of Wulin goes to my Master."

When the crowd heard him say this, they all thought, "Could it be that this boy's master is some eminent master, and has come here to challenge the position of Chancellor of Wulin with Hong Qigong and Jinlun Fawang? They didn't care who the master of this boy was; at least they are Han. The young man cannot beat Huo Dou; however victory to the Mongols will allow them to take the position of Chancellor. Our side has already been defeated, a new complication might bring about a reversal of fortunes so they all said, "Correct, I agree, only if you Mongols gain another two victories." "That young brother is correct." "The central plains have many great fighters, you were lucky in gaining those two rounds. Who cares about that?"

Huo Dou pondered, "The opponent's two strongest fighters have already lost, what's there to be afraid of in fighting two more rounds? I'm only afraid that after two comes another two.” He said to Yang Guo, “Your Master has a right to challenge for the position of the Chancellor of Wulin, however, there are thousands and thousands of heroes in this world, after one round comes another, when will it stop?”

Yang Guo raised his head and said, “My Master doesn’t care about who takes the place of the Chancellor of Wulin, but when she saw your Master, her anger flared up.”

Huo Dou said, “Who is your Master? Where is Senior?”

Yang Guo laughed and said, “Senior is in front of your eyes. Hey, Gu Gu, he asks how Senior is.” Xiao Longnu gave an ‘en’ sound and nodded to Huo Dou.

Everyone was startled at first but then burst out in laughter. They saw that Xiao Longnu was beautiful, she was younger than Yang Guo; how could she be his master? The young man must be joking, trying to make a fool out of Huo Dou. Only Hao Datong, Sun Bu’Er, Zhao Zhijing and Yin Zhiping knew that he was telling the truth.

Though Huang Rong was intelligent and wise, she could not believe such a pretty, delicate, young girl could be his master.

Huo Duo was furious, he shouted, “Little bastard is talking crap! There are many important matters to be resolved today at this heroes gathering, how can I allow you to make trouble here? Crawl away.”

Yang Guo said, “Your Master is ugly and dark, his words are gibberish, it is extremely hard on the ears. Look at how beautiful my master is, graceful and elegant; if she is the Chancellor of Wulin, won’t that be a lot better than your ugly monk Master?” When Xiao Longnu heard Yang Guo praising her beauty, she was delighted, she revealed a smile, it really was like a flower blooming, a halo of beautiful jade, unparalleled elegance.

The crowd saw that Yang Guo was becoming more and more daring in his attempt to make a fool of his opponent, they felt great delight; a few experienced people were secretly worried that Huo Dou would take his life.

Indeed, Huo Dou could no longer take it and called out, "All the world's heroes, please can I have your attention; when the young Prince kills this little punk, he will only have himself to blame, it is not my fault." His folded fan moved, he was about to attack Yang Guo's head.

Yang Guo impersonated his voice and stuck out his chest, he called out, "All the world's heroes, please can I have your attention, when the little punk kills this Prince, he will only have himself to blame, it is not the fault of the little punk!" In the midst of the laughter, he suddenly swept the oar handle towards Huo Dou's backside.

Huo Dou moved out of the way and sent his fan out along with a lightning left palm, straight towards his head. The fan was a decoy, the palm was not; all his strength was behind that palm, his intention was to split open Yang Guo's head in one stroke. Yang Guo slanted his body and moved away, along the way, he pushed out a table towards him, a 'ge' sound was heard as Huo Dou's palm landed on the table; splinters flew everywhere as the table was split in half.

The onlookers gulped as they saw Huo Dou's frightening strength.

Huo Dou kicked the table out of the way and immediately afterward followed it up with another attack. Yang Guo saw that his palm was ruthless and didn't dare to take it easy anymore; he used the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" with the oar handle to fight him. Hong Qigong personally taught him the stances of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” that day on the peak of Mount Hua. He had performed the technique’s most ingenious and masterly aspects for Ouyang Feng; he had now also heard the formulae and changes of the technique from Huang Rong when she was teaching Lu Youjiao. When the two aspects were combined, he was able to use the technique properly. But the oar handle was too heavy and too short, it wasn’t very convenient, after another ten moves, the oar handle was trapped to one side by Huo Dou’s fan.

Huang Rong saw that he really was using the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, though the stances weren’t smooth and not fully utilized. When he used it, the techniques he used looked proper and like the real thing, she knew that his weapon wasn’t convenient for him so she went into the middle of the hall and stuck the stick in between the two and said, “Guo’er, to beat dogs you need the Dog Beating Stick. You can borrow Chief Lu’s Dog Beating Stick. After you’ve finished beating the evil dog, return the stick.”

The Dog Beating Stick is the property of the Beggar Clan’s Chief; it had to be clear that it was being borrowed.

Yang Guo was delighted and received the stick. Huang Rong whispered into his ear, “Force him to give up the antidote.” As soon as she said this she returned to her place.

Yang Guo had not paid any attention to Zhu Ziliu falling victim to a concealed weapon; he didn’t know what antidote she was talking about and was slightly startled; Huo Dou’s palm chopped down. Yang Guo raised the Dog Beating Stick and pointed towards Huo Dou’s belly. The bamboo stick was strong and sturdy, the length and weight was perfect; using the Dog Beating Stick to perform the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” can only result in an increase of power. Huo Dou had sent out a palm that was chopping across his neck when he saw the bamboo stick come out, it was aiming for the ‘Sealed First’ pressure point three inches below his navel. This was an important pressure point to the movement of the veins; this little punk’s ability in recognizing pressure points was so precise that Huo Dou couldn’t help being shocked.

As he had tangled with Yang Guo, he thought that Yang Guo was just a nimble young man who had been advised by a great master; after he saw this stance of piercing towards his pressure point, he began to treat him as an opponent who could match him. He didn’t dare to take it easy; he returned his palm and used his fan to protect his chest. The onlookers saw that he had changed his stance into defense showing that he was worried about Yang Guo, they were even more surprised.

Yang Guo said, “Wait, this little punk does not fight for no reason, there has to be a wager.”

Huo Dou said, “Fine, if you lose, kowtow to me three times and call me Grandfather three times.”

Yang Guo again used a trick that children from Jiang Nan used to take advantage of others, he pretended he didn’t hear and asked, “Call what?”

Using this trick makes it very easy for the other person to fall into the trap. Huo Dou had grown up in Mongolia and Tibet and had always been surrounded by honest people, how would he understand the craftiness of Jiang Nan kids, so he casually replied, “Call grandfather!”

Yang Guo responded, “En, good Grandson; say it one more time.”

The crowd broke out into laughter again and Huo Dou knew that he had again fallen for a trick; he clenched his teeth, with the fan in his right hand and his left palm, he attacked like a violent storm.

Yang Guo used all his strength to repel him and said, "If you lose, you need to give the antidote to me."

Huo Dou angrily said, "I'll lose to you? Stop daydreaming bastard!"

Yang Guo raised the bamboo stick and shouted, "Little bastard is scolding who?"

Huo Dou said, "Little bastard is scolding..." As he got up to this part, he suddenly became aware; at least he managed to rein back the horse from the cliff, the last word 'you' was held back.

Yang Guo laughed and said, "Little Prince, I've taught you a few things, remember it." Though his words were said easily, it was becoming more and more difficult for his hands to cope.

Huo Dou is Jinlun Fawang's proudest disciple, he had received the important aspects of the Tibetan school, and he was able to exchange almost a thousand stances with Reverend Yideng's strongest disciple. His internal energy was profound; he and Yang Guo should not be mentioned in the same breath.

At first, Yang Guo was able to get an advantage by making him angry; Huo Dou had not fought with his full strength, now he really was fighting. After twenty moves or so, the comparison between he and Yang Guo was clear; Yang Guo was definitely inferior. The crowd saw that he was of a young age yet he managed to last so long against Huo Dou, they all praised him and said, "This child is amazing." They all asked each other whose tutelage is this young man under.

Huo Dou saw that his opponent was weaker than him and sent out stronger and stronger palms. The “Dog Beating Stick Technique” that Yang Guo was using is ingenious and inspired, Huo Dou’s fan and palm techniques could not match it; but all Hong Qigong taught him was the stances, he had heard the formulae and principles from Huang Rong. He was clever and managed to force himself to combine the two and use it, but it was impossible for him to understand and comprehend everything immediately, so of course the power of the technique cannot be fully utilized. After a while, Yang Guo was dodging and flashing around, but it was difficult for him to attack.

Ever since the first fight started, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers had been watching intently, quietly talking to each other. When Yang Guo came out and started to fight, they were shocked and surprised. The Wu brothers said that he was rash and impudent, he’s just asking for trouble, Guo Fu was on the opposite side, she praised Yang Guo, saying that he was daring and ardent. When the Wu brothers heard this, their hearts ached with an uncomfortable feeling. When the two brothers first saw the closeness between Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo when she first arrived, the two of them glanced at each other and were able to relax. When they heard Yang Guo say that she was his master, though they didn’t know whether this was true or not, their hearts sank. Now, they saw that Yang Guo was forced onto his back foot (as sign that he is losing) by Huo Dou, the two brothers knew that they shouldn’t wish that the enemy would win, but deep in their hearts, they hoped that the more he suffers the better. Because of the trouble in their hearts, the two experienced many different emotions in the blink of eye.

Guo Fu didn't have any good feelings towards Yang Guo but she didn't loathe him either; she just treated him as a down on his luck, incapable person. He was insignificant, but when she heard her father wanted to betroth her to him, she was angry. But she still thought that this would never happen so she didn't take it to mind. Later on, she saw that his martial arts were anything but ordinary, she was just surprised and nothing more; yet when she saw that he was in danger, she couldn't stop herself from worrying about him.

Yang Guo knew that if this continued, within ten moves he would succumb to his opponent. He had glanced over and saw that although Xiao Longnu was still sitting on the stone base, her back was no longer leaning against the pillar. She was paying close attention, at any moment she would leap out and help him. He had an idea; he suddenly waved the stick and flew across, leaping over Xiao Longnu's legs.

Huo Dou shouted, "Where are you going?" He followed after him.

Xiao Longnu's legs raised slightly, the tip of her left foot aimed towards Huo Dou's 'Descendant's Arrangement' pressure point on his right ankle, the tip of her right foot kicked towards his left foot's 'Surging Spring' pressure point.

At least Huo Duo's skills were profound and refined, he saw what was happening, there was a nimble change, Xiao Longnu's legs had risen a little, and the bystanders didn't think anything of it. He himself knew that Xiao Longnu had used a lethal attack, in the midst of this he used a stance of "The Mandarin Duck's Looping Kick"; his legs kicked thin air in a loop and avoided the motionless pressure point kick by Xiao Longnu.

When Yang Guo went by Xiao Longnu's legs, he knew what was going to happen; he didn't wait for his opponent to fall to the ground and attacked with his Dog Beating Stick.

Huo Dou stretched out his fan and supported it against the stick and used the force to move faraway from Xiao Longnu. He couldn't stop himself from glancing over at her, thinking, "Indeed there are many able people in the central plains, that boy and girl are still in their teens, how come they are so good?"

With the advantage of an extra stance, Yang Guo kept on attacking with the stick technique, he used three critical stances in a row, and Huo Dou was scrambling about, using all his strength to repel the attack. However, Yang Guo did not have an ingenious fourth attack to continue the chain, he slowed down momentarily and allowed Huo Dou to counterattack, and was on the receiving end again.

The onlookers did not understand the stick technique and it went by them, Huang Rong however kept on calling out "What a pity" in secret, she couldn't hold in her thoughts and said, "The stick returns across the ground under the clever hand, striking the twin dogs without return." This was one of the formulae of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", though Yang Guo knew the stances and formulae, he didn't know when to use them; when he heard Huang Rong recite this, he immediately brushed the stick across the ground and attacked forward without returning.

The direction and force of this stick was weird, though he used it, he didn't know what use it had. How could it be that as soon as the stick attacked forward, it happened just at the same time as the opponent raised his fan? Huo Dou had not finished using this stance but knew something was wrong, he hurriedly jumped up and moved away.

Huang Rong continued, "When the dog leaps over the wall how can it be beaten? Quickly hit its backside and chop its tail." This stick technique had been passed from generation to generation in the Beggar Clan. Beggars aren't the most elegant and cultured, the words of course would be vulgar.

The bystanders thought that Huang Rong was ridiculing him by calling him a dog; they didn't know that she was giving martial arts advice to Yang Guo. Though the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" wasn't taught to anyone other than the chief; but firstly, Yang Guo had already learned it, and secondly, this match was extremely important, victory was needed. Huang Rong couldn't care about the clan's rules anymore, when she saw the two of them advancing and retreating, attacking and defending, she kept on calling out pieces of advice.

Every phrase she called out was ingenious and what was needed, and along with Yang Guo's intelligence, he was able to unleash the stances power. After he gained the upper hand many times, he didn't wait for Huang Rong to finish the line before he continued, he just needed the first few words and was immediately able to use right technique. The power of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" was indeed strong, even with Huo Dou's level of martial arts, a bamboo stick was able to run circles around him, and he had no chance to attack. Everyone saw that after a few more moves, the skilled Prince of the other nation would lose. The heroes' surprise and delight rose. The hall was filled with cheers.

Huo Dou quickly unleashed two stances with his fan forcing Yang Guo away a few steps and then called out, "Hold it!"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "What? My Grandson admits defeat?"

Huo Dou's face was angry and said firmly; "You said you are challenging for the position of Chancellor for your master, why are you using the martial arts of Hong Qigong? If you say you are representing Hong Qigong, we've just had two rounds. Are you people trying to cause confusion, deny it or not?"

Huang Rong didn't think wrongly, these words were difficult to refute, she was about to argue with him when Yang Guo interrupted, "This time you are speaking like a person, indeed this stick technique is not my Master's, even if I beat you, you won't take it. If you want to test out my skills, it's not hard. Just know I used another sect's kung fu because I was afraid that when I unleash my own sect's kung fu, you'd lose even more tragically." When he heard Huo Dou's words, he looked over towards Xiao Longnu and realized something, "Luckily that Prince woke me up. If I use the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" to beat him, how will I be able to show off Gu Gu's abilities? How could Gu Gu not be offended if I've forgotten her great kindness in teaching me martial arts?" In reality, Xiao Longnu was really innocent and naïve, her heart was filled with love and passion for Yang Guo. As long as she could see him, she was fulfilled; she didn't care about anything else. If he wins that's great, if he loses there's no harm, it doesn't matter. And when it comes to whether he uses their sect's kung fu or not, or whether he'd listen to Huang Rong's advice, she didn't take any of that to heart.

Huo Dou thought, "If you don't use the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", how hard will it be to take your life?" So he chuckled and said, "Fine, I'll experience your Master's great stances."

The most refined techniques that Yang Guo had learned under Xiao Longnu were swordplay, so he faced the crowd and said, "Please can I borrow one of you Senior's sword."

Within the two thousand or so people in the hall, three hundred of them carried a sword, when they heard Yang Guo's request, they all agreed and offered their swords.

Before Hao Datong and Sun Bu'Er entered the tutelage of Wang Chongyang, they were patriotic people; after they were nurtured by Wang Chongyang; their desire to repel the barbarian invaders was even stronger.

They were of course angry with Yang Guo, who expelled himself from the Quanzhen sect, but now when they saw that he was helping China to fend off the enemy, they flung their sect's feud with him to one side.

Sun Bu'Er was the weakest of the Quanzhen Seven Masters, before Wang Chongyang died, he gave her Quanzhen's sharpest and most precious sword to help compensate for her weak kung fu. She saw that Yang Guo was requesting a sword to fight off the enemy so she dashed forward to the front, her hands holding a glittering, precious sword and said, "Use this sword!"

Yang Guo saw that the sword was like a clear autumn river, he knew that it was a weapon which could cut through gold and jade, if he used it to fight Huo Dou, he would definitely be able to gain some advantage. But as soon as he saw the Taoist gown that Sun Bu'Er was wearing, he immediately thought about the suffering that he had in Quanzhen, and also remembered how Grandma Sun died under the palm of Hao Datong. He rolled his eyes and didn't take the sword, he instead turned around and borrowed a dark and rusted iron sword from a Beggar Clan member and said, "I'll borrow this brother's sword." He left Sun Bu'Er standing there like a corpse; she couldn't advance forward or go back. Though she practiced Taoism, it is hard to cleanse the fiery nature of martial artist; this young man dared to throw back her good intentions of lending her sword, she couldn't stop herself from getting angry. She wanted to scold and curse him but the enemy was here, it wasn't convenient to start another argument, she forced herself to endure her anger and returned to the crowd.

Yang Guo's character was too determined and stubborn, he loved and hated in the extreme; originally he would have taken this opportunity to repair some of the damage between him and Quanzhen, but his reaction deepened the hatred between the two sides.

When Huo Dou saw that Yang Guo didn't take the precious sword but chose a rusty iron sword instead, he was worried. When one reaches an extremely high level in martial arts, flowers and leaves can be used to harm people, not needing the sharpness of weaponry. He pondered about the opponent taking such a blunt sword, was he really that strong? He opened his fan and fluttered it twice; he was about to open his mouth to signal the start of the battle.

Yang Guo's sword pointed to the four words written by Zhu Ziliu on his fan, he laughed and said, "You are hence a barbarian, everyone knows that, there's no need to spread it everywhere."

Huo Dou's face went red, a 'pai' sound was heard as the fan close and became a short stick, he pointed the fan towards Yang Guo's 'Shoulder Well' pressure point, his left palm came chopping out with the force of a strong wind, ruthless and swift. Yang Guo's iron sword moved as he used the "Jade Maiden Sword Technique" in response.

Years ago when Lin Chaoying studied bitterly in the stone tomb, she didn't leave the tomb again after she developed the "Jade Heart Manual" kung fu. She passed this skill onto her maid, who imparted it to Xiao Longnu who in turn passed it onto Yang Guo. Not only did the maid not take a step into the world of Wulin, she never took a step off Mount Zhongnan. Though Li Mochou is Xiao Longnu's senior apprentice sister, she was not taught the advanced and profound sword techniques of her master. She gained fame throughout the Jianghu world through the use of her projectiles, fly whisk and palm techniques. Right now, he used the Ancient Tomb sect's sword techniques, many skilled fighters from various schools and sects were amassed in the hall today, but apart from Xiao Longnu, no one knew this sword technique.

The martial arts of the Ancient Tomb sect was developed by a woman, the next two generations were also women, it was unavoidable that the martial arts developed too much lightness and softness, and there wasn't enough power and fierceness. When Xiao Longnu taught him these stances, the stances carried thirty percent of this gracefulness and elegance. After he understood it completely, automatically he removed the femininity from the stances and turned its nature into a swift, at ease and airy style. The Ancient Tomb's lightness kung fu is unparalleled; Yang Guo was now moving around the main hall, before a stance was finished, a second stance arrived.

When the sword stances were first unleashed, the body was on the left, when the stances were repelling the enemy the body had turned to the right, it was as if the sword and user were completely separated. The two of them had nothing to do with each other; he only used around ten stances of this sword technique. Everyone was startled and watched in admiration. Huo Dou's fan techniques were also a great skill; it had swipes, strikes, thrusts and pierces, and this too relied on swiftness, lightness and softness to overcome the enemy. But now it had met up with the Ancient Tomb's matchless lightness kung fu and he was unable to unleash his moves. Plus, he was ridiculed by Yang Guo because of the four words written by Zhu Ziliu, he didn't want to open his fan again and so the 'swiping' aspect of his fan technique could not be used.

When Guo Fu and the Wu brothers saw how excellent Yang Guo's sword techniques were, their six eyes were opened widely and they didn't have anything more to say.

The happiest person in the crowd was Guo Jing, he saw that the son of Yang Kang had learned such a good level of martial arts; even he couldn't see what the origins of these techniques were. When he remembered the deep ties between the Guo and Yang families, he couldn't stop sadness and joy from stirring in his heart. Huang Rong glanced over at her husband, she saw that his eyes were red, a smile was on his lips; she knew what he was thinking and stretched out her hand and took his right hand.

When Huo Dou saw that he couldn't handle his enemy, he began to get impatient; he thought that if he loses to this young punk today, his name will be in ruins, how could he make his name in the central plains? He saw Yang Guo's sword pointed at an angle, the sword tip dispersed and he attacked three places in quick succession; if he only was able to dodge them, he would be on his way to losing, so he opened his fan and blocked these three attacks. He called out again and used the "Ferocious Wind Rapid Thunder Skill" again to counterattack. With his status as a skilled fighter of Wulin, he should not use all his abilities and effort in fighting a young man. He'll lose all face if he wins in such a manner. But all he cared about right now was winning, how could he care about such things? He kept on calling out; a ruthless stance followed by an even more ruthless stance.

Yang Guo's sword was light and lively, the stances kept on coming without stopping, and it really was graceful, elegant and leisurely. This set of "Beautiful Maiden Sword" overcomes the opponent through grace and subtlety, and in contrast with the opponent's calls and shouts, Yang Guo's gracefulness and exquisiteness was even more emphasized. Though Yang Guo was wearing a torn and ragged garment, the sword technique's elegance and grace became clear in the eyes of the crowd; they felt that he was handsome and striking, and must be a fine son of a well to do family.

However, as Yang Guo prioritized in achieving the elegance and gracefulness of the stances, the power of the sword technique became difficult to unleash. Huo Dou fought without care for his life, he fought more and more fiercely; Yang Guo's strength gradually started to drain away.

Guo Jing and Huang Rong saw that he was on his way to losing and their eyebrows creased. They then saw the gusts of wind created by Huo Dou's sleeve and fan becoming stronger and stronger, they couldn't stop themselves from calling out in their hearts, "Oh no!"

Suddenly Yang Guo held his sword up and called out, "Careful! I'm going to use a projectile!"

Huo Dou had used his fan's poison nails to injure Zhu Ziliu; when he heard Yang Guo say this, he knew that the iron sword was like his fan, there is a secret weapon hidden within. No wonder he didn't pick the sharp sword and instead chose the rusty one. Since he used such a method to gain victory, the opponent could do so too. When he saw Yang Guo's sword pointing to his front, he quickly leapt away. But all he saw was Yang Guo's left hand leading the sword, thrusting forward; what projectile?

Huo Dou knew he had fallen into Yang Guo's trap and cursed him; "Little bastard!"

Yang Guo asked, "Little bastard curses who?" Huo Dou didn't reply and pressed forward with his palm.

Yang Guo's left hand rose up and he called out, "The projectile is coming!" Huo Dou quickly dodged to the right, the opponent's sword was coming in exactly from the right; Huo Dou quickly pulled back and turned his waist, the sword tip brushed past his ribs from the right. This sword was extremely vicious, when it missed; the crowd all called out, "What a pity!"

The Mongolian warriors secretly thought, "Shameful!"

Though Huo Dou managed to escape from death, his back had broken out in a cold sweat due to fright; he saw Yang Guo's left hand rise up again and call out, "Projectile!" He didn't take notice of him anymore and advanced forwards with his palms, indeed, the opponent was using a trick again.

Yang Guo's sword pierced thin air as he attacked forwards, his left hand rose up a fourth time and loudly called out, "Projectile!"

Huo Dou scolded, "Little...."

Before the second word was said, a flash of gold suddenly appeared in his eyes; he was now close to his opponent and after all the false calls by his opponent, he was completely off guard. He quickly leapt up but felt his leg pricked by a very small and fine projectile. Although a projectile hit him, he thought it was small and wouldn't do much; furiously, his fan slashed forward and his palm chopped out, he wanted to kill that crafty kid right there and then.

Yang Guo had now achieved his aim, why should he continue to fight so hard; he just used his sword to defend, he laughed as he said, "I warned you on many occasions about launching a projectile, and you didn't believe me. I didn't lie, did I?"

Huo Duo was about to attack with his palm when he suddenly felt his leg go numb and itchy as if a large mosquito had bitten him. He tried to endure it and finish attacking but the numbness and itchiness became stronger and stronger. He was alarmed, "Damn, that little bastard's projectile has poison on it!" After this quick thought, the numbness and itchiness became unbearable, he didn't care about the situation he was in and stretched out his arm to scratch it. But after only one scratch, he felt his heart starting to feel itchy and irritated, he couldn't stop himself from calling out and falling down onto the floor.

The potency of the poison on the Ancient Tomb's Jade Bee Needles was rarely seen in the world, just one little needle would cause unbearable pain. Never mind the fact that in the middle of battle, his blood was flowing around quickly and he was struck by several needles.

Da'erba took a large step forward and picked up his apprentice brother and placed him in his master's arms. He turned around to Yang Guo and said, "Little kid, I've come to fight you!"

The golden rod swept forwards, aiming towards Yang Guo's waist.

A golden light was carried forward with this sweeping rod. The golden rod was extremely heavy, as soon he used it, the golden light could be seen; his natural strength was great, his movements were quick. Yang Guo's legs didn't move, he bent his waist in a few inches and the golden rod brushed past him. Who could have known that Da'erba wouldn't wait for the golden rod to finish the sweep, his wrist used some force, and the sweeping force of the golden rod turned into a thrusting one, moving towards Yang Guo's waist. With such a heavy weapon and such heavy and fierce stances, the ability to suddenly change direction midway was completely unexpected by everyone, Yang Guo too was shocked, he quickly pushed his sword against the rod and used its force to fly away.

Da'erba didn't wait for him to land, he followed up with another attack; Yang Guo's sword landed on the rod again and he flew away for a second time. Da'erba called out, "Where can you run?" The golden rod attacked again. Yang Guo's body was in midair, it was not convenient for him to do anything; he saw that he was in an extremely dangerous situation and decided to test his luck and take a risk. He stretched out his arm and grabbed the golden rod, hacking down with his sword at the same time. If he had the strength of Diancang Yuyin, then the opponent would have definitely let go. The reality was that Da'erba was much stronger than him; he pulled back and quickly retreated. Yang Guo took a chance and landed lightly on the ground. He was forced into the air three times in succession; his life really was within a space of a breath, though he didn't manage to take away the opponent's weapon, he had escaped the danger. The crowd all breathed out a sigh of relief.

Da'erba saw that his lightness kung fu was excellent and his stances lively, he said, "This kid's kung fu is not bad at all, who taught you?" He said this in Tibetan, of course Yang Guo would not understand. He had assumed that the monk was insulting him, and so copied what he said. The tone was perfect, there wasn't a mistake in the order of the words, in the ears of Da'erba, he heard, "This kid's kung fu is not bad at all, who taught you?" So he replied, "My Master is Jinlun Fawang. I am not a little kid; you should call me big monk."

Yang Guo didn't want to suffer or be the receiving end of anything, he thought, "I don't care how you insult me, all I've got to do is give back what I get and I won't lose out to him. You call me a bastard, a pig, a pig in another language; I'll do the same to you." He concentrated on what he said and when he finished, he repeated in Tibetan, "My Master is Jinlun Fawang. I am not a little kid; you should call me big monk."

Da'erba was surprised, he looked up and down at him, he's definitely a little kid; how could he be a big monk? And how could your Master be Jinlun Fawang? So he said, "I am Fawang's first generation disciple. What generation are you?"

Yang Guo repeated, "I am Fawang's first generation disciple. What generation are you?"

In the Lama schools of Tibet, they had always talked about reincarnation, especially the reincarnation of the Da Lai and Ban Chan (religious figures of the lama Buddhists) back into this world; the disciples of the lama schools all believed in reincarnation without any doubts.

When Jinlun Fawang was young, he had taken in a disciple; that disciple died before he was twenty. Da'erba and Huo Dou had never seen him, they just knew about this matter. Da'erba is Fawang's second disciple, and Huo Dou the third, that was it. When Da'erba heard these words, he knew that it was his apprentice brother reincarnated, and he thought that if it wasn't him reincarnated, then how could this young kid have such high martial arts? Anyway, how would a young central plains kid know such good Tibetan? He slanted his head and studied him for a while; the more he thought, the more likely it seemed to be true. He suddenly flung his golden rod away; he lowered his head and bowed to Yang Guo, he said, "Senior apprentice brother, junior apprentice brother Da'erba greets you."

Yang Guo was surprised with what just had happened, he thought that the monk couldn't beat him verbally so lowered his head in defeat. He saw that the monk was extremely respectful to him and his words were definitely not insults. They were words of respect, there was no need to copy him and so he nodded and smiled, showing that he accepted Da'erba's words.

The crowd was even more surprised, they didn't understand Tibetan; they didn't know what Yang Guo and the monk were jabbering on about. After talking for a while, he actually managed to tame this monk of terrifyingly divine strength.

Only Jinlun Fawang understood what was happening, he knew that his disciple, always straight and simple, had fallen into Yang Guo's trap; so he loudly said, "Da'erba, he's not your reincarnated apprentice brother, go and fight him."

Da'erba leapt up in shock and said, "Master, I think he must be apprentice brother, otherwise, at such a young age, how could he have such a high level of martial arts?"

Jinlun Fawang said, "Your apprentice brother's martial arts were much better than yours; that kid is not a match for you."

Da'erba shook his head, not believing him. Jinlun Fawang knew that he was very simple, he wouldn't understand straight away so he said, "If you don't believe it, go and test him out."

Da'erba has always treated his Master's orders as orders from above; since he said that Yang Guo was not his apprentice brother reincarnated then most probably he was not. But he had such high martial arts at such a young age, and said that he was his apprentice brother; it was difficult for him to not believe, but he followed his Master's orders to go and test out the kid's kung fu. The truth would be revealed by whoever wins or loses so he raised his hand to Yang Guo and said, "I'm going to duel with you, victory will decide whether this is the truth or not."

Yang Guo saw him stand up and say a few words, he looked very respectful. The words must be of a polite nature so he repeated what he said flawlessly, Da'erba heard, "I'm going to duel with you, victory will decide whether this is the truth or not." When he heard those words he felt very frightened, "Master said senior apprentice brother's martial arts were much better than mine, I definitely won't be able to compete with him."

Yang Guo saw that there were signs of fear on his face, he thought, "I'll give him another scare and send him away." So he said, "You have five disciples, they are called the 'Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border'; a few days ago they were rude towards me on the top of Mount Hua, and I crippled their kung fu. Are those punks still alive?" He spoke in Chinese, of course Da'erba would not understand, so he got one of the Mongolian warriors to translate for him. When Da'erba heard this, he was even more frightened. After the 'Five Clowns of the Tibetan Border' had their bodies' crippled by Ouyang Feng and Hong Qigong, when they returned to him, they weren't even able to speak. When Da'erba examined their injuries, he thought that even his master Jinlun Fawang didn't have such high internal energy to destroy the five's veins yet still keep them alive. The thing that did this must have the ability to move heaven and earth; it could only be a god or a demon. How would he know that Ouyang Feng and Hong Qigong's internal energy was not below his master's; with the two combined, the internal energy would be twice as strong as Jinlun Fawang's. When he heard this, his fear flourished even more, he turned around and looked at Jinlun Fawang. He saw that there was an angry expression on his face, he didn't dare to not exchange blows with Yang Guo, he could only say, "Please hold back."

Yang Guo copied his Tibetan and said, "Please hold back."

Guo Fu saw the two of them speaking in Tibetan without pause, she went over to Huang Rong and said, "Mother, what are they saying?"

Huang Rong knew that Yang Guo was just copying what Da'erba had said, doing what children do to annoy other people, but she didn't understand why Da'erba had bowed to him. When she heard her daughter ask about this, she just gave an 'en' sound and said "Brother Yang is joking with him!"

Just at this point, Da'erba suddenly swept his golden rod out towards Yang Guo; he thought that since he's made it clear, the opponent would have been prepared. But Yang Guo had seen that he had a respectful expression on him, he didn't predict that he would suddenly lash out; this attack almost hit him, he leapt back urgently to avoid it.

He quickly retreated and hurried forward, immediately unleashing three strokes with the sword. Fear was in Da'erba's heart, he was afraid that his apprentice brother had learnt frightening martial arts from his master, and now that he's reincarnated, he would have even greater abilities. He just defended with his golden rod, not daring to make a single mistake. Many moves passed and Yang Guo could see that he was just defending and not attacking. Though he didn't understand what was meant by this, he launched himself forward; he floated and darted around, a thrust from the east, an attack from the west, the "Jade Maiden Sword Techniques" were used with a clear gallant air and a flourishing beauty.

Over a hundred stances were exchanged, Jinlun Fawang was becoming impatient with the events and shouted, "Da'erba, quickly counterattack, he's not your senior apprentice brother!"

Da'erba's martial arts were well above Yang Guo's but because there was fear in his heart, he only used half of his abilities, whereas Yang Guo took the chance and fought with everything he had. One of them wanted to take the upper hand, the other kept on retreating and allowing the opponent to attack. Though Yang Guo had the advantage, he was unable to harm him; this convinced Da'erba further and he thought that his apprentice brother was holding back.

Jinlun Fawang was furious and loudly shouted, "Counterattack now!" This line was said with a surprising ferociousness, it caused ringing in the ears of the people watching. Da'erba didn't dare to defy his Master's orders; he straightened his golden rod and immediately attacked ferociously.

This ferocious attack forced Yang Guo to go on the defensive; he kept on dodging and darted around, the weaknesses in his stances were gradually beginning to show up. Da'erba saw that his sword stances were slightly loose and flung his rod towards it, Yang Guo couldn't pull back in time and the two collided. In a duel, weapons clashing were a regular event, but the rod was too heavy, Yang Guo's sword had kept its distance, not daring to collide with the golden rod. Now when the weapons collided, he felt a sudden surge of a great force, shaking and causing him pain, a 'pai' sound was heard and the iron sword was snapped in two.

Da'erba called out, "I'm the victor!" He pulled back his rod and placed it on the ground vertically, his arms folded and bowed to him. Though he won, he didn't dare to lose his manners in front of his senior apprentice brother.

Yang Guo also used Tibetan to say, "I'm the victor!" He shot the broken sword towards him.

Da'erba moved his body to avoid it, he was alarmed, "How did senior apprentice brother win? Could it be that stance was a decoy, a trap? He saw Yang Guo dashing forward empty handed moving his hands; Da'erba didn't dare to hesitate and quickly used his golden rod to protect his body.

In the ancient tomb, Yang Guo learned palm techniques from Xiao Longnu; he reached a state where his two palms could keep eighty one sparrows within his control, not letting one fly away. This "Force of Nets Above and Snares Below" is a secret skill of Lin Chaoying's; it had never left Mount Zhongnan one-step. Now as it was used, indeed it was extremely soft, continuous and unyielding, though he was empty handed, the power of it was not inferior to the power he had when he was equipped with a sword. Da'erba's golden rod created gusts of winds as he used it, but Yang Guo used extremely high lightness kung fu to move around within the spaces of the rod. Though danger was always within a hair's breadth, the golden rod was not able to touch him at all. He clawed, hacked, slashed and chopped, within his little trapping hand stances as he used the "Force of Nets Above and Snares Below" for attack after attack.

After another while, Da'erba's strength increased, Yang Guo too got quicker and nimbler. During his time in the ancient tomb, he had refined his internal energy on the chilled jade bed, now in the middle of battle, the internal energy he spent years refining surged forward and showed itself.

Xiao Longnu sat on the stone rock next to the pillar with a slight smile on her face as she watched the two fight. She saw that Yang Guo had fought for a long time without losing, from her pockets, she took out a pair of snow white gloves and called out, "Guo Er, catch them!" Her right hand waved out and shot the gloves towards Yang Guo.

The pair of white gloves was made from very fine and very strong white gold silk, though it was thin, no type of precious blades or sharp swords could harm it.

When Hao Datong saw the white gloves in the air, his face changed slightly. Years ago at Chongyang Palace, Xiao Longnu wore these gloves to break his sword, forcing him to almost commit suicide. When he saw them again, he couldn't stop himself from being disturbed.

Yang Guo caught the gloves, retreated a step, and he quickly put them on. He used the Ancient Tomb's sect most ingenious and exquisite kung fu the "Beautiful Maiden Fist". He had used a few stances from this fist technique before to help Lu Wushuang against her enemies; forcing the Beggar Clan members to retreat. Every stance of this technique is meant to take on the aura and impression of a famous beautiful woman of the past. Originally, when a male uses it, the stances do not look elegant at all. But when Yang Guo was studying this technique he had changed some of the appearance of the stances; the names and fist techniques were the same, but in the interval between palms and kicks, he changed its delicate and enchanting air into something graceful and stylish.

The heroes who were watching became even more perplexed; they saw him suddenly move and then suddenly stop; his expression and aura changing, it was extremely mystifying.

A woman's state of mind goes through many things, many changes. Along with the different extraordinary characters of each of the famous historic woman, came laughter, as brows were knitted, joy with worry; it was even more difficult to understand and surmise. Incorporating the hundreds and thousand year old feelings of these beautiful woman into martial arts, and then adding stances that reflect the beauty of goddesses, the mystery surrounding angels; how could ordinary people understand it?

Yang Guo used a stance of "Hong Yu Beats the Drum" his two arms attacking one after the other; Da'erba raised his rod and attacked. Yang Guo changed into "Hong Fu Hurries in the Night", unexpectedly he charged forward. Da'erba pushed his rod down vertically to block it. Yang Guo suddenly used "Luu Zhu's Falling Building"; he threw himself onto the ground and attacked his lower body.

Da'erba was shocked and thought, "How come senior apprentice brother's stances are so hard to comprehend?" He quickly leapt up and avoided his left palm's hack. Yang Guo's palms kept on attacking downwards without stop; it was the stance of "Wen Ji Returns to Her Man", in total there were eighteen palms.

Every stance of his had a background to it; Da'erba is a Tibetan monk, so how could he know about these histories of the central plains? In a flash he was forced to suddenly go high and then low, east and then west, his arms and legs were all over the place. With the Golden Silk Gloves, whenever Yang Guo had the chance he would use the stances “Hong Xian Steals the Box”, “Mu Lan Curved Bow”, “Ban Ji’s Poem” and “Chang E Steals Medicine” to snatch away Da’erba’s golden rod, forcing him to roar incessantly, looking embarrassed. The heroes were delighted and called out and cheered to support him.

Jinlun Fawang saw that his disciple’s martial arts were definitely better than this young man’s, but because he was afraid, he kept on allowing the opponent to attack and was forced back embarrassingly. He shouted with a stern tone, “Quickly use the “Supreme Strength Rod Technique”!”

Da’erba replied, “Yes!” He held the rod’s handle with one hand and started to move it around. Using one hand to move the rod was already frightening, now he used the strength in his two hands and the strength in his waist at the same time; the gusts of winds created by the rod were even louder.

The “Supreme Strength Rod Technique” does not have many variations; there are only eight sweeping stances, and eight thrusting stances, sixteen stances in total, but when the sixteen stances were used repeatedly, sweeping and thrusting, it forced Yang Guo farther away as he avoided it. He didn’t dare to meet the gusts of wind created by the rod let alone meeting the rod itself.

After Diancang Yuyin’s oar broke, he had refused to accept his defeat, but when he saw the power of the “Supreme Strength Rod Technique”, he pondered on the fact that his oar stances did not contain anything as fierce and wild as this, he couldn’t help but give his respect to him.

After another period of fighting, several candles in the main hall were extinguished by the wind created by Da’erba’s rod. Yang Guo just used his lightness kung fu to leap and jump around all over the place, just dodging and evading, but now that he was concentrating on avoiding the rod attacks, how could he attack? All of the heroes of the central plains were afraid and didn't make a sound, the Mongolian warriors all cheered thunderously.

Yang Guo was faced with no other choice but to keep on retreating, in a short time he was forced into the corner of the hall. He wanted to change his stances but there was no way for him to do so.

This "Supreme Strength Rod Technique" causes one to carry some degree of blind fury, once this became evident in Da'erba, he forgot that he was fighting his reincarnated senior apprentice brother. He saw that Yang Guo had nowhere else to retreat, and then shouted out, "Die!" The golden rod swept across, a ferocious explosion noise was heard, smoke and dust filled the air, and a large hole was made in the wall of hall.

In this extremely perilous situation, Yang Guo managed to leap over his head and even in this extreme situation he did not forget to repeat what he said in Tibetan, "Die!" That leap was a technique from the "Nine Yin Manual". He and Xiao Longnu had studied the markings of the manual left by Wang Chongyang on the ceiling of the stone chamber in the ancient tomb. They had learned some of the fist, kick and sword techniques but there was no one to advise them on practicing the internal aspect. They practiced it but they did not know if they practiced properly, right now he was facing a formidable enemy, how could he dare use it? He would never have thought that in the face of such a danger, he would use it naturally, saving his life in the process.

The crowd all thought that Da'erba would definitely hit his target with this stance; Guo Jing did not wait for the sweep to hit its target and dashed out, wanting to grab his back. He saw a red flash in front of his eyes; Jinlun Fawang's palm was coming towards him. Guo Jing saw that the palm was coming in extremely fast so he quickly used a stance of "Seeing the Dragon in the Field". The two of them did not make a sound as the palms clashed; two flashes were seen as the two separated.

Guo Jing took three steps back while Jinlun Fawang stood his ground steadily. His strength was much stronger than Guo Jing's and his internal energy was profound, but the proficiency of his palms could not compare with Guo Jing's. Guo Jing took the steps back to disperse the enemy's force and avoid injury. But Jinlun Fawang was too proud; he forced himself to meet this palm solidly, enduring the pain in his chest, as he stood there without moving. Even great fighters such as Guo Jing and Jinlun Fawang thought that Yang Guo would definitely meet danger, so one of them flew out to save him; one of them came out to hinder the help. Who would have known that Yang Guo would use such an extraordinary stance, escaping in the space where the golden rod was sweeping next to his body. When the two of them saw that he avoided danger, both were surprised, one was comforted, the other lamented, and both of them retreated.

Da'erba didn't turn around after this failed attack; he swept the golden rod backwards fiercely. Yang Guo saw that this stance was coming in extremely quickly and automatically, he brushed across the floor like a sparrow gliding, he was a foot or so off the floor, going across it evenly, avoiding the golden rod with a few inches to spare. Again, this was kung fu from the "Nine Yin Manual".

Huang Rong was surprised and said, "Brother Jing, how come Guo'er knows the "Nine Yin Manual"? Did you teach him?" She thought that Guo Jing had taught Yang Guo the “Nine Yin Manual” on the way to Mount Zhongnan out of his feelings and memories of the past.

Guo Jing said, “No, if I did teach him, why would I keep it from you?”

Huang Rong gave an ‘en’ sound; she knew that her husband had always told the truth to other people, towards her he was even more truthful. She saw Yang Guo shifting and moving, every time he was in danger he would rely on the martial arts of the “Nine Yin Manual” to protect himself. But he showed that he had yet to completely master it, he didn’t know how to counterattack according to the manual to achieve victory. Though he was able to protect his life, as the battle continues, he would still end up losing.

Huang Rong sighed to herself, “Guo’er is really an extraordinary talent, if he followed me for a year or so and learns the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” and “Nine Yin Manual” completely, how on earth would this Tibetan monk be a match for him?”

At this troubled time, she glanced over at a space and saw the Beggar Clan traitor Elder Peng in the midst of the Mongolian warriors, his face full of joy. She suddenly had an idea and called out, “Guo’er, “Soul Altering Spell”, “Soul Altering Spell”!”

The “Nine Yin Manual” has a technique called the “Soul Altering Spell”, using the power of the heart and soul to subdue the enemy and achieve victory. Years ago at the Beggar Clan meeting on Mount Jun, Huang Rong had used this technique to subdue Elder Peng’s hypnotizing “Fearful Heart Art”; because of this, when she saw this person she thought of it.

Yang Guo remembered the method of using the “Soul Altering Spell”; he didn’t have the confidence to completely focus on the enemy and subdue them to gain victory so he had never practiced it. But he was conscious of Huang Rong's abilities, he thought, "Since Auntie Guo mentions this, there must be a reason, anyway, defeat is already definite so I might as well give it a try."

So his body continued avoiding the attacks, in his mind however he was purging his thoughts, following the method stated in the manual, from 'controlling the limits of the mind' to 'the limits of the real body'; everything became one, there weren't any other thoughts in his mind. At this time, he relied on his natural reactions, when he heard anything he leapt and darted, when he felt the gust of wind he hurriedly dodged it, his eyes fixed on the opponent.

More stances passed, Da'erba suddenly felt something was wrong with Yang Guo's movements; he glanced at him and then sent his golden rod forward fiercely.

Yang Guo used another stance of the "Beautiful Maiden Fist", "Man's Fine Waist", his waist swung lightly to avoid the attack. As he's using the "Soul Altering Spell", his body and mind have become one, whatever stances his hands and feet are using, then the face will reflect whatever feeling and aura the stances exude.

Da'erba saw that his face suddenly seemed to look like a scroll of literature, how on earth could he know that Yang Guo was copying the posture of the Tang's dynasty poet Zhu Letian's concubine Xiao Man' He couldn't stop himself from being taken aback, the golden rod attacked forward towards his head. Yang Guo moved his head to avoid it, he spread his five fingers and brushed it through his hair, his five fingers then gently waved out, a slight smile on his face; it was a stance of "Dressing of Li Hua". Zhang Lihua was Li Hou's favorite imperial concubine, her hair was seven feet long, its light could reflect people, because of her, Li Hou abandoned his political duty and let the country go to ruin; her beauty was immensely enchanting.

Yang Guo's smile infected Da'erba, he followed and smiled. Yang Guo's face was handsome and striking, when he smiled, he was even more so, Da'erba's cheekbones were high and his cheeks deep, when the crowd saw him follow Yang Guo and smile, all of them shivered.

Yang Guo saw that he was taken aback and stretched out his finger, jabbing out; it was the stance "The Divine Needle Ping Ji". Da'erba slanted his body and moved away, his face copied Yang Guo's in making an expression that one has when concentrating on sewing.

Huang Rong saw that Yang Guo understood her and managed to affect the opponent using the "Soul Altering Spell", she was delighted; she whispered to Guo Jing, "Guo'er is extraordinary; when you were his age you didn't have such a level of kung fu."

Guo Jing expressed his joy, he nodded his head and concentrated on the two people in the middle of the hall without blinking.

The "Soul Altering Spell" uses the power of the heart and soul to affect the opponent; if the opponent's mind and will was strong and still, it would not be effective. If the opponent's internal energy was higher as well, the attack would be reflected back towards the user and they, instead, would fall under the control of the other person. When two people are dueling, if the user's martial arts were better than the other person's, then they could defeat them through weaponry, fists and kicks. There would be no need to resort to this technique. If on the other hand the user's internal energy was weaker, they wouldn't dare use this technique hastily. Though this technique is deep and profound, it didn't have much use when facing a superior enemy.

Da'erba had heard Yang Guo speak a whole lot of Tibetan and had believed with some certainty that he was the reincarnation of his senior apprentice brother, but because there was fear in his heart, he was affected very quickly by this technique. Yang Guo was able to succeed in one go; if the target was Huo Dou, Yang Guo would definitely be in danger because he had never practiced this technique before and his internal energy could not match Huo Dou's.

Yang Guo performed the "Beautiful Maiden Fist", whatever he did, whether his steps made lotuses or he moved like a willow, Da'erba copied. The watching crowd was startled and amused.

Guo Fu had felt this was extremely amusing, she said to her mother, "Mother, this technique of brother Yang is really something, why don't you teach me?"

Huang Rong said, "If you learned the "Soul Altering Spell", heaven and earth would definitely be turned upside down; it would be trouble, you would suffer and so would others." She held her hand and said seriously, "Don't think this is fun, brother Yang and that monk are fighting with their lives; this is much more dangerous than fighting with sabers and swords!"

Guo Fu stuck her tongue out and watched Yang Guo, she still felt this was fun, when Yang Guo smiled, so did Da'erba, when Yang Guo was angry Da'erba was angry, so she copied him. How would she know how powerful the "Soul Affecting Spell" was, she copied just two movements when her heart and mind became unclear and blurred, and she started to take steps towards the centre of the hall.

Huang Rong was shocked and quickly pulled her hand. At this time, Guo Fu was being controlled and used her strength to fling her mother away. Huang Rong twisted her hand and Guo Fu's wrist, turning her face around, stopping her from facing Yang Guo. Guo Fu struggled for a bit, the hold restricted her vein's movements, she fainted and fell unconscious into her mother's arms.

Right now, Da'erba was completely controlled by Yang Guo, when he saw Yang Guo use a stance of "Xi Zi Offers the Heart" immediately followed by "Dong Shi Knits her Brows", then another stance of "Descending Goddess' Subtle Step", he copied the steps and scurries, "Gliding like a frightened Crow, Slithering like a slippery Snake".

Jinlun Fawang had noticed something was wrong long ago, he had called out many times but Da'erba acted like he didn't hear. Yang Guo saw that time had come, he suddenly used a stance of "Cao Ling Slices her Nose", and he waved his hand and cut a palm across his face, a left palm cut across followed by a right without stop.

In ancient times, a man called Cao Wenshu had a wife whose last name was Ling, after her husband died; she cut off her nose, showing that she will never marry again.

This stance originally uses the cut across the face to repel an enemy's attack, however, Yang Guo had made the cuts closer to his face by a few inches, cutting across his cheeks, it looked like it was a very heavy blow but in reality he just lightly brushed across his face. But how would Da'erba know this, his palms attacked his own face with the great force. He possessed frightening strength, every palm had a force of over a hundred kilos (220lbs), over ten palms later, he couldn't stand it, and he knocked himself dizzily to the floor.

Yang Guo quietly retreated a few steps and sat next to Xiao Longnu, his right hand supported his cheek, his left waved out lightly; he gave a long sigh, a lonely feeling on his face. This was the last stance of the “Beautiful Maiden Fist”, it’s called “Secluded in the Ancient Tomb” but this stance was invented by Yang Guo himself, Lin Chaoying did not know about this and Xiao Longnu too, did not know it. When Yang Guo completed learning the “Beautiful Maiden Fist”, he thought about how Ancestor Grandma excelled in beauty and grace, she did not lose compared to beauties of the ancient times, she was not in this fist technique, the beauty aspect is not really complete, so he devised his own stance. Though he said he invented this stance because of Lin Chaoying, the aura and feeling of this stance was that of his master Xiao Longnu. When Xiao Longnu first saw this, she just gave a little smile and let him be.

The heroes all cheered out in delight and called out, “We’ve won the second round as well!” “The position of Chancellor of Wulin belongs to the skilled fighters of the Song!” “You Mongols better crawl out of here and don’t show your face again in the central plains!”

The Mongolian warriors dashed out during this commotion and carried Da’erba back.

Jinlun Fawang saw that his two disciples had lost but not because their kung fu wasn’t good enough, they lost in some stupid way. He was furious but his face showed no signs of emotion, he sat on the chair and called out, “Young man, who is your Master?” Apart from excelling in martial arts, he was also knowledgeable in many things; he even knew how to speak Chinese.

Yang Guo pointed to Xiao Longnu and laughed as he said, “This is my Master, come and bow down to the Chancellor of Wulin!”

Jinlun Fawang saw that Xiao Longnu was beautiful and delicate, she was younger than Yang Guo, he did not believe that she was his master and thought, "The Han of the central plains are very sly and crafty but can you trick me?" He suddenly stood up; a clanking sound was heard as he took out a gold wheel from his compartment. The golden wheel was a foot and a half in diameter, cast out of solid gold, the Tibetan scriptures were inscribed on the wheel, in the middle were nine little spheres, a shake of the hands and a prolonged noise was heard.

Jinlun Fawang pointed to Xiao Longnu and said, "Huh, how is that this little girl is worthy of being the Chancellor of Wulin? If you can withstand ten stances of my golden wheel I'll acknowledge you as the Chancellor of Wulin."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "I've already won two rounds, two out of three, and your side said that at the start, so why are you trying to deny it?"

Jinlun Fawang said, "I want to test out her kung fu and see if she has the ability to take this task on."

Xiao Longnu did not know that Jinlun Fawang's abilities are shockingly brilliant, neither did she know what the Chancellor of Wulin was, the thought of whether to take this on had never crossed her mind. When she heard him say that he wanted to test whether she can withstand ten stances of his golden wheel, she stood up and said, "In that case I'll have a try."

Jinlun Fawang said, "If you can't withstand ten stances, what then?"

Xiao Longnu said, "If I can't, I can't, what about it?" Though she treated Yang Guo with love and compassion, when it comes to other things she didn't have a care.

The heroes of the central plains and the Mongolian warriors did not know that this was her character, and they saw that she didn't give Jinlun Fawang any consideration; they thought that she really must possess deep and profound martial arts. After seeing Yang Guo use the "Soul Altering Spell", others thought that she knew witchcraft and was a young witch. At that time, they all burst into conversation.

Jinlun Fawang really was afraid that she knew witchcraft, he started to chant a mantra, "ji li gu lu, ji li gu lu", he recited the "Devil Subduing Mantra" from the Tibetan scriptures. Yang Guo heard this and thought that the monk was insulting his master in Tibetan so he quickly concentrated and remembered every single word clearly. Once Jinlun Fawang finished reciting the mantra, from the golden wheel a period of 'lang lang' noises was heard, he shouted, "Young man, I'm about to start!" He said these two words in Chinese.

Yang Guo shook his hand, he didn't want to speak a word, he was afraid that once his concentration was disturbed, he would forget the passage of Tibetan he had just remembered, he then began to recite every word and tone of the passage.

Da'erba regained consciousness at this time, he saw that his master was holding a golden wheel and was about to fight someone. Then he heard Yang Guo recite the 'Devil Subduing Mantra' from the Tibetan scriptures, this was something that was kept within the school, and it was never passed on to outsiders. If Yang Guo wasn't the reincarnation of senior apprentice brother, how would he know this mantra? He quickly jumped up in urgency and knelt down in front of his master, he called out, "Master, he really is the reincarnation of senior apprentice brother, take him back into the school!"

Jinlun Fawang angrily said, "Rubbish! You don't even know that you've fallen into his trap."

Da'erba said, "It really is, this is the truth, it's definitely not a lie."

Fawang saw that he was confused; he picked him up by the back and flung him away. Da'erba weighed about a hundred kilos (220lbs); the way he was tossed lightly aside was as if he weighed nothing.

The heroes had seen the frightening strength of Da'erba when he fought Diancang Yuyin and Yang Guo, but the toss by Jinlun Fawang showed that his strength was even stronger. They looked at the delicate appearance of Xiao Longnu, without even mentioning the ten stances, if he just used force to blow at her, she would be blown over, and they couldn't stop themselves from worrying about her.

Many of the Mongolian warriors have seen Jinlun Fawang display his abilities, his skill could hold back ten thousand men, and his strength exceeded that of nine bulls. Though Xiao Longnu was the enemy, they saw that she was childlike, frail and beautiful. Even if she did know witchcraft, she may not be able to defend against the mysterious divine abilities of Jinlun Fawang. They couldn't stop themselves from secretly hoping that Fawang would not be too ruthless.

After Yang Guo finished reciting the mantra, he whispered to Xiao Longnu, "Gu Gu, be careful of that monk."

When Jinlun Fawang heard that Yang Guo had not recited one word wrong, he had respect for him, he praised him, "Young man, only you."

Yang Guo said, "Monk, only you."

Jinlun Fawang looked at him and said, "Only I what?"

Yang Guo said, "Only you've got the courage to fight with my Master, she is the reincarnation of the Goddess of Mercy; she has the ability to move heaven and earth, the power to subdue dragons and tigers, you better take care." He saw that this monk was very powerful, he wanted to make him worry so he won't fight with his full abilities, then it would be easier for his Master to defend against him.

But Jinlun Fawang is a hero that Tibet had never seen before; he excelled in both martial arts and the arts, how would he fall into the trap; he called out, "The first stance is coming, little miss, show your weapon!"

Yang Guo took off the golden silk gloves and put them on his Master before stepping back. Xiao Longnu took out a white silk belt from her pockets, the belt flew out and met the wind, a golden sphere was tied to the white belt. Something was inside the golden sphere, as the belt moved, the sphere rang like a bell, 'ding ling, ding ling', it was crisp and clear.

Everyone saw that the two's weapons were extremely strange, they thought that today they would really experience something, one weapon was extremely short, the other was extremely long, one extremely hard, the other extremely soft, and by coincidence, both weapons made 'ding dang' noises.

The golden wheel that Jinlun Fawang uses traps the opponent's weapon; no matter if it's a saber, sword, spear, lance, pike, whip or stick. When the weapon meets the wheel, they would be tangled up; when a normal person sends a stance over, the weapon in their hand will be lost. If he didn't see how impressive Yang Guo's martial arts were, he would never have said ten stances. In his life, very few people have managed to take three stances of his golden wheel.

Xiao Longnu's belt flew out, she was attacking first.

Jinlun Fawang said, "What is this?" He sent out his left hand to grab the belt, he saw that the silk belt moving gently and swiftly, he knew that there would be many variations. That grab he sent out covered all directions, up, down, left, right and middle, wherever the belt goes, it would not escape his clutches. He couldn't have known that the golden sphere would counterattack, ringing as it moved, it was heading for his 'Central Islet' pressure point on the back of his hand. Jinlun Fawang was extremely swift in changing his stance, his palm turned around and went for the sphere again. Xiao Longnu's wrist moved slightly, the sphere turned around, moving up and down, aiming to strike his arm's 'Combined Valley' pressure point. Jinlun Fawang's palm turned again, this time he stretched out his two fingers to catch the sphere. Xiao Longnu understood what he was doing, the belt rushed forward slightly, the sphere went for the 'Crooked Marsh' pressure point around the elbow area.

Those few variations were done within just the turn of a hand, Jinlun Fawang turned his palm twice, Xiao Longnu twisted her wrist three times; the two had exchanged five stances.

Yang Guo understood what was happening and loudly counted, "One, two, three, four, five... that's five stances!" There are five stances left."

Jinlun Fawang wanted Xiao Longnu to take ten of his stances, wanting her to defend against ten of his attacks. Yang Guo tried to be clever and counted the stances exchanged by both sides. Jinlun Fawang is a leading master of martial arts, why would he allow himself to get into an argument over numbers with this crafty young man? His left arm went to the side and avoided the sphere, and then sent his golden wheel forward.

Xiao Longnu heard the urgent 'lang lang' noise and saw a gold flash in front of her eyes, the enemy's golden wheel was now only a foot or so in front of her. This move was sudden, she couldn't even think about repelling this move, evading this attack was impossible. In this danger she flicked her wrist again, the silk belt went straight forward, the sphere attacked Fawang's 'Wind Pond' pressure point on the front of his head. This is a fatal pressure point, even if you're martial arts were higher, once this point has been struck, your life would be at risk. She had no other choice but to use this risky stance of making both sides suffer great losses and to force the opponent to take back his wheel.

Indeed, Jinlun Fawang did not want to risk his life with her, he lowered his head to avoid the attack, but once his head was lowered, the wheel in his hand became slower. Xiao Longnu took this opportunity and summoned back her silk belt and a 'ding ding dang dang' sound was heard as the sphere collided with the golden wheel, neutralizing Jinlun Fawang's attack. All that happened in the blink of an eye, Xiao Longnu went from facing death to staying alive in a matter of seconds, she urgently utilized her lightness kung fu and retreated to the side, her face had a fearful expression.

Jinlun Fawang had just used one stance to attack but Yang Guo called out loudly, "Six, seven, eight, nine, ten... great, my master has received ten stances of yours, what more have you got to say?"

After that exchange, Jinlun Fawang knew that although Xiao Longnu's martial arts were high, it was no where near his level. If they exchanged moves properly, he would definitely defeat her within ten stances. He did not like Yang Guo stirring the situation from the side, talking rubbish, and disturbing his concentration. He thought, "I'll ignore the young man's rubbish, I'll intensify my attacks and beat the little girl first and then reason with them." His sleeve carried forward and the golden wheel flashed, it was another extremely lethal fatal attack.

Yang Guo called out loudly, "You don't want face! Ten moves have passed and you're continuing, eleven, twelve, thirteen, and fourteen..." He didn't care how many stances were exchanged in defense and attack by the two, his mouth kept on counting up.

After receiving one of his stances, Xiao Longnu was extremely afraid; she didn't dare to receive another attack head on. She utilized her lightness kung fu and flew around the hall, the belt in her hand floating in the air, the golden sphere quickly turning, forming a streak of fog, a path of yellow light. The sounds that the golden sphere was producing sped up suddenly, slowed suddenly, lightened suddenly and loud suddenly, it was like a song. When she lived in the tomb, she studied the zither manuscripts left by Lin Chaoying and played the zither accordingly; she became rather wonderful with it. Later on, she started to practice with the silk belt and gold sphere, she noticed that the tones made by the sphere possessed a rhythm and tone, her character was still childlike then, and she managed to integrate music into this set of kung fu techniques.

Everything possesses a rhythm, from the way the world passes on, how trees and grass grow, to a person's heartbeat and pulse. Music is created by the natural manipulation of the sounds of nature by people; music pleases the ear whereas noise creates trouble in the heart. When kung fu and music is combined, it is performed even more smoothly and softly, the body following whatever the mind wants.

The lightness kung fu of the Ancient Tomb sect belongs to its own class, other sects' lightness kung fu cannot compare with it. When using it in the open plains, it is difficult to identify the strong points of the technique, right now, it was being used in the hall, the grace and ease of it was unparalleled, moving in thousands of different directions. She has practiced her martial arts in the rooms of the ancient tomb, within a radius of over ten feet, she really did move like a goddess.

Though Jinlun Fawang's martial arts were much superior to hers, as she hurriedly leaped and suddenly shifted, there wasn't anything he could do about it. He heard the 'ding ling ding ling' sounds of the sphere was like a song, after listening to it a while, he found himself fighting along with the music. He quickly swung his golden wheel to create a noise, mixing up the 'ling' sounds. In a flash the room was filled with the clashing of the two sounds, suddenly it was soft then loud, high then low. The sounds from the bell was crisp and clear, when one hears them they felt carefree and joyous, the sounds that Jinlun Fawang produced were like metal being forged, like a scraping of a cauldron, like killing a pig, beating a dog, many indescribable noises.

Guo Jing and Huang Rong were watching from the side and remembered how years ago they heard Hong Qigong, Ouyang Feng and Huang Yaoshi use the sounds of music to battle with each other on Peach Blossom Island. As they reminisced about it, it felt like it was lifetime ago. Though the martial arts of the two were masterly, when it comes to using music to fight, they could not compare with Hong, Huang and Ouyang.

Yang Guo had already counted up to, "One thousand and five, one thousand and six, one thousand and seven..." But Xiao Longnu had kept away from facing her opponent; Jinlun Fawang had yet to use ten stances. Guo Fu was unconscious in her mother's arms but she was awakened by the sounds of the golden wheel, she raised her head, her face as dazed and she did not know what was going on.

Jinlun Fawang felt very impatient, he felt that with the status of a leading martial artist, if he was unable to beat this young girl after so long, and if the battle went on, he would eventually win but he would have lost all face. He suddenly stretched out his left arm, the golden wheel slanted across; his left palm pushed out low towards the left, the golden wheel went upwards towards the right. The two of them had fought for a long time, now Jinlun Fawang had grasped half of Xiao Longnu's lightness kung fu; those two attacks were meant to block her escape routes, only allowing her to move forward, escaping backwards was not an option.

In this danger, Xiao Longnu waved her silk belt and wrapped it around a group of white flowers, her body quickly flew up.

Fawang's golden wheel turned around, binding the silk belt. If it were a normal weapon, he would have taken it away long ago, but the silk belt did not have any stiffness, it just lightly slipped away from the hole of the golden wheel. Jinlun Fawang shouted, "That is the second stance, the third stance is coming!" He took a step forward; the golden wheel suddenly escaped from his hands, and was sent flying towards Xiao Longnu.

No one predicted that stance, the golden wheel spun urgently as it slashed towards Xiao Longnu. Xiao Longnu was extremely startled, she lowered her body and darted backwards, she suddenly heard a 'chi chi' sound, a yellow light passed her face within an inch, the gusts of wind created by the wheel hurt her tender face.

In the startled calls of the crowd, Fawang dashed forward and stretched out his arm, his palm gave a push on the wheel's rim, turning it in midair, heading towards Xiao Longnu again. Xiao Longnu saw that the force the wheel was spinning with was extraordinary, how could she dare to use the silk belt to trap it? She could only use her matchless lightness kung fu to jump to the side to avoid it.

Jinlun Fawang had missed twice and called out, "Great lightness kung fu!" He dashed forwards and stretched out his left fist, a 'dang' sound was heard as he struck the wheel, at the same time he sent out both palms, blocking Xiao Longnu's path forward, while the golden wheel flew with a 'lang lang' sound towards the back of her head.

The golden wheel wasn't extremely quick, but before the wheel arrived, the gusts of wind created by the wheel moved towards Xiao Longnu, it was an extremely ferocious force. When Fawang punched the wheel, he had already calculated where the opponent could escape to, that is why the wheel seemed to have grown an eye; after making half a circle in midair, the wheel returned and headed for Xiao Longnu's back. Xiao Longnu jumped and used all the skills that she had learnt in her life, but she still saw the Tibetan monk's palms opened in front of her, blocking her way. The heroes' ears were filled with calls, their eyes were dazzled, and all of them had fear in their hearts.

Yang Guo saw that Xiao Longnu was in danger; he was extremely concerned and picked up Da'erba's golden rod. He used all his strength and flung it upwards towards the wheel, a loud 'dang' sound was heard, the rod managed to go through the wheel's opening in the middle, but the force of the wheel was really ferocious, it shook his arms so much that his wrists split open, blood poured out, as he brought the wheel and rod crashing to the floor.

Xiao Longnu glanced over and saw that the wheel was on the floor, the threat from behind was taken away but her body was in midair, how could she avoid the enemy that was in front of her? She urgently waved out her silk belt, wrapping it around the pillar in the west and then pulled with all her strength, her body used this force to fly away towards the pillar, she smoothly and lightly slipped down behind the pillar, in the space of a hair's breadth, she managed to avoid Fawang's mountain shattering palm.

Jinlun Fawang had victory in his grasp but was again stopped by Yang Guo. Not only did the enemy get away, even his unbeatable weapon was knocked on to the floor by him; he has never experienced such a frustrating setback in his life. He originally was meticulous, wise and intelligent, yet right now he couldn't stop himself from reacting without thinking. He didn't wait for Yang Guo to get up and sent a palm chopping down on him.

According to his status as head of a school, what he was doing did not match how he had always thought of himself; Yang Guo was a junior, and he was on the floor when he sent out this palm, but in his great anger he couldn't care less.

Guo Jing saw him staring angrily at Yang Guo, his shoulder was raised and arm taken back, Guo Jing knew that he was about to kill him, he called out in quietly, "Oh no!" If he took a step forward, he would still be able to block this attack but Yang Guo would still suffer a serious injury. In this urgent situation there was no time to think carefully, he used a stance of "Flying Dragon in the Sky", his whole body leapt into the air, and attacked Jinlun Fawang's head. If Jinlun Fawang didn't take back this palm, though he would be able to kill Yang Guo, his life would be taken away under the matchless lethal and swift Dragon Subduing Palm. The force of his palm quickly turned around, he gave a 'hei' shout, and exchanged palms with Guo Jing.

This was the second time that two great masters of the present time exchanged palms. Guo Jing was in midair and had nothing to brace against, he used the opponent's force and made a half somersault, landing backwards. Yet, Jinlun Fawang stood his ground steadily, his body didn't sway and his legs didn't shift, it was as if nothing had happened.

Hao Datong, Sun Bu'Er, Diancang Yuyin and the others knew about Guo Jing's kung fu; after they saw this they all were shocked, that monk's kung fu really is extraordinary.

In reality, Guo Jing was just following the orthodox rules of martial arts by retreating backwards, naturally dispersing the enemy's force.

After Yang Guo had interfered many times, Jinlun Fawang had lost face, he wanted to regain it back and so took Guo Jing's palm; he actually consumed a lot of his chi and internal energy, though he looked like he was superior, he was suffering on the inside. The two of them are outstanding men of the world; it would be difficult to separate the two in tens of moves. Jinlun Fawang forced himself to take this stance without moving, his chest throbbed with pain again, luckily the aim of the opponent was just to stop him and he did not continue to attack. He closed his lips and eyes and circulated his internal energy, unblocking the motionless chi in his chest.

Yang Guo escaped death and picked himself up, he hurried to Xiao Longnu's side, just as Xiao Longnu was about to come over and take a look at him. Both of them asked at the same time, "Are you okay?" The two nodded at the same time, a smile was on their faces, their hands held each other's with joy in their hearts.

Yang Guo picked up the golden rod and placed the golden wheel on top, he rotated the wheel and it made 'lang lang' noises; he loudly called out, "All you Mongolian warriors listen; I've manage to take the weapon of your country's great protector, how can you still talk about being the Chancellor of Wulin? Go and crawl back to Mongolia you Mongolian asses!"

None of the Mongolian warriors accepted what had happened, they saw that Jinlun Fawang was about to win in the duel between him and Xiao Longnu, the opponents came up with not only Yang Guo, but Guo Jing as well, they all called out, "It was Fawang who flung the wheel away himself, how could a little punk like you take it?" "One versus one" and "without the help of others!" "Correct, fight again," They all made a clamor but it was all in Mongolian, apart from Guo Jing, no one understood what they were saying.

The heroes of the central plains were all reasonable and understanding people; they felt that when it comes to martial arts, Jinlun Fawang was indeed superior to Xiao Longnu. But they cannot allow a Mongolian to take the position of the Chancellor of Wulin; otherwise, the central plain's Wulin would have lost all its face. Before it actually began, the spirits of the amassed heroes who planned to defend against the foreign invaders had been dampened. The younger members of the crowd also began to argue and shout. When they heard the clamor of the Mongolian warriors, they began to quarrel with them. Both sides raised their weapons; the situation was developing into a mass brawl.

Yang Guo raised the golden rod and golden wheel; he said to Jinlun Fawang, "You still won't admit defeat? You have lost your weapons, what face have you got left? How can the world have a Wulin Chancellor whose weapon can be taken away by someone else?"

Jinlun Fawang was secretly circulating his internal energy right now, he heard every single word that Yang Guo said but he didn't dare to open his mouth and speak.

Yang Guo looked at the situation and knew what was happening, quickly, he loudly said, "All the heroes please can I have your attention: I'm going to ask him three times, if he doesn't reply then that means he admits defeat."

He was afraid that as time passes, Fawang will have finished circulating his internal energy, he didn't waste any time, he asked in one breath, "Did you or did you not lose? Are you still thinking about the position of the Chancellor of Wulin or not? If you don't say anything then that means you admit defeat, right?"

Fawang had just finished ridding the motionless chi, the pain in his chest had cleared up, he was about to reply when Yang Guo saw his lips move, he quickly got in ahead and said, "Fine, since you've admitted defeat we won't give you any trouble, you had better leave." He then raised the golden rod and golden wheel and handed them over to Guo Jing. He actually wanted to hand them over to his Master but was afraid that Jinlun Fawang's fury will erupt again; Xiao Longnu would not be able to block the attack.

Jinlun Fawang was so angry that his face swelled and turned purple. He was worried about how excellent Guo Jing's martial arts were; his weapon has also fallen into the enemy's hands. If he fights empty handed, it would be difficult for him to win. He also saw that there were many martial artists of the central plains here, if it became a mass brawl, their side would definitely lose. A good man doesn't endure the suffering that's in front of him, he could only retreat first and come up with another plan. He loudly said, "The barbarians of the central plains are crafty and sly, they win due to numbers, they are not heroes and good men, let's go." His left hand waved and the Mongolian warriors all headed towards the exit. He made a departing motion towards Guo Jing from faraway, he said, "Hero Guo, Chief Huang, today I have experienced your great skills. The mountains will remain green, the rivers will flow, and we will meet again."

Guo Jing returned the gesture and bowed, he said, "Reverend's martial arts are deep and profound, I respect your abilities deeply. Please take back the weapons." As he said this, he offered the golden rod and wheel back.

Yang Guo loudly called out, "Jinlun Fawang, you are thinking about taking them back, do you want face?"

Guo Jing shouted, "Guo'er, stop talking rubbish." Jinlun Fawang had already turned around with his sleeve floating behind, he didn't look back as he exited the hall.

Yang Guo suddenly remembered something, he called out, "Hey, your disciple Huo Dou has contracted my poison, quickly bring the antidote to his poison and swap it with mine."

Jinlun Fawang had always thought very highly of his own abilities; mysterious and divine martial arts, profound medical knowledge, he can cure any poison. He had an extreme dislike for Yang Guo because of his slyness and craftiness, he ignored what he said and left.

Huang Rong saw that Zhu Ziliu had his eyes closed and was asleep, she considered that many of the people here are experts in using poison projectiles, there would be someone who has the ability to cure this poison, and she wasn't too concerned with Jinlun Fawang's refusal.

Now, the Lu manor was filled with thunderous cheers and calls; all of it was for Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu defeating Jinlun Fawang. Hundreds of people were around the two, one word here and another word there. Some said that Yang Guo defeated Huo Dou in the way he deserved, dealing with a man as he deals with you. Others said that the speed and ease of Xiao Longnu's lightness kung fu was in a class of its own, actually managing to avoid the fierce and dangerous attacks of Jinlun Fawang. When it came to Yang Guo using the "Soul Altering Spell" to make Da'erba knock himself out, many of them did not understand what had happened. When someone asked about it, Yang Guo just made up a reply.

End of Chapter 13.

Chapter 14 - Defending against Custom and Tradition

Translated by Noodles

The upstairs of the restaurant became covered by a layer of broken wood. The three of them battled on the debris without any obstructions. Jin Lun Fa Wang moved around in large steps, the iron wheel flashing around, 'lang lang' sounds were heard, his arms in motion as he attacked Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu two people ferociously.

The banquet opened again at the Lu manor, wine and many dishes were once again prepared. Yang Guo had suffered a lifetime of wrongs, mistreatment and being looked down upon, and today he had displayed himself well. He got rid of his anger, everyone's eyes were opened as he achieved great merit for the central plain's Wulin, he was extremely proud of himself.

Xiao Longnu did not understand the ways of the world, though she didn't understand the reason for Yang Guo's delight, she too was extremely happy. Huang Rong liked her very much, she held her hand as she asked short and long questions, wanting Xiao Longnu to sit next to her.

Xiao Longnu saw that Yang Guo was sitting in between Guo Jing and Diancang Yuyin, faraway from her, she quickly motioned her hand and said, "Guo'er, sit next to me."

But Yang Guo knew that girls and boys have their differences, at first when he saw her, he forgot about this and showed his true feelings, now in front of the glare of all these heroes, it would be improper to show this closeness again. When he heard her call out like this, he couldn't stop himself from blushing and smiled slightly but he didn't go over.

Xiao Longnu called out again; "Guo'er, why aren't you coming?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm fine over here, Uncle Guo is talking to me."

Xiao Longnu's elegant brows frowned and said, "I want you to sit next to me."

When Yang Guo saw her angry expression, his heart shook, that slightly angry look made him feel if he were to die, he would die willingly.

That day when he met Lu Wushuang, he used all his might to defend her against her enemies and protected her for thousands of miles because of the resemblance of her angry expression to Xiao Longnu's. Now the real person is here, how could he defy her? He immediately stood up and went over to her place.

The way the two acted made Huang Rong slightly suspicious. She ordered another chair and asked Yang Guo; "Guo'er, who taught you kung fu?"

Yang Guo pointed to Xiao Longnu and said, "She is my Master. Auntie Guo, why don't you believe me?"

Huang Rong knew that he was crafty and sly, she saw that Xiao Longnu was innocent and naïve, she thought that she wouldn't lie so she turned her head and asked her, "Sister, his kung fu was taught by you?"

Xiao Longnu was very proud and said, "Yes. Tell me, did I teach him well?"

Huang Rong now believed it and said, "Extremely well! Sister, who was your Master?"

Xiao Longnu said, "My Master is dead." As she said this, her eyes went red, she was feeling rather sad. Her Master had taught her to curb her emotions but now her love for Yang

Guo had surfaced, the emotions buried deeply within her heart also started to slowly show.

Huang Rong asked, "What is your Master's name?"

Xiao Longnu shook her head and said, "I don't know, Master is Master."

Huang Rong thought that she didn't want to say, refusing to mention the matters involving their sect's Master was common within the Wulin community so she didn't ask further.

In reality, her Master was just Lin Chaoying's maid, she only had the name that Lin Chaoying gave her, and even she herself did not know what her surname was.

At this time, all the heroes gave a toast towards Guo Jing, Huang Rong, Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu, celebrating the fact that they defeated such a strong opponent as Jinlun Fawang.

Because Guo Fu was always by her parent's side, she had the respect of others, right now she was being overshadowed, and she couldn't stop from feeling depressed. Apart from the Wu brothers by her side who revered her, no one took any notice of her. She felt annoyed, she said, "Big brother Wu, little Brother Wu, let's go outside and play instead of drinking wine."

Wu Dunru and Wu Xiuwen both agreed. The three of them stood up and were about to leave the hall when Guo Jing suddenly called out, "Fu'er, come over here." She turned her head and saw that her father had changed places and was now sitting at the same table as her mother, smiling and signaling her over so she went and called out, "Father, mother!" and leaned on Huang Rong.

Guo Jing smiled and said to Huang Rong, "At first you were worried about Guo'er's character and were afraid that his martial arts weren't up to scratch, you can't say anything now, can you? He has achieved a great merit for the heroes of Wulin, without saying that he hasn't done anything wrong. Even if he had, it cannot compare to what he has done today."

Huang Rong nodded, she smiled and said, "It was my mistake, Guo'er's character and martial arts both are good, I am very pleased as well."

Guo Jing heard that his wife had now agreed about their daughter's marriage and was delighted, he said to Xiao Longnu, "Miss Long, your disciple's father and I are sworn brothers. The Yang's and Guo's have had a great relationship for generations, I have a daughter, her beauty and martial arts are both passable..." He had always been straight forward, whatever is in his heart will be said.

Huang Rong interrupted, she smiled and said, "Ai ya, who praises their own child like that, you're not afraid of making sister Long laugh."

Guo Jing laughed and followed on, "I wish to betroth my daughter to your disciple. Both his parents have passed away, the responsibility of making the decision is now passed onto Miss Long. I want to take the opportunity with all these heroes here, to add another celebration on top of the last one. Let's ask two heroes of a venerable age and eminent virtue to be the matchmakers, and arrange the marriage, how about that?"

Marriage is decided by the orders of the parents and the words of the matchmakers, the boy and girl don't actually have a say. This is why, years ago, there was the matter of an arranged marriage decided by Guo Jing's father Guo

Xiaotian and Yang Guo's grandfather Yang Tiexin for their children. When Guo Jing said this, he laughed out loud and looked at Yang Guo and his daughter, thinking that Xiao Longnu will definitely agree to this. Guo Fu was already embarrassed, her face was red and she hid in her mother's arms, she felt this was inappropriate but she didn't dare to say anything.

Xiao Longnu's face changed slightly and before she replied, Yang Guo stood up and gave a prolonged bow to Guo Jing and Huang Rong and he said, "The gratitude that I have for Uncle Guo's and Auntie Guo's love and care would be impossible to repay. But nephew is from an ordinary family, my character is lowly, I am not worthy for your precious daughter."

Guo Jing thought that because he and his wife are famous throughout the Wulin world, and his daughter's character, beauty and kung fu are first class, now that he's personally saying that he wants to betroth her to him, he thought he would definitely be ecstatic. He couldn't have known that he would reject this, he couldn't help being startled. Then had another thought; it must be because he is young, it was unexpected and he wanted to postpone it. Guo Jing gave a laugh and said, "Guo'er, the two of us aren't exactly strangers, this matter involves your future, there is no need to be embarrassed."

Yang Guo gave another deep bow to him and said, "If Uncle Guo has any other requests, nephew here will oblige without delay. But I dare not comply with this request of marriage."

Guo Jing saw that his face was serious and he was surprised, he looked at his wife in hope that she would explain it.

Inside, Huang Rong blamed Guo Jing for being so straightforward. Without checking beforehand, he openly raised this matter in front of all these people, making a big mistake. She saw that the way Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo treated each other was like a couple in love, but they said they were Master and disciple, could it be that the two act in a manner contrary to the norm and have actually intermixed the relationships?

This was something that was extremely hard to believe, she thought that although Yang Guo may not be a man of honour, he would not do such a thing as this. The Song respect tradition above all; the relationship between Master and disciple were like that of an emperor and his minister, a father and son, they can never intermix. Though Huang Rong suspected it, this matter was so serious that she didn't dare to believe it so she asked Yang Guo, "Guo'er, Miss Long really is your Master?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes!"

Huang Rong asked again, "You've kowtowed and gone through the ceremony of entering a Master's tutelage?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes." His mouth was replying to Huang Rong but his eyes were fixed on Xiao Longnu, his face filled with joy, tenderness, love and affection. Without mentioning how clever and wise Huang Rong was, even an ordinary person could tell that the two's relationship was not a normal Master and disciple relationship.

Guo Jing did not understand what Huang Rong was doing, thinking, "He has already said that Miss Long is his Master, their kung fu is from the same school, what's untrue about that? I was talking about our daughter's marriage, why did Rong'er ask them whether they were Master and disciple again? Ah, he first entered Quanzhen sect and then entered another sect later on, though it's not according to the rules of Wulin, it's not that difficult a thing to clear up.

Huang Rong was secretly alarmed at Yang Guo's and Xiao Longnu's expressions, she signaled with her eyes towards her husband and said, "Fu'er is still young; why is there a need to rush things? Today the heroes of the world are amassed here, it's more important to discuss how to protect the country. Let's put aside our personal matters."

Guo Jing thought this was correct so he quickly said, "Yes, yes. I almost put my personal affairs over public matters. Miss Long, we'll carry on discussing Guo'er's and my daughter's marriage at a later date."

Xiao Longnu shook her head, "I myself will be Guo'er's wife," she said, "He cannot take your daughter as his wife."

Those two sentences were crisp and clear, hundreds of people in the hall heard this. Guo Jing was startled, he stood up and didn't believe his eyes, he saw her holding Yang Guo's hand, looking affectionate towards him, he had to believe it, he stuttered, "He's... he's your disc... disc... disciple, could it be that he's not?"

Xiao Longnu had lived in the ancient tomb for a long time; she was not exposed to the sunlight, because of this there were no traces of color in her cheeks and her skin permanently white. But right now her heart was filled with joy and delight; her face looked tender and enchanting, just like when a flower first blooms. She smiled and said, "Yes! I taught him kung fu but now his kung fu is as strong as mine. He loves me in his heart and I love him. Before..." As she reached this point she lowered her voice, though she was very innocent, the embarrassment and shyness of girls began to show, she said gently, "Before... I thought that he didn't love me, he didn't want me to be his wife, my... my heart was in unbearable pain and I thought death would be better. But today, I know that he really loves me, I... I..."

Hundreds of people in the hall were silent, listening to her revealing her feelings. Even if a girl is filled with love, how could she tell it all in public? And how could she tell it to Guo Jing who had nothing to do with it? But she does not know anything about customs, tradition and the conduct of others, she just felt that these words needed to be said and immediately came out with them.

Yang Guo was extremely moved by her words of love but he looked at the crowd, some were startled and surprised, some looked awkward and some did not approve. He thought that Xiao Longnu was too unknowing, she shouldn't have said this in this place, he pulled her hand and stood up, he softly said, "Gu Gu, let's leave!"

Xiao Longnu said, "Yes!"

The two of them headed towards the exit shoulder to shoulder, though the hall was filled with people, in Xiao Longnu's eyes there was only Yang Guo.

Guo Jing and Huang Rong looked at each other startled, the couple had been through countless strange events, endured many dangers, but they could never have predicted what was happening right now. For the time being, they didn't know what to do.

Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo were about to leave the hall when Huang Rong called out, "Miss Long, you're the Chancellor of Wulin, everyone is under your command, you need to think this over."

Xiao Longnu turned her head and showed a smile, she said, "I don't know how to be whatever Chancellor, sister if you want it, then you take the position."

Huang Rong said, "No, if you want to elect someone else, then you ought to elect senior Chief Hong."

The Chancellor of Wulin is the most revered position in the view of martial artists, but Xiao Longnu couldn't have cared less and just replied, "Just do whatever you want, I don't understand it anyway." She pulled Yang Guo's hand and headed for the exit again.

Suddenly there was a gust of wind, the candlelight swayed, and a person darted out. The person was dressed in a Taoist gown, a long sword in his hand; it was the Quanzhen Taoist Zhao Zhijing. He blocked the exit with his sword and said loudly, "Yang Guo, you disobeyed your Master and showed disrespect for Quanzhen's founder, and today you have done such a monstrous thing, how can you still have the nerve to stand on this earth? As long as Zhao has one breath in him, I will not allow it."

Yang Guo did not want to argue with this person in front of everyone, he deepened his voice and said, "Move!"

Zhao Zhijing said, "Apprentice brother Yin, come over, you have a say as well, that night on Mount Zhongnan we saw with our eyes two people naked, what's all that about?"

Yin Zhiping stood up shakily, his left arm rose. People could see that the last two fingers on his hand were missing; though they didn't know the intricacies of the situation, but judging from the way his body froze and the strange expression on his face, they knew that there must be something more to this.

That night, Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were practicing the "Jade Heart Manual" in the flower thicket when Zhao and Yin saw them. Yang Guo had forced Zhao Zhijing to take up a venomous oath, he couldn't tell this matter to a fifth person, how could he have known that today, Zhao Zhijing would belittle and accuse them without restraint in front of everyone, Yang Guo was extremely furious, he shouted, "You swore an oath, you are forbidden to reveal this to a fifth person, why are you now... why..."

Zhao Zhijing laughed and said loudly, "Correct, I swore I won't reveal this to a fifth person but in front of me there is a sixth, a seventh. It's not a fifth person when there's hundreds and thousands present. Naturally, I can tell everyone about this immoral thing that you two did."

Zhao Zhijing had seen the two naked, in the middle of the night in a flower thicket, how could he think that they were practicing advanced martial arts? It came out now due to anger, and he didn't care if he was falsely accusing them or not.

That night, Xiao Longnu was so angry that she threw up a pool of blood, almost losing her life. Now she heard him twisting his words and arguing his way, she couldn't stand it any longer, she stretched out her hand and lightly grabbed his chest, she said, "You'd better stop talking rubbish." She had completed the "Jade Heart Manual" and now the palm came out of nowhere, that, plus the fact that the "Jade Heart Manual" is the Black Star (the matching opposite) of Quanzhen's kung fu made the move extraordinary. Xiao Longnu's hand had gone through Zhao Zhijing's urgent attempt to repel it, grabbing his chest.

Zhao Zhijing blocked thin air and was startled, but the opponent's palm just touched his chest briefly and then immediately departed, he didn't feel anything and didn't take it to heart, he chuckled and said, "Why are you touching me? I'm not..." Before he finished, he's eyes suddenly went blank, a 'peng' sound was heard as he fell onto the ground, he had suffered a severe injury.

When Sun Bu'Er and Hao Datong saw their martial nephew hurt, they dashed forward to see his chi and blood had been forced upwards, his face was completely red as if he was drunk. Sun Bu'Er chuckled and said, "Fine, your Ancient Tomb sect really wants to start something with my Quanzhen sect." She held out a long sword, about to start a fight with Xiao Longnu.

Guo Jing urgently got out of his seat and stood between the two, he said, "We're on the same side, stop this fighting." He said to Yang Guo, "Guo'er, both sides are your Master and elders. Advise them to return to their seats, and then we can quietly clear things up."

Xiao Longnu had never thought that such a thing as not keeping to your word and breaking a promise existed, she was really troubled, she pulled Yang Guo's hand with a frown, saying, "Guo'er, let's leave, we won't see these people ever again!" Yang Guo followed her lead and took two steps forward.

Sun Bu'Er's sword moved and she shouted, "You've hurt someone and now you want to leave?"

Guo Jing saw that both sides were about to fight, he said seriously, "Guo'er, you must stop your feet, you must be a good person, don't destroy yourself and your name. I was the one who named you; do you know what the word 'Guo' means?"

When Yang Guo heard this, his heart trembled, he suddenly remembered all the events from when he was a child, thinking about all the sad and painful events he's been through, and then he thought, "How come it was Uncle Guo who named me?"

Guo Jing loved Yang Guo very much, it was unavoidable that he would want to plead and scold him deeply and severely.

Today he saw Yang Guo show himself in front of all these heroes, he was feeling delight and content when he suddenly found out that Yang Guo had done something he should never have done. His heart was anxious and urgent, his tone was especially strict, he continued, "Your deceased mother must have told you this before, your name is 'Guo', what are the words that accompanies it?"

Yang Guo remembered that his mother had told him this before, but then he was young, no one had used these words in regards him, he himself almost forgot it. Yang Guo replied, "They're 'Gai Zhi'."

Guo Jing said with a severe tone, "Correct, and what does it mean?"

Yang Guo thought for a while and remembered the literature that Huang Rong had taught him when he was younger, he said, "Uncle Guo is saying that 'if I have made mistakes then I must correct them'."

Guo Jing's tone now became gentler, he said, "Guo'er, people make mistakes, mistakes can be changed; this is the greatest advice. They are the words of the first virtuous men and sages. You've been disrespectful towards your seniors; this is a big mistake, think well about it."

Yang Guo said, "If I was wrong, of course I would change. But he..." He pointed to Zhao Zhijing and said, "He beat me, insulted me, lied to me and hated me, how can he still be my Master? Gu Gu and I are clean and innocent, the day can be our witness. I respect her, and love her, could it be that's wrong?" He said this boldly, with justice on his side.

Guo Jing's intelligence and verbal ability couldn't compare with his, how could he argue with him? But he knew that his actions were very wrong yet he didn't know how to tell him clearly, he could only say, "This... this... you're wrong..."

Huang Rong walked forward slowly and softly said, "Guo'er, Uncle Guo is looking out for your well being, you must understand this."

Yang Guo was moved by her soft and gentle words; he lowered his voice and said, "I know that Uncle Guo has always treated me extremely well." His eyes became red, he almost cried.

Huang Rong said, "He's giving you sincere advice, don't take this the wrong way."

Yang Guo said, "I don't understand, what, exactly, have I done wrong?"

Huang Rong's face sank and said, "You really don't understand, or are you deliberately stirring things up?"

Yang Guo was angry in his heart, he thought, "You have treated me well, I have paid you back well, what more do you want from me?" He bit down on his lips and didn't reply.

Huang Rong said, "Fine, since you want me to tell you the truth, I won't go around in circles. Since Miss Long is your Master, she is your senior, you cannot be lovers."

This rule was not unheard of by Yang Guo as it was by Xiao Longnu, but he couldn't accept it; why couldn't Gu Gu be his wife just because she taught him some kung fu? Why even Uncle Guo doesn't believe that he and Gu Gu have done anything immoral? When he thought about this, his anger erupted. He was already someone who wasn't afraid of neither heaven nor earth; now that he's being accused, he was even bolder and loudly said, "What have I done that has hindered you people? Who have I hurt? Gu Gu has taught me kung fu but I still want her to be my wife. Even if you chop me up into a thousand pieces I will still want her to be my wife."

These words shocked and startled those who heard it. The Song at that time adhered to customs and traditions strictly; where on earth have they heard such fearless, wanton and rebellious logic? The person that Guo Jing respected the most was his Master, when he heard this, his anger erupted and he dashed forward, stretching out his arm, grabbing his chest.

Xiao Longnu was shocked and stretched out her hand to block this grab. Guo Jing's martial arts were much stronger than Xiao Longnu's and now he was furious; he used all his strength, a lead and a wave and he had flung her over ten feet away. He stretched out his arm and grabbed Yang Guo's 'Celestial Charge' pressure point; with his left hand raised he shouted, "You animal, you dare to say such heresy?"

Yang Guo's lost all his strength by this grab, but there wasn't a shred of fear in his heart, he said, "Gu Gu loves me with all her heart; I treat her the same way. Uncle Guo, if you want to kill me then do it. But I will never change my mind."

Guo Jing said, "I treat you like my own son, I cannot allow you to do wrong and not change."

Yang Guo said proudly and boldly, "I haven't done anything wrong! I haven't done anything bad! I haven't harmed anyone!" Those words were like the sounds of metal clanging.

Everyone's heart shook when they heard this; his words really did have some reason in them. If a Master and disciple didn't say anything and they got married on some remote island or deserted location then no one would know about it, it would not affect anyone. But publicly announcing such a wrong really contradicts the mentality of the people of this time, and means becoming the scum of Wulin.

Guo Jing raised his palm and mournfully said, "Guo'er, my heart is in great pain, do you understand? I'd rather you die than let you do bad things, do you understand?" As he reached this point, his voice choked.

When Yang Guo heard him say this, he knew that if he didn't change what he said, Uncle Guo would kill him with one palm. Though he was crafty and sly at times, at this point, nothing could compare with his stubbornness, he said clearly, "I know I haven't done anything wrong, if you don't believe it then kill me."

Guo Jing raised his palm; what chance has he of living if the palm landed on his head? Everyone watched without making a sound, hundreds of eyes stared at his palm.

Guo Jing's palm stopped in midair for a second and he looked at Yang Guo again. He was biting down on his lips, his brows wrinkled. What Guo Jing saw was the picture of his father, Yang Kang, from years ago. His heart ached and he let out a long sigh, he loosened his right hand and said, "Think well about what you're doing." He turned around and went back to his place; he didn't take another glance at Yang Guo, his face was full of hurt and grief. He was extremely disheartened.

Xiao Longnu signaled to him with her hand and said, "Guo'er, these people are extremely unreasonable, let's go." She didn't know that just now, Yang Guo's life was hanging by a thread.

Yang Guo thought that the word 'unreasonable' was extremely apt, he stepped towards the exit, holding Xiao Longnu's hand as they went out. Outside the manor, they lead the skinny horse along as they made their way.

Everyone watched their backs as they left, a few were shocked, others despised them, some were regretful and a number of them were angry.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu walked shoulder to shoulder; it was deep into the night now. The two of them had finally reunited with each other; all the things that had happened today, the heated battle, the arguments, they were all clearly forgotten. They felt as though they were in heaven right now; all those wasted days they had lived apart before were in vain. Now there was no need to worry about the days that were to come. The two of them were linked to each other by thought; they didn't exchange a word as they walked on silently. The two arrived at a willow tree and sat down by the tree trunk. They gradually grew tired and fell asleep. The skinny horse was grazing on grass faraway, making quiet neighing noises.

The sky was bright when they woke up; the two looked at each other and smiled. Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu, where are we going?"

Xiao Longnu pondered for a while and said, "Let's go back to the tomb." Ever since she'd left the tomb she felt that, although outside was bustling and flourishing, it wasn't as carefree and comfortable as the tomb. Yang Guo was deep in thought, "If I could spend the rest of my life with Gu Gu in the tomb, I would have no other desires." Before, he longed for the outside world, hoping that she would let him leave the tomb but after going outside, he too longed for the quiet life in the tomb. The two of them slowly started to head north. One still called the other 'Guo'er', the other one still called the other 'Gu Gu', and they both felt that being together and calling each other this way felt the most natural.

By midday, the two started to talk about Jinlun Fawang's martial arts, they both said that his martial arts were excellent; it would be extremely hard to defend against it.

Xiao Longnu suddenly said, "Guo'er, we haven't completed the final stage of the "Jade Heart Manual", can you remember it?"

Yang Guo said, "I can remember it but we spent a lot of time pondering about it and still were unable to succeed; it seems like there's something wrong somewhere."

Xiao Longnu said, "Originally, I didn't understand it but last night when the Taoist nun took her precious sword out, it allowed me to remember something."

Yang Guo recalled the stance that Sun Bu'Er used last night and immediately understood, he called out, "Ah yes, yes, it requires the kung fu of the Ancient Tomb to be used simultaneously with the kung fu of Quanzhen, no wonder we've been going wrong."

When Lin Chaoying developed the "Jade Heart Manual" alone in the ancient tomb, she wanted to defeat the techniques of the Quanzhen sect; but her love for Wang Chongyang still had not been extinguished. When she devised the final stage, she imagined that one day she would be fighting shoulder to shoulder with her lover. Because of this, the stage requires one person to use the techniques of the "Jade Heart Manual", the other Quanzhen martial arts, mutually aiding each other and attacking together. That day, Lin Chaoying was filled with thoughts of love and affection, she was wrapped up in them; all those feelings were placed into this stage.

The pair of swords being horizontal and vertical is not the main aim; the most important aspect lies in fighting the enemy together hand in hand. But it wasn't appropriate to mark this matter of the heart down clearly on the rooms ceiling. When Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo first practiced, their love had yet to blossom; they had no way to understand what their Ancestor Grandma sought. When they studied, both of them practiced the formulae of their own sect so of course they could not grasp the intricacies within.

Both of them now understood; they went and broke off a willow branch each, and began to study the stances. Xiao Longnu slowly used the "Jade Maiden Sword", Yang Guo used the sword techniques of Quanzhen. After many stances, they felt that it was difficult to use them together harmoniously. The two of them did not envisage that when Lin Chaoying developed this particular swordplay, she was imagining herself fighting shoulder to shoulder with Wang Chongyang against an enemy. Every stance and move was designed to mutually protect the other. Right now, when Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo were studying it, they were treating each other as the enemy, thrusting and attacking each other. Killing the opposition was not what was intended. In reality, Lin Chaoying and Wang Chongyang were the first class fighters of the world at that time; there wasn't anyone that was a match for just one of them. This particular set of unity kung fu didn't have much use; it was just the unrestrained imagination of Lin Chaoying, showing her heart's feelings. When she developed this swordplay her martial arts had already reached their pinnacle; the stances, postures and power were pressing, tight and continuous, not allowing a hair to be out of place. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu did not understand the workings within and so, of course, it would be difficult for them to achieve this final level.

The two practiced for a while but still felt that something was wrong.

Xiao Longnu said, "It could be that we've remembered it wrong, let's go back to the tomb and clarify things and then practice it again."

Yang Guo was about to reply when suddenly the sounds of horse hoofs could be heard, and then a horse galloped past. The horse had red hair, the person on it was wearing purple, and they galloped past like the wind; it was Huang Rong who was riding on the little red horse.

Yang Guo didn't want to be troubled by the Guo family so he discussed with Xiao Longnu about changing paths and followed a small path instead so they won't bump into them again. Xiao Longnu was the Master; but aside from martial arts, she didn't understand anything else, she had no opinions. That night the two lodged in a small inn. Yang Guo slept on the bed, Xiao Longnu hung a rope across the room and slept on the rope. The two had decided to marry each other, but naturally they still followed the sleeping arrangements that they'd had in the tomb for years. After meeting again and practicing martial arts as they used to, when they thought about their loved one being by their side, both felt limitless delight.

By midday the next day, the two arrived at a large town. People were everywhere, horses came, carts went; it was a great atmosphere. Yang Guo took Xiao Longnu to a restaurant for something to eat; as soon as they went upstairs he was surprised as he saw Huang Rong and Wu brothers at a table eating.

Yang Guo thought that since they've met, it wasn't inappropriate for him to pretend that he didn't see them so he greeted them and called out, "Auntie Guo."

Huang Rong frowned, her face looked anxious and worried, she asked, "Have you seen my daughter?"

Yang Guo said, "No. Isn't sister Fu with you?"

Before Huang Rong could reply, the stairs rattled, and a group of people came up. The first person was tall and slender; it was Jinlun Fawang. Yang Guo quickly turned around and didn't carry on speaking with Huang Rong, he quietly went over to Xiao Longnu and whispered, "Turn your back, don't look at them."

But Jinlun Fawang's eyes were very sharp, all the people upstairs entered his eyes, he gave a chuckle and sat down at a table. Yang Guo was about to turn his head around when suddenly Huang Rong called out, "Fu'er!" He couldn't stop himself from turning his head, and saw Guo Fu sitting at the same table as Jinlun Fawang. Her eyes were staring at her mother but she didn't dare go over.

After Jinlun Fawang failed in his plan at the Lu Manor, he was angry and couldn't accept what had happened. He was trying to formulate a plan to turn defeat into victory; also Huo Dou had fallen victim to the Jade Bee needles. The poison was showing its effects; he tried many methods to cure this poison but none of them were effective. He had to find a way to get the antidote and so they didn't go far and stayed in the area around the Lu Manor. It was Guo Fu who happened to meet danger; in the early morning she took the red horse out for a ride, meeting this great enemy at this time. He took her off the horse in one swipe. The little red horse was quick witted; it dashed back to the manor and hissed out in distress incessantly. Guo Jing and the others knew that Guo Fu had met with danger; they were alarmed and immediately went out to look for her separately.

Though Huang Rong was pregnant, she still went and took the Wu brothers along to search for her. They saw Yang Guo and his Master. They didn't guess that it was Jinlun Fawang who was detaining Guo Fu; and then they too arrived at this particular restaurant.

When Huang Rong saw her daughter, she was happy but alarmed at seeing her in the hands of the enemy. After giving one call, she didn't say another word. Holding a pair of chopsticks in her hand and waving them about on the table, and trying to come up with a plan to save her daughter. Just as she was pondering, Jinlun Fawang suddenly said, "Chief Huang, is this your lovely daughter? Yesterday I saw her in your arms, relaxing; it was really charming."

Huang Rong gave a 'heng' sound, not replying.

Wu Xiuwen stood up and shouted, "And you're supposed to be a leader of martial artists! You lost in the duel so you went to bully someone's young daughter, aren't you ashamed?"

Jinlun Fawang ignored his words and continued, "Chief Huang, when we dueled yesterday, we were clearly the winner yet you people made up a lot of excuses and complications; that is not the action of good men. First give me the antidote and then we'll set a date for a duel; we'll compete fairly and properly for the place of the Chancellor of Wulin."

Huang Rong gave another 'heng' sound, not saying a word.

Wu Xiuwen said loudly, "First release Miss Guo; we'll deliver the antidote immediately and there'll still be time to discuss the matter of dueling again later on."

Huang Rong glanced over at Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu thinking, "The antidote is on them, yet you hastily promised them the antidote without knowing whether or not they'll give it to us."

Jinlun Fawang said, "Could it be that only you know how to use poisonous projectiles? You people used a poisonous needle to injure my disciple. I can also prick your daughter with a few poisonous needles. If you give me the antidote, then I'll cure her here. When it comes to releasing her, I'm afraid it won't be easy."

Huang Rong saw that her daughter looked normal, it looks like she wasn't hurt, but the love between a mother and daughter is deep, she didn't know what to do. There's a saying; 'worry then panic'; though she was matchless in terms of coming up with ideas and plans, right now, she was at her wit's end.

She saw the waiter bringing dishes and wine to Jinlun Fawang's table. Jinlun Fawang and the others ate heartily, talking and laughing. Guo Fu sat there frozen, just staring at her mother, not picking up her chopsticks. Huang Rong felt as if her heart was being cut open; she disturbed her internal chi and air and suddenly her lower abdomen ached.

After Jinlun Fawang finished eating and drinking, he stood up and said, "Chief Huang, follow us."

Huang Rong was startled and understood, not only is he going to take her daughter but he wanted to take her away as well. Right now everything was in place; she only had the Wu brothers at her side and they were not his match; she couldn't stop her face from completely changing.

Jinlun Fawang continued, "Chief Huang, there's no need for you to be frightened, you are an eminent person of Wulin, we will treat you with respect. Once a decision has been made about the position of Chancellor of Wulin, we will immediately return you to the south."

When he saw Huang Rong upstairs, he knew he had a great opportunity; all he had to do was capture her and the martial artists of the central plains would have no choice but to submit. This was a hundred times better than capturing Guo Fu; this really was the deal of a lifetime that had landed on his lap. Huang Rong was worrying about her daughter and didn't think about this possible situation.

The Wu brothers saw that their Master's wife was distressed; they knew they weren't a match but they couldn't just sit there doing nothing. A pair of long swords was drawn out to protect their Master's wife.

Huang Rong whispered, "Quickly jump out of the window, then go and find your Master for help."

The Wu brothers glanced at her and glanced at Guo Fu, then hurried to the window.

Huang Rong secretly cursed, "Idiot, how could you allow such a delay?"

Indeed, just a little delay and it was too late. Jinlun Fawang's long arms came sweeping out, each arm grabbing the back of a brother, like an eagle catching two little chicks. The Wu brothers urgently thrust their swords back but Jinlun Fawang didn't move out of the way; his arms swung a little, Wu Dunru's sword was now heading towards his little brother, Wu Xiuwen's sword was heading towards his big brother. They were startled; they quickly stopped the thrusts and flung their swords away. A 'dang lang' sound was heard as the swords landed on the floor with the Wu brothers avoiding injury.

Jinlun Fawang's arms shook as he flung the two over ten feet away and said, "Just be obedient and follow me." He turned his head towards Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu and said, "If you aren't with Chief Huang then leave at your convenience, but don't hinder my plans again. Your kung fu is excellent; take care and practice for another ten or twenty years, by then, you won't have a match under heaven."

He wasn't actually praising them; he knew that although Huang Rong, Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu's martial arts could not compare to his, if they fought together it would be difficult to handle them. Although he'll win, he may not be able to capture Huang Rong. Because of this he deliberately tried to divide them, concentrating on the trunk and ignoring the branches.

He didn't know that Huang Rong was pregnant and inconvenienced; he calculated that her extremely ingenious "Dog Beating Stick Technique" would make her a strong opponent.

Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'er, let's leave! That old monk is really powerful, we can't beat him." All that she hoped for was to return to the ancient tomb and spend the rest of her life with Yang Guo. She did not care about the world's blood affairs. When she saw Jinlun Fawang she was afraid and so immediately said what she was feeling. Yang Guo agreed; he stood up and went to the top of the stairs, thinking that, now that they're returning to the ancient tomb, most probably he won't ever see Huang Rong again. He couldn't stop himself from turning his head around and giving her another glance.

He saw her face looked bleak, her left arm holding her lower abdomen, showing that she was secretly in pain. Yang Guo thought, "Uncle and Auntie Guo were rather meddlesome in not allowing me and Gu Gu to be together, but they did not have any ill intentions. Today Auntie Guo's in trouble, how can I just leave like this? But the enemy is too strong; me and Gu Gu fighting together won't be a match for that Tibetan monk. I can't save Auntie Guo, so why should I throw away mine and Gu Gu's lives? It would be better for me to go and tell Uncle Guo and let him lead the rescue."

Yang Guo took Xiao Longnu's hand and moved his foot to walk down the stairs when he saw a Mongolian warrior going over to Huang Rong, coarsely saying, "Come quickly! Why are you delaying?" He stretched out his arm and grabbed her upper arm, treating her as a prisoner.

Huang Rong had been the Beggar Clan's Chief for over ten years, her position and status was respected by all in Wulin. Although she is in a distressing situation today, how could she allow herself to be disgraced by this ruffian? She saw a pair of hairy hands reaching out towards her and immediately swept her sleeve. The sleeve covered his wrist as she flung out and a 'hu' sound was heard as the fat body of the Mongolian warrior flew out of the window, landing in the street, barely alive. Huang Rong didn't want her hand to touch his wrist so she first covered his arm with her sleeve and then separated the sleeve throwing him away.

At first when they spoke politely, the people in the restaurant didn't take much notice of them; when they suddenly saw a fight had broken out, the restaurant was in chaos.

Jinlun Fawang chuckled and said, "Indeed Chief Huang has great kung fu." He copied the actions of the Mongolian warrior, stepping up to her and stretching out his hand to grab her arm. Huang Rong knew that he wanted to show off his martial arts; though he was using the same method, she could never do the same thing to him, she could only take a step back.

Yang Guo had taken a few steps down the stairs when he saw a struggle suddenly arising with Huang Rong about to suffer an insult; it stirred his heroic nature, he didn't care about the dangers to himself, he flew over and picked up the sword that Wu Dunru dropped. He used a stance of "The Green Dragon Exits the Sea", urgently thrusting towards Jinlun Fawang's back. He shouted, "Chief Huang is carrying a child and you're taking this opportunity to make your move, aren't you ashamed?"

Jinlun Fawang heard the noise of a blade cutting through air behind him, he didn't turn around and turned his finger towards the dull side of the blade, striking it. A 'dang' sound was heard; Yang Guo's arm trembled with numbness as the sword tip went downwards. Yang Guo quickly flew out of the way.

Jinlun Fawang turned around and said, "Young man, leave quickly! You're young yet your martial arts are not weak, in the future you will be able to far exceed me. But you are not a match for me now, why come forward to die by my hands?"

Those sentences both praised and warned Yang Guo. Jinlun Fawang hated the two of them for knocking his golden wheel out of the air and interfering with this plans to take the position of the Chancellor of Wulin. Right now, he weighed up what was more important; capturing Huang Rong was the number one objective, he didn't want to be distracted by other people. He hoped that Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu would leave this dispute and there'll still be time for him to vent his anger on the two juniors later on. He calls himself a Hero of Tibet; not only are his martial arts frightening, his scheming ability was rather good.

Those words were neither haughty nor humble, yet were not deceiving either. Yang Guo was young and when he heard that in the future his martial arts would be much better than Jinlun Fawang, he was secretly pleased. He laughed and said, "There's no need to be polite big monk, it's not easy to reach a level as high as yours. Chief Huang raised me, so don't give her any trouble. If she didn't have an illness, your martial arts might not be able to defeat hers. If you don't believe it, why don't you wait until she recovers and then have a duel with her?"

He knew that Jinlun Fawang thought very highly of his martial arts; goading him like this might actually change his mind and he'd let Huang Rong go. How would he know that Jinlun Fawang was worried about Huang Rong, Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu joining together to fight him. That was why he was polite towards Yang Guo. When he heard these words he glanced at Huang Rong's face; indeed her face did look distressed, her illness was not light. He thought, "Why should he be worried about the threat of Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu?" He then gave a chuckle and went over to the stairs, he said, "You stay as well!"

Xiao Longnu stood on the stairs with Jinlun Fawang between her and Yang Guo; she didn't like this and said, "Get out of the way monk, let him come down."

Jinlun Fawang frowned, he sent a stance of "Opening the Tablet with a Single Palm", his natural strength was already high, and attacking from above made this force even stronger. How could Xiao Longnu dare receive this stance head on? She was waiting for Yang Guo at the top of the stairs, she didn't leap backwards; her legs lightly lifted, she used her amazing lightness kung fu to pass the opponent's body to reach Yang Guo, standing shoulder to shoulder next to him.

When she was passing Jinlun Fawang's side, he stuck out his elbow but it missed; he was in awe of the swiftness and agility of her movements. Yang Guo picked up Wu Xiuwen's sword and passed it into her hand, he said, “Gu Gu, that monk is so rude, let’s give him a beating.”

A ‘qiang lang’ sound was heard as Jinlun Fawang took out a wheel from his gown; this wheel was the same size as his golden wheel but was dark green and was made out of iron. This wheel also had the Tibetan scriptures marked on it. He has a total of five wheels; golden, silver, bronze, iron and lead; when he met a strong enemy he really could send out all five wheels at once, but he had always used the golden wheel only. With it he had defeated countless strong enemies and because of this he received the nickname of ‘Jinlun Fawang’ (King of the Golden Wheel or Golden Wheel Monk). He had never used the other four wheels before so really, according to martial arts level he has reached, it should be ‘Wu Lun Fawang’ (King of the Five Wheels or The Five Wheeled Monk). In the Lu Manor, his golden wheel was taken out of the air by Yang Guo using the golden rod; now he took out his iron wheel and said, “Chief Huang, are you joining them as well?”

Though he saw that Huang Rong’s looked ill, he was still worried about her martial arts, he called her ‘Chief Huang’ to remind her of her status as the chief of a clan, joining up with others to fight one person would lower her.

Yang Guo called out, “Chief Huang is going home now; she hasn’t any time for you.” He turned around to Huang Rong and said, “Auntie Guo, take sister Fu and go.” He had made his decision; though he and Xiao Longnu would not be able to beat the enemy, they could force themselves to last a while. If it came to escaping, they would probably still be able to get away; luckily they weren’t fighting for victory but trying to escape from the devil’s grasp. So what if they had to run away pathetically?

He raised his sword and thrust towards Jinlun Fawang. Xiao Longnu saw that he was using the techniques of the “Jade Heart Manual” so she followed and attacked from the side; she hadn’t given any thought to it, when she saw Yang Guo attacking the monk, she too started to fight him to aid Yang Guo.

Jinlun Fawang used his wheel to block the two swords, but he didn’t like how cluttered the restaurant was, it hindered his movements. On one occasion he was fighting using his wheel, on another he kicked away the chairs and tables.

Yang Guo was thinking, “If we meet you head on, we’ll definitely lose; only by obstructing you will we last a little longer.” He saw that Jinlun Fawang was kicking away the tables and chairs, he did the opposite and pushed the tables and chairs in between them. His and Xiao Longnu’s lightness kung fu was superb, they darted around, not fighting the enemy properly; they would suddenly throw a jug of wine over, suddenly tip the dishes over causing the restaurant to be covered in wine and juices from the dishes.

Huang Rong took this opportunity to snatch Guo Fu back. After Da’erba fell under Yang Guo’s “Soul Altering Spell” he was out of it; sometimes he would be awake, sometimes in a daze. Huo Dou was seriously injured with the poison and the rest of the Mongolian warriors weren’t very skillful; how could they fend off Huang Rong?

Yang Guo called out, “Auntie Guo, leave quickly!”

But Huang Rong saw that the stances of Jinlun Fawang were lethal; even if Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu used all their strength it would be difficult for them to defend against the attacks. As of now they were able to fend him off by fighting like this, but once Jinlun Fawang finds a weakness and then makes his lethal move, how could their lives remain intact? Huang Rong thought, "He's risking his life for me, how can I look out for myself only and leave?" She stood at the entrance of the stairs, quietly watching the battle.

But the Wu brothers kept on urging Huang Rong, "Master wife, let's go, you're not feeling well, you need to take care."

At first Huang Rong ignored them but when they kept on pressing her she said angrily, "What use is it to learn martial arts if you don't behave with 'heroic' values? What use have you got living in this world? The one named Yang is a hundred times better than you. Huh, you brothers better think well about this."

The brothers felt embarrassed, their good intentions dismissed just like that by their Master's wife.

Guo Fu picked up the broken leg of a table off the floor and called out, "Brother Wu's, let's all fight him."

Huang Rong held her back and said, "Going up there with your lowly kung fu, do you want to die?"

Guo Fu pouted, not believing her mother. She saw that the stances that Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu weren't anything special, sometimes their form looked Masterly but the sword stances weren't at all lethal.

Every time Jinlun Fawang went to attack, the chairs and tables would impede him while Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu moved around vibrantly, flying here and suddenly darting there, fighting as they floated around.

He had a thought, he suddenly used the force in his legs, non-stop sounds of 'ka la ka la' were heard as the overturned tables and chairs were crushed and broken. He used the iron wheel in his hands to attack while his legs used the “Thousand Kilogram Fall”; the chairs and tables all broke wherever his legs were. After a while, the upstairs of the restaurant became covered by a layer of broken wood. The three of them battled on the debris without any obstructions.

Jinlun Fawang moved around in large steps, the iron wheel flashing around, ‘lang lang’ sounds were heard, his arms in motion as he attacked the two ferociously. There were now fewer tables and chairs in the way, so Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu had to use real martial arts to defend against him. Jinlun Fawang did not give an inch, on the fourth stance he smashed forward fiercely, a ferocious gust of wind rushed forward before the iron wheel even arrived.

Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo both thrust forwards, the sword tips striking the wheel, they were able to block this wheel with their combined strength but the swords were bent by the force.

The two used all their strength to repel the wheel, Yang Guo then thrust forward attacking the enemy’s upper body, Xiao Longnu cut urgently across the enemy’s left leg. Jinlun Fawang kicked out towards Xiao Longnu’s wrist, the iron wheel swerved and attacked Yang Guo’s neck. Yang Guo ducked and crouched to avoid the iron wheel. At that time, Jinlun Fawang suddenly let go with his right hand, the iron wheel dropped downwards towards Yang Guo’s head, at the same time Jinlun Fawang tried to grab Xiao Longnu’s shoulders with his free hand.

In just a flash of an eye, the two had fallen into great danger. Huang Rong gave an ‘ah’ cry and was about to go forward to save them when she saw Yang Guo swerve and fly just above the floor, before he touched down, the sword went towards Jinlun Fawang’s back. That stance achieved two aims at once, attacking and defending at the same time, solving the crisis he was in. He used the idea of 'surrounding Wei to save Zhao', and stopped Jinlun Fawang from attacking Xiao Longnu. This stance was called "The Wild Goose Attacks from the Side", a technique from Quanzhen swordplay.

Jinlun Fawang gave a 'yi' call, before the iron wheel fell on the floor, the back of his right leg knocked against the wheel sending the wheel flying up with 'lang lang' noises, smashing towards Yang Guo's head. In the midst of danger, Yang Guo had used a stance of Quanzhen swordplay which was surprisingly effective, so he used another Quanzhen stance, "The White Rainbow Traveling Across the Sky", the flat side of the sword struck the wheel.

The sword was light, the wheel heavy, that attack originally had no chance, but the strike was just at the right place, fulfilling the martial art theory of 'Four Liang Moving a Thousand Jin', and the iron wheel changed directions, flying towards Jinlun Fawang's head. Guo Fu clapped her hands as she watched with delight.

Jinlun Fawang dared to release his weapon because he thought that his enemies had no way to receive the wheel; if the opponent used their weapon to strike out against the wheel, even if it was a heavy whip or saber, once it meets the wheel the weapon will be knocked from the opponent's hand. He could not have predicted that Yang Guo had the ability to redirect the wheel! Jinlun Fawang was furious, he caught the wheel and secretly used his spin technique and sent the wheel flying out again. This time his internal energy was more pressing, the wheel made no sounds because the iron wheel was spinning too fast and the spheres in the wheel could not collide with each other. When Yang Guo struck the wheel for the first time, he used the techniques of the "Nine Yin Manual" unwittingly, this time when he stretched out his sword to strike the wheel; a 'dang' noise was heard as the sword shook out of his hands. Jinlun Fawang immediately used "The Falling Obelisk Hand", heavily smashing towards him. Yang Guo wasn't completely familiar with the techniques of the "Nine Yin Manual"; this time the force he put behind his strike was incorrect.

When Xiao Longnu saw Yang Guo was in danger, she twisted her trim waist and urgently thrust her sword forward. The force of this stance had an assured lethality, the appearance attractive and extremely graceful; she was actually using the martial arts of the final stage of the "Jade Heart Manual".

Huang Rong and her daughter watched with joy and both called out; "Wonderful!"

Jinlun Fawang took back his palm and leapt away, he used his wheel to fend off the sword. Yang Guo took this opportunity to recover his sword. Yang Guo really had escaped from the death's clutches just now, but when one is at death's door they are especially alert. He suddenly had a thought, "When Gu Gu and I both use the "Jade Maiden Swordplay", it was difficult for us to defend against him. But when I used the "Quanzhen Swordplay" and Gu Gu the "Jade Maiden Swordplay" we actually managed to turn danger into safety. Could it be that the final stage of the "Jade Heart Manual" is used this way?"

He immediately called out, "Gu Gu, "The Traces of Waves at Heaven's Cliffs"!" As he said this he slanted his sword and thrust forward.

Xiao Longnu didn't give it much thought and followed his instructions and used the "The Traces of Waves at Heaven's Cliffs" as stated in the manual, she waved her sword and chopped forward. The names of the stances are the same but they had a difference, one of them was a lethal sword stance from the "Quanzhen Swordplay", the other a dangerous stance from the "Jade Maiden Swordplay". When the two were used in unison, the power of it immediately increased to a frightening level.

Jinlun Fawang had no way to block both of the swords so he quickly moved back; two 'chi' sounds were heard as the swords thrust at his body. Luckily, he dodged appropriately, the two sword tips brushed past him and just made some holes in his clothes. He broke out in a cold sweat from the shock.

Jinlun Fawang urgently moved back another two steps to avoid the tip of the swords. He then heard Yang Guo call out, "'Flowers under the Moon'!" The attack came downwards, like an icy wheel hanging in the air; a light glimmering crossed the floor. Xiao Longnu's sword quivered, like a flower fluttering in the wind, cutting across to and fro, dazzling Jinlun Fawang's eyes, he didn't know where the attacks were coming from, he could only leap back to avoid it.

Yang Guo called out, "'Drinking Wine Purely'!" The sword handle was raised, the sword tip aimed downwards, like raising a wine jug and pouring the wine. Xiao Longnu's sword was the opposite, the tip aiming upwards towards her cherry lips, like raising a cup of wine and drinking it.

Jinlun Fawang saw that the sword stances of the two were becoming stranger and stranger, but they were matching each other; all the weaknesses of one were covered by the strengths of the other, and the lethal aspects of the stances were increasing without end. He was becoming more and more frightened, thinking, "The world is a large place, indeed there are many able people; how could I ever dream of such unimaginable swordplay in Tibet? Ai! I'm just a frog at the bottom of the well; I have seen little of the world's heroes." He was disheartened and looked even more like a defeated man.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu had studied this final level of swordplay many times without reward, now they were in extreme danger, the two of them concerned for each other. Both put the other's life above theirs as they rescued their lover first, fulfilling the main aim of this swordplay. Every stance of this swordplay displays actions done by two, perhaps "Stroking the Zither and Playing the Flute", or maybe "Sweeping Snow and Preparing Tea", or perhaps "Playing Chess under the Pine" or "Exchange of the Cranes by the Pond", all of them show a male and female together. The gracefulness and exquisiteness of the stances really was indescribable.

Lin Chaoying, lost in the game of love, spent the rest of her life in the tomb. She was versed in all the martial arts and literature, music and other arts; in the end she incorporated all the things she had learned in her life into this set of martial arts. When she was developing this set of martial arts, she was trying to comfort herself; how would she know that tens of years later, a pair of lovers would use this set of martial arts to fight off a strong enemy. This was something that she could never have predicted.

At first Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu did not completely understand the swordplay's ingenuity but eventually as they kept on using it, their proficiency in the swordplay kept on getting better. If the male and female who used this set of sword plays weren't lovers, there would be many aspects of the swordplay they would not be able to comprehend. The two would not have a feeling of being linked with each other. If it were friends who were teaming up they would be too polite, if it were a senior and junior it wouldn't be suitable to rely on each other. However, if it were a husband and wife, they would be able to use some of the Masterly aspects of this swordplay, but without the feelings of being drowned in love, the shyness, the feeling of being close yet far, the pain of gains and losses, they would be a level lower. Now Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were deeply in love but they had yet to marry, their hearts were concerned about the hardships of the future, they were joyous and sad, sweet and bitter, this feeling of gradually being linked with each other was what Lin Chaoying had intended to create when she developed the "Pure Heart of the Jade Maiden Sword".

Huang Rong watched from the side and she saw Xiao Longnu's cheeks going red, looking shy; Yang Guo would glance over at her all the time, returning her affection. Though they were fighting a strong enemy, they displayed their delights and joys, and the appearance of being deeply in love. Huang Rong couldn't stop from being startled, but at the same time she was infected by the two and she began to remember feelings and events when she fell in love with Guo Jing.

The restaurant was filled with the noise of a life and death battle, but in the midst of this, unexpectedly, there were the boundless feelings of love showing.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were now in tune with each other, it was even harder for Jinlun Fawang to defend. He regretted the fact that he had smashed up the chairs and tables earlier on, otherwise, with the table and chairs as obstructions, the enemies' attacks would not be as lethal and swift. He saw that if he continued, he would definitely lose his life. He retreated down the stairs, step by step. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu attacked from above and they saw that they were about to drive him away.

Huang Rong called out, "Rid the evil completely, Guo'er, don't let him go."

She saw that the reason why Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu could beat Jinlun Fawang was because of this ingenious swordplay. It was somewhat fortunate that they had come up with this. If they spared Jinlun Fawang today and let a person with such abilities in martial arts go back and study for a way to defeat this swordplay, when the need to take his life arises again in the future, the task would be extremely difficult.

Yang Guo agreed and launched a fatal attack, "Cultivating the Chrysanthemum in the Little Garden", "Speaking at Night at the Western Window", "The Couplet in the Willow's Shade", "Bamboo Falling into the Pond", when these stances came out, Jinlun Fawang nearly wasn't able to evade these attacks let alone trying to counterattack.

Yang Guo had originally listened to Huang Rong's instructions to take his life, but what he didn't know was that when Lin Chaoying developed this particular swordplay, she was doing this to comfort herself, there was no intention to wound or kill the enemy especially with a heart filled with love. Though this swordplay was powerful, it did not aim to take the opponent's life. Though Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu managed to force Jinlun Fawang to scramble around in a pathetic manner, taking his life was not an easy task.

Jinlun Fawang did not know about the background of this swordplay, he just saw that the opponent's extraordinary stances folded in on each other, he knew that the enemy had yet to unleash their most powerful move. If the two attack, his old life would be lost. In this danger, a plan came into his mind; he used strength in his legs and snapped a stair step. He knew that with the obstruction of the hole in the stairs between him and the two, they would have no way to advance. By the time that a third step was snapped, the long swords could not reach his body.

Jinlun Fawang raised his iron wheel and said, "Today, I have seen the martial arts of the central plains, I am completely in awe. What is the name of your swordplay?"

Yang Guo said seriously, "The martial arts of the central plains are led by the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" and the "Donkey Piercing Sword", our swordplay is the "Donkey Piercing Sword"."

Jinlun Fawang was startled and said, "'Donkey Piercing Sword'?"

Yang Guo said, "Yep, a swordplay that pierces bald donkeys."

Jinlun Fawang then knew that Yang Guo was insulting him, he was furious and shouted, "Rude punk, you'll get to know the power of Jinlun Fawang." The iron wheel rang out with 'lang lang' noises as he left taking large steps.

All they saw was his body floating away quickly like a flash, disappearing in the shadows by the corner. Yang Guo knew it would be difficult to catch up; he turned around and saw Da'erba stand up holding up Huo Dou, his face pale. He said, "Senior apprentice brother, are you going to kill me?"

Yang Guo saw that the two looked pitiful; he said to Huang Rong, "Auntie Guo, should we let them go?" Huang Rong nodded. Yang Guo saw that Huo Dou looked like he was in unbearable distress; he took out a bottle of Jade Bee honey from his pockets and pointed to Huo Dou. He took medicine to Da'erba and gave the jar to him. Da'erba was delighted and he chatted with Huo Dou for a while.

Huo Dou took out a packet of medicine and gave it to Yang Guo, he said, "The Senior who used the pen fell under my poison nails; this is the antidote."

Da'erba saluted Yang Guo and said, "Thank you Senior apprentice brother."

Yang Guo copied his actions and smiled as he imitated his Tibetan, "Thank you senior apprentice brother."

Da'erba was surprised, "Why did Senior apprentice brother call me Senior apprentice brother?" A thought went through his mind and then he understood, "He's reincarnated as another person and is allowing me to be the senior apprentice brother; he doesn't want to fight for this position with me." He was even more touched and bowed deeply, he stretched out his arms and picked up Huo Dou and then left with the rest of the Mongolian warriors.

Yang Guo gave the antidote to Huang Rong and made a salute, he said, "Auntie Guo, nephew will leave now. Auntie and Uncle Guo take care." He felt sad as he thought about how this would be the last time he would see her.

Huang Rong asked, "Where are you going?"

Yang Guo said, "Gu Gu and I are going to live in seclusion in a place where there will be no people, never leaving again to avoid bringing shame to your and Uncle Guo's name."

Huang Rong thought, "Today he has risked his life saving me and Fu'er, this is not a small deed; now I'm watching him going down this dark path, how can I not save him?" So she said, "There's no need to rush, we're all tired; we'll rest some rooms and rest for the night, we could part tomorrow." Yang Guo saw that she was earnest and sincere, it would be inappropriate to reject her offer so he agreed.

Huang Rong took out some money and gave it to the restaurant owner for the damages done, and then they went to an inn to rest. That night after supper, Huang Rong got rid of Guo Fu by telling her to go and talk with the Wu brothers; she called Xiao Longnu into her room and said, "Sister, I have something to give to you."

Xiao Longnu said, "What?"

Huang Rong pulled her in front of herself and took out a comb and brushed her hair, seeing her black silk hair hanging down across her shoulders, soft and shiny, extremely cute. She carefully rolled up her hair and removed a golden hair clasp from her own head and said, "Sister, I'm giving you this to wear."

The gold hair clasp was exquisitely produced; the body of it resembled the stem of a rose, the stem and flower looped around; the place where it connected formed an unfolding rose. Huang Yaoshi collected countless treasures, out of them she had picked out this golden hair clasp of masterly artisanship.

Xiao Longnu had never worn any type of jewelry, to tie her hair she used a pine hairpin; though she saw the hair clasp was striking, she did not think anything of it, she just thanked her casually. Huang Rong fitted the hair clasp on her hair and then immediately chatted with her in a leisurely manner.

After talking to her for a while, she found that Xiao Longnu was very innocent and naïve, she didn't know a thing about the ways of the world. Under the candlelight she saw her elegant and beautiful face, an extraordinary beauty; if she and Yang Guo weren't Master and disciple, the two really were a great match. She asked, "Sister, you really love Guo'er, don't you?"

Xiao Longnu beamed and said, "Yes, why won't you people allow him to be with me?"

Huang Rong was startled, she remembered the times when she was young, her father wouldn't allow her to marry Guo Jing, the Jiang Nan Seven Freaks called her a 'little witch', only after many trials and tribulations did she and Guo Jing finally marry. She saw that Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu really loved each other; could she make herself stop them?

But the fact is that they are a Master and disciple, if they become lovers it would be greatly unethical, what face would they have left with the heroes of the world? She gave a sigh and said, "Sister, there are many things that you don't understand about the world. If you and Guo'er become husband and wife, others will look down on you for a generation."

Xiao Longnu gave a slight smile and said, "What's so important about others looking down on me?"

Huang Rong was startled again, she felt that her words had the same attitude as that of she and her father, a real feeling of 'I do whatever I want'; not caring about the views of the world. When she thought about this, she nodded, such a character would not confine herself to the views of the world, but she then thought about the deep love and affection of her husband for Yang Guo. It wouldn't matter whether Yang Guo was going to become her son in law or not, she just hoped that his character and morals would be perfect, so she said, "What about Guo'er? Others will look down on him as well."

Xiao Longnu said, "He and I will live in a place where no one can see us for rest of our lives, happy for ever, why should we care about others?"

Huang Rong asked, "What place where no one can see you?"

Xiao Longnu said, "It is a large ancient tomb, I have always lived there."

Huang Rong was stunned and said, "Could it be that you would live in there forever and never come out?"

Xiao Longnu was very happy, she stood up and paced back and forth across the room and then said, "Yes, why go outside? The people outside are so bad."

Huang Rong said, "Guo'er has always roamed about since he was young, won't he be bored staying in an ancient tomb forever?"

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "With me by his side, why would he get bored?"

Huang Rong sighed and said, "At first of course he won't be bored. But after a few years he would start to remember the beautiful outside world, if he can't come out when he gets older, he would be greatly troubled."

Xiao Longnu was originally very happy and delighted; when she heard these words her heart sank and said, "I'm going to ask Guo'er, I don't want to speak with you anymore." She left the room.

Huang Rong saw that her beautiful face suddenly showed signs of being disturbed, her words just now had really hurt the heart of this innocent and naïve girl. She immediately felt rather regretful but she had another thought, she had seen many things but this pair of young lovers were deeply in love, even if these words aren't nice to the ear, it's the heart that matters. She thought, "What would Guo'er say?"

So she quietly went over to Yang Guo's window to listen to their conversation.

She heard Xiao Longnu ask, "Guo'er, would you be troubled if you spent the rest of your life with me? Would you get tired of it?"

Yang Guo said, "Why are you asking me again? You know that there isn't anything more I want in this world. We'll be together until we're old, our hair white and our teeth falling out, we would still love each other as we do now, not ever parting." His words were said earnestly and with real sincerity.

When Xiao Longnu heard this, her heart was moved, she couldn't stop herself from being overwhelmed, after a while she said, "Yes, my feelings are the same." She took out a rope from her bag and hung it across the room, she said, "Go to bed!"

Yang Guo said, "Auntie Guo said, tonight you should go and sleep in the same room as she and her daughter, I with the Wu brothers in another room."

Xiao Longnu said, "No! Why does she want two boys to be with you? I want to be with you and sleep with you." She waved her hand out and extinguished the oil lamp.

When Huang Rong heard these words outside, she was extremely startled, "Those two really are doing such things! Then the words of that old Taoist Zhao Zhijing weren't a lie!"

When she thought about the two of them sleeping together on the same bed, she felt that it would be inappropriate to eavesdrop on them and was about to leave when she suddenly saw a white flash going across the room. Someone was lying in midair, after moving for a bit, they stopped.

Huang Rong was surprised and used the moonlight in the room to see what was going on. She saw Xiao Longnu lying on a rope in midair while Yang Guo slept on the bed. Though the two slept in the same room, they kept their respect. Huang Rong stood in the courtyard, she felt that the actions of these two were greatly different to others, it really was difficult to discuss their rights and wrongs.

She stood there for a while and was about to enter her room to rest when she heard footsteps, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers had returned. Huang Rong said, "Dun'er, Xiu'er, you brothers go and get another room to rest in, don't stay with brother Yang." The Wu brothers agreed.

Guo Fu asked, "Mother, why?"

Huang Rong said, "It's none of your business."

Wu Xiuwen laughed and said, "I know why. Those two are a Master and disciple yet they aren't; that dirty couple is sleeping in the same room."

Huang Rong reprimanded him; "Xiu'er, what dirty things are you saying?"

Wu Dunru said, "Master wife, you are too kind, why should you care about those sorts of people? I won't speak to him."

Guo Fu said, "Those two saved us; that was a great deed."

Wu Xiuwen said, "Huh, I rather die by the hands of Jinlun Fawang than suffer a favour from animals."

Huang Rong didn't look happy, she said, "Stop talking, go and rest."

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu heard all this. Yang Guo had never gotten on with the Wu brothers ever since they were kids; he just snickered and didn't take it to heart.

But Xiao Longnu was carefully thinking, "Why is it that if Guo'er and I are together, he becomes an animal and us a dirty couple?" She couldn't grasp this and in the middle of the night she woke Yang Guo up and asked, "Guo'er, there is one thing that you must answer truthfully. After living with me in the ancient tomb for a few years, would you start to think about the outside world?"

Yang Guo was startled and didn't reply for a while. Xiao Longnu continued to ask, "If you don't go out, would you become troubled? Though your love for me will never change, would you get bored living in the tomb for such a long time?"

Yang Guo felt that it was difficult to answer these questions, as he thought about it, living with Xiao Longnu forever really would be better than living as a god; but in a cold and dark tomb, even if he didn't get tired of the tomb in ten or twenty years, what about in thirty years? What about forty years? Replying casually, "I would never get bored" would be easy but he has always been frank and true towards Xiao Longnu, he had never said half a lie to her. He pondered for a while and said, "Gu Gu, if we get bored and tired of living in the tomb, we'll go out together."

Xiao Longnu gave an 'en' sound, not saying anymore. She thought, "Mrs. Guo's words weren't a lie. In the future he will get bored and will leave the tomb, and then everyone will be looking down on him, how can he live like that? Why do people look down on him if he and I get together? It looks like I'm an ominous person. I love him, I care for him; I would give my life for him. But these feelings will lead him to have an unhappy life; it looks like it would be better for him not to marry me. It must be for that reason that he refused to agree to marry me that night on Mount Zhongnan."

She kept on going over this in her mind for a long while. Yang Guo's breathing slowed; he was in deep sleep. Xiao Longnu leapt down lightly and went to his bedside, she stared at his handsome face, her heart was in a mess, her emotions kept on turning over, she couldn't stop tears from flowing.

Yang Guo woke up the next morning and felt his shoulder and head was wet; he was slightly surprised and saw that Xiao Longnu wasn't in the room. He sat up and saw some words carefully carved on the table with a golden needle.

'Take care, forget about me.'

Yang Guo's mind immediately became a confused; he stood there stunned and was at his wit's end. He saw that the tears on the table had yet to dry, the dampness on his shoulder and head were also caused by her tears. He wasn't thinking straight, he opened the window and leapt out, calling out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu!"

The waiter of the inn came over to serve him. Yang Guo asked him when the girl in white left and which direction she headed in. The waiter stared at him; he didn't know how to reply. Yang Guo knew that the opportunity to find her was ever diminishing, if he can't find her today; then there may not be a chance to see her ever again. He went to the stables and leapt onto the skinny horse. At this time, Guo Fu came out of her room and asked, "Where are you going?"

Yang Guo heard but didn't reply, he hurried to the main road and galloped north, in a short while he had gone over tens of li. He kept on calling out, "Gu Gu, Gu Gu!" on the way but where was Xiao Longnu?

After a little while, he saw Jinlun Fawang and his followers on horseback heading west. They all felt shocked when they saw him riding by himself. Jinlun Fawang pulled his reigns and galloped towards him.

Yang Guo had not brought a weapon with him, meeting the enemy like this was extremely dangerous but the only thing on his mind right now was Xiao Longnu, he didn't even consider his own safety. When he saw Jinlun Fawang coming towards him, he actually turned his horse towards him and went forward to meet him, he asked, "Have you seen my Master?"

Jinlun Fawang was surprised that he didn't run away, he was even more startled when he heard him ask this, he casually replied, "No, isn't she with you?"

At first both of them didn't really think too deeply as they asked and replied, but shortly after, both of them thought about how Yang Guo, being by himself, was not a match for Jinlun Fawang. The two of them looked each other in the eye and both knew. Yang Guo kicked his legs as Jinlun Fawang sent out a hand to grab him. But the skinny horse was exceptionally spirited; it galloped like the wind past him. Jinlun Fawang tried to catch up but Yang Guo and the horse had galloped afar, it would be difficult to catch up with him. Jinlun Fawang had a thought and reigned in his horse, "Since he and his Master has separated, what more have I got to be afraid of? If Chief Huang hasn't gotten far... ha-ha...!" He then gathered his men and led them back.

Yang Guo searched for another while and still there was no trace of Xiao Longnu within tens of li. Emotions stirred in his heart, he felt dizzy and shaky and almost fainted on the back of the horse. He thought with sadness and lamented, "Why did Gu Gu leave me again? How have I offended her again? She cried many tears before she left, she's not angry with me." He suddenly thought of something, "Ah, yes, it must be because of what I said about getting tired of the ancient tomb, she thought that I didn't want to spend the rest of my life with her." His eyes glistened as it became clear as to what he should do, "She's returning to the tomb. I'll just go back and be with her." Yang Guo's tears turned into smiles and he flipped over a few times on the horse's back.

Now, as the horse dashed and galloped, he wasn't thinking straight and didn't clarify which direction he was heading in. Then he settled down, he determined where north was and turned the horse around and headed for Mount Zhongnan. The more he thought about it the more he believed this was most likely as to where she would be. Most of the pain and despair had now disappeared. He opened his mouth and sang a mountain song.

After midday, he arrived at a small roadside eating place. He finished eating some buns but remembered that when he left in a rush, he forgot to bring money with him. When the owner of the shop was off guard, he quickly leapt onto the horse and galloped away. He heard the insults of the owner from faraway, but what could he do to Yang Guo? He couldn't stop himself from laughing inside.

He continued traveling until 'shen pai shi fen' (evening), all he saw in front of him now was a dense, dark and deep forest, shouts and insults could be heard from within the forest. He was slightly alarmed and listened closely; it was the voices of Jinlun Fawang and Guo Fu.

He knew something was wrong and leapt off the horse. He placed the reigns on the saddle and hid behind trees. He slowly followed the voices and after about a hundred feet or so, he saw Huang Rong and her daughter with the Wu brothers fending off Jinlun Fawang in a pile of jumbled rocks deep in the forest. He saw bloodstains on the faces and clothes of the Wu brothers, Huang Rong's and Guo Fu's hair was in a mess, and they looked wretched. It appeared that if it wasn't for the fact that Jinlun Fawang wanted to keep them alive, they would have long ago died by his iron wheel.

Yang Guo watched for a while and thought, "Gu Gu is not here, if I go up and help them I could lose my life for no reason. What should I do? How can I save Auntie Guo? He suddenly saw Jinlun Fawang send his wheel smashing out; Huang Rong had no way to receive this attack and retreated backwards behind the pile of rocks. Jinlun Fawang hovered around the outside of the rocks, he actually couldn't attack her.

Yang Guo was surprised, he took a closer look and saw that Guo Fu and the Wu brothers also relied on the rocks to avoid danger, in the midst of this danger all they had to do was hide behind the rocks. Da'erba and the others circled from afar, they could close in from any direction; at that time, Guo Fu and the others would hide behind another pile of disorderly rocks.

Yang Guo was extremely surprised, those normal looking pile of rocks actually had such an ingenious use; it really was uncanny. It looked like Huang Rong and the others would be safe from danger but there was no way for them to leave the rock formation.

Jinlun Fawang kept on attacking without stop, though he managed to injure the Wu brothers, it wasn't life threatening, and on their side, one of the Mongolians died by Guo Fu's sword. He saw that there was something strange with this pile of rocks formed by Huang Rong; he first had to grasp and see through the theories behind it before he could get to the four.

He had always thought highly of his intelligence, it's not too urgent at the moment since they can't escape his clutches. Once he's seen through this formation he'll break into it and capture them, showing his power. So he waved out his left hand and ordered his men back, he also retreated back ten feet or so, staring at and studying the rock formation. Most formation uses variations of the 'Wu Xing Ba Gua' trigram; Jinlun Fawang was well versed with these types of tactics, he thought that although the formation was strange, it won't be too far off from the theories of the five elements.

He studied it for a long while, when it looked like he saw through an aspect of the formation, he pondered on it further and it then didn't make sense. The left wing was correct but the right wing changed, when he seemingly saw through the front of the formation, it was difficult to understand the back of it. He was taken aback by this, he was startled and in awe. He excelled in everything, a real outstanding person of the world; with this difficult problem in front of him, he wanted to rely on his own intellect to solve it.

Yang Guo watched as Jinlun Fawang stood there without moving, his eyebrows raised; suddenly his eyes glistened and he flashed over, breaking into the formation, grabbing Guo Fu's arm and quickly retreated. Huang Rong and the brothers were extremely shocked with this sudden change of events. They were at their wit's end, if they left the formation to rescue Guo Fu, they would definitely suffer under his hands.

What had happened was that Guo Fu became careless when she saw the enemy frozen like that; she didn't follow her mother's instructions as to where to stand and was out of the formation's protection. When Jinlun Fawang saw this opportunity he immediately went over and captured her; he then sealed a pressure point on the side of her body and placed her down on the ground. He deliberately kept her mute pressure point unsealed, letting her call out and plead, wanting her to agitate Huang Rong into exiting the formation.

Guo Fu felt her body ache unbearably and she couldn't stop herself from calling out. How could Huang Rong not know what the enemy was planning, but when she heard the calls of her daughter, her heart ached unbearably, she could only bite down on her lips and endure it.

From behind a tree Yang Guo understood what was happening. He saw Huang Rong raising her stick, about to come out from the rock formation and rescue her daughter; this was extremely dangerous, he didn't give it much thought and suddenly leapt out and grabbed Guo Fu from behind, throwing himself forward into the rock formation.

Jinlun Fawang's iron wheel flew out towards Yang Guo's back. Yang Guo was in midair, it would be difficult to dodge this attack; he pushed Guo Fu towards Huang Rong and used the "Thousand Kilogram Fall". His body dropped straight down and fell down solidly onto the pile of rocks, he heard the 'qiang lang lang' sound of the iron wheel brushing past his head, the wheel circled around and came back into Jinlun Fawang's hand.

Huang Rong hugged her daughter lovingly. She saw Yang Guo pick himself up from the rocks, his eyes were green and nose bruised, she quickly stretched out her stick and led him into the formation.

Jinlun Fawang's plan had failed and again it was due to Yang Guo, but instead of being angry he was actually pleased, he gave a chuckle and said, "Fine, coming here now saves me the trouble of finding you later on."

Yang Guo risked his life for this rescue out of righteous indignation; only after entering the formation did he see that by doing this, his life would most probably end soon. He would never have the opportunity to see Xiao Longnu ever again. He couldn't stop himself from feeling regret.

Huang Rong asked, "Where's your Master?"

Yang Guo gloomily said, "She suddenly left in the middle of the night, I was in the middle of searching for her."

Huang Rong sighed and said, "Guo'er, why did you have to risk your life again?"

Yang Guo gave a bitter laugh and shook his head, he said, "Auntie Guo, I'm not too bright, once my emotions get the better of me I can't control myself."

Huang Rong said, "Good child, you have a great heart, your father..." She stopped mid sentence.

Yang Guo's voice trembled, "Auntie Guo, my father was a bad person, wasn't he?"

Huang Rong's head hung down and said, "You want to know about it?" She suddenly called out, "Careful, come over here!" She pulled him over two piles of rock and avoided Jinlun Fawang's sneak attack.

Yang Guo took a look at the rock formation in awe, he said, "Auntie Guo, there isn't anyone one else in the world who has your intelligence and wisdom."

Huang Rong unsealed her daughter's pressure point and massaged her; she gave a slight smile but didn't reply.

Guo Fu said, "What do you know? My grandfather taught my mother's skills. My grandfather is as intelligent."

Yang Guo had seen the handwriting and articles of Huang Yaoshi before when he was on Peach Blossom Island but then he was young, he didn't understand the intricacies within it. When Guo Fu reminded him, he nodded and drifted away, he sighed and said, "When will I be able to greet this Senior? If I do my life won't be all in vain."

Suddenly Jinlun Fawang charged past two rock formations and attacked. Yang Guo didn't have a weapon and quickly picked up the stick that Huang Rong had flung on the ground and dashed out to stop him, he sent out two strokes with the stick, using the "Dog Beating Stick Technique". Jinlun Fawang saw that his stick technique was profound, he concentrated and fought with him, after a few stances, both of them suddenly tripped up on the jumbled rocks, both stumbled. Fawang was afraid that he would be ambushed and leapt out of the formation.

Huang Rong led Yang Guo back and ordered Guo Fu and the Wu brothers to move the stones and change the formation. She asked Yang Guo, "Where exactly did you learn this stick technique from?"

Yang Guo told her the truth about how he met Hong Qigong on Mount Hua, how the Northern Beggar dueled with Western Poison, how Hong Qigong taught him the "Dog Beating Stick Techniques". He then told her of the passing of both Hong Qigong and Ouyang Feng.

Huang Rong felt deep sorrow at this news, but then sighed and said, "You've come upon such extraordinary meetings; it really is rare to come across such events." She suddenly had a thought, and said, "Guo'er, you are very clever, think of a way to escape today's dangers."

Yang Guo looked at her, judging from her expression she had already thought of a plan, he pretended he didn't know and said, "If you were feeling well, me and you could beat Fawang; or if we could get my Master to come here, then that would be a way as well."

Huang Rong said, "How can my health recover over such a short period of time? We don't know where your Master has gone. I have another plan; it involves the rock formation. This formation was devised by my father, there are hundred of variations; we haven't used even twenty percent of them yet." Yang Guo was shocked and pleased, he sighed in awe as he thought about the knowledge that Huang Yaoshi possessed.

Huang Rong said, "My Master only taught you the stances of the "Dog Beating Stick Technique", and you've only heard the main points of the formulae while you hid in the tree. I'm now going to teach you all the profound and subtle variations and changes of this technique."

Yang Guo was delighted but he pretended to dismiss this, he said, "I'm afraid that won't do, the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" is passed onto the Beggar Clan's Chief only, it has never been passed onto an outsider."

Huang Rong rolled her eyes, she said, "What are you trying in front of me now? My Master has taught you thirty percent of this technique, you learnt another twenty percent when you eavesdropped, today I'll teach you another twenty percent. The final thirty percent relies on your intelligence and how you grasp and understand the technique; no one can teach you this. One, no one is teaching you the whole thing, two, today's situation is desperate, just follow the order."

Yang Guo knelt down on the ground and bowed to her, he smiled and said, "Auntie Guo, when I was young you said you were going to teach me martial arts, today you are teaching me.”

Huang Rong gave a subtle smile and said, “You’ve always bitterly kept this in your heart, haven’t you?”

Yang Guo said, “How would I dare?”

Huang Rong then quietly imparted all the aspects of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” to him.

From outside the rock formation, Jinlun Fawang saw Yang Guo kowtowing to Huang Rong, the two of them laughed as they talked, he didn’t know what on earth they were trying now. It appeared that they were confident about the situation, and it looked like they weren’t even giving him a second thought. Though he was angry, he had always been careful and meticulous; though he knew that their martial arts could not compare with his, the two of them are extremely crafty. Why should he be careless and fall into their traps? He wanted to see through what they had in mind and then make his decision.

Luckily, he slowed his attacks; without the distraction of the enemy, Huang Rong passed on everything to Yang Guo in under an hour’s time.

Yang Guo’s intelligence and perception was a hundred times better than Lu Youjiao; if you asked him one thing he knew ten, if you ask him to raise one point he raised three. He had spent a great deal of effort in learning this technique and had pondered hundreds of times on the things he didn’t understand. Because of this fact, when Huang Rong advised and pointed him in the right direction, he immediately understood and grasped everything about the technique.

From afar, Jinlun Fawang saw that Huang Rong looked at ease, her lips moving slightly yet Yang Guo was scratching his ear and touching his cheeks; he didn't know what the two were conjuring up, most probably it wasn't to his best interests, he should break up their conversation.

After listening to the important aspects, Yang Guo asked ten or so difficult questions. Huang Rong explained it all to him. She said, "Good, since you can ask these questions then that means you understand a great deal. The second stage is to trap the monk in the formation."

Yang Guo was startled and said, "Capture him?"

Huang Rong said, "What's so hard about that? With you and I teamed up, we've got more intelligence and strength than needed. Right now, I'm going to explain the key points of this rock formation to you. You most probable won't be able to understand it in such a short time but luckily you have a great memory, all you've got to do is remember thirty six different types of changes." She then started to list them: how the green dragon appears as the white tiger, how the black forces transforms into the vermillion sparrow.

The rock formation was derived from Zhuge Liang's 'Central Map of the Eight Formations'. Years ago, Zhuge Liang had set up a formation on the shores of the Changjiang River using stone slabs. After Dong Wu's general Lu Xun entered the formation, it was difficult for him to escape.

Now, Huang Rong had set up one of Zhuge's methods, but because time was pressing, Huang Rong did not set up the formation completely, however only a few things were missing. Even so, the formation disturbed Jinlun Fawang, he stared at the five of them but he didn't dare make a move.

The thirty-six variations of this formation were very complicated, even with Yang Guo's intelligence he could only remember ten or so changes.

It was now evening, Jinlun Fawang slowly waited to make his move.

Huang Rong said, "With these ten or so changes; it's enough to trap him. Go out and lure him into the formation, I'll then change it and trap him in there."

Yang Guo was delighted and said, "Auntie Guo, if I visit Peach Blossom Island again, would you be willing to teach me this type of skill?"

Huang Rong gave a smile, and said, "If you are willing to visit the island, why wouldn't I be willing to teach you this? You risked your life and saved Fu'er and I twice now, could I still treat you the same way as before?"

When Yang Guo heard this, he was filled with an extremely relaxed and comfortable feeling throughout his chest; what does it matter whether Huang Rong teaches him or not? He felt that even if he had a hundred deaths he would not have any regrets. He raised his bamboo stick and exited the formation calling out, "Rusty old Jinlun Fawang if you've got guts then come over and go through three hundred stances with me!"

Jinlun Fawang was worried that they had planned something in the formation to ambush him; he couldn't have asked for more when he saw Yang Guo coming out of the formation. The iron wheel rang 'qiang lang lang' as he chopped out. He was afraid that Yang Guo would escape back into the formation if he started to lose; after the first two stances, he had already blocked his path back, forcing him as far away from the formation as possible.

How could he know that after Yang Guo learned the important aspects of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” his technique was superb? When he used the eight key formulae of ‘trip’, ‘chop’, ‘coil’, ‘poke’, ‘stir’, ‘seal’, ‘lead’ and ‘turn’, the variations and changes were indeed subtle and ingenious. When he made a careless attack, Yang Guo poked him in the leg, though he managed to shut his pressure point to the danger and stop injury, the pain lasted a long time.

He didn’t dare be careless after he suffered that attack, he spun his wheel and concentrated on the battle; though his opponent was just a young man in his teens, he treated him as formidable enemy. He attacked with respect and defended tightly, looking upon him as a great Master.

When he did this, Yang Guo immediately felt he couldn’t hold on; though the “Dog Beating Stick” was ingenious, it is difficult to perform straight after learning it. Yang Guo used the ‘seal’ formulae to block the attack of the iron wheel and then shifted his legs, suddenly going east and then surging west.

Jinlun Fawang followed the changes of his bamboo stick, he felt that it was about time to act. When he saw Yang Guo surging and attacking away from the formation Fawang kept on moving backwards to lure him as faraway from the formation as possible. He didn’t predicted that after moving back over ten or so steps, his right leg suddenly tripped over a large rock; he had unwittingly been lured into the formation.

He knew something was wrong. He then heard Huang Rong call out, “The Vermillion Sparrow Displaces the Green Dragon, the ‘Xun’ position changes to the ‘Li’, wood into water.”

Guo Fu and the Wu brothers shifted the rocks and changed the formation. Jinlun Fawang's face lost its colour from shock, he stopped his wheel to inspect the surroundings, while Yang Guo's bamboo stick coiled its way around towards him. Though Yang Guo's "Dog Beating Stick Technique" wasn't good enough to meet him head on, it was more than enough to confuse and distract him. Fawang's legs were tripped up a few times and he almost couldn't stand up. He knew that this formation was powerful, the longer he was in it the more confusing it became. In this danger he shouted and leaped up on top of a pile of rocks. Normally, being on top of the rocks keeps one from being trapped and confused by the formation and allows them to regain their sense of direction. He thought that if he went forward in a straight line he will be able to get out of the formation. But he didn't know that he just went from east to west, north to south, and had circled around a couple of times over an area of a hundred feet. Eventually his vigor was depleted and he stopped on the rocks. As soon as he landed on top of the pile of rocks, Yang Guo waved out the bamboo stick to his leg. Fawang's weapon was short and couldn't be used to protect all of his body; he could only drop down back to the ground and sweep out his wheel to counterattack.

After another ten or so moves, the sky had darkened, he was surrounded by rocks everywhere; the formation seemed to give off an eerie air. Even someone as bold as he couldn't stop himself from being slightly frightened, suddenly his mind lit up; he had a plan.

His left leg lifted up, a twenty plus kilo (44lb) stone was lifted in the air and sent flying. His right leg came out and another large stone went flying. He darted around, his legs kept on kicking out, the rocks collided with each other and sparks flew. In a flash, the formation had been broken.

Huang Rong, Yang Guo and the others were extremely shocked by this and they had to keep on moving to avoid the rocks falling from the sky.

If Jinlun Fawang just wanted to leave the formation it couldn't be easier, but he turned defense into attack and his left palm came searching out to capture Huang Rong. Yang Guo sent the tip of the stick towards his back, Fawang swerved his iron wheel and repelled it; however, his left palm had hung onto Huang Rong's shoulder. If she leapt back she could have avoided this but she heard a urgent gust of wind coming down, a large rock was smashing down behind her at that time, she could only use the "Great Trapping Hand" to reverse his grab and hooked onto his left wrist.

Jinlun Fawang said, "Good!" He let her hook his left wrist and waited for her to use force to fling him away; he suddenly circulated his strength and pulled her towards him.

If it was any other time, Huang Rong could have circulated her internal energy and escaped from this pull, but right now she didn't have sufficient internal energy, she called out, "Ai ya!" and fell.

Yang Guo was extremely alarmed; he threw away any care for his life and threw himself forward, grabbing Jinlun Fawang's legs. The two of them started to fall.

Jinlun Fawang's martial arts were much higher than his, before they hit the ground, his right palm had come waving out towards Yang Guo's chest. Yang Guo quickly stretched out his left arm to block it; a 'pai' sound was heard as their palms struck. Yang Guo felt blood surging upwards from his chest; his body flew away like a rock.

Just at this time, the last remaining rock fell down fiercely from the sky; a 'peng' sound was heard as it struck Jinlun Fawang on the back.

It was an extremely heavy collision, even if Jinlun Fawang's internal energy were higher, he would not be able to take it, though he circulated his internal energy to divert the rock away, his body wobbled a few times and he eventually fell forward onto the ground.

In a short period of time, the formation had been broken and stones had rained down. Huang Rong, Jinlun Fawang and Yang Guo were all on the ground injured.

End of Chapter 14.

Chapter 15 - The Disciples of Eastern Heretic

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo saw a girl in blue green by the window, her left hand was holding down a piece of paper, her right holding a pen, she was in the middle of doing calligraphy. Her back was towards the couch and he couldn't see her face, her back was slender with a fine waist, extremely elegant and beautiful.

Inside the formation were the extremely shocked Wu brothers and Guo Fu; outside the formation were Da'erba and the Mongolian warriors. They dashed forward to rescue Fawang. Da'erba had terrifying strength, there were many skilled fighters within the crowd of Mongolian warriors; how could Guo Fu and the Wu brothers fight them off? Suddenly a swaying Jinlun Fawang stood up and waved his iron wheel, the 'qiang lang lang' sounds were soul disturbing, his face was pale. He laughed out at the sky yet his laugh was filled with a cold and mournful feeling; the band of people all looked at each other startled and stopped their advance.

Jinlun Fawang hissed, "I have never suffered even half an injury whilst in battle in my entire life; today I actually injured myself." He stretched out his hand and grabbed Huang Rong's back.

Yang Guo's chest was severely injured by Jinlun Fawang's palm, he didn't have any strength to stand up and crawled across the ground; when he saw Huang Rong in danger he again swept out his stick to repel this grab. But as soon as he used any strength, he spat out a pool of blood.

Huang Rong said mournfully, "Guo'er, we give in, don't fight on, take care of yourself."

Guo Fu raised her long sword and protected her mother.

Yang Guo quietly said, "Sister Fu, run away quickly, it's important to tell your father about this."

Guo Fu's mind was in a mess, she knew her martial arts were poor but how could she leave her mother?

Jinlun Fawang swung his iron wheel slightly and the wheel collided with Guo Fu's sword, a 'dang' sound was heard and a white light glimmered, the sword flew up into the air and landed in the forest.

Jinlun Fawang was about to push her out of the way and grab Huang Rong when suddenly a girl's voice from behind said, "Wait!"

A blue green flash leapt out of the forest. She stretched out her hand to catch the sword and hurried to the middle of the pile of rocks.

Jinlun Fawang saw that her face was extremely terrifying; it looked three parts human and seven parts ghost, he has never seen such a strange face before in his life. He couldn't stop himself from being startled and said, "Who are you?"

The young girl didn't answer and pushed a rock in between Jinlun Fawang and Huang Rong. She said, "You're the famous Jinlun Fawang?" Her face was ugly but her voice was gentle and tender.

Fawang said, "Correct, what is your name?"

The girl replied, "I'm a nameless young girl, you won't know me." As she said this, she moved another slab of stone three inches.

The sun had gone down long ago; the forest was full of darkness. Jinlun Fawang's mind lit up and shouted, "What are you doing?" He was about to stop the girl from moving the stones when she suddenly called out, "The Horned Wooden Dragon Changes into the Overbearing Golden Dragon!"

Guo Fu and the Wu brothers were startled and they all pondered, "How does she know the changes of the formation?" But they heard her voice had a commanding tone and immediately started to move the rocks according to her instructions. Four, fives stones were moved, the scattered formation changed again.

Jinlun Fawang was alarmed and angry, he shouted, "Little girl, you dare to come and mess things around!"

He just heard her say, "The Moon Fox Turns into the Day Rabbit, the Crow of the Final Moon Shifts into the Wooden Wolf of 'Kui', Bat of the Earth Enters the Room of the Fire Pig." All the things that she called out were the twenty-eight positions of 'su'. Guo Fu and the Wu brothers felt that the way she led the formation was exactly the way that Huang Rong did while she led formations. They were delighted and used all their efforts in moving the rocks; they saw that they were about to trap Jinlun Fawang in the formation again.

Jinlun Fawang had circulated his internal energy with force to protect himself from the wound from the collision with the rock; though the injury didn't react for now, he actually had a serious internal injury. He had no way to start kicking the stones again. He knew that in just a little while he would be trapped in the stone formation again; his disciple Da'erba was brave but he doesn't understand the formation and so it would be difficult for him to help. He saw that Huang Rong was picking herself up, struggling to stand upright; all he needed to do was take a few steps forward and he would be able to capture her. But saving himself was more important right now; he picked up his iron wheel and sent an attack towards Wu Xiuwen's head.

After he suffered the injury his arms had no strength; he was forcing himself to move the iron wheel. If Wu Xiuwen had a sword, he would be able to knock the wheel out of his hands. But Fawang was surrounded by a powerful air; though the stance had no force behind it, it still looked like the real thing. How could Wu Xiuwen dare to take this attack; he immediately withdrew back into the formation.

Jinlun Fawang slowly walked out of the formation and stood there in a daze for a while thinking, "I'm afraid that I'll never get an opportunity as good as this again. Could it be that heaven is protecting the Song and stopping me from succeeding? The Wulin of the central plain have many able people; these few youngsters are already versed in both the arts and martial arts. Just they alone make strong opponents; our Mongolian and Tibetan warriors pale by comparison." He held his chest and sighed. He turned around and walked away. Ten or so steps later, a 'qiang lang lang' sound was heard; the wheel had fallen to the ground as he struggled to stay up.

Da'erba was alarmed and called out, "Master!" He dashed over and held him up and said, "Master, are you alright?" Fawang frowned and didn't reply, he stretched out his arm and leaned on his shoulder and quietly said, "What a pity! What a pity! Let's go!" A Mongolian warrior led a horse over. Due to his injury, Jinlun Fawang had no strength to pull himself up on the horse. Da'erba used his left palm and pushed his master's waist and helped him up on the horse. They left heading east.

The girl in blue green slowly walked towards Yang Guo. She stopped and bent down to examine his face, wanting to see how seriously injured he was. It was now deep into the night; things couldn't be seen clearly even if it was just a distance of one inch away from your face. She went up to Yang Guo's face and saw that his eyes were open wide, seemingly in a trance; his cheeks were red and his breathing rapid, it appeared that his injury was not light.

In this blurry state, all he saw was a pair of soft and gentle eyes in front of his face, like the way Xiao Longnu's eyes appeared when she looked at him. It was soft and gentle, understanding and caring, he opened his arms and grabbed the girl and called out, "Gu Gu, Guo'er is hurt, don't leave me."

The girl in blue green was embarrassed and flustered, she struggled slightly. Yang Guo's chest immediately suffered a flash of pain and he couldn't stop himself from calling out 'ai ya!'"

The girl didn't dare to struggle and quietly said, "I'm not your Gu Gu; let me go."

Yang Guo stared at her eyes and pleaded, "Gu Gu, don't leave me... I'm... I'm... I'm your Guo'er."

The girl's heart softened and said gently, "I'm not your Gu Gu."

The sky was even darker now; the girl's terrifying face was hidden, showing only a pair of bright pupils.

Yang Guo pulled her hand and pleaded, "You are, you are! Don't... don't leave me again."

The young girl was held by him. Her body burnt up with embarrassment; she didn't know what to do.

Suddenly Yang Guo's mind became clear; he saw that the girl in front of him was not Xiao Longnu. He was extremely disappointed, his mind turned upside down and he fainted.

The young girl was shocked. She saw Guo Fu and the Wu brothers surrounding Huang Rong, showing concern and serving her yet Yang Guo had no one. She knew that his injury was serious, if he doesn't take her Master's medicine, his life will be in danger. She supported his waist and pushed and pulled him out of the formation and then slowly walked out of the forest. The skinny horse was very sharp; it recognized its master and rushed towards him. The girl put him on the horse's back but she didn't get on, she held the horse's reigns and walked on.

Yang Guo was conscious one moment and in a daze the next; sometimes he thought that the person next to him was Xiao Longnu and he called out in delight; other times he found out that she wasn't and his whole body felt as if it was in an ice cellar.

After sometime, he felt a clear fragrance enter the places where his chest was injured, it was extremely comfortable. He was startled and discovered that he was now lying on a couch, a thin blanket covered his body; he wanted to sit up but suddenly felt a severe pain going through his chest, he couldn't move. He turned his head and saw a girl in blue green by the window; her left hand was holding down a piece of paper, her right holding a brush, she was in the middle of doing calligraphy. Her back was towards the couch and he couldn't see her face; her back was slender with a fine waist, extremely elegant and beautiful. He took a look around and found out that he was in the room of a thatch house; the benches, chairs, table and bed were all simple and crude, the four walls were gloomy, yet it felt peaceful and serene. Beside the bed were a long zither and a jade flute. All he remembered was how he fought with Jinlun Fawang in the forest but his mind was a blank as to how he got to this place. He concentrated harder and recalled that he was on his horse's back; someone was leading them, a girl. Now he remembered, the girl in front of him was that girl.

She was now concentrating on her calligraphy; he saw her arm moved lightly, her form graceful and elegant. There wasn't a sound in the room; it felt like he had arrived in a completely different world to the heated battle he had just been in. He didn't dare to make a noise and disturb the young girl, he just lay down on the couch peacefully; it was like settling down again after a dream, he really didn't know what world he was in.

His mind suddenly lit up, the girl in blue green in front of him was the girl who gave him the warning on the Changan road, and later on she helped him save Lu Wushuang. There were no ties between him and her, why was she treating him so well? He couldn't stop his mouth from opening, "Sister, so it's you who has saved me again."

The girl stopped her brush but she didn't turn around, she said softly, "You can't really say I saved you. I happened to be passing by and saw how unreasonable that Tibetan monk was, and you were injured as well..." She lowered her head slightly after she said this.

Yang Guo said, "Sister, I... I..." He was touched but his throat choked up and he couldn't make a sound.

The young girl said, "You have a good heart; you save other people without regard for your life. I just gave a little help; it's nothing."

Yang Guo said, "Auntie Guo raised me, of course I had to use all my efforts in saving her when she was in danger, but sister and I..."

The young girl said, "I'm not talking about your Auntie Guo, I'm talking about Lu Wushuang sister Lu."

Yang Guo hadn't heard the name Lu Wushuang for a long time, when he heard her mention this name he quickly asked, "Is Miss Lu safe? Has she recovered from her injury?"

The young girl replied, "Thank you for your concern, she has recovered from her injury. You haven't forgotten her."

From her tone, Yang Guo could tell that she and Lu Wushuang are very close. He asked, "I wonder how sister greets Miss Lu?"

The young girl didn't reply, she gave a subtle smile and said, "Don't call me elder sister this, elder sister that, I'm not older than you." After a while, she laughed and said, "I'm afraid that it's a bit too late now to change your greeting after calling me 'Gu Gu' a few times."

Yang Guo's face went red; he knew that when he was dazed and unclear after the injury, he must have wrongly recognized her as Xiao Longnu, incessantly calling out, 'Gu Gu'. It could be that he also said some tender and affectionate things, the more he thought about it, the more uneasy he got, he stuttered, "You... you... you're not offended are you?"

The young girl laughed and said, "Of course I'm not offended; just rest here peacefully. You can search for your Gu Gu when you've recovered from your injury." She continued, "Don't be too worried, you'll eventually find her."

Those few words were affectionate and considerate and within the softness there was respect; it made a person feel at ease and happy. This was completely different to all the other girls he knew. She wasn't like Lu Wushuang who was vivacious and wily, and even further away from the unrestrained pride of Guo Fu. Yelu Yan was straight to the point and Wanyan Ping was long-suffering and piteous.

When it came to Xiao Longnu: at first she was cold as frost and unfeeling, but eventually she fell in love and all her emotions were stirred and brought forward. This girl in blue green was cultured and refined, warm and attentive. She knew that he missed his 'Gu Gu' so she advised him to rest peacefully first, and once he had recovered he could go and find her. He felt that being with her made him feel relaxed and calm. After she said these words she picked up her brush again.

Yang Guo said, "Sister, what is your surname?"

The girl said, "Don't ask questions, just rest peacefully on the bed and stop thinking so much, your injury will recover quicker."

Yang Guo said, "Fine. Actually, I knew that I was asking in vain, you wouldn't even let me see your face let alone know your name."

The young girl sighed and said, "My face is ugly, you've seen it before."

Yang Guo said, "No...no! That's when you had the human skin mask on."

The young girl said, "If I'm as beautiful as your Gu Gu, why do I need to wear this mask?"

Yang Guo was pleased when she praised Xiao Longnu's beauty, he asked, "How do you know my Gu Gu is beautiful? You've seen her before?"

The young girl said, "I haven't seen her before. But the way you think about her, spell bound and completely enchanted, she must be the number one beauty in the world."

Yang Guo sighed and said, "I long for her not because of her beauty, even if she was the ugliest woman in the world, I would still long for her like this. But... but if you see her yourself you will definitely praise her beauty even more."

If Guo Fu or Lu Wushuang heard these words, they would definitely answer back with some chiding comment; but this young girl replied, "It must be true. Not only is she beautiful, she treats you extremely well." After she said this, she continued on with her calligraphy.

Yang Guo looked up at the ceiling for a while, but he couldn't stop himself from turning around and facing the slender back of the young girl. He asked, "Sister, what are you writing?"

The young girl replied, "I'm practicing calligraphy."

Yang Guo said, "What 'bei tie' (beautiful calligraphy written on silk/beautifully presented calligraphy) are you copying?"

The young girl replied, "My writing is ugly, how can one describe it as a copy of a 'bei tie'."

Yang Guo said, "You're too modest, I can tell it's definitely great."

The young girl laughed and said, "Strange, how can you tell?"

Yang Guo said, "Someone as elegant and refined as you must have calligraphy that is also elegant and refined. Sister, how about letting me look at what you've written?"

The young girl gave another light laugh and said, "My writing can't see the light of day; I'll need to ask you for lessons when you've recovered."

Yang Guo secretly said, "Shameful." He couldn't stop himself from appreciating the lessons of literature and calligraphy that Huang Rong taught him on Peach Blossom Island. If he didn't have that experience, he wouldn't be able to tell what someone was writing let alone distinguish the difference between beautiful and ugly calligraphy.

As he was lost in thought, he felt a throbbing pain in his chest. Immediately he circulated his internal energy, chi flowing through his pressure points. He gradually felt comfortable and at ease and soon he fell into a deep sleep.

By the time he woke up, the sky had already gone dark. The girl had prepared a few dishes and had put them on a short table next to the bed he was on. She helped him to eat. Though the bamboo chopsticks and clay bowl were coarse implements, they were all new and specially prepared for him.

The dishes were nothing special, just ordinary vegetables, tofu, eggs and fish, but they were all cooked deliciously. Yang Guo ate three bowls of rice in one go and kept on praising her cooking. Though her face was hidden by the mask and covered her expression, her bright eyes showed signs of delight.

Yang Guo's injury had recovered a little more by the next day. The young girl had moved a chair next to the end of the bed. She sat there and mended his long gown. She lifted up the gown and said, "How can a person like you wear something like this?" After she said this she left the room and returned with a roll of blue green fabric and started to prepare a gown according to the fitting of his old one.

From her voice and figure, she was no older than seventeen or eighteen; but not only was she like an older sister to Yang Guo, she was tender and loving to him like a mother. His mother had passed away a long time ago but today he experienced the feeling of being that child once again; he was touched and surprised and asked, "Sister, why are you treating me so well? I really can't accept it."

The young girl replied, "What's so difficult about making a gown? You risked your life to save someone; that was a much harder task."

The morning of that day passed peacefully. After midday, the girl once again sat at the table and practiced calligraphy. Yang Guo really wanted to see what she was writing but after pleading a few times she still said no. She practiced for about two hours; she wrote one piece and then thought for a while before she ripped it up and started another piece. It appeared that she couldn't get what she wanted; she wrote a piece and then ripped it up. It seemed like she was writing some sort of martial arts manual. Eventually she gave a sigh and asked, "What do you want to eat, I'll make something for you."

Yang Guo had an idea and said, "I'm afraid that it might be too time consuming."

The young girl said, "What? Tell me."

Yang Guo said, "I want to eat zong zi (glutinous rice dumplings wrapped in leaves)."

The young girl was startled and said, "What's so hard about wrapping a few zong? I'd like to eat some myself. Do you like sweet or savory ones?"

Yang Guo said, "Whichever is fine. As long as I can eat some I'll be satisfied, how can I be picky?"

Indeed, that night the young girl did wrap up a few zong zi for him. The sweet ones were filled with soy beans, the savory filled with ham; they were both delicious. Yang Guo ate and praised her incessantly at the same time.

The young girl sighed and said, "You really are clever, you've finally guessed who I am."

Yang Guo was surprised and thought, "I haven't guessed! How have I guessed who you are?" But his reply was, "How did you know?"

The young girl replied, "Jiangnan, my home, is famous for its zong zi; there were many things for you to pick from but you had to pick zong zi."

Yang Guo recalled the events of years ago in Zhexi where he met the Guo couple, the fight with Li Mochou, how he became Ouyang Feng's godson but he could not remember who this girl was.

He wanted to eat zong zi for another reason. When he finished eating, he waited for the moment when the young girl was not looking and placed a piece in his palm. When the girl collected up the chopsticks and bowls, he quickly took a piece of fabric that the girl had left behind when she was making the gown for him and attached some zong to one end and then shot it out towards the pieces of torn paper on the table. When he pulled a piece back and took a look, he couldn't stop himself from being startled. The words that were on the paper were: 'since a gentleman has passed my eyes, the clouds are not pleasant.' That phrase was from the 'Shi Jing'. Years ago Huang Rong had taught him the meaning of this phrase: 'since I've seen such a man, how come I am not pleased?' He shot out the piece of cloth again for another piece. The same thing was written on it but the 'since' word was torn in half. Yang Guo's heart ran, he had collected ten pieces of paper but the same thing was written on all of them. He carefully thought about the meaning and went off into a daydream.

Suddenly, he heard footsteps, the young girl was returning to the room. Yang Guo quickly hid the pieces of paper underneath his blanket. The young girl gathered up the rest of the pieces of paper and burned them outside.

Yang Guo thought, "She wrote 'since a gentleman has passed my eyes', could that gentleman be me? I've only spoken a few words with her, what could she see in me that she likes? Anyway, how can someone describe me as a gentleman? But if it isn't me, who else can it be since there's no one else around."

Just as he was in deep thought, the girl returned to the room. She stood quietly by the window for a while and then blew out the candle. The pale light of the moon shone through the window, covering the floor.

Yang Guo called out, "Sister."

But the young girl did not reply and slowly left the room.

After a while, he heard the sound of a flute coming through the window. Yang Guo had seen her use a jade flute to fight with Li Mochou, her martial arts weren't weak; her musical skills with the flute were great as well.

During his time in the Ancient Tomb, Xiao Longnu would occasionally play the zither and he would sit by the side and listen to her explain the meaning of songs; thus he was coarsely learned in music. He could tell that she was playing a tune of 'Wu She Shang', the song of 'qi ao'. This song was peaceful and serene; Yang Guo had heard it a few times but he didn't love it. He heard that she kept on repeating the first five phrases, 'Looking into the distance of the mysterious Qi, the green bamboo aplenty, there's a gentleman, like a clean cut, polished and carved jade.' Whether it's high or low, whether there are sudden drops and rises, the tunes are variations of these five phrases, winding and drowning in its meanings. Yang Guo knew that these five phrases also came from the 'Shi Jing', it praises the elegance of a male, cut and polished elegantly like the smoothness of beautiful jade.

Yang Guo listened for a while and couldn't stop himself from quietly reciting, "Looking into the distance of the mysterious Qi, the green bamboo aplenty..." The flute suddenly stopped after these two phrases. Yang Guo was startled and lamented his actions, "She was playing the flute to comfort herself; by quietly reciting those lines I showed that I understood what she was thinking, that is a bit too impolite."

When the young girl brought breakfast in the next morning, she saw that Yang Guo was wearing the human skin mask, she was taken aback, and then laughed and she said, "Why are you wearing that?"

Yang Guo said, "You gave this to me; you don't want to show your true face so I'm wearing this."

The young girl said calmly, "That's fine." After she said this she placed the breakfast down and left the room; she didn't say anything else to him that day.

Yang Guo was feeling uneasy; he was afraid that he had offended her and wanted to say a few apologetic words. She didn't stop in the room for the rest of the day. Later on during the evening, she waited for Yang Guo to finish eating supper before returning to collect the bowls and chopsticks; as she was about to leave, Yang Guo said, "Sister, you play the flute really well, can you play a tune for me?"

The young girl gave a subtle moan and then said, "Fine." She left the room and collected her jade flute. She returned and sat by Yang Guo's bed, playing a tune on the flute. This time she played the song 'Ying Xian Ke' (Meeting the Divine Guest), it was a graceful and joyous tune, a song that greets a guest.

Yang Guo thought, "So your flute also wear's a mask, not willing to show the song that is in your heart."

Suddenly, the sound of footsteps could be heard in the midst of the flute's music; someone was hurrying towards this place. The young girl placed the flute down and went to the door, calling out, "Cousin!"

Someone rushed to the house and was panting as they said, "Cousin, that witch has picked up our traces and she's on her way now; let's go!"

Yang Guo was pleased when he heard Lu Wushuang's voice, but he was alarmed when he heard that witch Li Mochou was on the way. He then thought, "So that girl is Wifey's cousin."

He heard the young girl say, "Someone's injured and is recuperating inside."

Lu Wushuang said, "Who?"

The young girl replied, "The person that saved your life."

Lu Wushuang replied, "Sha Dan! He's... he's in there!! She dashed into the room as she said this.

The joy and delight on her face could be seen in the moonlight; she called out, "Sha Dan, Sha Dan! How come you're here? This time, it seems like it's your turn to be the injured one."

Yang Guo said, "Wifey..." He could only say one word before he thought about the elegant and refined young girl in blue green standing aside, he stopped joking and took back his words, he asked, "How did Li Mochou find you again?"

Lu Wushuang said, "After that battle at the restaurant, you suddenly left and my cousin took me to this place to recuperate. Actually, I recovered from my wound a long time ago; I was feeling bored so I went to Xianguang for a little while. That day, I bumped into two beggars, I eavesdropped on them and heard that there was a 'Heroes' gathering at Da Xingguan. I hurried to Da Xingguan to take a look but by the time I got there, it had finished. I was afraid that my cousin was worrying about me so I hurried back. Outside a teashop at the town ahead, I saw that witch's donkey, her donkey has changed but the ringing of the golden bell hasn't..." As she got to this point, her voice trembled as she continued, "At least my time wasn't up yet, if I had bumped into her head on, I wouldn't have been able to see you two."

Yang Guo said, "This girl is your cousin? She saved me but I still don't know her name."

The young girl replied, "I..."

Lu Wushuang suddenly stretched out her hand and pulled their masks off at the same time and said, "That witch is going to get here soon; why are you two still mucking around with these masks at a time like this?"

A bright light shone in Yang Guo's eyes; the young girl had an oval face that sparkled, her skin glimmered like snow; though her beauty couldn't match Xiao Longnu's, she was still an extremely beautiful girl.

Lu Wushuang said, "She's my cousin Cheng Ying, a disciple of the Master of Peach Blossom Island, Master Huang."

Yang Guo bowed and greeted her, "Miss Cheng."

Cheng Ying returned the greeting and said, "Young Hero Yang."

Yang Guo thought, "She's of such a young age, yet she's actually a disciple of Island Master Huang? Counting back from Auntie Guo's status, doesn't that mean I'm a generation lower than her?"

Years ago when she was captured by Li Mochou and almost lost her life by the Scarlet Serpent Deity's hand, it was Peach Blossom Island's Island Master Huang Yaoshi who rescued her while passing by. After his daughter married, Huang Yaoshi roamed Jianghu making the world his home. He was old and by himself, so it was unavoidable that he would get lonely. When he saw that Cheng Ying was weak and had no where else to go, he couldn't stop himself from pitying her. After he cured her poison, he took her with him. Cheng Ying served him carefully and meticulously. This was much better than the naughty, restless and unruly Huang Rong. Huang Yaoshi grew from his pity to love her and took her in as his disciple. Though Cheng Ying's intelligence could not compare to Huang Rong's, she was extremely careful and paid attention to everything. She studied the lesser points but she still managed to learn a considerable number of skills from Huang Yaoshi.

This year, her martial arts became able and she told her Master that she was going north to search for her cousin. On the Guanxia road, she bumped into Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang; it was she who gave the warnings along the way and she who gave news of Lu Wushuang's capture. After the battle with Li Mochou in the restaurant with all the other youngsters, she took Lu Wushuang to a secluded place and built a hut to allow her to recuperate.

The day before, Lu Wushuang had left by herself and had not returned after a long period of time. Cheng Ying worried about her and went out in search of her. Instead of finding her, she saw Huang Rong using the stone formations to fend off Jinlun Fawang. She had learned the formations from Huang Yaoshi; although she didn't know much, the things that she did know were learned thoroughly. And so, by coincidence, she managed to rescue Yang Guo.

Lu Wushuang said, "In a situation like this, why are you two still so formal?"

Yang Guo said, "Did Li Mochou see you eventually."

Lu Wushuang said, "You really are naïve! If she saw me and you weren't there to rescue me, how would I be able to escape from her? As soon as I heard the donkey's bell, I hid behind the teahouse; I didn't even dare to breath. I heard her ask the manager of the teahouse if he had seen two girls, one was a little lame and the other one was an extremely ugly girl. Cousin, she said you were an ugly girl, but she didn't know that you are the exact opposite, a beautiful girl..."

Cheng Ying's face went slightly red and said, "Don't talk rubbish, Young Hero Yang will laugh."

Yang Guo said, "I can't take a title such as Young Hero Yang; just call me Yang Guo."

Lu Wushuang angrily said, "As soon as you saw my cousin, you're all nice and polite; you even told her your name, yet with me you lied and messed me around."

Yang Guo gave a light laugh and said, "You called me 'Sha Dan', I listened to your orders and pretended to be a 'Sha Dan', isn't that obedient enough?"

Lu Wushuang pouted and said, "I'll deal with you later on." She turned around to Cheng Ying and said, "Cousin, whenever you went into town to buy things, you would wear your mask, the townspeople recognized you. The manager of the teahouse could never have dreamed that a courteous and polite Taoist priestess would have ill intentions, so of course he would tell her where we are. The witch thanked him and asked him where she can seek lodgings and then she took apprentice sister Hong to search. She has always killed people at the first light of day; it looks like we've got six hours."

Cheng Ying said, "Yes. That day when she attacked cousin's home, it was 'yin mo mao chu fen' (I think it's the fourth hour)." The three of them talked about how Li Mochou killed Lu Wushuang's parents and then realized that they had met before in Jiaxing when they were kids. The cousins recalled staying in the old kiln that Yang Guo lived in, and then remembered that they have indeed met before; they all felt a close and intimate feeling.

Yang Guo said, "That witch's martial arts are extremely high; even if I wasn't injured, the three of us would not be able to beat her. Let's just leave everything as it is, leave the lamps lit and escape."

Cheng Ying nodded and said, "We've got six hours left. Brother Yang's horse has great speed and stamina, if we leave now the witch might not be able to catch up."

Lu Wushuang said, "Sha Dan, you're injured, can you still ride?"

Yang Guo sighed and said, "I can't but I'll force myself; at least it's better than falling into the hands of that witch."

Lu Wushuang said, "We've only got one horse. Cousin, take Sha Dan and head west, I'll head east and lure her away."

Cheng Ying's face went slightly red. She said, "No, you go with brother Yang. I don't have any ties or debts with Li Mochou, even if I do fall into her hands, she might not harm me; if you fall into her hands, you'll suffer."

Lu Wushuang said, "She came for me, if she sees me with him, won't his life be lost in vain because of me?" The cousins reasoned with each other, trying to push the other into accompanying Yang Guo in escaping.

Yang Guo was extremely touched by this, these two girls were filled with loyalty, yet in this danger they were both willing to risk their lives for him; even if I die at the hands of this witch, my life wouldn't exactly have been lived for no purpose.

He then heard Lu Wushuang ask, "Sha Dan, say something, do you want my cousin to go with you or me?"

Before Yang Guo replied, Cheng Ying said, "Why do you keep on calling him Sha Dan this, Sha Dan that, are you not afraid of making brother Yang angry at all?"

Lu Wushuang stuck out her tongue, she laughed and said, "Look at how courteous and considerate you are to him; brother Sha would definitely want you to go with him." Changing her greeting from 'Sha Dan' to 'Brother Sha' was her way of showing her sincerity.

Cheng Ying's face was distinctly white and it was very easy to make her blush, so when Lu Wushuang said this, Cheng Ying's face immediately turned red as a rose. She gave a slight laugh and said, "He calls you 'Wifey', doesn't he? How can the wife not go along with him?"

This time it was Lu Wushuang's turn to blush. She stretched out her hand and tried to tickle Cheng Ying; Cheng Ying turned around and leapt away. In a short while, the room felt as if a gentle relaxing breeze was blowing through the room, the three of them didn't appear to be as worried and frightened as they were at the start.

Yang Guo thought, "If Miss Cheng escapes with me, then Wifey's life would be in danger. If Wifey goes with me, then Miss Cheng would be in extreme danger." He said, "I am extremely touched by the way you two treat me. I say that you two should escape and let me handle the witch. My master and she are apprentice sisters; she would still have some respect towards that relationship. Not only that, she's afraid of my master, she wouldn't dare to do anything to me..."

Before he finished, Lu Wushuang interrupted, "That won't do...that won't do."

Yang Guo knew that the two would not abandon the other so he said clearly, "The three of us will escape together. If we do encounter that witch then we'll fight for our lives; whether we live or die, let the heavens decide."

Lu Wushuang clapped her hands and said, "Fine, let's do that."

Cheng Ying said grimly, "That witch comes and goes like the wind, if the three of us travel together, she will definitely catch up with us. We're going to fight with her on the way so why don't we remain here and wait for her to come when she's exhausted."

Yang Guo said, "That's right. Sister knows how to use formations, she could even trap that monk Jinlun Fawang, the Scarlet Serpent Deity may not be able to break through it."

Once he said this, the three's eyes lit up softly.

Cheng Ying said, "That formation was set up by Mrs. Guo, I just added a few variations to it, I can never set something up like that. We'll do our best and let fate decide. Cousin, come and help me."

Yang Guo thought, "When Auntie Guo taught me the formation, I could only remember ten or so different types and it could only be used to lure the rusty Jinlun Fawang into the formation; it would have no use in blocking that heaven hating and world resenting Li Mochou. This type of art is extremely complicated; to be well versed in it requires at least one year's worth of work. Miss Cheng is young so of course the things that she has learned cannot compare with Auntie Guo, she wasn't trying to be modest. But no matter how simple and crude her formation is, it's better than nothing."

The two girls picked up an iron shovel and a hoe, they went outside and started to dig up earth and move stones as they started to set up the formation. They had worked urgently for two hours when the faint calls of cockerels could be heard from faraway. Cheng Ying's head was covered with sweat as she looked at her efforts. She saw that her formation was miles apart from the rock formation that Huang Rong had set up; she was slightly depressed as she thought, "Mrs. Guo's talents exceeds mine by a hundred times over. It really would be extremely difficult to try to fend off the Scarlet Serpent Deity with such a coarse earth formation." She was afraid that her cousin and Yang Guo would get depressed about it so she did not tell them her thoughts.

Under the moonlight, Lu Wushuang saw something was wrong with her cousin and knew that her cousin wasn't completely confident. She took out a book from her pockets and returned to the hut and handed the book over to Yang

Guo. She said, "Sha Dan, this is my master's 'Five Poison Codex'."

Yang Guo shivered slightly at the sight of the blood covered book.

Lu Wushuang said, "I lied to her about the book falling into the Beggar Clan's hands; if she catches me she will definitely search me and discover the book. Take a good look and once you've memorized it, burn it." She had never talked in a serious manner with Yang Guo before, but she had no interest in joking around in this time of danger. Yang Guo saw her expression was bleak and just nodded and accepted the book.

Lu Wushuang also took out a handkerchief and quietly said to him, "If you're unlucky and fall into the hands of that witch, when she wants to take your life give this handkerchief to her."

Yang Guo saw that one side of the handkerchief looked that it was torn from somewhere, the embroidered red flower on the handkerchief was torn in half, he didn't know what she meant by this and was startled, he did not take it and asked, "What is this?"

Lu Wushuang, "I'm asking you to give this to her, are you going to promise me?"

Yang Guo nodded and placed it by the side of the pillow. Lu Wushuang picked it up and put it in his pockets and whispered, "Don't let my cousin know." She suddenly smelt the manly scent on him and remembered how he undressed her and helped her fix her broken rib in place on the Guanxia road. And how they slept on the same bed; her heart stirred and she stared at him in a trance before turning around and leaving the room.

Yang Guo saw that her eyes were filled with boundless love, his heart raced. He opened the 'Five Poison Codex' and flipped through a few pages and remembered the antidote to the "Five Poison Palm" and the "Soul Freezing Silver Needles". He thought, "These two antidotes are both extremely hard to create but if I don't die today, these two antidotes will eventually have a use later."

He heard the hut's door creak as someone pushed opened the door. He raised his head and saw Cheng Ying with red cheeks, she came over to the bed and he could see pearls of sweat on her forehead. Her breathing was slightly fast. She said, "Brother Yang, the earth formation that I have set outside is not good enough to hold back the Scarlet Serpent Deity." She then took out a handkerchief from her pockets and offered it to him. She continued, "If she breaks through and enters the house, give this to her."

Yang Guo saw that it was only half a handkerchief, the decoration and quality was the same as the one that Lu Wushuang gave him. He was surprised and raised his head, his eyes met hers and he saw eyes that glistened with tears, she was embarrassed and pleased at the same time. He was about to ask further when Cheng Ying suddenly blushed and whispered, "Whatever you do, don't let my cousin know about this." When she finished, she swiftly exited.

Yang Guo took out the handkerchief that Lu Wushuang gave him and lifted it up. Indeed, the two pieces of handkerchief came from the same one; the handkerchief was old, the white silk was now a pale yellow colour, but the embroidered red flowers were still as beautiful as before. He looked at the handkerchiefs and knew that there was something behind this. Why did the two of them each give half the handkerchief to me? Why did they want me to give it to Li Mochou? Why did they want to keep the fact they gave the handkerchief to me away from each other? Why was it that when they handed the handkerchief over to me, their faces were filled with awkwardness and embarrassment?

He sat on the bed, thinking to himself in a trance. He heard the faraway faint calls of a cockerel followed by music from a flute, he knew that Cheng Ying had finished setting up the formation and was now playing the flute to comfort herself. She was playing the song 'Liu Bo' (Flowing Waves). The flute was soft and gentle, there was no sorrow within the music, and instead there was a soothing feeling, like the feeling of being carefree. Yang Guo listened for a little while and quietly followed along with it.

Lu Wushuang sat behind the pile of earth and listened to her cousin's flute and Yang Guo following along to it. Dawn was gradually approaching in the east. She thought, "My master will be here very shortly, my life won't be able to pass this hour. I hope that when master sees the handkerchief pieces, she will spare cousin and him, the two of them..."

Lu Wushuang had always been sharp and astute; her cousin had always given her some degree of leeway ever since they were kids. But in the face of danger, she truly hoped that Yang Guo would be able to avoid harm. She loved him in her heart and secretly wished that he would be able to escape, even if he married her cousin, she would have no regrets in death.

Just as she was thinking about this, she raised her head suddenly and saw a Taoist priestess dressed in apricot yellow standing outside the earth formation. Her right hand held a fly whisk, her gown fluttering in the wind; it was her master Li Mochou.

Lu Wushuang trembled. She picked up her sword and stood up. Li Mochou stood there without moving, just listening with her ears.

When she heard the flute and song, she recalled events of years ago when she was playing music along with Lu Zhanyuan. One played a flute, the other a panpipe, this song 'Liu Bo' was the song that they used to play.

This was twenty years ago; now the music was of old yet for her there was 'no secret exchange of the lover under the moon and wind'. When she heard the soft and tender tune of the flute and song, she felt pain and sorrow and eventually couldn't stop herself from crying.

Lu Wushuang could not have expected this sorrowful crying by her master; she had always known her to be a ruthless killer, where did this gentle and tender side come from? She has come here to kill, how come she's crying? But her cries were extremely sorrowful and somber; she couldn't stop her heart from suffering the sadness.

Yang Guo and Cheng Ying were startled when they heard the crying of Li Mochou and the song became disorganized.

Li Mochou had a thought and suddenly started to sing, her voice graceful and mournful, she sang:

"O mortals, what is love? That binds beyond life on earth?

To all corners, as pair we fly... braving summer and winter, by and by...

Union is bliss, parting is woe, agony is boundless, for a lovelorn soul, sweetheart...

Give me word, a trail of clouds drifting forward...

And mountains capped with snow, whither shall my lonesome shadow go?"

The flute was originally joyous, but Li Mochou's song was filled with sorrow, her tone mournful, it was completely different from the tune of 'Liu Bo'. The voice became quieter, but the quieter it got, the higher it got.

Cheng Ying was slightly disturbed, she actually began to follow the song from 'union is bliss' and by 'parting is woe', she could no longer stop herself from following her. She was alarmed and quickly changed the tune, but the music from a flute is peaceful and serene but her internal energy was shallow, she could not produce a high tune to subdue the song of Li Mochou. She stumbled slightly and headed into the hut. She placed the jade flute down and sat aside. She began to play the zither. Yang Guo also started to sing to help.

Li Mochou's song was becoming more and more mournful; Cheng Ying's strings were producing higher and higher notes, a 'zheng' sound was heard as the first 'zheng' string on the zither suddenly snapped.

Cheng Ying was startled and her fingers became slightly disorganized, the zither's second 'yu' string snapped. Li Mochou's prolonged song was filled with tears, the third 'gong' string also snapped. Huang Yaoshi taught Cheng Ying the flute and zither; though she learned from a great master she was still young, her abilities with them were not profound.

Li Mochou had originally wanted to take the chance, when the opponent was disturbed and distracted with the broken strings, to break straight through. But she thought that, although the earth formation outside the hut seemed to be in a mess, yet hidden within were the changes of the five elements. She didn't understand this particular art and she had suffered many times in the ancient tomb, there were some worries in her mind. She suddenly had an idea; she wound around to the right and crashed through the wall in the midst of the music and song.

Cheng Ying's earth formation was placed to protect the front of the house and it slipped her mind that the sides of the house weren't guarded. Li Mochou slipped around the house and with her two palms crashed through the earth walls. Lu Wushuang was alarmed; she raised her sword and rushed into the house.

Yang Guo was injured and had no strength to stand up and fight, he could only lie there, not moving. Cheng Ying knew that if she fought Li Mochou she would lose her life in vain. She made a decision and forgot about life and death; she started to play the zither, a song of 'tao yao'. It was a beautiful tune, flowing with joy. In her heart she was thinking, "I have had a life of hardships, dieing here by brother Yang's side means at least my life hasn't been in vain." She looked towards Yang Guo. Yang Guo gave a subtle smile towards her, Cheng Ying was filled with joy and bliss, she sang:

*"The beauty of the blossom burns brightly,
The zither flows the ocean spray,
The music carries the fragrance of flowers, the soothing spring breeze."*

The bitterness on Li Mochou's face gradually disappeared, she asked Lu Wushuang, "Where's the book? Was it the Beggar Clan who took it?"

Yang Guo took out the 'Five Poison Codex' and threw it over to her. He said, "The Beggar Clan's Chief Huang and Chief Lu are righteous and virtuous people, what do they want with this evil book? They long ago passed down an order to Beggar Clan members to not to open even one page of this book."

Li Mochou saw that this book was in its original condition; she knew the Beggar Clan was a righteous clan and had strict regulations; most probably they did not take a look at her book.

Yang Guo also took out the two half pieces of handkerchief from his pockets and placed it down on the end of the bed and said, "Take these handkerchiefs away!"

Li Mochou's face changed completely, she waved her fly whisk and wrapped it around the handkerchiefs bringing them towards her. She held them in her hand, startled, her thoughts stirred, and her state of mind unstable.

Lu Wushuang and Cheng Ying looked at each other and both were red faced; they didn't guess that the other would give a handkerchief half to Yang Guo, who now had brought them out into the open.

As one looked at the other, their hearts were filled with many thoughts and their eyes glistened. The air of death that was in the hut had now changed into an air of love. Cheng Ying's song 'Tao Yao' was played with even more happiness.

Suddenly, Li Mochou tore the handkerchief in four and said, "The past is the past, why is there a need to return there?" Her hands ripped urgently for a while and then flung the pieces into the air; the pieces of the torn handkerchief fell like descending petals.

Cheng Ying was startled and after a 'zheng' sound, another string of the zither snapped.

Li Mochou angrily shouted, "Break another string!"

In the midst of the mournful song, the fifth 'gen' string did indeed snap. Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Now I'm going to make you suffer, you won't be able to beg for your life nor death, quickly wail for me."

The zither had two strings remaining, Cheng Ying's abilities with a zither were ordinary and it was difficult for her to form a tune.

Li Mochou said, "Quickly play mournful notes! There is too much suffering in the world, what joy is there in living?"

Cheng Ying played two notes, although it didn't form a tune, it was still following the music of the 'Tao Yao'.

Li Mochou said, "Fine, I'll first kill one of you, will you be mournful then?"

That severely toned shout caused another string of the zither to snap, she raised her fly whisk, about to strike down on Lu Wushuang's head.

Yang Guo smiled and said, "The three of us dying together today is a much happier experience than you will have living alone in the world. Sister Ying, Sister Shuang, come over here." Lu Wushuang and Cheng Ying went over to the bed. Yang Guo's right hand held Lu Wushuang, his left held Cheng Ying, he smiled and said, "The three of us dying together will allow us to chat and joke on the Huang Guan path (road to underworld), isn't that ten times better than being that evil woman?"

Lu Wushuang smiled and said, "Yes, good Sha Dan, you're right." Cheng Ying gave a warm smile. The two cousins were both enchanted as Yang Guo held onto their hands.

Yet Yang Guo was thinking, "It's a pity that it isn't Gu Gu who is by my side." But he forced a joyful smile, he lightly pulled the two closer against his body.

Li Mochou thought, "He's right, those three dying like this is better than living like me." She pondered, "How can you have things that are to your advantage on this earth? I'll make sure that you're filled with sorrow and grief before you die." So she lightly swung her fly whisk and with a face resembling bitter frost, she started to quietly sing. She was singing the 'O mortals, what is love? That binds beyond life on earth?' song; the song and tone was filled with sorrow and grief, like an abandoned woman crying, like a night ghost wailing.

The three of them held hands together as they listened, after a while, they couldn't stop themselves from feeling hurt in their hearts. Yang Guo's internal energy was relatively profound and wasn't moved, his face still carried a subtle smile; Lu Wushuang was strong, she would not be easily moved; Cheng Ying however could endure no longer and tears flowed. The longer Li Mochou sang, the quieter it became, eventually, it was as if there was no song.

As soon as the three cried, the Scarlet Serpent Deity will wave out her fly whisk and kill them all. Just as soon as the song was becoming extremely sad and depressing, someone from outside the hut suddenly laughed out loud and clapped as they made their way towards the hut.

It was a woman's voice, it appeared that the voice was not young but what she was singing was a naïve and innocent song: "Sway, sway, sway, sway until granny's bridge falls, granny calls me my precious, sweets in one bag, fruit in the other, once I've finished I'll take another."

The song was filled with joy and happiness, Li Mochou's sadness and the sorrow in her song was disturbed. The song was getting closer and closer. After a while someone entered the hut from the front door, it was a middle-aged woman with disheveled hair and clothes, her eyes round and wide open, she laughed foolishly and her hand held a fire fork (fireplace fork).

Li Mochou was startled, "How did she get past those piles of earth and enter through the main door so easily? If she isn't with them then she must be versed in art of formations and changes." As she concentrated on this, the power of her song immediately decreased.

When Cheng Ying saw this woman she was delighted and called out, "Senior Apprentice Sister, that woman wants to hurt me, help me."

That disheveled hair woman was Sha Gu. She was actually a generation lower than Cheng Ying but she was a lot older, that's the reason why Cheng Ying called her senior apprentice sister.

Sha Gu clapped her hands and laughed, she started to sing some songs at the top of her voice, she would sing songs like 'Sparkling star in the sky, nothing on the ground my oh my', 'Precious Pagoda tip, surging up, the sky it rips'. Sometimes she would remember the wrong lyrics and replace them with whatever she thought of.

Li Mochou wanted to use the sorrowful and mournful song to subdue her but how would she know that it wouldn't affect her. Love comes from the heart, but since her heart was full of confusion and disorder, even if the outside influence was stronger there will be no way to create and stir up these feelings. Instead, Sha Gu's muddled up songs disturbed Li Mochou's sorrowful tones, it ended her control over Yang Guo and the others.

Li Mochou was furious and thought, "I need to get rid of this person first." Before the song finished, she waved her fly whisk and attacked her head.

Years ago, Huang Yaoshi punished his innocent disciples out of anger and as a result caused his disciple Qu Lingfeng to die at the hands of his enemies. He regretted this and so took in Qu Lingfeng's daughter Sha Gu under his care and decided to teach everything he knew to her. However, when Sha Gu saw her father being harmed, she suffered a severe shock and it remained in her mind, no matter how many times Huang Yaoshi tried to make her better. A man cannot turn time back, without mentioning the futility of trying to teach her all the arts and martial arts he knew. Even trying to get her to recognize a few words and learn a few coarse martial arts was something that he couldn't do. But over the last ten years, under the instruction of a great master, Sha Gu had learned a set of palm techniques and a fork technique. It's called a set but really there were only three stances of palm and fork techniques.

Huang Yaoshi knew she would not remember any sort of variations or extraordinary stances so he thought deeply and came up with three palm stances and three fork stances. Those six stances were ordinary and didn't have any variation behind them; the power of these techniques all comes from practice. When normal people practice martial arts, a little practice will lead to only tens of stances being learned, a lot will lead to variations surpassing a thousand. Sha Gu only practiced the six stances so as time went by, naturally these stances will be refined and precise; though there are few stances, it was not anything ordinary.

As to how she went through the formation, it was because she had lived on Peach Blossom Island for a long time, the formation that Cheng Ying had set up was a coarse and basic skill of Peach Blossom Island. Sha Gu didn't even need to take a look and just naturally followed her steps forward to the hut.

Now, she saw Li Mochou's fly whisk coming towards her; she thrust out the fork towards her chest. Li Mochou heard that the sound of air being sliced through and was furious, she couldn't stop herself from being alarmed, "Hard to predict that this woman possesses such profound internal strength." She quickly stepped to the left and sent the fly whisk towards her head. Sha Gu didn't care what the opponent's stance was and just thrust her fork forward. Li Mochou's fly whisk twisted and wrapped around the head of the fork. It was as if Sha Gu didn't see what had happened, the fork kept on going forward. Li Mochou circulated her internal energy to fling the weapon away but the fire fork didn't move an inch, in a flash it was now in between her breasts. Li Mochou's martial arts were high and she managed to use "Steps of the Turning Seven Stars" in this danger, and leapt out of the hole in the wall, avoiding this lightning like attack but, because of the fright, she broke out in a cold sweat.

She concentrated and leapt back into the hut and attacked with her fly whisk in midair. Sha Gu didn't change her stance with the enemy's and just thrust forwards again but because the enemy was in the air, the fork was now aiming for her opponent's abdomen.

Li Mochou saw the incoming attack was fast and powerful; she turned her fly whisk around and used the handle to block the attack and used its force to dart away. She looked at her stunned, thinking, "Just know, my three attacks contained nine different variations and twelve different follow ups; a skilled fighter of Wulin would not be able to see through them just like that. This woman just uses one fork and neutralized my sixty-three variations in these stances. This person's martial arts are excellent, I'd better leave!"

She didn't know that Sha Gu's fork technique only had three stances; if Li Mochou fought for a little while longer she would be able to see through her martial arts and win easily. Sha Gu had three fork stances, just by using one fork stance she scared away an extremely powerful enemy, the master of Peach Blossom Island should be very proud.

Li Mochou turned around and was about to leap out of the hut through the hole in the wall when she saw someone sitting down by the hole. The person was in a blue green gown and had a long beard; it was the person who saved Cheng Ying from her clutches all those years ago, Huang Yaoshi. Island Master Huang. He was sitting down and had placed Cheng Ying's zither on a stool.

When Li Mochou was in battle, her eyes and ears were extremely alert; how had Huang Yaoshi entered, how had he taken the zither and when had he sat down on the floor? She failed to notice all those things; if he had ambushed her from behind, wouldn't taking her life be as easy as turning his palm?

When Li Mochou was exchanging stances with Sha Gu, she was worried about Cheng Ying and the others joining in to help so she did not stop her song, keeping their state of mind unbalanced. As she saw Huang Yaoshi sitting there quietly strumming the zither, she trembled and her song stopped.

Huang Yaoshi played one note on the zither and sang; "O mortals, what is love? That binds beyond life on earth?" He sang Li Mochou's song. The zither only had the 'yu' string remaining but he still managed to play the notes of the 'gong', 'shang', 'jiao', 'zheng' and 'yu'. With the mournful tone of the zither, Huang Yaoshi overwhelmed Li Mochou's song.

Li Mochou was extremely familiar with this song; as soon as Huang Yaoshi added the tune, she was affected ten times deeper than when Yang Guo and the others were affected by her song. Huang Yaoshi had known long ago about her evil ways, today he wanted to take the opportunity to get rid of her.

Years ago he had used his jade flute to compete against Ouyang Feng's iron zither and Hong Qi Gong's whistling and fought to a draw. That was many years ago; because of his age, his vigor wasn't what it used to be but his internal energy became more and more profound as he practiced. How could Li Mochou resist? In just a short while she felt her mind slipping out of her control.

Huang Yaoshi's song and tune would suddenly turn joyous, then anger, resounding and overbearing, then suddenly lowly and humble, many changes in the wink of an eye. He was forcing Li Mochou to suddenly feel delight and then sorrow, suddenly anger then worry; when this song finishes, Li Mochou would have been forced to go mad.

Just at this time, Sha Gu turned her head around and suddenly saw Yang Guo, under the candlelight; he was an image of his father Yang Kang. The thing that Sha Gu is most afraid of are ghosts; the images of what had happened when Yang Kang died due to poison were deeply etched into her mind. She would never forget it. When she saw Yang Guo sitting there, she knew that it was Yang Kang's ghost coming back to haunt her. She quickly leapt up and pointed to him, saying, "Brother... brother Yang, don't... don't hurt me... it... it wasn't me who killed you... go... go and find someone else."

Huang Yaoshi wasn't prepared for her disturbance and a 'zheng' sound was heard as the final string on the zither snapped.

Sha Gu hid behind him and called out, "Ghost... ghost... grandpa, it's brother Yang's ghost."

With this pause, Li Mochou quickly used her fly whisk and extinguished all the candles in the room and leapt out through the hole in the wall.

Huang Yaoshi had yet to take her life and eventually she managed to escape; he had to uphold his status and so he could not go and chase after her.

Sha Gu was even more afraid in the dark and called out even louder, "It's an evil ghost, grandpa, beat that ghost, beat that ghost!"

Huang Yaoshi kept Sha Gu in check. Cheng Ying lit the candles and then knelt on the floor and bowed to her master. She stood up and then told him the simple background of Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang.

Huang Yaoshi laughed and said, "My martial grand daughter has always been simple like this. She knew your father. You indeed do look a lot like him."

Yang Guo bent his waist and bowed to him from the bed and said, "Forgive junior, I have an injury and cannot bow properly."

Huang Yaoshi's face was very friendly and said, "You didn't give a care about your life and saved my daughter and granddaughter, you really are a good child." Huang Yaoshi had seen Huang Rong and knew what had happened, he heard that Cheng Ying had rescued him so he took Sha Gu with him and searched for them.

Huang Yaoshi took out some effective recuperative medicine and gave it to Yang Guo to take. He then circulated his internal energy and passed it into Yang Guo through his palm to help him recover. Yang Guo felt as if his arms were on fire, his body started to create a force to repel this. Huang Yaoshi felt him tremble and noticed that his veins and chi were circulating, there was a resisting internal energy that was being created so he increased the strength in his hands. After a while, Yang Guo felt his limbs and bones were at ease and soothed, and gradually he fell into a deep sleep.

When Yang Guo woke up the next day, he opened his eyes and saw Huang Yaoshi sitting at the end of the bed. He quickly sat up and greeted him.

Huang Yaoshi said, "Do you know what title I go by in Jianghu?"

Yang Guo said, "Senior is Island Master Huang?"

Huang Yaoshi said, "And?"

Yang Guo felt that it was inappropriate to say the words 'Eastern Heretic' but he had a thought, since his nickname is 'Eastern Heretic', his character will be different to normal people so he boldly said, "You are the 'Eastern Heretic'!"

Huang Yaoshi laughed and said, "Correct. I've heard that your martial arts are not bad, your heart is good but you do things in heretical ways. I also heard that you want to marry your Master, is that right?"

Yang Guo said, "Correct, senior, no one will allow me to do this, but even if I'll die I still want to marry her."

Those words were like a nail striking metal; Huang Yaoshi stared at him for a while and then suddenly raised his head and laughed towards the sky, shaking the grass on the roof.

Yang Guo said angrily, "What's so funny about that? I thought that because you are called 'Eastern Heretic', you would have some extraordinary opinion, but who would have thought that you are just like the others."

Huang Yaoshi loudly said, "Good, good, good!" After he said this, he turned around and left.

Yang Guo sat on the bed startled, he thought, "My words really offended that senior. But how come he didn't show any signs of anger on his face?"

He didn't know that as Huang Yaoshi roamed the world and the one thing he hated most were the present custom and traditions of the world. His actions and words did not match with the normal and because of this he was given the name 'Heretic'. He had met many people, but in his life, he did not have an understanding friend. Though he had a daughter and son-in-law as loved ones, they did not understand him. He didn't know that in his later years he would come upon Yang Guo.

The events of the heroes meet had already spread to his ears and Huang Rong told him about this young man's actions and behavior. After speaking to him a few times he found that Yang Guo matched his expectations even more.

That night, Huang Yaoshi returned to the room and said, "Yang Guo, I heard you expelled yourself from the Quanzhen sect and beat up your Master, you are rather heretical. Why don't you leave the Ancient Tomb sect, and then enter my tutelage."

Yang Guo was startled and said, "Why?"

Huang Yaoshi laughed and said, "First you'll acknowledge that Xiao Longnu is not your Master and then marry her, won't that be proper?"

Yang Guo said, "That's a good idea. But who set the rule that you can't marry your Master? I want her to be my Master and my wife."

Huang Yaoshi clapped and laughed, he said, "Good! The way you think is a level higher than me." He stretched out his hand to help him recuperate through his palms and said, "I originally wanted you to enter my tutelage so I could let the world know that after Senior Heretic Huang, there's a young Heretic Yang. You don't want to be my disciple; I can't do anything about that."

Yang Guo said, "I don't have to be your disciple to spread your 'Heretic' name. If you don't mind me being of a young age and have poor martial arts, we could be friends or else we could become brothers."

Huang Yaoshi angrily said, "You sure are bold for a little kid. I'm not the Old Urchin Zhou Botong, how can there be no order between us?"

Yang Guo said, "Who's the Old Urchin Zhou Botong?"

Huang Yaoshi then told him a few things about Zhou Botong's character and how he became sworn brothers with Guo Jing.

The two of them chatted and hit it off perfectly, there's a saying: 'A thousand cups is too little for understanding friends who meet through wine, half a word is too much for those whose words don't get along'.

Yang Guo was good with words and they got along because of the closeness of his character to Huang Yaoshi's. Whenever he spoke, Huang Yaoshi would sigh as someone who understood him. For Huang Yaoshi, it really was like the first meeting of an old friend, a meeting that has come extremely late in life. Though he didn't admit it through his words, in his heart he treated him as a friend of old. That night he told Cheng Ying to prepare another bed for him in the same room and the two continued their exchange.

Days passed and Yang Guo recovered from his injury. He and Huang Yaoshi were like glue, like paint, it was difficult to separate the two. Huang Yaoshi had originally wanted to take Sha Gu south but now he didn't mention one word about leaving. Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang watched the old and young with amusement; in the day they would drink wine together and at night, they would talk in the candlelight without end. They felt that the old man didn't maintain the status of a Senior and the young man was too unrestrained and fearless.

When it came to discussions of knowledge, Yang Guo wasn't anywhere as knowledgeable as Huang Yaoshi. But whatever Huang Yaoshi said, Yang Guo would concentrate on understanding. When he made a comment he would just add a single word yet his comment had its fine points. Huang Yaoshi couldn't stop himself from treating him as the closest friend in his life.

In these past few days, apart from spending time with Huang Yaoshi talking, he would always think about how Sha Gu mistakenly recognized him as his father and the words that she said, "It wasn't me who killed you, go and find someone else!" He knew that Sha Gu must know who had killed his father; other people might not say, but Sha Gu is mad and crazy and maybe he could get the truth from her.

After midday, Yang Guo said, "Sha Gu, come, I have something to say to you."

Sha Gu felt that he looked too much like Yang Kang and was still afraid; she shook her head and said, "I don't want to play with you."

Yang Guo said, "I know circus tricks, are you going to watch?"

Sha Gu shook her head and said, "You're lying, I don't want to watch." She closed her eyes after she said this. Yang Guo suddenly flipped upside down with his legs above his head and called out, "Quickly look!" He used the martial arts that Ouyang Feng taught him of walking upside down and leaping forward. Sha Gu opened her eyes and was delighted as soon as she saw this, she clapped and cheered and followed behind him.

Yang Guo kept on leaping forward and arrived at a hidden and covered wood faraway from the hut, he turned upright and said, "Let's play hide and seek, you want to? But the loser has to be punished."

Sha Gu has been following Huang Yaoshi for the past few years; nobody played with her. When she heard Yang Guo say this, she was ecstatic and clapped her hands, most of the fear she had for him disappeared and she said, "Yes, yes. Good brother, what is the punishment?" She called his father brother, and she also called him brother.

Yang Guo took out a handkerchief and blindfolded her and said, "Come and catch me. If you catch me, then whatever question you ask I'll have to answer it truthfully. If you can't catch me then I get to ask you a question, you have to answer it truthfully as well."

Sha Gu replied, "Good, good!"

Yang Guo called out, "I'm over here, come and catch me!"

Sha Gu opened her arms and followed the calls. Yang Guo possessed the lightness kung fu of the Ancient Tomb sect, even if Sha Gu wasn't blindfolded she would not be able to catch him, after chasing for a while, she crashed into a tree and bruised her forehead as a result; she started to cry out in pain.

Yang Guo was afraid that Sha Gu would not want to play anymore so he deliberately slowed down and made light noise. Sha Gu rushed forward and grabbed his back and called out, "I've caught you, I've caught you!" Her face was full of delight as she took off her blindfold.

Yang Guo said, "Fine, I've lost, ask me ask a question."

She stared at him, startled, her mind was uncertain; she didn't know what to ask. After a long while, she asked, "Good brother, have you eaten yet?"

She thought for so long but came up with such a simple question, Yang Guo almost laughed. He didn't make a sound and seriously replied, "I've eaten already."

Sha Gu nodded and didn't say anything else.

Yang Guo said, "What else do you want to ask?"

Sha Gu shook her head and said, "I don't want to ask anymore, let's play again."

Yang Guo said, "Fine, come and catch me."

Sha Gu touched the bruise on her forehead and said, "This time it's your turn to catch me." This time, she didn't act crazy, Yang Guo didn't predict this but since this was what he wanted he took the handkerchief and blindfolded himself. Though Sha Gu was mad, her lightness kung fu was pretty good; Yang Guo couldn't see, how could he catch her? He leapt forward a few times and then secretly he tore an opening in the blindfold and saw her hiding on the right behind a large tree. He deliberately faced the left, pretending to think, he said, "Where are you? Where are you?" He suddenly flipped over and caught her wrist. He quickly put the handkerchief in his pockets with his left hand in case she saw the ripped handkerchief. He laughed and said, "This time it's my turn to ask you a question."

Sha Gu said, "I've eaten already."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "I'm not asking about that. This is my question, you know my father, right?" His face was extremely serious as he said this.

Sha Gu said, "Who's your father?"

Yang Guo said, "There's a person who looks just like me, who is that?"

Sha Gu said, "Ah, that's brother Yang."

Yang Guo asked, "You saw that brother Yang being killed by someone didn't you?"

Sha Gu said, "Yeah, it was in the middle of the night in a temple, there were lots of crows calling out 'wu ai', 'wu ai', 'wu ai'!" The forest was covered and hidden and was already dark; the calls made the forest seem even more eerie.

Yang Guo trembled and asked, "How did brother Yang die?"

Sha Gu said, "Auntie wanted me to say something but brother Yang didn't allow me to say it; he struck Auntie with a palm and laughed out loud, ha-ha! Ha-ha! Ha-ha!" She used all her efforts in copying Yang Kang's laugh before he died, her laugh even scared herself and her face was filled with fear.

Yang Guo listened puzzled, he asked, "Who is Auntie?"

Sha Gu said, "Auntie is Auntie."

Yang Guo knew that the puzzle to his father's death was about to be solved, he was full of emotions and was about to ask another question when suddenly someone from behind said, "What are you two playing here?" It was Huang Yaoshi's voice.

Sha Gu said, "Good brother is playing hide and seek with me. It was he who wanted me to play, not me wanting him to play. Don't scold me."

Huang Yaoshi smiled a little and then looked at Yang Guo, he looked as if he has seen through what Yang Guo was thinking about.

Yang Guo's heart raced, he was about to say a few words to cover it up. Suddenly, footsteps could be heard from outside the forest, Cheng Ying was holding Lu Wushuang as they hurried towards them and she said to Huang Yaoshi, "Master is right, she is still around." She then pointed to the hill in the west.

Yang Guo asked, "Who?"

Cheng Ying said, "Li Mochou!"

Yang Guo was extremely shocked; he was thinking why on earth was she so bold, he looked at Huang Yaoshi, hoping that he will be able to explain.

Huang Yaoshi gave laugh and said, "Let's go over there and take a look." None of them had any fear with him around, so they headed towards that hill in the west.

Cheng Ying knew that Yang Guo had questions in his heart and quietly said, "Master said that Li Mochou knows that he has the status of a great Master. That night he wanted to take her life but he was unable to at the first attempt, a second attempt on her life would be shameful."

Yang Guo understood. Alarmed he said, "Because of this she could guard this place confidently and wait for the chance to take our lives. If Island Master Huang hadn't seen through this, we would have thought that she had long gone and let our guard down and eventually suffered by her hands."

Cheng Ying smiled warmly and nodded. Lu Wushuang interrupted, "You think you are cleverer than most people; but compared with Island Master Huang, there's a long way to go."

Yang Guo laughed and said, "I'm Sha Dan, I'm dumber than most people; I'm Sha Gu's good brother."

The five of them soon arrived on the hill. There was a small hut beside a large tree, it was broken and dilapidated; there was a piece of paper nailed onto the door. On it were four lines:

The master of Peach Blossom Island,
Disciples he has many,
Five against one,
It's the laughing stock of Jianghu!

Huang Yaoshi laughed and casually picked up two pebbles and placed them in between his middle finger and thumb, after a 'chi' 'chi' sound, the pebbles shot forward forcefully. A 'pai' sound was heard as the two small pebbles, from over ten paces away, knocked the doors open.

When Yang Guo was on Peach Blossom Island, he heard from Guo Fu that her grandfather had a skill called the "Divine Flicking Finger"; today, he saw it with his own eyes and it far exceeded the tales about it; he was in awe.

Once the doors opened, they saw Li Mochou sitting on a mat on the floor, her hands holding her fly whisk, her eyes closed; she looked collected and was meditating just like a Taoist. She was in the hut by herself; Hong Lingbo was nowhere to be seen. A thought went through Yang Guo's mind and he understood, "She's laughing at Island Master Huang for having many disciples and winning through numbers, that's why she sent Hong Lingbo away to make it even more apparent. She's confident not because she can defend against Island Master Huang, it's because since she's by herself. With Island Master Huang's status, it would not be appropriate to attack her."

The memories of her parents' death and the torment she's had through the years stirred in Lu Wushuang; she suddenly drew out her sword and called out, "Cousin, Sha Dan, we don't have the same restraints as Island Master Huang about fighting her, let's all attack her."

Sha Gu rubbed her knuckles and palms and said, "And me!"

Li Mochou opened her eyes and glanced across at the five; a look of contempt was on her face and she closed her eyes again; it was as if she was ignoring the enemies in front of her. Cheng Ying looked at her master, waiting for his orders.

Huang Yaoshi sighed and said, "Indeed, old Heretic Huang has many disciples, if any of my four senior disciples Qu, Chen, Mei, Lu were here, how would she be allowed to say a word?" He then waved his hand and said, "Let's leave."

The four of them did not understand what he was thinking and followed him back to the hut. They saw that he was unhappy; he went to bed and didn't even eat supper.

Yang Guo slept on the bed next to his and recalled the things he said with Sha Gu; he then pondered about Li Mochou, and he thought, "She's laughing at us because it's five against one. I've recovered from my injury now, with my strength alone I might not lose to her; why don't I sneak away and fight a round with her. This way I can clear her insults about me and Gu Gu and help Island Master Huang vent his anger."

He made his decision and dressed himself quietly. Though he was impulsive, he did things rather carefully; he knew Li Mochou was a very strong foe, if he made just one wrong move he would die by her hands. So he sat on his bed circulating his chi and prepared himself, once he was at his peak, he would go and fight the duel to the death.

He had sat there for around an hour when suddenly his eyes lit up, chi was everywhere in his body and he couldn't stop himself from calling out. The call was like the roar of a dragon, like a tiger bellowing in a deep valley, the sound spreading far and wide.

Huang Yaoshi had noticed that he was awake when he had got up to dress himself; when he heard this extraordinary call, he was shocked and delighted. He hadn't predicted that Yang Guo's internal energy would make a break through right at this time.

When someone's internal energy reaches a certain stage, they would unconsciously call out.

Later on in the Ming Dynasty, the Da Ru King Yang Ming was practicing his chi in the middle in the night in his encampment when he suddenly made a prolonged call, shocking his entire camp.

Yang Guo's chi was abundant and it was hard for him to control, the bellow spread for many li.

Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang were extremely startled; even Li Mochou was frightened when she heard it. But she thought that it was Huang Yaoshi who was exercising his chi, there was no need to be afraid since he wasn't going to do anything.

Yang Guo had the help of the 'Chilled Jade Bed' and had practiced the important aspects of the "Jade Heart Manual" and "Nine Yin Manual"; his accumulated internal energy had become profound. A few days before, Huang Yaoshi had helped him to recuperate, but Island Master Huang's internal energy was of a different nature to his. It was provoked by this extremely profound internal energy, now he couldn't control himself and released a long bellow.

The bellow continued for a while before gradually it quieted and then stilled.

Huang Yaoshi thought, "I have always thought that my talents were not of this earth, yet I had to wait until I was thirty before reaching such a stage. This young man has reached this stage at least ten years before me; I wonder what events he has encountered?" He waited for Yang Guo to finish and stand up before asking, "Tell me, what do you think is Li Mochou's most powerful skill?"

When Yang Guo heard this, he knew that his intentions had been seen through and replied, "It is the "Divine Five Poison Palm" and her fly whisk techniques."

Huang Yaoshi said, "Correct, since your internal energy has some foundation it shouldn't be difficult to neutralize her most proficient skill." Yang Guo was delighted and bowed down to him. Yang Guo was very proud; though he recognized Huang Yaoshi was a senior and his abilities were superb, he wouldn't lower his head to him. Now that he heard that the martial arts Li Mochou used to roam the realm could be neutralized, how could he not be in awe?"

Huang Yaoshi then taught him the skill of the "Divine Flicking Finger" to neutralize Li Mochou's "Divine Five Poison Palms” and a sword technique derived from his “Jade Flute Swordplay” to neutralize the fly whisk techniques.

Yang Guo listened to him point out the important aspects of these techniques and then asked him to explain some of the difficulties; he concentrated and committed them to memory. But he felt that although these two types of martial arts are profound and masterly, to make some progress, one will need to practice for at least a year. If he wanted to reach a stage where he would be able to beat her, it would take three years and no less. He said, “Island Master Huang, there is no way to beat her right now.”

Huang Yaoshi said, “Three years will pass in the blink of an eye. Then you’ll be twenty one or twenty two years of age, and will have learned these two types of martial arts. Isn’t that enough?”

Yang Guo said, “I’m... I’m not doing it for me...”

Huang Yaoshi patted his shoulder and said warmly, “When you kill her for me three years from now, I will be extremely touched. Years ago I destroyed my disciples, shouldn’t I get some kind of payback today?” He gave a long sigh after he said this.

Yang Guo knelt down and kowtowed eight times to him and then called out, “Master!” He knew that Huang Yaoshi had passed on martial arts to him so that he will be able to cleanse the four lines of Li Mochou’s insult. To do this, they will have to be recognized as master and disciple. But Huang Yaoshi knew that his ties with the Ancient Tomb were extremely deep, he would be unwillingly to accept another master so he helped him up and said, “When you fight that witch, you are my disciple, at all other times, you are my friend. Little brother Yang, do you understand?”

Yang Guo laughed and said, "To be able to make a friend like you really is a glorious event."

Huang Yaoshi said, "The two of us meeting is the luck of three generations." The two of them laughed, their sounds moving the four walls.

Huang Yaoshi once again explained in detail the secrets and ideas of the "Divine Flicking Finger" and the "Jade Flute Swordplay" to him. Yang Guo noted that he was explaining them thoroughly and knew that he was about to leave.

He said gloomily, "We've just met and now we are about to part; when will we be able to meet again?"

Huang Yaoshi laughed and said, "The two of us are linked; even if we are at the opposite ends of the world, we'll still be like neighbors. If in the future I find out that someone is blocking your marriage, even if I'm ten thousand li away, I will rush back and help you."

Yang Guo was comforted by this promise and laughed, "I'm afraid that the first person who will come out and stop this marriage will be your loved one."

Huang Yaoshi said, "She marries her ideal man and forgets about the suffering and bitterness of others? My precious daughter only listens to her husband, ha-ha, 'obey the husband when married', that really is something!" He laughed loudly after he said this and turned around and left the room, in a flash his laughter could be heard tens of feet away, he really moved like a divine dragon leaving no trace.

Yang Guo stood there for a while stunned and then sat down and went over the two martial arts that he had just learned. Not long after, the sky became bright. He saw the door open, Cheng Ying had entered with blue green cloth and a blue green gown in her hands; she gave a little smile and said, "Try this on, see whether it fits you."

Yang Guo was extremely touched; his hands trembled slightly as he received it.

Their eyes met and he saw that Cheng Ying's eyes were full of love and boundless tenderness. He went over to the side of the bed and tried the new gown. He felt that the gown fitted perfectly and said, "I'm... I'm... I'm really grateful."

Cheng Ying showed another smile but immediately a depressed expression was on her face, she sighed and said, "Master has gone, I don't know when I'll be able to see him again." She was about to sit down and say something when she saw a yellow image at the door that immediately disappeared. She knew it was her cousin outside and thought, "That girl has too many thoughts, it's not appropriate for me to stay in his room for too long." She stood up and slowly walked out.

He carefully studied the gown and noticed that the stitching was careful and tight, he thought, "She and Wifey treat me the same but my heart belongs to someone else, I can't love any others. If I don't leave soon, I'll be giving those two a lot of grief." He thought about this for half a day. He was also afraid that when he leaves, Li Mochou would come and attack them. He went to her hut to take a look and saw that in its place was a pile of ash, Li Mochou had burned the hut and left.

The enemy had left and so that night, he wrote a parting letter by candlelight; he thought about the two girls' love and felt depressed. He saw that his letter wasn't worded with great aptitude and his handwriting was poor; he was afraid that Cheng Ying would laugh and so ripped the letter up. That night he tossed and turned in his bed as he tried to sleep.

In his blurry state, he suddenly heard Lu Wushuang tapping his door and calling out, "Sha Dan, Sha Dan! Quickly come and take a look." Her voice sounded rather anxious and afraid.

Yang Guo got up, dressed himself, and opened the door; he felt a slightly chilly breeze and the sky wasn't bright yet.

Lu Wushuang's face was filled with fear and pointed at the outside of the door. Yang Guo followed her hand and was shocked; there were four blood red handprints on the door. Li Mochou must have come over to survey the group and found that Huang Yaoshi had left; the four prints were left to tell them that she was going to kill the four of them.

Cheng Ying came out after them and asked, "When did you see this?"

Lu Wushuang said, "Before the sky started to get bright." Once she said this, her face went red. She was longing for Yang Guo and had paced back and forth below his window.

Cheng Ying pretended that she didn't know and said, "Luckily you didn't bump into her. The sun has begun to rise, that witch won't come again today. We've still got time to plan." The three of them returned to Yang Guo's room and discussed what to do about the situation.

Lu Wushuang said, "She had a taste of Sha Gu's kung fu the other day, how come she's not afraid of her?"

Cheng Ying said, "Apprentice sister's fork technique only has a few stances. She went away and thought about it carefully and must have come up with a way to neutralize it."

Lu Wushuang said, "However, Sha Dan has recovered from his injury; with the two Sha people together, won't their power be great?"

Yang Guo laughed and said, "With Sha Dan plus a Sha Gu, you've got dumb and dumber, what power?"

The three of them continued their discussion for a while but couldn't come up with any great plan. They thought about the four of them fighting together; they won't be able to beat her but could protect themselves. They decided on fighting her with all their might when she came again the next day.

Yang Guo said, "The two Sha people will join up and fight her from the front, you two attack from the sides. Let's go find Sha Gu and practice our plan."

The three of them called for Sha Gu but there was no reply. They didn't know where she was and the three of them began to worry. The three of them split up to search for her.

Cheng Ying searched for a little while and suddenly saw Sha Gu lying on a pile of rocks, her breathing was weak. Cheng Ying was alarmed and quickly took off her clothes to take a look; she saw that there was a red palm print on her back; she had fallen victim to Li Mochou's "Divine Five Poison Palm". Cheng Ying quickly called for Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang and then fed a 'Nine Flower Jade Dew' pill to her.

Yang Guo remembered the method to cure this palm from the 'Five Poison Codex' and quickly circulated his internal energy and controlled her pressure points.

Sha Gu laughed foolishly and said, "Evil woman, behind, hit me. Sha Gu, hit back, hit her." The counterattack that Sha Gu used was one of the three palms techniques that Huang Yaoshi taught her. Though Li Mochou succeeded in her ambush, she was struck on the arm and her arm was almost broken; she was frightened and in pain so she left swiftly, not daring to continue her stances and take Sha Gu's life.

The three took Sha Gu back to the hut and sat anxiously; with one of the good fighters hurt, in tomorrow's battle it would be even harder to defend against her. Sha Gu had a serious injury; if they escaped with her in tow, they would definitely be caught by Li Mochou.

Yang Guo looked at Cheng Ying and then at Lu Wushuang. Then he then picked up a piece of string from the needle basket that was at hand and then grabbed a pair of scissors and started to cut.

Sha Gu was lying on the bed and suddenly called out "Cut it; cut that evil woman's broom! Cut that broom!" She didn't know it was called a 'fly whisk' and called it a 'broom'.

Yang Guo had an idea, "That witch's fly whisk is a soft weapon and she uses it superbly; precious sabers and sharp swords can't harm her. If there really was a large pair of scissors that could be used as a weapon and cut her fly whisk, that would be great." As he thought about this, the string in his left hand started to move like a fly whisk, the scissors in his right hand came forward and cut the string in two. He then pondered about the fly whisk's movements and how to control the scissors to attack; dreaming up a set of techniques.

Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang watched for a while and then understood, delight was on their faces.

Cheng Ying said, "There's a blacksmith seven or eight li north of here..."

Lu Wushuang interrupted and said, "Good, we'll go and get that blacksmith to forge a large pair of scissors."

Yang Guo thought, "It would be difficult to forge this weapon in such a rush and I'll have to adjust to the change of battle. This is a lot easier than learning the "Jade Flute Swordplay", and anyway, we don't have another plan so we've got to give it a try."

If one of them leaves and takes the order to the blacksmith, it will be extremely dangerous if Li Mochou were to suddenly ambush that person. Right now the four of them could not be separated. So Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang set up some bedding on the horse and placed Sha Gu on the back of the horse. They made their way to the blacksmith.

After the Mongols conquered the Jin, they entered the boundaries of the Song land. This place was the northern frontier of the Song borders, the Mongols had ransacked cities and towns and the whole place was in ruins.

The blacksmith shop was very simple; in the middle was a large anvil, on the floor were pieces of coal and fragments of metals and there were a few plows and sickles hung on the wall. There was no one in the shop.

Yang Guo looked at the shop and thought, "How can weapons be made here!" But since they've made their way here, he might as well ask so he called out loudly, "Is the blacksmith home?"

After a while, an old man entered from a side room; his beard and hair was grey, he was about fifty years old. The man had a hump, most probably from bending down to forge metal over a long time; his eyes were red and small because of smoke from the fires. His left leg was crippled and he had a crutch under his arm. He said, "How can I help you?"

Yang Guo was about to reply when suddenly the noise of galloping horses could be heard; two horses rushed towards the shop. On one of the horses was a Mongolian captain, on the other was a Han, Yang Guo didn't know whether he was a translator or a guide.

The Han loudly said, "Blacksmith Feng? Come over here and listen to the orders."

The old man greeted them and said, "I am he."

The Han said, "The captain has the following orders: all the blacksmiths of this town have three days to gather together at Xian city to aid the army. You have to be there tomorrow, you hear?"

Blacksmith Feng said, "I am old..."

The Mongolian captain raised his whip and said a few words.

The Han said, "If you're not there tomorrow, you'll watch your head get cut off." After he said this, the two left.

Blacksmith Feng stood there and was lost in thought. Cheng Ying saw that he was old and pitiful; she took out some money and placed it on the table. She said, "Master Feng, you're old and can't move well, won't working in the Mongolian camp lead to losing your life for no reason? Take this money and run away!"

Blacksmith Feng sighed and said, "Thank you for Miss's kindness. This old blacksmith has lived for so long, living and dying isn't much to me. But the thousands and thousands of lives of Jiangnan will be in danger."

The three of them were startled and asked, "Why?"

Blacksmith Feng said, "The Mongolian army is gathering blacksmiths to forge weapons. Once they have enough, they will definitely invade south into the land of the Song."

The three of them heard that his words were carefully thought and were very reasonable; they wanted to ask further when Blacksmith Feng said, "What do you three want to order?"

Yang Guo said, "Since Master Feng has other matters to attend to, I shouldn't disturb you but I need it urgently so I have to trouble you." Yang Guo then described the form and size of the scissors to him. The scissors were a special object but no one would have thought that as soon as Blacksmith Feng heard it, there were not any signs of surprise on his face. He nodded and pushed and pulled the air bellows and started the furnace up. He then placed two pieces of iron into the furnace.

Yang Guo said, "Will it be forged by tonight?"

Blacksmith Feng said, "I will do my best and go as fast as possible." He pulled and pushed the air bellows furiously, the coals turned a blood red color.

Sha Gu was on a table; half lying down and half sitting up. Yang Guo and the others whose homeland was Jiangnan, though young, when they heard their homeland was in danger, they were worried. The three of them looked at the furnace and thought about the trouble and strife of the world. Human lives weren't regarded as important and there was worry, hardships and danger everywhere. Though they were facing difficulties the next day, the fear in their hearts diminished a little.

In a little over two hours, blacksmith Feng had heated the iron. He used tongs in his left hand and placed the softened metal on the anvil, with his right, he used an iron hammer to forge the metal. Though he was old, he was still strong; it seemed as if he didn't use any effort in using the hammer. After a while, the two pieces of metal started to take the rough shape of a large pairs of scissors, forming gradually.

Lu Wushuang said happily, "Sha Dan, it's going to be made in time."

Suddenly a voice from behind said coldly, "Making a pair of scissors to cut my fly whisk?" The three of them were startled and turned their heads around, only to see Li Mochou standing at the entrance, lightly waving her fly whisk about.

The weapon had yet to be finished but the enemy had arrived. Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang both drew their swords. Yang Guo looked at an iron rod by the furnace, as soon as the enemy makes her move, he will grab the rod and use it.

Li Mochou chuckled, "Forging a pair of large scissors to cut my fly whisk; only you kids would think of that. I'll sit here and wait for you to finish, there's still time." She then sat on a bench, and looked upon the three as nothing to worry about.

Yang Guo said, "That's good. I say that your fly whisk will definitely be cut by the scissors."

Li Mochou saw Sha Gu sitting up on the table and thought, "That woman took a palm of mine and is still able to sit up, she's quite good." She asked coldly, "Where's Huang Yaoshi?"

When Blacksmith Feng heard the three words 'Huang Yaoshi' he shivered and looked up at her and then immediately lowered his head, continuing with the forging.

Cheng Ying said, "You know that my master is not here, so why ask? If you knew he was still here, even if you've got the greatest gall of anyone, you wouldn't dare come."

Li Mochou gave a 'humph' sound and took out a piece of paper from her pockets and said, "Huang Yaoshi got his fame by taking in many disciples and relying on numbers to win. Huh! Out of all his disciples, which one was really able?" She waved out her left hand and the paper flew away, her arm moved slightly and a silver needle shot out, pinning the piece of paper on a pillar. She said, "I'll leave this as evidence. When that old 'Heretic' Huang comes back, he'll know who killed his two precious disciples." She turned her head around to Blacksmith Feng and said, "Work quicker, I'm getting impatient."

Blacksmith Feng squinted his red eyes and looked at the piece of paper, he saw the words:

The Master of Peach Blossom Island,
Disciples he has many,
Five against one,
It's the laughing stock of Jianghu!

He looked up at the roof and was lost in thought.

Li Mochou said, "Why aren't you working quickly?"

Blacksmith Feng lowered his head and said, "Yes, quicker, quicker." His left hand stretched out the iron tongs and held the needle and paper, he placed them into the flaming fire of the furnace; in a flash the paper burned to ash.

Everyone was extremely surprised by this event. Li Mochou was furious; she raised her fly whisk and wanted to strike down on his head but thought, "This small town blacksmith is extremely bold, could it be that he is an extraordinary person?" She was now standing, she then slowly sat down asked, "Who are you?"

Blacksmith Feng said, "Can't you see? I'm an old blacksmith."

Li Mochou said, "Why did you burn my piece of paper?"

Blacksmith Feng said, "The words on the paper are wrong; it's best not to hang it in this shop."

Li Mochou said sternly, "What's wrong with the words?"

Blacksmith Feng said, "The Master of Peach Blossom Island has the ability to move heaven and earth, all his disciples need to do is to learn one art of his and they will be able to roam the realm. His first disciple is called Qu Lingfeng, his lightness kung fu is divine, and he is specialized in the art of the Iron Eight Trigram Palms, the variations in his martial arts are incredible. His second disciple is Chen Xuanfeng, he has trained his body to the point of that his bones and muscles are as strong as bronze and iron, impenetrable by sabers and spears. Have you heard about this?" When he was talking, he was still forging at the same time; the hammering sounds increased the force of his words.

Li Mochou was surprised when she heard him mention Qu Lingfeng; Yang Guo and others were also surprised. They would never have thought that an old blacksmith in a place like this would know about the people of Jianghu.

Li Mochou said, "Humph, there's a tale around Jianghu, that someone snuck into the imperial palace to steal treasures and he was killed by the imperial guards. That was the Qu Lingfeng with his incredible variations in martial arts. As for the Bronze Corpse Chen Xuanfeng, I heard that a little child stabbed him to death, what is so powerful about him? Impenetrable by sabers and spears, bah, such nonsense!"

Blacksmith Feng said: "Hmm, hmmm....The Master of the Peach Blossom Island's third disciple is called Mei Chaofeng, although she is a woman. Her claw and whip techniques are very fierce."

Li Mochou laughed and said, "Yes, that woman's claw and whip techniques were just too fierce, because of this the Seven Freaks of Jiangnan blinded her and later on, Western Poison Ouyang Feng shattered her lungs."

Blacksmith Feng was stunned for a while and then said bleakly, "That happened? I didn't know about it. The Master of Peach Blossom Island's fourth disciple is Lu Chengfeng, his lightness kung fu is divine, the "Slashing Air Palm" extraordinarily powerful."

Li Mochou said, "Someone with two broken legs and who can't walk, that must be Lu Chengfeng with his divine lightness kung fu. Without working legs, he should rely on the wind (Chengfeng means 'ride on the wind') to fly, Ha-ha! Powerful "Slashing Air Palm"... every palm that comes out meets thin air; that is the "Slashing Air Palm" of the Master of Peach Blossom Island."

Blacksmith Feng lowered his head, two 'chi' sounds were heard as two tear drops landed on the heated iron and turned into steam.

Lu Wushuang was sitting the closest to him and saw his tears clearly; she secretly wondered what it was about. She just saw him raised his hammer even higher, the striking sounds of the metal now even louder.

After a while, Blacksmith Feng continued, "Peach Blossom Island has four senior disciples; Qu, Chen, Mei, Lu. The fourth disciple Lu Chengfeng had not only great martial arts; he was also well versed in the arts of formations and changes. If you meet him, you definitely won't be able to escape."

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "What use is the art of formations and changes? He built the Returning Cloud Manor by Lake Tai, the men of Jianghu said that is was extremely ingenious, but someone burned it to the ground. From then onwards there was no news of him; most probably he got burned to death along with his manor."

Feng Mofeng continued: "The beloved daughter of the Master of the Peach Blossom Island is also the leader of the Beggars' Clan. Chief Huang's intelligence is unsurpassed and she is famous throughout the realm. If she wanted to deal with you, you would never be able to see it coming."

Li Mochou scoffed: "Young Huang Rong, I dare to say that she doesn't really have any true martial arts. She just relies on her husband's fame and great martial arts. The reason why she could become the leader of the Beggars' Association is due to the fact that her teacher was Hong Qigong and he supported her in becoming the leader."

Blacksmith Feng raised his head and said sternly, "You talk rubbish priestess, all the disciples of the Master of Peach Blossom Island are highly skilled in martial arts, how could they all fall at the hands of others? Are you trying to take advantage of this country bumpkin not knowing the matters of the world?"

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "Ask those three kids and you'll know."

Blacksmith Feng turned his head towards Cheng Ying, his eyes inquiring.

Cheng Ying stood up and said gloomily, "My apprentice brothers and sisters have been unfortunate, they have all passed away. I haven't been in the school for long, my martial arts are low and I can't help Master fight. I really am ashamed. Do you have ties with my Master?"

Blacksmith Feng didn't reply and examined her; he looked suspicious and said, "The Master of Peach Blossom Island took in another disciple in his later years?"

Cheng Ying saw that Blacksmith Feng's left leg was crippled, she suddenly had a thought and said, "Master was lonely in his later years, he ordered me to serve him at his side. With my age and study, I really wouldn't dare to say that I'm a disciple of Peach Blossom Island, I haven't even taken a single step onto Peach Blossom Island." The way she phrased her words, she admitted that she was a disciple of Peach Blossom Island.

Blacksmith Feng nodded, his eyes were very gentle, there was a feeling of being close to someone, he lowered his head and continued to forge metal, it was as if he was in deep thought about something.

Cheng Ying saw that when his hammer was in the air, it made half a circle, when it descended onto the anvil, it was tilted and dragged, the hand movements were extremely similar to her school's "Divine Descending Sword Palm Technique", she understood further and said, "When Master had spare time, he would talk to me; he talked about how years ago he sent his disciples away from the island, Chen and Mei were the ones who did wrong. Qu, Lu, Wu and Feng were innocent but because of those two they were punished. What was especially tragic was apprentice brother Feng, Feng Mofeng. He was young and had a harsh background; when Master thought about this, he would feel uncomfortable and extremely regretful."

In reality, Huang Yaoshi's character is eccentric, though his heart had these thoughts, he would never say them. Cheng Ying was warm, kind and understanding, when her Master was lonely and chatted with her, he would reveal a little of his thoughts through his words. She herself guessed what he wanted to say, though what she said right now was not exactly from her Master's mouth, it wasn't against his intentions.

From the way the two talked, Li Mochou had guessed who he was; then she heard Blacksmith Feng sigh and his tears fell like rain, 'chi' 'chi' 'chi'. As the tears struck the hot metal and turned into steam, she couldn't stop her heart from softening, but after thinking, she became strong again. She thought, "Even if they got another fighter, the old blacksmith is crippled, how could he help?" She chuckled and said, "Feng Mofeng, congratulations on your reunion with your apprentice sister."

That blacksmith was Huang Yaoshi's junior disciple Feng Mofeng. Years ago when Chen Xuanfeng and Mei Chaofeng stole the "Nine Yin Manual" and escaped from the island, Huang Yaoshi broke the legs of all the remaining disciples before expelling them from the island. Qu Lingfeng, Lu Chengfeng and Wu Tianfeng had both their legs broken, but when he came to Feng Mofeng, because he was young and his martial arts low, pity stirred in his mind and he just broke his left leg. Feng Mofeng was extremely hurt inside; he eventually came to this place and made a living as a blacksmith. He didn't keep any contacts with the Jianghu world and had silently lived here for the past thirty years. He couldn't have predicted that today he would have news of his Master and apprentices again. Huang Yaoshi saved his life from his enemies. Huang Yaoshi brought him up, his debts to him were great; no matter how Huang Yaoshi had treated him, there was no hate in his heart. When he heard the words of Cheng Ying, his emotions were stirred and his grief and sorrow came out.

End of Chapter 15.

Chapter 16 - Avenging a Father's Death

Translated by Noodles

A cool breeze blew and pieces of Li Mochou's clothing flew away, her arms, shoulders, chest and legs were revealed. She wasn't able to control her embarrassment; she wanted to turn around and run away when suddenly her back felt cool, a large piece of cloth flew away from her back.

Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang were both shocked and pleased to hear that blacksmith Feng was actually Cheng Ying's apprentice brother. Being Huang Yaoshi's disciple, his martial arts can't be that bad, unexpectedly they suddenly had another strong helper in this danger.

Li Mochou chuckled, "You've been expelled by your Master yet you still can't let go, isn't that extremely stupid? Today I'm going to kill three kids and a mad woman; you better just stand aside and take in the atmosphere."

Feng Mofeng said slowly, "Though I've learned martial arts, I have never fought anyone before in my life and my left leg is crippled, I can't really fight."

Li Mochou said, "Yes, that's the best thing for you, you can't afford to throw your life away."

Feng Mofeng shook his head and said, "I cannot allow you to harm a single hair of my apprentice sister's head, since these people are friends of hers you better find somewhere else to do evil."

Li Mochou's murderous intent was stirred and she laughed, "The four of you fighting me at once, that's great." She stood up.

Feng Mofeng was unmoved and kept on striking the metal with his hammer, he was like a character from an opera following prompts from a gong, he struck the metal and then followed it with a few words. He said, "I left my school over thirty years ago, my martial arts have gone rusty long ago, I need to think hard about them.”

Li Mochou laughed and said, “Half my life I’ve roamed Jianghu but I’ve never seen a person like you who grabs the feet of Buddha and prepares for battle at the last minute. Today my eyes have been opened. Feng Mofeng, have you really never fought anyone before in your life?”

Feng Mofeng said, “I never offend others, when others beat me and insult me I don’t do anything, so of course my hands have never been raised against anyone.”

Li Mochou chuckled and said, “Ha-ha, old ‘Heretic’ Huang actually picked a bunch of face losing crap to be his disciples.”

Feng Mofeng said, “Please don’t speak ill of my merciful Master like that.”

Li Mochou gave a wry laugh and said, “He abandoned you as a Master long ago yet you still merciful Master this, merciful that, you’re not afraid of making people laugh.”

Feng Mofeng continued to strike down with his hammer and said, “I have no one in this world, the only loved one I have is my merciful Master, if I don’t respect him, love him, who should I think about? Little apprentice sister, is Master well?”

Cheng Ying said, “Master is very well.” Feng Mofeng’s face lit up with joy. When Li Mochou saw his feelings, she thought, “Old ‘Heretic’ Huang is a good Master, and indeed there is something great about him. He beat his disciple into this state yet this person still remains loyal to him.”

The metal that was being forged was now gradually getting colder, Feng Mofeng again used his tongs to place the metal into the furnace but he was preoccupied and actually sent the hammer in his right hand into the furnace instead. Li Mochou laughed and said, "Blacksmith Feng, just slowly think about your Master's martial arts, there's no need to lose your mind as well." Feng Mofeng didn't reply and stared at the flaming furnace in deep thought, after a while, he sent the crutch under his left arm into the furnace.

Yang Guo and Lu Wushuang both said, "That's your crutch!"

Cheng Ying also called out, "Apprentice brother!"

Feng Mofeng still did not reply and gazed into the furnace. The crutch didn't burn in the furnace, instead it gradually became red; the crutch was actually made of metal. After another while, the hammer also became red but his hands weren't burned as he held onto the handle of the hammer and crutch. Li Mochou's disdain turned into precaution, she knew that this rough looking man must have qualities that excel. She was afraid that he would suddenly attack and she would fall victim to him so she urgently waved her fly whisk about to protect her front's fatal areas and leapt outside, calling out, "Blacksmith Feng, let's just get it over with!"

Feng Mofeng responded and exited the shop, his movements were swift and light, it didn't look like he was crippled. He placed his red crutch into the ground and said, "Angelic Priestess", please don't insult my Master and please stop troubling my apprentice sister. And spare the bitter life of this old blacksmith!"

Li Mochou was again greatly surprised and thought "Why is he begging just before he's about to fight?" She said, "I will spare you only; if you are afraid then don't intervene."

Feng Mofeng clenched his teeth and said, "Fine, then kill me first!" As he said this, he trembled; he was afraid but was also emotional.

Li Mochou raised her fly whisk and struck down towards his head. Feng Mofeng quickly leapt away, his dodging was very sharp but his arms trembled, he actually was afraid to counterattack. Li Mochou attacked three times in a row but each time, Feng Mofeng avoided the attacks with great movements yet he still did not counterattack. Yang Guo and the others were standing to the side watching; when the time came they will go and help. They saw that Li Mochou's attacks were gradually intensifying and Feng Mofeng really looked like someone who has never fought before. In accordance with his peaceful nature, he didn't make an attack with his red hammer.

Yang Guo thought that this isn't good, though this person's martial arts are strong, he didn't have any intent to fight, and he must be stirred so he said loudly, "Li Mochou, why did you insult Island Master Huang by calling him heartless, unrighteous and wicked?"

Li Mochou thought, "When did I insult him?" She sped up her attacks and did not reply.

Yang Guo continued, "You said that Island Master Huang seduced other's daughters and wives, captured other's sons and brothers, did you see that with your own eyes? You said he lied to friends, betrayed his benefactors, did those things really happen? Why did you spread all these things over the world of Jianghu and tarnish Island Master Huang's name?"

Cheng Ying was startled and didn't understand, Feng Mofeng's fury erupted when he heard this, his valor stirred and he attacked with his hammer and crutch at the same time. His left leg was on the ground, assuming the form "Golden Cockerel Standing Alone", it was like he was nailed to the ground, sturdy and still; the hammer and crutch produced a fierce gust of blazing air, heading straight towards Li Mochou. Li Mochou saw that the incoming force was ferocious, she didn't dare to meet it front on and leapt out of the way, looking for a gap to attack him.

Yang Guo carried on, "Li Mochou, you said that Island Master Huang is a liar and a shameless scoundrel. I say that you're the shameless one!"

Feng Mofeng was becoming angrier and angrier as he heard this, the hammer and crutch swept and lunged forward with unstoppable force, at first his stances looked rather rusty but as he fought on, they became more and more fluid. The two's internal energy weren't that far apart but Li Mochou had roamed Jianghu for many years and had been in hundreds of battles; her experience was far greater than his. After about twenty or thirty stances, Li Mochou knew that Feng Mofeng's internal energy wasn't weak but he lacked experience and had one good leg only. After a while, she knew that he would lose so she decided to wait until his anger disperses and then counterattack. Indeed, after another ten or so moves Feng Mofeng's anger gradually disappeared, his will faded and he began to slip away. Li Mochou was thrilled and attacked with her fly whisk towards his chest.

Feng Mofeng swept his hammer across to block. The fly whisk curved its way around and wrapped around the hammer's head; this was the special stance that Li Mochou used to take the opponent's weapon. All she needed to do was trap the weapon and pull; the hammer would then leave Feng Mofeng's hand. But as she did this, 'chi' 'chi' 'chi' sounds were heard, smoke rose, everyone smelt an unpleasant smell; the hairs of the fly whisk were burned off.

Instead of taking the opponent's weapon, Li Mochou had lost her own, she remained calm and threw the handle of the fly whisk away and changed her attack to her "Divine Five Poison Palm". Though this palm technique was powerful, one has to be very close to the opponent to use it. Feng Mofeng had a hammer in his right hand and a crutch in his left, he was using it swiftly and forcefully with gusts of wind generated, he was now able to do as he wished. However in between the two images, smoke kept on rising up; Li Mochou's gown was being burned by the hot hammer and crutch, piece by piece her gown was getting burned. She was furious, she was definitely going to gain victory but the old blacksmith had an advantage in his weaponry. She could not take it at all and wanted to strike him with a palm to vent her anger.

This was the first time that Feng Mofeng fought somebody, if he had been held back and on the receiving end of a beating, he would have retreated; but now he had the upper hand, the stances of the hammer and crutch were coming out with extreme mastery. Li Mochou was almost struck by the hammer and crutch a few times in her quest to land a palm on him, if it wasn't for her speed, her palm would have been burned. Suddenly Feng Mofeng called out, "I don't want to fight; I don't want to fight, look at you, what decency have you left?" With his single good leg he leapt back five feet.

Li Mochou was stunned, a cool breeze blew and pieces of her clothing flew away, her arms, shoulders, chest and legs were revealed. She was a virgin, she wasn't able to control her embarrassment; she wanted to turn around and run away when suddenly her back felt cool, a large piece of cloth flew away from her back.

Yang Guo saw that she was in a wretched state, he tore off his belt and took off his gown; he circulated his internal energy and shot it over to her. The gown was like a person hugging her. Li Mochou quickly put her arms in the sleeves of the gown and buttoned it up. She has seen countless battles in her life but right now she was frightened and embarrassed. Her face was red one moment, white the next, she didn't know whether or not to keep on fighting. She thought, "If I fight him again, this gown will be burned off again, I can only swallow my anger and do something about it later."

She nodded at Yang Guo, thanking him for giving her the gown. She then turned her head towards Feng Mofeng and said, "These crafty weapons are indeed the evil skills of old 'Heretic' Huang. To tell the truth, if it was a battle with proper martial arts alone, could you beat me? If old 'Heretic' Huang's disciples fought fairly and squarely one on one with me, could they beat me?"

Feng Mofeng said with ease, "If you didn't lose your weapon, after a while, you'd be able to beat me."

Li Mochou said arrogantly, "It's good that you know it. My words on that piece of paper about the disciples of Peach Blossom Island winning by numbers aren't wrong."

Feng Mofeng lowered his head and pondered, after a while he said, "That is not correct! If my apprentice brothers and sister Qu, Chen, Mei, and Lu were here, any one of them would be stronger than you. I don't even need to mention my highly skilled apprentice brothers Qu and Chen; you wouldn't be able to beat my apprentice sister Mei Chaofeng who's also a woman like you."

Li Mochou chuckled and said, "All those people are dead and can't prove anything, why are you talking about them? Old 'Heretic' Huang's martial arts aren't all that good. I wanted to test out his daughter Mrs. Guo's martial arts but I don't think there's a need to now." She turned around and was about to leave.

Yang Guo had a thought in his mind and said, "Wait!"

Li Mochou's brows raised and she said, "What?"

Yang Guo said, "You're wrong about Island Master Huang's martial arts being so-so. I heard of swordplay from him, called the "Jade Flute Swordplay", it can neutralize your fly whisk techniques." He picked up an iron rod and drew on the ground. He explained, "Your attacks from the front are indeed swift and powerful but if his sword cuts down from this direction, you will not be able to take back your attack. If you counterattack, the sword will attack quickly from this direction. If you sweep the fly whisk and attack the pressure points, then he'll use a tiger claw form and grab your whisk's tips, turn his sword around and use the handle to strike the 'virtuous' pressure point on your shoulder. Can you imagine that?"

That stance was indeed unimaginably strange but it was also ingenious. Brushing the pressure points in front of her were one of Li Mochou's fly whisk technique's lethal stances, the stance that Yang Guo described left her with no reply, in such a case she could only throw down her fly whisk and admit defeat. Yang Guo made another comparison and said, "When it comes to your "Divine Five Poison Palm", Island Master Huang will use his fingernail to neutralize your palm. When your palm arrives, he will use the "Divine Release of the Flicking Finger", his fingernail flicking against your palm; how can your palm not be crippled as a result? All he needs to do is to immediately cut off his fingernail and the palm's poison won't spread to his body." He continued and described over ten other different stances that could neutralize her martial arts.

These words turned Li Mochou's face grey, every word of his was reasonable and logical, the stances that he described were ingenious; she wouldn't be able to fend them off.

Yang Guo said, "Island Master Huang was angry at your words; he has the status of being a great Master and cannot fight you personally so he passed these techniques to me so I could take care of you. But I thought about how my Master and you are still apprentice sisters. Today I give you a warning about the power of Island Master Huang, next time you see his disciples, you better run as far away as possible."

Li Mochou was silent for a while and then said, "I give up...I give up!" She turned around and ran away; in a flash her image disappeared behind the hills, her speed was really something rarely seen in the world of Jianghu.

In reality, although Huang Yaoshi did pass these techniques to Yang Guo, to be able to reach a state where he could use it to neutralize and defeat an enemy requires years of practice. Yang Guo's description of these techniques was enough to intimidate and overawe her and from now on she would never dare to say one derisive word about Huang Yaoshi.

In the vicinity of Li Mochou, Lu Wushuang's heart would jump at the sound of her voice; when she saw that Li Mochou had gone, it was like a heavy load had been removed from her. She clapped and laughed, saying, "Sha Dan! You're pretty good with words; you could even scare away my Master."

Cheng Ying had seen Yang Guo throw away the gown she had personally made to Li Mochou. It was a pressing situation then and that was that; but she saw that underneath the new gown, he was still wearing the torn and ragged old one. She knew that Xiao Longnu must have made it; he was attached to familiar things and would never forget about things of old. Her heart ached a little but she pretended she didn't care. Then, the four of them returned to the shop to take a look at Sha Gu. Just as they entered the sudden clamor of men and neighing of horses could be heard from beyond the hills; the four of them turned around.

Yang Guo said, "I'll go take a look." He leapt on his horse and galloped around the hill and arrived at the main road. He saw dust and dirt flying up everywhere; it was a division of Mongolian soldiers heading south, they had iron bows and long sabers, their force like a crashing wave. Yang Guo has never seen an army marching before, he watched with a thumping heart, stunned.

Two soldiers raised their long sabers and shouted, "Barbarian, what are you looking at?" They rushed over. Yang Guo turned his horse around and galloped away, the two Mongolian soldiers raised their bows and shot an arrow towards his back. Yang Guo turned his head back and caught them but felt the great force behind the arrows. If he didn't know martial arts, these arrows would have pierced his chest. The two soldiers were frightened when they saw his abilities and reined in their horses, not daring to continue pursuing him. Yang Guo returned to the blacksmiths and told them what he saw.

Feng Mofeng sighed, "The Mongolian army are indeed heading south. The Chinese citizens are going to suffer!"

Yang Guo said, "The Song army will not be able to defend against the archery techniques of the Mongolian army; this is going to be a great disaster."

Feng Mofeng said, "This is just the time for a brave and heroic young man like Master Yang; why don't you return south and join the army and help fight off the invaders?"

Yang Guo was taken aback, he said, "No, I have to go north to find my Gu Gu. The Mongolian army's power is vast; I'm just one person, what use would I be?"

Feng Mofeng shook his head and said, "Though the force of one person is small, the force of many is strong. If everyone thought like you, who'd come out to defend the country against invaders?"

Yang Guo knew that his words were right, but now, there was nothing more important to him than finding his Gu Gu. He had wandered around Jianghu ever since he was small; he had suffered the abuse of officials. He saw that the Mongolians were indeed violent and ruthless, but the Song Emperor may not be a good person himself. There was no need for him to help the emperor. He just gave a wry smile and didn't reply. Feng Mofeng gathered his hammer, tongs and air bellows and hung them across his back; he turned to Cheng Ying and said, "Apprentice Sister, when you see Master please tell him that disciple Feng Mofeng will never forget his teachings. Today I'm going to join the Mongolian army and I'm going to kill one or two of these generals who are invading my land. Apprentice sister, take care. I'm extremely delighted at seeing a disciple of Master's." He supported himself on his crutch and left, not even turning his head again; he didn't take another look at Yang Guo.

Yang Guo looked at Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang, he said, "It was unexpected that we would meet such a person like him here."

Lu Wushuang favored Yang Guo in her heart and said, "Cousin, apart from you, the people under the tutelage of your Master are either mad or crazy."

Cheng Ying smiled and said mildly, "Everyone has their own will, you can't force them. You said he was mad and crazy; he in turn might be calling us heartless. Anyway, don't I possess a touch of madness and craziness myself?"

Yang Guo's heart jumped when he heard this, she looked different and he couldn't tell whether her words were meant to be ambiguous. Suddenly a thumping sound was heard as Sha Gu fell from her bench. The three of them were alarmed and quickly put her up on a bed; her face was red and her eyes stared ahead blankly, the poison from the "Divine Five Poison Palm" was flaring up again.

Cheng Ying fed her some medicine while Yang Guo helped her sooth her pressure points. Sha Gu looked at him startled, her face was full of fear as she called out, "Brother Yang, don't look for me for revenge, it wasn't me who killed you."

Cheng Ying said softly, "Sister, don't be scared, he isn't..."

Yang Guo suddenly thought, "She's not fully conscious at the moment, I can force her to reveal the truth." He turned his hands and grabbed onto her wrists and said with a severe tone, "Who killed me? If you don't tell me then I'll take my revenge on you."

Sha Gu begged, "Brother Yang, it's not me."

Yang Guo said angrily, "You're not telling me! Fine, I'll strangle you to death!" He stretched his hands around her throat. Sha Gu gave out a piercing scream. How would Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang know what Yang Guo was doing, they both called out to stop him, one called out, "Brother Yang", the other called out, "Sha Dan!" One said, "Don't frighten her further", the other said, "Why are you mucking around at a time like this?"

Yang Guo didn't take any notice; he closed his hands slightly tighter, the expression of an evil spirit was on his face; he clenched his teeth and said, "I'm brother Yang's evil ghost. I died a horrible death, do you know that?"

Sha Gu said, "I know, after you died, crows ate your flesh."

Yang Guo's heart felt as if a knife was plunged into his heart, he knew that his father had died under someone else's hands but he didn't know that after he died, his body was actually eaten by crows and wasn't buried, he called out, "Who killed me? Tell me, tell me."

Sha Gu strained out, "It was you who hit Auntie, Auntie had poison needles on her body, you died."

Yang Guo yelled loudly, "Who is this Auntie?"

Sha Gu couldn't breathe with Yang Guo holding her throat and wanted to faint, she said quietly, "Auntie is auntie."

Yang Guo said, "What's Auntie's surname? What's her name?"

Sha Gu said, "I... I... don't know, let me go!"

Lu Wushuang saw that the situation was becoming urgent; she went over to pull away Yang Guo's hands. Right now, Yang Guo was like a madman, he waved out with all his strength, how could Lu Wushuang defend herself? She was thrown away and crashed into a wall painfully. Cheng Ying saw that the usually peaceful, warm and graceful Yang Guo was now like a mad tiger, she was so frightened that her limbs went limp.

Yang Guo thought, "If today I can't get the name of the person who killed my father, I'll immediately throw up blood and die." He asked, "Is Auntie's surname Qu? Is Auntie's name Mei?" He thought that since Sha Gu's surname was Qu, her auntie's surname would most probably be Qu, or perhaps it could have been Mei Chaofeng.

Sha Gu struggled with all her strength, though she has practiced martial arts for a longer time than Yang Guo, her martial arts couldn't compare to his. The pressure points on her wrist were being held and she couldn't break free, she could only say urgently, "Go and find Auntie for revenge, don't... don't look for me!"

Yang Guo said, "Where's your Auntie?"

Sha Gu said, "Me and Grandpa left! She's with a man on the island."

Yang Guo's spine chilled when he heard these words, he quivered, "What does your Auntie call your Grandpa?"

Sha Gu said, "Father, what else?"

Yang Guo's face went grey but he was afraid he was wrong and asked, "Your Auntie's man is called Guo Jing, isn't he?"

Sha Gu said, "I don't know. Auntie just calls him 'brother Jing, brother Jing (Jing ge ge)!' She copied the way Huang Rong called Guo Jing; suddenly her legs flailed about and squealed, "Help, help! Ghost... ghost..."

What doubts did Yang Guo have now? All the suffering and bitterness of the past rushed to the surface and he thought, "If father wasn't killed, my mother wouldn't have been in pain all the time and die so early like that. I wouldn't have endured all the pain and suffering I've been through." He continued, "When I was on Peach Blossom Island, the Guo couple were not at ease with me, they were a bit too polite, they seemed to be covering up something and didn't treat me like the Wu brothers. Telling them how things are, shouting at them when needed. I felt something then but how would I know that it was because they carried the guilt of killing my father. It's because of this that they didn't want to teach me martial arts and sent me to the Quanzhen sect to suffer." His anger and fear stirred throughout him, his limbs became limp. Sha Gu called out loudly and leapt up from the bed.

Cheng Ying went over to Yang Guo and said softly, "Sister Sha has always been a bit crazy, you know about this. She's even worse after suffering this injury, don't believe her whatever you do." But in her heart she believed that the words of Sha Gu were true, and she knew that consoling him like this would be no use. But her heart couldn't endure seeing his face full of anger, despair, bitterness and sorrow.

Yang Guo did not take in any of these words; he stood there stunned for a while before calling out. He got on his horse, kicked with his legs and the horse galloped forward, in a flash it had gone over a hundred feet. Faint calls of 'Sha Dan!' and 'Brother Yang!' were heard behind him but he ignored them. The only thought in his mind was, "I need to take revenge, I need to take revenge!"

He galloped in a single stretch for two hours and had gone tens of li. Suddenly he felt a pain on his lips; he lifted his hand and felt them. His hand was covered in blood; in his anger and pain, he had bitten down and actually pierced his lower lip. He thought, "Auntie Guo has always treated me badly, but recently she suddenly began to treat me well, but it was all fake. I don't care about this but Uncle Guo... Uncle Guo..." He had always revered Guo Jing; he felt that his actions and martial arts were one of a kind, and he had always treated him exceedingly well. Now he knew that this was one big lie; he felt that this person was even more cunning than Huang Rong. Anger and resentment filled him, almost bursting out of his chest.

When he thought about the pain he was in; he got off the horse, covered his head and began to cry. This release of sorrow was extremely distressing; it was like all of the world's pain and troubles had all amassed in him. He had never seen his father and had never heard anyone talk about him; not even his own mother. But ever since he was little, he had the image of the perfect father in his mind; there wasn't another who was as kind as him. Yet this hero was killed by a devious trick of Guo Jing and Huang Rong.

He cried for a while before hearing the sounds of horses; four horses galloped from the north, the riders all Mongolian warriors. The first rider was holding a long spear; on the spear was a child that was two or three years of age. He was laughing as he galloped along. The baby was still alive; it was giving out a weak cry. The four warriors were a little surprised when they saw Yang Guo in the middle of the road but a ragged clothed young Han like him could be found everywhere so they didn't take any notice. One of them called out, "Move out of the way, move out of the way." As he said this, he thrust his spear forward.

Yang Guo was deep in the middle of his troubles right now; without thinking he pulled the spearhead forward and dragged the warrior down. He turned his hand and swept the spear; the warrior went flying over ten feet away, his skull was crushed and he died. When the remaining three warriors saw his valor, they called out, turned around and galloped away. A 'pai' sound was heard as the baby fell onto the ground.

Yang Guo ran up to it and saw that it was a Han child; it was healthy, chubby, and very cute. The pierce to its stomach wouldn't kill it right away but it would be difficult for it to recover and live. It was calling out 'a' 'a' 'a', as if it was calling out for its mother. Yang Guo was overwhelmed with sorrow and grief and sympathy stirred in his heart. He picked up the barely alive baby and tears flowed again; he saw that its pain was unbearable so he lightly gave it a palm and stopped its pain. He used the Mongolian warrior's spear to dig a hole so he could bury the baby.

He dug ten or so times before he heard the thunderous noise of horses and horns; a group of Mongolian soldiers were rushing towards him. Yang Guo's left hand held the dead baby; his right extended the spear as he got on the horse. The skinny horse was actually an experienced battle horse; when it saw it was about to go into battle, its spirits soared; it neighed and charged towards the Mongolian soldiers. Yang Guo's hand raised, the spear descended, he turned over three or four soldiers in one go, but he saw that countless soldiers were coming; he turned the horse around, went onto the wild lands and rode away. Arrows rained down behind him like locusts; he swung the spear and deflected the arrows away. The skinny horse was extremely fast; in a short while it had left the Mongolian soldiers behind but it didn't stop; it continued galloping away like the wind into the wild lands.

After another while, Yang Guo saw that the sky was beginning to get dark; he looked around and saw that long grass and strange rocks were everywhere. Dusk was covering the area; it was quiet without any sounds of people, and there wasn't even a crow or sparrow about. He got off the horse with the baby still held in his hands. The face still looked alive but covered in extreme suffering; pain filled his heart, he thought, "The parents of this child must have loved it very much; now that he's dead, his parents must be feeling great pain. I don't know how many people have died by the hands of these vicious and violent Mongolian soldiers as they head south."

The more he thought about it, the more difficult he found to endure; he dug a hole by a large tree and buried the child. He then thought about the words of Sha Gu again, "When this child died, it had me to bury it, but my father's body was eaten by crows. You killed him, what harm is there in burying him? You really are evil! If I don't take revenge, Yang Guo isn't a human!"

That night he slept in a tree. The next morning he rode the horse and let the horse go as it pleased; sometimes he thought about going back to the tomb to see Xiao Longnu, and at others he would think about how he must kill Guo Jing and Huang Rong first, no matter what, to avenge his father. When he felt hungry, he would pluck wild fruits to eat.

On the fourth day, he saw someone faraway, leaping up to a tree to pick some wild fruits. Yang Guo rode closer and saw that it was the disciple of Jinlun Fawang, Da'erba. Every time he jumped, he could only pick one fruit; eventually he became impatient and attacked the tree a few times. The tree gave a 'craack' as it broke; he then plucked the wild fruits from the tree and placed them in his pockets.

Yang Guo thought, "Could it be that Jinlun Fawang is nearby?"

He and Jinlun Fawang originally didn't have any ties; but now he had recognized Guo Jing and Huang Rong as his father's killers. He regretted helping Guo Jing and Huang Rong in opposing Fawang; he quietly followed Da'erba to see where he was going. He saw him moving like he was flying, straight towards the mountains. Yang Guo got off the horse and followed from a distance behind. Da'erba headed into a forest; the further he went, the higher he got. Yang Guo followed him up to the peak of a mountain.

At the top of the mountain was a small exposed hut. Jinlun Fawang was sitting in the middle of the hut, meditating with his eyes closed and eyebrows drooping down. Da'erba put the wild fruits down on the floor and turned around; his face changed as he suddenly saw Yang Guo approaching.

He called out, "Senior apprentice brother, you've come to cause further harm to Master?" He dashed forward to Yang Guo and stretched out his arm to twist the front of his garment. His martial arts are better than Yang Guo's, but he was affected by the perilous situation that his Master was in and in his fear he lost control of his state of mind. This stance was a mess and broke one of the rules of martial arts; Yang Guo grabbed his arm in return and tossed him away.

Da'erba had always thought that Yang Guo was the reincarnation of his senior apprentice brother and now he was thrown on the ground by him; he rolled over a few times, picked himself up and then leapt in front of Yang Guo.

Yang Guo thought that he was going to raise his hands again so he took a step backwards, he didn't know that Da'erba would suddenly fall down to his knees and kowtow, "Senior apprentice brother, please remember your relationship with Master in your previous life. Master has a serious injury and is now trying to recuperate, if you disturb him, then... then..." His voice croaked as he reached this point and tears flowed.

Though Yang Guo did not understand his Tibetan, from his emotional state and Jinlun Fawang's distressed look, he more or less understood. He quickly helped him up and said, "Relax, I'm not going to harm your Master."

Da'erba saw that his face was gentle and peaceful; he was pleased. Although he didn't understand his words, his wariness started to go away.

Right at this time, Jinlun Fawang opened his eyes; he was shocked when he saw Yang Guo. He was concentrating on circulating his chi and didn't hear the words of Da'erba and Yang Guo. Suddenly he saw the enemy in front of him; he gave a sigh and said slowly, "I have practiced martial arts for many years but I still have yet to find a way to break through the echelon barrier, I didn't know that today I would die in the central plains." When he suffered that blow from the rock, he had suffered serious internal injuries; in the past few days he had built a hut on the top of the mountain so he could recuperate. It was unexpected that Yang Guo would actually find his way here. He wasn't able to use even one ounce of strength at the moment; he immediately ordered Da'erba to force Yang Guo away. But in the middle of their battle his state of mind would be disturbed and it would be difficult to recover from this serious injury.

How would he know that Yang Guo would bow; then say, "I have not come here to do any harm to the Reverend, please don't be wary."

Jinlun Fawang shook his head and was about to say something when he felt a severe pain in his chest; he quickly closed his eyes and circulated his chi. Yang Guo went inside the hut and stretched out his right hand, placing it on the 'To Yang' pressure point. This pressure point is just below the seventh vertebrae and is one of the major pressure point that regulates the veins and arteries.

Da'erba was shocked when he saw this; he sent out a fist towards Yang Guo. Yang Guo shook his left hand and made a signal with his eyes.

Da'erba saw that nothing was wrong with his Master, a slight smile was forming on his face and he took back his fist.

Yang Guo's internal energy was not deep and he didn't know anything about Tibetan internal energy; when he felt a Fawang's internal chi stirring, he circulated his internal energy and sent chi to him to help him clear upwards the 'Spirit Stage', 'Divine Route', 'Body Pillar' and 'Chest Route'; then clearing the downwards 'Withdrawing Muscle', 'Central Hinge', 'Central Spine' and the 'Suspending Hinge' pressure points. These were up to Fawang; he could only help him protect his veins and arteries.

Though Da'erba's martial arts were strong, all he'd learned were external martial arts and couldn't help his Master to recuperate. In the past few days he could only worry anxiously.

Since Jinlun Fawang now had no worries, his chi ran through his body and he used all his strength to heal the injuries in his chest and lower abdomen; after two hours the pain had lessened and his face was red. He opened his eyes and nodded to thank Yang Guo; he joined his palms and said, "Master Yang, why are you suddenly helping me?"

Yang Guo did not hide anything from him; he told him how he recently found out that Guo Jing and Huang Rong killed his father, and how he decided to go and take revenge. He explained how he accidentally bumped into Da'erba and followed him here.

Jinlun Fawang knew that this young man was crafty; in ten words it was difficult for him to believe one of them. But today, killing him would have been as easy as turning his palm, but instead of killing him, Yang Guo actually helped him to recuperate. He really did not have any ill intent towards him and he said, "So Master Yang has such heavy matters on him. But the Guo couple's martial arts are extremely high, I'm afraid that it would be difficult for Master Yang to take revenge."

Yang Guo was silent, after a while he said, "Fine, then both father and son will die at their hands!"

Fawang said, "At first, I thought I was invincible and just by my power alone, I could hold down the heroes of the central plains and take the position of the Chancellor of Wulin. But the warriors of the central plains do not follow the rules of fighting one on one, and they all came at once; I can only make another plan. When I've recovered, I'm going to need to invite many skilled fighters to assist me. Once my forces are large, the central plains martial artists can't use numbers to overcome me and everyone can compete fairly. Have you got intentions of joining my side?"

Yang Guo was about to agree but he thought about the killings by the Mongolian soldiers and said, "I cannot help Mongolia."

Fawang shook his head and said, "If you want to kill the Guo couple by yourself, it would be almost impossible."

Yang Guo thought for a while and said, "Fine, I'll help you get the position of the Chancellor of Wulin, you help me to take my revenge."

Jinlun Fawang stretched out his palm and said, "That's settled, we'll exchange palms to seal this deal."

The two of them exchanged three palms to set this deal.

Yang Guo said, "I'm just going to help you to take the position of the Chancellor of Wulin, I cannot help you in your quest to help the Mongols attack Jiangnan and kill its citizens."

Jinlun Fawang laughed and said, "Everyone has their will, one cannot force them. Brother Yang, don't mind me commenting, but your martial arts have many styles; learning martial arts from many schools is of course good, but it would be unavoidable that your martial arts won't be refined. What is your most proficient skill? What martial arts are you planning to use against the Guo couple?"

Those words froze Yang Guo's tongue; it was hard for him to reply. Yang Guo has had extraordinary encounters in his life and his character was also covetous; Quanzhen, Ouyang Feng, Ancient Tomb, the Nine Yin, Hong Qigong and Huang Yaoshi, he had learned numerous martial arts from these schools. All the martial arts of these schools are ingenious and Masterly, but they all need a lifetime of difficult work to reach the upper level of these skills. He took a bit here and a bit there, but none of his martial arts had actually reached a great level.

When he meets second rate fighters, the martial arts he uses are all flowery and fancy, causing confusion to opponents; but when he meets a first rate martial artist, he will eventually be proved inferior. He can't even compare to Jinlun Fawang's disciples Da'erba and Huo Dou. He lowered his head and pondered about it; these words by Jinlun Fawang were a real warning to him and showed up the weakness in the foundations of his martial arts.

He had another thought, "Since I've decided to stay with Gu Gu forever, how can I have relationships everywhere? Cheng Ying, Wifey and there's also Wanyan Ping. I don't have any real feelings for them, how can I treat them improperly like this? Being greedy is really not a good thing." He continued thinking, "No matter if it's Hong Qigong, Huang Yaoshi, Ouyang Feng or even the Quanzhen Seven Masters and Jinlun Fawang, every one of them is a famous Master. They just practiced the martial arts of their own school; they understand other sect's and school's martial arts but they don't practice them. They just make themselves aware of them. In that case, what school of martial arts should I concentrate on?"

Based on his background, he should concentrate on the "Jade Heart Manual" of the Ancient Tomb sect; but then he thinks about the Mastery and ingenuity of Hong Qigong's "Dog Beating Stick Technique", the subtlety of Huang Yaoshi's "Jade Flute Swordplay"; if he ignores all of them, isn't that a pity? There's godfather's "Toad Stance" and "Reversal of the Veins". There are the martial arts of the "Nine Yin Manual" as well. Any one of them is enough to make your name in the world. It was difficult to learn them, how can I just give them up like that?"

He left the hut and walked around the peak, thinking bitterly; it was extremely troubling. He thought for half a day when suddenly his mind lit up, "Why don't I take the best of all these schools and form my own? The martial arts of the world were all formed by someone; if others can do this, could it be that I can't?" His eyes lit up as he thought about it. He thought from morning to midday, from midday to night and didn't eat or drink. All the martial arts he had seen in his life were floating around in his mind, clashing with each other. He had seen Ouyang Feng and Hong Qigong compete martial arts verbally and he himself frightened away Li Mochou by using words from his mouth; but right now, the martial arts competing in his mind were even more rapid and spectacular than describing them verbally. Eventually he involuntarily started to wave out fists and kicks. At first, it could be distinguished that this stance was from Hong Qigong, the other was Ouyang Feng but eventually everything became muddled up, he couldn't hold on any longer and fainted.

Da'erba watched from afar, he saw that he was acting crazy, pointing out his hand and sweeping his legs, he didn't understand what it was all about. Suddenly he saw him falling onto the ground, he wanted to go over there and help him but Jinlun Fawang laughed and said; "Don't disturb his thoughts. It's a pity that your intelligence is mediocre and you can't grasp the meanings within."

Yang Guo slept for half a night and continued with his thoughts the next morning. In seven days, he fell unconscious five times. He thought he wanted to invent his own school of martial arts, but how easy is that? With his present abilities it would be almost impossible to succeed. This isn't something that can be achieved in ten days or two weeks. But after studying for several days, he suddenly understood. Since he couldn't combine all these martial arts together, there was no need to force the issue. He realized that all martial arts were at his fingertips; later on when he meets an enemy, he'll use whichever is needed. There was no need to think about the source of the martial art and this wasn't far off from his intentions of forming his own school. Once he understood this point, he was immediately filled with comfort.

In the past few days, Jinlun Fawang has been self-recuperating; his injury was now almost fully recovered and he can move as freely as usual. Today, he saw Yang Guo's expression was now at ease and calm, and knew that he had advanced another level in his martial arts. He said, "Little brother Yang, I'll take you to see someone. This person is a great hero, an extremely open minded person, once you see him you'll definitely be in awe."

Yang Guo said, "Who?"

Jinlun Fawang said, "The Mongolian Prince Khubilai. He is the grandson of Genghis Khan and the fourth son of Prince Tolui."

After seeing the unrestrained violence of the Mongolian soldiers, Yang Guo hated Mongolians; he frowned and said, "I'm anxious to avenge my father, I don't need to see that Mongolian prince."

Jinlun Fawang laughed and said, "I agreed to help you, how can I break my word? But I was summoned here by Khubilai; I need to go and see him. His camp is not far from here; it's within one day's travel."

Yang Guo had no choice but to agree; he alone was not a match for Guo Jing and Huang Rong whether it came to a battle of wits or strength. Without Jinlun Fawang's help, it would be difficult for him to take revenge; he could only go along with him.

Jinlun Fawang was the First Protector of Mongolia and the Mongolian soldiers revered him. When they saw him, they immediately went and told the news to their prince. Mongolians have always lived in tents; though they've entered a city, they weren't used to living in palaces. Because of this, Khubilai stayed in the tents of the encampment.

Fawang took him along to the royal tent. Yang Guo saw that this tent was twice as large as a normal Mongolian tent but the arrangement within was very simple and crude. A twenty-five or six year old man was sitting down reading. When this person saw the two enter, he quickly got up to meet them and laughed, "I haven't seen the Protector for many days, I have been thinking about you."

Jinlun Fawang said, "Your highness, I'll introduce you to a young hero. Though this brother Yang is young, he is an extraordinary personality."

Yang Guo knew that this Khubilai is Genghis Khan's grandson; if he didn't have a noble appearance then at least he should have a powerful air around him. How would he know that this person was just a Han speaking, modest and mild young man; he was rather surprised.

Khubilai studied Yang Guo. He pulled on Fawang with his left hand and then said to his servant, "Quickly bring some wine, I want to have a drink with this brother."

The servant brought in three bowls of Mongolian milk wine. Khubilai took a bowl and drank it all in one go. Fawang did the same. Yang Guo rarely drank wine, but now that the host has shown his hospitality, it wouldn't be appropriate to reject it; so he took the wine and drank it all in one go. He felt the wine was extremely harsh and rather sour.

Khubilai laughed, "Little brother, how beautiful is this wine?"

Yang Guo said, "This wine is harsh and sour, it's like a knife going into your mouth; the taste isn't great but this is something that a true man drinks."

Khubilai was pleased and called for more wine; each of them drank three bowls. Yang Guo's internal energy was profound enough; he maintained his composure as he drank.

Khubilai said with joy; "Protector, where did you find this talented young man? My Mongolia is really fortunate."

Jinlun Fawang then revealed Yang Guo's history to him; he played up Yang Guo with his words, describing him as if he was one of the eminent figures of the central plains. When Yang Guo heard how Jinlun Fawang described him, he couldn't help but feel a little proud.

Khubilai was ordered to take the Song land and has stayed in the central plains for a while now. He liked Han culture, his companion was Confucius; he read books and studied scriptures. He employed skilled martial artists, made acquaintances with them, planning to go south and attack the Song.

If it were another person who saw such a young man like Yang Guo, it would be difficult for them to accept Fawang's words. But Khubilai was a wise and supremely magnanimous and he also had believed Jinlun Fawang without question; he was delighted and ordered a feast.

In a short while a feast was set up, wine and food which included both Han and Mongolian dishes, the bowls overflowed.

Khubilai said to his servant, "Invite the heroes from the Virtuous Guesthouse." The servant complied and exited the tent.

Khubilai said, "Some able people have been made guests here in the past few days; it really is my country's luck to have these people. But the thing is, that they cannot compare with Fawang and gentleman Yang."

In the middle of this, the servant returned with the guests; the tent door opened and in came four people.

The first one that came in was tall and skinny, his face was pale, and he looked like a corpse. Khubilai introduced him to Fawang and Yang Guo, he was Xiangxi's Xiaoxiang Zi.

The second person was extremely short and dark; he was a skilled fighter from Tian Zhu (India), Nimoxing.

One of the last two was a strongly built eight foot tall person with a foolish laugh on his face and blank eyes. The other was high nosed deep eyed with crooked hair and a yellow beard; he was a Hu (from northern and western China) but he was wearing Han clothes. He wore pearls around his neck and jade bracelets on his wrists, a rich air surrounded him. Khubilai introduced them separately. The Han was from Huijiang; his name is Ma Guangzuo. The Hu was a merchant, his family traded treasures in Kaifeng, Cheung An Tai Yuan, his Chinese name was Yin Kexi.

When Nimoxing and Xiaoxiang Zi heard that Jinlun Fawang was the 'First Protector of Mongolia' they examined him coldly, their faces showed disrespect. When they saw the young Yang Guo, they thought that he was Fawang's disciple or grand disciple and didn't even give him another look.

After three rounds of wine, Nimoxing could endure it no longer and said, "Your highness, the lands of Mongolia are vast, this monk is the 'First Protector of Mongolia', his martial arts must be extremely good. I want to experience his skills."

Khubilai gave a subtle smile and didn't reply.

Xiaoxiang Zi followed on, "Brother Nimoxing is from India, Tibetan martial arts originates from India, could there such a thing as getting green from blue in this world? I don't really believe it."

Jinlun Fawang saw Nimoxing's eyes light up; Xiaoxiang Zi's face was exuding a green air; Fawang knew that these two people's internal energy was profound. Yin Kexi was laughing, using all his strength to produce an extremely uncultured and plain air; the more this person tries to show that he is unable, the greater the ability this person is likely to have. Fawang could not take him lightly; but he had no worries about the Han, Ma Guangzuo. He gave a wry laugh and said, "I was given the position of Protector because of the kindness of the Khan and the Fourth Prince. Originally I did not dare to accept this position.”

Xiaoxiang Zi said, “Then you should give it up for a person more worthy.” He glanced over at Nimoxing as he chuckled wryly.

Jinlun Fawang stretched out his chopsticks and picked up a piece of beef, he laughed, “This is the fattest piece of beef on the plate. I originally didn’t want to eat it but I just happened to stretch out my chopsticks and happened to pick this piece; I just accept it as fate. If you are interested, you can pick it yourself.” He hung the piece of beef over the plate, waiting for each one of them to come and take it.

Ma Guangzuo did not understand the meaning behind Jinlun Fawang’s words; he was talking about a piece of beef, but in reality he was referring to the position of the ‘First Protector of Mongolia’. When Ma Guangzuo saw him offering the piece of beef, he stretched out his chopsticks to catch it. His chopsticks were about to touch the beef when Fawang suddenly swept out one of his chopsticks and lightly touched his chopsticks. Ma Guangzuo felt his arm tremble with great intensity; he couldn’t hold on to them and the pair of chopsticks fell onto the table. Fawang’s chopstick returned in time to keep hold of the piece of beef. The others looked at each other startled.

Ma Guangzuo still did not understand, he picked up the chopsticks and held onto them tightly with his five fingers, he thought, “This time you won’t be able to knock it away...” He stretched his chopsticks towards the piece of beef.

Fawang did the same thing again, sweeping out one chopstick. This time, Ma Guangzuo was holding them tightly, indeed Fawang could not knock them out of his hands but a ‘ka la’ sound was heard, the chopsticks broke into four pieces as if a knife had sliced through them and two pieces of chopsticks dropped onto the table.

Ma Guangzuo was furious; he called out and threw himself forward to battle Fawang.

Khubilai laughed, "There's no need to get angry warrior Ma, if you want to duel, there's time to do this after we've eaten."

Ma Guangzuo was afraid of his highness; he returned to his seat and pointed to Fawang, shouting, "What witchcraft did you use to break my chopsticks?"

Jinlun Fawang laughed, still holding out the piece of beef in front of him.

At first, Nimoxing did not have any respect for Jinlun Fawang, but after seeing how profound his internal energy was, he did not dare to continue looking down on him. He was an Indian; when he ate he did not use chopsticks, he just stretched out his hand and said, "I want to eat this piece of beef that the big Han couldn't take." His five fingers came out suddenly like a metal claw towards the beef. Fawang swept out his right chopstick, it moved like lightning as he attacked the pressure points on his palm, arm, wrist and the tip of his middle finger.

Nimoxing's palm quickly turned and chopped down at Fawang's wrist. Fawang's arm didn't move, he turned his chopstick around and struck out swiftly again, Nimoxing felt the chopstick striking him on the hand and quickly took his arm back. Fawang's chopstick twisted back into its original position, still holding onto the piece of beef.

His attack of the pressure points were extremely swift; he made many attacks and returned the chopstick into position before the piece of beef slipped away. Yang Guo and the others could see what had happened. The two had exchange many stances in just a short period of time. Fawang's attacks with the chopstick were indeed fast but Nimoxing's martial arts were also excellent, he was able to take back his hand in an extremely critical situation.

Xiaoxiang Zi called out, "Good skill!"

Khubilai knew that the two were using advanced martial arts to test each other but he couldn't see what type of martial arts they were using. Ma Guangzuo's eyes were wide open; he looked at them, puzzled.

Yin Kexi laughed and said, "Everyone's too polite! You're offering it to the others, but don't want to eat it yourself, nor do you want anybody else to. Everything will be cold by the time you've finished." He then slowly stretched out his chopsticks, the emerald and jade bracelets collided with each other noisily. Before his chopsticks touched the beef, Fawang's chopsticks were forced to tremble slightly by his internal energy; he was getting in the first attack, keeping Fawang's chopsticks in check. Fawang moved his chopsticks forward and allowed him to take the piece of beef. When his internal energy reaches his chopstick, he attacked his arm. Yin Kexi urgently circulated his internal energy and counterattacked. How would he know that Fawang's internal energy would suddenly withdraw? The beef was initially held by him but his internal energy moved it forward and Fawang once again got hold of the piece of beef.

Fawang laughed, "Brother Yin is too polite by offering it to me." This time he used cleverness to win. Yin Kexi fell into the trap and at the same time found out that the opponent's internal energy far exceeded his own. Luckily he hadn't embarrassed himself yet; he gave a wry laugh and picked up a small piece of beef from the plate. He said, "The only things I love in life are treasures and precious objects, I don't really like fatty meat; I better just eat a small piece." He placed the small piece of beef in his mouth and then slowly chewed.

Jinlun Fawang thought, "This Hu merchant is broad-minded." He turned to Xiaoxiang Zi and said, "Since you offered it to me so modestly, I will accept." He slowly took the chopsticks back half a foot. He guessed that Xiaoxiang Zi's internal energy wasn't weak and so didn't dare to be careless, by taking it back half a foot, if he needed to circulate his internal energy it will be half a foot closer and half a foot further away from his enemy.

Xiaoxiang Zi chuckled and slowly raised his chopsticks; suddenly he sent them forward and caught the piece of beef. He used the force to take it back and he managed to pull it back half a foot.

Jinlun Fawang did not predict that the opponent's movements would be so quick; he quickly circulated his internal energy and pulled back. The piece of beef moved back towards him inch by inch.

Xiaoxiang Zi stood up and placed his left hand on the table. The table made 'ka la' noises under this force but he still could not stop the force that Fawang produced in taking back the piece of beef.

Fawang looked at ease whereas drops of sweat poured from the forehead of Xiaoxiang Zi, the result was clear.

Suddenly a loud call by someone faraway could be heard, "Guo Jing, brother Guo, where are you? Quickly come out Guo Jing, the punk named Guo!"

At first the call came from the east but then it came from the west. There was a distance of a couple of li between the calls from the east and west and it appeared as if there were two people calling out from the east and west. But the voice was the same and there was no pause between the calls from the east and west. This person's movements were extremely fast and the internal energy behind the calls was profound; this was something that was little seen in the world.

Everyone looked at each other startled. Xiaoxiang Zi loosened his chopsticks and sat back down in his seat.

Jinlun Fawang laughed and said, "Thank you, thank you!" He was about to place the piece of beef in his mouth when suddenly the tent door opened, someone flashed across and stretched out their hand and snatched Fawang's beef and then took a large bite out of it.

This shocked everyone; they all stood up and looked to see who this person was. It was an old man with white hair, a white beard and a smiling red face. He sat down on the rug and started chewing the beef noisily. Jinlun Fawang thought back on the movements of this man when he took his piece of beef; the more he thought about, the more shocked he was.

The guards outside the tent who failed to stop this man all called out, "Stop the assassin!" Four spears were thrust towards the man's chest. The old man stretched out his left hand and grabbed all the spearheads at once; he turned to Yang Guo and said, "Little brother, I'm really hungry, pass over some more beef to me."

The four Mongolian soldiers pushed forward with all their strength but they couldn't move an inch; the four then tried to pull back but again it was to no avail. As they strained with red faces, the spearheads seemed as if they were trapped under an iron mountain, they were not even able to pull them back half an inch.

Yang Guo thought this guy was entertaining and picked up the plate of beef, he threw it easily to him and said, "Help your self!"

The old man caught it with his right hand and placed it against his chest; suddenly a piece of meat from the plate jumped up and flew into his mouth as if it were alive. This entertained Khubilai, he thought the old man was performing magic and gave out a cheer. But Jinlun Fawang and the others knew that the old man had circulated internal energy through his palm into the plate, forcing the piece of meat upwards.

An ordinary person could force a piece of meat to jump if they tap the plate, but they would definitely knock everything up at once sending the juices everywhere. It would be impossible for them to knock them up piece by piece; the palm power of this old man had reached a stage where he could do as he pleased. Everyone else at the feast knew that they would not be able to do it themselves; fear and respect sprang up in their hearts.

The old man chewed and swallowed; as soon as one piece went down another piece jumped up. In a short while he had completely cleared the plate. His right hand waved out and sent the plate flying out in an arc towards Yang Guo and Yin Kexi. The two of them had already seen how good this man's martial arts were; they were afraid that he had used some kind of strange move in throwing the plate and didn't dare to stretch out their hand to catch it. The two quickly moved out of the way. The plate flew steadily through the air and landed on the table, knocking into a plate of roast lamb. The plate of roast lamb flew towards the old man while the empty plate stopped dead after a couple of turns.

He had used a stream of “Tai Chi Energy”, according to the continuous intent of Tai Chi. Uninterrupted, if it were shot outwards towards an open space, the plate would circle around. It is not difficult to use this force. There were a fair number of people who were skilled in using the variations of this force, but what was difficult was using the right amount of energy to get the most benefit. Skillfully sending the plate onto the table, stopping the empty plate dead and sending a plateful of food to his hand was such a skill.

The old man laughed out loud extremely proud of himself; he circulated internal energy into his hands and a piece of roast lamb jumped from the plate into his mouth. He finished the plate shortly. The four soldiers that were still in his hands were looking pitiful, they could not take back their spears but they didn't dare to let go. The rules of the Mongolian army were strict; abandoning a weapon in battle was an offence that led to execution. There was that, and the fact that they were responsible for the safety of Khubilai; they could only use all their strength and try to struggle free.

The old man saw that they were at a loss and was becoming more and more pleased. He suddenly shouted, “Change, change, change, two of you kowtow, two of you face the sky! One...two...three!” On three, their arms shook and the spears snapped. The forces from his fingers were directed in two directions, on two of the spears he circulated energy to push away, on the other two he circulated energy to pull. An ‘ai yo’ sound was heard as two soldiers fell and kowtowed and the other two fell backwards facing the sky.

The old man clapped and sang, “Little precious, the harder you fall, the taller you grow!” This was a song that adults sing to console children after they've fallen.

Yin Kexi suddenly got up and asked, "Senior is named Zhou?"

The old man laughed, "Yep, ha-ha, do you know me?"

Yin Kexi folded his fists and said, "So it's the Old Urchin Zhou Botong, Senior Zhou Lao."

Xiaoxiang Zi had heard of him before but Jinlun Fawang and Nimoxing had not heard of Zhou Botong before. They saw his martial arts were profound but his actions were rather mischievous and childish; indeed, the title 'Old Urchin' is not in vain. Everyone's wariness disappeared slightly as their faces showed a smile.

Jinlun Fawang said, "Forgive me for not knowing this Senior of Wulin. How about a seat? Our highness is eager to meet great people, he will be extremely happy at meeting such an eminent person today."

Khubilai saluted with his hands and said, "That is correct; please have a seat Mr. Zhou."

Zhou Botong shook his head and said, "I'm full, I don't need to eat anymore. Where's Guo Jing, is he around?"

Huang Yaoshi had told Yang Guo about how Zhou Botong and Guo Jing became sworn brothers, immediately he replied coldly, "Why are you looking for him?"

Zhou Botong had always been childlike and loved making acquaintances with young people; he was pleased when he saw that Yang Guo was young and he was even more pleased when he heard him say 'you' and not something like 'Mr. Zhou' or 'old Senior'. He said, "Guo Jing is my sworn brother, do you know him? He loved being around Mongols ever since he was young; because of this, when I saw this camp I came over to see whether he's here or not."

Yang Guo frowned and said, "Why are you looking for Guo Jing?"

Zhou Botong had no worries, how would he know to conceal his thoughts, he just casually replied, "He sent a letter to me, telling me to attend the 'Heroes Feast'. I had a few games on the road as I rushed from faraway; when I got there I was a couple of days late, the feast had finished, I was damn disappointed."

Yang Guo said, "Didn't he leave a letter for you?"

Zhou Botong eyes rolled over and said, "Why are you asking all the questions? Do you know Guo Jing or not?"

Yang Guo said, "How wouldn't I know them? Mrs. Guo is called Huang Rong, isn't she? Their daughter is called Guo Fu, isn't that right?"

Zhou Botong clapped his hands and said, "Wrong, wrong! That Huang Rong is a little girl herself, what daughter?"

Yang Guo was startled but then immediately understood, he asked, "When was the last time you saw them?"

Zhou Botong counted with his fingers, each finger was counted twice, he said, "At least twenty years."

Yang Guo laughed, "Is she still a little girl after twenty years? Wouldn't she have a child in these twenty years?"

Zhou Botong laughed, his beard fluttering about, he said, "You're right! You're right! Is their daughter pretty?"

Yang Guo said, "Their daughter looks a lot like Mrs. Guo, a little like Guo Jing, just what you'd think."

Zhou Botong laughed, "That's great, if a girl has dense brows and big eyes with a dark oval face like my brother Guo, of course that girl won't be pretty."

Yang Guo knew that he wasn't wary anymore and continued, "Huang Rong's father is Island Master Huang Yaoshi, he and I are great friends, do you know him?"

Zhou Botong was shocked and said, "You little kid, how can you call old 'Heretic' Huang as brother? Who's your Master?"

Yang Guo said, "My Master's abilities are extraordinary, I'm afraid if I tell you that I'll scare you silly."

Zhou Botong laughed, "I can't be scared silly any more." He waved out his right hand and sent the empty plate flying towards him with a tremendous force.

Yang Guo knew that Zhou Botong was the Martial Uncle of Ma Yu and Qiu Chuji and the others. He saw that his arm didn't bend as he threw the plate, he was using his fingers alone; this was a technique of the Quanzhen. He had no fear of Quanzhen martial arts; he stretched out his left index finger and pushed against the bottom of the plate, the plate spun around on his finger. This delighted Zhou Botong whereas Xiaoxiang Zi, Yin Kexi, Nimoxing and the others looked at each other startled.

When Xiaoxiang Zi first saw the young Yang Guo in his ragged clothes, he didn't give him another look but right now he was thinking, "With the force that plate was coming in with, I wouldn't dare to stretch out my hand to catch it never mind just relying on a single finger. If the force used to catch it were just slightly out of place, the plate would snap a wrist. Who exactly is this young man?"

Zhou Botong called out; "Great!" He could see that he was using a Quanzhen technique and asked, "Do you know Ma Yu and Qiu Chuji?"

Yang Guo said, "How wouldn't I know those two old goats?"

Zhou Botong was delighted. Though he didn't have any grudges with Qiu Chuji and the others, he felt that their rules were annoying, they were too prudent; there was some feeling of looking down on them. The person he respects most in his life, apart from his apprentice brother Wang Chongyang, is the carefree Nine Fingered Wondrous Beggar Hong Qigong. He didn't think too much of Huang Yaoshi's heretical nature and Huang Rong's cleverness. When he heard Yang Guo calling Ma Yu and Qiu Chuji 'old goats', it was music to his ears, he asked, "How are Hao Datong and the others?"

Yang Guo's anger erupted as soon as he heard the name 'Hao Datong', he insulted, "That old goat is a damn fool, and one day I'll make him suffer."

Zhou Botong was getting more and more happy as he listened, he asked, "How are you going to make him suffer?"

Yang Guo said, "I'll catch him, tie him up and then let him lie in a cesspit for half a day."

Zhou Botong was delighted and quietly said, "Once you've caught him, don't throw him in the cesspit straight away, first let me know and allow me to take a peek from aside."

He had no ill intent towards Hao Datong, it was just that he loved evil shows; when others are causing trouble and being mischievous; of course he had to join in.

Yang Guo laughed, "Fine, I'll remember to tell you. But why peek? You're afraid of the Quanzhen goats?"

Zhou Botong sighed and said, "I'm Hao Datong's Martial Uncle! If he sees me, he'll naturally call to me for help. It'll be a bit embarrassing if I don't save him but if I do, I won't be able to watch a good show."

Yang Guo thought to himself, "This person's martial arts are excellent and his character is pretty interesting but he's still from Quanzhen and he is the sworn brother of Guo Jing. A man must be ruthless; I need to think of a way to get rid of him."

How would Zhou Botong know that Yang Guo was starting to have ill thoughts about him? He asked, "When are you going to catch Hao Datong?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm about to go. If you want to take in the atmosphere then come along."

Zhou Botong was delighted, he clapped his hands and stood up but suddenly he became depressed and said, "I can't, I need to go to Xiangyang."

Yang Guo said, "What's so much fun in Xiangyang? Just don't go."

Zhou Botong said, "Brother Guo left a letter for me at the Lu Manor; it said that the Mongolian army is invading south and will definitely attack Xiangyang. He's leading the heroes of the central plains to Xiangyang to help, he told me to give a hand as well. I haven't seen him on my travels so I better go to Xiangyang."

Khubilai and Jinlun Fawang looked at each other and both thought, "So the warriors of the central plains have rushed to Xiangyang to protect the city."

Just at this point, the tent opened and in came a monk. He was about forty years old and looked elegant; his expression looked like that of a scholar. He went to Khubilai and the two exchanged whispers. The monk was a Han, his given name Zicong, and was a counsel of Khubilai's. His original name was Liu Kang and he was an official in Xianya and became a monk later on. He was very knowledgeable and did things very thoroughly; Khubilai had a great deal of trust in him. He had received some news from a guard that an important person has arrived in the camp and needs to be received immediately.

Zhou Botong stroked his stomach and said, "Hey monk, move over a little, I'm talking to that little brother. Hey, little brother, what's your name?"

Yang Guo said, "My surname is Yang, first name Guo."

Zhou Botong said, "Who's your Master?"

Yang Guo said, "My Master is a girl, her beauty is unparalleled and her martial arts are excellent, she doesn't allow others to mention her name."

Zhou Botong shivered and remembered his old lover Yinggu; he didn't dare to ask anymore and stood up. He waved his sleeves around to get rid of the dust on his clothes; the tent was filled with dust and dirt as a result.

Zicong could hold on no longer and sneezed twice. Zhou Botong was joyous and waved out with even more strength; suddenly he laughed out loud and said, "I'm going now!" His left hand waved out and the four broken spearheads shot towards Xiaoxiang Zi, Nimoxing, Yin Kexi and Ma Guangzuo. As the spearheads flew through the air, 'wu' 'wu' sounds were made; they were moving extremely quickly and the targets were close; in a flash the spearheads were right before the very eyes of the four.

Xiaoxiang Zi and the others were shocked; they could not dodge out of the way in time and could only circulate their internal energy to catch them. However, when they stretched out their hands to catch them, they caught thin air; a 'pu' sound was heard as the four spearheads flew into the floor.

The spearheads were shot out extremely ingeniously, immediate dispatch and withdrawal, as soon as the spearheads were in front of their eyes, and they suddenly twisted around and shot into the floor.

Ma Guangzuo was a simple minded person and just felt that this was amusing, he laughed out loud and said, "You really have got lots of tricks old man."

But Xiaoxiang Zi and the other two were extremely startled, their faces had changed colour. They all thought about how they missed the spearheads; if the spearhead hadn't changed direction, they would have shot into their stomachs. With the amount of force behind the spearheads, what chance would they have of surviving?" Zhou Botong was extremely proud of himself for making the four of them looking like a fools, he turned around and was about to leave.

Zicong said, "Mr. Zhou, your amazing abilities are rarely seen in this world; I give you a toast on behalf of his highness," He handed a cup of wine to him. Zhou Botong drank it in one go. Zicong sent another cup to him and said, "This one is from me!" Again, Zhou Botong drank it down.

Zicong was about to give another cup to him when suddenly Zhou Botong called out, "Oh no, my stomach hurts, I need to crap." Zhou Botong squatted down and undid his pants, and was about to crap in the tent.

Fawang and the others were amused and all called out for him to stop. Zhou Botong was startled, he called out, "Something's wrong with this stomach ache; I don't need to crap!"

Yang Guo glanced over at Zicong and understood, there was poison in the wine. At the beginning he had some ill intent towards Zhou Botong, wanting to prevent Guo Jing from having a strong ally; but the ill intent he had disappeared immediately. He had no debts and dues with the Old Urchin; he saw that he was childlike and uncomplicated and felt good sentiments towards him. He couldn't endure it when he saw him fall for the dirty trick. He was about to suggest to him to hold Khubilai as a hostage and force Zicong to hand over the antidote when he suddenly heard Zhou Botong call out, "Strange, strange, so its because I drank too little poisonous wine, that's why my stomach ached. Monk, quickly pour me another three cups, the more poisonous the better!"

Everyone looked at each other startled. Zicong was afraid that he would lash out before he died, he didn't dare to go over to him.

Zhou Botong took a large step forward towards the table. Jinlun Fawang stepped in front of Khubilai to protect him; but all he saw was Zhou Botong pulling up his pants with his left hand and reaching for the jug of poisoned wine with his right hand. He then tipped his head backwards and poured all the wine down his throat.

Everyone's face lost its color.

But Zhou Botong laughed and said, "That's better. Now my stomach has got too much poison, won't the Old Urchin turn into the Old Poisonous Animal? I need to fight poison with poison." Suddenly he opened his mouth and shot out a stream of wine towards Zicong. Jinlun Fawang saw that it was a dangerous situation and quickly picked up a table to block it; an arrow of wine splashed across the table.

Zhou Botong laughed non-stop; he ran to the exit of the tent and suddenly his mischievousness stirred; he grabbed the tent's support pillar and shook a few times. A 'kra ak' sound was heard as the pillar snapped. The tent fell down and covered Khubilai, Jinlun Fawang, Yang Guo and the others inside. Zhou Botong was delighted and got on top of the tent, running back and forth, stepping on everyone inside the tent. Jinlun Fawang sent out a palm and struck the sole of his foot. Zhou Botong felt a great surge of internal energy through his foot and couldn't suppress it, he did a somersault and landed back down, calling out loudly, "Interesting, interesting!" He then left.

Soon, Jinlun Fawang and the others climbed out with Khubilai, and all the guards clamored around to fix the pillar and erect the tent again. Zhou Botong had long gone. Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others apologized to Khubilai for not protecting him properly and letting him experience this shock. Khubilai didn't punish them one bit and instead praised the abilities of Zhou Botong, saying that it is a great pity that he couldn't make him stay. Fawang and the others had an ashamed expression on their faces.

All the cups and plates were set up once again. Khubilai said, "The Mongolian army has attacked Xiangyang many times before but with no success. This time, the heroes of the central plains have gone there to protect the city; that Zhou Botong has also gone there to help. This is an extremely troublesome situation. I wonder, what great plans do you have?"

Yin Kexi said, "Zhou Botong may have great martial arts but we may not be weaker than him. When your highness attacks the city, it will be soldier against soldier, general against general; the central plains have their heroes but so does the west."

Khubilai said, "Though your words aren't wrong, there's a saying, 'Before a battle, one must plan for victory in the temple; greater planning will lead to victory whereas little planning will not.' Before I attack, I must have a plan to gain victory."

Zicong said, "Your highness's foresight is magnificent..."

Before he finished, a shout could be heard from outside, someone was calling out, "I said that I don't want to go and I mean it; it's of no use if you beg me or anger me." It was Zhou Botong.

What was he doing back here and who was he talking to? Everyone's curiosity was roused and they wanted to go out to take a look.

Khubilai laughed and said, "Everyone, let's take a look, I wonder who the Old Urchin is arguing with."

Everyone took a step outside the tent and saw four people in an arc far away surrounding Zhou Botong. The four people were standing south, west, northwest and north of him, surrounding him but leaving a way out to the east. Zhou Botong stretched out his arm and threw a fist, he called out, "I'm not going, I'm not going."

Yang Guo was surprised, "If he doesn't want to go, who can force him? Why is there a need for arguing?" He saw that the four people were all wearing a green gown; the colors and clothing looked ancient and wasn't the clothing of the present time. There were three middle-aged men wearing tall hats; standing in the north western position was a girl, her green belt could be seen fluttering in the wind.

The man standing in the northern position said, "We didn't have any intentions in troubling you but you kicked over our pill furnace, ripped our spirit fungus, tore our books, and burned our sword room. You must come back with us and explain everything to our Master; otherwise, when our Master blames someone, none of us disciples will face the punishment."

Zhou Botong put on a smile and said, "Just tell your Master that an old man passed by and accidentally caused all this trouble; won't that be the end of it?"

The man said, "You insist on refusing to come with us?"

Zhou Botong nodded his head. The man pointed to the east and said, "Good, he's here."

Zhou Botong turned around to take a look but didn't see anyone. The man made a sign with his hands and the four of them suddenly pulled open a large net and covered Zhou Botong from his head downwards. The four's hand movements were extremely drilled, and extremely strange; even with Zhou Botong's great abilities he was trapped by the net and had no response, he just bellowed and hollered. The four people swerved around him and tied him up tightly. One of the men put him over his shoulders, the other three held onto their swords, protecting him as they flew to the east.

Yang Guo was worried about Zhou Botong's safety and thought, "I must save him." He then followed after them, calling out, "Hey, hey! Where are you taking him?"

How could Jinlun Fawang and the others not want to know what exactly this strange event is all about? They told Khubilai and followed. After a few li, they arrived at a stream. The four people lifted Zhou Botong onto a boat and two of them started to row. The rest of them followed along the shore; after a while they saw a boat in the stream and all immediately leapt in. Ma Guangzuo had great strength and he rowed the boat, soon they were just a few tens of feet behind. But the stream was windy and after a few turns, the boat disappeared. Nimoxing leapt from the boat onto a cliff side and climbed up over a hundred feet in a flash like an ape. He saw the boat in the west rowing along an extremely narrow brook. A thicket of trees covered the entrance to this brook, if one didn't look from on high, they would not know that the deep valley would have such a passageway. He leapt back onto the boat and pointed out the directions to them. They quickly turned the boat around and rowed towards the thicket of trees. The entrance was a cave; the ceiling of the cave was only three feet away from the water, and everyone had to lie down before they could row on. After leaving the cave they saw the mountains on either side soared; the sky now looked like a string.

The mountains were green, the water blue, the scenery extremely serene; but it was silent everywhere, exuding a feeling of danger. After another three or four li, the brook suddenly had nine large slabs of stone arising from it, like a shield, blocking the way of the boat.

Ma Guangzuo was the first one to call out, "Damn, there's no way to row past."

Xiaoxiang Zi said in a creepy way, "You've got the strength of a bull, just throw the boat over."

Ma Guangzuo angrily said, "I don't have that kind of strength unless you zombies perform some kind of witchcraft."

Before the two started arguing, Jinlun Fawang was thinking about the situation, "How did the small boat pass this stone shield?" When he heard the words of the two, he said, "No one can pick up the boat on their own but the six of us together can. Brother Yang, brother Yin and I will be on one side, brother Ni, brother Xiao Xiang and brother Ma will be on the other side, the six of us working together, how about it?"

Everyone agreed and followed his instructions; the six of them stood on two sides and each one found a steady place to stand on the rocks. Luckily the brook was extremely narrow; the boat's width was at arm's length.

Fawang called out, "Lift!" Everyone lifted. Yang Guo's and Yin Kexi's strength was the weakest out of the six but the other four had the strength of many, especially Ma Guangzuo who had divine strength. The boat left the water and passed over the rocks.

Everyone leapt back into the boat; they wiped their palms and laughed. The six of them originally were wary of each other but after working together, naturally they became a bit friendlier.

Xiaoxiang Zi said, "Although the martial arts among us aren't anything spectacular, we could be classed as first rate fighters of Wulin. The six of us lifting a boat isn't really a difficult task but..."

Nimoxing followed on, "The four green people's martial arts are all over the place, could they lift the boat over the rocks?"

Out of the six, five of them were already secretly surprised. Ma Guangzuo was still thinking about what the words 'their martial arts are all over the place' meant.

Nimoxing said, "Their boat is smaller... their numbers are smaller also... The four of them being able to do this... their strength must be... must be incredible."

Yin Kexi said, "There's no need to talk about the three men, that girl was a fragile seventeen or eighteen year old teenager, there is no way she could have such skill, there must be something about those rocks. It's just that we can't see through just yet."

Fawang gave a wry laugh and said, "People cannot be judged on appearances alone. Take a look at our brother Yang, he is of a young age but possesses great martial arts, if I hadn't seen it with my own eyes, who would have believed it?"

Yang Guo said modestly, "The skills I've learned aren't much, what's good about my martial arts? But the four people in green were able to catch Zhou Botong; they must have some aspect that they excel at." His words were modest but he was now talking to these first rate fighters as brother this and brother that.

Everyone had seen with their own eyes Yang Guo catching a plate thrown by Zhou Botong with a single finger; they did not look lightly on him. They all felt his words were reasonable and all started to make their own guesses about this matter.

Out of the six, Yang Guo was the youngest, Jinlun Fawang, Ma Guangzuo and Nimoxing spent most of their lives in the west; Xiaoxiang Zi spent his time along in the mountains and didn't make acquaintances with anyone. Yin Kexi was the only one who was familiar with the sects, personalities and affairs of the central plains yet he had no clue about who these four people in green were. As they talked, they eventually rowed to the end of the brook. The six of them went ashore and followed the path deep into the valley.

There was only one mountain path so there was no way to go wrong; however the path got steeper and steeper as it went on and became more and more treacherous. The sky darkened and there wasn't a trace of the people in green.

Just as they were getting anxious, there was firelight from faraway; everyone was pleased and thought, "In a wild valley like this, firelight must mean people; apart from those people in green; no one would live in a place with such dangerous terrain as this."

They then increased their speed. They all knew that they were in a dangerous place and each one heightened their defenses. Each one of them had roamed the world of Jianghu by themselves before and had experienced many dangers; now six great fighters were entering the mountain, who on earth could stop them? Though they were wary, they had no fear.

After a while, they reached a wide level open space at the peak of the mountain. They saw an extremely large flaming bonfire. They walked closer a few hundred feet and by the firelight, they saw a large stone building.

Nimoxing called out loudly, "Hey, hey, some guests have arrived! Come out quickly."

The door of the stone house slowly opened and out came three men and a girl. It was the people in green who had captured Zhou Botong earlier on. The four of them bowed and the leading person asked, "What are our guests' names?"

The one thing that Yin Kexi excels most at is speaking; he laughed and then told them who the other five were. He then said, "My name is Yin Kexi, I am a Hu merchant. Apart from eating, the only thing I know are treasures, I am not like the others who are all highly skilled with martial arts."

The person in green said, "Our residence is in an extremely secluded place, we've never had visitors before, it is our luck that some guests have arrived. But what brought our guests here?"

Yin Kexi laughed, "We saw the four of you catch the Old Urchin Zhou Botong, we were curious so we came along to take a look. Your residence is an extremely elegant and beautiful place, it has opened our eyes; this really wasn't a trip in vain."

The first person in green said, "That old man who messed up our place is named Zhou? He certainly lives up to the name Old Urchin."

The second person in green said, "Are you with him?"

Fawang replied, "We've just met him today, one cannot say that we are friends of his."

The first person in green said, "That Old Urchin charged into our valley and ran riot."

Fawang asked, "What did he do? Did he really rip up your books and set the place on fire?"

The person in green replied, "Only that? I was ordered by my Master to guard the pill furnace; I don't know how the Old Urchin broke into the pill room. He started to talk rubbish with me, saying he was going to tell a story and then telling me to follow him in doing somersaults; he was mad and crazy. The furnace was burning at a critical stage; I couldn't leave and kick him out so I pretended that I didn't hear him. He suddenly kicked out and knocked the furnace and the herbs in it over. I don't know how long it will take to collect all these herbs and medicines again." He looked angry as he said this.

Yang Guo laughed, "He must have blamed you for ignoring him and that it was your fault, right?"

The girl in green said, "Correct. I was in the fungi room when I heard the clamor in the pill room. I knew something was wrong and was about to leave the room to take a look when the old man dashed in. As soon as he stretched out his hand, he snapped the four hundred year old spirit fungus in two."

Yang Guo saw that the young girl was about seventeen or eighteen years of age, her skin was extremely white, very soft and delicate, her eyes bright and clear and there was a very small mole by her mouth. She said, "That Old Urchin is an extremely bothersome troublemaker; that spirit fungus had been grown for over four hundred years, it is an extremely valuable object."

The girl sighed, "My father was going to share it on his wedding day with my step mother but who could have known that it would be ruined by the Old Urchin. My father will of course fly into a rage. After the Old Urchin broke the spirit fungus, he placed it in his pockets and said something about not giving it back to me and laughed. I haven't done anything to offend him. Why on earth did he come here and cause trouble for me?" As she said this, her eyes became red, feeling that she has been wronged.

Yang Guo thought, "The Old Urchin had no reason to bully this girl, this is wrong."

Yin Kexi said, "Please can I have your father's name. We inadvertently came here without permission and don't even know the owner's name; our manners are lacking."

The young girl delayed and didn't reply.

One of the men in green said, "Without our Master's permission, we can not reveal it, please forgive us."

Yang Guo thought, "These people are very secretive; they live here in this secluded place and aren't willing to reveal their identity to others." He then asked, "What happened after the Old Urchin stole the spirit fungus?"

The third person in green said, "The one named Zhou wasn't finished; after wrecking the pill and fungi room, he burst into the library, took a book and started to read. I was assigned to the library and so of course I had to stop him. But he said, 'these are just lies that they tell to children, what's so great about this?' and ripped three books in one go. At that time, senior and second apprentice brother came along with apprentice sister. The four of us together were still unable to stop him."

Fawang gave a wry laugh and said, "That Old Urchin has an eccentric character but his martial arts are really spectacular; of course it would not be easy to stop him."

The second man in green said, "After causing trouble in the pill room, fungi room and library, he went for the sword room. He burst into the room and broke out in a temper, saying that there were... there were too many weapons. They're all over the place and almost cut him. He then set the room alight and burnt all the paintings on the wall. While we urgently tried to put out the fire, he escaped. We all thought that this was a serious matter so we chased after him, caught him and brought him back so our Master can deal with him."

Yang Guo said, "I don't know what punishment the Master of this valley will have for him but I hope that he won't kill him."

The third man in green said, "My Master's wedding is not far away, he won't kill that easily. But if that Old Urchin says something to offend my Master, then it would be his fault if trouble comes to him."

Yin Kexi laughed, "Why would the Old Urchin deliberately stir up trouble for your Master? He may be mischievous but he doesn't seem to have a bad temper."

The girl in green said, "He said that my father is old and he's still marrying..." The senior apprentice brother suddenly cut her off and said, "That Old Urchin is mad, how believable are his words? Everyone has come from afar and must be hungry; I will serve some food to our guests."

Ma Guangzuo said loudly, "Great, great!" His face lit up.

The four people in green entered the kitchen and brought out some rice and vegetables and then set up a table. There were four basins, one had plain green vegetables, another had white tofu, one of the others was filled with yellow bean sprouts and the last one was filled with black mushrooms. There wasn't any meat.

Just three months after he was born, Ma Guangzuo would not eat anything without meat. He saw four trays of vegetables in front of him that didn't even have a drop of oil on them, he was extremely disappointed.

The first person in green said, "We do not eat meat here in the valley, forgive us. Please eat." He then bought out a jug and poured out a clear and clean liquid in the bowls in front of them.

Ma Guangzuo thought, "Since there's no meat, I better drink a few bowls of wine." He picked up the bowl and drank, he noticed that it had no taste and it was actually water, he roared, "This Master is damn stingy; there isn't even a drop of wine for us."

The first person in green said, "Our valley forbids alcohol; this is a rule passed down by our ancestors; please forgive us."

The girl in green said, "We have seen the words 'beautiful wine' in books, but we've never experienced what this beautiful wine is. The books say that wine harms the mind, it appears that it isn't anything good."

Fawang, Yin Kexi and the others saw that these four people weren't old but their actions and words were reserved and trite. Ever since they've spoken with these people, they haven't showed a single smile; though their faces weren't hateful, it wasn't interesting to talk to them. In other words, they didn't speak more than half a word to each other; they stopped talking and lowered their heads as they ate. The four people retreated and didn't come forward again.

After they ate, Ma Guangzuo said that they should leave in the night. But the other five saw that there was something about this place, they were curious and wanted to understand it more clearly.

Yin Kexi said, "Brother Ma, since we're here, we need to meet the Master of this valley tomorrow; how could we just leave?"

Ma Guangzuo roared, "There's no meat or wine, isn't he trying to torture us? I can't live half a day like this."

Xiaoxiang Zi said, "The majority of us are staying; why are you trying to start something?"

Ma Guangzuo has been secretly afraid of his zombie appearance; when he heard him say this, he didn't dare to speak another word.

That night the six of them slept in the stone building on some straw mats on the floor. They felt that this valley was passionless; even stupidly stricter and more prudish than a Buddhist temple. Though the monks of Buddhist temples are vegetarians, they wouldn't treat people so coldly; these people didn't even show half a smile. Yang Guo was used to living in the Ancient Tomb and used to living with the icy cold Xiao Longnu. He was the only one who didn't think anything of this.

Nimoxing said enraged, "The Old Urchin wrecked and set the building alight, that is something!" When he said this, Ma Guangzuo felt the same way and called out loudly in response.

Nimoxing said, "Brother Jinlun, you're our brains, what kind of person do you think the Master of this valley is? Is he a bad guy or a good guy? Are we going to be polite to him or are we going to beat the... beat the crap out of him."

Fawang said, "I'm like all you people here when it comes to trying to fathom what type of person this Valley Master is, it is difficult for us to guess. Tomorrow, we'll just act accordingly."

Yin Kexi said quietly, "The martial arts of the four green disciples of this valley aren't weak, so naturally there will be even better martial artists in this valley. Everyone needs to be careful, just one little slip up and the six of us might die here, that wouldn't be so good."

Ma Guangzuo was still complaining about the food and didn't listen to what Yin Kexi was saying.

Yang Guo said, "If you're not careful tomorrow, you'll be caught and trapped here for the rest of your life; you'll be fed water and rice, vegetables and tofu everyday. When that happens, I'm afraid that even the tapeworm in your stomach would want to die."

Ma Guangzuo was frightened and quickly said, "Good brother, I'll listen...I'll listen."

That night they didn't sleep too peacefully as they thought about the danger they were in; only Ma Guangzuo slept well, snoring thunderously and calling out in his dreams, "Come, come! Cheers! This slab of beef is massive!"

End of Chapter 16.

Chapter 17 - The Secluded Passionless Valley

Translated by Noodles

*Fan Yi Weng quickly moved his head to the left.
The opponent's attack was fast, his reaction was* also very swift and his beard followed him and flung upwards. Yang Guo's scissors had been opened and was guarding the right; a 'ka' sound was heard as the scissors cut down. He cut off over two feet of the beard.

After Yang Guo woke up the next morning, he left the stone house and went outside. Last night it was dark and he couldn't see the surroundings clearly but now he could; he was surrounded by emerald green grass, the flowers like a brocade, the scenery of this place was already magnificent but the beauty of this place was even more rarely seen.

He followed where his feet took him and along the path he saw cranes, herds of white deer, squirrels and rabbits but none of them were alarmed by his presence.

He passed two bends and saw the girl in green plucking flowers off to one side. She saw him approaching and greeted, "You wake up really early, have some breakfast." She plucked two flowers from the tree and offered them to him.

Yang Guo accepted them and thought, "Is it possible that flowers can be eaten?" But then he saw the girl tearing the flower petal by petal and placing them in her mouth, he did the same. When he placed the petals in his mouth, he noticed a sweet fragrance, a fragrance like that of honey and there was a subtle air of wine, he felt a feeling of comfort but after a few chews the taste became bitter and sour. He wanted to spit it out but felt that he couldn't give it up; he wanted to swallow but had a little difficulty in getting it go down his throat.

He carefully looked at the plant and saw that the branches were covered in thorns but the flowers were extremely beautiful, and even more fragrant than lotuses, he asked, "What is this flower? I've never seen it before."

The girl said, "This is the Passion Flower, I've heard that it is a very rare plant. Tell me, what do you think of the taste?"

Yang Guo said, "At first, it is extremely sweet but afterwards it is extremely bitter. This is called the Passion Flower? There's a meaning behind this name." He stretched out his hand to pluck a flower.

The girl said, "Careful! There's thorns on the plant, don't touch it!"

Yang Guo avoided the thorns and was very careful but he didn't notice that behind the flower was hidden another and it pricked his hand.

The girl said, "This valley is called the 'Passionless Valley' yet there are so many Passion Flowers growing here."

Yang Guo said, "Why is it called the Passionless Valley? This name really is... really is special."

The girl shook her head and said, "I don't know why. This is the name our ancestors gave it, maybe my father knows."

The two then started to walk down the path, shoulder to shoulder. The scent of flowers filled Yang Guo's nose, by the side of the path were rabbits and young deer were darting about, it was very adorable sight. He had a feeling of being carefree and joyous, and naturally he started to think about Xiao Longnu, "If the person walking with me was Gu Gu, I really would love to live in this place forever with her and not ever leave." Just as he thought about this, the wound on his finger suddenly became painful, the wound was very small yet the pain was so great, it was like someone smashing a hammer across his chest, he couldn't hold it in and gave an 'ai' call, placed the finger in his mouth and sucked it.

The girl blandly said, "You're thinking about your lover, is that it?"

Yang Guo's thoughts were guessed; his face went red and asked, "How do you know?"

The girl said, "If you've been pricked by the thorns of the Passion Flower, you cannot think about love for the next twenty four hours otherwise the suffering will be unbearable."

Yang Guo was surprised and said, "There's actually such a strange thing as this in the world?"

The girl said, "My father said: love is like this, when it enters the mouth it is sweet but afterwards it becomes bitter and sour, furthermore, it is covered by thorns, even if you are extremely careful, pain from it would be unavoidable. The flower was given its name most probably because it has this special characteristic."

Yang Guo asked, "How come that within twenty four hours, one cannot... cannot... think about love?"

The girl said, "Father said: there's poison on the thorns of the plant. When people think about love, not only does their blood flow quicker, some unknown thing is created in the blood. The poison of the thorns of the Passion Flower is not harmful normally, but once it meets this something in the blood, it will create unbearable pain in the person."

When Yang Guo heard this, he felt that it was fairly reasonable and believed her with few doubts.

The two slowly walked to the unsheltered mountainside. The light of the sun lighted up this place, the ground and air were gentle and warm; the Passion Flowers have bloomed early here and there were fruits on the plant.

Yang Guo saw that the fruits were either red or green, but some were red and green and there were hair on the fruits, like a caterpillar.

Yang Guo said, "The Passion Flower is so beautiful yet its fruits are so ugly."

The girl said, "The fruits of the flower can't be eaten, some are sour, some are hot and some stink so much that it makes people want to vomit."

Yang Guo gave a laugh and said, "Is it possible that there aren't any that are sweet as honey?"

The girl glanced at him and said, "Sometimes there are but you cannot tell by its appearance. Some that are extremely ugly are sweet but an ugly fruit doesn't necessarily mean it will be a sweet one. Only by tasting it directly will you know for sure. Out of ten fruits, nine are bitter; because of this we never eat them."

Yang Guo thought, "Though she is talking about the Passion Flower, it is like an analogy for love. Could it be that although the love between lovers is at first sweet, it will eventually turn sour? Can it be that a pair of lovers who are deeply in love with each other will eventually experience more bitterness than sweetness? Could it be that the yearning love I have for Gu Gu will eventually..."

As soon as he thought about Xiao Longnu, his finger suddenly broke out with a piercing pain again and he swung his arm around a few times. He now knew that the words of the girl were indeed true.

When the girl saw him like this, her lip moved a little, as if she wanted to laugh but was refraining from doing so. Sunlight lit up her face and showed a pair of elegant eyes and brows, her skin was white with redness floating on top of it, she looked very beautiful.

Yang Guo laughed, "I once heard a story; there was once an emperor, he set up a fire display and burned all things, throwing away most of his kingdom as a result, and the only reason for this was that he was trying to get a legendary beauty to smile. To be able to see a smile is a fortunate thing, so, the same applies whether it's in the past or in the present."

After being teased by Yang Guo, the girl could no longer hold it in and eventually gave a giggle.

Yang Guo noticed that she had been cold as ice throughout this time and there were some feelings of anxiety in his heart, but after this smile, most of the divide between the two went away. Yang Guo continued, "Everyone knows that a beauty's smile is rare to come by, they say something like a smile can overturn a city, another can overturn a country, actually there's something of a beauty's that is even rarer than a smile."

The girl's eyes opened wide and asked, "What?"

Yang Guo said, "A beautiful girl's name. To have the opportunity to come across a beautiful woman is an extremely lucky event, to be able to see the smile of a beautiful girl would be because of the good deeds of their ancestors and one must go through three lifetimes..." Before he finished the girl giggled again.

Yang Guo continued looking serious and said, "To be able to hear a beautiful girl reveal her name that really requires eighteen generations of great deeds."

The girl said, "I'm not some beautiful girl; no one in the valley has ever called me beautiful, why must you joke?"

Yang Guo sighed and said, "No wonder this place is called the Passionless Valley. But in my opinion, the name should be changed to something else."

The girl said, "Change to what?"

Yang Guo said, "It should be called Blind Man's Valley."

The girl asked surprised, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "Look at how beautiful you are but none of them praise you; aren't the people who live in this valley blind?"

The girl laughed again. Her beauty could be classed as first class but compared to Xiao Longnu's; there were still many li between them. Compared to the gentleness of Cheng Ying and the prettiness of Lu Wushuang, she appeared to be slightly inferior. But she was elegant, graceful and there was a wholesome air about her. No one had praised her beauty before, and this was because the martial arts her valley practiced revolved around abdication. When her fellow apprentices see each other they are always cold and remain unmoved. In the hearts of her fellow apprentices though, they did think that she was very beautiful but none of them dared to say it out loud.

Today she suddenly met Yang Guo. This person's character was dynamic and spirited, the stricter and more restrained she acts, the greater the urge he has to make her get rid of this unfeeling appearance. The girl was pleased with these words and laughed, "I'm afraid that you're the blind man, calling this ugly girl a beautiful girl."

Yang Guo put on a serious face and said, "You never know, my eyes could be wrong. However if you want this valley to remain peaceful and quiet then you can't smile."

The girl asked surprised, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "There's an old saying: 'a smile can overturn a city, another can overturn a country', that saying really ought to be changed. It shouldn't be country; it should be changed to valley."

The girl bowed subtly and laughed, "Thank you, can you stop teasing me please?"

Yang Guo saw her fine, elegant waist and trembled slightly, his heart was moved. Although it wasn't an intense feeling, his finger suddenly broke out in a severe pain again.

When the girl saw him waving his finger about, she felt slightly displeased and said angrily, "I'm talking to you right now yet you're thinking about your lover."

Yang Guo said, "I'm innocent, I'm innocent, it's because of you that my finger hurts and here you are blaming me." The girl blushed and suddenly ran away.

Yang Guo immediately regretted his words as soon as he said them, thinking, "My heart belongs to Gu Gu yet why haven't I changed this type of behavior? Yang Guo ah Yang Guo you little bastard, don't talk such rubbish again." He inherited some of his father's scoundrel's attitude and ungentlemanly behavior. Every time he met a girl he would tease and flirt with them, causing them to fall for him as a result. Although he didn't have any ill intentions, it was something that made him feel joy in his heart.

The girl ran for a few tens of feet and suddenly stopped below a Passion Flower tree and hung her head deep in thought, after a little while she turned to him and said, "If an ugly girl tells you her name, it must be because your ancestors have done bad deeds for eighteen generations and the bad karma has passed down onto you."

Yang Guo went over to her and laughed, "Of all the things to be born with, you were born with the love of saying negative things. My ancestors for the last eighteen generations have done many good deeds; some of the good karma should be reaped by me." His words were again praising her beauty.

Her face went slightly red and quietly said, "I'll tell you but you cannot tell another and I forbid you to call my name in front of others."

Yang Guo stuck out his tongue and said, "Oh sweet beauty, aren't I afraid of not having any descendants?"

The girl showed another smile and said, "My father's surname is Gongsun..." She still did not want to reveal her name and wanted to go around in circles.

Yang Guo interrupted, "But what is Miss's name?"

The girl smiled and said, "My father gave his only daughter the name Lu'E."

Yang Guo praised her, "The name is as beautiful as the owner."

After Gongsun Lu'E told Yang Guo her name, she felt closer to him and said, "When father invites you to see him, you mustn't smile at me."

Yang Guo said, "What happens if I smile."

The girl sighed and said, "If father knows that I smiled at you and told you my name, I really don't know how father would punish me.”

Yang Guo said, “I’ve never heard of such a strict father, not even allowing his daughter to smile at someone. He has a beautiful daughter, could it be that he doesn’t love you?”

When Gongsun Lu’E heard these words her eyes went red and said, “My father used to love me very much but after my mother died when I was six, he treated me stricter and stricter. After he marries again, I wonder how he will treat me?” Two drops of tears rolled down her cheeks as she said this.

Yang Guo comforted her, “After your father marries he will be happy, he’ll definitely treat you better then.”

Gongsun Lu’E shook her head and said, “I rather he treats me even stricter than marry another wife again.”

Yang Guo’s parents died when he was young so he didn’t know much about these types of feelings; he wanted to make her happy and said, “Your new mother’s definitely not as half as beautiful as you.”

Gongsun Lu’E quickly said, “You’re wrong, my new mother is a true beauty. Because of her my father... my father... Yesterday we caught that old man named Zhou but my father was busy with organizing the wedding, otherwise he would never have allowed that Old Urchin to escape again.”

Yang Guo was shocked and pleased, he asked, “That Old Urchin escaped again?”

Lu’E frowned slightly and said, “Didn’t you hear me?”

The two spoke for a while and the sun gradually rose up in the sky. Lu’E suddenly realized something and said, “Quickly go back, don’t let my fellow apprentices see us together talking, they’ll tell my father.”

Yang Guo pitied her situation and stretched out his left hand to hold her hand and patted her on the back with his right, consoling her.

Gongsun Lu'E's eyes showed that this touched her, she lowered her head and suddenly her face went red.

Yang Guo was afraid that his thoughts would lead to Xiao Longnu again and cause his finger to break out in a severe pain again, he quickly rushed back to the stone house that he was staying in.

Before he even got back to the stone house he could hear the bellows of Ma Guangzou, complaining how his stomach can't survive on water and vegetables and how could these sweet and bitter flower petals be eaten. Are they trying to kill me?

Yin Kexi laughed, "Brother Ma, you better hide all the valuables that you have; I think the Master of the valley has ill intent."

Ma Guangzou didn't know he was being ridiculed and nodded his head in agreement.

Yang Guo returned to the room and saw a few dishes filled with the petals of the Passion Flower on the table. He watched them eat the petals with squinting faces and he was amused as he thought about how even Jinlun Fawang the monk was affected by effects of the passion flower.

He picked a cup of water and took two sips when he heard footsteps approaching, a man in green came in, bowed to them and said, "Our Master will now see his guests."

Fawang, Nimoxing and the others were all great Masters, no matter where they went, the Master of that place would come out and personally greet them; even Mongolia's

Fourth Prince Khubilai showed great respect to them. They could never have thought that the Master of this secluded valley would be so impudent, they all were angry and thought, "When I see that rude Valley Master I'm going to show him a thing or two."

The six of them followed the man in green for a li or so and suddenly came across a swaying green bamboo forest. Bamboo was rare in the north and such a large piece of bamboo forest was even rarer. In the middle of the forest, the light fragrant relaxing scent of flowers could be noticed. As soon as they passed through the forest, the scent suddenly became overwhelming; everywhere in front of them were Chinese narcissi. A shallow pond with a depth that was less than a foot was filled with the flowers. These flowers were also something that was usually seen in the south, why could they be found here in this mountain valley?

Fawang thought, "There must be some hot springs below the mountain that keeps the ground and air warm."

Every five feet or so was a Mu Chun plant, the man in green darted across the pond over them. The six followed but Ma Guangzou was heavy and had poor lightness kung fu; though his footsteps were large they weren't large enough to takes steps of five feet or so. After stepping on a few plants, he decided to drop into the pond and follow them by wading instead.

They followed a green stone path and from afar, they saw a large stone building built under the cover of the mountains. The seven advanced towards it. Outside the building were two young attendants who were holding a fly whisk in their hands. One of the attendants went inside the house to tell the Master of their arrival while the other opened the door to receive them.

Yang Guo thought, "I wonder whether the Valley Master will come and receive us in person?" Before his thoughts were settled, a bearded old man in green came out of the house.

This old man was extremely short, no more than four feet tall, his appearance was strange but the strangest thing about him was his exceedingly long thick beard that hung down to the ground. He was wearing a dark green gown and had a green rope tied across his waist.

Yang Guo thought, "This Valley Master looks so weird yet his daughter is so beautiful."

The old man bowed deeply to him and said, "It is our luck to have such prestigious guests, please come in for tea."

When Ma Guangzou heard the word 'tea', he frowned deeply and said loudly, "Drink tea! What place doesn't have tea? Why must I come to this place for it?"

The long bearded old man did not know what he meant; he glanced at him and then bowed again receiving the guests.

Nimoxing thought, "I'm a short man but the Master of this valley is even shorter. You win on shortness but let's see who wins on martial arts." He barged forward to the front, stretched out his hand and said, "Nice to meet you." He took the old man's hand and immediately used the strength in his hands.

The others took a couple of steps back when they saw the two stretching out their hands to receive each other, they knew that when two great Martial artists exchange forces, it will be something out of the ordinary.

Nimoxing first used twenty percent of his power in his hands but he found that the opponent did not counterattack nor block; he was slightly surprised and increased another twenty percent. He felt that it was like holding a slab of solid wood. He increased another twenty percent of the force in his hands. A faint green air glimmered across the old man's face and his hand was still like a rigid piece of wood.

Nimoxing was extremely surprised and didn't dare to use the rest of his strength just in case the enemy counterattacked when he was at full strength, then, he would not be able to defend against the attack. He laughed and released his hand.

Jinlun Fawang was second in line. He saw what had happened and knew that Nimoxing was unable to ascertain the short man's abilities. There was no need for him to make a rash move while the opponent's abilities were still unclear, Fawang folded his arms and gracefully walked past. Xiaoxiang Zi and Yin Kexi followed together with Ma Guangzou behind. Ma Guangzou had seen the short man's beard and thought that it was extremely weird. He hadn't eaten anything except the Passion Flowers and that made him even hungrier; at this moment in time he was hungry and angry. When he entered he suddenly stuck out his foot and stepped on the tip of the man's beard.

The old man was unmoved and said, "Please be careful."

Ma Guangzou put his other foot on the beard and said, "What?"

The old man moved his head slightly and Ma Guangzou suddenly flipped over. Such a large person falling to the floor is no ordinary matter.

Yang Guo was the last one to enter; he quickly dashed forward two steps and struck Ma Guangzou on the backside moving his gigantic body forwards. Ma Guangzou stood firmly on the ground and rubbed his backside.

The old man acted as if he didn't see anything; he invited them into hall and sat them on the west side before saying clearly, "The guests have arrived, call for the Valley Master."

Yang Guo and the others were shocked, "So that old man is not the Valley Master."

From the back of the hall, ten or so green clothed disciples came in and stood to the left, Gongsun Lu'E was amongst them. After a while, a person entered the hall and bowed to the six and casually sat down on a chair on the east side. The long bearded old man stood by his chair. From the man's presence, this person will be none other but the Valley Master.

This man was about forty five or six years of age, he had a handsome face and appeared graceful; from the way he greeted them and sat down, he also seems to possess a lofty air. His face was yellow and dried, not looking like someone who possessed great martial arts. As soon as he sat down; some of the disciples in green brought tea forward. The hall was decorated in green, but the Valley Master was wearing a precious satin blue gown, he was extremely eye catching in the deluge of green.

The Valley Master picked up a tea bowl and said, "Please have some tea."

Ma Guangzou took a look at the bowl of tea, he saw that it was cold and had a few tea leaves floating on top; it was extremely bland to him and he snapped, "Valley Master, you don't eat meat and you don't even drink tea, no wonder you look ill."

The Valley Master did not move a muscle. He took a sip of his tea and said, "The people of our valley have been vegetarians for hundreds of years."

Ma Guangzou said, "What's so good about being vegetarian. Does it make you live longer without aging?"

The Valley Master said, "My ancestors have lived here since the Tang dynasty; since then, none of the descendants has ever dared to break the vegetarian code."

Jinlun Fawang folded his arms and said, "So this place was set up in the Tang dynasty and has lasted until now, that really is something."

The Valley Master folded his arms and said, "You're too kind."

Xiaoxiang Zi suddenly spoke in a strange way, "Did your ancestors ever see Royal Concubine Yang?" His tone was extremely peculiar.

Nimoxing, Yin Kexi and the others were familiar with his voice after spending time with him, they were surprised when they heard this voice and all turned towards him. They were even more shocked when they saw his face, it had somehow has completely changed, his face had the appearance of a zombie before but now it looked even odder.

Fawang, Nimoxing and the others were slightly worried, "So this person possesses such great internal energy, even his face changes. He's circulating his internal energy so he can immediately strike out; does he want to show the Valley Master a thing or two?" They all put their guards up when they thought about this.

The Valley Master replied, "My ancestors did work in the Tang court as officials, when they saw what state the court had falling into under Yang Guozhong, they were furious and left to reside in a secluded place."

Xiaoxiang Zi laughed, "Your ancestors must have drunk the water that Royal Concubine Yang had washed her feet with."

Everyone's face in the hall changed as soon as these words came out. It was a challenge to the Valley Master and he was going to make his move very soon.

Fawang and the others were surprised, thinking, "This Xiaoxiang Zi is extremely crafty, he always lets other people go first in all matters, why has he volunteered to go first suddenly?"

The Valley Master ignored him and signaled to the old long bearded man. The old bearded man said clearly, "Our Master has treated you with respect as guests, how can you say such things?"

Xiaoxiang Zi laughed and said in his strange manner, "Your ancestor has definitely drunk the foot water of Royal Concubine Yang; if they haven't drunk it, I'll cut off my head for you."

Ma Guangzou was surprised and asked, "Brother Xiaoxiang, how do you know? Could it be that you drank some that day as well?"

Xiaoxiang Zi laughed, his voice changed again as he said, "If they didn't drink the foot water and upset their stomachs, what other reason is there for them not to eat meat?"

Ma Guangzou clapped and laughed, he called out, "Yes, yes, it must be for this reason."

But Fawang and the others frowned, they all felt that Xiaoxiang Zi's words were going a bit too far; everyone has their own eating habits, how can you use it as a joke? Not mentioning the fact that the six of them were deep in this valley, the people of this valley were definitely not kind people; even if fists had to be raised, a backup plan should be made first.

The old bearded man could endure this no longer; he went to the middle of the hall and said, "Mr. Xiaoxiang Zi, our valley has not offended you. If you're looking for a fight then please come forward."

Xiaoxiang Zi said, "Good!" He remained in his chair and leapt over the table in front of him; after a 'deng' sound, he landed in the middle of the hall in his chair. He called out, "Long bearded old man, what's your name? It'll be unfair if we fight with me not knowing your name but you knowing mine. I cannot afford to be in this predicament."

His words seemed sound but unsound at the same time; the old man became even angrier but his wariness also deepened after seeing how graceful Xiaoxiang Zi was in moving the chair into the centre of the room, he wasn't anything ordinary.

The Valley Master said, "Tell him, it's not important."

The old man said, "Fine, my surname is Fan, first names Yiweng, please stand up and start."

Xiaoxiang Zi said, "What weapon are you going to use? Go get it and let me take a look."

Fan Yiweng said, "You want to compete with weapons? That's good." His right foot stamped on the floor and he called out, "Bring it!"

Two attendants rushed inside and when they came out, they had an eleven foot long steel Dragon Head Staff on their shoulders.

Yang Guo and the others were shocked when they saw this, "How can this short man use such a long and heavy weapon."

Xiaoxiang Zi didn't take any notice and took out an extremely large pair of scissors from underneath his gown. He said, "Do you know what this pair of scissors is used for?"

When the others saw this weapon, they just felt that it was a strange weapon, but Yang Guo was shocked. He didn't stretch out his hand towards his bag, but instead he just straightened his back a little and noticed that his pair of scissors was missing. He thought, "Blacksmith Feng made that large pair of scissors for me that I had intended to use against Li Mochou. How did that zombie steal it off me in the middle of the night without me noticing?"

Fan Yiweng took his staff and placed it on the floor. The hall was extremely spacious; as soon as the staff landed, it produced 'weng' 'weng' noises and along with the echoes from the room, the noise was tremendous.

Xiaoxiang Zi lifted up the scissors with his right hand and opened them. He held the scissors with all the strength in his fingers. He called out, "Hey, shortie, you don't know the name of my precious scissors, do you want me to tell you?"

Fan Yiweng angrily said, "Such an unorthodox weapon won't have an elegant name."

Xiaoxiang Zi laughed and said, "Correct, the name is not elegant, it is called the Dog Fur Scissors."

Yang Guo was not pleased, "Who wants you to give my pair of scissors such an ugly name."

He heard Xiaoxiang Zi continue, "I knew long ago that there was a long bearded creature around here; because of this I prepared this pair of Dog Fur Scissors so I can cut off your beard!"

Nimoxing and Ma Guangzou burst out laughing, Yin Kexi and Yang Guo too couldn't hold in their laughter and laughed; only Jinlun Fawang kept his self-control and along with the Valley Master, the two appeared as if nothing had happened.

Fan Yiweng swung his staff a little and created a gust of wind, he said, "I was thinking my beard is too long, since you want to be a barber and help me trim it, nothing could be better, let's fight!"

Xiaoxiang Zi lifted his head and looked up at the beam of the hall in thought, it appeared that he didn't hear his words. Suddenly, his right arm came out like lightning and the scissors cut towards the man's beard.

Fan Yiweng would never have dreamed he would actually attack while sitting in the chair; he had no time to dodge and urgently dropped his staff down. His body lifted up and somersaulted through the air about ten feet off the floor with the staff still on the floor.

Xiaoxiang Zi's attack was extremely quick and Fan Yiweng's dodge was also very swift; in that cut and dodge, the two skilled martial artists had displayed their advanced martial arts. But Fan Yiweng still suffered by that attack; though he managed to avoid that cut, three strands of his beard were cut off by the tip of the scissors.

Xiaoxiang Zi was extremely proud of himself. He picked up the three strands of beard with his left hand and blew the strands of hair which flew towards his bowl of tea on the table. A 'ping pang' sound was heard as the bowl fell onto the floor and shattered.

Yang Guo and the others knew that he was putting on a show and that it was his breath that forced the bowl to drop on the floor. But Ma Guangzou did not know this and thought that the strands of beard had great power after being blown by Xiaoxiang Zi. He called out loudly, "Xiaoxiang Zi, your strands of beard are really something!"

Xiaoxiang Zi laughed, he opened and closed the scissors then called out, "Short beard, do you want to test out my Dog Fur Scissors again?"

Though everyone could see that he was laughing, his face remained unmoved; they were becoming more and more shocked by him. They were thinking, "When someone reaches an advanced state in their internal energy, they can be angry and delighted without showing it on their faces, even to the point where the face looked emotionless. But it is unheard of that someone can laugh so heartily but keep that fearful face." His face was too unsightly for the eyes; everyone just took one look and immediately turned away again.

Fan Yiweng was now furious after being ridiculed again and again; he bowed to the Valley Master and said, "Master, today this disciple cannot continue treating the guests with respect."

Yang Guo was extremely surprised, "That short man is a lot older than the Valley Master; how can he call him Master?"

The Valley Master nodded his head slightly and gently waved out his left hand.

Fan Yiweng swept out his staff towards the chair that Xiaoxiang Zi was sitting on; though he was a short man he possessed incredible strength, the hundred kilo (220 lb) staff swept out and created a great gust of wind.

Though Yang Guo and the others were on the same side as Xiaoxiang Zi, they did not know exactly how skilled he was. They all watched the men battle with great concentration.

The staff was now half a foot away from the leg of the chair. Xiaoxiang Zi lowered his left hand and actually stretched it out to grab the head of the staff and at the same time, he cut forward towards his opponent's beard with the scissors.

Fan Yiweng was extremely angry, he thought, "You actually dare to look down on me like this!" He swung his head to the side and his beard moved to the side while the staff continued its sweep and struck Xiaoxiang Zi's palm.

The others called out and stood up; they all thought that Xiaoxiang Zi's palm would have suffered a serious injury.

But Fan Yiweng felt as if his staff had struck water, soft as if nothing was there; he knew something was wrong and quickly pulled back. However, Xiaoxiang Zi's twisted his wrist and kept his hold on the staff.

Fan Yiweng felt his opponent immediately pushing outward so he immediately sent the staff forward. The force he applied was ferocious; he assumed that Xiaoxiang Zi would have to leave his seat but he didn't predict that the opponent would again leap away with his chair, this time to the left as the staff thrust towards thin air. He had no choice but to release his grip on the head of the staff.

Fan Yiweng's left hand twisted above his head and the staff made a circle and was sent towards his opponent's head.

Xiaoxiang Zi wanted to ridicule him and leapt up about ten feet with the chair and actually passed over the staff.

The others saw that his hands techniques were extraordinary and swift; though he was in the chair, he moved as if he was not, they all called out in appreciation.

Fan Yiweng saw that his opponent was highly skilled; he poured all his concentration into this battle, the staff created gusts of wind as he moved it around. He knew that hitting him would not be easy but if he smashes his chair, he will be able to get the initiative.

But Xiaoxiang Zi's martial arts were extraordinary; his right hand continued to open and close the scissors and suddenly cut towards his beard while Xiaoxiang Zi's left hand used the "Trapping Hand Technique" to snatch his staff.

In the blink of an eye the two had tens of exchanges; though they appeared to be equal, Xiaoxiang Zi had not left his chair, not giving an ounce of respect towards his opponent.

Jinlun Fawang was shocked inside, "Who would have thought that zombie would actually possess such great abilities?"

More exchanges passed between the two; Fan Yiweng kept on using sweeping stances across the floor, while Xiaoxiang Zi kept on leaping up in the chair, getting quicker and quicker.

The Valley Master suddenly called out, "Don't hit the chair, otherwise you can't handle him."

Fan Yiweng was startled but then immediately understood, "While he's sitting in the chair, I can only fight him to a draw. If his legs were on the ground, then my beard will be cut off in just a few stances." He suddenly changed his stances and urgently waved and twisted the staff around. A circle of silver light covered the short man in green while on the outside there was a zombie like person leaping up and down without stopping. This was a strange rarely seen spectacle.

The Valley Master knew that Xiaoxiang Zi was deliberately trying to make a fool out of Fan Yiweng; if it continued he would definitely suffer. The Valley Master then stood up and slowly left the table. He said, "Yiweng, you are not a match for that Master, come back."

Fan Yiweng obeyed his Master and said loudly, "Yes!" He straightened his staff and was about to take it back when Xiaoxiang Zi called out, "That won't do, that won't do!" He flew up from the chair and threw himself down onto the staff. A 'ka la' sound was heard as the staff smashed the chair into pieces; but the staff was held onto by Xiaoxiang Zi with his left hand. Xiaoxiang Zi steadied his left leg and opened the scissors. Fan Yiweng's beard was hanging between the blades, a cut now and his beard would be gone.

Who knew that the long beard that Fan Yiweng grew was an extremely soft lethal weapon; the technique for using it is along the same lines as a whip, a chain and a whisk. His head moved slightly and the beard whipped around escaping from the blade of the scissors and wrapped up the scissors instead; he moved his head backwards and a great force pulled the scissors forward.

Xiaoxiang Zi called out loudly, "Ai yo, old shortie, your beard is pretty powerful; Xiaoxiang Zi is in awe of you." One had his beard wrapped around the scissors whereas the other had his hand holding onto the staff, there was no result for the time being.

Xiaoxiang Zi laughed out loud and said, "Interesting, interesting!"

Suddenly a grey blur flashed in from the front door; this person was extremely quick and was pushing both his palms forward towards the back of Xiaoxiang Zi.

The Valley Master shouted, "Who is it?"

This attack was quick and vicious and it was certain to hit its target. Xiaoxiang Zi released his grasp of the staff and turned his left palm around and pushed out at the opponent below the elbow, immediately dispersing the power of his palms.

The person angrily said, "You bastard, I'm going to kill you!"

Yang Guo and the others were incredibly surprised when they saw this person; they all called out, "Xiaoxiang Zi!" The person who had dashed forward and attacked was Xiaoxiang Zi. Can he divide into two? And why was he attacking his own double? They were all puzzled by this.

Once they had settled down, they saw that the person who was tangling with Fan Yiweng was dressed in the clothes of Xiaoxiang Zi; everything was correct from the shoes to the hat. Though his face looked like a zombie, it was not the face of Xiaoxiang Zi. The person who had entered had the face of Xiaoxiang Zi but he was dressed in green. The man in green sent his claw like hands out towards the back of the Xiaoxiang Zi who was holding the scissors and called out, "What kind of hero attacks from an ambush?"

Fan Yiweng was slightly surprised when he saw help had come; this person was dressed in the valley's uniform but he did not know him. He placed his staff to the side and saw the two zombie-like people battle each other.

It was now clear to Yang Guo, the person who was holding the scissors must have stolen his mask as well. He put it on, changed into Xiaoxiang Zi's clothes and then came here to the hall to stir up trouble. Because Xiaoxiang Zi's face normally was like that of a corpse, no one was able to tell. Though Yang Guo had worn the mask himself, but he did not know what he looked like when wearing the mask. When Cheng Ying had her's on, he didn't dare to look at her too often. He was actually deceived by this person.

He concentrated for a while and recognized the martial arts of the person holding the pair of scissors, he called out, "Zhou Botong, give back my mask and scissors." He then leapt into the middle of the hall and stretched out his hand to snatch the pair of scissors back.

This person was Zhou Botong. He'd had a lapse in concentration and was captured by the fish net of the four disciples of the valley. But Zhou Botong possesses amazing abilities; just a slight lapse in concentration by the four disciples and he immediately broke out of the fish net. Afterwards he hid behind some rocks. He had planned to turn the valley over but then he saw Yang Guo and the other five. In the middle of the night, he ambushed Xiaoxiang Zi; he sealed his pressure points and moved him outside of the house. Then he changed into his clothes. Zhou Botong had great lightness kung fu and he comes and goes without a trace; Xiaoxiang Zi was still asleep when this happened and even Jinlun Fawang didn't notice anything. After he changed clothes, Zhou Botong returned to the stone house and lay down by Yang Guo, and then stole the scissors and mask from his bag. When they woke up the next morning, no one actually noticed anything amiss.

Xiaoxiang Zi tried to unblock his pressure points after they were sealed but Zhou Botong's pressure point sealing skills were powerful; it was six hours before he was able to move his limbs again. At that time, he had only his undergarments on. He was extremely angry and when a valley disciple passed by, he immediately took his clothes and hurried to the stone building. When he got there, he saw a person dressed in his clothes in a heated battle with Fan Yiweng; his anger was uncontrollable and he threw his palms forward viciously.

Zhou Botong saw Yang Guo coming forward and began to use his skill of left right mutual combat; his left hand came out and in as he fought Yang Guo while his right hand used the scissors and forced Xiaoxiang Zi to stay back. When the scissors opened, the distance between the blades was two feet; if his head were in between the blades when it closed, his head would separate from his neck. Though Xiaoxiang Zi was furious, he did not dare to get close.

When the Valley Master first saw Zhou Botong fight Fan Yiweng, he was already secretly in awe. Now he saw him using two hands to fight two people separately, it was as if he were divided into two. The "Yin Yang Twin Blades" that he practices has some similarities to the technique that Zhou Botong was using; but how could he do two things at the same time like Zhou Botong was doing? He also saw Xiaoxiang Zi's claws were like steel, his stances vicious, and he saw that Yang Guo was graceful and elegant, his form and posture exquisite, he pondered, "There are many able people in this world. The two old men are indeed terrific; though this young man's internal energy is shallow, his form, fists and kicks are filled with elegance." He then said clearly, "Please hold your fists."

Yang Guo and Xiaoxiang Zi leapt back at the same time. Zhou Botong took off his mask and threw the mask along with the scissors towards Yang Guo and then called out, "I've had enough fun, I'm going!" His legs lightly touched the ground and he leapt up onto a beam up in the ceiling.

The valley's disciples gasped when Zhou Botong showed his face. Gongsun Lu'E called out, "Father, it's that old man."

Zhou Botong laughed as he sat on the beam. The beam was thirty feet off the floor; though there were many good fighters in the hall, to follow him and leap up in one go was something that none of them could do.

Fan Yiweng was the Master of the passionless valley's senior disciple and was older than his Master. Apart from his Master, he was the most skilled fighter of the valley; after being ridiculed by Zhou Botong many times, how could he not be angry? He was short and skilled at climbing; his body leapt up and grabbed a pillar, climbing up it like an ape. Zhou Botong loved it when someone tangles with him, he saw him climbing up but couldn't wait for him to reach the beam so he stretched out his hand to receive him.

How would Fan Yiweng know that that it was a kind gesture? When he saw his right hand stretching out towards him, he stretched out his finger and poked the 'Great tomb' pressure point on Zhou Botong's wrist. Zhou Botong felt a slight sensation in his hand and immediately sealed off his pressure point and loosened his muscles. Fan Yiweng felt that his finger was poking something like cotton wool; he quickly pulled his finger back. Zhou Botong's palm turned and struck the back of his arm with a very crisp sound, he called out, "One basket of barley, two baskets of barley, you and me slap the great barley!"

Fan Yiweng was extremely angry, he swung his head and his long beard swept towards Zhou Botong. Zhou Botong heard that urgent gust of wind and propped his left foot against the beam and moved his body, his left hand then held onto the beam and hung his body in the air.

Xiaoxiang Zi knew that Fan Yiweng was not a match for Zhou Botong; even if he went up there to join in as well he would not be able to beat him. He turned around to Nimoxing and Ma Guangzou and said, "Brother Ni and Ma, that old man doesn't give any respect to the six of us; he really has gone too far."

Nimoxing was a rash person and could be offended, Ma Guangzou was slow witted and wasn't clear on what was happening, when they heard him say, 'doesn't give any respect to the six of us', they were angered and both of them shouted. They then leapt towards the beam to grab Zhou Botong's leg. Zhou Botong kicked away their palms with his legs.

Xiaoxiang Zi turned to Yin Kexi and said coldly, "Brother Yin, are you really just going to watch?"

Yin Kexi gave a wry smile and said, "Brother Xiaoxiang, you go first and I'll be right behind you."

Xiaoxiang Zi made a strange whistle, the walls trembled and he suddenly leaped up. His knees were not bent; his whole body and arms were straight as a ruler as he went for Zhou Botong's abdomen.

Zhou Botong saw the incoming attack and pulled in his body and became almost sphere like; his right hand swapped with his left hand in holding the beam. Xiaoxiang Zi clutched thin air and dropped back down. His body was straight as a stick, his feet touched the ground and he jumped up once again. Fan Yiweng was holding onto the pillar and sweeping his beard while Xiaoxiang Zi, Nimoxing and Ma Guangzou kept on going up and down trying to attack him.

Yin Kexi laughed, "This old man's martial arts really are incredible; I'll join in as well." He searched his pockets and took out a weapon. The hall was lit up with the reflection of pearls and the glimmering of gold; there was a whip in his hand. This whip was made out of gold and silver silk and was embedded with pearls and gems. In the world of Jianghu, one would not be able to find such a precious and lavish weapon as this. There were glimmers of gold and glistening of pearls as the whip was swept towards Zhou Botong's leg.

Yang Guo was amused with what was happening and thought, "These five are showing off their abilities in attacking the Old Urchin; if I don't do something out of the ordinary, I can't claim to be capable." He had an idea; he put on the human skin mask and copied the strange call of Xiaoxiang Zi. He then picked up Fan Yiweng's staff, stood it up against the floor and used the force to throw himself up into midair. The staff was already over ten feet long, so using it as a lever he was able to face Zhou Botong face to face. He called out, "Old Urchin, watch out for the scissors!" The large scissors cut forwards towards his white beard.

Zhou Botong was delighted, he moved his head and called out, "Little brother, your move is pretty amusing."

Yang Guo said, "Old Urchin, I haven't done anything to offend you, why did you make fun of me?"

Zhou Botong, "Things come and go and you haven't suffered one bit; instead you've gained something."

Yang Guo was startled and said, "What came and went?"

Zhou Botong laughed, "Right now I need to be excused, and I can't speak with you." He saw the incoming Golden Dragon whip of Yin Kexi and stretched out his hand to seize it. Yin Kexi's whip twisted and he was about to counterattack his opponent's back when he fell back to the floor.

The Old Urchin said, "Your colorful dead snake is pretty funny." At this moment, Fan Yiweng's beard came sweeping across; his hands were holding onto the pillar and he was relying on his beard to attack his enemy.

Zhou Botong laughed, "So a beard can be used like that?" He copied him and swung his beard towards him, but his beard was a lot shorter than Fan Yiweng's and he had never practiced with it before; the move he made with his beard was useless. A 'shua' sound was heard as he was struck by Fan Yiweng's beard across the cheek leaving a red mark; if he didn't have such profound internal energy, he would have been knocked out. After receiving this attack, Zhou Botong wasn't angry, instead he had great respect towards Fan Yiweng and said, "My beard can't compare to yours, I admit defeat, we don't need to continue."

Fan Yiweng had just had a successful strike and was not going to hold back; his beard came out again. Zhou Botong did not dare to use his beard to meet it again, so his left hand used the techniques of the "Vacant Light Fist", throwing out soft fists. The wind created by the fists forced Fan Yiweng's beard to the right and just at this time, Ma Guangzou had leaped up to make an attack, the beard brushed against his face.

Ma Guangzou's eyes were covered so he grabbed the beard with his two hands. Fan Yiweng's beard had originally been under his control but after being forced away by the wind from Zhou Botong's fists, he lost control of it and it was now in Ma Guangzou's hands. He was startled and did not use force to pull it back. Ma Guangzou was holding it tightly and as he descended, he dragged Fan Yiweng down to the floor.

Ma Guangzou was thick skinned and the fall didn't hurt much. However, Fan Yiweng had fallen on top of him.

Fan Yiweng said angrily, "What are you doing, you still haven't let go?"

Though Ma Guangzou didn't feel much pain from the fall, Fan Yiweng's feet had landed on his stomach and it was quite painful; his anger also erupted and he shouted, "I don't want to let go; what are you going to do about it?" After he said this, he quickly wrapped the beard around his arm.

Fan Yiweng chopped out a right palm and Ma Guangzou moved his head to dodge, however, this was a dummy move and a fist came out from his left hand, landing squarely on Ma Guangzou's nose.

Ma Guangzou called out and returned a punch. When it came to martial arts, Fan Yiweng was much better than Ma Guangzou; but his beard was trapped and he couldn't move his head, so the punch landed on his cheekbone. One tall and one short, the two of them began to fight. Though Fan Yiweng was on top, he could not escape from his opponent.

Jinlun Fawang saw that the hall had fallen into chaos; five people from his side had come out and yet still they were unable to take care of the Old Urchin. This was a bit too shameful. Sounds of 'qiang lang' 'qiang lang' were heard as he took out two wheels, one silver and one bronze. One swept from left to right and the other from right to left forming two arcs of light as they flew towards Zhou Botong. The ringing sounds were urgent and frightening.

Zhou Botong did not know how powerful they were and said, "What are these?" He stretched out his hand to grab them.

Yang Guo called out, "You can't catch them!"

Yang Guo threw the steel staff upwards. A 'dang' sound was heard and the thick, long staff was sent flying towards the corner of the room as sparks flew and dust rose up from the wall. The bronze wheel came back to Fawang and he once again sent it with his left hand. The wheel flew swiftly towards the beam.

After this, Zhou Botong knew that it wasn't good to annoy this monk. He knew that he wouldn't be able to fight off all of them so he flipped downwards and called out, "Excuse me everyone, the Old Urchin has to leave, we'll play again another day." He then ran towards the door. However, four disciples in green had blocked the exit with a large fish net.

Zhou Botong had experienced the fish net before and called out, "Oh no!" He wanted to escape through the window on the eastern side. He saw a green blur and the window was covered by a fish net as well.

Zhou Botong leapt back into the middle of the room and saw that in all four directions there were four disciples in green holding a fish net, blocking his path. Zhou Botong then leapt up onto the beam and used the stance "Surging Sky Palm" to break a large hole in the ceiling. He was about to leap out through the hole when he raised his head and saw that there was also another fish net above. He had nowhere to go and leapt back to the floor. He pointed to the Valley Master and laughed, "Old yellow face, why do you want to keep me here? Do you need a playmate?"

Valley Master Gongsun said dryly, "All you've got to do is return the four things that you took and I'll immediately let you go."

Zhou Botong said surprisingly, "What use have I got with your smelly things? Even if a person could learn martial arts to a state equal to yours, who cares?"

Valley Master Gongsun slowly walked to the middle of the hall. He brushed the dust off his clothes and said, "If today wasn't my wedding day, I would definitely exchange a few stances with you. Just leave the items of the valley here and leave."

Zhou Botong was furious and called out, "So, you say that I've definitely stolen something from you? That's crap, what have you got here in this valley?" He then started to take off his clothes and very soon, he was stark naked. The Valley Master called out to him to stop but was ignored. Zhou Botong then showed his garments inside out, indeed, there was nothing there. The female disciples in the hall were distressed and turned their heads away.

This turn of events was something that the Valley Master had not predicted. The missing objects from the library, pill room, fungi room and sword room were very important and had to be recovered; could it really be that the missing objects were not stolen by the Old Urchin?

Just as he was in deep thought, Zhou Botong clapped his hands and said, "Look at you, you're old but why do you not act your age? You speak without thinking and you act mad and crazy, you do such an embarrassing thing in public, aren't people going to laugh their teeth out?"

These words should have been said to him but he got it in first. The Valley Master didn't know whether to laugh or cry and did not have a reply. He saw that Fan Yiweng was still battling Ma Guangzou so he shouted, "Get up Yiweng, stop tangling with the guest."

Zhou Botong laughed, "Long beard, I like your temper, the two of us can be friends."

In actual fact, Fan Yiweng has been strict and disciplined all his life; he only fought Ma Guangzou because he had no choice. He wanted to stand up many times but his beard was wrapped around Ma Guangzou's arm and he had no way to escape.

Valley Master Gongsun frowned slightly and pointed to Zhou Botong saying, "I'm afraid that it is you who is embarrassing himself in public and it is you whose actions are laughable."

Zhou Botong said, "I came out of my mother's womb naked and I'm pure and innocent as I stand naked now, what's wrong with that? Look at how old you are yet you still want to marry a beautiful young girl, ha-ha, laughable, laughable!" Those words were like a hammer that smashed into the chest of the Valley Master; his yellow face became red and he couldn't say anything.

Zhou Botong called out, "Oh no, I'm afraid I might catch a cold without wearing any clothes." Suddenly he dashed towards the exit.

As soon as the four disciples in green saw the blur, they immediately moved positions and threw the net over him, trapping him in the net. They felt him struggling fiercely and they tied the corners of the net then carried him over to the Valley Master. The fish net was made out of extremely pliable and soft golden silk; even a precious sword or saber would not find it easy to cut through it. The hand movements of the four disciples were unusual and swift, the net covered heaven and earth as it was brought forward. Even an extremely skilled martial artist would find it difficult to deal with. The only disadvantage was that it required four people to work it; one person alone will not be able to use it. The four of them were extremely proud of themselves after they caught him in one swoop; but when they saw the Valley Master examine the net, he had an expression of displeasure. They quickly looked down; they were shocked and broke out in a cold sweat. They quickly opened the net up and let two people out; it was Ma Guangzou and Fan Yiweng.

No one could predict that Zhou Botong would suddenly dash out stark naked without his clothes. His hand movements were extraordinarily quick; he had picked up Ma Guangzou and Fan Yiweng and threw them in the net. When the four disciples took in the net, he quickly dashed out. The deception was unnoticeable.

The Valley Master's face was full of humiliation because of what Zhou Botong had done; and even Fawang and the others felt shame in their hearts. They were all thinking, "I class myself as a first rate fighter of Wulin and yet all of us together were unable to capture that mad old man, that is shameful." Only Yang Guo was pleased; he had great respect for Zhou Botong and thought that if he was captured, I would definitely think of a way to rescue him. Since he's managed to escape by himself, then it couldn't be better.

Fawang had originally wanted to learn the background of this Valley Master, but after all this trouble with the Old Urchin, he wasn't in the mood to carry on. He spoke a few words with Xiaoxiang Zi and Yin Kexi then stood up and folded his arms, saying, "Thank you for your hospitality, we ought to stay longer and make acquaintances but we all have other pressing matters to attend to and so we say goodbye."

The Valley Master had originally suspected that Fawang and the others were friends of the Old Urchin, but he had later seen Xiaoxiang Zi fight for his life and Fawang, Yang Guo, Yin Kexi, Ma Guangzou and Nimoxing attacking Zhou Botong. They all had showed signs of helping him so he folded his hands and said, "I have a request; I wonder will our six guests grant me my wish?"

Fawang said, "If it's in our ability then we'll do our best."

The Valley Master said, "After noon, there will be my wedding procession, I request your presence. This valley is very secluded and remote; there have been very few guests over the last hundreds of years. It is the luck of three generations that today six esteemed guests have arrived."

Ma Guangzou said, "Will there be wine?"

The Valley Master was about to reply when he saw Yang Guo's eyes were fixed on something outside, his face was extremely strange; he seemed to be extremely happy but also appeared to be full of anguish. Everyone was surprised and followed his gaze.

They saw a girl in white passing along a corridor outside. The sunlight shone on her white, cold face and it seemed that the sunlight had turned into moonlight. There was a sparkle under her eyelashes and after she walked a couple of steps, a teardrop rolled down her cheek. Her steps were light; it was as if she was gliding on water as she made her way down the corridor. She did not glance over at the people in the middle of the hall.

It was as if Yang Guo's pressure points had been sealed and he didn't move a muscle. Suddenly he called out, "Gu Gu!"

The girl in white was at the head of the corridor when she heard the call, as soon as she did her body trembled and said faintly, "Guo'er, Guo'er, you're here? Is it you that's calling me?" She turned her head around and appeared as if she was looking for something, but her eyes were uncertain as if she was in a dream.

Yang Guo quickly leapt out of the hall and held her hand, saying, "Gu Gu, you're here, I've searched for you continuously!" He then suddenly called out; there was unbearable pain in the place where his finger had been pricked by the passion flower.

The girl in white called out, her body trembled and she sat down on the floor with her eyes closed, it was as if she had fainted.

Yang Guo called out, "Gu Gu, how are you feeling?"

After a while, the girl slowly opened her eyes and stood up. She said, "Who are you? What did you call me?"

Yang Guo was greatly shocked, he stared at her, if it wasn't Xiao Longnu then who else could it be? He quickly asked, "Gu Gu, It's' Guo'er, how... how come you don't recognize me? Are you hurt? Where are you feeling discomfort?"

The girl looked at him and said coldly, "I do not know you." She then walked into the hall and sat down by Valley Master Gongsun. Yang Guo was flabbergasted; he returned to the hall in a daze and leaned on the back of a chair.

Valley Master Gongsun's face had been unmoved all along but now his face was filled with joy, he raised his hand towards Fawang and the others, saying, "This is my bride; the wedding has been set for today after midday." He then glanced over at Yang Guo wryly, offended by his rudeness just now in recognizing someone wrongly and scaring his new bride.

Yang Guo's shock was indescribable; he said loudly, "Gu Gu, could it be... could it be that you're not Xiao Longnu? Could it be that you're not my Master?"

The girl said, "No! What Xiao Longnu?"

Yang Guo clenched his fists, his mind filled with thoughts, "Is Gu Gu angry with me and doesn't want to recognize me? Is it because we're in danger and she's deliberately pretending? Is she like Godfather and has lost her memories? But Godfather was still able to recognize me. Could it be that there really is someone else in the world that looks exactly like her?" He just said, "Gu Gu, you... you... I'm... I'm Guo'er!"

Valley Master Gongsun frowned slightly as he watched him lose his composure, he quietly said to the girl, "Sister Liu, there are many weird people here today."

The girl ignored him and poured a cup of water. She slowly drank it and glanced over at Jinlun Fawang and the others but she avoided Yang Guo, not looking at him again. Everyone saw her sleeve tremble slightly and water splashed from the cup onto her clothes but she did not notice anything.

Yang Guo's mind was turning upside down and didn't know what to do; he turned around to Jinlun Fawang and asked, "My Master and I have dueled with you before, you remember. Tell me... have I recognized the wrong person?"

When the girl entered the hall, Fawang had recognized her as Xiao Longnu but she completely ignored Yang Guo, he thought that the two must have had a lovers quarrel so he smiled wryly and said, "I don't remember."

He had endured a great defeat by them when Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo used the "Simple Heart of the Jade Maiden" swordplay against him; something which had never happened before. He thought that if the two had quarreled, it really was something that was beneficial to him, why should he help them get back together?

Yang Guo was startled again but immediately understood, in his mind, he was furious, "You really are evil. That day on the mountain top, I helped you to recuperate and now you're doing this to me." He wanted to kill him right there and then.

Jinlun Fawang saw that he had fallen to pieces but his eyes revealed hatred, he pondered, "There's hate towards me in his heart now; if I let him live he will be a problem in the future. Today he's making a spectacle of himself; this really is a good chance to get rid of him." He folded his arms to Valley Master Gongsun and laughed, "Since today is Valley Master's day of celebration, of course we'll attend but it is a bit embarrassing that my friends and I have not brought any gifts."

Valley Master Gongsun was delighted when he heard that they would stay for his wedding, he said to the girl, "These people are great Masters of Wulin; just being able to have one present is a great honour never mind being able to..." He wanted to say six of them but he felt Yang Guo was young. Just now when he fought Zhou Botong, though his form and position were exquisite, his internal energy was ordinary. He felt that his martial arts practice aimed for style over substance and couldn't rank him as one of the 'great Masters of Wulin'. But if he leaves him out and says five, it would be a bit too discourteous, he hesitated a little and said, "...invite these heroes."

Fawang thought to himself, "This Valley Master has a majestic air, and from the formation he set to catch the Old Urchin, his martial arts and intelligence are excellent; but he hasn't got the ability to do great things. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu just said a few words and he's agitated."

Valley Master Gongsun said, "Sister Liu, this is Jinlun Fawang..." He then told her who they were and said Yang Guo's name last. When the girl heard their names, she just nodded slightly, her face unmoved as if she did not care but to Yang Guo's name, she stared outside and didn't even nod.

Yang Guo's face was red, his mind was turning upside like an ocean storm, whatever Valley Master Gongsun said, he didn't hear. Nimoxing, Yin Kexi and the others did not know his background, they thought that he was embarrassed because he had recognized the wrong person.

Gongsun Lu'E was standing behind her father and heard every single word that Yang Guo had said, she thought to herself, "This morning his finger was pierced by the passion flower, and he immediately suffered pain from yearning for his lover. Right now he's filled with these thoughts, could it be that my new mother is his lover? What are the chances of that? Could it be that these people have come to the valley because of my new mother?" She examined her 'new mother' and saw that her face was expressionless, there was no joy or happiness on her face, neither was there any shyness; she did not look like a new bride at all and her suspicions deepened.

Yang Guo's chest felt as if it wanted to burst, he then thought, "Gu Gu must have a reason for being like this, I better stop running away with these thoughts and find out the truth."

He then stood up and bowed to the Valley Master. He said clearly, "I have a close one, that... that looks extremely like that Miss, I apologize for my mistake just now."

When the Valley Master heard these polite words, his face immediately changed and returned the bow. He then said, "It's not unusual to mistake someone for someone else, who can be blamed? But..." He stopped for a while and laughed,

“To have someone else who looks exactly like her is not only a great coincidence; it is also an extremely odd thing.” He was saying how could there be another equally as beautiful girl under heaven’s skies?

Yang Guo said, “Yes, it is extremely odd. Can I take the liberty to ask this Miss’ surname?”

Valley Master Gongsun had a faint smile and said, “Her surname is Liu. Is your close one also named Liu?”

Yang Guo said, “No.” He pondered, “Why did Gu Gu change her name to Liu?” He then had a thought, “Ah, it’s because I’m named *Yang.” [*Yangliu is the combined name for a willow tree. It symbolically indicates the link between them.] After another thought like this, his finger broke out in unbearable pain again.

Gongsun Lu’E saw his suffering and pitied him, her eyes never left his face.

Valley Master Gongsun examined Yang Guo for a while and then looked at the girl in white, her head was lowered and she didn’t make a single sound. He was becoming suspicious and thought, “Just now when she heard this punk call out, I heard her call out quietly ‘Guo’er, Guo’er, you’re here? Is it you that’s calling me?’ Could it be that she really is that little punk’s Auntie? But why is she not recognizing him?” He wanted to ask her but there were many people present; he thought this matter could be explained later after the wedding, so he took back his words.

Yang Guo said, “This Miss has not lived in this valley for long; I wonder how, did you and her meet?”

In ancient times, ordinarily girls would not meet outsiders easily, and they were even stricter about seeing guests on their wedding day; but Jinlun Fawang and the others didn't take much notice. Some of them were from the west and the others roamed Jianghu; they weren't restrained by customs and traditions. They just felt that wearing plain white silk on her wedding day was a bit too dull. When they heard Yang Guo inquire about someone else's business when he asked the Valley Master how he met the girl, they felt that he had gone too far.

But Valley Master Gongsun also wanted to know about the background of his bride to be, he thought, "It could be that little punk really knows sister Liu." He said, "Brother Yang is correct. Half a month ago, I was picking herbs by the mountain side when I saw her lying at the foot of the mountain; she had a serious injury and was on the point of death. I examined her and knew that she had suffered a fire deviation while practicing internal energy, so I took her back to the valley and used my family's medicine to help her recover. We met by chance."

Jinlun Fawang interrupted, "This is the so called thousand li fate of marriage led by a string. Miss Liu must have wanted to repay this kindness so she agreed to marry. This really is a match that was made in heaven." His words seemed to be praising Valley Master Gongsun but in reality, he wanted to spite Yang Guo.

When Yang Guo heard this, his face did indeed change dramatically; his body trembled and there was a faint sweet taste at the back of his throat, he threw up a mouthful of blood.

When the girl in white saw this she quivered, "You... you..." She quickly stood up and wanted to stretch out her hand to help him up, but she forced herself to stop. Then she too spat out a mouthful of blood; her white dress was stained by it.

This Miss Liu was a name that Xiao Longnu had made up. That night after hearing the words of Huang Rong, she thought to herself that if she married Yang Guo, she will have caused him to be looked down on by everyone in the world. She felt uneasy about this; but if she were to stay with him in the ancient tomb forever, after a while he would get bored and would not be happy. She thought long and hard, eventually she hardened her heart and quietly left. Her love for Yang Guo was immense; to suddenly leave him like this was extremely difficult. She thought that if she returned to the ancient tomb, he would definitely come back and find her so she wandered alone in a wild, vast valley. One day, she sat down to practice when suddenly her thoughts of love surged forward; it was difficult to control and her inner chi suddenly surged through her veins and meridians and caused her old injury to react again. If Valley Master Gongsun hadn't passed by, she would have died there in the wild mountainside.

Valley Master Gongsun had lost his wife a long time ago; when he saw her, he couldn't imagine that someone could be as beautiful as she; his intent to rescue her had salacious thoughts added onto them.

Xiao Longnu was disheartened; she also thought that if she lived somewhere in seclusion by herself, she would not be able to stop herself and would follow the same disastrous path again. Going out again in search of Yang Guo and cause him grief. She saw the love that Valley Master Gongsun had for her and he asked for her hand. She blocked out her heart and agreed; she thought that after she becomes someone else's wife, she will sever her ties with Yang Guo completely. Along with living in such a secluded place, she assumed that she would never see him again. Who could have thought that Zhou Botong would suddenly appear to cause trouble in the valley? The results would lead him here.

Xiao Longnu was filled with emotional turmoil at this sudden reunion with Yang Guo. She thought, "I've already agreed to marry someone else; I'll just keep up this act and let him leave in anger and hate me forever. With his talents and appearance, what need is there to worry that he won't be able to find someone else? Though my heart will be in pain for the rest of my life, he will be able to avoid the suffering of the future." Because of this, although she saw Yang Guo suffering, she ignored him; but her heart was mournful and it was becoming more and more difficult to endure. When she saw him throw up blood, she was filled with pity and sorrow; she couldn't help herself and she too threw up a mouthful of blood.

Her face was extremely white, she was staggering and wanted to return inside when Valley Master Gongsun said quickly, "Quickly sit down and don't move, don't disturb your veins and meridians." He turned around and said to Yang Guo, "Just leave; don't ever come back."

Hot tears filled Yang Guo's eyes, he said to Xiao Longnu, "Gu Gu, if I've done something wrong, you can beat me, scold me; even kill me with one thrust of a sword. I'm willing to accept all that. But why are you pretending that you don't know who I am?"

Xiao Longnu lowered her head and didn't reply, just lightly coughing twice.

Valley Master Gongsun was furious with Yang Guo when he angered her into throwing up blood. However, his self-control training was extremely good; he didn't break out in a rage. He lowered his voice and said, "If you don't leave then don't blame me for being merciless."

Yang Guo did not take any notice, his eyes were fixed on Xiao Longnu, he begged, "Gu Gu, I promise you that I will stay in the tomb with you forever; I won't regret it, let's leave together."

Xiao Longnu raised her head and her gaze met his; she saw his face was filled with boundless love along with thousands of pieces of pain and worry. Her heart was moved and thought, "I'll leave with him now!" But she immediately had another thought, "I didn't leave him on a whim. I have thought about all the good and bad points in detail. If I give in, I will bring him trouble in the future." So she turned her head to the side and gave a long sigh before saying, "I don't recognize you, I don't understand what you are saying. Just leave!"

There was no force behind the words but it was filled with love and passion; apart from Ma Guangzou who was a slow person and had no perception, everyone in the hall could tell that she loved Yang Guo and these words were against her heart's feelings.

Valley Master Gongsun was jealous, he thought, "Though you have agreed to marry me, you have never said half a word with such feeling." He looked at Yang Guo and saw a handsome face, his valiant air exuding everywhere; he and Xiao Longnu did indeed make a perfect couple. He pondered, "It looks like these two must be lovers. Because they had an argument, sister Liu agreed to marry me out of anger, she still has feelings for this punk. 'Gu Gu', 'Master', these must be pet names that they use when they are flirting with each other. This punk is older than sister Liu, how can he really call her 'Auntie', 'Master'." As he thought about this, his eyes revealed anger and hatred.

Fan Yiweng was very loyal to his Master. He knew that his Master was lonely and was always thinking of a way that would be able to solve his Master's loneliness. A few days ago, he saw his Master had rescued a beautiful young girl and the girl had agreed to marry him; he was almost happier than his Master. Now he saw Yang Guo had suddenly come to cause trouble and had made his Master's new wife throw up blood; but his Master was still enduring this. So he came forward and shouted, "The punk named Yang, if you know what's best for you you'll leave! We don't welcome rude guests such as the likes of you."

Yang Guo heard but didn't listen; he said softly to Xiao Longnu, "Gu Gu, have you really forgotten me?"

Fan Yiweng was furious; he stretched out his hand to grab his back, intending to throw him out of the hall.

Yang Guo was concentrating on speaking to Xiao Longnu; he had completely ignored everything that was going on around him. He only noticed something when he felt Fan Yiweng's fingers on his back. He quickly moved out of the way and his opponent clutched thin air, but he heard a 'chi' sound, his opponent had made a hole in the back of his garment.

Yang Guo was becoming more and more anxious after his pleading once again was ignored by Xiao Longnu. If it were in the tomb where there's no one else, he could slowly plead with her; but here in the hall there were many people. Now Fan Yiweng had come out with insults and threats; he felt his whole body was filled with pain and suffering, and he turned all his anger and emotions onto Fan Yiweng. He shouted back, "I'm talking to my Gu Gu, what has it got to do with you Shortie?"

Fan Yiweng shouted loudly, "My Master told you to leave and never come back; if you don't listen then don't blame me for being merciless."

Yang Guo said angrily, "I choose not to leave; if my Gu Gu doesn't leave then I'll stay here for the rest of my life. Even if I die and my bones turn to ash, I'll still follow her." These words were meant for Xiao Longnu.

Valley Master Gongsun looked at Xiao Longnu and saw tears rolling from her eyes and eventually they splashed down on her blood stained dress. He felt sad and worried; he glanced over to Fan Yiweng and made a signal with his hands, telling him to kill Yang Guo and rid the longing that Xiao Longnu had once and for all.

Fan Yiweng was surprised with the signal that his Master had made, he had wanted to send him away from the valley and stop all this trouble and that was it. He didn't think that his Master would actually give him the signal to kill. He said loudly, "Just because it's my Master's day of celebration you think I won't kill you?" He then looked at his Master.

Valley Master Gongsun once again signaled with his hands, telling him to forget about what kind of day it was and just kill him. Fan Yiweng picked up his large staff and slammed it down on the floor, filling the room with vibrations. He shouted, "Little punk, are you really not afraid of losing your life?"

Yang Guo had just thrown up blood and the blood in his chest was rolling about, wanting to be thrown up. The internal energy of the Ancient Tomb sect is all about controlling your emotions, when Xiao Longnu's Master imparted her the formulae, she repeatedly told her to purge her emotions. In the end, Xiao Longnu was not able to control them and as a result, she threw up blood on many occasions.

Yang Guo was taught by Xiao Longnu; his internal energy was of the same nature as hers and now his arms and legs were as cold as ice. He thought, "I'll throw up blood violently right here and now and die here in front of her; will she still ignore me?" But then he had another thought, "Gu Gu normally loves me very much, there must a reason behind all this; most probably she's being blackmailed by that Valley Master. She has no alternative and that's why she's ignoring me. If I cripple myself, it would be difficult for me to oppose him."

He made up his mind; his heart was stirred and he decided to fight his way out of this problem and rescue Xiao Longnu from this place. He steadied himself and submerged his chi into his dan tian, forcing the blood in his chest to flow back down. He gave a wry laugh and pointed to Fan Yiweng, saying, "This valley feels like it's filled with an air of death. When I want to come, you can't stop me, when I want to leave, don't dream of trying to make me stay."

Everyone saw the emotional state that he was in. He was like a madman but all of a sudden, he had steadied himself; they were all surprised to see this.

When Fan Yiweng saw Yang Guo throwing up blood just now; he felt sorry for him and had no desire to threaten his life. He swept his staff and a fierce gust of wind brushed over Yang Guo's clothes. He shouted, "Are you going to leave?"

Valley Master Gongsun frowned and said, "Yiweng, why are you still going on about leaving?" Fan Yiweng had just received a strict order from his Master; he had no choice but to sweep out his staff towards Yang Guo's shins.

Gongsun Lu'E knew her senior apprentice brother had great martial arts; though he wasn't tall, he possessed great strength and he had learned about seventy to eighty percent of her father's skills. His steel staff had killed countless wild beasts. She thought that with Yang Guo being of a young age, he would definitely not be able to beat her apprentice brother's eighty one stances of the "Spilling Water Staff". If she waited for them to fight it would be difficult for her to save him. Though she saw her father's face was harsh as frost and filled with anger, she plucked up her courage and stood towards Yang Guo, saying, "Master Yang, staying here will do you no good, why do you want to give your life away for no reason?" Her tone was gentle, filled with compassion.

Fawang and the others looked at her, secretly surprised, thinking, "Yang Guo came to the valley with us; when did he become friends with this girl?"

Yang Guo nodded and laughed, he said, "Thank you for Miss' kindness. Do you want a beard to play with?"

Gongsun Lu'E was startled and asked, "What?"

Yang Guo said, "I'll rid him of his beard and give it to you to mess around with, how about it?"

Gongsun Lu'E lost her color in shock. She thought that he must be bored with his life; actually daring to make a joke like this. The rules of the Passionless Valley were very strict; these few words of advice to Yang Guo would result in a heavy punishment. How could she know that he would reply jokingly? Her face went red; she didn't dare to say anything else and stepped back into the line of disciples.

Fan Yiweng was a short man and was immensely proud of his beard; when he heard these mocking words from Yang Guo, he threw away his staff and rushed forward, shouting, "Little punk, I'll let you experience pain from my beard first." In the middle of his cry, his long beard swept forward.

Yang Guo laughed, "The Old Urchin didn't cut off your beard; let me have a try." He took out his scissors from his bag and cut forward towards the beard. Fan Yiweng's beard was flung forward towards his neck; it had great force behind it. Yang Guo had already moved out of the way; the opened blades of the scissors came forward, a 'ka' sound was heard as they closed.

Fan Yiweng was shocked and he quickly did a somersault to get out of the way; just one slight delay and his beard would have been cut off. This wasn't an ordinary kind of shock. The people who were watching called out quietly.

The reason Yang Guo had asked Blacksmith Feng to make this pair of scissors was so that he could use it against Li Mochou's fly whisk. Li Mochou uses her "Divine Five Poison Palm" and her fly whisk to sweep through Jianghu; her fly whisk techniques were superb. Before Yang Guo could use the scissors to neutralize her fly whisk techniques, he had to first think carefully about how to use it; how he'd need to thrust forward when the fly whisk swayed around; how he'd cut when the fly whisk came forward to attack him. How could he know that before he had the chance to use it against Li Mochou, he would actually come across a person in the Passionless Valley who uses his beard as a weapon? Yang Guo thought, "No matter how good your beard is; it can't be better than Li Mochou's fly whisk." He had no fear and pressed forward with the scissors.

Fan Yiweng had spent over ten years in training his beard technique; because he had his hands for protection, his beard was more lethal than the conventional whip or fly whisk. His head swung around and brought his beard forward; at the same time he threw out two palms towards Yang Guo.

A while go, Zhou Botong had tried to use the scissors to cut off his beard; but instead of cutting it off, the beard wrapped around the scissors, and he could only admit defeat. Everyone had seen the martial arts of Zhou Botong; everyone knew that Yang Guo could not compare to him. Who knew that in the hands of Yang Guo, the scissors swept, cut and threatened; going to and fro like it was in a dance? It was actually better than the way Zhou Botong had handled the scissors and everyone marveled. In the proficiency of martial arts and internal energy level, of course Yang Guo was miles behind Zhou Botong; but he had carefully studied the stances of Li Mochou's fly whisk and had devised scissors stances to counter them. Because the way the beard was used was similar to that of the fly whisk, the scissors were indeed effective against the beard and Yang Guo got the upper hand. Of course this was different to the unplanned and unstructured scissor techniques of Zhou Botong. But Fawang and the others did not know the reason behind it; they saw with their own eyes Zhou Botong thrusting the scissors towards him. In accordance with his character, this would be something that he would devise to cause trouble. Yang Guo was most proficient with a sword and Fawang knew this.

On many occasions, Fan Yiweng was almost injured by the scissors and as a result, he stopped looking down on Yang Guo. He changed his stance and swung his beard wildly around, striking out in all directions, attacking forward and sweeping across. This actually formed another set of stances. Yang Guo cut downwards many times but each time he caught thin air, he also felt the wind from his opponent's palms was fierce. Sometimes the beard was a decoy while the palm was real, at other times the palms lured the opponent and the beard attacked; this was a set of ingenious martial arts that the world of Wulin had never seen before.

In a short while, tens of moves were exchanged. Yang Guo thought, "The Valley Master is vicious and cruel; his martial arts would definitely be much better than this shortie; if I can't beat the disciple, how can I beat the Master?" He became slightly impatient. But Fan Yiweng's beard was thicker and longer than Li Mochou's fly whisk; as the beard spread out, there really were no weaknesses.

After a few more stances, Yang Guo concentrated on his opponent. He saw his opponent's head swinging around; he had a ludicrous appearance and his beard was getting faster and faster. His head was swinging around especially fast and suddenly he had a thought; he had found a way to break this martial art of his. Yang Guo leapt back five feet and called out, "Hold off!"

Fan Yiweng stopped his attack and said, "Since you've admitted defeat little brother, just leave!"

Yang Guo shook his head as he laughed and said, "After your beard's been cut, how long will it take to grow back?"

Fan Yiweng said, "What's it got to do with you? I've never cut my beard before."

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "Pity, pity!"

Fan Yiweng said, "Pity what?"

Yang Guo said, "In three stances I'm going to cut off your beard."

Fan Yiweng thought, "You and I have already fought for tens of stances and we're at a draw; you must be dreaming if you think you can win in just three more stances." Fan Yiweng shouted, "Watch this stance!" His right palm came chopping out.

Yang Guo slanted his left palm and smashed down with the scissors in his right hand, attacking the opponent's forehead on the left side. He was tall, when the scissors attacked his opponent's head it cut downwards. Fan Yiweng slanted his head to avoid the attack but then, Yang Guo's left palm came downwards across his forehead on the right side. There was a vicious force behind the chop; Fan Yiweng quickly moved his head to the left. The opponent's attack was fast, his reaction was also very swift and his beard followed him and swung upwards. Yang Guo's scissors had been opened and was guarding the right; a 'ka' sound was heard as the scissors cut down. He cut off over two feet of the beard.

Everyone called out and all felt shocked; they saw that he did indeed succeed in cutting off Fan Yiweng's beard in three stances.

After fighting for a long time, Yang Guo eventually found out that when Fan Yiweng's beard was flung to the left, his head would first move right; when the beard was swung upwards, his head would first hang down; he cursed himself for being so stupid, "His beard is on his head, if the beard moves, he will of course first move his head. I didn't attack the source and tangled with his beard, what an idiot." He planned his three attacks and then told him that he would cut off Fan Yiweng's beard in three stances.

Fan Yiweng was stunned as he watched the beard that he has grown for half his life floating to the floor; he felt anger and sorrow at the same time. He went up and down as he picked up his staff and then shouted angrily, "If you don't kill me, then don't dream of leaving the valley."

Yang Guo laughed, "I wasn't planning on leaving in the first place!"

Fan Yiweng swept his staff towards his waist.

Ma Guangzou had fought with Fen Yiweng previously and had been on the receiving end; right now he was feeling rather pleased and said loudly, "Old Shortie, you face wasn't the best sight in the first place; but after losing your beard, you look even weirder."

When Fan Yiweng heard this, he clenched his teeth and fought even harder.

Yang Guo only knew what his soft beard techniques were like and didn't know how strong he was; he saw the incoming staff and stuck out his scissors; a 'dang' sound was heard and his arms felt numb, the scissors had been bent out of shape.

Just one stance and the scissors were out of commission. The onlookers had seen Yang Guo gain victory but they didn't predict that the weapons would change and the battle would continue. The difference between the two could be clearly seen, one was holding an extremely long and heavy weapon while the other was holding a piece of scrap metal.

Gongsun Lu'E could not hold back anymore and called out, "Master Yang, you're not as strong as my senior apprentice brother; why continue?"

Valley Master Gongsun was beginning to get angry when he saw his daughter protecting an outsider; he glanced at her and saw her face was filled with concern. He then looked at Xiao Longnu and saw that her expression was calm, appearing like she had no concern for Yang Guo's safety whatsoever; his anger immediately turned to joy. He thought, "So she has no feelings for that punk; otherwise, how could she have no concern for him now that he's facing danger?"

He didn't know that Xiao Longnu knew that Yang Guo was ingenious and his martial arts were above those of Fan Yiweng; when the two fight, victory is certain so there was no need for her to worry.

Yang Guo threw the bent scissors on the floor and said, "Old Fan, you're not a match for me, just throw away your staff and surrender."

Fan Yiweng said angrily, "If you can beat my staff then I'll knock myself dead."

Yang Guo said, "What a pity, what a pity!"

Fan Yiweng called out, "Watch this stance!" A stance of "Pushing Down the Peak of Mount Tai" was sent out towards his head. Yang Guo dodged to the side and his left foot was placed on the head of the staff. Fan Yiweng shook his hands, flinging the staff. Yang Guo followed the staff and was forced into midair, but his left foot was still standing steadily on the staff head. Fan Yiweng shook the staff a few times but couldn't shake Yang Guo off. He was about to turn the staff when Yang Guo's right foot advanced and he was actually running towards him on the staff.

In the eyes of Fan Yiweng and the onlookers, these two stances were inconceivably strange; but in reality, it was a technique of the Ancient Tomb sect that utilizes great lightness kung fu to defeat a long and large weapon.

Years ago when Li Mochou fought Wu Santong in Jiaying, she stood on the chestnut tree that Wu Santong had used as a weapon and she couldn't be shaken off by him. Li Mochou had used this type of martial art.

Fan Yiweng was stunned and in this time, Yang Guo's left foot had advanced a step and he kicked out with his right towards his nose. Fan Yiweng was in an extremely distressing situation; the enemy was attached to his weapon. If he leapt backwards he would bring the enemy with him and would not be able to avoid that kick. His hands were holding onto the staff so he couldn't use his hands to block; his beard had been cut off and couldn't be used as defensive weapon. It was an urgent situation and he had no choice but to throw away the steel staff and leap back to avoid the kick.

A 'dang' sound was heard as one end landed on the floor. Before the other end landed as well, Yang Guo had picked it up in his hands.

Ma Guangzou, Nimoxing, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others cheered.

Yang Guo placed the staff on the floor and laughed, "What about it?"

Fan Yiweng's face went red and said, "I was careless and fell for your trick, I'm not accepting it."

Yang Guo said, "We'll go again." He threw the staff towards Fan Yiweng who stretched out his hand to catch it. However, when the staff was two feet in front of him, it suddenly swept up. Fan Yiweng clutched thin air while Yang Guo flew over and stretched out his arm, taking the staff once again. Ma Guangzou's and the others' cheers were becoming louder. Fan Yiweng's face was now purple.

Fawang and Yin Kexi looked at each other and both secretly laughed, praising Yang Guo's cleverness. Yesterday, Zhou Botong had shot out broken spearheads towards them with the force immediately taken back as soon as it shot out; after the spearheads flew out, they suddenly changed direction in midair; now Yang Guo was copying him. But there were four spearheads while there was only one staff; the staff was also heavy and to change the force was not hard; what Yang Guo had done was much easier than what Zhou Botong had done.

But Valley Master Gongsun and his disciples did not know what it was about and all were shocked.

Yang Guo laughed, "What? Do you want to go again?"

His beard had been cut and weapon taken but it was all due to cleverness; how could he admit defeat without any protest? He said loudly, "If you use real martial arts to beat me then I'll admit defeat."

Yang Guo chuckled, "In martial arts, ingenuity comes first. Your Master's mind is unclear; of course the disciples he teaches will be lacking a bit. I'll give you some advice; it's better if you go and find another Master." These words were an insult directed at Valley Master Gongsun.

Fan Yiweng thought, "My study of martial arts is lacking and I've disgraced my Master; if I really can't win then I'll commit suicide to apologize to Master." He clenched his teeth and stood up straight.

Yang Guo swept the steel staff towards him and placed it in his hands, he said, "Be careful this time; if you lose your staff again, you won't be able to blame anyone else."

Fan Yiweng did not reply. He held the end of the staff tightly with his right and thought, "You'll only be able to take away this staff if you cut off my right arm."

Yang Guo called out, "Careful!" He flung himself forward until his left hand rested on the end of the staff; the index and middle finger of his right hand went towards his opponent's eyes; at the same time, his left foot had flipped upwards and was holding down the staff's body. This was a stance from the “Dog Beating Stick Technique”, “Stealing the Staff from the Mouth of the Tiger”.

On the previous two times that Yang Guo took the staff, though everyone thought his movements were special, they all saw what happened clearly. But this time even Fan Yiweng didn’t know what was going on; he just blinked and the staff was in the hands of the opponent again. Only Jinlun Fawang with his profound martial arts knowledge and his experience of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” knew that Yang Guo had used one of the skills of this stick technique.

Ma Guangzou called out, “The ‘No Beard Long Beard’. Are you in awe now?”

Fan Yiweng called out, “He used witchcraft, and it isn’t real martial arts, why should I admit defeat?”

Yang Guo laughed, “How will you admit defeat?”

Fan Yiweng said, “Only if you use real martial arts to beat me, then I’ll admit defeat.”

Yang Guo returned the staff to him and said, “Fine, we’ll go another couple of stances.”

Fan Yiweng was extremely worried about his clever empty-handed staff snatching techniques; he thought, “No matter how much advantage I get, when he’s at a point where he can hold me off no longer he’ll suddenly use his witchcraft. It would be difficult for me to win.” So he said, “I use such a large and long weapon yet you are empty handed, even if I win you won’t take it.”

Yang Guo laughed, “You’re afraid of my “Empty Hands Entering A Hundred Blades” kung fu; fine, I’ll use a weapon.” He scoured the room and all he saw were bare walls, there wasn’t one single weapon that he could use.

However, in the courtyard there were two large willow trees; it had many branches and had emerald green leaves hanging down from it. He looked at Xiao Longnu and said, "Since you want to have Liu as a surname, I'll use a willow branch as a weapon!" He leapt into the courtyard and broke off an inch thick branch; it was about four feet long. The length and thickness was similar to the Beggar Clan's Dog Beating Stick. The branch still had its leaves which gave the weapon elegance.

Xiao Longnu's mind was fluttering all over the place; she had no plans for the future, the longer that Yang Guo was in her sight, the harder it was for her to leave him. She pondered to herself, "Though separating from Yang Guo was heartbreaking, she had a thought about this a hundred times and was able to tolerate it." Right now, he was here in person in front of her very eyes; every word of his, every action, every smile and even his anger, all of them moved and stirred her heart. She wanted to go inside and stop seeing and hearing him but how could she? She lowered her head and didn't say anything; but she was feeling as if a thousand steel knives were cutting right into her heart.

End of Chapter 17.

Chapter 18 - Valley Master Gongsun

Translated by Noodles

Gongsun Zhi was using his greatest skill "Yin Yang Wild Blades". The black sword was originally soft and yin but right now it was hacking and chopping solidly, changing into the yang and hard nature of saber play. Meanwhile, the heavy and clumsy jagged saber was now piercing and cutting, going down the road of lightness and swiftiness. The saber had become a sword, the sword had become a saber, and it really was extraordinary.

Fan Yiweng was furious when he saw Yang Guo pick a willow branch as a weapon, treating this as if it was a game and showing no respect towards him at all. He didn't know that within the softness of the willow branch there was also toughness and that he was going to use the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" with it. Though it couldn't compare with the bamboo treasure of the Beggar Clan, it was a lethal weapon that matched any precious sword or saber.

Ma Guangzuo said, "Brother Yang, just use my saber!" He took the saber out of the sheath and the blade glimmered; it really was a sharp blade.

Yang Guo saluted with his arms and laughed, "Thank you! This brother isn't a bad person; it's just a pity that he follows the wrong Master. His martial arts are poor and just a willow branch will be enough to beat him." The willow branch moved forward and attached itself to the steel staff.

Once again, Fan Yiweng heard him insult his Master; he was thinking that this time it will be a life and death battle; he was not going to hold anything back. He waved the staff around which generated noises within the air and started to use his eighty-one stances of the "Spilling Water Staff". The reason behind the name 'Spilling Water' is that no splash or spill of water can advance; the staff stances were extremely tight and unyielding.

At first, the staff was swift and powerful, but after a few stances, he felt that the staff was gradually moving towards one side. The head of the staff felt skewed and the wind generated by the staff was becoming weaker.

Yang Guo was using the “Dog Beating Stick Technique’s” ‘coil’ theory; the branch was attached to the staff head and when the staff moved to the east, the branch moved to the east; when the staff was flipped upwards, the branch followed; but at the final stage, his internal energy forced the staff to pull or push a little more in another direction and staff head moved out of the control of Fan Yiweng. This particular ‘coil’ formulae of the “Dog Beating Stick Technique” is derived from the advanced martial art theory of ‘four liang moving a thousand jin’, subtle and ingenious, this theory far exceeded the methods of ‘using force against force’ or ‘using the current to move the boat.’

The onlookers were becoming more and more surprised; they could not believe that the very young Yang Guo would possess such ingenious martial arts. They saw that Fan Yiweng’s staff was gradually becoming weaker while Yang Guo’s willow branch was becoming stronger.

Thirty stances later, Fan Yiweng’s staff was completely under the control of the willow branch; the more strength Fan Yiweng used, the more uncontrollable the staff became. In the end, he felt as if he had entered an extremely strong cyclone, making him dizzy and dazed, completely losing his bearings.

Valley Master Gongsun’s hand came down on the stone table, and called out, “Yiweng, stand down!”

The noise created was thunderous, even Yang Guo’s heart skipped a beat; he thought to himself, “I can’t let him slip away.” He then shook his arm and changed to the ‘turn’ formulae; his body froze and his wrist kept on drawing circles, turning Fan Yiweng around like a spinning top. The faster that Yang Guo turned his hands, the faster Fan Yiweng spun; the staff in his hand acted like the handle of a spinning top. Yang Guo said, "If you can stop your feet and don't fall, then you're a man. But if your master can't teach, then the disciples he teaches will trip up in battle." The willow branch lifted upwards and he leapt backwards over ten feet.

Fan Yiweng's body and mind were not under his control at this moment in time; he was stumbling, and after a few more turns, he would fall to the floor.

Valley Master Gongsun suddenly leapt up and palmed the head of the staff in midair and lightly came back down. That move he did appeared to be ordinary and light but there was a great force behind it; he had slammed the staff two feet into the floor and stopped it spinning. Fan Yiweng grabbed the staff tightly and didn't drop, but his body was stumbling and swaying as if he was drunk, his bearings lost for the time being.

Xiaoxiang Zi, Yin Kexi and the others looked at Yang Guo, and then looked at Valley Master Gongsun; they now knew that these two people were definitely not easy people to deal with. They planned to watch this great battle from the side without interfering. Ma Guangzuo was the only one who had intended to help Yang Guo; he called out, "Brother Yang, great kung fu! Shortie has lost!"

Fan Yiweng breathed in deeply and steadied himself; he turned around and suddenly knelt down before his Master. He then kowtowed four times and without saying a word, suddenly ran towards a stone pillar.

Everyone was shocked; no one had predicted that his character was so fiery that after suffering a defeat he would kill himself.

Valley Master Gongsun called out, "Oh no!" He leapt up from his table and stretched out his hand to grab his back; but they were too far apart and Fan Yiweng was very quick, the Valley Master could only grab thin air.

Fan Yiweng used all his strength in his effort to run into the pillar but suddenly he felt his forehead going into something soft. He raised his head and saw Yang Guo with his two palms out standing in front of the pillar.

He said, "Brother Weng, what is the most painful thing in the world?"

When Yang Guo saw Fan Yiweng kneeling down to his Master, he knew that he was up to something so he prepared himself. He was close to Fan Yiweng and managed to get ahead of him, keeping him from the pillar with his palms.

Fan Yiweng was stunned, he asked, "What is it?"

Yang Guo said mournfully, "I don't know myself. But the pain in my heart is ten times greater than yours yet I haven't killed myself; why are you doing this?"

Fan Yiweng said, "You've won; what pain have you got in your heart?"

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "What's so important about winning and losing in battle? I don't know how many times I've been beaten in my life. When you tried to kill yourself, your Master worried about you. If I tried to kill myself, my Master would think nothing of it; that is a deeply hurtful thing."

Fan Yiweng still did not understand. Valley Master Gongsun called out sternly, "Yiweng, if you have any more stupid thoughts then you'll be disobeying the orders of your Master. Stand to the side and watch me take care of this scum."

Fan Yiweng did not dare to disobey his Master and retreated. He stared at Yang Guo; he himself did not know what he felt towards him...anger, loathing, or respect?

When Xiao Longnu heard Yang Guo say 'If I tried to kill myself, my Master would think nothing of it'; her eyes turned red and more tears fell from them. She thought, "If you died, do you think I'd still be able to live?"

Valley Master Gongsun had kept his eye on her all along and now he suddenly saw her tears once again; he was jealous and angry. He clapped his hands three times and called out, "Catch that little rat." He looked upon himself highly, thinking that it was beneath him to fight Yang Guo. The two groups of disciples from the side responded. They stood in all directions and suddenly called out; each group of four held a fish net and they surrounded Yang Guo.

Yang Guo and Fawang arrived here with the others with Fawang being the head of the group; now that it had come to this, he should come out and make a stand on this issue; but all he did was chuckle and watched from the side.

The Valley Master did not know what Fawang was thinking and assumed that he was laughing at him for not being able to handle Yang Guo, he thought, "I'm going to show what the Passionless Valley is made out of." He again clapped three times.

The sixteen disciples crossed and changed positions, decreasing the size of the encirclement a few steps. The four nets kept on changing positions, from horizontal to vertical, from straight to bend.

Yang Guo had seen the disciples in green twice use this fish net formation to catch Zhou Botong; its variations were indeed profound and it was extremely hard to defend against. This formation and Quanzhen's "Big Dipper Formation" each had its own strong points. He thought, "The Old Urchin with his martial arts was captured by this net formation; how am I going to cope? If he just wanted to escape and he threw Ma Guangzuo and Fan Yiweng into the nets and took the opportunity to slip away, it would not suit his purpose. My intent is to stay here."

Each net was over ten feet wide and the handlers were hidden behind it; if he wanted to defeat this formation he would first have to attack the green disciples who were holding the nets. But as soon as he got too close, he would be captured by the nets. He had no way of making his move. The sixteen were pressing closer and closer. Yang Guo didn't know what to do and could only use the Ancient Tomb's lightness kung fu to dart and fly around in the hall; floating here and dashing there making it hard for the opponents to predict the direction he was heading.

He moved around in all directions but the sixteen disciples did not follow him; they just shank the encirclement step by step. Yang Guo dashed around as he searched for a way to defeat this formation. He saw that although the nets were turning around extremely swiftly, the places where they overlapped each other remained covered and didn't show a gap at all. He thought, "There's nothing I can do apart from using projectiles to hurt the handlers." He swiveled around once and there were a handful of Jade Bee needles in his hand, he waved out his left hand and shot out seven or eight Jade Bee needles at the four disciples north of him. He saw that the four of them were about to get hit when he suddenly heard light 'ding ding ding ding' sounds; the Jade Bee needles were sucked in by the net. The fish net was actually embellished with small magnets; with such a large net, no matter how powerful the enemy's projectile, it would still be blocked by the net. The Jade Bee needle was seventy percent gold, thirty percent steel; because of this thirty percent, the Jade Bee needles were attracted by the net's magnets.

Yang Guo thought that this strike would succeed; how would he know that this net actually had so many clever uses? He quickly looked at the Valley Master and knew that it would be of no use to fire out any more projectiles. His right hand went into his pockets and put the needles away. He was just about to think of another way to break the formation when the net from the east side came closer. The leader of the four handlers whistled, a gold light flashed across his eyes as the net came over his right shoulder. Yang Guo darted back and was about to escape to the north west when the nets from the north and west side pressed forwards.

Yang Guo cursed, "It's over...it's over! I wonder what torture I'll endure after falling into the hands of this Valley Master." Suddenly he heard one of the handlers of the southern net call out, "Oh no!" Yang Guo turned his head and saw that Gongsun Lu'E had fallen onto the floor; one of the corners of the net was hanging down loosely.

This was the only route out of the formation; Yang Guo didn't give it another thought and darted out of the encirclement. He saw Gongsun Lu'E had fallen onto the floor calling out in pain but she was signaling with her eyes to leave the valley at once.

Yang Guo thought to himself, "I'm really touched by her kindness. But if I leave the valley, Gu Gu would definitely be forced into marrying that old Valley Master. I don't care if I get captured and suffer the pain of a thousand knives, I'll never leave." He stood in the corner of the room and looked at Xiao Longnu thinking, "I've just experienced great danger yet you still have no reaction?" He saw that Xiao Longnu was still hanging her head and keeping quiet.

The Valley Master clapped his hands twice and the nets suddenly dispersed. He turned to Gongsun Lu'E and said coldly, "What's wrong with you?"

Gongsun Lu'E said, "My leg suddenly had in a painful cramp."

Valley Master Gongsun suspected that his daughter had fallen in love with Yang Guo and as a result gave him an escape route at such a critical moment. But because there were outsiders here it wasn't appropriate for him to break out in a rage, he laughed coldly and said, "Fine, stand down. Shi Si'er will take her position."

Gongsun Lu'E lowered her head and stood down. A youngster in green responded and stepped forward. This person was only fourteen or fifteen years of age and had their hair tied in two plaits.

Gongsun Lu'E glanced at Yang Guo with grieving in her eyes. Yang Guo felt apologetic and said to himself, "I'm afraid that I won't be able to repay her kindness and compassion in this life."

Valley Master Gongsun clapped his hands four times and suddenly the sixteen disciples retreated. Yang Guo was shocked, thinking, "Could it be that you admit defeat?" Just as he was wondering about this, he turned his head and saw Gongsun Lu'E had a fearful expression on her face; she kept on signaling to him with her eyes to leave the valley. From her appearance, it appeared that he was going to face something extremely dangerous. Yang Guo smiled; instead of running away, he pulled a chair over and sat down. There was a light ringing noise in the inner halls and the sixteen disciples came out again, their hands still holding fish nets.

Everyone's expression changed as soon as they saw the nets; the fish nets had been changed and now it were full of hooks and blades that glimmered. They were extremely sharp; whoever gets caught in the net would be pierced all over and would have no hope of surviving.

Ma Guangzuo called out, "Hey, Valley Master, do you want to lose face? How can you use such an evil thing to treat your guests?"

Valley Master Gongsun pointed to Yang Guo and said, "I don't want to hurt you. I've warned you many times to leave the valley but you chose to stay here and stir up trouble. This is your final warning, leave quickly."

Even someone with Ma Guangzuo's courage shivered at the sight of the nets; when he heard the hooks and knives colliding with each other, he was even more afraid. He stood up and pulled Yang Guo's hand, "Brother Yang, it would be better for us to leave than face this evil thing; why do you insist on quarrelling with him?"

Yang Guo looked at Xiao Longnu waiting to see her response.

As soon as Xiao Longnu saw the Valley Master summon out blade and hook laced nets, she had prepared for death. As soon as Yang Guo gets caught in the nets she would throw herself on them. They would die together in each others arms. When she thought about this, she felt peace in her heart, thinking that all the world's pain and suffering will be gone in a flash. Her lips couldn't stop themselves from showing a smile.

How would Yang Guo know what she was feeling at this time? He thought about how he was about to face a great danger yet she could still smile; his heart was in pain, even more deeply than before. In the midst of these feelings of hurt, sorrow, indignation, and approaching danger, he suddenly had an idea and didn't continue on with these thoughts. He went over to Xiao Longnu and bowed lightly. He said, "Gu Gu, Guo'er is in danger today; I would like to borrow your silk belt and silk gloves."

Xiao Longnu was only thinking about the joy of dying with him and nothing else; when she heard these words she immediately took out a pair of silk gloves and a silk belt to give to him.

Yang Guo received them slowly and stared at her, he said, "You're acknowledging who I am now?"

Xiao Longnu was filled with love and smiled, "My heart acknowledged you long ago!"

Yang Guo's spirits were greatly lifted and he quivered, "You've decided to leave with me and not marry that Valley Master?"

Xiao Longnu smiled and nodded, "I've decided to go with you, and of course I won't marry anyone else. Guo'er; naturally that makes me your wife'."

When she said 'go with you', she was talking about dieing with Yang Guo. Yang Guo didn't understand so of course the others would not either; but her words of 'naturally that makes me your wife' couldn't be clearer. Valley Master Gongsun's face went white and he hurried the disciples in green to make their move. The sixteen disciples set the nets in motion and moved around.

After hearing these words of Xiao Longnu's, Yang Guo felt as if he was bought back to life from death; his courage and valor soared; even if he were facing greater dangers he wouldn't care. He put on the impregnable silk gloves and held the silk belt in his right hand. The silk belt was sent out with its ringing noises like a white snake.

At the end of the silk belt was a gold bell, the belt extended and retracted once, the bell had struck the 'Concealed Valley' pressure point of one of the disciples in the southern position and on its way back it struck the 'Crooked Pond' pressure point of one of the disciples in the eastern position. The 'Concealed Valley' pressure point is found on the knee, the person could not stay upright and knelt on the floor; the 'Crooked Pond' pressure point is found on the elbow area, as soon it was struck, the person's arm became numb and limp, the fish net slipped out of their hands.

After those two pre-emptive attacks, the fish net formation immediately broke up. The four disciples in the west were shocked and when they attacked they were slightly slow; Yang Guo's gold bell turned towards them and after another two strikes, another two disciples had their pressure points struck. But at this time, the net from the north was thrown over his head. The knives and hooks were half a foot away from his head; he couldn't use the silk belt to deal with them.

Yang Guo's left hand turned upwards and grabbed the fish net; he used its force and flung it away. Although he grabbed hooks and daggers, his hands were covered by the silk gloves and were completely protected. The net was now heading back towards the four disciples in green.

When these disciples practiced this net formation, the only thing they were afraid of was the enemy slipping through the net; they concentrated on keeping it tight and unyielding. The thought of the net returning over them had never entered their minds. They watched as the glittering knives and hooks came towards their heads; they knew exactly how powerful the net was and called out in alarm as they let go and leapt away. The youngster who replaced Gongsun Lu'E was weaker than the rest; a dagger eventually pierced his thigh, blood poured and he fell down, crying out in pain on the floor.

Yang Guo laughed, "Little brother, don't be scared, I'm not going to hurt you." His left hand flipped the net away and his right moved the silk belt. Sounds of 'qiang lang lang' and 'ding ling ling' were heard as the hooks and daggers collided with each other with the golden bell ringing. The sounds were extremely crisp. After this, none of the disciples dared to come forward and stood far away by the wall. But because they hadn't received the order to back down by their master, they didn't dare admit defeat and run away. Though they didn't admit defeat, they had already lost.

Ma Guangzuo clapped and cheered for a while but because he was the only one, he felt a bit lonely and glanced over to Fawang saying, "Hey monk, aren't brother Yang Guo's martial arts great? Why aren't you cheering?"

Fawang laughed and said, "His skills are great, extremely good but there's no need to call out like that."

Ma Guangzuo asked, "Why?"

Fawang saw that the Valley Master was frowning and was now making his way towards the centre of the hall slowly. Fawang concentrated on him and ignored Ma Guangzuo.

When Valley Master Gongsun heard Xiao Longnu say, 'naturally that makes me your wife', he knew that his sweet dream of the past two weeks had come to an end; though he was disappointed and angry, he thought, "Even if I can't have your heart I'm going to have you. I'll kill that bastard in one palm and I don't care what your feelings towards me will be, after a time, your heart will eventually return to me."

Yang Guo saw that his eyebrows were rising higher and higher to a point where his brows and eyes looked like they were standing straight up; he didn't know what school of martial arts this was from and became slightly afraid. His right hand lifted the silk belt and his left clutched the net, he was completely prepared. He knew that this battle would decide the life and death of he and Xiao Longnu; he didn't dare to allow one strand of carelessness in his actions.

Valley Master Gongsun circled around Yang Guo slowly. Yang Guo too turned around slowly on the floor; he didn't dare to gaze away from him. He saw that he was still delaying making his move and knew that when he attacked, it will be extremely swift and vicious. All he saw was him raising his hands, leveling them three times in front of him and then his hands came together. The sound generated was as if gold and iron had collided. Yang Guo's heart skipped a beat and he moved back a step. Valley Master Gongsun suddenly stretched out his right arm and grabbed the fish net, pulling it away to one side. Yang Guo felt that his pull had great force behind it; his fingers ached and he could only let go. Valley Master Gongsun threw the net to the four disciples and shouted, "Stand down!"

After having the net snatched away, Yang Guo didn't allow him to make the first move again. The silk belt shot out and the gold bell shook, attacking the opponent's 'Large Bone' and 'Celestial Tripod' pressure points on the shoulder and neck.

Valley Master Gongsun's chest was open with his arms stretched out to the side but Yang Guo didn't dare to attack the major pressure points on his chest rashly. He first attacked the smaller pressure points on his body to test him out.

Valley Master Gongsun's martial arts were actually from a different school of martial arts; he ignored the pressure point attacks of the bell and stretched out his right arm to grab Yang Guo's arm. A 'ding ding' sound was heard as the 'Large Bone' and 'Celestial Tripod' pressure points were struck but he didn't feel it. A 'hu' sound was heard as the grab turned into a palm, striking towards Yang Guo's chest on the left side.

Yang Guo was alarmed and quickly leaned his body to the side. Luckily for him, his lightness kung fu was excellent and he avoided this sudden palm from his opponent.

Yang Guo had once heard the great fighters of Wulin, Ouyang Feng, Hong Qigong and Huang Yaoshi talk about martial arts, and knew that when someone has reached advanced levels of internal energy that, at the time the opponent strikes their pressure points, they were able to seal off themselves and negate the attack. But they will still show some effects of their pressure points being attacked. Ouyang Feng's martial arts could lead to reversal of the veins and the major pressure points over one's body to change position. When someone sees his legs above his head, they would be able to tell immediately.

But the enemy he is facing now actually made no response to his pressure points being struck; it was as if he didn't have any pressure points on his body. This type of martial arts is rarely seen or heard of; he couldn't stop some fear from creeping into his heart. He saw his palms had turned over and there seemed to be black air within the palms. While it was coming towards him the wind was forceful and pressing, he didn't dare to receive it head on. He used the silk belt to tangle with him while his left hand protected the vital areas of his body.

Soon, they had exchanged over ten stances. Yang Guo had put all his concentration into fighting him. Suddenly he saw the left palm of his opponent coming lightly towards his chest; it appeared to be a soft palm but it was the opposite; it was actually a palm from the same set of palm skills as Wanyan Ping's "Iron Palm". He quickly leaped away a couple of feet.

When the Valley Master's palm met thin air, he didn't take it back and the palm kept on going forward another two feet; he moved quickly and the palm was now in front of Yang Guo. Normally, when a person fires out a punch or sends out a palm, the strength originates from the arm. They would pull back their arm and send out the attack; but the attack Valley Master had just used now originated from his body. His hand and palm didn't move; he was actually using the force from his body to attack the opponent. Although the force from the body is greater than that from the arm, using it to send out a palm or punch will result in slower attacks; but Valley Master Gongsun's palm was both fierce and swift.

Yang Guo wanted to lean his body to the side to avoid the palm but there was no time, he could only send out his left palm and meet it head on. A 'pai' sound was generated as the palms collided; Yang Guo was jolted back three steps while the Valley Master stood his ground with his body swaying a little.

Standing there without moving, the Valley Master appeared to have the upper hand; but in actual fact the power from Yang Guo's palm had caused a throbbing pain in the side of his body; he was extremely shocked. "I'd used all my power behind that "Iron Palm", but that punk was still actually able to receive it. If we carry on like this I may not be able to kill him. If we fight to a draw, I won't be able to say anything." He clapped his hands twice; the sounds were ear piercingly loud. He said, "The one named Yang, I have been merciful in that palm, do you know that?"

If this were a normal martial arts duel, and if Yang Guo continued fighting, he would definitely lose. When the Valley Master said these words he should have admitted that his martial arts were weaker; but today he knew that the opponent would never allow him and Xiao Longnu to leave in peace. He had no other option but to engage in a fight to the death. Yang Guo still had his ridiculing and derisory nature towards his opponents and Xiao Longnu had returned to him now; his heart was overflowing with joy. He laughed and said, "If you kill me, how can my Gu Gu marry you? If you don't kill me, my Gu Gu still would not marry you. What mercy is there? It's just that you couldn't do anything to me!"

Yang Guo was too kind in his surmising of his opponent's thoughts. The Valley Master would love nothing more than to kill him in one stroke to avoid him causing any problems in the future. Even if it caused Xiao Longnu to hate and loathe him, he couldn't have cared less; he couldn't do anything to Yang Guo because his palms couldn't do anything to him. He turned towards his daughter and said, "Take out my weapons."

Gongsun Lu'E delayed and didn't reply.

Valley Master Gongsun shouted, "Didn't you hear?"

Gongsun Lu'E went pale and could only reply, "Yes!" She then left for the inner halls.

Yang Guo looked at the expression of the two and thought, "I couldn't cope when he was empty handed; now that he's going to use some weird weapon, what chance have I got? If we don't leave now, when should we leave?" He went over to Xiao Longnu and stretched out his hand, softly saying, "Gu Gu, let's leave!"

Valley Master Gongsun gathered energy in his hands; as soon as Xiao Longnu stands and takes Yang Guo's hand, he'll immediately throw himself forward and attack Yang Guo's spine viciously with the "Iron Palm". He made his decision and thought, "I don't care if sister Liu hates me; I'm going to kill that punk. If sister Liu leaves with him, what joy will I have left for the next half of my life?"

But Xiao Longnu did not stand up, just saying calmly, "Of course I'll go with you. But the Valley Master did save my life; we need to explain everything to him and ask for his forgiveness."

Yang Guo was flustered and thought, "Gu Gu doesn't know anything. Do you think he's going to forgive us just like that because you've explained everything to him?"

Then he heard Xiao Longnu ask him, "Guo'er, have you been well over the last couple of days?" She said these words with great compassion and love.

When Yang Guo heard these gentle, loving words and saw her affectionate expression, he felt that if even the sky was falling down on him he wouldn't care. How could he still be thinking about trying to escape? He said, "Gu Gu, you're not angry with me?"

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "Why should I be angry with you? I've never been angry with you. Turn around." Yang Guo listened to her and turned around but didn't know what she wanted to do.

Xiao Longnu took out a little bag with string and needles in them. She threaded the needle and measured the hole that Fan Yiweng had torn on the back of his garment. She sighed and said, "Over these past few days I've wanted to make a new gown for you; but when I thought about how I'll never see you again, I thought 'what's the point?' I could never have dreamed that you would find your way here." The pain and grief in her words turned to joy and delight as she said this. She picked up a pair of small scissors and cut a piece of fabric from the corner of her gown. She slowly helped him repair his garment.

When the two lived in the tomb, whenever Yang Guo's clothes were torn or ripped, Xiao Longnu would call him over and help him repair them just like this. Over the years, this happened countless times. The two of them did not care about life and death anymore; though they were under the stares of many people in the hall, the two of them acted as if no one was there and did as they used to when they lived with each other in the ancient tomb.

Yang Guo was filled with boundless joy and hot tears rolled down from his eyes, he choked, "Gu Gu, just now I made you throw up blood, I... it was my fault."

Xiao Longnu smiled, "It's not your fault. You know I had this kind of illness long ago. I haven't seen you for a few days and your martial arts have advanced so much. You threw up blood as well just now, are you alright?"

Yang Guo laughed, "It's nothing. I've got more than enough blood to spare."

Xiao Longnu smiled, "You love to talk nonsense."

Though the words of the two were ordinary and plain, everyone could hear the love that the two had for each other and that the two had an extremely deep relationship.

Fawang and the others looked at each other. Valley Master Gongsun was shocked and jealous; he stood there stunned not knowing what to do.

Yang Guo said, "I've met some interesting people over the last few days. Gu Gu, guess where I got my pair of large scissors from?"

Xiao Longnu said, "I was wondering about that; it's like you knew that there was a long bearded old man here long ago, so you prepared a large pair of scissors to cut off his beard. You really are naughty; he's taken years to grow that beard and you cut it off just like that, isn't it a pity?" She gave a laugh as her bright eyes sparkled; her appearance was enchanting.

Valley Master could not endure this any longer; he stretched out his hand towards Yang Guo's chest and shouted, "Bastard, you're too disrespectful."

Yang Guo didn't block it and said, "There's no need to rush, I'll continue the fight once Gu Gu finishes repairing my garment."

Valley Master Gongsun's fingers were just a few inches away from his chest; he had the status of being a Master and even though he was furious, it would be inappropriate for him to attack him like this. Suddenly he heard Gongsun Lu'E call out from behind, "Father, the weapons are here." He didn't turn around as he moved backwards a few feet and took the weapons.

His left hand held a thick and wide jagged saber; the blade glittered with gold light and it appeared to be produced from gold; his right hand was holding a fine and long black sword and it shook a little in his hands displaying the softness of the blade. The edges of the blade emitted a blue light and it was extremely sharp. The two weapons were the opposite of each other; one was heavy and hard, the other light and soft.

Yang Guo just took one look at the strange weapons before continuing "Gu Gu, a few days ago I met a woman; she told me who my father's murderer was."

Xiao Longnu's heart trembled and asked, "Who is it?"

Yang Guo bit down on his teeth and said with hatred, "You could never have guessed who they were, and all along I've been thinking that they've been treating me extremely well."

Xiao Longnu said, "They? They've been treating you extremely well?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes, They are..." A clear buzzing sound that resonated without stop was heard; it was Valley Master Gongsun's black sword colliding with his golden saber. His wrist turned and three consecutive swings that sliced through the air were unleashed; one aimed towards Yang Guo's head, one aimed at the left side of Yang Guo's neck and other at the right side of Yang Guo's neck. They all passed within half an inch of his flesh. The Valley Master was looking after his status; since the enemy did not make a move to block these attacks he couldn't land them; but the accuracy of these attacks was unnerving.

Xiao Longnu said, "I've finished!" She patted him on the back.

Yang Guo turned around and smiled. He then made his way towards the centre of the hall with the silk belt.

Valley Master Gongsun's "Yin Yang Twin Blades", "Fish Net Formation" and "Closure of Pressure Points" were all passed down from his ancestors. But because they have lived in the valley in seclusion for all these years and haven't made any contact with outsiders for hundreds of years, these three extraordinary martial arts were unknown to the outside world. Another reason for its seclusion was that there were great weaknesses within all three sets of these martial arts. If a skilled martial artist discovers the weakness, the user would not be able to avoid death. His ancestors had passed down a strict rule; members of the valley were forbidden to go out and get involved in Jianghu affairs for this reason. Over twenty years ago, Valley Master Gongsun also learned martial arts of the Iron Palm School. Although the person who taught him wasn't some extraordinary martial artist, their knowledge was vast. Their thoughts were careful and attentive; this person helped him cover up numerous holes in his family's martial arts. In particular, a lot of changes were made to the stances of the "Yin Yang Twin Blades". This person said to him, "This set of saber and sword technique is now greatly improved; even if you're opponent is extremely clever, they will not be able to see through the trappings of this technique within fifty stances. But once your saber and sword is unleashed, how can your opponent withstand fifty stances of it?"

When he saw Yang Guo motioning the silk belt to battle him, he called out, "Watch out for the sword!" The black sword quivered and it pierced towards Yang Guo's chest; but the sword did not go straight towards his chest; instead it circled around in front of him. Yang Guo did not know where the sword was aiming and in shock, he leapt backwards.

Valley Master Gongsun's attacks were extremely fast; when Yang Guo leapt back, the circles of the sword were thrust towards him. The circles were becoming bigger and bigger; at first it only circled around the chest area, but afterwards it covered the lower abdomen, and after a few more stances the encirclement gradually reached his neck. All the vital points between the neck and the lower abdomen of Yang Guo were covered by the sword tip. Fawang, Yin Kexi, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others has never seen such a swordplay where circling of the sword is used to press the opponent; they were shocked.

As soon as Valley Master Gongsun unleashed a stance, Yang Guo would immediately dart away; he drew ten circles with his sword and each time, Yang Guo backed away and had no way to attack. Yang Guo saw that the enemy's swords stances were becoming swifter and more intense while the jagged saber in his left hand had still to be unleashed; when he actually uses it he would probably have no chance at all. There wasn't time for any more thoughts and he leapt to the left while motioning the silk belt; a ringing 'ding ling ling' and the gold bell went flying towards the opponent's left eye. Valley Master Gongsun slanted his head to dodge the attack and stopped his attack. Yang Guo was delighted, he quickly motioned the silk belt and wrapped it around his right leg; he was about to pull backwards when Valley Master Gongsun's sword drew downwards and slashed the belt in two; the black sword was actually an extremely sharp weapon.

Everyone gave an 'ah' sound just in time to hear the gust of a fierce wind; Valley Master Gongsun had chopped down with his jagged saber towards Yang Guo. Yang Guo rolled on the floor. A 'dang' sound was heard which echoed throughout the room; Yang Guo had actually picked up Fan Yiweng's steel staff to block the attack and the saber collided with it; both of their arms trembled and were slightly numb. Valley Master Gongsun was shocked, "This punk really is good; he is actually able to receive ten of my stances." The saber chopped across and the sword pierced diagonally. A saber should take ferociousness and hardness as its aim, a sword swiftness and lightness; the two weapons were complete opposites. To use both a saber and sword at the same time is impossible; but Valley Master Gongsun's attacks were becoming more and more pressing and the sword and saber techniques were both clearly distinguished. There was softness and hardness, yin and yang; this really was a rarely seen great skill of the Wulin world.

Yang Guo gave out a call and waved the steel staff; he used the "Dog Beating Stick Technique's" 'seal' formula, guarding his body tightly. Valley Master Gongsun wasn't actually able to attack him with his twin blades as he did this. But the "Dog Beating Stick Technique" has subtlety and variation as its main aim; a light and fine bamboo stick can be used as pleased, but the heavy and long staff in his hand cannot. After a few more stances, he felt that variation of the stances gradually became ineffective.

Valley Master Gongsun suddenly found a weakness; the gold saber lifted up and the black sword drew down; a 'ka' sound was heard as the black sword cut the steel staff in half.

Yang Guo called out, "What luck! Just when I was thinking that this staff is too heavy!" A great increase in the effectiveness of the stances could be seen when Yang Guo continued using this slashed half staff.

Valley Master Gongsun gave a 'huh' grunt and said, "We'll see whether it's lucky or not." The saber in his left hand chopped forward.

The saber slashed down towards Yang Guo's head. This stance was rather slow and sluggish, all Yang Guo had to do was to slant his body to the side a little and he would be able to avoid it easily; however, the circles from the black sword were covering all his paths leaving him with no way to escape. Yang Guo could only raise his broken staff and use a stance of "Lifting the Sky with One Hand" to meet this stance head on. A loud 'dang' sound was heard as the two weapons collided; sparks flew everywhere as Yang Guo felt his arms go numb. Valley Master Gongsun continued the attack; he used the same stance as before. Yang Guo was knowledgeable in martial arts and he was extremely quick witted in battle yet he wasn't actually able to neutralize such a clumsy stance; there was no other choice for him but to meet this stance in the same way again. Yang Guo's arms ached even more after this second collision; he knew that if this continued, the tendons in his arm would suffer great damage. Before he finished his thoughts, the Valley Master had sent down a third chop. After a few more chops, the saber had hacked a groove on the staff and the joints in Yang Guo's right hand started to bleed.

Valley Master Gongsun saw that even in the face of danger Yang Guo still carried his smile; the saber in his left hand chopped down and he thrust the black sword suddenly towards his lower abdomen. Yang Guo had been forced back into the corner of the hall; when he saw the sword tip coming he stretched out his hand to block it. When the sword arrived at his palm, the blade bent in an arc and flicked away. Xiao Longnu's silk gloves were very tough, even though the black sword was extremely sharp, it still couldn't harm him.

Yang Guo knew that with the gloves he would not have to fear the black sword; he turned his palm around and suddenly stretched out his hand to grab the sword, wanting to do the same thing as Xiao Longnu did when she snapped Hao Datong's sword. But he didn't know that Valley Master Gongsun would flick his wrist lightly and curve his sword around his hand, piercing him in the forearm; blood flowed out of the wound.

Yang Guo was shocked and quickly leapt back. Valley Master Gongsun did not continue the attack and instead chuckled a few times before slowly advancing again. If Valley Master Gongsun had either the jagged saber or black sword only, Yang Guo would definitely have a way to defend against him; but as the soft and hard blades were used simultaneously against him, he was forced on the back foot, struggling against the attacks.

Fawang, Yin Kexi, Xiaoxiang Zi and Nimoxing were all thinking, "The Valley Master's "Yin Yang Twin Blades" is extremely swift, powerful and vicious; but at the same time, that kid is pretty clever, thinking of so many ways to avoid all these vicious stances."

Valley Master Gongsun chopped with his saber and thrust with his sword; Yang Guo was struck in the shoulder and blood trickled over his gown. Valley Master Gongsun said in a deep voice, "Are you in awe of me yet?"

Yang Guo smiled and said, "You came into battle with me having a huge advantage, and here you opening your mouth asking whether I'm in awe of you or not. Ha-ha, Valley Master Gongsun, how come you don't save face?"

The Valley Master took in his sword and saber and then asked, "Please tell me what advantage I have?"

Yang Guo said, "You're using customized weapons; one is a strange saber the other is an extraordinary sword; even if I searched all over the world I'm afraid that I wouldn't be able to find such weapons, isn't that true?"

The Valley Master replied, "So what? Your gloves and silk belt aren't ordinary either."

Yang Guo threw the broken staff onto the floor and laughed, "This belongs to your bearded disciple." He took off the gloves and picked up the two pieces of silk belt. Yang Guo threw them over to Xiao Longnu and said, "These belong to my Gu Gu." He cleaned off the dust on his body not taking any notice of the bleeding wounds that he had; he laughed, "I came to your valley empty handed; what ill intent did I have? If you want to kill me then kill; why must you talk so much?"

Valley Master Gongsun saw that he had a leisurely air about him; his face and eyes were elegant and handsome and even with all those wounds on him, he talked and laughed at ease as if nothing had happened. He couldn't help but feel inferior to him and thought, "I cannot compare with this person; if I let him live, sister Liu's heart will remain his." So he said, "Fine!" He thrust the sword forwards towards his chest.

Yang Guo had already decided, "Since I can't beat him then I'll let him kill me." When he saw the sword coming towards him, he ignored it and instead looked over at Xiao Longnu, thinking, "I will die happy with Gu Gu in my eyes." He saw Xiao Longnu's face carrying a sweet smile and getting closer step by step; their eyes were locked on each other, both of them ignoring the black sword of Valley Master Gongsun.

Valley Master Gongsun had not met Yang Guo before, what feud has he got with him? The only reason he's trying to kill him is because of Xiao Longnu, so when he sent out this sword, he couldn't help but glance over at Xiao Longnu. When he saw her, his heart immediately filled with jealousy; he saw her staring at Yang Guo lovingly, and when he looked over at Yang Guo, he was doing the exact same thing toward her. The black sword had reached Yang Guo and all that was needed was a bit of force from his arms and it would pierce into Yang Guo's chest; but there was no fear or concern on Xiao Longnu's face. Yang Guo also made no attempt to block this attack; the two of them stared madly at each other, their thoughts were one, they had long forgotten about life and death.

Valley Master Gongsun broke out in a great rage, thinking to himself, "If I kill him now, sister Liu will immediately kill herself because of her love for him. I need to think of a way to force her to marry me; once I've bedded her there'll be plenty of time to kill that punk." He called out, "Sister Liu, do you want me to kill him or spare him?"

When Xiao Longnu was staring at Yang Guo, she had not thought about Valley Master Gongsun; only after hearing this sudden call did she wake up and said alarmed, "Move the sword away; why are you pointing your sword at his chest?"

Valley Master Gongsun chuckled, "It's not difficult to stop the sword. If you want him to live, just tell him to leave the valley immediately and let us get married."

Before Yang Guo came, she had decided to never see him again; she didn't care if she would live the rest of her life in grief and pain. All she hoped for was that he would be safe and happy; but now that they've reunited, how could she still agree to marry the Valley Master? For the past few days, she knew that she couldn't carry out the decision that she had made and would rather die than marry someone else; so she turned her head to the Valley Master and said, "Mr. Gongsun, thank you for saving my life. But I cannot marry you."

The Valley Master knew the reasons but still asked, "Why?"

Xiao Longnu stood with Yang Guo and held his arm, smiling; "I have decided to marry him and spend the rest of my life with him, could you not tell?"

The Valley Master shook his head a few times and then said, "If you hadn't promised me that day, why would I do this and try to force you? You promised with your own lips that it was what you wanted."

Xiao Longnu said, "That is correct, but I cannot give him up. We need to go now, please forgive us." She pulled Yang Guo's hand and headed for the door.

Valley Master Gongsun quickly moved to block the exit and hissed, "The only way you'll leave the valley is over my dead body."

Xiao Longnu said, "I'm indebted to you for saving my life; how can I try to harm you? Anyway, your martial arts are too strong for me." As she talked, she tore off a piece of fabric from her gown and helped Yang Guo tie up his wounds.

Jinlun Fawang suddenly said loudly, "Valley Master Gongsun, you better let them leave."

The Valley Master gave a 'huh' grunt, his face was serious and he didn't reply.

Fawang continued, "If those two joined up with their swords, how would your gold saber and black sword be able to handle them? Just do them a favour and let them go.”

He'd suffered the greatest humiliation in his life after losing to Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu's "Pure Heart of Jade Maiden Sword"; ever since then, he'd been thinking of a way to defeat this swordplay but was unable to. Now he had seen how powerful the yin yang blades of the Valley Master were; it wasn't below the martial arts of his golden wheel. So he came out with these words to anger him, hoping to make the three go into battle. Firstly, he could get a chance to take a look at Yang Guo's and Xiao Longnu's swordplay again and look for its weakness so he can avenge this defeat. Secondly, he hoped that the three would destroy each other.

In actual fact, if Fawang hadn't come out with these words to anger the Valley Master, he would never agree to let Xiao Longnu leave the valley with Yang Guo. He stared angrily at Fawang and thought, "You dare to say such words in front of my face? I haven't got time for you now, but I'll remember this for the future." He turned his head towards Xiao Longnu and clenched his teeth as he thought, "Your heart doesn't belong to me but your body will. You won't agree to marry me when you're alive, then I'm still going to marry you even when you're dead." At first he had planned to use Yang Guo's life to force Xiao Longnu to submit to him; but when he saw that the two weren't afraid of death, he thought that even if they die together, he wouldn't let them out of the valley. His eyebrows rose again and an air of death gradually showed up on his face.

He suddenly heard Ma Guangzuo call out, "Hey, old man Gongsun, she said that she doesn't want to marry you; why are you still blocking her way? Don't you want to save face?"

Xiaoxiang Zi said eerily, "Don't talk rubbish brother Ma. Valley Master Gongsun has already set up a feast today and has invited us to join in the celebrations."

Ma Guangzuo said loudly, "All he's got is water and vegetables; what's so great about that? If I were that girl I would never marry him. With her beauty, she can be the empress. Why should she stay with this cruel and evil old man for the rest of her life, eating nothing but green vegetables and tofu? Even if one didn't get annoyed to death, they'd be bored to death."

Xiao Longnu turned her head and said gently, "Master Ma, Mr. Gongsun saved my life and I'm indebted to him, I... I... I'll always be grateful for his kindness."

Ma Guangzuo called out, "Fine, old man Gongsun, if you want to show that you're a kind and benevolent person then why don't you let the two of them marry and consummate the marriage today. If you saved a girl because you wanted to bed her, then doesn't that put you in the same class as those raping lowlife bandits?" He was a straightforward man and says what comes into his mind; his words were all hard on the ears but they were hard to refute.

Valley Master Gongsun's intent to kill was stirred; he decided that he'll take care of all the outsiders in one go. He didn't make a move and said dryly, "My Passionless Valley may not be some extraordinary place; but if everyone here comes and goes as they please, then the one named Gongsun may appear to be a bit too humble in the eyes of others. Miss Liu..."

Xiao Longnu showed a smile and said, "I lied to you when I said my surname is Liu; my surname is Long. I named myself Liu because he's named Yang."

Valley Master Gongsun felt even more jealous; he could only pretend that he didn't hear those words and said, "Miss Liu, this..."

Before he finished Ma Guangzuo interrupted, "This girl is named Long, why are you calling her Miss Liu?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Mr. Gongsun is used to calling me that; the blame is on me for lying to him in the first place, he can call me whatever he likes."

Valley Master Gongsun ignored these words and continued, "Miss Liu, all the one named Yang has to do is beat my "Yin Yang Twin Blades" and I'll allow him to leave the valley safely. Our personal affairs will be severed of their own accord; it'll have nothing to do with other people." After all this, he still wanted to rely on his martial arts to force Xiao Longnu to stay.

Xiao Longnu sighed and said, "Mr. Gongsun, I did not want to fight you, but he can't beat you on his own, I must help him."

Valley Master Gongsun's eyebrows became a straight line; he said, "Aren't you afraid of what happened before; you throwing up blood? It'll happen again."

Xiao Longnu felt great remorse towards Valley Master Gongsun and said, "We haven't any weapons; if we fight you empty handed, then we'll definitely lose. You're a great and generous man; just let us go."

Jinlun Fawang interrupted, "Valley Master Gongsun, you've got everything here in this valley, don't tell me you haven't even got two swords? But I'd better warn you first; once those two join up together, your life will be endangered."

Valley Master Gongsun pointed to the western path and said, "The third room over there is the sword room; just pick whatever weapon you want. But I'm afraid even these guests may not have the kind of weapons that I've hidden away." He then laughed coldly.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu looked at each other and both thought, "I will die willingly if we're able to spend time alone with each other away from other people before then." They held each other's hand and headed west, leaving through the side door. They passed two rooms and arrived at the third.

Xiao Longnu's eyes never left Yang Guo's face; when she saw the doors were closed she didn't give it any thought and pushed it open; she was just about to step into the room when Yang Guo suddenly thought of something and urgently pulled her back, he said, "Careful."

Xiao Longnu said, "Of what?"

Yang Guo's kept his left foot outside the room and placed his right foot into the room, quickly touching the floor before taking it back outside. Nothing happened.

Xiao Longnu said, "You're afraid that the Valley Master would leave a trap for us? He's a very kind person; he would never do such a thing..." As soon as she finished saying this, a sudden 'chi chi' sound was heard; there was a flash of light in front of them as eight sharp swords shot out all around the door frame, crossing over horizontally and vertically. If someone had stepped into the room at that time, even if your martial arts were supremely high, getting your body pierced several times over by the swords would be difficult to avoid.

Xiao Longnu let out a deep breath and said, "Guo'er, this Valley Master is so evil; I've really judged him wrongly. We don't need to fight him; let's just leave."

Suddenly someone said from behind, "Our master invites you inside to pick a sword."

The two turned around and saw eight disciples with a fish net blocking their way. The Valley Master was wary of the two escaping together so he sent these disciples to cut off their escape routes. Xiao Longnu's silk belt had been cut in half by the black sword; she was now unable to use it to strike their pressure points from faraway as Yang Guo did before.

Xiao Longnu said to Yang Guo, "What other traps has this room got?"

Yang Guo held her hands and said, "Gu Gu, we're reunited now, what other worries have you got? Even if we get pierced by ten thousand swords it wouldn't matter; we'll see each other again in death." Xiao Longnu's heart too was overflowing with love. The two entered the sword room together.

The wall, tables, shelves and cupboards were all lined up with sharp weapons of various shapes; there were antique swords, some that had seven foot long blades and others that were quite short. There were iron and steel ones; a few had an overpowering glow. The two's eyes were blinded for a second.

Xiao Longnu stared at Yang Guo for a while and then suddenly threw herself into his arms. Yang Guo held her tightly and kissed her on the lips. Both Xiao Longnu's heart and soul were completely enchanted by that kiss. She stretched out her arms to embrace him around his neck.

Suddenly the door opened and a disciple in green entered who said sternly, "Our master ordered that as soon as you've picked your weapon, immediately leave, you cannot waste time."

Yang Guo's face went red and he removed her arms. But Xiao Longnu thought that there was nothing wrong with hugging and kissing her loved one. However, there was someone disturbing them which made it difficult for her to feel comfortable; so she gave a sigh and said softly, "Guo'er, once we've beaten that Valley Master, kiss me like that again."

Yang Guo smiled and nodded; he stretched out his left arm and put it around her waist and said, "There isn't enough time in this life for our kisses. Just pick a weapon."

Xiao Longnu said, "It appears that these weapons are indeed all special, there isn't one poor weapon. We haven't got nearly as many in our ancient tomb." She glanced over the weapons on the wall, wanting to pick out a pair of swords that were the same in all ways and most effective for her and Yang Guo to use against Valley Master Gongsun. But after searching for a while, she saw that all the swords were different. She was searching for a weapon and asking a question at the same time. "When we were about to enter the room, you knew that there would be booby traps, how did you know?"

Yang Guo said, "I guessed from the eyes and expression of the Valley Master. He wanted to marry you but when he heard that you were going to help me fight him, he immediately thought about killing you. I didn't believe for a second that someone with his character would allow us to pick out weapons out of the kindness of his heart."

Xiao Longnu gave another sigh and said, "Will we be able to beat him with our "Pure Heart of Jade Maiden Sword"?"

Yang Guo said, "Though his martial arts are strong, he's not better than Jinlun Fawang. The two of us were able to beat Jinlun Fawang; I assume that we'll be able to beat him."

Xiao Longnu said, "Yes. The reason why Fawang kept on trying to force him to fight us is because he wanted to see us in danger."

Yang Guo smiled, "People can have evil thoughts; now, you've learned a bit about this." He then said immediately, "I'm just worried about your health, you've just thrown up blood."

Xiao Longnu's dimples from her smile were like a flower, she said, "You know that whenever I'm angry or upset I throw up blood. Now that I'm extremely happy, this little internal injury isn't anything to me. You threw up blood too, is it serious?"

Yang Guo said, "I'm fine as long as I can see you."

Xiao Longnu said tenderly, "That's how I feel too." She paused and then continued, "You've made much progress in your martial arts recently; and we were able to beat Fawang back then."

When Yang Guo heard these words, he too felt great confidence about this battle. He held her hand and said, "I want you to promise me something, will you?"

Xiao Longnu said tenderly, "Why is there a need to ask me? I haven't been your Master since long ago; I'm your wife. I'll listen to whatever you say."

Yang Guo said, "That's... that's great, I... didn't know."

Xiao Longnu said, "How can I still be your master after what happened that night on Mount Zhongnan, when you and I were that intimate. Though you didn't want to marry me, in my heart I was already your wife."

Yang Guo did not know exactly what happened that night. Maybe the reason for suddenly bringing this up again is because she's emotional, he thought, "My father Ouyang Feng was teaching me martial arts that day; he sealed your pressure point, but I wasn't intimate with you." But when he heard the tenderness and love in her words, he was completely enchanted and couldn't say anything.

Xiao Longnu rested against his chest and asked, "What do you want me to promise you?"

Yang Guo stroked her hair and said, "Once we beat that Valley Master we'll immediately go back to the tomb; no matter what happens you cannot leave my side."

Xiao Longnu lifted her head and looked into his eyes, she said, "Do think that I have thoughts of leaving you? Do you think that the pain and suffering I'll experience if I part from you won't be as great as yours? Of course I'll promise you; I'll never leave you even if the sky falls down."

Yang Guo was delighted; he was about to say something when the disciple in green who was watching them said loudly, "Have you picked your weapons?"

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "Let's just get it over with." She turned her head to look for a pair of swords when the western wall caught her eye. She was startled; the wall had signs of being set alight and the chairs and tables near it were also burned.

Yang Guo laughed, "The Old Urchin had broken into here previously and set this place alight; that's his handiwork." He then saw two sheaths behind a painting in the corner. He thought, "Those two swords were hidden originally by that painting; it's only because of the Old Urchin's fire burning that painting that enables me to see them now. Those two swords must be extremely precious to have been hidden away like that." He went over to the wall and took the swords down; he gave one to Xiao Longnu and unsheathed the sword that was in his hand.

Xiao Longnu unsheathed her sword too. Both of them felt a chill as soon as the blades were drawn out; they saw that his sword was black and didn't have any shine to it, like a piece of black wood. Her sword was the exact same as Yang Guo's. When the two swords lined up, the room was filled with a cold air. The swords had no sharp points; the tips of the swords were round and blunt and they looked like a thin wooden whip. Yang Guo turned the sword over and saw the word 'Gentleman' carved on it; he looked over at Xiao Longnu's sword and saw the word 'Lady'. Originally Yang Guo did not like the form of this sword, but he loved the matching names; he looked at Xiao Longnu to see what she thought.

Xiao Longnu said happily, "This sword has no sharp points; this is just right for dueling with the Valley Master. He saved my life before; I don't want to hurt him."

Yang Guo laughed, "The names of the swords are 'Gentleman' and 'Lady'. I'm not worthy of the name. If 'Gentleman' was changed to 'Vagrant', it'd be much better for me to use." He then tested out the sword with two thrusts into the air and felt that the weight was perfect and the sword extremely agile; he said, "Fine, we'll use these two swords."

Xiao Longnu returned her sword into its sheath and was about to leave the room when she saw some extremely beautiful flowers in a vase on the table; but it wasn't arranged properly so she decided to fix it up.

Yang Guo called out, "No, you can't touch them." But it was too late; Xiao Longnu's finger had been pierced by the thorns of the flowers. She turned her head back startled, asking, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "Those are Passion Flowers; you've been living here in the valley for a few days now, don't you recognize them?"

Xiao Longnu sucked her finger and shook her head. She said, "I don't recognize them. Passion Flower; what kind of flower is it?" Yang Guo was about to explain but the crowd of disciples kept on hurrying them so they left the room and returned to the hall. Valley Master Gongsun had been waiting impatiently, he stared angrily at his disciples, blaming them for being useless and allowing the two of them to waste time. All of the disciples were terrified and changed color.

Valley Master Gongsun waited for the two to come near before saying, "Miss Liu, you've picked your weapon?"

Xiao Longnu took out the 'Lady' sword and nodded her head, saying, "We'll use this pair of blunt swords to fight you; we don't dare to fight a life and death duel with the Valley Master, but just until a clear victor can be seen, how about that?"

The Valley Master's heart trembled and said sternly, "Who told you to pick those swords?" His gaze swept across to Gongsun Lu'E and then back to Xiao Longnu.

Xiao Longnu felt slightly surprised and said, "No one told us to pick them. If we can't use them, we'll go and change them."

The Valley Master stared angrily at Yang Guo and said, "If I let you change your weapons, how long will it take, half a day? There's no need to change, just start."

Xiao Longnu said, "Valley Master Gongsun; let's make things clear before we start. If we fight one on one, neither of us are a match for you. We've got an advantage fighting you two against one. We don't really want to fight you and we're not competing with you. All you've got to do is allow us to leave and we'll admit defeat and thank you."

The Valley Master chuckled and said, "If you beat my "Yin Yang Twin Blades" then I'll let you treat me anyway you want; if I win you have to marry me."

Xiao Longnu gave an unperturbed smile and said, "If we lose, we'll just die here in this valley."

Valley Master Gongsun did not say anything more; the golden saber in his left hand waved out towards Yang Guo.

Yang Guo raised his sword and used a stance of "The White Crane's Bright Wing"; a stance of Quanzhen swordplay.

Valley Master Gongsun thought, "Though this stance is tight and careful, it's just ordinary and steady." His right sword headed towards Yang Guo's shoulder, actually winding past Xiao Longnu, both the sword and saber were aiming for Yang Guo. Yang Guo concentrated on his opponent and guarded his body tightly as he received three stances.

Xiao Longnu waited for the Valley Master to unleash his three stances before she raised her sword. The Valley Master did not use his sword or saber to block her sword stances; only in urgent situations did he use the black sword to repel her attacks. He showed signs of allowance in his stances.

After watching seven or eight stances, Jinlun Fawang gave a wry laugh and said, "Valley Master Gongsun, giving them such allowances will lead to suffering for you.”

The Valley Master replied, “Big monk, if you don’t think much of me then why don’t you wait for a little while and duel with me later. I don’t need you to waste your breath in trying to give me advice.” He hurried his sword and saber and the wind sounds from the weapons became increasing louder.

After a few more exchanges, Yang Guo used a stance of “Sweeping Across the Northern Desert” from the Quanzhen swordplay while Xiao Longnu used the “The Coloured Pen Painting an Eyebrow” stance from the “Jade Maiden Swordplay” Both of these stances were horizontal strokes, Yang Guo’s sword just swept across a few inches from the left to right while Xiao Longnu flicked her sword subtly twice. The two stances became the stance “Dressing Under the Mirror” from the “Pure Heart of Jade Maiden Sword”. Valley Master Gongsun was shocked, he raised his black sword to block Yang Guo’s sword and swept his saber across to guard his face. Xiao Longnu’s sword drew across above his eyes, the sword and saber clashed, a ‘dang’ sound was heard as the tip of the golden saber was actually cut off by the ‘Lady’ sword.

The onlookers were shocked; they could never have predicted that such an ordinary looking blunt sword would actually be so sharp. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were both surprised; they originally picked these weapons because of the names and the fact that they were the same. They couldn’t have known that they had actually picked a pair of precious swords by luck. Their spirits were greatly roused and swords kept on attacking.

Valley Master Gongsun marveled in secret, “Sister Liu and that punk’s martial arts can’t compare with mine. I originally wasn’t afraid of them joining together, but I didn’t know that when their swords join it would actually be so powerful. It looks like that bald scoundrel was telling the truth. If I lose to these two... if I lose to these two..." When he thought to this point, the saber in his right hand suddenly attacked left and the sword in his right hand swept left, using his greatest skill "Yin Yang Wild Blades". The black sword was originally soft and yin but right now it was hacking and chopping solidly, changing into the yang and hard nature of saber play. Meanwhile, the heavy and clumsy jagged saber was now piercing and cutting, going down the road of lightness and swiftness. The saber had become a sword, the sword had become a saber, and it really was extraordinary.

Jinlun Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi and Yin Kexi were all knowledgeable people but the "Yin Yang Wild Blades" was something that they've never seen or heard of before.

Ma Guangzuo called out, "Hey, old man, what weird name has this mad kung fu of yours got? The... the... the older you get, the madder you get!"

Valley Master Gongsun was only around forty years of age. Today he had wanted to marry Xiao Longnu and because of this he's been called old man this and that by this dim witted person; how can he not get angry? Right now he had no time for him. Now he used this kung fu that he'd studied bitterly for the last twenty years. He decided to defeat the two of them before doing anything else.

With the two paired using their swordplay, they had begun to gain the upper hand; but the opponent had swapped his weapons around and his stances were extraordinary. The two were put on their back foot and met many dangerous stances over a short period of time. Yang Guo saw that the black sword was stronger than the golden saber; he intercepted all the sword strokes and allowed Xiao Longnu to face the golden saber. He thought that because she had an advantage in weaponry, the Valley Master wouldn't dare to clash with the 'Lady' sword and so she shouldn't meet any great danger. But by doing this the two were effectively fighting separately; the swordplay of the "Pure Heart of the Jade Maiden" had separated into two and its power immediately decreased.

Valley Master Gongsun was delighted; he unleashed three chops with his black sword while the saber in his left hand used the stances "The Still Yang Needle", "The Form of the Yielding Separates Gold", "The Thorn Pierces Qing" and "The Nine Lotuses". Those four graceful and flowing sword stances were mixed in with the three saber stances. Yang Guo could still block these attacks but Xiao Longnu was getting frantic; she wanted to use the sword to cut off the tip of the saber but the golden saber moved like a flying phoenix, she could not touch it. Yang Guo knew something was wrong and disregarded his safety and used a stance of "The Horse Trampling on the Descending Flowers" from the Quanzhen swordplay, sending the sword from his upper arm aiming upwards, intercepting the opponent's saber and sword. Xiao Longnu immediately took back her sword and protected Yang Guo's upper body. The two once again joined together, returning back to the swordplay of the "Pure Heart of the Jade Maiden". The theory of the swordplay lies in the two users having a mutual affinity for each other, as if two became one. In this stance Yang Guo had forsaken his life to save Xiao Longnu; this was the supreme premise of this swordplay. Xiao Longnu saw his front wasn't guarded while he was saving her; she was afraid that he would get hurt and quickly helped him to protect himself. The two had not protected themselves but both became protected as a result; the power of the swords suddenly increased.

Many more stances passed and beads of sweat could now be seen on the forehead of the Valley Master; his sword and saber stances were wanting and a picture of defeat could be seen on him. On the other hand, Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were becoming more and more fluid in their swordplay. Yang Guo's left hand held the shaft of the sword and his right hand thrust the sword forward to the enemy's waist on the left. Xiao Longnu held the sword handle with both her hands and flicked the sword upwards; this stance was called "Resting Loftily with a Tidy Brow"; the stance was filled with love, tenderness and gracefulness. Her heart was filled with love and passion; she turned her head to look at Yang Guo. Suddenly her chest felt as if a hammer had smashed up against it and the finger on her right hand had broke out in unbearable pain; she almost dropped her sword. Her face changed and she leapt back three steps.

Valley Master Gongsun chuckled, "Ha, the Passion Flower; the Passion Flower!" The pleasure in his heart was greater than his jealousy.

Xiao Longnu did not understand but Yang Guo knew the poison of the Passion Flower had flared up. Her finger had just been pricked by the Passion Flower and as she thought about love, her finger broke out with an unbearable pain.

Yang Guo had tasted this pain before; he was deeply concerned for Xiao Longnu and softly asked, "Does it hurt very much?"

Valley Master Gongsun took this opportunity to launch an attack; he urgently attacked with his sword and saber at Yang Guo. Xiao Longnu's pain had lessened and she raised her sword again. Yang Guo was concerned for her and said, "Rest a little while longer." But as soon as he stirred his love for her, his finger broke out in pain once again.

Valley Master Gongsun took this chance and chopped heavily with the black sword, a 'dang' sound was heard as he knocked the 'Gentleman' sword out of his hand. The black sword extended forward and was once again at his chest.

Xiao Longnu was shocked and tried to save him but she was blocked by the gold saber and had no way to advance.

The Valley Master called out, "Hold that punk." Four disciples in green responded, they walked forward and twisted the net over him, they circled him a few times and held him tightly in the net.

Valley Master Gongsun asked, "Sister Liu, what are you going to do?"

Xiao Longnu knew that she was not a match for him alone; she threw down her 'Lady' sword on the floor and heard a 'ca' sound; the 'Gentleman' sword and 'Lady' sword leapt closer together, joining up tightly. The two swords actually had great magnetism. Xiao Longnu said solemnly, "If the swords can do this how can we not do it? Just kill the two of us."

Valley Master Gongsun gave a 'huh' grunt and said, "Follow me." He folded his arms towards Fawang and the others, saying, "Excuse me!" He turned into the inner halls. The four disciples followed, dragging the net along with Yang Guo. Xiao Longnu followed.

Ma Guangzuo said, "Hey monk, zombie head, we need to think of a way to save them."

Jinlun Fawang just smiled wryly and didn't reply.

Xiaoxiang Zi chuckled and said, "Hey giant, can you beat that old man?"

Ma Guangzuo stroked his cheek and couldn't think of a plan; he just said, "I'll fight even if I can't beat him! I'll fight even if I can't beat him!"

Valley Master Gongsun advanced forward with his head held high; he entered a small stone room and said, "Cut some Passion Flowers for me."

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu had already decided to die; they looked at each other, smiling, and ignoring what Valley Master Gongsun said or did. Not long after, an enchanting fragrance entered the stone room. The two turned their heads to see what it was; there was a fusion of five colors, from tender red to soft yellow; more than ten disciples in green had entered the room carrying bunches of Passion Flowers in their arms. Their arms were covered in leather, protecting them from the thorns of the flowers.

Valley Master Gongsun waved his right arm; he said coldly, "Throw them on that scum."

It was as if ten thousands wasps were stinging Yang Guo; his limbs, his bones, they all were overpowered with unbearable pain; he couldn't take it and called out in pain.

Xiao Longnu felt pity and anger; she shouted at Valley Master Gongsun, "What are you doing?" She dashed forward wanting to remove the Passion Flowers from Yang Guo.

Valley Master Gongsun stretched out his hand to block her and said, "Sister Liu, today is the day when we would have consummated our marriage; but this punk entered the valley and ruined everything. We do not know each other and we have no debts or feuds; but you and he know each other. If he had acted courteously and respectfully as a guest, of course I would have treated him with great respect; now that it has come to this..." He then waved his left hand out and sent his disciples away. He closed the door. He continued, "Whether it'll end up in tragedy or joy, it will be up to you."

The pain that Yang Guo was in was indescribable but he didn't want Xiao Longnu to get upset so he clenched his teeth and didn't make a sound. None of the words of Valley Master Gongsun entered his ears as he endured the pain.

When Xiao Longnu saw the suffering he was in; her pity was roused and as soon as this happened, the Passion Flower poison in her finger flared up and she felt the excruciating pain again. She thought, "I've only been pierced once by the Passion Flower and it is already this painful; but he's covered with thousands and thousands of thorns, how can he stand it?"

Valley Master Gongsun knew what she was thinking and said, "Sister Liu, I sincerely want to marry and be with you; I have only admiration and love for you, I have no ill intent, you should understand this."

Xiao Longnu nodded her head and said mournfully, "You have treated me well all along; but even if we met before you saved me and you treated me like an empress you wouldn't be able to win my heart." She hung her head for a short while and then gave a long sigh; she said, "Mr. Gongsun, if you hadn't seen me that day by the mountainside, if you hadn't saved me and had let me die there, it would have been better for the three of us. You know that forcing me to marry you will result in a lifetime of unhappiness for me. What good is that to you?"

Valley Master Gongsun's eyebrows slowly rose again; he deepened his voice and said, "I have always been a man of my word; I don't allow people to insult or lie to me. Since you've agreed to marry me, you have to marry me. When it comes to happiness, sadness, joy and pain, the future is hard to predict; who knows what tomorrow may bring? Let's just see what happens." He waved his sleeve and said, "This person has been pricked by the Passion Flowers all over his body; the suffering will deepen every two hours; thirty six days from now he will die in excruciating pain. I have a medicine that I can give to him which will cure him within twenty four hours; but after a day, even a god won't be able to save him. It's up to you whether he lives or dies." He walked slowly towards the door and pushed it open; he turned his head and said, "If you'd rather watch him die slowly then you can stay here and watch him for the next thirty six days; it's up to you. I won't harm you so you can relax. If you change your decision within twenty four hours, all you've got to do is give a shout and I will bring the antidote to him." He was about to leave the room.

Xiao Longnu saw that Yang Guo was trembling all over; his lips were bleeding because of him biting down in pain; his eyes had been as bright as a shooting star, but now there was not even a single speck of light in them. The pain that he was in now was already unbearable; but the pain would deepen every two hours for the next thirty six days; even hell wouldn't have such a punishment. She bit down on her lip and said, "Mr. Gongsun, I'll agree to marry you. Quickly let him go and give him the antidote."

Valley Master Gongsun had been trying to force her to say this all along; when he heard this he was delighted but also resentful. He knew that from now on, she would detest him and loathe him. She would never have any love towards him so he nodded his head and said, "It's for the benefit of everyone that you have changed your mind. After we've consummated our marriage tonight, I'll give him the antidote in the morning."

Xiao Longnu said, "First cure him."

The Valley Master sighed and said, "Sister Liu, you think too little of me. I know that agreeing to this is not what you want; even if I was stupid, how would I not know? Do you think I would cure him first?" He turned to leave the room.

Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo looked at each miserably, neither one saying a word for a while. Yang Guo said slowly, "Gu Gu, even when I'm down in the underworld I will feel no pain because of your love. Just kill me with one palm!"

Xiao Longnu thought, "I'll first kill him with one palm and then commit suicide." So she raised her hand and gathered internal energy in her palm.

Yang Guo's face had a smile, his eyes soft and peaceful; looking at her sweetly, he whispered, "This is where we'll consummate our love."

Xiao Longnu saw his air was glorious; she thought, "Why is heaven so cruel towards such a handsome and graceful man, wanting him to die today." Her chest ached and suddenly she tasted sweetness at the back of her throat; it appeared that she would throw up blood again and the internal energy in her arm immediately dissipated. Suddenly, she threw herself on top of Yang Guo; the thousands and thousands of thorns of the Passion Flower pierced her body; she said, "Guo'er, we'll endure the suffering together."

Valley Master Gongsun called out, "Oh no!" in shock, he said, "You... you..." He then said coldly, "Why did you do this? Will your suffering lessen his?"

Xiao Longnu took one deep look at Yang Guo, then slowly turned around. She exited the room and didn't look back.

Valley Master Gongsun said, "Brother Yang, I'll give you the antidote in twenty hours time. All you've got to do in these twenty hours is cleanse your thoughts and don't rouse any feelings of love. Even if there is pain, it won't be that hard to endure." He then left the room and closed the door.

Yang Guo's body was wracked with pain and his heart was full of hurt. "All the pain and suffering that I've experience before today is nothing compared to the pain I'm experiencing now. The Valley Master is such an evil person; how can I just die like this and let Gu Gu suffer at his hands? Besides, I still have to avenge my father; how can I allow the phony, righteous and benevolent Guo Jing and Huang Rong to not get what they deserve for their evil deed?" When he thought about this, his blood boiled, shaking and stirring him, "I cannot die; whatever happens I cannot die! Even if Gu Gu becomes the wife of the Valley Master I'd still need to save her. I need to train my martial arts and avenge my father." So he clenched his teeth and sat up. Although he couldn't assume the proper form in the fish net, he was still able to submerge his chi into his dan tian and started to circulate his internal energy.

Four hours later, midday had passed. A disciple in green entered with a plate; there were four new buns on it. The disciple said, "Our master is celebrating his wedding and he's allowing you to have a good meal." The disciple placed the plate by the fish net; his hand was covered with a coarse cloth to avoid getting injured by the passion flowers. As Yang Guo stretched out his hand through the net for the buns and ate them, he thought, "Since I'm going to fight with my life against that bastard Valley Master, I can't torture myself."

The disciple laughed, "I couldn't have guessed that you would have such a great appetite."

Suddenly there was a green blur by the door; another disciple had come through the door and had moved up silently behind the first disciple. That disciple threw a heavy punch against the first disciple's back. The disciple fainted before he could see who threw the punch.

Yang Guo saw that the person who did the sneak attack was actually Gongsun Lu'E; he said with surprise, "You... you..."

Gongsun Lu'E first turned around and closed the door before whispering, "Quiet brother Yang, I've come to rescue you." She untied the knots of the net and cleared the Passion Flowers away from Yang Guo, letting him out. Her hands were covered with a thick piece of cloth.

Yang Guo hesitated, "If your father finds out about this..."

Gongsun Lu'E said, "I'll ignore whatever heavy punishment I'll get." She picked up a Passion Flower and placed it in the mouth of the unconscious disciple so that he won't be able to call for help when he wakes up. Then she placed him in the fish net and threw the Passion Flowers over him. She whispered again, "Brother Yang, hide behind the door if someone enters. I'll go and get the antidote for your poison from the pill room."

Yang Guo was extremely touched. He knew that she was putting herself in danger by doing this; his friendship with her was not even a day old and she's actually rebelling against her father to rescue him. He said, "Miss, I... I..." He was so touched that he couldn't say anything.

Gongsun Lu'E smiled at him and said, "Just wait here for a little while, I'll be right back." She then left the room.

Yang Guo was lost in thought, "Why is she treating me so well? Though I've had an unfortunate life and suffered under other people ever since I was small, there are actually many people who have treated me sincerely. There's no need to mention Gu Gu; there's Grandma Sun, Hong Qigong, my Godfather Ouyang Feng and Island Master Huang. There's also the girls Cheng Ying and Lu Wushuang, and now's there's Gongsun Lu'E as well amongst them; all of them have treated me with great sincerity. My birth date and time must be of an extremely strange nature; otherwise how could those who've been good to me treat me so well and those who've been cruel to me have treated me so badly?" But he never thought about how all his encounters have been extraordinary; the people he meets either treat him with great sincerity or treat him with extreme insincerity. His character was such that he would only get on well with those who could agree with him; those whose words clashed with his, he treated as an enemy. How he treated others was, of course, how others repaid him.

He waited for a long while but Gongsun Lu'E still had not returned. Yang Guo was getting more and more worried. At first he thought that there must have been someone else present in the pill room so she couldn't steal the antidote. But as time went by, he thought that even if she couldn't steal the antidote, she would have come back and told him so. It looks like something must have gone terribly wrong; she took such a big risk for me, how can I not try to save her? He opened the door slightly and peeked out. It was quiet outside and there was no one around; he slipped out but he did not know where Gongsun Lu'E might be.

Just as he was hesitating, he suddenly heard footsteps from around the corner; he quickly hid behind the corner and saw two disciples in green passing by shoulder to shoulder. In their hands was a thorny stick; it appeared that it was something that was used for punishment.

Yang Guo was furious, "Gu Gu would rather die than submit, and that shameless Valley Master is actually trying to force her to submit through torture!" He lightened his steps and followed the two disciples. The two disciples did not notice him; they turned and twisted along a few corridors before arriving outside a stone room. They said clearly, "Master, the thorny stick is here." They pushed open the door and entered.

Yang Guo's heart raced; he saw that there was a window on the eastern side of the room and ran over to it. He looked inside and saw that it wasn't Xiao Longnu; it was Gongsun Lu'E who was standing in front of her father with her head hanging down. The Valley Master was sitting in the middle of the room while two disciples were holding long swords in their hands, guarding the left and right of Gongsun Lu'E.

The Valley Master took the thorny stick and said coldly, "E'er, you're my own flesh and blood; why did you betray me?"

Gongsun Lu'E lowered her head and didn't say anything.

The Valley Master said, "Do you think I don't know that you've fallen for the one named Yang? I said I was going to let him go; why were you so anxious? When I see him tomorrow I'll betroth you to him, how about that?"

How would Yang Guo not know how Gongsun Lu'E felt about him; but right now when it was said aloud in public, his heart raced.

Gongsun Lu'E still did not say anything and kept her head lowered. After a while, she lifted her head and said clearly, "Father, all you're thinking about right now is your marriage; what time you do have for your daughter?"

Valley Master Gongsun gave a 'heng' grunt and didn't say anything.

Gongsun Lu'E continued, "You are correct; I admire master Yang's decency and honesty, his passion and righteousness. But I know that there is only Miss Long in his heart. I saved him because... because I can't stand what you have done; it is not because of him."

Yang Guo was extremely moved by this and thought, "This scoundrel is so cruel and violent, yet he has a daughter who is so kind and righteous."

Valley Master Gongsun's face was unmoved. There were no signs of being angry on his face as he said dryly, "So according to you, I'm not an honest person; someone who's not righteous and who's not passionate?"

Gongsun Lu'E said, "I do not dare to describe father this way. But... but..."

The Valley Master said, "But what?"

Gongsun Lu'E said, "Master Yang has been pierced by thousands and thousands of Passion Flower thorns; how can he withstand the suffering? Father, you're merciful and kind, just let him go."

The Valley Master chuckled, "I'm going to let him go tomorrow. I don't need you to be so meddlesome."

Gongsun Lu'E tilted her head and pondered; appearing as if she was weighing up whether she should say the words she had on her mind. Eventually her face became resolute and she said, "Father, you're the one who raised me; that master Yang is an outsider I've just met; how can I betray you and help him? If father was really going to let him go and cure his poison, why would I need to take the great risk of going to the pill room?"

Valley Master Gongsun said sternly, "Then why did you go there?"

Gongsun Lu'E said, "I know that you have ill intent towards him. After you've forced Miss Long to marry you, you will kill master Yang to end Miss Long's longing.

Valley Master Gongsun's eyebrows raised again; he said coldly, "Huh, it looks like I've reared an ill boding tiger. I brought you up and here you are now, biting back at me. Give it!" He stretched out his hand.

Lu E said, "What does father want?"

The Valley Master said, "You're still playing dumb? I want the Passionless Pill that cures the poison of the Passion Flower."

Lu E said, "I did not take it."

The Valley Master stood up and said, "Then where did it go?"

Yang Guo examined the room; he saw the cupboards were lined with bottles of medicine and there were countless herbs hung on the wall. In the western side of the room were three pill cauldrons. This room looks like none other than that so called pill room. From the expression of Valley Master Gongsun, it appeared that Gongsun Lu'E would definitely face a heavy punishment.

He heard her say, "Father, it's true, I entered the pill room by myself because I wanted to find the Passionless Pill for master Yang. But I searched for half a day and still couldn't find it, otherwise, would I have been found out by father?"

Valley Master Gongsun said sternly, "The place where I hide this medicine is extremely secretive. The outsiders have stayed in the hall and have not left it. The Passionless Pill has suddenly disappeared; could it be that the pill grew legs and ran away?"

Lu E knelt on the floor and cried, "Father, spare master Yang's life; just tell him not to enter the valley again and leave it at that."

The Valley Master chuckled, "If it was my life on the line, I don't think you would kneel on the floor and beg someone to save me."

Lu E didn't reply and just hugged his knees.

The Valley Master said, "You took the Passionless Pill; how can I save him now? Fine, if you don't want to admit it that's up to you. You can wait here for a day. Though you've stolen the pill, if you can't get it to him, it will be of no use. I'll let you go in twenty four hours!" He then advanced to the doors.

Gongsun Lu'E bit down as she said, "Father!"

The Valley Master said, "You've got something else to say?"

She pointed to the four disciples in green and said, "First dismiss them."

The Valley Master said, "My valley is united as one; there's nothing that's said that can't be said in front of the others."

Gongsun Lu'E's face went red and then immediately turned white. She said, "Fine, since you don't believe my words then you need to see whether I have it on me." She then began to take off her gown and skirt. The Valley Master quickly waved the disciples out and closed the door. After a short while, Gongsun Lu'E had taken off her gown and skirt and was now left with her undergarments. Indeed, she had nothing on her.

Yang Guo's heart jumped when he saw her white gleaming body. He was a young man and Gongsun Lu'E had an attractive figure, her appearance elegant; his blood raced but then he immediately thought, "Because she's trying to save my life, she didn't hesitate to unclothe herself. Yang Guo ah Yang Guo, if you take another look you're worse than an animal."

He quickly closed his eyes but just as he was feeling troubled and confused, his forehead lightly knocked into the frame of the window.

Though only a faint noise was produced, Valley Master Gongsun noticed it; he went over to the three pill cauldrons and pushed the middle one out of the way. He moved the one in the east to the middle, he moved the one in the west to the east and finally he moved the one that was originally in the middle to the west. He said, "Since it's like this, I'll promise you to spare that punk's life."

Gongsun Lu'E was delighted and bowed, she quivered, "Father!"

The Valley Master sat down on a chair by the wall and said, "You know the rules of the valley. What is the punishment for entering the pill room without permission?"

Lu E lowered her head and said, "Death."

The Valley Master sighed and said, "Though you are my daughter, I cannot break the rules of the valley, go in peace!" He drew out his black sword and raised it in midair; he said softly, "E'er, if you stop pleading for the one named Yang then I'll spare you. I can only spare one of you, you or him?"

Gongsun Lu'E said quietly, "Him!"

Valley Master Gongsun said, "Fine, my daughter really is kind and righteous; much better than her father." He waved his sword out and chopped downwards towards her head.

Yang Guo was shocked and called out, "Wait!" He leapt in through the window as he called out, "You should kill me!" His right foot touched the floor and he was about to stretch out his hand to grab the Valley Master's wrist to stop the black sword from chopping down when the sole of his foot felt soft as if he was treading on thin air. Yang Guo knew something was wrong; he quickly roused his chi and his body leapt up. Valley Master Gongsun pushed his daughter on the shoulders with his palms. Gongsun Lu'E's body quickly went backwards, knocking into Yang Guo.

After he leapt back up, of course, he went back down. Gongsun Lu'E had knocked right into his body and the two of them dropped straight down. There was nothing under their feet and they had yet to reach solid ground even after falling for hundreds of feet.

Though Yang Guo was frightened, he still remembered he had to protect the life of Gongsun Lu'E; he quickly held Gongsun Lu'E in his hands. There was just darkness in front of him; he didn't know what they would land on; a mountain of knives or a forest of swords? Or would it be boulders or rocks? Before his thoughts were finished, a 'pu tong' sound was heard as the two fell into water, sinking downwards swiftly; there was actually a deep pool below the pill room.

End of Chapter 18.

Chapter 19 - The Old Woman Underground

Translated by Noodles

Yang Guo grabbed the rope with both hands and climbed up it; he looked down and saw that Luu E and her mother had become two small black images in the indistinct evening light.

Falling hundreds of feet like this on to solid ground could only result in death; but as soon as Yang Guo felt himself splashing into water, he was delighted; he knew that his life was not in danger. The current was strong and he had plunged deep into the water; he felt himself sinking downwards without end as if the water was depthless. He held his breath and waited until he slowed down before he swam upwards with his right hand while holding Lu'E in his left hand. As soon as he reached the surface he took a breath and a sudden stench filled his nose; at the same time, the water on his left was breaking in waves, as if some large aquatic animal was coming towards them to attack.

A thought went through his mind, "That scoundrel trapped us down here, how can it be something good?" With his right hand he chopped a fierce palm towards the left side. A loud sound was heard as he struck a large solid object; a fierce turbulent wave followed. Yang Guo used the force from his palm to move to the right with Gongsun Lu'E.

He wasn't a great swimmer; the reason why he was able to last so long underwater was because he used his internal energy to hold his breath. It was pitch black; all he heard was urgent splashing sounds from behind and to the left of him. He sent his right hand out and suddenly brushed against a cold and coarse object. It appeared to be the scales of that creature, he was shocked, "Could it be that there's such a thing as a Venom Dragon in this world?" He used the force in his hand and soared upwards with the strange creature forced under water by him. He took a deep breath, since he planned to dive underwater once again; but his right foot actually landed on solid ground. He wasn't prepared for this and the impact on his leg was all wrong; his right leg was in great pain.

But he was too happy to care about the pain in his leg; he stretched out his hand to examine the surroundings and found a rock face by the pool. He was afraid that the strange creature would continue its attack so he quickly climbed to higher ground. Once he sat down, he became calmer. Gongsun Lu'E had swallowed a few mouthfuls of water and she was half conscious. Yang Guo rested her on his lap and let her throw up the water. Then he heard scraping sounds on the rocks and a stench that was gradually becoming stronger and stronger; a few of the strange creatures from the pool had climbed out.

Gongsun Lu'E sat up and hugged Yang Guo's neck; alarmed she said, "What's that?"

Yang Guo said, "Don't be afraid; hide behind me."

Gongsun Lu'E didn't move, she just held him tighter and quivered, "Crocodiles, crocodiles!"

When Yang Guo was living on Peach Blossom Island, he had seen countless crocodiles on the island; he knew that they were extremely vicious and violent, much more than the tigers and wolves of the land. One day, he, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers saw them but they didn't try to annoy them and kept their distance from them. Today unexpectedly, he had come across some crocodiles in this underground pool. He listened carefully and from the sounds, he could tell that there were three crocodiles getting closer step by step.

Gongsun Lu'E whispered, "Brother Yang, who would have thought that you and I would die in such a place?" Her voice was full of joy and comfort.

Yang Guo laughed, "Even if we are going to die, we first need to kill a few crocodiles before doing anything else."

At that time, the first crocodile was already within ten feet of Yang Guo's leg; Lu'E called out, "Hit it quickly!"

Yang Guo said; "Just a little longer." He stretched out his right foot and hung it down by his side; the crocodile advanced a few feet and opened its mouth, biting viciously at his leg. Yang Guo pulled his leg back and sent out a kick, striking the crocodile squarely in the jaw. The crocodile somersaulted in the air and landed back in the pool. The pool splashed and the other crocodiles in it clamored; but the other two crocodiles kept on advancing.

Though Yang Guo was poisoned by the Passion Flowers, his martial arts had not been affected in any way; the kick he just performed had a force of hundreds of kilos behind it. After he kicked the crocodile his foot ached slightly. However, the crocodile that he kicked was still moving freely after it landed back in the pool. He thought, "I can't do anything to all these crocodiles empty-handed; if I continue like this me and Miss Gongsun will eventually end up in their stomachs. I must think of something else; how can I kill all these crocodiles?" He stretched out his hand in search of a large rock to use as a weapon; but there wasn't anything on the rock face, not even a speck of sand. He heard the other two crocodiles getting closer and quickly asked, "Have you got a sword with you?"

Gongsun Lu'E said, "With me?" She remembered how she took off her gown and dress; all she was wearing now was her underwear. Now, she was in the arms of Yang Guo; she immediately became embarrassed and her body flushed with heat. But deep in her heart, there was a sweet feeling of joy.

Yang Guo was just worried about being attacked by the crocodiles at the moment; he did not notice anything wrong with her. He heard the two crocodiles were now within ten feet of him, and there were another two behind him. It would be of no use to send out a palm and knock them back into the pool; after a short while they would come back again. It would just be a waste of effort; so he gathered energy and waited for the crocodiles to get within three feet of him before sending out both palms, striking the crocodiles on the head. The crocodiles weren't that swift in turning and they couldn't move out the way when the palms arrived. But their skin was thick; they were just knocked unconscious and slipped back into the pool. Just at that time, the other two crocodiles behind him arrived; Yang Guo kicked one off the rock face with his left foot. The kick was very heavy; he could not hold Gongsun Lu'E steady and she slanted to the side, slipping downwards off the rock face.

Gongsun Lu'E called out in shock; her right hand braced against the rock face and she circulated her internal energy to leap back up. Yang Guo stretched out a hand to grab her and pulled her back up. This setback allowed the other crocodile to press close to him; it opened its jaws and bit down towards Yang Guo's shoulders. There wasn't enough time to punch or kick it away, he could only move out of its way. As soon as its jaws close, it might actually bite down on Lu'E. With this danger in mind he quickly sent out both hands; one pulled the upper jaw and the other pulled the lower; he circulated his internal energy and gave a shout, a cracking sound was heard as the jaws of the crocodile snapped and it immediately died.

Though Yang Guo had killed this vicious crocodile, his back had broken out in a cold sweat.

Lu'E said, "Are you hurt?"

Yang Guo heard her voice was gentle and concerned; his heart was moved slightly and he said, "No." But the force he had just used was too ferocious and his arms ached.

Lu'E observed that the crocodile was not moving and was lying there on the rock dead; she was in awe of Yang Guo and said, "How did you kill that crocodile empty-handed? And how can you see so clearly in this darkness?"

Yang Guo said, "I've lived with my Gu Gu for many years in the ancient tomb; all I need is the faintest light and I'll be able to see things." When he mentioned living in the tomb with his Gu Gu, he couldn't stop himself from letting out a sigh. Suddenly an excruciating pain broke out in his body. It was extremely difficult to endure, and he hollered and shouted and at the same time, he kicked the dead crocodile back into the pool.

Two crocodiles were climbing up onto the rock face just at that time; when they heard his inhuman calls, they were so frightened that they slipped back into the water. Gongsun Lu'E quickly held his arm and with her other hand, brushed across his forehead gently, hoping that she would be able to lessen his pain.

Yang Guo knew that even if he hadn't fallen into this dangerous situation, he would not live for more than a couple of days because of the poison; he had heard the Valley Master say that the pain would keep on increasing over the next thirty-six days before he finally died. The pain was so unbearable that even if he endured it a few more times, he'd eventually give in to the pain and kill himself. But when he dies, Gongsun Lu'E will have no one to protect her; that would be terrible for her and he thought, "The reason she's in this danger is because of me. No matter what pain I'm in I must endure it; hopefully the Valley Master will still have some love for his daughter and will come to save her." As he thought about this, his thoughts of Xiao Longnu disappeared for the time being and the pain lessened; he said, "Miss Gongsun, don't be afraid, I think that your father will come for you. He hates me only and has always loved you; he must be feeling very regretful right now."

Gongsun Lu'E cried, "When my mother was alive, father really did love me. But after mother died, he became cold towards me. However, I know that... I know that in his heart he doesn't hate me." She stopped for a while and thought of many strange and hard-to-explain things; she said, "Brother Yang, I've suddenly thought of something; my father has always been afraid of me."

Yang Guo said surprised, "He's afraid of you? That's strange."

Lu'E said, "I just feel that whenever my father sees me he doesn't seem to be at ease; it's like he's got something hidden in his heart and is afraid that I will find out about it. Over the past few years, he's been avoiding me and doesn't want to see me."

She had noticed that her father's expression had been strange; though she wondered about this, she reached the same conclusion every time; the reason he's changed is because he was deeply hurt by her mother's passing away. But this time, falling into the crocodile pit was definitely her father's plan. He had moved the pill cauldrons in the pill room to activate the collapsing floor. If her father hated Yang Guo and wanted to kill him, all he had to do was keep the antidote for the Passion Flower poison away from him and he would have little chance of living. Now that Yang Guo had fallen into the crocodile pit, the chance of him escaping death was next to none; so why did her father push her into the crocodile pit as well? What fatherly love was there in that push? This wasn't a slip due to anger, he had planned this. The more she thought about it, the sadder she became because it was becoming clearer and clearer to her. There were many words and actions of her father that she did not understand and just used the reason 'eccentric behavior' to explain it all. Right now, as she thought, it appeared that the word 'fear' was more apt. Her father fearing her was something that she could never have conceived.

The crocodile pool broke out in a thrashing roar as all the crocodiles fought over the dead crocodile; they'd stopped climbing up onto the rock face for the time being.

Yang Guo saw that she was deep in thought and asked, "Maybe your father has some kind of hidden secret and you've somehow stumbled upon it by accident?"

Lu'E shook her head and said, "No. My father's actions are honorable; he is very fair, and everyone in the valley had great respect for him. His treatment of you really is wrong; but he has never done such uncharacteristic things like this before."

Yang Guo did not know about the past affairs of the Passionless Valley and so it was hard for him to help her guess what the reasons were behind all this.

The crocodile pool was deep underground and was cold like an ice cave; the two were wet and felt the effects even more. Yang Guo had trained on the Chilled Jade Bed and took no notice of such insignificant coldness; but Gongsun Lu'E kept on shivering and searching for warmth in Yang Guo's arms. Yang Guo knew that this girl would be feeling frightened and sad right now; as he watched the struggle in the crocodile pool he wanted to make her laugh. The crocodiles were opening their mouths and showing vicious teeth, looking extremely terrifying, so he laughed, "Miss Gongsun, we're going to die together today; when you reincarnate in the next life, what do you want to reincarnate as? Whatever happens, I don't want to change into one of these unsightly crocodiles."

Gongsun Lu'E smiled a little and said, "Then you should change into a narcissus flower; it's beautiful and fragrant, and it's something that everyone loves."

Yang Guo laughed, "The only types of people who are worthy of changing into those kind of flowers are people like you. If it's me, I'll get changed into some ugly daisy or chrysanthemum."

Lu'E laughed, "If the Yan Luo Wang (ruler of hell) tells you to change into a Passion Flower, would you?"

Yang Guo was silent and did not reply. He was feeling great resentment and thought, "With Gu Gu's and my "Pure Heart of the Jade Maiden Sword", that scoundrel is not our match. At the time he was on his back foot he was about to lose. But things had to happen this way. Gu Gu had been pierced by the Passion Flower in the sword room. When we were about to use swordplay which requires the users to be as one and to be filled with love to make use of its power, the poison prevented it. This is fate; I can't do anything about it. I wonder how Gu Gu is right now?" As soon as he thought about Xiao Longnu again, his body broke out in pain all over.

When Gongsun Lu'E heard him stay silent, she knew that she shouldn't have mentioned the Passion Flower; she quickly changed the subject and said, "Brother Yang, you're able to see the crocodiles while all I see in front of me is darkness."

Yang Guo laughed, "The crocodiles are extremely ugly, it's better not to see them." He patted her on the back gently to console her; but as soon as he touched her, he felt something cold, smooth and soft. Then he remembered how she undressed herself in front of her father in the pill room. She only had on her underwear; her shoulders and neck were uncovered. Yang Guo was slightly alarmed and quickly pulled back his hand. Lu'E thought about how he could see things in the dark; her semi clothed self would be seen clearly by him and she couldn't stop herself from calling out 'Oh no!' She automatically moved away a little.

Yang Guo sat a little distance away from her and took off his gown to cover her with. As he took it off, not only did he think about Xiao Longnu, but he also thought about Cheng Ying who made a gown for him and Lu Wushuang who was willing to die for him. He blamed himself for letting down the kindness of all these beautiful girls, and he felt guilt for not being able to repay them. He couldn't stop himself from letting out a long sigh.

Gongsun Lu'E straightened the gown and tied the belt around herself. Suddenly she felt a small package in the gown's pockets; she took it out and handed it over to Yang Guo, saying, "What's this? Do you need it?"

Yang Guo took it in his hands and felt that it was fairly heavy; he said, "What is this?"

Lu'E laughed, "I found it in your pockets, why are you asking me about it?"

Yang Guo looked at it and saw that it was a small package covered in rough cloth; he had never seen it before and immediately opened it. There was a sudden light in front of his eyes; four objects were within that package. One of them was a little dagger; on the handle was a pearl of the size of a long yan stone. It glimmered and sparkled, the light shining on Gongsun Lu'E's graceful face; he thought, "People say that pearls are lights of the night, it appears that this isn't a lie."

Lu'E suddenly screamed, "Yi!" She stretched out her hand towards the package and picked up a small emerald colored jar; she called out, "This is the Passionless Pill."

Yang Guo was shocked and delighted; he asked, "This is the medicine that cures the poison of the Passion Flowers?"

Lu'E shook the jar a few times and felt that something was in the jar. She said with delight, "Yes, I was looking for this in the pill room for half a day; when did you take it? How did you take it? How come you haven't taken it yet? You don't know that this is the Passionless Pill, right?" In her delight, her questions were non-stop, not allowing Yang Guo any time to reply.

Yang Guo scratched his head and said, "I don't know anything about this, this... this jar of medicine; how did it get into my pockets? This really is strange."

In the light of the pearl on the dagger, Lu'E could see clearly what other things were in the package. Besides the dagger and the emerald colored jar of the Passionless Pill, there was a square piece of sheep skin about seven or eight inches in length and half of a Spirit Fungus (Lingzhi). A thought went through her mind and she said, "This piece of Spirit Fungus was the piece that was broken off by the Old Urchin."

Yang Guo said, "The Old Urchin?"

Lu'E said, "Yes. I'm in charge of the fungi room and this is the fungus from the 'Hundred Jade Plate'. The Old Urchin turned the sword, pill, fungi and library rooms upside down.

He destroyed books and stole swords; he kicked over the cauldrons and ripped up the fungi; this is all the handiwork of the Old Urchin."

Yang Guo suddenly understood and said, "Yes, yes."

Lu'E quickly asked, "What?"

Yang Guo said, "This package was placed on me by Senior Zhou Lao." He now knew that Zhou Botong had the intention of aiding him; because of this, he changed his naming of 'Old Urchin' to 'Senior Zhou Lao'.

It also became clear to Lu'E, she said, "So he gave it to you."

Yang Guo said, "I didn't even know that he gave it to me. This Wulin Senior does as he pleases in the world; his movements are mysterious. When he took my mask and scissors I didn't notice it; when he put this package on me I felt nothing. My abilities are not even half as good as his."

Lu'E nodded and said, "Yes, father said that he stole things from the valley and said that he must be captured but... but he took off all his clothes in front of so many people and showed that there was nothing on him."

Yang Guo laughed, "He had hidden the package on me before that and actually managed to deceive the Valley Master by taking off his clothes."

Lu'E opened the emerald colored jar and covered it with her left hand, shaking the contents into the palm of her hand. A square looking pill came out of the jar onto her palm; the pill was extremely dark and its smell was overpowering. Most pills are round so one can easily swallow it; but if it was from a slab of medicine, it will be long and flat.

Yang Guo had never seen a square pill before; he took the pill from Lu'E and examined it closely.

Lu'E shook the jar a few times again and patted the jar into her palm a few times before saying, "That's it, there's only one pill; take it now, it'll be terrible if it falls into the pool."

Yang Guo was about to put the pill in his mouth when he heard her say 'there's only one pill', he was stunned and asked, "Only one? Has your father got any more?"

Lu'E said, "That's why it is so precious; because there is only one pill. Otherwise why would my father get so angry?"

Yang Guo was shocked and quivered, "My Gu Gu has this poison as well; how will your father save her?"

Lu'E sighed, "I once heard from my senior apprentice brother that there were originally many Passionless Pills in the pill room; but for some reason, there was only one left. This pill is extremely hard to produce; there was no way to gather all the precious herbs and medicine to make any more. Because of this, my senior apprentice brother warned us that we must be extremely careful of the Passion Flower; if it's a little pierce from it, one will recover from it after a few days; if that happens it's not too serious. But if the poison is deep, it will be difficult for the Valley Master to act because one pill can only save one person."

Yang Guo kept on saying 'Oh no' and then said, "How come your father hasn't come to save you yet?"

Lu'E immediately knew what he was thinking and saw him placing the pill back into the jar; she let out a light sigh and said, "Brother Yang, how can my father feel no shame in light of your love for Miss Long? You're hoping that I'll be able to take the pill back up and save Miss Long's life."

Yang Guo showed a little smile as his thoughts were revealed, he said, "Of course I hoped that such a kind girl as you will leave this dangerous place safely; but I also hope that my Gu Gu's life can be saved. Even if I cure my Passion Flower poison, I won't last long if I stay down here in this crocodile pit. Of course saving my Gu Gu is more important." He thought, "Gu Gu's beauty is unparalleled; it's normal that someone like the Valley Master would want to marry her. But when Gu Gu refused to marry him, he lured her to the sword room to harm her. He really is evil; now he knows that the only Passionless Pill has been taken away, there is no way to cure the Passion Flower poison in Gu Gu. She just has thirty six days to live and all he's concerned about is making her submit to him; even the crocodiles in this pit have more heart than him."

Lu'E knew that no matter how hard she tries to persuade him to take the pill it will be of no use; she regretted telling him that there was only one pill so she said, "This Spirit Fungus can't cure poisons but it can strengthen one's body, eat it quickly."

Yang Guo said, "Yes." He broke the piece of Spirit Fungus into two; he put one piece into his mouth and put the other piece in front of Lu'E's mouth, he said, "We don't know when your father will let you go, so eat this piece to help protect yourself against this cold."

Lu'E saw that he was concerned for her and couldn't bear to refuse, so she opened her mouth.

This Spirit Fungus had been grown for hundreds of years; not long after the two ate it, they felt an extremely comfortable warmth throughout their bodies, a boost in their energy and they felt sharper.

Lu'E suddenly said, "Father must have known that Zhou Botong had stolen the Passionless Pill. He was lying to Miss Long when he said he was going to cure you; and when he was forcing me to hand over the Passionless Pill, he was acting then as well."

Yang Guo had thought about this awhile ago but he didn't want to make her sadder so he kept quiet about it. When he heard her realizing this on her own he said, "When your father let's you out, you need to be extremely careful; the best thing for you to do is leave the valley as quickly as possible."

Lu'E sighed, "You don't know my father; since he's pushed me down here into this crocodile pit he will never change his mind and rescue me. He was already worried about me; after this event, how can he allow me to live? Brother Yang, will you let me die with you?"

Yang Guo was about to say a few words to comfort her when he suddenly heard another crocodile climbing onto the rock face, its front foot stepping onto sheepskin from the package. Yang Guo had a thought, "That sheepskin looked kind of strange." He picked up the dagger and stabbed it between the eyes of the crocodile; a 'pu' sound was heard as it went straight through. The dagger that he was holding was actually extremely sharp and was capable of chopping gold and cutting jade. The crocodile struggled a little bit before falling back into the pool on its back, dead. Yang Guo said with delight, "Now that we've got this dagger, those crocodiles in the pool have run out of luck."

He picked up the sheepskin with his left hand and brought the dagger over, using the faint light from the pearl to carefully study it. The sheepskin was coarse on one side and there was nothing odd about it; but turning it over revealed drawings of many buildings, rooms, rocks and the like.

Yang Guo looked at it for a while but didn't find anything strange about it, he said, "This sheepskin is of no use to us."

Lu'E had been looking over his shoulder all along and suddenly said, "That's a map of our Narcissus Manor of the Passionless Valley. Look, that's the brook that led you here, that's the main hall, that's the sword room, that's the fungi room and that's the pill room..." She pointed to the map as she said this.

Yang Guo suddenly called out and said, "Look, look." He pointed to a drawing of water underneath the pill room.

Lu'E said, "That's the crocodile pool. Ah... there's a passageway here."

The two could see that there was a passageway drawn next to the crocodile pool and their spirits rose. Yang Guo matched the map to the crocodile pool and said, "If the map's right, after passing through the passageway there'll definitely be an exit. But..."

Lu'E interrupted, "But what's strange is that the passageway is going downwards; this crocodile pool is already deep underground; where will the passageway lead if it keeps on going further down?" The passageway on the map finished at the edge of the sheepskin, they didn't know where it leads.

Yang Guo said, "Has your father or senior apprentice brother ever mentioned this crocodile pool before?"

Lu'E shook her head and said, "I only learned today that there were so many terrifying things hidden underneath the pill room; even senior apprentice brother may not know about it. But... but to keep all these crocodiles alive will require regular feeding, why does father..." She trembled all over as she thought about how evil her father was.

Yang Guo took a look around and noticed a dark circular shape behind the rock face; it appeared to be the entrance to a tunnel but it was too faraway. He wasn't really sure; he thought, "Even if that is the passageway, I don't know what other kinds of vicious creatures might be lurking around in there. If we come across them it might be even more dangerous for us than the situation we are in now. Even so, we can't sit here and wait for death; we're going to die anyway, so we might as well take the risk in trying to find a way out. All I want is for Miss Gongsun to get out of this danger and pass the antidote on to Gu Gu." So he passed the dagger into the hands of Lu'E and said, "I'll go take a look; be careful of the crocodiles." His right foot touched the rock face and he flew away into the pool. Lu'E called out in alarm. Yang Guo's right foot landed on the stomach of the dead crocodile and used it to leap forward; he then landed on the back of a crocodile with his left foot. The crocodile sank into the water while Yang Guo leapt to the other shore; he pressed his body against the rock and searched the surface with his hand. He called out, "There's a large cave over here!"

Gongsun Lu'E's lightness kung fu was not anywhere as good as his; she didn't dare to leap over to the cave like he did. Yang Guo thought that if he went back to carry her on his back, their weight will increase. Not only will their leaping be inconvenienced, they will not be able to use the crocodiles as supports. But since it had come to this he had to risk it and called out, "Miss Gongsun, soak your gown and throw it over to me."

Lu'E did not know what he was going to do but did as she was told; she took off her gown and gave it a quick soak in the pool then hurriedly pulled it back up. She made two knots in the gown, forming a ball; she called out, "Its coming!" She circulated her internal energy and shot it over.

Yang Guo caught it and untied the gown. He found a place to secure his footing and used his left hand to grab tightly onto a piece of jutting rock. His right hand swung the wet gown and he said, "Listen carefully."

He swung the wet gown forward and waved it about, a 'pai' sound was heard as he struck the mouth of the cave. He struck it three times in a row and asked, "Can you tell where the cave is?"

Lu'E had listened and could tell where it was, she said, "Yes."

Yang Guo said, "Jump forward and grab the gown, I'll pull you over."

Lu'E opened her eyes wide and tried to see but all she saw was darkness; she was really frightened and said, "I... I can't..."

Yang Guo said, "There's no need to be scared. If you miss the gown and fall into the pool, I'll dive in immediately to save you. We were afraid of the crocodiles when we first came here; but now we've got this dagger which can slice metal like butter, what have we got to fear?"

He then sent the gown forward.

Gongsun Lu'E clenched her teeth and pushed out with her feet against the rock face; her body flew up into the air and she heard the noise from the flapping gown and stretched out her hands towards it. Her right hand grabbed the lower half of the gown but her left hand grabbed thin air. As soon as Yang Guo felt his arm go heavy, he immediately swung the gown towards the cave. He was afraid that she would slip so he quickly leapt over to her and lightly grabbed her waist, holding her steadily by the cave entrance.

Gongsun Lu'E was delighted and called out; "Brother Yang that was a great idea."

Yang Guo laughed, "We don't know what kind of vicious beasts are hiding in this passageway; we'll just let fate decide." He then bent his body and went into the cave.

Lu'E handed the dagger to Yang Guo and said, "You take it." Yang Guo gave her the gown and she covered her body with it.

The cave was extremely narrow; the two of them could only go through it on their hands and knees. The dampness from the crocodile pool caused the cave floor to be damp and slippery and the stench was extremely unpleasant.

Yang Guo crawled along and laughed, "This morning we were enjoying the beauty of the Passion Flowers; flowers were everywhere, birds were singing and we were surrounded by fragrant scents. After just a few hours the scenery has changed to this; I really have caused you great trouble."

Lu'E said, "How can it be blamed on you?"

After crawling along for a while, the passageway gradually became higher and they were able to walk along it. They walked for a very long time but still they did not reach the end. The ground became flatter and flatter.

Yang Guo laughed, "Looks like our bitter experience is turning to joy; we're slowly reaching safety."

Lu'E sighed and said, "Brother Yang, I know you're not feeling in the best of spirits, but you don't have to try to cheer me up..." Before she finished her words, there was a sudden laugh from the left up ahead, "Ha-ha, ha-ha, ha-ha!"

What they heard just now was definitely laughter but it sounded sad; within the 'ha-ha ha-ha' sound there was mourning and sorrow. Yang Guo and Gongsun Lu'E had never heard a sound like this. It didn't sound like calls or laughter. There was also the fact that they were deep down in a cave in complete darkness and weren't prepared for such a noise. This was much more frightening than coming upon some kind of vicious beast. Though Yang Guo was brave, he couldn't stop himself from jumping; his head bumped into the roof of the cave painfully.

Gongsun Lu'E was so scared that she broke out in a cold sweat with goose bumps all over and hugged his legs.

The two of them didn't know what to do; they didn't dare to advance or retreat.

Lu'E whispered, "Is it a ghost?" She said these words very quietly; but after these words the same voice called out, "Yes, I'm a ghost, I'm a ghost, ha-ha, ha-ha!"

Yang Guo thought, "Since they called themselves a ghost, this person isn't one." So he said loudly, "I am Yang Guo, and along with me is Miss Gongsun. The two of us have run into some danger and we're just trying to find a way to escape it; we have no ill intentions..."

That person interrupted, "Miss Gongsun? What Miss Gongsun?"

Yang Guo said, "The daughter of Valley Master Gongsun, Gongsun Lu'E." No further sound came; it was as if that person had suddenly disappeared without a trace.

When that person was howling out with their cry that wasn't a cry and a laugh that wasn't a laugh, the two of them were extremely frightened. But they were even more frightened after this sudden silence in the darkness; the two of them clung to each other, not daring to make a single move.

After a long time, the person suddenly shouted out, "What Valley Master Gongsun; is it Gongsun Zhi?" The words were filled with anger but they could now clearly tell it was a woman's voice.

Gongsun Lu'E plucked up her courage and said, "My father's name is indeed Zhi, does Old Senior know my father?"

The person chuckled coldly and said, "Do I know him? Haha, do I know him?" Lu'E did not dare to interrupt and just kept silent.

After a while, the person shouted, "What's your name?"

Lu'E said, "Junior's name is Lu'E, the Lu (green) as in red and green, E (calyx) as in the calyx of a flower."

The person gave a heng' grunt and asked, "What is your birth date?"

Lu'E was afraid that this person was asking for her birth date because she wanted to use witchcraft to harm her; she whispered in Yang Guo's ear, "Should I say it?"

Before Yang Guo could reply, the person chuckled and said, "You're eighteen this year, your birthday is on the third day of the second month, and you were born at the 'Xu' hour (7-9 p.m.), correct?"

Gongsun Lu'E was shocked and called out, "You... you... how do you know?" Suddenly she was filled with an indescribable feeling; she knew that this person would not harm her and she brushed past Yang Guo hurrying forward. After turning two bends, her eyes were suddenly dazzled by the light; before her she saw a half clothed granny sitting on her knees on the floor, her face full of anger and with a great presence.

Lu'E gasped and stood there stunned. Yang Guo was afraid that she was in danger and quickly hurried after her.

He saw that the old granny was sitting a natural grotto; there was a large ten foot wide hole in the roof which allowed sunlight in that came from over a thousand feet above. Most likely she accidentally fell down into the hole and couldn't get out. This grotto was deep underground; even if one called and shouted, a passer by may not hear them. What really was extraordinary was that she was actually still alive after falling from so high. He saw many date trees in the places where the sunlight reached; could it be that she somehow landed on the trees just right, saving her life in the process? He saw that she only had tree bark and leaves to cover herself up with; she must have been trapped in this grotto for years. So long that her clothes have all been worn to shreds.

The granny ignored Yang Guo completely and just looked up and down at Lu'E; suddenly she gave a bleak laugh and said, "Miss, you have grown up beautifully."

Lu'E returned the compliment with a smile and went forward to greet her, "How do you do Old Senior."

The granny faced the sky and laughed with her neither cry nor laughter howl; she said, "Old Senior? Ha-ha, I'm great; I'm great, ha-ha, ha-ha!" After she said this, anger filled her face.

Lu'E did not know how she offended her by saying these respectful words; she was very frightened and looked back at Yang Guo for help.

Yang Guo knew that it would be unavoidable for the granny to lose her mind after being stuck down here for such a long time; he shook his head towards Lu'E and smiled a little, trying to say that there was no need to treat her seriously. He studied the terrain, trying to think of a plan to get out. Though the hole in the roof of the grotto was high, with his lightness kung fu, it might not be an impossible task if he took the risk.

But Lu'E was just concentrating on the granny; she saw that most of her hair had fallen out and was almost completely bald; her face was full of wrinkles but her eyes were still full of vigor. The granny was looking at Lu'E without blinking too; the two of them stared at each other, ignoring Yang Guo.

After looking at her for a while, the granny said, "You've got a red birthmark on your waist on the left side, haven't you?"

Lu'E was shocked and thought, "Even father may not know about my red birthmark; how does this granny know about this? She also knows my birthday and time; it looks like this granny has a deep tie with my family." So she said softly, "Granny, you must know my father and my dead mother, isn't that right?"

The granny was startled and said, "Your dead mother? Haha, of course I know her." Her tone suddenly became stern and shouted, "Have you got a birthmark on your waist? Quickly let me take a look. If you're lying I'm going to kill you right where you're standing."

Lu'E turned her head and looked at Yang Guo, her face blushing. Yang Guo quickly turned away and kept his back towards her. Lu'E took off her gown and uncovered her white gleaming waist. Indeed there was a red thumb size birthmark on her waist; the red and white contrasted each other, like a red plum in the middle of a field of snow, looking extremely adorable.

The granny just took one look and she trembled all over; her eyes were filled with tears and she opened her arms, calling out, "My precious, mother has been thinking about you bitterly."

Lu'E looked at her expression and suddenly her natural instincts were stirred, she threw herself on her and cried, "Mother, mother!"

Yang Guo was startled when he heard one of them call out 'my precious' and the other call out 'mother'; he turned around and saw the two hugging each other tightly. Lu'E was shaking while the granny was in tears; Yang Guo thought, "Could it be that this granny is actually Miss Gongsun's mother?"

The granny's eyebrows suddenly rose and her face was filled with an air of death, just like Valley Master Gongsun when he fought. Yang Guo silently called out, "No!" He was afraid that the granny would harm Lu'E and dashed forward. But all she did was push Lu'E lightly away on her shoulders and shout, "Stand up, I'm going to question you."

Lu'E was startled; she moved away from her and called out; "Mother!"

The granny said sternly, "Why did Gongsun Zhi send you here? He wanted you to come here to lie to me with your sweet talk, didn't he?"

Lu'E shook her head and said, "Mother, you're actually still alive, mother!" Her face was filled with both joy and sadness, showing a daughter's love; how can this be faked?

The granny kept on asking sternly, "Gongsun Zhi said I was dead, didn't he?"

Lu'E said, "I have been filled with sadness over the years; I thought that I was a child without a mother. But my mother had actually been alive all this time; I'm really overwhelmed with joy today."

The granny pointed to Yang Guo and said, "Who's he? Why did you bring him here?"

Lu'E said, "Mother, listen to me." She then told her how Yang Guo entered the valley, how he contracted the Passion Flower poison, how the two fell down into the crocodile pool; she told it all from the beginning. But she kept the matter of Valley Master Gongsun marrying Xiao Longnu from her in case her mother would be disturbed by this and break out in a jealous rage.

Whenever Lu'E was unclear on something, the granny would ask her carefully about it. Apart from the matter about Xiao Longnu, Lu'E did not keep anything from her. The more the granny heard, the more peaceful she became; her expression towards Yang Guo was also getting more and more pleasant. When Lu'E described how Yang Guo killed crocodiles and how he protected her, the granny kept on calling out, "Good, good! Little kid, looks like my daughter hasn't picked you without good reason."

Lu'E's face went red and she lowered her head.

Yang Guo knew that it wasn't convenient to explain all the intricacies within all these events right now so he said, "Auntie Gongsun, we first need to come up with an escape plan; how do we get out?"

The granny's face sank and shouted, "What Auntie Gongsun? Don't ever say the words Auntie Gongsun again. Don't think that because I look frail I can't do anything; if I want to kill you it'll be as easy as turning my palm."

A sudden 'bo' sound was heard as something came out of her mouth, a 'zheng' sound was heard as it knocked Yang Guo's dagger to the ground.

Yang Guo felt his arm tremble severely; his five fingers couldn't hold on and the 'dang' sound heard was the dagger striking the floor. Yang Guo leapt backwards in shock; he saw that there was a date stone by the dagger, spinning around on the floor. He was still in shock as he thought, "With the force that I grip the dagger with, even if it was Jinlun Fawang's golden wheel, Da'erba's golden rod or Valley Master Gongsun's jagged saber, they wouldn't be able to knock the dagger out of my hands. Though I wasn't prepared, this granny just spat out a date stone from her mouth to do this; this person's martial arts really are awesome."

Lu'E saw his face change color and she quickly said, "Brother Yang, my mother won't harm you." She went over to him and tugged his hand; she turned to her mother and said, "Mother, tell him how to greet you. He doesn't know yet."

The granny laughed and said, "Fine, this old woman's name will never change; the people of Jianghu call me the 'Iron Palm Lotus Qiu Qianchi'. What should you call me? Ha-ha, shouldn't you be kowtowing to me and calling me 'mother-in-law'?"

Lu'E quickly said, "Mother, don't you know, there's nothing between brother Yang and I, he... he just has good intentions towards me and nothing else."

Qiu Qianchi said angrily, "Nothing else? Nothing between you? Where are your clothes? Why have you only got underwear on? Why are you covered by his gown?" She suddenly pitched her voice up and screamed, "If the one named Yang is thinking about being shameless like that Gongsun Zhi I'm going to make sure that he dies without a *complete corpse. [*Refers to hacking the body apart.] The one named Yang, are you going to marry my daughter?"

Yang Guo saw that she spoke madly and was impervious to reason; how could she force him to marry her daughter after just speaking a few words? But if he bluntly refuses, it would be extremely embarrassing for Lu'E. There's also the fact that this granny's martial arts are extremely high and her character extremely weird; if he said any words that were just slightly displeasing, she would kill him immediately. He saw that the most important thing right now was for the three of them to get out of this place so he said, "Please relax Old Senior; Yang Guo is not a man without a conscience; I will never dare to forget the kindness that Lu'E has shown me." These words were extremely agreeable; though he didn't agree to marry Lu'E, the words pleased the ears of Qiu Qianchi; she nodded, "You'd better not."

Gongsun Lu'E of course knew what Yang Guo meant by this; as she looked at Yang Guo, there was a look of disappointment in her eyes and she lowered her head. A while passed before she said to Qiu Qianchi, "Mother, how did you get down here? Why did father say that you were dead and let me stay saddened for all these years? If I'd known you were here, I would have risked my life to come and find you." She saw that her mother was unclothed; if she let her mother wear Yang Guo's gown then she would be insufficiently dressed; so she tore the back and front of the gown and draped it over her mother's shoulders.

Yang Guo was saddened when he saw what a state the gown that Xiao Longnu had made for him had fallen into; it stirred the Passion Flower's poison and his body broke out with unbearable pain once again.

When Qiu Qianchi saw this, her face moved slightly and her right hand searched for something on her person; but after a thought, her hand came out empty handed.

From her mother's expression and actions, Lu'E had an inkling of her mother's thoughts; she pleaded, "Mother, can you cure the Passion Flower's poison that brother Yang has in him?"

Qiu Qianchi said in a subdued manner, "I have my own troubles being trapped down here; if others can't save me, how can I save others?"

Lu'E said anxiously, "Mother, if you save brother Yang, he will definitely help you. Even if you can't save him, brother Yang will do all he can to help you. Isn't that right brother Yang?"

Yang Guo did not have a good opinion of Qiu Qianchi but he should help her on behalf of Lu'E; so he said, "Of course. Senior has been down here for so long, you must be very familiar with the layout and terrain of this place; can Senior tell me one or two things about it?"

Qiu Qianchi gave a long sigh and said, "Though this place is deep in the ground, it's not that difficult to get out." She looked at Yang Guo and said, "You must be thinking that if it's not hard, how come I'm still down here? Ai... The tendons in my arms and legs were destroyed long ago, and all my martial arts went with it."

Yang Guo had noticed a while ago that there was something different about the movements of her arms and legs. But

Lu'E was shocked when she heard this, she asked, "You did this by falling from up above?"

Qiu Qianchi said gloomily; "No! A person did this to me."

Lu'E was even more shocked by this and quivered, "Mother, who did this to you? We must take revenge against that person."

Qiu Qianchi chuckled, "Revenge? Will you be able to do it? The person who destroyed my tendons is Gongsun Zhi."

Ever since Lu'E found out that she was her mother, she had a feeling that something like this had happened; but when she heard this with her own ears, she trembled all over and asked, "Why... why?"

Qiu Qianchi glanced coldly at Yang Guo and said, "It's because I killed someone, a young beautiful girl; huh, it's because I killed Gongsun Zhi's beloved." When she reached this point, her teeth chattered as she bit down. Lu'E was frightened and moved back a little away from her mother while getting closer to Yang Guo. The grotto became silent.

Qiu Qianchi said suddenly, "Are you hungry? There are only dates for food in this grotto." After she said this, she got on all fours and crawled forward like a wild beast; her movements were very swift. Lu'E and Yang Guo both felt awful when they saw this sight. But Qiu Qianchi had been crawling like this for years and didn't think anything of it. Lu'E was about to dash forward to help her when she saw that she had already reached the base of a large date tree.

Years ago, a date seed must have been blown down into the grotto by the wind and sprouted down here, growing and blossoming and slowly flourishing; and from that one seed, fifty or sixty trees eventually grew. If a date seed had not been blown down here or if it had fallen onto infertile ground, Yang Guo and Lu'E would have come across upon a pile of bones. Who could think that this pile of bones would be an eminent member of Wulin? And Lu'E would never know that this was actually her mother.

Qiu Qianchi gathered a date stone from the floor and placed it into her mouth; she raised her head and spat out, the date stone shot upwards for tens of feet and struck a branch; the branch swayed and tens of dates rained downwards from the branch.

Yang Guo nodded and thought, "So after her tendons were ruined she managed to learn this great date stone spitting skill. The saying 'heaven never seals off all its exits' isn't a lie." His spirits were roused as he thought about this.

Lu'E picked up the dates from the floor and divided them up for her mother and Yang Guo to eat; she ate a few herself as well. In the middle of this underground grotto, she was serving her mother and acting just like a little hostess.

Qiu Qianchi has endured one of the most tragic experience in anyone's life; hate had been gathered up in her heart over the last ten years. Even if she wasn't a hot tempered person and was a peaceful, kind natured woman, she would still have changed into this unreasonable person. But a mother's love is a natural instinct; when she saw the daughter she had been thinking about night and day had grown into such a beautiful girl, her temper was calmed. The warmth of her love towards her daughter was gradually stirred and she asked, "What has Gongsun Zhi been saying about me?"

Lu'E said, "Father has never talked about mother. When I was little I asked if I looked like my mother. What illness did mother die of? Father would suddenly break out in a temper and scold me for a while, telling me not to bring this up ever again. A few years later I asked him again and once again, he shouted at me.”

Qiu Qianchi said, “What were you thinking?”

Tears formed in Lu'E's eyes and she said, “I thought that my mother must have been a beautiful, gentle woman and father loved you deeply. Whenever other people mentioned you he would be extremely upset and sad; from then on I didn't dare to ask him about you again.”

Qiu Qianchi chuckled and said, “You must be extremely disappointed; your mother isn't a beautiful and gentle woman but a vicious, cruel and ugly old hag. If you knew about this, I think you would rather not see me.”

Lu'E stretched out her arms to hug her around the neck and said tenderly, “Mother, you're how I imagined you would be.” She turned to Yang Guo and asked, “Brother Yang, my mother is beautiful, isn't she? She treats me well and she treats you well, right?” Her words were filled with sincerity; in her heart, she looked upon her mother as the greatest woman in the world.

Yang Guo thought, “She might have been beautiful when she was younger but how can you say that she's beautiful now? You're right when you said that she treats you well but she might not have any good intentions in her heart towards me.” But since Lu'E asked like this, he could only reply, “Yes, you're right.” His tone was not anywhere near as sincere as Lu'E's; Qiu Qianchi knew it straight away when she heard it, she thought, “Heaven has pitied me and has given me the chance to see my daughter again; though she is filled with respect and love for me now, it would be difficult to ensure that it will be like this forever. I need to tell her about all the bitterness and wrong that I've suffered.” So she said, “E'er, you asked, how did I get here?”

Why Gongsun Zhi said that I'd died? Sit down, I'll tell you all about it."

Qiu Qianchi said slowly, "Gongsun Zhi's ancestors were officials in the Tang court. Later on, because they wanted to avoid the troubles of the court, they decided to reside here in this secluded valley. His ancestors worked as military officials and his family's martial arts can be classed as a respectable skill; but his real advanced martial arts were taught to him by me." Yang Guo and Lu'E both felt rather surprised by this.

Qiu Qianchi said proudly, "You two are still young, of course you wouldn't understand the principles within them. The Iron Palm Clan Chief, the 'Iron Palm Water Floater' Qiu Qianren is my brother. Yang Guo, tell Lu'E about the Iron Palm Clan."

Yang Guo was startled and asked, "The Iron Palm Clan? I'm not very knowledgeable; I really don't know what the Iron Palm Clan is."

Qiu Qianchi scolded him, "Little punk, you dare tell lies in front of me! The Iron Palm Clan is famous throughout the world. Along with the Beggar Clan, we're classed as the world's two greatest clans; how can you not know?"

Yang Guo said, "Junior has heard of the Beggar Clan before but the Iron Palm Clan..."

Qiu Qianchi was exasperated and scolded, "Ha-ha, you've practiced martial arts and you don't even know anything about the Iron Palm Clan..."

Lu'E saw that her mother's face had reddened with anger; she interrupted and tried to persuade her, "Mother, brother Yang is not even twenty yet; he has studied with his Master deep in the mountains ever since he was young; of course there are things about the Wulin that he doesn't know."

Qiu Qianchi ignored her and kept on grumbling.

Twenty years ago, the Iron Palm Clan was indeed very famous; but at the second Mount Hua competition, the Iron Palm Chief Iron Palm Water Floater Qiu Qianren entered religion and the tutelage of the Reverend Yideng. The Iron Palm Clan dispersed immediately after that. When the Iron Palm Clan was dispersing, Yang Guo had just been born and no one had ever mentioned the clan to him before, so naturally he wouldn't know anything about it. His mother Mu Nianci had actually lost her virtue to his father Yang Kang on Iron Palm Peak; his mother became pregnant and Yang Guo was conceived.

Now as Qiu Qianchi talked about this, his eyes stared, not knowing how to reply. Qiu Qianchi had been in the Passionless Valley for almost thirty years; she has not heard about the changes in the Wulin world. She just knew that the Iron Palm Clan had been famous for hundreds of years, so they must be flourishing even more at the present time. But now she heard that Yang Guo hadn't even heard of the three words 'Iron Palm Clan' before; of course she would break out in a thunderous rage.

Yang Guo was being insulted and cursed at for no reason at all; at first he forced himself to take it; but as it went on, the insults were beginning to go too far. He was starting to get angry and was about to answer back when, just as he was going to open his mouth, he saw Lu'E staring at him. Her eyes were filled with tenderness and her face was looking apologetic. Yang Guo's heart softened and his face showed a helpless expression; he was beginning to feel contented as he thought, "The worse your mother treats me the better you treat me. The old bat's words just brush past the ears, while the beauty's warmth goes to my heart." His brain became active as his heart relaxed; suddenly he thought, "Miss Wanyan Ping's martial arts appeared to be of the same school as Gongsun Zhi; she also said that she practiced the "Iron Palm"; she must have some kind of connection with the Iron Palm Clan."

He closed his eyes and recalled that when Wanyan Ping fought Yelu Qi, he could remember about seventy or eight percent of it. When he fought Gongsun Zhi just a few hours ago, his attacks and form were even clearer in his mind and he called out, "Ah, I remember."

Qiu Qianchi said, "What?"

Yang Guo said, "Three years ago I saw an extraordinary Wulin Senior battle eighteen men from the world of Jianghu; he fought them all empty handed. In the end he seriously injured nine of them and killed the other nine. I heard this great person say that he was from the Iron Palm Clan."

Qiu Qianchi asked quickly, "What did this person look like?"

Yang Guo made it up as he went along and said, "This person was bald and was around sixty years of age, his face glowed and he was tall, he wore a green gown and said he said his surname was Qiu..."

Qiu Qianchi suddenly shouted, "Bullshit! My two brothers are not bald, they are not tall and they have never worn green before. You saw that I'm tall and bald so you said they're bald as well?"

Yang Guo thought, "Crap!" But his face remained unmoved and he laughed, "There's no need to rush me; I didn't say this person was your brother. Could it be that everyone who's named Qiu is your brother?"

Qiu Qianchi could say nothing after this rebuttal and asked, "What were his martial arts like?"

Yang Guo stood up and performed a few fists of Wanyan Ping's mixed up with the form and palms of Gongsun Zhi; eventually he became more and more fluid in his actions and the grotto was filled with elegant palms and powerful punches. Though his stances were slightly wrong, it was somewhat better than the original palm techniques of Wanyan Ping. His natural movements covered up all the places that were out of form with Wanyan Ping's techniques. His hand and leg movements were tight and complete and whenever he sent out a palm, he would deliberately put extra effort in it to make it more vicious.

Qiu Qianchi watched with great joy, she called out, "E'er, E'er, that's the martial arts of our Iron Clan Palm, watch carefully."

Yang Guo performed these stances with Qiu Qianchi pointing out the stances and explaining the lethal aspects of them from the side.

Yang Guo was amused and thought, "If I carry on any longer she'll see through me." He then stopped and said, "At this point, the Wulin senior had won and there wasn't a need to carry on."

Qiu Qianchi was delighted and said, "You've remembered a lot of the stances wrongly, your hand movements are incorrect as well; but to perform it as you did is really something that is difficult to do. What was the name of this Wulin Senior? What did he say to you?"

Yang Guo said, "This extraordinary person's movements were like a divine dragon. After he won he flew away. I just heard from the remaining nine injured men and they were blaming themselves saying, how could we give trouble to Master Qiu of the Iron Palm Clan? Weren't we signing our own death warrants?"

Qiu Qianchi said with delight, "That's right, the one named Qiu is most probably a disciple of my brother." Qiu Qianchi loved martial arts; but for the last ten years she hadn't been able to move her arms and legs freely. Now, as she saw Yang Guo perform her clan's martial arts, she was thrilled and was itching to have a go. She then started to lecture the two about her clan's palm techniques and lightness kung fu.

Yang Guo was anxious to get out as quickly as possible so he could deliver the antidote to Xiao Longnu. Though what he heard was advanced and refined martial arts that would benefit him, when he thought about the suffering of Xiao Longnu, how could he keep a frame of mind for learning martial arts? He then signaled to Lu'E with his eyes.

Lu'E understood and said, "Mother, why did you teach father martial arts?"

Qiu Qianchi said angrily, "Call him Gongsun Zhi! Why father this and that?"

Lu'E said, "Yes. Mother, please go on."

Qiu Qianchi said, with hate in her voice; "Huh!" After a while she continued, "This happened twenty years ago. My two brothers got into an argument..."

Lu'E interrupted, "I've got two uncles?"

Qiu Qianchi said, "Don't you know?" Her tone became stern with a hint of scolding.

Lu'E thought, "How would I know?" She replied, "No, no one's ever told me before."

Qiu Qianchi sighed and said, "You... you really don't know anything. Pitiful... pitiful!" After a while she continued, "Your uncles are twins, your older uncle is called Qiu Qianzhang, your second uncle is Qiu Qianren. Their voices, figure and faces were the same, but the two's characters and fate were very different. Second brother's martial arts are extremely high but first brother's martial arts were very ordinary. Second brother taught me martial arts but first brother and I were a lot closer to each other. Second brother was the chief of the Iron Palm Clan; he had many clan matters to deal with and was busy with his own martial arts, so we saw very little of each other. When he taught me martial arts, he was strict and didn't say much to me. But first brother was very close to me; he would say, sister this and sister that. Later on when the two argued, I sided with first brother."

Lu'E said, "Mother, what did the two uncles argued about?"

Qiu Qianchi's face suddenly showed a hint of a smile and said, "This matter is not serious but not too insignificant either; it's just that my second brother was too obstinate. When second brother became the chief of the Iron Palm Clan, his name 'Iron Palm Water Floater Qiu Qianren' was famous throughout the world of the Wulin. Very few knew my elder brother's name. Whenever my elder brother went out, he would sometimes borrow my second brother's name for convenience. The two of them looked the same and were real brothers, so what's so bad about borrowing his name? But second brother didn't see it this way; he would argue about this all the time, saying elder brother was a swindler and trickster. My elder brother had a good temper; whenever second brother scolded him he would just laugh and apologize. One time, second brother went too far. I couldn't do anything and so added a few words to help first brother. This brought trouble onto me and we argued. I left the Iron Palm Peak in anger and never returned.”

“I roamed Jianghu by myself. One time, I was pursuing a scoundrel and came to the Passionless Valley by accident. This was punishment for the bad deeds in my last life and I met Gongsun Zhi... this evil... this evil scoundrel. We eventually got married. I was older than him by a few years and my martial arts were a lot stronger than his. After we got married not only did I teach him martial arts, I looked after his everyday needs; he didn’t have to do anything in the valley. His family’s martial arts have its ingenious aspects but there were too many holes in them. It was me who thought about it carefully and helped him improve it. One time, a strong enemy attacked; if it wasn’t for me driving them away, this Passionless Valley would have been flattened long ago. Who could have predicted that this scoundrel would repay these deeds with ingratitude? After he grew his wings he forgot about where all his martial arts came from, and who saved him in his time of danger.” She then spurted out a load of insults and curses with the insults becoming eviler as it went on.

Lu’E blushed when she heard this; she felt that insulting her husband like this in front of Yang Guo was a bit embarrassing. She kept on calling out, “Mother, mother!” But how could she stop her? Yang Guo loved it; he hated Gongsun Zhi too and enjoyed these insults immensely. He couldn’t stop himself from adding a few words to stir Qiu Qianchi’s mood further. If it wasn’t for Lu’E, he too would have opened his mouth and insulted him as well.

Qiu Qianchi exhausted her insults until nothing new could be added; she had repeated everything she said and had to stop. She continued, “That year I was pregnant with you and it was unavoidable that my character would become a bit more anxious and worried. Who knew that while it seemed like he treated me the same on the outside, he was having an affair with a maid behind my back. After you were born, he still carried on with this maid. I didn't know anything; I thought that after we had this beautiful daughter, he would treat me better. I was deceived by them for a few years. One day I accidentally stumbled across them and heard them discussing about leaving the valley together and never returning."

"I was hiding behind a tree and heard that scoundrel say that he was worried about how high my martial arts were and the further they went the better; how I was too controlling and didn't give him any freedom. He said he only felt alive when he was with that bitch maid. I had always thought his feelings for me were real, but when I heard this I was so angry that I almost fainted. I wanted to dash forward and kill the two right there and then. Although he was heartless, I still looked back fondly upon the many years of us being a husband and wife. He was originally a good person, this must be the fault of that seducing bitch using her charms on him. I held my anger and stood behind the tree, listening carefully."

"I heard them say that two days later I'll be meditating for seven days and nights without leaving the room. They would take this chance to leave the valley, and by the time I've found out seven days later, they'll be long gone. I shivered when I heard this; heaven must have pitied me to give me this chance to see through their plans. Otherwise, where on earth would I be able to find them seven days later?" By this point, her teeth were chattering with fury.

Lu'E asked, "What was the young maid called? Was she beautiful?"

Qiu Qianchi said, "Crap! Beautiful my arse! This maid seduced him through her words; whatever the bastard said she agreed with and she would sweet talk him saying that he was the greatest man on this earth, that he was a great hero. Huh, that bitch was called Rou'er. That Gongsun Zhi with his sinful ancestors, what stance or form of his that I don't know? He's a great hero? He's not even worthy to be a follower of my big brother; if he tried to pour wine for my second brother he would be kicked out on his butt."

By this point, Yang Guo was beginning to feel a little sympathy for Gongsun Zhi, he thought, "It must be because you were too controlling and that your looking down on him was what forced him to finally fight back."

Lu'E was afraid that her mother would break out in another bout of non stop cursing, so she asked quickly, "Mother, what happened then?"

Qiu Qianchi said, "The two animals had decided that in the morning on the third day, they'll meet there again and leave together. They said that in the two upcoming days they'll need to be extremely careful and not leave any clues as to what they were doing in case I found out. The two then continued on with talking rubbish. The bitch looked at the bastard captivated, as if she were looking at someone more important than the Emperor; revering him more than gods and goddesses. That bastard felt proud of himself; he kept on praising himself and then hugged and touched that slut. Their shameless actions almost angered me to death right there and then. Early on the third day, I pretended to meditate in the meditation chamber while Gongsun Zhi came over and peeked in a few times through the window. I waited for him to leave and then utilized my lightness kung fu and rushed to their meeting place. That bitch had arrived there before him. Without saying a word I grabbed her and tossed her into a Passion Flower thicket...." Yang Guo and Lu'E both gasped.

Qiu Qianchi glanced at them and continued, "After a while Gongsun Zhi arrived; there is no need to describe the panicky state he was in when he saw Rou'er rolling about and crying out in pain in the Passion Flowers. I leaped out from behind the tree and held him with my two hands then threw him down into the thicket as well. The valley has an antidote to the Passion Flower poison that had been passed down from generation to generation; it is called the Passionless Pill. Gongsun Zhi struggled and picked himself up; he then helped that slut off the ground and rushed to the pill room, wanting to get the Passionless Pill to cure their poison. Ha-ha, guess what they saw?"

Lu'E said, "Mother, what did they see?"

Yang Guo thought, "You must have destroyed all the Passionless Pills; what else could it be?"

Qiu Qianchi did indeed say, "Ha-ha, when he got to the room, he saw a bowl filled with frosty arsenic water and hundreds of Passionless Pills soaking in the bowl. If he wanted to take the Passionless Pill he would have to take in the poison of the frosty arsenic water; if he didn't take it, he would still die. The method of producing the Passionless Pill is a family secret. It is extremely difficult to get all the precious herbs and medicines to produce them. To make a batch of Passionless Pills requires the spring dew and autumn frost; it will take three years to make. He then rushed to the meditation chamber and begged on his knees for their lives. He knew that I would muse over on our marriage and wouldn't destroy all the pills, keeping some just in case. He struck himself across the face many times; he cried and swore that if I spared the two them he would send Rou'er away and never see her again. And he said he would never dare to do such a thing again."

"As I heard him beg, his mouth kept on talking about Rou'er. I was angry and took out a Passionless Pill and put it on the table. I said, 'There is only one Passionless Pill left. Only one of you can live. You know that it would be of no use if you each take half. You decide whether you want to save her or save yourself.' He immediately took the pill with him and hurried to the pill room. I followed after him. By that time, the bitch was in unbearable pain and was rolling about on the floor.

Gongsun Zhi said, 'Rou'er, go in peace. I'll follow you in death.' He then drew out a sword.

When Rou'er saw how loving he was, she was extremely touched and said, 'Good, good. We'll be a husband and wife in the underworld.' Gongsun Zhi pierced her chest with the sword and killed her.

"I was outside the pill room looking in through the window and was slightly alarmed, I was afraid that the second move will go for his throat. When he raised the sword, I was about to call out to him to stop; but then I saw him wiping the blood away from his sword on Rou'er's body before putting the sword back into its sheath. He turned to the window and said, 'Sister Chi, I'm willing to repent; I've killed that bitch with my own hands, just spare me.'" He lifted his hand towards his mouth and swallowed the Passionless Pill. This wasn't something that I had expected, but since it had ended this way and he was repenting sincerely, I was very pleased. He then planned a feast to apologize to me. I scolded him for awhile and he kept on saying that he deserved to die and he swore hundreds of poisonous oaths, saying that he would never betray me again."

Yang Guo thought, "You're falling into his trap!" However Lu'E was in tears.

Qiu Qianchi said angrily, "What? You pity that bastard?" Lu'E shook her head and didn't say anything. She was actually crying at her father's cruelty and heartlessness.

Qiu Qianchi continued, "I drank two cups of wine and chuckled; I then took out another Passionless Pill from my pockets and placed it on the table. I laughed, 'You might have acted a bit too fast; I was just testing what kind of person you were. If you had begged for just a little while longer I would have given two pills to you. You would have been able to save the life of that little beauty, wouldn't that have been great?'"

Lu'E quickly asked, "Mother, if he actually did beg you for a little while longer, would you have given him two pills?"

Qiu Qianchi thought for a while and said, "I don't know. At that time, the thought of saving that slut passed through my mind. If I saved her and sent her away, then Gongsun Zhi would have been touched by this and might have actually come back to me, not daring to do such things again. But all he cared about was his life and he quickly killed his own lover. That can't be blamed on me."

"Gongsun Zhi picked up the Passionless Pill and looked at it for a long while before he raised his cup and laughed, 'Sister Chi, that's in the past, why bring it up? It's better to kill that girl and tie things up neatly. Let's drink.' I was slightly suspicious when he kept on telling me to drink but I was feeling great and joyful and actually became quite drunk. By the time I woke up, I was already down in this grotto and the tendons in my arms and legs had been destroyed by him. That bastard did not have the guts to see me again. Huh, he must have thought that I'd died long ago."

When she finished talking about this, her eyes suddenly developed a fierce light and her expression was terrifying. Yang Guo and Lu'E both turned away, not daring to look her in the eye. The three of them didn't say a single word for a long, long time.

Lu'E took a look around and all saw that the only things in the cave were rocks, hair and grass; she said somberly, "Mother, have you been relying on these dates only for all these years?"

Qiu Qianchi said, "Yes. Do you think that bastard would send me food?"

Lu'E hugged her and cried, "Mother!"

Yang Guo said, "Has Gongsun Zhi ever mentioned an exit to this grotto?"

Qiu Qianchi chuckled, "He never mentioned that there was such a grotto and pool beneath the manor in all the years we were married. If there was another exit, that bastard would not have put me here. He put those crocodiles in the pool afterwards; he was still afraid that that I would somehow manage to get out."

Yang Guo looked around and saw that indeed there was no other way out apart from the entrance. He lifted his head and looked at the hole in the grotto roof. It was at least a thousand feet off the ground, the tallest tree down there was just forty or fifty feet tall, even if twenty of them were stacked together they would not reach the roof. He thought for a while but couldn't come up with anything. He then said, "I'll take a look from the top of the tree." He then leapt on top of a date tree and saw that there were bumps and grooves higher up the stone walls; it wasn't like down below where it was all smooth and slippery. He then climbed up along the wall and was getting higher and higher; he was pleased and turned back to Lu'E and called out, "Miss Gongsun, if I can get out I'll let a rope down and get both of you out."

He climbed up about six or seven hundred feet; with his outstanding lightness kung fu, he managed to turn all the dangers he met along the way into minor obstacles. But when he was about seventy or eighty feet away from the entrance, the walls became smooth and slippery without any hand holds and the walls slanted inwards as well. You wouldn't be able to get out unless you were a fly.

Yang Guo took a look around and saw that the opening of the cave was around ten feet wide; more than enough space for someone to pass through. He had a plan and slipped back down to the bottom of the grotto and said, "We can get out! But we'll need a long rope." He then took out the dagger and cut bark off the date trees and tied them into a rope. Gongsun Lu'E was delighted and helped him. Although the two were quick, they had to work for over four hours. The sky was dark before they finished forming an extremely long rope made out of tree bark.

Yang Guo held the rope and tugged it a few times with force; he said, "It won't snap." He then used the dagger to cut off a branch that was around fifteen feet in length and tied one end of the rope to the middle of the branch and wrapped the rope up around it. He then climbed up along the wall again until he neared the top. He then used the "Thousand Kilogram Fall" in his legs to secure his footing and circulated energy into his arms. He shouted out, "Get up!" He threw the tree branch towards the opening of the cave. He used just the right amount of energy and when the branch came back down, it hung across the opening of the cave. Yang Guo pulled the rope to make sure the branch was secure across the opening of the cave. Just two tugs, after which he felt the branch was tight, secure and would be able to take his weight. He called out, "I'm going up!" He grabbed the rope and climbed up it; he looked down and saw that Lu'E and her mother had become two small black images in the indistinct evening light.

He used more strength in his hands and climbed up even quicker; in a short while he had reached the branch that was hanging across the opening of the cave. He bent his arms and a 'hu' sound was heard as he flew out of the cave and landed on the ground.

He took in a few deep breaths and then stood up. He saw that a bright moon had risen in the east above the mountains. He had been trapped down in the pool and grotto for half a day; now as he gained freedom, he felt an indescribable comfort and thought, "Will I feel no boredom at all if I stay in the tomb with Gu Gu? It is clear that the affect of the surroundings depends on one's feelings; if one wants to get out but can't they'll feel troubled in their hearts; but for those who don't want to get out, getting out will create misery." He then lowered the rope.

As soon as Qiu Qianchi saw Yang Guo climb out of the cave, she cursed her daughter, "Stupid girl, how can you let him get out by himself? Why would he still be worried about us once he gets out?"

Lu'E said, "Mother, relax, brother Yang is not that sort of person."

Qiu Qianchi said angrily, "All men are the same; what good men are there?" She then turned her head towards her daughter and looked at her carefully, she said, "Stupid girl, you've been taken advantage of by him haven't you?"

Lu'E's face went red and said, "Mother, what are you trying to say, I don't understand."

Qiu Qianchi was even angrier and said, "If you don't understand then why did your face go red? Let me tell you, when it comes to men you cannot give them one single step, you cannot be careless; can't you see what happened to your mother?" Just as she was beginning to carry on non-stop, Lu'E got up and caught the rope. She tied it around tightly around her mother's waist and smiled, "Look, does brother Yang care about us or not?" She then tugged on the rope signaling to Yang Guo that she had tied her mother in place.

Qiu Qianchi gave a 'heng' grunt and said, "Let me tell you, once we get back up you better make sure you hold onto him tightly and don't give him an inch. Zhang fu, zhang fu (zhang fu=husband, zhang= ten feet), within ten feet they are still your husband but once outside of ten feet, they're not your husband anymore, do you understand? Your grandpa named your mother Qianchi, a thousand (qian) feet (chi) is a hundred zhang, ha-ha, what husband is there outside of a thousand feet?"

Lu'E was amused but sad at the same time; she thought, "Mother's thinking really is wishful; he hasn't got a place for me in his heart." Her eyes went red and she turned her head.

Qiu Qianchi was just about to say something when she felt the rope around her waist tighten and her body lifted upwards slowly into the air. Lu'E looked at her mother and although she knew that Yang Guo would immediately lower the rope to rescue her, she was alone in this grotto all by herself for the time being and started to tremble with fear.

Yang Guo pulled Qiu Qianchi out of the cave and untied the rope from her waist. He lowered the rope down for a second time. Only after wrapping the rope around her waist did Lu'E relax a little; she pulled on the rope and felt it tighten around her waist; her body rose up into the air. She saw that the date trees at the bottom of the cave were getting smaller and smaller, while the stars above her were getting brighter and brighter. Just a few more tens of feet and she would be able to get out of the cave.

Suddenly she heard someone shout out from the opening followed by the rope getting loose and her body fall straight back down. What chance is there of staying alive while dropping hundreds of feet? Lu'E screamed and almost fainted; she felt her body plummeting downwards but could do nothing about it.

Yang Guo was pulling Lu'E up and saw that he was about to bring her out when suddenly he heard footsteps from behind him; someone had actually come to attack him from behind. He was extremely startled by this; he couldn't worry about trying to turn around to fight off the attacker and just pulled the rope as quickly as possible.

He heard the attacker shout; "What are you doing sneaking around here?" The sound of a ferocious wind followed, and an extremely long and heavy weapon was sent out towards his back.

From the sounds of the weapon, Yang Guo knew it was the short man Fan Yiweng; with this danger he could only return his left hand and push the staff away, dispersing the force of this attack. Fan Yiweng couldn't see Yang Guo's face in this darkness but knew that his opponent was highly skilled. He took back his staff and swept the staff out again towards his opponent's waist; he had put all his strength behind this attack and really wanted to break his opponent into two pieces.

Yang Guo was holding up Lu'E along with the fairly weighty long rope with his right hand only, in a little while he would struggle to keep control. When he saw the staff come towards him again, he again sent out his left palm to disperse the attack. He didn't predict that this attack of Fan Yiweng's was so ferocious, when his left palm met the staff his whole body trembled, his right hand couldn't hold on and the rope slipped with Lu'E plummeting downwards.

From the screams of Lu'E, one could tell that she was at the top of the grotto; Qiu Qianchi and Yang Guo both called out. Yang Guo didn't care about defending himself against the staff and sent his left hand forward as he bent to take the rope. But the force that Lu'E was falling down with was extremely high; the weight of Lu'E and the rope along with their plummeting speed created a force of about a thousand kilos. Yang Guo just held the rope for a little while before the force pulled him forwards headfirst towards the entrance of the cave. Though his martial arts were high, he couldn't make a single move right now.

Qiu Qianchi's martial arts had been lost along with the tendons in her arms and legs; she could only watch anxiously from the side as the rope outside the cave became shorter and shorter. Once the rope reaches its end, Yang Guo and Lu'E would fall tragically to their deaths. The end of the rope flew towards Qiu Qianchi as the rope pulled down quickly with Yang Guo and Lu'E's weight. As it neared its end, Qiu Qianchi had an idea, "You evil bastard, I'm going to take you with us." She made sure of her aim and struck the rope, though there wasn't much force behind the push, she managed to get the direction right and made it wrap around Fan Yiweng's waist tightly a few times.

Fan Yiweng felt the rope around his waist tighten and quickly used the "Thousand Kilogram Fall" to steady himself. But he had both Yang Guo's and Lu'E's weight to contend with along with their plummeting force; it brought him step by step closer towards the cave entrance. Fan Yiweng saw that just another step forward and he too would fall into the cave. With this shock he quickly held the rope with his left hand and braced himself against the cave with his right hand, he gave a shout as he used the cave for support and actually managed to stop the rope.

At that time, Lu'E was just a few tens of feet off the ground; she really was a hairsbreadth away from death. The most powerful force is the force of a falling object, a little stone falling from such a height would have tremendous force in it, by the time Fan Yiweng had exerted all his strength to oppose the falling force, his hands only had two hundred or so kilos to contend with, this was nothing to him. His right hand held the rope and he moved his left hand towards his waist to untie the rope to let his enemy fall when suddenly he felt a subtle pain on his back, a sharp object was pressed against the 'Spirit Stage' pressure point below his sixth vertebrae; a woman's voice shouted, "Quickly pull them up! Damage to the 'Spirit Stage' will lead to ruin of the veins!"

Fan Yiweng was shocked, these words of "damage to the 'Spirit Stage' will lead to ruin of the veins" were the exact words of warning that his Master had told him when teaching him pressure point sealing martial arts. He didn't dare to go against this person's orders and pulled Yang Guo and Lu'E up with his arms. The falling force he had just opposed was extremely ferocious; right now he felt pressure in his chest and a desire to throw up blood. He knew that he had suffered an internal injury and he shouldn't use any force; but his life was in the hands of his enemy, he could only risk his life and comply. He pulled Yang Guo up very easily and then felt his chest widen, his limbs became limp and he threw up blood violently before falling down onto the ground.

The roped slipped once more as he loosened his hand. Qiu Qianchi called out, "Quickly save her!" Yang Guo did not need any prompts; he grabbed the rope and eventually pulled Lu'E up. Lu'E had fainted from shock after being dropped down and pulled up so many times. Yang Guo first sealed the 'Hidden Rabbit' and 'Large Bone' pressure points of Fan Yiweng to stop his arms and legs from moving before waking Lu'E up.

Lu'E regained consciousness slowly; when she opened her eyes she did not know where she was; under the moonlight she saw Yang Guo laughing and looking at her. She threw herself into his arms and called out, "Brother Yang, are we dead? Is this the underworld?"

Yang Guo laughed, "Yep, we're both dead."

Lu'E noticed something was wrong with his tone; there was a hint of teasing behind it and she moved backwards to look at his face clearly. She saw her mother looking at her with her expression that was neither a smile nor a scowl; Lu'E was embarrassed and called out, "Mother!" She stood up.

Yang Guo saw that although Qiu Qianchi had lost her martial arts, she was still able to subdue Fan Yiweng and saved his life as a result. He had much respect for her and asked, "How did Senior subdue that shortie?"

Qiu Qianchi gave a faint smile and raised her hand; there was a sharp stone in it. She taught Gongsun Zhi's pressure point sealing techniques and Fan Yiweng was taught by Gongsun Zhi. The same things were passed from Qiu Qianchi down to Fan Yiweng with no difference in the formulae. She had placed the sharp stone on Fan Yiweng's 'Spirit Stage' pressure point and called out the frightening words of "damage to the 'Spirit Stage' will lead to ruin of the veins"; how could Fan Yiweng not get alarmed? But with the strength in Qiu Qianchi's hand and with such a small stone, how could she cause 'ruin of the veins'?

Right now Yang Guo's thoughts were only about the safety of Xiao Longnu. Since Lu'E and Qiu Qianchi are safe and Fan Yiweng subdued, he said, "You two wait here for a while, I need to deliver this Passionless Pill."

Qiu Qianchi was surprised and said, "What Passionless Pill? You've got a Passionless Pill?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes, please take a look to see whether it's the real thing." He then took out the little jar and removed the square shaped pill from it.

Qiu Qianchi took it from him and sniffed it a few times before saying, "This is it, how did it get into your hands? Since you've got the poison why haven't you taken it yet?"

Yang Guo said, "It's a long story, I'll tell Senior all about it once I've delivered the pill." He took the pill back and was about to go on his way.

Lu'E was sad and concerned for him, she said quietly, "Brother Yang, you must avoid my father, don't let him see you."

Qiu Qianchi shouted, "You still call him father! If you ever call him father again then don't call me mother."

Yang Guo said, "I'm delivering this pill to my Gu Gu to cure her poison; Valley Master Gongsun will not stop me."

Lu'E said, "If he tries to do something evil to you again, what then?"

Yang Guo laughed wryly and said, "Then I'll just deal with it one step at a time."

Qiu Qianchi asked, "You're going to see Gongsun Zhi, aren't you?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes."

Qiu Qianchi said, "Fine, I'll go with you; maybe I'll be able to help."

All Yang Guo wanted to do was to deliver the pill to Xiao Longnu; he hadn't even made a plan yet; when he heard these words of Qiu Qianchi, his mind suddenly lit up. "If that scoundrel's wife is there, how can he marry Gu Gu?" In his delight he suddenly thought, "But there is only one Passionless Pill; though I'll be able to save Gu Gu, death is unavoidable for me." He became depressed as he thought about this.

Lu'E watched the sudden changes on his face, from delight then to distress; she then thought about her parents meeting up again and what kind of trouble that would bring. Her heart was in confusion and turmoil.

But Qiu Qianchi was feeling great, she said, "Lu'E, carry me on your back."

Lu'E said, "Mother, you need to wash first and change your clothes." She was really afraid of what would happen when her parents meet up again and was just hoping to delay things as much as possible.

Qiu Qianchi said angrily, "I'm in rags, I'm dirty all over, whose fault is this? Could it be...?" She suddenly thought about the times when her brother Qiu Qianzhang pretended to be her second brother Qiu Qianren; he had frightened countless members of the world of Wulin by doing this. The tendons in her arms and legs had been destroyed so even if she sees Gongsun Zhi, how is she a match for him? How could she take revenge? The only thing she could do is pretend to be her second brother and frighten Gongsun Zhi; she'll then wait for an opportunity to take his life. Luckily he had never seen her second brother before and he must have thought that she had died in the grotto long ago; he would have no suspicions. Another thought went through her mind, "We've been husband and wife for so many years; how will he not recognize me?"

When Yang Guo saw the troubled expression on her face, he was fairly certain of what she was thinking and said, "Senior is afraid that Gongsun Zhi will recognize you, right? I've got something on me that may help." He took out the human skin mask and put it on her; a terrifying face was now seen instead.

Qiu Qianchi was delighted and took the mask, she said, "Lu'E, we'll first go and hide in the forest behind the manor. Go and get me a coarse grass linen gown and get me a large fan, and don't forget." Lu'E nodded and picked up her mother.

Yang Guo took a look around and saw that they were on the peak of a mountain. There were luxuriant forests everywhere; he could see the stone manor. It was a couple of li away.

Qiu Qianchi sighed and said, "This peak is called the Angry Ghost Peak. Stories about the peak have been passed down from generation to generation in this valley, saying that there are ghosts around here. No one dares to come up here. Who could have thought that my return into this world would be by way of this Angry Ghost Peak?"

Yang Guo shouted at Fan Yiweng, "What are you doing here?"

Fan Yiweng showed no fear and shouted, "Just kill me quickly, stop your babbling."

Yang Guo said, "Valley Master Gongsun sent you here?"

Fan Yiweng said angrily, "Yes, Master ordered me to scout the surroundings in case there were evil scoundrels around; master was right, there are people sneaking around who are up to no good." As he talked, he took a look at Qiu Qianchi; he didn't know who this old granny was and why on earth did Miss Gongsun call her mother. Fan Yiweng was older than the Gongsun couple; when Gongsun Zhi took him as a disciple, Qiu Qianchi had already been trapped down in the grotto. Because of this, he didn't recognize her; but from the words of the three, he knew they were plotting something against his Master.

From his words, Qiu Qianchi could tell that he was extremely loyal to Gongsun Zhi; she was furious and said to Yang Guo, "Quickly kill that short man, don't leave trouble for the future."

Yang Guo turned around to Fan Yiweng and saw that he showed no fear; he respected the fact that he was a good man and wanted to spare him. Right now he needed help from Qiu Qianchi and couldn't disobey her. He said, "Miss Gongsun, take your mother and make your way, I'll follow immediately once I've killed him."

Gongsun Lu'E knew that her senior apprentice brother was a righteous and good man; she couldn't bear to see him die and said, "Brother Yang, my senior apprentice brother is not a bad person..."

Qiu Qianchi shouted angrily, "Go, go! You don't listen to anything I say, what use have I got for a daughter like you?"

Lu'E didn't dare to say anything else and searched for a way down the peak.

Yang Guo went to Fan Yiweng and whispered, "Brother Fan, the pressure points of your arms and legs have been sealed; they will unseal by themselves in twelve hours time. I haven't got anything against you and I can't kill you." He then utilized his lightness kung fu and chased after Lu'E.

Fan Yiweng had closed his eyes and was waiting for his death; there was no way that he could have predicted that Yang Guo would treat him like this. He was stunned and couldn't say anything; he opened his eyes and watched the three disappear into the darkness.

Yang Guo was anxious to see Xiao Longnu and didn't like the slow pace of Lu'E so he said, "Senior Qiu, I'll carry you for a while."

At first Lu'E was worried about the frosty reception between Yang Guo and her mother; but when she heard that he was willing to carry her, she was delighted and said, "It's your turn to work a little."

Qiu Qianchi said, "I carried this beautiful daughter in my womb for nine months and she became yours with just a word, don't you think that I deserve to be carried by you for a while?"

Yang Guo was startled but felt it was inappropriate to reply; he put her on his back and stirred his chi, then shot down the mountain like an arrow from a bow.

Qiu Qianren was named the 'Iron Palm Water Floater'; his lightness kung fu could be as considered as the best in Wulin. Years ago when he was chased by Zhou Botong for ten thousands of miles, he went from the central plains straight to Xuyu. Even with Zhou Botong's great martial arts he wasn't able to catch up with Qiu Qianren. Qiu Qianchi's martial arts were taught to her personally by her brother; before her martial arts were lost, her lightness kung fu was first class. Now, as she was being carried by Yang Guo, she felt him move as if his feet weren't touching the ground and he was flying along. He was running fast and steadily; she gave him much respect and was surprised, "This little kid's lightness kung fu is completely different to my clan's but it is definitely not below that of the Iron Clan's martial arts; I cannot look down on him." She had felt that her daughter was losing out in not marrying this kid; but her daughter had decided there was nothing she could do. Right now she was beginning to feel that this future son in law was deserving of her daughter.

In a short while Yang Guo reached the bottom of the peak. He turned around to look for Lu'E and saw that she was still somewhere around the middle. After a long while she reached the bottom of the mountain; by that time she was breathing heavily and her forehead was covered with sweat.

The three of them made their way quietly to the back of the manor. Lu'E did not dare to go into the manor and went to a neighboring building to borrow clothes for herself and the gown and fan that her mother wanted. She also borrowed a gown for Yang Guo. Qiu Qianchi wore the human skin mask and put on the gown; her hand held the fan and she let Yang Guo and Lu'E support her as they made their way into the manor.

As they made their way, the three of them were filled with thoughts. Qiu Qianchi had not been back here for over ten years; as she returned to old grounds, she felt a great release. But then she saw that grand red lanterns were hung at the door of the manor; she took a closer look and saw that the doors were decorated for a celebration; drums and music could also be heard from inside the hall.

All the servants were startled when they saw Qiu Qianchi and Yang Guo; but when they saw Lu'E with them, they didn't dare to say anything.

The three went straight into the hall and saw that it was filled with guests; most of them were the neighbors of the Narcissus Manor of the Passionless Valley. Gongsun Zhi was dressed in a groom's outfit and stood on the left. The bride was standing on the right wearing a Phoenix Hat and red veil; though her face was covered, one could see that she had a fine figure; this was Xiao Longnu.

The firelight in the courtyard flickered. Three loud noises were heard. The person leading the procession sang, "The time has come, the newlyweds bow to the heaven and earth!"

Qiu Qianchi laughed; it made the candlelight flicker and tiles of the house tremble. She said clearly, "If the newlyweds bow to the heaven and earth, what about the wed of old?"

Though the tendons in her arms and legs were snapped, her internal energy was not affected. She had nothing to do in the grotto and practiced bitterly night and day. Her ten years of cultivation was superior to those who've cultivated for twenty years. As these words were shouted out, the ears of all the people in the room rang. The room darkened as ten or so candles went out.

Everyone was shocked and all turned their heads. Gongsun Zhi was already shocked when he heard the shout; but when he saw Yang Guo and his daughter safe and sound beside this concealed guest, he was even more startled; he shouted, "Who's this guest?"

Qiu Qianchi tightened her throat and chuckled, "You and I have a close relationship; are you pretending that you don't know me?" When she spoke these words she had submerged her chi into her 'dan tian'; though she didn't speak loudly, the words reverberated far and wide.

Mountains surrounded the Passionless Valley and after a while the echoes came back with repetitions of “You don’t know me? You don’t know me?”

Jinlun Fawang, Yin Kexi and Xiaoxiang Zi and the others were watching the procession from the side; when they heard Qiu Qianchi’s voice, they knew that an eminent person had arrived and everyone looked at each other.

Gongsun Zhi saw this person was wearing a coarse grass linen gown and was holding a fan; the description of his brother in law Qiu Qianren from his wife matched this person and this person’s internal energy was amazing. But the face looked odd; it looked like the face of Zhou Botong when he was disguising himself as Xiaoxiang Zi. There must be something awry here. He prepared himself and said coldly, “I have never met this guest before so isn’t this close relationship a joke?”

Yin Kexi was versed in Wulin affairs; when he saw Qiu Qianchi’s coarse grass linen gown and fan, his mind lit up and asked, “Could it be that Iron Palm Water Floater Qiu Qianren senior Qiu Lao is here?”

Qiu Qianchi laughed and fluttered her fan a few times before saying, “And I thought that all the people who knew this old and useless man had all died long ago; so there’s one remaining.”

Gongsun Zhi was unmoved and said, “Are you really Qiu Qianren? I’m afraid that it’s just some lying scoundrel.”

Qiu Qianchi was shocked and thought, “This bastard is clever; how does he know that I’m not my brother?” She couldn’t see how he saw through her and just chuckled, not replying.

Yang Guo ignored the games of the couple and dashed over to Xiao Longnu. He held the Passionless Pill in his right hand and lifted the veil across her face with his left hand, he said, "Gu Gu, open your mouth."

Xiao Longnu's heart skipped a beat when she saw Yang Guo again; her shock and delight amassed together at once and she said, "You... you are indeed better." She knew that Gongsun Zhi was an evil and cruel man; she only agreed to marry him because she wanted to save Yang Guo's life. When Yang Guo suddenly appeared in front of her again, she thought that Gongsun Zhi had kept to his word and cured his poison.

Yang Guo placed the pill in her hand and said, "Quickly swallow!"

Xiao Longnu did not know what it was but did as she was told. After a short while, she felt a cool air penetrating through her 'dan tian'.

The hall broke out in chaos; when Gongsun Zhi saw that Yang Guo had come here again to cause trouble, he wanted to go up and stop him; but he was worried about the concealed strange guest. He didn't know whether or not that person really was his brother-in-law Iron Palm Water Floater Qiu Qianren and didn't dare make a move for the time being.

Yang Guo tore off Xiao Longnu's Phoenix Hat and red veil; then pulled her to the side and said, "Gu Gu; that scoundrel Valley Master is going to suffer, let's watch."

Xiao Longnu was confused and just leaned on Yang Guo; she didn't know what to say.

Ma Guangzuo felt unspeakable delight when he saw Yang Guo suddenly appearing here again. He went to him and kept on asking questions; the thought of him disturbing the two never entered his mind. Yin Kexi had heard that twenty years ago, Qiu Qianren shook the world of Wulin and was extremely famous. Now he heard the laugh and shout which echoed throughout the valley; his internal energy was extremely high and he wanted to meet him. He stepped forward and bowed, saying "Today is Valley Master Gongsun's day of celebration; has Senior Qiu Lao come for the celebrations as well?"

Qiu Qianchi pointed to Gongsun Zhi and said, "Do you know who that person is to me?"

Yin Kexi said, "I don't know, but I would like to know."

Qiu Qianchi said, "You need to ask him yourself."

Gongsun Zhi asked again, "Are you really the Iron Palm Water Floater? That's strange!" He clapped his hands and said to a disciple in green, "Go to the library and bring the box from the shelf on the eastern side to me."

Lu'E did not know what to do and just pulled a chair over for her mother to sit down in.

Gongsun Zhi was surprised, "How come she and that Yang scum are still alive after falling into the crocodile pool?"

In a short while, the disciple returned with the box and handed it over to Gongsun Zhi. Gongsun Zhi opened it and took out a letter. He said frostily, "Years ago, I received a letter from Qiu Qianren. If you really are Qiu Qianren then this letter is a fake."

Qiu Qianchi was shocked and thought, "Ever since brother and I argued, we've never contacted each other; why did he send a letter to me all of a sudden? What's in the letter?"

She then said loudly, "When did I write a letter to you? That really is a load of bull."

When Gongsun Zhi heard her accent, he suddenly remembered someone. He was shocked and his back broke out in a cold sweat; but he immediately thought, "It can't be, it can't be; she died long ago in that grotto, she's just a pile of bones now. But who exactly is this person?" He opened the letter and read it out loud: "To Brother Zhi and Sister Chi: Ever since first brother died at the hands of Guo Jing and Huang Rong on Iron Palm Peak..."

When Qiu Qianchi heard this line she was filled with hurt and sorrow; she shouted, "What? Who said my brother is dead?" The sibling love between she and Qiu Qianzhang was extremely deep; when she heard news of his death her whole body shook and her voice changed. Originally she had submerged her chi into her 'dan tian' and it was difficult to distinguish whether her voice was a male's or female. Now, as her feelings were brought out, the words 'who said my brother is dead' were said with a female voice.

Gongsun Zhi heard that the person in front of him had a female voice and said 'my brother', he was shocked even further; but now he was certain that this person in front of him is definitely not Qiu Qianren, he continued reading:

"...this stupid brother had been extremely shameful in not holding our sibling relationship together and creating this hostility between us; all the blame is on this stupid brother. I pondered in the middle of the night and realized all the countless evil deeds I have done. At the second Mount Hua tournament, Reverend Yideng enlightened this stupid brother; I dropped my knife of slaughter and followed the ways of Buddha. I have just begun my studies; apart from Buddha's teachings my mind is always on the joyous days of the past with brother and sister. I wish to make up for the things I've done before it's too late. Fate is a hard thing to judge.

From monk Ci'en."

Qiu Qianchi had been sobbing during all this; by the time Gongsun Zhi finished reading the letter she could hold it in no longer and cried out, "Big brother, second brother, you need to know the suffering I've been through." She took off the mask and shouted, "Gongsun Zhi, do you remember me?" This sentence was shouted out sternly, another seven or eight candles in the hall blew out while the ones that stayed alight flickered.

In the gloomy candlelight, an old woman with a long face and wretched expression could be seen; everyone trembled in fear and no one dared to say anything. The hall was silent and everyone's heart was pounding.

Suddenly, an old servant who was standing in the corner threw himself forward and called out, "Matron, Matron, you're not dead."

Qiu Qianchi nodded and said, "Second Uncle Zhang, you remember me."

This old servant was extremely loyal; when he saw his Matron alive and well, he was delighted and kept on kowtowing, calling out, "Matron, this really is something to rejoice."

Apart from Jinlun Fawang and the others, all the guests were residents of the valley; most of the people over thirty or forty years of age could remember who she was and they all rushed forward with their questions.

Gongsun Zhi shouted loudly, "Stand back!"

The crowd was alarmed and moved back. They saw him pointing to Qiu Qianchi, shouting out, "Witch, why have you returned? You've actually still got the face to see me?"

Lu'E had been hoping that her father would admit his mistakes and get back together with her mother. But when her father came out with this, she became emotional and rushed to her father; she knelt down on the floor and called out, "Father! Mother's not dead, mother's not dead. Quickly apologize and ask for her forgiveness."

Gongsun Zhi chuckled, "Ask her for forgiveness? What have I done wrong?"

Lu'E said, "You trapped mother down that grotto and let her stay down there to suffer for over ten years. Father, how could you do that to her?"

Gongsun Zhi chuckled, "It was she who first harmed me; do you know that? She pushed me in the flower thicket and let me endure the suffering of the piercing of thousands and thousands of thorns; do you know that? She placed the antidote in frosty arsenic water, putting me in a situation where if I took it I'd die, if I didn't I'll still die; do you know that? She even forced me to... to kill my lover; do you know that?"

Lu'E cried, "I know that, it was Rou'er."

Gongsun Zhi had not heard this name for over ten years; his face changed as he heard it and he faced the sky, mumbling, "Yes, it was Rou'er, it was Rou'er!" He pointed to Qiu Qianchi and said with revulsion, "It was that evil and cruel witch who forced me to kill Rou'er!" His face was becoming more and more mournful; he quietly called out, "Rou'er... Rou'er..."

Yang Guo felt that sinful couples were not good people. He was poisoned himself and had only a few days to live; he just hoped that he could spend these few days with Xiao Longnu in peace. He didn't care about which one of the Gongsun couple was wrong or right; he lightly tugged on Xiao Longnu's sleeve and whispered, "Let's go."

Xiao Longnu said, "Is that woman really his wife? Was she really trapped down in a cave by her husband for over ten years?" She could not believe that such an evil person could exist.

Yang Guo said, "That couple is taking revenge on each other."

Xiao Longnu thought for a while and whispered, "I don't understand this; could it be that she was the same as me and forced into marrying him?" In her thoughts, if two people aren't forced into marriage then they'll be loving and compassionate towards each other; how could they harm each other?

Yang Guo shook his head and said, "There are many bad people in the world, while there's only a few who're good; the thoughts of these people are hard to fathom..."

Suddenly Gongsun Zhi shouted, "Move!" His right leg lifted up and Lu'E's body flew away; she had been kicked by her father.

Her body was flying straight towards Qiu Qianchi's upper body. Qiu Qianchi could not move her arms and legs; she could only lower her head to avoid her. But Lu'E was coming in too fast; a 'peng' sound was heard as she crashed into the shoulders of her mother. Qiu Qianchi fell backwards with the chair, her bald head crashing into the stone pillar behind her. Blood stained the stone pillar and she couldn't crawl back up. After being kicked by her father, Lu'E was on the floor as well, lying unconscious.

End of Chapter 19.

Chapter 20 - A Hero's Imperative

Translated by Noodles

The Mongolians attacked Xiang Yang once again. Arrows and stones were sent towards the city like rain and hail. The soldiers at the front of the attack placed ladders around the city of Xiang Yang and climbed up. The city was guarded tightly; groups of eight soldiers held a wooden ram in the arms and were knocking the ladders off the city walls.

Yang Guo wanted to keep himself away from this dispute but when he saw how cruel Gongsun Zhi was, his anger erupted and he decided to step forward to argue with him. Just as he was about to do this, Xiao Longnu dashed forward and picked up Qiu Qianchi. She patted her 'Jade Pillow' pressure point a few times and controlled the bleeding. She then tore off a piece of cloth from her sleeve and covered her wound before shouting at Gongsun Zhi, "Mr. Gongsun, she is your wife, how can you treat her like that? Since you've already got a wife, why do you still want to marry me? Even if I married you, won't you treat me just as you've treated her?"

Those three sentences were asked fervently; Gongsun Zhi's tongue was tied and he couldn't reply. Ma Guangzuo couldn't help himself and cheered.

Xiaoxiang Zi said coldly, "This Miss is right."

Gongsun Zhi really did love Xiao Longnu; though he was made speechless by her he didn't get angry, he was just embarrassed; he lowered his tone and said to her, "Sister Liu, how can you compare yourself with that evil woman? I can't love you enough; if I have any ill intent towards you then let heaven condemn me where I stand."

Xiao Longnu said coldly, "All I need is him to love me; even if your love for me is a hundred times stronger I wouldn't care." She then went over to Yang Guo and held his hand.

Yang Guo was filled with resentment, he thought, "Gu Gu loves me like this yet I just have a few days to live and it's all because of this bastard." He pointed to Gongsun Zhi and shouted, "You said you have no ill intent towards my Gu Gu, huh! You left me for dead and then lied to my Gu Gu to get her to marry you; is that good intent? She's been poisoned by the Passion Flowers and you know that there isn't an antidote to cure her, yet you don't tell her, is that good intent?"

Xiao Longnu was shocked and quivered, "Is this true?"

Yang Guo said, "Don't worry; you've already taken the antidote." He then smiled a smile that was filled with grief along with joy, he thought, "I've given the antidote to you; I'm willing to die for you."

Gongsun Zhi looked at Qiu Qianchi and then looked at Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo; his eyes swept across them and jealousy, yearning, anger, shame, embarrassment and disappointment all filled his heart and disturbed him. Although he had great self control, he had now fallen into a semi mad state. He suddenly bent down and took out his yin yang twin blades from under their red cover; he clashed them together and shouted, "Fine, fine! We'll all die together!"

Everyone gasped; they would never have thought that he had actually brought weapons to his wedding ceremony.

Xiao Longnu chuckled, "Guo'er, we don't have to be respectful to such an evil person."

A 'qiang lang' sound was heard as she took out a pair of swords from underneath the bridal gown; it was the 'Gentleman' and 'Lady' swords. Though she wasn't versed in the ways of the world, she did not have an ounce of mercy in her when dealing with such evil people. When she went to take revenge for Grandma Sun, she frightened all the Taoists of Chongyang Palace witless and the Blithe Sage Hao Datong almost lost his life to her. The thought of killing him entered her mind when Gongsun Zhi had stopped her and Yang Guo from getting back together today. She had hidden the weapons beneath her gown so that when Gongsun Zhi cured Yang Guo, she would immediately take the opportunity to attack him with Yang Guo at her side. If it didn't work then she would kill herself for Yang Guo; not allowing herself to be sullied in this Passionless Valley.

All the guests were shocked when they saw that both of them had prepared weapons. Only Fawang and the others, who were experienced, knew that this celebration would end in tragedy and weren't surprised. They were only surprised with the fall of Qiu Qianchi in one attack; this did not match the abilities of someone with the profound internal energy she had just shown.

Yang Guo took the 'Gentleman' sword from Xiao Longnu and said, "Gu Gu, today we'll kill that man to take revenge for me."

Xiao Longnu's 'Lady' sword trembled and she said surprised, "Take revenge for you?"

Yang Guo was filled with sadness in his heart but he couldn't tell her about it, he just said, "This bastard has harmed many people." He flipped his sword and went for Gongsun Zhi's left side. He knew that this battle was extremely dangerous; though Xiao Longnu's Passion Flower poison had been cured, he was still poisoned. If they come together and used the "Pure Heart of Jade Maiden Swordplay" and stirred feelings of love, he would break out with unbearable pain. He kept his eye on the enemy and used "Quanzhen Swordplay"; every stance and form of his was extremely stringent and cautious. If these stances were performed by Ma Yu, Qiu Chuji and the other old Taoists, the stances will of course be performed steadily and controlled, profound and intense. In the hands of Yang Guo it displayed maturity beyond his years but his stances were slightly less smooth.

Gongsun Zhi knew that when the two used their combined swordplay they were powerful so he immediately used the “Yin Yang Wild Blades” with the black sword in his right hand and the gold saber in his left. His stances were getting fiercer and fiercer with every stroke. The “Quanzhen Swordplay” that Yang Guo was using was developed by Wang Chongyang; though it wasn’t vicious and fierce like the opponent’s, it was subtle and had variations. Yang Guo defended cautiously and did not attack as he received three stances. Xiao Longnu called out and raised the ‘Lady’ sword, attacking Gongsun Zhi’s back.

Gongsun Zhi was furious, he thought, “This beautiful girl was going to be my wife and now she’s joined an outsider to attack me.” He continued thinking, “The evil bitch coming back here suddenly and revealing all the things I’ve done has caused me to lose my respect and all face. Not only can’t I force sister Liu to marry me; it looks I won’t be able to keep my position here in the valley.” Though today’s matters are troublesome, he was going to rely on his martial arts to get him out of this mess. All he wanted to do was beat Yang Guo, kidnap Xiao Longnu and run away. He didn’t know that Xiao Longnu’s Passion Flower poison had been cured and still thought that she had less than thirty six days to live; he was still going to force her to marry him. His thoughts were becoming more and more evil and the wild twin blades in his hands were becoming more vicious by the minute.

Xiao Longnu used the “Jade Maiden Swordplay” so that when Yang Guo and she become one, they would be able to unleash the power of the “Pure Heart of the Jade Maiden Swordplay”. But his eyes did not glance over at her once; he was just concentrating on himself as he fought.

Xiao Longnu was extremely surprised and asked, “Guo’er, why aren’t you looking at me?” Her love was gradually being stirred and the light from her sword suddenly enhanced.

When Yang Guo heard her voice, his heart trembled and his chest broke out with an unbearable pain. His sword slowed and a ‘chi’ sound was heard as the black sword cut his sleeve. Xiao Longnu was alarmed and unleashed three stances in a row, blocking Gongsun Zhi’s attack.

Yang Guo said, “I can’t look at you or listen to you.”

Xiao Longnu said tenderly, “Why?”

Yang Guo was afraid that he would meet danger again and replied coarsely, “If you want me to die then continue talking to me!” As soon as his anger stirred the pain immediately stopped and he received the stances of Gongsun Zhi’s black sword.

Xiao Longnu was extremely sorry and said, “Don’t be angry, I won’t say anything more.” Her mind suddenly lit up, “My poison has been cured but his hasn’t! He got the antidote but he didn’t take it and returned here to give it to me.” She was extremely touched and the love in her was boundless; as soon as this feeling grew, the power of the “Pure Heart of Jade Maiden Swordplay” enhanced greatly. The stances that she unleashed protected all of Yang Guo’s vital points. Since she was protecting Yang Guo, Yang Guo should protect her, but he didn’t dare to glance over at her; and so she was completely unprotected and exposed to the enemy’s attack.

Gongsun Zhi's eyes were very sharp; he discovered the weakness in just a few stances but he didn't want to harm a single hair of Xiao Longnu's head. He directed all his vicious sword and saber stances towards Yang Guo. He was attacking like a crashing wave but Yang Guo was defending like an unmovable cliff. With Xiao Longnu using all her efforts to protect him, all of Gongsun Zhi's attacks were actually rendered useless.

By this time, Lu'E had wakened up and stood next to her mother watching the battle. She watched as Xiao Longnu concentrated only on guarding Yang Guo, ignoring all dangers to herself; she couldn't help but ask herself, "If that was you, could you disregard all the dangers to yourself to protect him?" She sighed lightly and said, "I would definitely be able to act like Miss Long, but he would not act the same way towards me."

Just at this time, Qiu Qianchi hissed, "The false saber is not a saber; the false sword is not a sword!"

Both Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were startled when they heard this, they didn't know what she meant by these two sentences."

Qiu Qianchi called out, "The saber is a saber, the sword is a sword!"

Yang Guo had fought Gongsun Zhi twice; all along he has been pondering about where the essence of the "Yin Yang Wild Blades" lies but the light, airy black sword chopped solidly while the heavy gold saber was swift and flighty, following the way of the sword. The stances he was using were the complete opposite to the orthodox martial arts theories. It would be fine if the saber was using sword techniques only and the sword was using saber techniques only; but the reality was, that in the midst of the sword techniques there were saber stances; buried within the saber stances were the lethality of sword strokes. The variation was mysterious and difficult to grasp; when he heard those words of Qiu Qianchi he thought, "Could it be that the sword techniques of the saber and the saber techniques of the sword are all illusions?" He saw the black sword chopping across his shoulders; this was definitely a saber stance. He then treated it as a sword and extended his 'Gentleman' sword forward; the swords collided and they both took a step back. Only then did he know that the black sword was still just a sword, and the saber stances that he was using were merely trying to confuse his opponent. But if the opponent's martial arts were slightly poor, the saber techniques would still be able to cause harm.

With this immediate success, Yang Guo was delighted and continued to search for weaknesses in the opponent's sword and saber. He was thinking that although the jumbled stances were masterly, the ways of these blades would not be refined. A few more stances passed when he heard Qiu Qianchi say, "Attack his right leg; attack his right leg."

Yang Guo saw that Gongsun Zhi's saber was like a blur; there was no open space to attack on his lower body at all. But he thought that, although Qiu Qianchi was not able to perform martial arts anymore, her knowledge was still there. She was the one who taught Gongsun Zhi martial arts; she would definitely know what was real and what was false; so he listened to her and attacked his right leg. Gongsun Zhi swept his saber across and there was no way to hit his right leg; but as he did this, his left shoulder and left side were left unprotected. Yang Guo did not wait for Qiu Qianchi to prompt him and flashed his sword towards him, cutting through his gown underneath his armpit.

Gongsun Zhi cursed and leapt back; he stared angrily at Qiu Qianchi and shouted, "Old witch; do you think I'm going to let you go?" He then continued to attack Yang Guo with the saber and sword.

Yang Guo raised his sword to block the attack. Qiu Qianchi continued, "Kick his back!"

The two of them were facing each other, there was no way he could kick his back; but Yang Guo was confident in Qiu Qianchi. He knew that there was a deeper meaning behind her words; he didn't care what would happen and dashed towards the back of his opponent. Gongsun Zhi used his saber to cut backwards.

Qiu Qianchi called out, "Pierce his forehead."

Yang Guo thought, "I've just turned towards his back and now you're telling me to pierce his forehead?" It was an urgent situation and he didn't give it much thought, he turned back towards the enemy's front and he was just about to pierce his enemy's forehead when Qiu Qianchi called out, "Cut his arse!"

Lu'E watched with sweaty palms; she knitted her eyebrows and thought, "By calling madly like this, isn't mother helping father instead?" She kept her thoughts to herself but Ma Guangzuo couldn't contain himself and he shouted out, "Brother Yang, don't fall into the trap of that old woman; she wants to kill you."

Yang Guo had twisted and turned many times and had an inkling as to what her meaning was; when she called out go forward he turned forward and when she shouted go backward he immediately dashed behind him. Indeed, after a few twists and turns, Gongsun Zhi's right side was uncovered. Yang Guo sent his sword towards Gongsun Zhi's right side and a 'chi' sound was heard as it the sword cut through his gown, piercing about an inch into Gongsun Zhi's side; blood immediately flowed down his side.

The crowd gave an 'ah' call and stood up. Fawang and the others now understood. Qiu Qianchi was not instructing Yang Guo on how to gain victory; she was instructing him on how to gain an opportunity to win in a situation where it was impossible to gain victory. She was not pointing out the weakness of Gongsun Zhi, but was trying to make Yang Guo force a flaw in the opponent from his flawless stances. After being prompted by Qiu Qianchi a few times, Yang Guo immediately understood this advanced martial art notion; he was in awe of her and thought, "If the opponent is a skilled fighter, what flaws will they show in their stances? This piece of advice from this senior is more than enough for a lifetime's use."

But to force a flaw in Gongsun Zhi required not only for one's martial arts to be higher than his, but one must also be familiar with his stances. A person must be clear on all his variations and reactions over ten stances beforehand, before luring him step by step into making an error. Only Qiu Qianchi was able to do this. Yang Guo understood but he was not able to realize it. He heard her prompt and the sword suddenly flashed out, attacking Gongsun Zhi's back, front and sides urgently. Over twenty stances later, Gongsun Zhi's leg was cut.

Though this cut wasn't deep, it was long, at least five or six inches long. Gongsun Zhi thought, "The two of them are guarding each other, I can't hurt the one named Yang; if this continues, with the old hag giving advice, I'll die by this bastard's sword." Years ago, in order to save his own life he killed his lover; in this desperate situation he couldn't care about Xiao Longnu anymore. He moved his black sword and swiped his saber, slashing towards Xiao Longnu's shoulders.

Yang Guo was alarmed, he stretched his sword forward to protect her from this attack when he heard Qiu Qianchi call out, "Stab his waist." Yang Guo was startled and thought, "Gu Gu is being attacked right now, how can I not save her? But each time Senior Qiu Lao has given me advice, it has a deeper meaning behind it. It looks like this is a 'surrounding Wei to rescue Zhao' plan." He changed his mind and the sword arrived at Gongsun Zhi's waist. Suddenly Xiao Longnu called out, her right arm was cut and the 'Lady' sword fell onto the floor. Gongsun Zhi's black sword slanted across and blocked Yang Guo's sword.

Yang Guo was extremely shocked and quickly called out, "Move back, I'll take him by myself." His love and care for her was stirred and his chest broke out in an aching pain again. Xiao Longnu's injury was not slight; she moved backwards and tore off a piece of her sleeve, wrapping it around her wound. Yang Guo fought with his life; he was furious with Qiu Qianchi and glanced at her with rage.

Qiu Qianchi chuckled, "Why are you blaming me? I'm just helping you defeat your enemy; who's trying to help you to rescue someone? Ha-ha, what's her life got to do with me? It's better if she dies!"

Yang Guo said angrily, "You and your husband are a perfect match; there isn't an ounce of goodness in either of your hearts!"

Qiu Qianchi just chuckled; she didn't get angry and remained composed as she concentrated on the battle.

Yang Guo glanced over at Xiao Longnu and saw her leaning on a chair with her wound wrapped up. It looked like it wasn't serious and his spirits were roused. His sword techniques suddenly changed from "Quanzhen Swordplay" to "Jade Maiden Swordplay". Gongsun Zhi saw his sword stances had been steady and cautious; but suddenly they were now supple and lively, graceful and attractive. It was as if Yang Guo had changed into another person. Gongsun Zhi was surprised and thought, "This person is extremely crafty, what is he trying now?" After taking a few stances, he felt that his opponent's swordplay had the same elegant and lofty air of a distinguished family; the same type of swordplay that Xiao Longnu had used. All Gongsun Zhi's doubts were erased and he attacked with both his sword and saber.

Ten or so stances later, Yang Guo was gradually being put on the back foot (a sign of coming defeat) and forced to retreat. Qiu Qianchi gave advice to Yang Guo repeatedly but he was furious with her for deliberately intending to get Xiao Longnu injured. He ignored her and said to himself, "Who needs your annoying words?" He unleashed four strokes and hummed, "The minutiae of a fine horse, a radiant and beautiful coat, the left grabs the many weak, the right receives the forgotten retreat." The verses matched the sword stances and he performed the sword strokes with great elegance.

Gongsun Zhi was startled and said, "What?"

Yang Guo continued, "The galloping wind and the flashing lightning, the chasing image flying away. Swift and powerful from the central plains, appearance is the aim." The stances were grouped in fours, reflecting the verse. Where it said, 'the galloping wind and the flashing lightning, the chasing image flying away', the sword stances were extremely quick; when it said, 'swift and powerful from the central plains, appearance is the aim', the sword strokes were swift and vicious yet also carried elegance along with it.

Gongsun Zhi had never seen these sword stances before. The verses were pleasing to the ear and he slowed down his attacks, trying to concentrate on the meanings behind each line. He knew that the sword stances and the verses matched each other; all he has to do is to grasp the meaning behind the verses and he'll be able to defeat this swordplay.

Yang Guo continued, "Stopping at the orchid garden, the horse is fed at Mount Hua. The eyes return unto the swan, the hand strumming the five strings." The verse was said with a modest tone but the sword strokes were towering and majestic, especially the last two stances which were extremely exquisite and sudden. It appeared to go to the east but went west, the sword hinted up but went down, one stance but two strokes, and it was difficult to tell what was real and what was false.

Xiao Longnu had now finished wrapping up her wound. She watched Yang Guo's swordplay and felt it was pleasing to the eye; but she had never heard him talk about this swordplay before so she asked, "Guo'er, what swordplay is this; who taught you?"

Yang Guo laughed, "I thought of it myself. Gu Gu, is it good? A few days ago I was resting in bed from some injuries and I saw a book of poetry by the bed. I thought the poems were quite nice so I committed them to memory. At the heroes' feast, Zhu Ziliu merged calligraphy into martial arts; I thought it would definitely be possible to merge poetry into martial arts."

Xiao Longnu said, "It's very good..."

Suddenly, Jinlun Fawang praised, "Brother Yang, I can only look on in awe at your intelligence and wisdom. The following verse is of course, "Bowing to and revering one's content, the good mood of the heart is too obscure, fishing and searching for something, the trap is forgotten once the fish is caught.”

Gongsun Zhi’s mind lit up, “That monk is trying to help me.” He didn’t think about what the monk wanted but concentrated on the first line of the verse, ‘Bowling to and revering one’s content’, the sword will definitely be aimed upwards followed by a downwards stroke. He guarded his upper body with the black sword and chopped his gold saber from the middle of his body.

Jinlun Fawang was versed in both martial arts and culture. Although he lived in Tibet, he knew Han philosophies, their history and Confucian classics. When he heard Yang Guo reciting the poem, he knew from long ago what the following verses would be. He revealed this to Gongsun Zhi in hope that he would be able to use Gongsun Zhi to kill Yang Guo for him.

Gongsun Zhi did indeed manage to get the first move in when he heard this. Before Yang Guo unleashed his sword strokes, Gongsun Zhi had sealed off all of the sword’s paths while at the same time, chopping out his jagged golden saber from the middle of his body to attack him.

Luckily, Yang Guo had heard Fawang and was prepared for this, he didn’t continue on with his “Four Lined Poem Swordplay” and guarded his midriff with his sword while the middle finger of his left hand flicked out, striking the back of the golden saber.

Gongsun Zhi’s arm trembled and the joints in his hand felt slightly numb from this flick, he was shocked and thought, “This little punk has much strange kung fu.”

This flick of Yang Guo’s was the “Divine Release of the Flicking Finger” that Huang Yaoshi taught him; but he was unable to subdue his enemy because his internal energy wasn't strong enough. If Huang Yaoshi performed this move, the jagged golden saber of Gongsun Zhi would have flown out of his hand as soon as it was struck. However, this flick of Yang Guo's was still good enough to allow him to regain the upper hand; he moved his sword forward and used Huang Yaoshi's "Jade Flute Swordplay". The "Divine Release of the Flicking Finger" and "Jade Flute Swordplay" both concentrated on attacking the opponent's pressure points. When they were used together, it was ingenious and subtle and even though Yang Guo's mastery of these skills wasn't refined; after a bout of urgent attacking it was still good enough to trouble Gongsun Zhi.

At that time, Qiu Qianchi called out again, "His sword is going for the waist, and his saber is chopping towards the neck". "The sword is going to slash towards your right shoulder while his saber guards his left." She called out every stance of Gongsun Zhi's in advance.

Yang Guo now held the upper hand completely. With his poetry ceased, Fawang was unable to tell where his sword would go and couldn't aid Gongsun Zhi.

Gongsun Zhi's family art the "Yin Yang Twin Blades" were inspected thoroughly by Qiu Qianchi and then subsequently improved by her. All of Gongsun Zhi's stances were known to her; no matter how sudden his changes were, Qiu Qianchi would call it out in advance. As they were absorbed in the battle, Qiu Qianchi suddenly called out, "Both his sword and saber are going to attack your upper body." These words were called out at just the exact time as Gongsun Zhi sent out both his saber and sword; it was now difficult for him to change his stance halfway through. Yang Guo had more than enough time to block this attack.

Yang Guo lowered his head and dashed forward while protecting his back with his sword. His left finger came out and jabbed the opponent's 'Ocean of Air' pressure point an inch and a half below the navel. Yang Guo was delighted with this successful attack at the first attempt. He thought that his opponent would suffer a serious injury with this attack but Gongsun Zhi's leg came out, striking him on the jaw.

Yang Guo was shocked and leapt to the side a few feet. He then remembered how strange the pressure points were on this person; previously he had used the golden sphere silk belt to strike his pressure points but it had no effect on him. Gongsun Zhi came at him once again.

Qiu Qianchi called out once again, "His blades will cross, the right sword attacking left, the left saber attacking right."

Yang Guo did not give it much thought and defended with all his might.

When it came to internal energy, Yang Guo was not a match for his opponent; he would have lost out long ago if it weren't for Qiu Qianchi's advice.

Yang Guo and Gongsun Zhi continued for another seven or eight hundred stances. The members of the valley watched with their hearts on the verge of jumping out of their mouths. At the same time Xiaoxiang Zi and the others were also fixed on the great battle, but they couldn't tell who would win it. In the midst of the blurs of the saber and sword, one could see Gongsun Zhi panting while Yang Guo was soaked with sweat. The movements of the two were now not as quick as before.

Gongsun Lu'E thought that if the two carried on like this, one of them would be seriously injured. Of course she didn't want Yang Guo to lose; but she couldn't bear to see her father get hurt, so she whispered to Qiu Qianchi, "Mother, tell them to stop. We'll settle this by talking it over."

Qiu Qianchi gave a 'heng' grunt and said, "Pour two bowls of tea."

Lu'E was confused but did as she was told and brought the bowls of teas to her mother. Qiu Qianchi took off the piece of bloody cloth that was wrapped around the wound on her head. When she was knocked into the pillar, blood poured out of her head and it was Xiao Longnu who tore off her sleeve and covered her wound. The bleeding on her head started again as she took off the cloth.

Lu'E was alarmed and called out; "Mother!"

Qiu Qianchi called out, "I won't die!" She threw the bloody cloth onto her knees and took the bowls. Her four fingers held the bowls but the thumb of each hand was in the tea. The blood on her thumbs mixed into the tea. She quickly swirled the tea and the traces of blood were gone. She called out, "You should be tired now; have a bowl of tea!" She said to Lu'E, "Give one bowl of tea to each of them to quench their thirst."

Lu'E knew her mother hated her father deeply and wouldn't have any good intentions towards him. This bowl of tea wasn't meant to quench his thirst but to poison him. However, she poured the bowls of tea herself and there was no poison in any of them; they were just ordinary bowls of tea. It must be because her mother sympathized with Yang Guo. If her father didn't have a bowl, he would not stop and Yang Guo would not be able to take a drink. She saw that the two were really very tired so she went to the middle of the hall and called out clearly, "Please have some tea!"

Gongsun Zhi and Yang Guo were both very thirsty; when they heard Qiu Qianchi call out; they both stopped and jumped backwards.

Lu'E first took the tray of tea to her father. Gongsun Zhi knew that it was Qiu Qianchi who ordered her to bring these bowls of tea to him, so there'll definitely be something wrong with it. Most likely they had poison in them. He held up his hand and said to Yang Guo, "You drink first."

Yang Guo had no fear and casually picked up a bowl of tea; he placed it on his lip and took a sip.

Gongsun Zhi said, "Good, I'll have that bowl!" He took Yang Guo's bowl from his hand.

Yang Guo laughed, "It was your daughter who poured the tea; don't tell me you think there's poison in them?" Yang Guo took the other bowl of tea and drank it in one go.

Gongsun Zhi looked at his daughter's face and saw that it was calm and relaxed, he thought, "Lu'E loves that punk, of course there would be no poison in his cup of tea; I've already swapped the bowls, what have I got to be afraid of?" He too drank the bowl of tea in one go and then clashed his weapons, saying, "There's no need for a break, continue. Huh, if it weren't for that old witch giving you tips, you would have died from my black sword and golden saber long ago even if you had ten lives to spare."

Qiu Qianchi replaced the bandage on her head and said evilly, "His "Closure of the Pressure Points" has been defeated; you can hit his pressure points."

Gongsun Zhi felt a slight taste of blood on his tongue and was shocked; a shock that was indescribable. This particular family art has one big drawback; the practitioner cannot taste an ounce of meat otherwise this art will be neutralized immediately. His ancestors were afraid that they'd taste meat by accident and so passed a strict order in the valley; no one can eat meat. Though the others didn't practice this art, they were still forced to be vegetarians. Gongsun Zhi had always been very careful; but how would he have known that Qiu Qianchi would actually use such an evil plan and put her own blood in the bowls of tea?

Yang Guo was not affected by drinking this bowl of blood containing tea; but the "Closure of the Pressure Points" technique that Gongsun Zhi had been training bitterly all his life was gone, just like that.

He turned his head around in fury and looked at Qiu Qianchi who had a plate of dates on her knees that had been served to the guests. She was eating them and savoring the taste. She said slowly, "I told you before, twenty years ago, this art of the Gongsun family is hard to learn yet easy to neutralize; it's not worth practicing."

Fire erupted in Gongsun Zhi's eyes and he raised his weapons, dashing forward towards Qiu Qianchi. Lu'E was alarmed and dashed in front of her mother to protect her. Suddenly a gust of wind brushed past her ear; it sounded like some kind of projectile.

Gongsun Zhi howled. Blood poured down from his right eye; he turned around and dashed out of the hall with his sword and saber. A trail of blood was left in his wake. His wretched howl was getting further and further away, gradually getting quieter and quieter until silence fell within the mountain walls of the valley.

Everyone looked at each other, wondering how Qiu Qianchi achieved this.

Only Lu'E and Yang Guo knew that she had used her date stone spitting kung fu to do this.

When Gongsun Zhi and Yang Guo were fighting, she had placed seven or eight date stones in her mouth in advance. She saw that Gongsun Zhi's martial arts had improved greatly; even if she made a sneak attack, he would be able to avoid them. When he's on his guard, it would be difficult to harm him. Because of this, she waited until he was completely absorbed in the battle before using the blood tea to defeat his "Closure of the Pressure Points" technique. While he was reacting furiously, she took the opportunity to suddenly launch her date stone at him. This was the one and only martial art she had and she trained it vigorously over the years; the power and accuracy of it was not below any of the world's greatest projectile arts. If it wasn't for Lu'E dashing forward and blocking her view, not only would both eyes of Gongsun Zhi's be blinded; the pressure point between his eyes would have also been struck. This would have immediately sent him to his death.

Lu'E couldn't bear this. She stood there stunned for a while; before calling out, "Father, father!" She wanted to go after him.

Qiu Qianchi said sternly, "If you want your father then go; don't ever see me again."

Lu'E stopped her feet; she was in a difficult position; but then she thought about how all of this was the fault of her father. All the suffering that her mother endured was tens of times greater than what he endured. Anyway, her father had long gone and she couldn't catch up even if she wanted to. She stopped and turned from the door, silently heading back into the hall slowly, with her head hung down.

Qiu Qianchi sat on her chair and looked to either side of her; she chuckled, "Good, you've all come here for a celebratory drink; won't everyone's mood being ruined if we don't have a drink?" Her icy cold eyes gave everyone goose bumps; they were all afraid that she was going to spit out some kind of strange projectile without any warning. The people of the valley were afraid while Fawang, Yin Kexi and the others prepared themselves.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were both surprised with the state that Gongsun Zhi ended up in. They both let out a long sigh and reached out for each other's hand, holding it tightly. The two's thoughts were as one and they made their way towards the exit.

When they reached the door, Qiu Qianchi suddenly shouted, "Yang Guo, where are you going?"

Yang Guo turned around and made a long bow to her before saying, "Senior Qiu Lao, Miss Lu, we'll be leaving now." He knew that he didn't have long to live and so he didn't say things like 'I'll see you again'.

Lu'E returned the greeting and kept silent in misery.

Qiu Qianchi's face was filled with anger and she shouted, "I've betrothed my only daughter to you and you do not call me mother-in-law? And you're leaving just like that?"

Yang Guo was startled and thought, "Though you've betrothed your daughter to me, I didn't say that I accepted."

Qiu Qianchi said, "We've got everything here, decorations, candles and guests. We're martial artists, we'll get straight to the point; you two are getting married today."

Jinlun Fawang and the others had just seen Yang Guo fight Gongsun Zhi with his life for Xiao Longnu; when they heard Qiu Qianchi say this they all knew that there was going to be another great show. They looked at each other; some showed a wry smile and some were shaking their heads slightly.

Yang Guo held Xiao Longnu's elbow with his left hand and his right hand held the handle of the 'Gentleman' sword. He said, "I am extremely touched by senior Qiu Lao's offer. But my heart belongs to someone else." He moved backwards slowly after he said this. He was afraid that Qiu Qianchi would spit out date stones at them in anger and so he held his sword just in case.

Qiu Qianchi's angry eyes swept over Xiao Longnu and said coldly, "Huh, that little seductress is indeed beautiful; no wonder both old and young go mad over her."

Lu'E said, "Mother, brother Yang and Miss Long decided to marry each other long ago; I'll tell you all the details later on."

Qiu Qianchi replied angrily, "What kind of person do you think your mother is? How can I take back what I've said? The one named Yang, my daughter is beautiful and she's more than worthy of you. But even if she was an ugly troll, I'm still going to make you marry her today."

When Ma Guangzuo heard how unreasonable she was he couldn't stop himself from laughing and calling out, "This particular couple in this valley are a perfect match: the husband forces a young girl to marry him while the wife forces a young man to marry her daughter and they don't want anyone else but them, right or wrong?"

Qiu Qianchi said coldly, "Wrong!"

Ma Guangzuo opened his mouth and laughed out loud. Suddenly a 'bo' sound was heard as a date stone flew towards the center of his eyes; the stone came like lightning and there was no way to avoid it. Ma Guangzuo lifted his head in shock; a 'pai' sound was heard as three of his front teeth were knocked loose. Ma Guangzuo was furious and roared while he threw himself forward. Another two 'bo' sounds were heard as the 'Linking Jump' pressure point on his right groin and the 'Yang Pass' pressure point on his left leg were struck. Both his legs went limp and he fell down onto the floor, unable to get up.

Those three date stones were extremely quick. Yang Guo knew that Qiu Qianchi would make her move when Ma Guangzuo was laughing and drew his sword to go to save him; but it was too late. He picked him up and unsealed his pressure points. Ma Guangzuo admitted defeat; this bald old woman didn't move her legs or arms and was able to defeat him just by opening her mouth. He had great respect for her; he spat out the teeth and said with a mouthful of blood, "Old woman, you're more powerful than me; the one named Ma does not dare to offend you again."

Qiu Qianchi ignored him and stared at Yang Guo. She said, "You've decided to not marry my daughter, true?"

Gongsun Lu'E couldn't bear to suffer such embarrassment in front of everyone and took a dagger from her waist. She pointed it at her chest and said loudly, "Mother, if you ask again, then I'll kill myself right in front of your very eyes."

Qiu Qianchi opened her mouth and a stone shot out, hitting the handle of the dagger. There was great power behind that stone; the dagger flew and planted itself inches into a wooden pillar, the handle quivering in the candlelight.

Everyone gasped.

Yang Guo knew that his time would be wasted if he remained here for much longer so he flicked his blade with his finger and said clearly with the resonation of the blade, "The lonely rabbit, going east watching west. The clothes are not of new; the person is not like that of before.” He motioned his sword in a flurry and turned around with Xiao Longnu’s hand held in his.

When Lu’E heard the last two sentences, ‘the clothes are not of new, the person not like that of before’, her hurt became even greater; she took off the ragged gown that Yang Guo had given her. She went to him and offered it back to him, saying, “Brother Yang, it’s better to have old clothes.”

Yang Guo said, “Thank you.” He stretched out his hand to take it. He and Xiao Longnu knew that Lu’E was deliberately standing in front of them so her mother wouldn’t be able to attack them with the date stones. Xiao Longnu had a faint smile on her face and nodded her head, showing her thanks.

Lu’E moved her lips to the side, telling them to leave quickly.

Qiu Qianchi mumbled ‘the clothes are not of new, the person is not like that of before’ a few times before she suddenly raised her voice and said, “Yang Guo, you don’t want my daughter; but don’t tell me that you don’t want your life as well?”

Yang Guo gave a bitter laugh and backed another step out of the hall.

Xiao Longnu’s heart trembled and said, “Wait.” She asked clearly, “Senior Qiu Lao, have you got an antidote for the Passion Flower poison?”

Lu’E had been thinking about this all along. Yang Guo gave the only Passionless Pill that her father had to Xiao Longnu while his poison had yet to be cleared. The only hope that he had was her mother, who might have a way to cure this poison. But she knew that her mother would use this to blackmail Yang Guo, to force him into marrying her; this is why she hadn't mentioned this before. But in this urgent situation she could no longer care about her embarrassment and turned herself around, saying, "Mother, if it weren't for brother Yang, you would still be trapped down in that cave. Brother Yang has not done anything to offend you. We need to pay back this kindness; please cure his poison."

Qiu Qianchi chuckled, "Repay kindness with kindness? Repay vengeance with vengeance? How can the world's vengeance and kindness be distinguished like that? Was that thanks I got from Gongsun Zhi?"

Lu'E said loudly, "I hate men whose hearts are not loyal, men who like the new and forget those of old. If the one named Yang Guo wanted to leave his lover of old and marry me, I'd rather die than marry him."

Those words rang in Qiu Qianchi's ears, but after a thought, she immediately knew what her daughter was trying to do. Her daughter loved him dearly and if he agreed to marry her, she would leap for joy. Because the situation was pressing, her daughter was just hoping that she would save him first before doing anything else.

Jinlun Fawang, Yin Kexi and the others looked at each other in amusement as they watched this second show of a forced marriage. Fawang now knew that Yang Guo had been poisoned and he was feeling pleased. He hoped that Yang Guo would stick to his choice, by refusing to marry Lu'E to save his life; but he was worried about the craftiness of Yang Guo who might lie about the marriage to get the antidote and then refuse. Then he thought that even if Yang Guo tried something, he's there to see through him and alert Qiu Qianchi to his tricks.

Qiu Qianchi's eyes swept across all the guests slowly and then said, "Yang Guo, amongst the people here there are those who wish that you live and those who wish that you die. Think about whether you want to live or die."

Yang Guo placed his arm around Xiao Longnu's waist and said with a clear voice, "If either of us can't marry the other, then we'd rather die together."

Xiao Longnu smiled sweetly and said, "Yes!" The two of them were as one; their love for each other was so deep that life and death was no longer anything important.

Qiu Qianchi did not understand Xiao Longnu and said, "If I don't save him then he will die, do you understand this? Do you know that he can only live for another thirty six days?"

Xiao Longnu said, "If you do agree to save him and let us be together for a few more years then of course we'll be extremely touched. If you refuse, we've still got thirty six days together, that's fine as well! In any case, if he dies, I won't carry on living." Her beautiful face showed no signs of concern as she said this.

Qiu Qianchi looked at her and then looked at Yang Guo; she saw the two staring at each other, their love for each other so passionate, their devotion to each other so intense. This was something that she had never experienced nor even thought about before. So such devoted lovers actually existed in this world. When she saw how dedicated they were, she couldn't help but muse over her and Gongsun Zhi and the way they ended up. She gave a long sigh and tears rolled down her cheeks.

Lu'E went to her and threw herself into her arms; she cried, "Mother, just cure him please; then we'll go and find uncle; he misses you, doesn't he?"

Qiu Qianchi's tears stirred her compassion, but then she immediately thought about the words in the letter from her brother Qiu Qianren; "Ever since first brother died at the hands of Guo Jing and Huang Rong on Iron Palm Peak..."

She herself was crippled and her brother had become a monk, saying something like 'I dropped my knife of slaughter and followed the ways of Buddha'; does this mean that her brother's death can never be avenged? Yang Guo's martial arts weren't weak; though he refuses to marry her daughter she could order him to help her avenge her brother.

She then said, "There were actually quite a lot of Passionless Pills; but apart from three pills, the rest were ruined by me when I soaked them in frosty arsenic water. Out of the three pills, that bastard Gongsun Zhi took one, another he took from me when I was drunk and that was the pill that you gave to that girl. There is only one pill remaining in this world. This pill has been with me for over twenty years. If one doesn't prepare a Passionless Pill for themselves while living in the Passionless Valley, then they are not in complete control of the fate of their lives. Right now, I haven't got long to live and my daughter might not stay here for much longer..." She then took out the last remaining Passionless Pill on this earth slowly and broke it in two with her nail. She took half a pill and placed it in her palm before saying, "I can give you the pill. You don't want to marry my daughter, fine but you have to promise to do one thing for me."

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu looked at each other, both surprised with her sudden kindness. The two weren't worried about life and death; but since there's a way for them to live, of course they'd be happy to take this chance. Both said at the same time, "We'll do our best to fulfill Senior's request."

Qiu Qianchi said slowly, "I want you to get me the heads of two people."

When Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu heard this, they both thought that she wanted them to kill Gongsun Zhi. Yang Guo had no good feelings towards Gongsun Zhi and now that he's lost an eye and his "Closure of the Pressure Point" has been destroyed, it won't be hard to kill him even though he still has his other martial arts remaining. But he was Gongsun Lu'E's father; the girl loves Yang Guo deeply, but killing her father might cause great distress for her and he couldn't help but hesitate.

Xiao Longnu thought that although Gongsun Zhi was evil, he was still the one who saved her life. From Qiu Qianchi's expression, if she didn't kill him Qiu Qianchi would never agree to give the pill to Yang Guo.

Qiu Qianchi saw that they had troubled expressions on their faces and said coldly, "I don't know what ties these two people have with you but I must kill them." She then flung half of the pill lightly upwards in her hand.

From her tone, it didn't appear that she was talking about Gongsun Zhi so Yang Guo asked, "With whom does Senior Qiu Lao have a feud? Whose head do you want me to take?"

Qiu Qianchi said, "Didn't you hear that scoundrel when he was reading out that letter? The names of the people who killed my brother are Guo Jing and Huang Rong."

Yang Guo was delighted and called out, "That's great. Those two people killed my father; even if Senior Qiu Lao didn't ask I'd still kill them."

Qiu Qianchi's heart trembled and said, "Is this true?"

Yang Guo pointed to Jinlun Fawang and said, "This Reverend has crossed paths with those two people. I told him about this matter before."

Qiu Qianchi looked at Fawang and he nodded his head and said, "But at that time, brother Yang helped Guo Jing and Huang Rong to oppose me."

Xiao Longnu and Lu'E were both furious with Fawang for trying to stir up trouble time after time; they both stared at him with anger.

Jinlun Fawang ignored them and smiled, "Brother Yang, did such a thing happen?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes. Once I've avenged my father I'll need to exchange a few stances with Reverend Jin."

Jinlun Fawang folded his arms and said, "Good, good!"

Qiu Qianchi held up her left hand and said to Yang Guo, "I don't care if this is true or false, just take this pill."

Yang Guo went forwards to accept it when he saw that it was just half a pill and immediately understood, he laughed, "I need to get their heads in exchange for the other half?"

Qiu Qianchi nodded and said, "You really are clever; you didn't need anyone to tell you."

Yang Guo thought, "It's better to take half a pill than take nothing." He took the half pill and swallowed it.

Qiu Qianchi said, "There was only one Passionless Pill left in the whole wide world. You've just taken half of it. The other half will be kept in an extremely secretive place. If you bring the heads of Guo Jing and Huang Rong in eighteen days time then I'll give you the other half. Even if you hold me at knifepoint and threaten me or throw me down that cave again I will never give it to you. The word of Qiu Qianchi's is as solid as rock, I've never taken back what I've said. To all the guests, please leave on your own accord. Master Yang, Miss Long, we'll meet again in eighteen days time." She then closed her eyes and ignored everyone.

Xiao Longnu asked, "Why have you set a deadline of eighteen days?"

Qiu Qianchi said with her eyes closed, "The Passion Flower poison in his body originally would have reacted in thirty six days time. Now that he's taken half a passionless pill, the poison has all come together and is now concentrated in one place; the poison will now react twice as quickly. The poison will be cleared if he takes the other half of the antidote eighteen days from now, otherwise... otherwise... ha-ha!" After she said this, she waved out her hand, ordering everyone to go quickly.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu both knew that this person does not listen to reason and so the two bid farewell to Lu'E and quickly left the Narcissus Manor. Yang Guo couldn't be bothered to find a boat to get out of the valley and instead, he and Xiao Longnu utilized their lightness kung fu and left the valley by going over the mountains.

Yang Guo had stayed in this valley for only three days; but within these three days, he had experienced many near deaths. Now that he's left this place of danger with his lover, it was like he was in a different world.

It was now dawn. The two of them stood on top of a mountain ridge shoulder to shoulder and looked down at the valley. As the morning light sparkled on the luxuriant emerald forest, their eyes were filled with the green color. They felt filled with boundless joy; their hearts floating and swaying around as if they were at one with the clouds.

Yang Guo held Xiao Longnu's hand and the two walked up to a locust tree. He said, "Gu Gu..."

Xiao Longnu leaned on him and smiled, "I don't think you need to call me Gu Gu again."

Yang Guo had stopped viewing her as his Master long ago; the reason he called her 'Gu Gu' was because he was used to it. When he heard this, his heart was filled with a sweet feeling and he stared into her black eyes. He said, "What should I call you?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Call me whatever you want; it's up to you."

Yang Guo thought for a little while and said, "The happiest time of my life was when we were in the tomb together. At that time, I called you Gu Gu. Just let me call you Gu Gu until I die."

Xiao Longnu laughed, "I used to spank you in those days; were they happy days?"

Yang Guo stretched out his arms and embraced her. Yang Guo's soul was completely enchanted as he smelled the fragrance of Xiao Longnu's scent mixed up with the scents of the surrounding flowers and trees. He seemingly lost himself and said softly, "Let's just live like this happily for the next eighteen days; we don't need to go and kill Guo Jing and Huang Rong. Living happily and peacefully for eighteen days is better than rushing about and fighting for our lives."

Xiao Longnu smiled and said, "We'll do whatever you say. Before, I wanted you to listen to me; but from now on, I'll listen to you." She has always had an icy cold disposition; but now she was filled with love. She felt warm all over and felt that the greatest thing in life was to listen to Yang Guo with all her heart and soul.

Yang Guo looked at her startled; and said slowly, "Why are there tears in your eyes?"

Xiao Longnu took his hand and stroked her cheek gently with the back of his hand. She said tenderly, "I... I don't know." After a while, she said, "It must be because I love you too much."

Yang Guo said, "I know what you are sad about."

Xiao Longnu lifted her head and suddenly tears burst from her eyes as she threw herself into his arms. She cried, "Guo'er, you... you... we've only got eighteen days; how is that enough?"

Yang Guo patted her shoulder lightly and said softly, "No, it's not enough."

Xiao Longnu said, "I want you to treat me like this forever; I want a hundred years, a thousand years, ten thousand years."

Yang Guo lifted her head and kissed her on her pale red lips. He said resolutely, "Fine, we'll go kill Guo Jing and Huang Rong." When he tasted her tears on his tongue, the love in his heart was stirred and his whole body felt like as if it wanted to explode.

Suddenly, a voice laughed out loudly from some high place to the left of them and said, "You don't have to be that intimate."

Yang Guo turned his head around and saw Jinlun Fawang, Yin Kexi, Xiaoxiang Zi, Nimoxing and Ma Guangzuo standing shoulder to shoulder about a hundred feet away. The person who said this was Jinlun Fawang. When the two left the valley hurriedly together, Fawang and the others followed. The two of them were oblivious to everything around them; they didn't see or hear anything but each other. When the two stood below the locust tree acting lovingly towards each other, they did not notice that Fawang and the others were watching them from faraway.

Yang Guo recalled the many times that Fawang tried to stir trouble for him in the valley which almost cost him his life on many occasions. If he could turn back time he would chose to kill Fawang. He had the chance when Fawang was recuperating on the mountain top instead of helping him. He's meant to be a great Master of this generation; yet he repays kindness with ingratitude.

Xiao Longnu saw the fiery anger in Yang Guo's eyes and said, "Ignore them, those people will never experience a second of the happiness that we have."

Ma Guangzuo called out, "Brother Yang, Miss Long, let's leave. There's nothing around here in these wild mountains; no wine, no meat, it's boring around here."

Yang Guo just wanted to spend some quiet time with Xiao Longnu but these people had to come and disturbed them. However, he knew that Ma Guangzuo meant well and so he said clearly, "Brother Ma, you go first, I'll be there in a second."

Ma Guangzuo said, "Fine, just hurry up when you've finished."

Jinlun Fawang laughed, "Who needs you to worry about them? They just want to spend eighteen days here on this wild mountainside."

Everyone had heard Qiu Qianchi talk about how Yang Guo's poison would react in eighteen days. When Ma Guangzuo heard this he couldn't stop himself from getting angry and grabbed hold of Fawang's sleeve, cursing him, "Bald scoundrel, you really are evil! We came here together with brother Yang; you should have helped him but you didn't. Instead you tried to stir things up; what are you trying to do?"

Fawang gave a wry smile and chuckled, "Are you going to let go?"

Ma Guangzuo said angrily, "I'm not letting go; what are you going to do about it?"

Fawang threw his right fist towards his face.

Ma Guangzuo said, "Fine, you want to fight?" He raised his massive hand to grab Fawang's fist but this fist of Fawang's was a decoy; his left hand suddenly came out and pushed him on the back. He used soft and hard force at the same time, causing the great body of Ma Guangzuo to fly away and down the mountainside. Luckily for Ma Guangzuo, the mountainside was covered in long green grass and he was thick skinned so he wasn't seriously injured. However, his forehead was covered in green bruises. He roared and climbed back up.

When Yang Guo saw the two starting to fight, he knew that Ma Guangzuo would suffer at Fawang's hands so he went forward to help him. But it was too late; he had moved just three steps and Ma Guangzuo had already been sent tumbling downwards.

Though Ma Guangzuo wasn't the sharpest tool in the box; but he knew how to protect his life. He saw that he would not be able to beat that monk face to face and he cried and hollered, "Oh no, oh no, that bald bastard's broken my arm."

Xiaoxiang Zi and Nimoxing did not like the fact that Jinlun Fawang had been proclaimed the First Protector of Mongolia by Khubilai; they were now even angrier with him when they saw how brutish he was; the two glanced at each other.

Xiaoxiang Zi said, "Reverend's martial arts are indeed excellent, you are worthy of the title of the First Protector of Mongolia."

Fawang said, "You're too kind." Fawang knew that the two wanted to make their move on him right now while Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were also edging forward to make their move. As to what Yin Kexi was thinking, Fawang wasn't too sure. He knew his martial arts were strong; but if the five great fighters join together and attack him all at once, not only will he not be able to fight them off; but his life will also be threatened. While his mouth replied dutifully, in his mind he was thinking of a way to escape.

While Ma Guangzuo was calling and hollering, he was making his way slowly towards Fawang. Suddenly, he threw out a fist and struck the back of Fawang's head. With Fawang's abilities, this sneaky attack of Ma Guangzuo's would never have succeeded; but at this moment in time, he was just concentrating on Yang Guo, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others. The idiot he had ignored actually managed to strike him on the back of his head. This attack was hammer like; hammering him into a starry daze. In his anger, Fawang sent his elbow backwards striking Ma Guangzuo squarely in the chest. Ma Guangzuo called out and his body fell forward right onto the shoulders of Fawang. Fawang's legs bent a little and he dashed straight down the mountainside.

Yang Guo was the first one to chase after Fawang as everyone shouted. Though Fawang had a great three hundred 'jin' (150kg/330lbs) body on his shoulders, he still moved like the wind. Yang Guo, Xiao Longnu, Nimoxing and the others all had first-rate lightness kung fu; but since Fawang made the first move, they were not able to catch up with him for the first hundred feet. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu increased their speed and gradually got closer to him.

Fawang suddenly stopped and he turned his head around. He laughed, "Fine, are you all going to come up on me at once or will it be one on one?" He held Ma Guangzuo and placed his head next to a large rock on the mountainside. He was about to smash Ma Guangzuo into the rock.

Yang Guo went around him to first block his way before saying, "If you kill him, then of course we'll all attack you at once."

Fawang laughed and threw Ma Guangzuo to the ground before saying, "Do you think I'd trouble myself with this kind of idiot?" He then sent his arms into his gown and out came a white light in his left hand and a yellow light in his left; he had taken out his silver and bronze wheels. He clashed the wheels together and the sounds resonated throughout the valley. He said arrogantly, "Who's first?"

Yin Kexi laughed, "I'm just a merchant, so I'll just watch from the side and see everyone test each other's skills."

Fawang thought, "That's one less strong foe for me to face."

Xiaoxiang Zi thought that he should let someone else go first and allow them to wear Fawang down a bit before he stepped in and finished him off. So he said, "Brother Ni, your martial arts are better than mine, please go ahead!"

When Nimoxing heard his words, he knew what Xiaoxiang Zi was planning; but then he thought about how good his martial arts were. He was matchless in India and had never met a match in his life; even if he can't beat Fawang he wouldn't lose to him. He went over to one side and casually grabbed hold of a large rock. He shouted, "Fine, I'll test out your two circular things." He picked up the large rock and smashed it towards Fawang's chest. This rock was at least three hundred 'jin' and everyone was startled when they saw him using this to fight.

Jinlun Fawang did not know that this dwarf would possess such strength and actually use a large rock to attack him. He didn't dare to meet it head on and dodged to the side and swept his bronze wheel across the back of Nimoxing. Nimoxing used the large rock to block the attack. The wheel and rock collided with each other and sparks flew everywhere with the sound of the collision echoing throughout the valley.

Fawang's left arm felt slightly numb and he thought, "This dark dwarf's martial arts are extremely strange, I cannot be careless. But even if he was stronger, how long can he last holding up such a large stone?" So he moved his wheels, circling it around Nimoxing's body.

Yang Guo helped Ma Guangzuo up and then stood next to Xiao Longnu. Both were surprised with Nimoxing's great strength and his strange martial arts.

The two of them battled for a while before suddenly Nimoxing shouted, "A Po Xing!" He lifted the large rock and shot it forward towards Fawang.

This throw was one of the greatest skills of Indian monks; it was called "Elephant Shooting of Shijia". In the scriptures it recorded; 'When Shijiamouni (Buddha) was still a prince, he left the city one day and found an elephant blocking his path. He lifted the elephant by the legs and shot it up into the sky. The elephant came back down three days later and when it landed it made a deep ditch, now called the Shooting Elephant Ditch. This was of course just a story that describes the unimaginable wonders of Buddhism. The later Indian martial artists developed a powerful external martial art, that allowed the user to shoot large objects and was subsequently named after this story. Nimoxing called upon the divine strength of this technique and shot the boulder towards Fawang. The large rock traveled extremely fast towards Fawang, creating a ferocious wind as it went forward.

Though Fawang was greatly skilled, he still didn't dare to receive such a large heavy object head on and moved out of the way. Nimoxing suddenly flew up and struck the large stone with his palms, sending the stone back towards Fawang once again. This second attack was much stronger than the first because it was the combined force of the second propulsion from his palms with the remaining force from the first attack.

Fawang was better at martial arts than Nimoxing; but because he had never seen this "Elephant Shooting of Shijia" he was actually forced on the back foot. When he saw the rock coming towards him again, he could only move out of the way once again. Nimoxing pressed his advantage and the force of the rock become more and more ferocious as he repeatedly increased the force behind it.

Fawang thought, "If this continues I'm going to lose to this dark dwarf; I need to think of something else. Luckily he's up by himself; when I kill him that zombie face would not dare to come up against me. Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu have been poisoned and won't be able to use their "Pure Heart of Jade Maiden Swordplay" smoothly."

Suddenly, the thunderous sounds of horses were heard from nearby. Flags fluttered in the air as a group of men on horseback rushed towards them. Fawang and Nimoxing were in the middle of a heated battle and had no time to look. Yang Guo and the others saw it was a division of Mongolian soldiers on horseback armed with bows and sabers. About a hundred feet from Yang Guo and the others, the leader of the division held up his hand to order his men to stop. The soldiers all reigned in their horses.

Below the flag, a person watched the battle from his horse for a while before riding up towards them and called out, "Stop, stop!" This person wore a yellow gown and carried an iron bow; it was the Mongolian Prince Khubilai.

When Nimoxing heard his voice, he struck the rock with his palms and sent it rolling down the mountainside. Vast amounts of dust and dirt were thrown up as the boulder rolled down the slope.

Khubilai leapt off the horse and held Fawang with his left hand and Nimoxing with his right. He laughed, "So you two are exchanging a few stances here; it really was a great spectacle." He knew that the two were having a real battle but he said this to keep the face of both sides. Fawang gave a wry laugh and said, "Brother Ni's martial arts has its good points; a rare sight, a rare sight."

Nimoxing's eyes glared at him and said, "I thought the First Protector of Mongolia would be someone extraordinary, but you're just... bah!"

Fawang was furious and thought, "Do you really think I can't beat you?" He was just about to say something when Khubilai laughed, "This place has everything, but where's the wine? Men, bring wine! We'll drink three bowls here!"

Mongolians have always lived in the wild and made the world their home. Eating and drinking outside was no different than eating in a hall to them. One of the guards brought some wine and food to them and laid a rug on the ground.

Khubilai looked at Xiao Longnu and was shocked, "There's actually a girl with such beauty here on this earth." He saw Yang Guo and her holding hands, standing next to each other intimately; he asked Yang Guo, "Who's this girl?"

Yang Guo said, "This is Miss Long; she is my Master and she is also my wife."

After the life and death experiences in the Passionless Valley; the world's customs and traditions meant absolutely nothing to him. He deliberately wanted everyone in the world to know that 'I, Yang Guo, have married my Master'.

Mongolians weren't as strict as the Han when it came to adhering to custom and tradition. When Khubilai heard this he wasn't surprised, but instead, he had great respect for Xiao Longnu when he heard that she was the one who taught Yang Guo martial arts. He laughed, "You two are indeed a match made in heaven, excellent, excellent. Everyone, let's congratulate these two." He raised his bowl of wine and drank it all in one go.

Fawang gave a wry laugh before he too raised his bowl and drank it all in one go. The others followed and Ma Guangzuo drank three bowls in one go.

Xiao Longnu did not hate or like Mongolians; but when she heard Khubilai praising her and Yang Guo as a great match, she was wild with joy. She drank half a bowl of wine and her face became even more beautiful. She thought, "All the Han say that I and Guo'er can't marry each other; while this Mongolian Prince kept on saying excellent, excellent. It looks like Mongolians are more knowledgeable than the Han."

Khubilai laughed, "I missed everyone here while you were gone for these past three days. However, matters at Xiangyang were getting urgent and so I was unable to continue hosting our esteemed guests. I'd left requests for you at the camp to meet up with the army at Xiangyang to aid us. Things will go a lot smoother now that we've met here."

Fawang asked, "Your Highness, how has our army been doing in our attacks on Xiangyang?"

Khubilai frowned and said, "Lu Wenhuan, the General who's guarding Xiangyang, is just a mediocre General; the person I'm worried about is Guo Jing."

Yang Guo's heart trembled and asked, "Is Guo Jing really at Xiangyang?"

Khubilai said, "This Guo Jing is my Senior. He was my father's sworn brother and was my grandfather Genghis Khan's most beloved General. This person was both brave and wise; he commanded an army at Xiyu and used an extraordinary plan to succeed in his task. My father once said to me, 'The Song courts are led by an incompetent Emperor and scheming ministers; they have timid Generals and a weak army. Although they have great numbers they will not be able to defend against our skilled army. But if you come across Guo Jing, you must be careful. Father's foresight was indeed right; our army has attacked Xiangyang many times but all attempts have been unsuccessful. The reason behind all this is Guo Jing.'"

Yang Guo stood up and said, "That Guo Jing is the person who killed my father; I would like to request the order to assassinate him."

Khubilai said with pleasure, "I have gathered all you heroes together for this exact task. But from what I hear, Guo Jing is the best martial artist of all the Han and he's got many able people under his command. I have ordered many warriors to go and assassinate him but all have failed. They were either captured or killed; none of them returned. Brother Yang might be brave but it would be difficult for you to achieve this on your own. I want to send everyone here to go into Xiangyang and to work together to kill him. Once this person is killed, Xiangyang will fall."

Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others all stood up; they crossed their arms and said, "We will use every ounce of our strength to follow your Highness' order."

Khubilai was delighted and said, "It doesn't matter who kills Guo Jing, and those who go along to help will also be greatly rewarded. However, the Khan will be informed of the name of the person who killed Guo Jing, be given the title of Viscount and be called The Greatest Warrior of Mongolia."

Xiaoxiang Zi, Nimoxing and the others did not care about the Viscount position; but if they got the title of the Greatest Warrior of Mongolia, they'll be famous throughout the world, and achieve their life's dream. The influence of the Mongolian army has spread far and wide; they have countless li of territories in the western regions and have taken two thirds of the land of China. It would take a fast horse a year to travel from the centre of their empire to its boundaries. If they had the title of the Greatest Warrior of Mongolia, all of the world's heroes, bar none, will be in awe of them. Everyone's spirits were motivated and even Fawang reacted to this news; there was a glint in his eyes when he heard it.

Yang Guo gave a bitter laugh and shook his head. Xiao Longnu looked at him lovingly but she was thinking, "Who cares about the title of Viscount, or the title of the Greatest Warrior of Mongolia? I just hope that you can stay alive and well."

Everyone drank a few more bowls of wine and then stood up. A Mongolian soldier led some horses to them. Yang Guo, Xiao Longnu, Fawang and the others leapt onto the horses and followed Khubilai, riding southwards towards Xiangyang.

It was a scene of destruction along the way; nine out of ten buildings were empty and the ground was covered with corpses. Whenever the Mongolian soldiers see Han, they would kill them with unrestrained violence. Yang Guo was furious when he saw this and wanted to stop them. But he hesitated because of Khubilai, and thought, "The Mongolians are so violent and cruel and treat my Han people worse than animals; after I've killed Guo Jing and Huang Rong, I'm going to kill a few of the vilest Mongolian soldiers to vent my anger."

A few days later, they arrived outside of Xiangyang. The two sides had now been fighting for around a month and the ground was covered with the remnants of battle; broken spears lay strewn everywhere; blood and bodies covered the ground.

When the Generals and commanders of the army outside Xiangyang learned of the Fourth Prince Khubilai's arrival, they went to greet him thirty li outside of Xiangyang. The sounds of the horses' hoofs and the clanging of the soldiers' armour reflected the grandeur of the army. When the Generals and commanders saw Khubilai's banner, they all leapt off their horses and knelt down by the roadside.

Khubilai rode up near them and reigned in his horse. He took a look around and didn't say anything for a long while. He then gave a 'humph' grunt and said, "Xiangyang city has been under attack for so long yet you still have not captured it; isn't that a disgrace to the mighty Mongolian army?"

All the Generals and commanders replied at the same time, "We deserve to die; please punish us your Highness."

Khubilai whipped his horse and galloped forward. All the Generals and commanders kept themselves down on the ground for a long time, not daring to get up.

Yang Guo saw that Khubilai was very peaceful and easy going towards him, Fawang and the others; but when he was disciplining his army he was very strict. He thought, "The Mongolian army is so strong and so disciplined; how can the Song defend against them?" He frowned as he thought about this.

Early next morning, the Mongolians attacked Xiangyang once again. Arrows and stones were sent towards the city like rain and hail. The soldiers at the front of the attack placed ladders around the city of Xiangyang and climbed up. The city was guarded tightly; groups of eight soldiers held a wooden ram in their arms and were knocking the ladders off the city walls. After a prolonged attack, a hundred or so Mongolian soldiers eventually managed to get themselves on top of the city walls. The Mongolian army hollered and another hundred or so soldiers climbed up towards the walls for support. The watchman's rattle rang urgently and a group of archers appeared, shooting arrows down on the advance, forcing them back. Another group of Song soldiers appeared with torches in their hands and they burned the ladders, sending the Mongolians on the ladders plummeting down to the ground.

Shouts and calls could be heard from the city as a group of men appeared on the walls with long spears and sharp sabers, attacking the Mongolians who had climbed up onto the city walls. This group of men did not wear the uniform of the Song army; some wore short black garments, while some wore long green gowns. When they attacked, they didn't attack in a group; their movements were swift and showed that they possessed martial arts. The Mongolians who had managed to get themselves on top of the city walls were all great warriors of the Mongolian army and had never met their match before. But when they came across this group of Han, they were all killed. Some died on the city walls while others fell to their deaths. There was an especially commanding Han in the Song army. This person wore a grey gown and was fighting empty handed; he scanned the walls and when he saw Han soldiers in distress, he would immediately dash over and help them. Wherever his palms went, Mongolian soldiers fell; it was like a tiger in amongst a herd of sheep.

Khubilai was commanding this battle himself and when he saw how brave and heroic this Han was, he was stunned and didn't say anything. After a while he sighed and said, "Out of all the warriors in the world, who can compare with this man?"

Yang Guo was standing beside Khubilai and asked, "Highness, do you know who that is?"

Khubilai was startled and said, "Could it be that he's Guo Jing?"

Yang Guo said, "Yes!"

By this time, most of the hundreds of Mongolians soldiers who had climbed up the city walls had been killed. Only three brave Sergeants of the Jagen (100 man squad) still survived and they were fighting on in a corner with their spears and shields. A Noyan (rank in Mongolian army, leader of a division of 10,000) below blew their horn and another group of soldiers attacked the city walls, intending to bring the three remaining Jagen Sergeants back to safety.

Guo Jing roared and stepped forward. One of the Jagen Sergeants thrust his spear forward towards him. Guo Jing grabbed the spear and pushed forward. He then kicked out at the shield of another Jagen Sergeant with his left leg. Though these two Jagen Sergeants had great valor, how could they resist the divine strength from such a push and kick? They somersaulted down from the wall and fell to their deaths.

The third Jagen Sergeant was fairly old and had grey hair. He knew that today was the day when he would meet his maker. He swung his long saber wildly like a mad tiger. Guo Jing stretched out his left hand and grabbed the wrist of the hand that was holding the saber. He was about to chop down with his right hand when he suddenly stopped in alarm. The Jagen Sergeant recognized Guo Jing and called out, "Jin Dao Fu Ma (Golden Blade Consort), it's you!" Note: He was betrothed to Genghis Khan's daughter Hua Zhen during his time in Mongolia.

He was actually one of the soldiers that accompanied Guo Jing when he was sent to conquer the western regions. When Huang Rong made the plan to take Samarkand, he was amongst the first warriors who made the attack on the city.

Guo Jing recalled past memories and said, "You are E'er Dou?"

The Jagen Sergeant cried when he saw that Guo Jing remembered his name and he called out, "Yes, yes it's me."

Guo Jing said, "Fine, I'm going to spare your life today because of what happened in the past. If I capture you again, there will be no mercy." He turned to one of his aides and said, "Get a rope and send him back down!" Two soldiers tied a rope around E'er Dou's waist and lowered him.

E'er Dou was a famous warrior in the Mongolian army; when the Mongolian soldiers saw him being lowered down on a rope by the Song army, they were surprised. They didn't know what had happened and retreated a few hundred feet. The Song soldiers at the top of the city stopped firing their arrows and the two sides ceased the battle for the time being.

When E'er Dou got down, he turned to Guo Jing and bowed to him on the ground. He said clearly, "Since Jin Dao Fu Ma (Golden Blade Consort) is here, this servant will not dare fight again."

Guo Jing stood at the top of the wall with a commanding aura around him and shouted out, "The commander of the Mongols, listen: Years ago the Mongols and Han worked together to get rid of the Jin; why are you Mongols now invading our land and killing our citizens? We have ten times more people than you Mongols have. If you don't quickly retreat then we'll gather our armies and kill the hundreds of thousands of soldiers that you have. We'll not even leave them with a body that can be buried." He spoke in Mongolian with great vigor. Though the wall was high and there was a large distance between the two armies, the Mongolian soldiers could hear every single word clearly and they couldn't stop themselves from looking at each other pale faced.

A Noyan led E'er Dou to Khubilai and told him what had happened. E'er Dou then told Khubilai about how he followed Guo Jing on the expedition to the west and described how the Jin Dao Fu Ma (Golden Blade Consort) used his troops like a god. How he subdued and defeated the enemy, explaining all this with great enthusiasm.

Khubilai's face turned heavy and shouted, "Execute him!"

E'er Dou called out, "Please, I've done nothing!"

The Noyan said, "Please your Highness, this E'er Dou has achieved many great deeds for our army..."

Khubilai waved his hand and four guards came. They took E'er Dou away and executed him, bringing his head back to Khubilai. All the Generals trembled with fear.

Khubilai said to the Noyan, "Apart from the money owed to E'er Dou's family for his services to the army, give his wife ten 'jin' (5kg/11lbs) of gold, thirty slaves and three hundred livestock."

The Noyan was puzzled but replied, "Yes, yes."

Khubilai said, "I've killed him yet I'm also rewarding his family; you do not understand this, do you?"

All the Generals bowed to him and said, "Please enlighten us your Highness."

Khubilai said clearly, "That Jagen Sergeant bowed down to Guo Jing and talked about how powerful Guo Jing is; shouldn't he die for disturbing the morale of the soldiers? But he was brave and led the attacks; he fought with his life up until he reached the final man, shouldn't he be rewarded?" All of the Generals bowed to him.

But after this event, the Mongolian army's morale was low. Khubilai knew that if he continued to battle on today, he would just suffer more losses. He was exasperated when he saw the hundreds of corpses of his experienced spirited soldiers lying across the battlefield. He then looked at the fortified wall of Xiangyang; it was guarded tightly and there was no way to break through. He couldn't stop himself from releasing a sigh. He immediately gave the order to retreat back forty li.

Two of his guards looked at each other and both said, "This servant would like to share the burdens of your Highness and will go to dampen the morale of the Song." They leapt onto a horse and galloped towards the city. The two mounted their bows and shot the arrows towards Guo Jing.

The two were skilled riders and their archery skills were accurate; their horse galloped like the wind and the arrows were shot out like lightning. By the time warning cries were heard from both the top and bottom of the city walls, the arrows had reached Guo Jing's chest and stomach. It appeared that Guo Jing had no way to avoid the arrows; but he gathered his hands towards himself and grabbed the arrows. He then raised his hands and shot the arrows back. Before the two guards had turned their horses around, the arrows had arrived and shot through their chests. The two fell onto the ground. The Song army at the top of the city wall cheered thunderously.

Khubilai was not pleased and ordered his men north. The army had traveled for a few li when Yang Guo said, "There is no need to be troubled your Highness; I will now go to the city to take Guo Jing's life."

Khubilai shook his head and said, "That Guo Jing is both valiant and wise; he indeed does live up to his reputation. This matter is more troublesome than I thought it would be now that I've seen him with my own eyes."

Yang Guo said, "I lived with Guo Jing for many years and I have helped him before; he will have no suspicions about me. There's a saying; a spear out in the open is easy to dodge, but an arrow in the dark is hard to avoid."

Khubilai said, "When you were standing next to me watching the battle, you were afraid that he would recognize you from the top of the city's walls?"

Yang Guo said, "I was wary of this so when you were attacking the city, Miss Long and I wore hats to cover our faces and fur garments to hide our bodies; he would not be able to recognize us."

Khubilai said, "Well then, I hope you succeed. I will keep my word about the rewards."

Yang Guo casually thanked him and he was about to turn around to Xiao Longnu to leave with her when he saw Jinlun Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi, Yin Kexi and the others with strange expressions. His mind lit up, "These people are afraid that I'll get the title of the Greatest Warrior of Mongolia if I succeed in killing Guo Jing; they'll definitely try to stop me." He turned to Khubilai and said, "Your Highness, I have something to tell you. The reason I am going to assassinate Guo Jing is because I want to avenge my father's death and because I need his head in exchange for an antidote to save my life. If I succeed in helping your Highness, I cannot accept the title of the Greatest Warrior of Mongolia."

Khubilai asked, "Why?"

Yang Guo said, "My martial arts can't compare with these people; how can I be the Greatest Warrior of Mongolia? I can only make my move if your Highness promises me this."

Khubilai heard him say this with great sincerity and thought that this really was what he wanted. He then looked at the expressions of the others and then knew what he meant by this. He said, "Since you've decided this, I can't change your mind. I will not force you."

When Fawang and the others heard this, they indeed did show signs of relief.

Yang Guo turned his horse around and headed for Xiangyang with Xiao Longnu. They took off the disguises along the way and dressed themselves back into Han clothing. It was beginning to get dark by the time they reached the walls of the city; when they got there, a closed gate greeted them. Soldiers with torches were patrolling the city walls.

Yang Guo called out, "My name is Yang Guo, and I've come to see Guo Jing, Master Guo."

The General who was guarding the city walls heard his calls and saw that he was accompanied by a girl. He immediately went to tell Guo Jing the news.

After a while, two youngsters arrived at the top of the city wall and looked down at them. One of them called out, "So it's brother Yang. There are only two of you?"

When Yang Guo saw the Wu brothers he thought, "When Guo Jing killed my father, I wonder whether or not the Wu brother's father was there to help him?" He said, "Big brother Wu, second brother Wu, is Uncle Guo in the city?"

Wu Xiuwen said, "Come in."

The soldiers opened the gate and lowered the drawbridge to allow Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu through.

The Wu brothers led the two to a large house. Guo Jing's face was filled with joy and he dashed out of the house to meet Yang Guo. He greeted Xiao Longnu and then held

Yang Guo's hand and smiled, "Guo'er, you've come here just in time. The Mongols are attacking us intensely and you can help me now that you're here; the citizens of the city are very fortunate."

Xiao Longnu was Yang Guo's Master and Guo Jing treated her as an equal, politely inviting her into the house while he treated Yang Guo with great care.

Guo Jing held Yang Guo's left hand. When Yang Guo thought about the act that his father's murderer was doing now, pretending to be caring and loving towards him, he really wanted to draw out his sword and kill him right there and then. But he was worried about how good Guo Jing's martial arts were so he didn't dare to make a rash move. He forced himself to smile and said, "I wish Uncle Guo great health." He was filled with anger and did not kneel down to him. Guo Jing was a broad-minded person and did not take little details like this to heart.

When they arrived in the hall, Yang Guo wanted to go and see Huang Rong. Guo Jing laughed, "Your Auntie Guo is about to give birth and hasn't been feeling well in the last couple of days; you can see her in a few days time."

Yang Guo was delighted and thought, "Huang Rong is extremely wise and clever; I was afraid that she would be able to see through my plan. But she's ill at the moment; it looks like even heaven wants me to succeed."

As they were talking, a soldier came in and reported, "General Lu requests Master Guo's presence at a feast to celebrate our victory against the Mongols today."

Guo Jing said, "Go and tell the General, thank you for the invitation. However, I have a guest and cannot attend."

The soldier looked at Yang Guo and saw that he was just a young man with nothing special about him; he didn't know why Guo Jing would treat him with so much respect that he would actually reject the General's invitation to the celebratory feast because of him. His mind was full of questions as he went back to report this to Lu Wenhuan.

Guo Jing prepared a family meal in the inner hall in honour of Yang Guo's and Xiao Longnu's arrival. Zhu Ziliu, Liu Youjiao, the Wu brothers and Guo Fu were in attendance. Zhu Ziliu kept on thanking Yang Guo, saying that only he could have gotten the antidote from Huo Dou to cure his poison. Yang Guo just gave a lifeless smile and said a few modest words.

Guo Fu saw that Yang Guo had an aloof expression on his face. She called out, "Brother Yang."

Guo Jing scolded, "Fu'er, if it weren't for brother Yang risking his life to save you from the hands of Jinlun Fawang, not only would you have been in trouble but also your mother; why aren't you thanking him?"

Guo Fu stood up and said, "Thank you brother Yang for saving me."

Yang Guo said, "We're not strangers, why is there a need to say thanks?"

Guo Fu didn't say anything and sat down. During the meal, Guo Fu frowned and it seemed that there was something on her mind. The Wu brothers were seemingly avoiding her glances. But Liu Youjiao and Zhu Ziliu were extremely happy and were chatting about the victory against the Mongols.

By the time dinner finished, it was around eleven o'clock. Guo Jing told his daughter to take Xiao Longnu inside to rest and he himself took Yang Guo to his room to sleep in the same bed. When Xiao Longnu was about to go inside, she glanced at Yang Guo, telling him to be careful. Her face was filled with love and concern. Yang Guo was afraid that his intentions would be revealed and so turned his head away, not daring to look at her directly.

Guo Jing led Yang Guo to his room and praised Yang Guo for saving Huang Rong, Guo Fu and the Wu brothers from Jinlun Fawang at the restaurant and the stone formations. He then asked about what had happened to him afterwards.

Yang Guo was afraid that he might let something out if he talked too much; and so he kept the events of how he met Cheng Ying, Lu Wushuang, Sha Gu and Huang Yaoshi from him. He just said, "After I was injured, I recuperated in a wild valley. Afterwards, I met my Master again and we decided to come here to help Uncle Guo."

Guo Jing got himself readied for bed and said, "Guo'er, there is a strong enemy pressing against the boundaries of our land; the Song Empire is in great danger. Xiangyang is a barrier for our Song land; if this city falls then the thousands and millions of citizens that we have will become the slaves of the Mongols. I have seen the brutality of the Mongols when they kill with my own eyes; it causes one's blood to boil."

When Yang Guo heard this, he remembered the tragic and terrifying scenes of the actions of the Mongols he encountered during his travels. He couldn't stop his teeth from clenching in anger and his chest filled with fury.

Guo Jing continued, "Why do we learn martial arts? Lending a helping hand and getting people out of danger is of course something that we must do; but this is just one of the minor parts of being a hero. The people of Jianghu call me 'Hero Guo' because they respect me for serving my country and my people and guarding Xiangyang without care for my life. But my abilities are limited, I cannot get my people out of this trouble; I really am not worthy of the title 'Hero'. You are ten times more intelligent than me; your future achievements will definitely exceed mine. I just hope that you remember these words, 'a hero's imperative is to serve your country, to serve your people'. You will be a famous true hero of the people if you remember this."

These sincere words moved Yang Guo. He saw that Guo Jing had a stern face on him and although Guo Jing was his father's murderer, Yang Guo couldn't help but feel respect for him. He replied, "Uncle Guo, after you've gone, I will definitely remember the words that you have said tonight."

How would Guo Jing know that Yang Guo was planning to assassinate him tonight? He stretched out his hand and stroked his hair and said, "Yes, bend your body to the task until your dying day. If our country perishes then your Uncle Guo's life will go along with it. I have heard that Khubilai is skilled in warfare; he retreated today but he will come back to attack again soon. There's definitely going to be a great battle in the upcoming days. It's going to be a spectacular battle. It's getting late, let's go to sleep."

Yang Guo replied, "Yes." He undressed himself for bed and hid the dagger from the Passionless Valley on him. He thought, "I'll wait until you're deep in your sleep and then stab you; even if your martial arts were a hundred times better, how could you avoid this attack?"

Guo Jing had fought in a great battle today and he immediately fell asleep. How could Yang Guo sleep with the thoughts that he had? He lay on the bed and listened to the breathing of Guo Jing. Every inhalation and exhalation was spaced out with an extremely long gap; he admired how profound Guo Jing's internal energy was.

Some time passed. It was silent everywhere with the exception of the noises from the guards. He sat up quietly and felt out the dagger from underneath his clothes. He thought, "I'll kill him first and then go kill Huang Rong. She's a pregnant woman, what can she do? Once I've killed them, I'll immediately go back to the Passionless Valley with Gu Gu to get the other half of the antidote. Once I've got the antidote, I will go back to the tomb with Gu Gu and enjoy the pleasures of life; who cares about whether this empire is Song or Mongol?"

He felt extremely pleased with himself as he thought about this; but suddenly he heard the crying of a baby from one of the neighboring residences. He then heard the mother of the baby comforting it; the baby gradually stopped crying and fell asleep.

Yang Guo's heart trembled and remembered the time when he saw a Mongolian soldier holding up his spear in midair with a baby hanging off the end of it; the baby had not died and was crying miserably. He thought, "It would be easy for me to kill Guo Jing now; but once he dies, it will be difficult to protect Xiangyang. This city has thousands and thousands of babies; won't they all be killed by the Mongolian soldiers for fun? My avenging of my father will lead to countless deaths, is this right?"

But then he thought, "If I don't kill him, how can I get the antidote from Qiu Qianchi? If I die, Gu Gu will not live on." Nothing in the world could compare to his love for Xiao Longnu and he made up his mind, "Fine, fine, who cares about the lives of Xiangyang; who cares about the Empire of the Song? When I was suffering, who cared about me apart from Gu Gu? The people of the world don't love me; why should I love the people of the world?" He raised the dagger and gathered all his strength into his right hand. He aimed for Guo Jing's chest.

The candlelight in the room had gone out long ago but Yang Guo had the ability to see things in the dark. When he was about to thrust the dagger, he glanced over at Guo Jing's face. There was a peaceful expression on his face and he was in a deep sleep; all the love that Guo Jing shown him when he was younger suddenly surfaced in his heart. How he treated him lovingly on the Peach Blossom Island; how he took him all the way to Mount Zhongnan to learn martial arts; how he betrothed his only daughter to him. He couldn't stop himself from thinking, "Uncle Guo is a straight and honest man; he is an extremely sincere and kind person; he cannot be the person who killed my father. Could it be that Sha Gu was confused and was talking rubbish? If this knife goes forward and kills an innocent man, I won't be able to redeem this with ten thousand deaths. I'll wait; I need to make sure."

He put away his dagger slowly and thought about all the things that had happened since he'd met the Guo couple; pondering over every single memory. He remembered how Huang Rong always felt uneasy with him around; there were many times when she and Guo Jing were talking about something but would immediately change the subject once she saw him. There was no question about it; the couple was keeping something from him. He continued thinking, "When Auntie Guo took me as a disciple, how come she only taught me to read and write and didn't teach me martial arts? Could it be that the reason why Uncle Guo treats me so well is because he's trying to make himself feel better about killing my father? But if he really did kill my father then how come he is not wary of me at all? He lets me sleep with him and gives me the chance to kill him with one stab of a knife. He was troubled as his thoughts went to and fro like the tides.

Though Guo Jing was sleeping, he noticed that Yang Guo's breathing was quickening and he opened his eyes. He asked, "Guo'er, what is it?"

Yang Guo trembled a little and said, "It's nothing."

Guo Jing laughed, "If you're not used to sleeping with someone, then I'll go and sleep on the table."

Yang Guo said quickly, "No, it's nothing important."

Guo Jing said, "Fine, just go to sleep. We martial artists need to make sure our states of mind are well rested."

Yang Guo replied, "Yes."

Another while passed. Yang Guo could not hold it in any longer and asked, "Uncle Guo, that year when you took me to Mount Zhongnan, I asked you a question at the Cow Head Monastery at the foot of Mount Zhongnan."

Guo Jing said, "What was it?"

Yang Guo said, "When I asked the question you became furious and smashed down on a stone obelisk; that was why you got all the trouble from the Quanzhen Taoists; do you remember what I asked?"

Guo Jing thought for a while and said, "Yes, I remember, that day you asked me how your father died."

Yang Guo stared at him and said, "No, I asked you who killed my father."

Guo Jing said, "How do you know that someone killed your father?"

Yang Guo choked, "Could it be that my father died just like that?"

Guo Jing stayed silent for a while before giving out a sigh and said, "It was no one's fault but his that he died like that."

Yang Guo sat up; he was extremely emotional and said, "You're lying! How can someone cause their own death? Even if my father killed himself, someone must have forced him to do it."

Guo Jing felt sad and tears rolled down from his eyes. He said slowly, "Guo'er, your grandfather and my father were very close; your father and I were sworn brothers. If your father was killed by someone don't you think I would have avenged his death?"

Yang Guo shook all over and he wanted to say, "You're the one who killed him, how can you avenge him?" But he knew that if he said this, Guo Jing would be wary of him and if that happened, it would be difficult to assassinate him. He nodded his head and stayed silent.

Guo Jing said, "Your father's death is a long complicated story, it cannot be explained in one sentence. When you asked me all those years ago, you were still young; you wouldn't have understood all the causes behind it. That is why I didn't tell you then. You can distinguish between right and wrong now that you've grown up. Once we've made the Mongols retreat, I'll tell you all about it from the beginning." He then laid his head back on his pillow and went to sleep.

Yang Guo had always known him to be completely honest; if he said something it was truthful and he never lied. But when he heard his words he wasn't convinced and was semi suspicious of him. He cursed himself, "Yang Guo, Yang Guo, you have always done things with an indomitable will; whatever you dared to do you did, why are you acting so timid today? Could it be that you're afraid of how good his martial arts are? If I keep on changing my mind tonight and lose this opportunity, Huang Rong might find out about my motives in the near future. When that happens, I'm afraid that even Gu Gu will be killed without a corpse that can be buried as well."

When he thought about Xiao Longnu, his spirits stirred again and he stretched out his hand to check the dagger. The dagger tip was hot after being pressed against his body.

End of Chapter 20.

Shen Diao Xia Lu (Divine Eagle, Gallant Knights)

by Jin Yong

Disclaimer

This work is an unofficial fan translation of Jin Yong's Shen Diao Xia Lu, 2nd Edition. The Copyright owner is Jin Yong and the publisher of his original Chinese text. The copyright owner of the English translations posted here is the respective translator(s). No part of this translation may be reproduced or stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted in any form or by any means without the prior written permission of the copyright owner(s) nor be otherwise circulated for commercial purpose.

Table of Contents

Chapter 21 – Fierce Fighting at Xiangyang

Chapter 22 – The Baby Girl of the City in Danger

Chapter 23 – Sibling Rivalry

Chapter 24 – Turbulent Emotions

Chapter 25 – Domestic Strife, Foreign Aggression

Chapter 26 – Divine Eagle's Heavy Sword

Chapter 27 – Fighting Strength with Wisdom

Chapter 28 – Wedding Festivities

Chapter 29 – Ultimate Disasters

Chapter 30 – Strange Encounters

Chapter 21 - Fierce Fighting at Xiangyang

Translated by Noodles

Guo Jing's left foot flicked up against the wall and he flew up over ten feet. His right feet followed and he rose up another ten feet. Silence broke out on the battlefield as tens of thousands spectators fixed their eyes on him.

Yang Guo was just about to take his dagger out and stab Guo Jing when he suddenly heard three light flicks on the outside window. He quickly shut his eyes and kept still.

Guo Jing immediately woke up alarmed and said, "Rong'er? Is there some kind of problem?" No more noises came from the window.

Guo Jing saw that Yang Guo was in a deep sleep and could hear his even snoring. He saw how easily he slept and didn't want to wake him, so he got up from the bed quietly and went to the door. He opened the door and saw Huang Rong in the courtyard signaling him with her hand. Guo Jing went to her and said quietly, "What's the matter?"

Huang Rong did not reply and lead him to the garden. She took a look all around before saying, "I heard you and Guo'er's conversation. He's up to no good, do you know that?"

Guo Jing was startled and asked, "He's up to no good?"

Huang Rong replied, "I could tell from his words that he's been suspicious of you killing his father."

Guo Jing said, "He may be suspicious but I've promised that I'll tell him all about the reasons for his father's death in detail."

Huang Rong said, "Are you really going to tell him everything?"

Guo Jing said, "I have always blamed myself for his father's tragic death. Though Brother Yang Kang went down the wrong path, we did nothing to save him."

Huang Rong gave a 'humph' and said, "How could he be saved? I just wished that I'd killed him earlier. If I had, would your Masters have died on Peach Blossom Island?" When Guo Jing recalled this bitter event, he couldn't prevent himself from heaving a long sigh. Huang Rong said, "Brother Zhu sent Fu'er to tell me that there's something odd with Guo'er and she told me how you two were going to sleep on the same bed. I was worried that something might happen and I have been on guard by the window all along. It's better not to sleep in the same room as him. You should know that people's thoughts are hard to fathom. His father... his father died from poison as a result of striking me on the shoulder."

Guo Jing said, "It can't be said that you killed him."

Huang Rong said, "Both of us had the thought of killing him in our minds and in the end he did die because of me. Although we didn't kill him with our own hands, there's not much difference."

Guo Jing thought deeply for a while and said, "You're right. I won't tell him about this. Rong'er, you've been up for half the night, quickly go back to your room and rest. After tonight, I'll move to the camp." He knew that his wife's wisdom exceeded his a hundred times and although he didn't believe that Yang Guo had any ill intent towards him, he did as she said. He stretched out his hand and put his arm around her waist and led her slowly into the inner halls. He said, "Guo'er used every ounce of strength he had to take back the position of the Chancellor of Wulin for us. He knows what's right and wrong when it comes to matters of the country; he risked his life in saving you and Fu'er twice; how can his father compare with his heroic nature?"

Huang Rong nodded her head and said, "Yes, this is something that's wonderful to see in this young man, but he has two clouds hanging over him. One is the reasons for his father's death and two, his relationship with his Master. I made Miss Long leave him but Guo'er seems to be all-knowing; somehow he found her again. From their expressions, it looks like they'll never be separated again."

Guo Jing kept silent for a while and then suddenly said, "Rong'er, you're even more all-knowing than Guo'er; think of a way to stop Guo'er from going down the wrong path."

Huang Rong sighed and said, "I don't even know what to do about our daughter let alone Guo'er. Brother Jing, I just have you in my heart and you have just me in yours. But our daughter isn't like us; she has two men in her heart, she treats each of the Wu brothers the same. This makes things difficult for us parents."

Guo Jing accompanied Huang Rong to her room and helped her onto her bed. He covered her with a blanket and held her hand, sitting by the bed waiting for her to go to sleep. The pair had been busy with defending the country and hadn't had a chance to spend any quiet time with each other like this. The two looked at each other, in silence, in peace.

Huang Rong held her husband's hand and brushed it gently across her cheeks. She whispered, "Brother Jing, you name our second child."

Guo Jing laughed, "You know I'm not good at that; why are you making fun of me?"

Huang Rong said, "You still say that you're not able. Brother Jing, there's no one in the world that's better than you." She said these words with great sincerity.

Guo Jing lowered his head and kissed his loving wife on her face gently. He said, "If it's a boy, we'll call him Guo Polu, but what if it's a girl?" He thought for a while and shook his head saying, "I can't think of one, you think of a name."

Huang Rong said, "Elder Qiu named you 'Jing' so that you would not forget the shame of the Jing Kang years. The Jin have been destroyed but now the Mongolians are threatening us. This child is going to be born in Xiangyang; we'll call her Guo Xiang so in the future she'll remember that she was born in this city when it was surrounded by warring soldiers."

Guo Jing said, "Good, but hopefully she will not be like her sister. She's grown up now and she still makes us worry about her."

Huang Rong smiled lightly and said, "It doesn't matter if we have to worry but..." She gave a sigh and said, "I really hope that it will be a boy so that the Guo's will have an heir."

Guo Jing stroked her hair and said, "A boy or a girl; will it not be the same? Just go to bed, don't think too much." He pulled the blanket over her and blew out the candles. He returned to his room and saw Yang Guo in a deep sleep. The chime for the third hour could be heard. He returned to the bed and slept.

How would he know that when he was talking to his wife, Yang Guo was hiding behind the pavilion and heard every single word they said? When Guo Jing returned to the inner halls with his wife, Yang Guo stood there in a daze. His mind was repeatedly going over what Huang Rong had said, "I just wished that I killed him earlier... his father died from poison as a result from striking me on the shoulder... both of us had the thought of killing him in our minds and in the end he did die because of me." He thought, "There's no more doubts, my father died because of the two of them. Huang Rong is really wily; she's already suspicious of me. If I don't make my move today then I don't think I'll ever get another chance like this." He then returned to the room and slept on the bed quietly, waiting for Guo Jing to return.

Guo Jing slipped himself on to the bed and heard Yang Guo's faint snoring. He thought, "This child sleeps so soundly." He rested his head lightly on the pillow, afraid that he would wake him up. A short while passed and he was about to fall asleep when he suddenly felt Yang Guo turning his body around slowly but while he was turning over, his snoring continued. Guo Jing was startled, "Everyone stops their snoring when they turn over in their sleep. There's something wrong with his breathing, could it be that when he's practicing his internal energy he circulated it in the wrong way? This isn't anything trivial." The thought of Yang Guo pretending to sleep never entered his mind.

Yang Guo slowly turned around slowly and saw that Guo Jing did not notice him so he continued his faint snoring and got down from the bed. He had wanted to make his move while he was beneath the blanket but he was worried about how close he was to Guo Jing. It would be extremely dangerous for him. If Guo Jing sends out a last gasp palm at him then surely he would be killed. He had thought about sitting up to do it but he was still worried about how good Guo Jing's martial arts were. In the end he decided to first get off the bed and stab Guo Jing in one of his vital areas before escaping out of the window. He was also afraid that if he stopped his snoring, Guo Jing would notice, so he kept up the pretence while he got down from the bed. But by doing this, Guo Jing was fooled even more. Guo Jing was thinking, "Could it be that the child has a sleepwalking disease? If I make a noise now, he would break out in a shock, his chi in his dan tian would surge the opposite way and he would immediately fire deviate." So he didn't make a move and listened out for his actions.

Yang Guo took out his dagger slowly and braced it against his chest with his right hand. He made his way to the bed step by step and suddenly gathered his chi into his arm to make his attack. Just as he was about to thrust the dagger, he heard Guo Jing call out, "Guo'er, what kind of nightmare are you having?"

Yang Guo was extremely shocked and he immediately darted out of the window. He was fast but Guo Jing was faster; before he touched the ground Guo Jing had already managed to grab him. Yang Guo's thoughts went to despair, he knew that his enemy was much stronger than him and it would be of no use to resist so he closed his eyes and kept silent. Guo Jing carried him back into the room. He placed him on the bed and sat him up with his hands hanging down in front of him, assuming the form of practicing Xuan Men chi. Yang Guo was bitter and afraid, "I wonder what kind of evil method he's going to use to torture me." He suddenly remembered Xian Long Nu. He breathed in deeply and wanted to call out to her, "Gu Gu, I've been captured, quickly run away."

When Guo Jing saw him suddenly breathe in deeply and circulate his chi, he was even more convinced that he was having problems with the circulation of his chi and thought, "In a situation like this one can only breathe in slowly and shallowly, it's extremely dangerous to breathe in so quickly and deeply like this." He quickly placed his palm against Yang Guo's lower abdomen.

Yang Guo's 'dan tian' was suppressed by Guo Jing's profound internal energy and he couldn't call out. He was concerned for Xiao Longnu's safety and struggled until his face went red but with his 'dan tian' suppressed, he couldn't move an inch. Guo Jing said slowly, "Guo'er, you were too anxious in circulating your chi; this is called desiring speed and not transmission. Stop moving, I'll help return your chi back to their original sources."

Yang Guo was startled and didn't know what he meant by this; but then he felt a warm gradual chi entering his 'dan tian' from his palms that was extremely comforting. He then heard Guo Jing say, "Slowly expel your chi and slowly let this warm chi transmit through the 'Water Divide' to the 'Interior Strengthening' through the 'Great Tower Gate', 'Turtledove Tail' to the 'Jade Hall', 'Florid Canopy', first clear the conception vessel, ignore the other meridians.

After hearing these words and feeling his chi clearing his meridians, he more or less gathered what was happening. He thought, "Shocking! He thinks I've lost my mind due to me suffering a fire deviation." He secretly circulated his internal energy and deliberately let his chi run wild, appearing not to be in control. Guo Jing was worried and increased the power in his palms, gathering his wild chi into one place. Yang Guo's internal energy was now not shallow. Guo Jing found it slightly difficult to cope for a while when Yang Guo sent his chi surging wildly around his body. He had to waste around an hour's time before he managed to return his contrary chi back into their original channels.

After this struggle, Yang Guo was completely drained of strength and Guo Jing too was extremely tired. The two of them sat in meditation. The sky lightened before they had recovered.

Guo Jing smiled, "Guo'er, are you okay now? I didn't know that your internal energy has reached such a good level already; even I almost couldn't control it."

Yang Guo knew that in trying to save himself, Guo Jing had wasted a lot of his internal energy and was touched by this. He said, "Thank you uncle Guo for saving me; last night I was almost crippled."

Guo Jing thought, "Last night while you were confused, you actually raised a dagger to kill me; luckily you didn't know about this, otherwise wouldn't you be ashamed of yourself?" He was afraid that if Yang Guo knew about this he would feel sorry about it so he changed the subject and said, "Come with me outside of the city, we'll take a look at the city's defenses."

Yang Guo replied, "Yes!" The two of them mounted a warhorse each and rode shoulder to shoulder outside of the city.

Guo Jing said, "Guo'er, the internal energy of the Quanzhen sect is the most orthodox in the world, though progress is slow, you will not run into any trouble. You can learn other sect's and school's martial arts but when it comes to internal energy it would be advisable to practice Xuan Men martial arts. We'll study this together once the enemy has retreated."

Yang Guo said, "Don't tell Auntie Guo about me fire deviating last night. If she finds out she'll laugh at me for learning Long Gu Gu's unorthodox martial arts and blame me for making Uncle Guo suffer."

Guo Jing said, "Of course I won't say. Miss Long's martial arts aren't unorthodox; it's just that you weren't concentrating and didn't practice with a clear mind." Yang Guo knew that if Huang Rong found out about this she would immediately know the truth. When he heard Guo Jing promise not to tell Huang Rong, his mind relaxed.

The two of them headed west of the city and arrived at a stream. Guo Jing said, "Though this is a small stream, it is very famous; it is called the Tan Torrent."

Yang Guo said, "Oh. I have heard people talk about the story of the Three Kingdoms; they mentioned that Emperor Liu of Shu leaped over the Tan Torrent on horseback. So, the Tan Torrent is located here."

Guo Jing said, "The horse that Liu Bei rode that year was called De Lu; the horse handler said that it would harm its rider. But in the end De Lu actually leaped over the Tan Torrent and escaped from the pursuing army, saving Emperor Liu of Shu's life in the process." When he talked about this, he couldn't stop himself from thinking about Yang Guo's father Yang Kang. He gave a heavy sigh and said, "The people of the world are just the same as the horse Du Lu; to the good it does good, to the evil it does evil. Is there such a thing as a definite good or evil person? The only difference between the two is that there is a contrast in thought."

Yang Guo's heart trembled and he took a look over at Guo Jing. There was an extremely hurt expression on his face; it appeared that these words weren't meant as an attack on him. Yang Guo thought, "Your words might be right but what is good? What is evil? You and your wife killed my father, could that be the actions of someone who's good? Your words really are brash; you don't know how shameful you are." He had always had great respect for Guo Jing; but from now, whenever he remembers how his father died at their hands, evil thoughts filled his mind.

The two rode on for a little while and arrived at the top of a hill. From above one could see the flow of Han going southwards; refugees from all over were descending on Xiangyang. Guo Jing stretched out his horsewhip and pointed at the refugees. He said, "The Mongolians must have intensified their slaughter of our people in Sixiang, destroying the homes of our citizens. They're abominable."

Looking down from the hill, one could see, by the side of the road, a stone slab with some words written on it. It said: Minister of Works for the Tang Dynasty, Du Fu's hometown lies there.

Yang Guo said, "Xiangyang is no ordinary city. So the hometown of this great poet is here."

Guo Jing swept his whip and recited, "The great city unlike metal, the small cities of over ten thousand zhangs... the joined clouds of lined up battles, the flying birds unable to rise beyond. Self-guarding with ruin, how can Xi Dou be recovered? ... Struggling with long halberds, history needs one man."

Yang Guo heard him recite this with great passion and he recited it himself; "Self-guarding with ruin, how can Xi Dou be recovered? Struggling with long halberds, history needs one man. Uncle Guo, this is a really good poem, was it written by Du Fu?" Guo Jing said, "Yes. A few days ago, your Auntie Guo and I were discussing the defense of Xiangyang and this poem by Du Fu came up. She wrote it out for me. I really like this poem but my memory is bad. I went over this poem many times but all I can remember are just a few lines. There have been many educated men in our history who have written poems; but over the years, they have proclaimed Du Fu as the greatest poet of all and it's all because of his worry for his nation and people."

Yang Guo said, "You said, 'a hero's imperative is to serve your country, serve your people', literature and martial arts are different but the same can be applied to both."

When Guo Jing heard him grasp this he was delighted and said, "I do not understand much about literature; but no matter what one becomes in their life, a merchant, a slave, a soldier, as long as the thought 'serve your country, serve your people' is there, one can be a true man, a true hero."

Yang Guo asked, "Uncle Guo, do you think you will be able to defend Xiangyang?"

Guo Jing thought for a while and then pointed to the hills and trees to the west before saying, "In Xiangyang's history, the most famous person is Zhuge Liang. Twenty 'li' (10km) west of here is a thriving place. It was the place where he lived in seclusion. Coarse people like me can't fathom the deeds that he did saving our nation and bringing peace to our people. He once said that all he knew was that one must follow the phrase 'bending your body to the task until your dying day'. Whether it would lead to success or failure, he didn't know. When your Auntie Guo and I talked about whether Xiangyang can be defended or not; we ended up with these same words."

Just as they were talking, they saw that the refugees who were at the doors of Xiangyang had suddenly turned around while the refugees behind kept on flowing forward towards Xiangyang. It was chaos.

Guo Jing was shocked and said, "Why aren't the guards letting them into the city?" He galloped towards the city and saw a line of archers with their bows armed pointing at the refugees.

Guo Jing called out, "What are you doing? Quickly open the gates." When the guards saw that it was Guo Jing, they quickly opened the gates and let him and Yang Guo in.

Guo Jing said, "These people are being persecuted by the Mongolians, why aren't you letting them in?"

The general guarding the gates said, "General Lu said that spies have hidden themselves amongst the refugees; we cannot let them in for that reason."

Guo Jing shouted, "Even if there are one or two spies, how can we show no regard for these hundreds of lives? Quickly open the gates."

Guo Jing has been guarding the city for a long time now and had many great achievements; though he did not have an official post, the general guarding the city did not dare to disobey his orders and opened the city gates. At the same time, he ordered a messenger to report this to Lu Wende.

Old and young all converged on the city. Suddenly, a dust cloud appeared far away; the Mongolian army was moving in from the north. The Song soldiers scattered and went back inside the walls of the city. A large group of people stood out in front of the oncoming enemy; they were all clothed in rags and all had a stick in their hands, none had a real weapon and they were scattered. They called out, "Don't shoot arrows here; we're Song citizens as well!"

The Mongolian army however sheltered themselves behind the refugees.

Ever since the times of Ji Si Khan, whenever the Mongolian army attacked a city, they would first send the citizens of the surrounding country towards the city they were attacking. If the soldiers who were guarding the city weakened their resolve at this sight, the Mongols would immediately come forward and attack. By using this method, the Mongolian army was able to slaughter the citizens of the nation they were attacking and defeat their opposition in the city, killing two birds with one stone. It was extremely brutal and cruel but effective. Guo Jing had been with Mongolian army a long time and knew about this tactic, but there was nothing he could do to counter it. The Mongolian soldiers held the spears and long sabers to the front as they forced the citizens of the Song forward. The people were forced closer and closer and the people closest the city began to climb up the ladders.

Lu Wende rode his horse and took a look around at what was happening. When he saw the urgent situation they were in he immediately ordered, "Defending the city is the main priority, fire the arrows!"

Arrows rained down and many people were struck. Those who weren't fell back. The Mongolian army chopped heads with their sabers and pierced bodies with the spears and the refugees were forced back towards the city. Yang Guo stood next to Guo Jing and watched this tragic scene in anger.

Lu Wende called out, "Fire the arrows!" Arrows rained down once more.

Guo Jing shouted, "Stop, you can't kill good people!"

Lu Wende said, "In such an urgent situation, even if it is a good person, we have to kill them."

Guo Jing shouted, "No, how can you kill good people wrongly?"

Yang Guo's heart trembled, "You can't kill good people wrongly! How can you kill good people wrongly?"

Guo Jing called out, "My Beggar Clan brothers and my Wulin friends follow me!" He then rushed down towards the city gates. Yang Guo followed him.

Guo Jing said, "You suffered an injury when practicing chi last night; you cannot exert any kind of strength today. Go back to the city wall and watch what's happening."

Yang Guo saw his fellow Han being treated worse than animals by the Mongolian army and wanted to go down with Guo Jing and do some killing. He was startled when he heard this but he couldn't tell Guo Jing that last night was just an act; so he returned back up the city wall. Guo Jing led a group of people and opened the western gate. They rushed out and attacked the Mongolian flank. The Mongolian troops who were forcing the refugees forward turned towards Guo Jing.

The people Guo Jing was leading were good fighters of the Beggar Clan and patriots that had been gathered from all over China. They shouted and attacked; over a hundred Mongolian soldiers were immediately forced off their horses. The Mongolian army saw that their thousand soldiers were not able to fend them off and so another thousand came forward from the side. The Mongolian soldiers were all experienced, brave and vicious; though the group Guo Jing was leading knew martial arts, they were not able to subdue the Mongolians for the time being. When the refugees saw that the Mongolian soldiers were not pushing them forward any longer, they scattered.

A horn blew from the east and two Minghan regiments (division of 1000 men) surged forward. Another two Minghan regiments from the west dashed forward and surrounded Guo Jing and his group. Lu Wende was scared witless when he saw the might of the Mongolian army; how would he dare to send men out for a rescue?

Yang Guo stood at the top of the city walls and kept on going over what Guo Jing had said, "You can't kill good people wrongly! How can you kill good people wrongly?" When he saw Guo Jing surrounded he thought, "All the guards had to do was to let some arrows fly and kill a few people and they would have been able to stop this Mongolian attack. The reason Uncle Guo is in all this danger is because he didn't want to kill good people wrongly. He doesn't know these people yet he risks his life to save them; why did he want to kill my father?"

He saw the tragic killing below but all he could think about was this riddle; "He and my father were sworn brothers; this isn't any ordinary kind of relationship, but in the end he still wanted to harm him. Could it be that my father was an evil person?" Ever since he was little he had always thought of his father as someone who was chivalrous, brave and heroic; one of the greatest men on earth. To acknowledge that his father was an evil person was something that he could not do. But in his heart, he had the feeling that his father could not compare to his Uncle Guo; but whenever he had this feeling, he forced it back down. Right now however, he couldn't stop himself from thinking about this point.

The cries below the city walls were ear shattering. Guo Jing and his group dashed left and surged right but they still were unable to break out. Zhu Ziliu led a group of men and the Wu brothers and Guo Fu led another to save them; but the Mongolian horn was blown once again and another four Minghan units surged forward to the city gates. Khubilai was indeed skilled in warfare. If the city gates opened to save Guo Jing and the others, the four divisions would break into the city.

Lu Wende was shocked senseless now and ordered, "Do not open the city gates!" Two hundred men who were ordered to guard the gates were told to kill anyone daring to try to open the gates. General Wang led a group of archers at the top of the city walls and they fired their arrows incessantly.

Chaos ruled both outside and inside the city while Yang Guo's mind was in the same state; sometimes he wished that Guo Jing would perish in this battle, while at others, he wished that Guo Jing would be able to drive the enemy back.

Suddenly, the formation of the Mongolian soldiers was broken up; thousands of mounted soldiers collapsed back to the sides as though the tides swept them. Guo Jing galloped ahead with a long spear in his hands. The Han behind him formed a tight formation and they surged forward. They managed to get to the city gates. Guo Jing turned his steed around and went to defend the back of the group. His long spear knocked seven or eight Mongolian Generals off their steeds. The Mongolian soldiers stopped pressing for the time being.

Lu Wende relied on Guo Jing heavily and when he saw him escape danger he was ecstatic; he quickly called out, "Open the gates! But only a little, don't open the gates too wide!"

The city gates opened three or four feet and just allowed one rider in at a time. All the men returned to the city. The yellow flag of the Mongolian army was waved and two divisions of soldiers on horseback charged forward from both sides.

Lu Wende called out, "Brother Guo Jing, quickly get back into the city! We can't wait for the others."

How could Guo Jing enter the city while he still had men outside? He turned his horse back and killed two Mongolian soldiers that had ridden up to him.

But once the army was in motion, they moved like the waves of the sea. Guo Jing was skilled in martial arts, but how could one person defend against the attack of a large army?

Zhu Ziliu saw the situation was urgent and quickly lowered down a rope. He called out, "Brother Guo, grab it."

Guo Jing turned his head and saw the final Beggar Clan member had entered the city but he was followed by ten Mongolian soldiers. The guards at the gates fought them off and began closing the city gates. The two foot thick metal gate slowly closed. Guo Jing shouted and killed an Arban Chief with his spear before leaping up to take the rope. Zhu Ziliu pulled up with all his strength and Guo Jing rose up ten feet.

The Noyan who was supervising the troops ordered, "Arrows!" Immediately, a thousand bows released their arrows. Guo Jing was prepared for this. He tore off the lower part of his gown and swung it in front of his body with his left hand like a shield while he kept hold of the rope with his right hand. The gown was unyielding and blocked off all the arrows; but the steed that he had left behind outside the city walls was killed by the raining arrows. Zhu Ziliu pulled with both hands and pulled Guo Jing up higher and higher.

Guo Jing was around twenty feet away from the top of the city wall when a tall skinny monk appeared amongst the Mongolian army. He was wearing a yellow Buddhist gown; it was none other than Jinlun Fawang. He took a bow from one of the Mongolian soldiers and raised it. He knew that Guo Jing and Zhu Ziliu's martial arts were high and would be able to avoid any arrows he shot at them so instead he aimed for the rope. It was a vicious move. The arrow was ten feet away from both Guo Jing and Zhu Ziliu; the two had no way to stop this arrow. Jinlun Fawang was afraid that the two might come up with a way to stop this arrow so he fired two more arrows, one at Guo Jing and the other at Zhu Ziliu. The first arrow severed the rope while the second and third arrow headed for Guo Jing and Zhu Ziliu with great force.

When the rope severed, Guo Jing dropped and the arrow aimed at him missed. Zhu Ziliu felt the weight in his hand lessen and called out; "Oh no!" The arrow had arrived. It was a very forceful arrow; the person who fired it must have very profound internal energy. The top of the city walls were filled with people, if Zhu Ziliu lowered his head to avoid this arrow, someone behind might be injured. So he stretched out the second finger on his left hand and touched the stem of the arrow, diverting it back down the city wall.

Guo Jing was slightly alarmed when he felt the rope part; though he won't be injured by the fall, he would be surrounded by thousands and thousands of soldiers. How could he fight his way out of that? The Mongol army is right next to the city gate now; if my side opens it to let me in, the Mongols would definitely take the opportunity to push through. There was no time to think in this danger; his left foot flicked up against the wall and he flew up over ten feet. His right foot followed and he rose up another ten feet. Very few people were proficient in this “Stairs to Heaven” technique. Even those who were well versed in it could only manage two or three feet per step; but on this slippery wall, each step of Guo Jing’s took him over ten feet. Guo Jing’s martial arts were frighteningly good. Silence broke out on the battlefield as everyone fixed their eyes on him.

Jinlun Fawang was slightly startled when he saw this. However, he knew that when one uses the “Stairs to Heaven”, they must make their leap in one breath. If Fawang could distract him and disturb his breathing then Guo Jing would not be able to make his third step, so Fawang raised his bow again and shot an arrow towards Guo Jing’s back.

The arrow flew like the wind. Shouts of, “No arrows!” were heard from soldiers from both the top of the city walls and down below. Both sides saw the terrifyingly good skills of Guo Jing and were in awe; they all hoped that he would make it. The Mongolians were the enemy but had much respect for great heroes and great men, they were all furious when they saw someone had fired an arrow at Guo Jing.

Guo Jing knew that the arrow behind him had a tremendous force behind it. He called out in alarm, “Not now!” He had to use his hand to deflect it away. Both sides cheered when they saw that the arrow failed to hit him. But with this earth shattering noise, Guo Jing was falling back down the city wall. There were only a few feet to the top of the city wall but Guo Jing had no way to climb up it.

When the two sides were fighting, the same was happening within Yang Guo’s heart. In the short space of time that Guo

Jing climbed up, dropped down, climbed up and dropped down again, Yang Guo's mind repeatedly went over, "He killed my father, should I kill him or not, or should I save him or not?"

When Guo Jing was using the "Stairs to Heaven" technique, Yang Guo had thought about throwing out a palm at Guo Jing. Guo Jing was in midair and had nothing to support himself with; he would definitely suffer a serious injury and fall back down from the city wall.

But as he was hesitating, Fawang had already fired an arrow at Guo Jing that stopped him from coming up. Yang Guo's mind was in confusion. Suddenly, he grabbed the severed rope in Zhu Ziliu's hand with his left hand and leapt down from the city wall towards Guo Jing, grabbing Guo Jing's arm with his right hand.

This was a move out of the blue but Zhu Ziliu responded with great speed. He first lowered the rope down slightly before gathering strength into his arms and urgently pulled the rope upwards. Yang Guo and Guo Jing arced in circle like two large birds flying in the sky. The soldiers on both sides watched with their mouths open.

When Guo Jing was in midair he thought, wouldn't it mean he had lost in this exchange if he doesn't reply to this sneak attack by this evil monk? He saw Fawang had fired another arrow. As soon as his left foot touched the top of the city wall he immediately grabbed a bow from one of the guards and fired an arrow of his own towards Fawang's arrow. The arrows collided in midair and Fawang's arrow was split into two. Fawang was stunned. Suddenly, a fierce gust arrived; a 'zheng' sound was heard as the metal bow in his hands snapped in two.

Though Guo Jing's and Fawang's martial arts were within a hairsbreadth of each other, Guo Jing's archery skills were unsurpassed. He had learned archery from one of the greatest Mongolian archers, Zhe Bie (Jebbeh), when he was young and his internal energy was profound – when it came to archery, Fawang lost out.

Guo Jing had fired three arrows; the first divided Fawang's arrow, the second snapped Fawang's bow and the third was fired towards Khubilai's flag staff.

Khubilai's flag had fluttered in the wind gloriously amongst the thousands of soldiers, but now it had fallen. Soldiers from both sides shouted and hollered.

Khubilai saw his army's morale drop after Guo Jing's display and immediately ordered his men back.

Guo Jing stood at the top of the city wall and watched the Mongolians retreat. They were marching back in formation and in line; those who were at the front didn't rush and those who were at the back showed no fear. He couldn't stop himself from sighing and thinking, "Our weak Song army cannot compete with the great Mongolian army." He frowned as he worried about the fate of his nation.

Zhu Ziliu, Yang Guo and the others were in awe of Guo Jing when they saw that he had no signs of pride of his face even after displaying his might in front of thousands.

Khubilai pulled his men back tens of miles and then started to think of a plan to take the city. With Guo Jing at the helm, it would be difficult to take it.

Fawang said, "Your highness saw for yourself; if it weren't for Yang Guo, Guo Jing would be dead now. I knew that Yang Guo was not a man of his word."

Khubilai said, "No! I think it's because he wants to Guo Jing to die by his own hands and not at the hands of others. He appears to be a brave and valiant man; he is not a conniving fellow.”

Fawang didn't agree but he didn't dare to answer back, he just said, “Hopefully your highness is correct.”

Xiangyang city was safe now that the Mongolian army had pulled back. Lu Wende was delighted and threw another banquet to celebrate it. This time, Yang Guo was also invited.

Everyone praised him for his swift and life risking actions in saving Guo Jing. The Wu brothers sat at another table and were filled with jealousy. Yang Guo had made a great achievement immediately after arriving at Xiangyang. They were also afraid that after this event, Guo Jing would again insist on betrothing his daughter to Yang Guo. The brothers didn't say a word and just sat there, drinking wine.

Everyone returned to the Guo residence when the banquet finished. Huang Rong invited Yang Guo into the inner halls and praised him. Yang Guo replied with modest words.

Guo Jing said, “Guo'er, you've just exerted a fierce force, does your chest hurt?” Guo Jing was worried that by using unrestrained force, Yang Guo's internal injury would flare up.

Yang Guo was worried that Huang Rong would ask about this further and see through this so he quickly replied, “I'm fine... I'm fine.” He changed the subject immediately and said, “Uncle Guo, the kung fu that you used to fly up the city wall was excellent, there isn't another who can match that in the world of Wulin.”

Guo Jing gave a little smile and said, “I learned this kung fu a long time ago and haven't practiced it for years; I'm a little rusty with it and that was why I ran into a bit of trouble.” In actual fact, if he hadn't used his chi and internal energy to help Yang Guo protect his 'dan tian' last night, he would have been able to fly up the city wall using the “Stairs to Heaven” technique even with Jinlun Fawang’s interference. Naturally, he didn’t mention this and said, “Years ago in Mongolia, the Red Sun Elder Ma taught me this skill; who would have thought that I would have to use it today. If you like this skill I’ll teach it to you in a few days time.”

Huang Rong saw that Yang Guo seemed absent minded and his thoughts were somewhere else. His rescue of Guo Jing was seen by thousands, there was nothing suspicious about this but she still felt uncomfortable and said, “Brother Jing, I’m not feeling well tonight, stay with me.”

Guo Jing nodded and said to Yang Guo, “Guo’er, you’re tired, go and rest.”

Yang Guo said his goodnights to the two and went back to his room alone. He heard the call for the second hour. He sat in front of the table and stared at the flickering candlelight with many thoughts running through his head. Suddenly, a noise came from the door. A girl’s voice said, “You’re not sleeping?” It was Xiao Longnu. Yang Guo leapt up in delight and opened the door. Xiao Longnu was standing in front of him dressed in a light green gown.

Yang Guo asked, “Gu Gu what’s the matter?”

Xiao Longnu said, “I wanted to see you.”

Yang Guo held her hand and said tenderly, “I was just thinking about you.”

The two of them strolled out to the garden. The scent of the flowers and trees filled the air. Xiao Longnu looked at the semi-circled moon in the sky and said, “Do you have to kill him with your own hands? We haven’t got much time left.”

Yang Guo quickly whispered into her ear, “The walls have ears here, don’t talk about it.”

Xiao Longnu looked at him enraptured and said, "When the moon is full, the time will be up."

Yang Guo was alarmed and counted with his fingers; it had been nine days since they parted from Qiu Qianchi. If he doesn't kill Guo Jing within the next two days, there will not be enough time to hurry back to the valley before the poison reacts. He let out a sigh and sat down on a taihu stone (limestone rocks found in Lake Tai) with Xiao Longnu. The two looked at each other without saying a word and they became wrapped up in their love, forgetting all about matters of killing and avenging.

Suddenly, the sounds of footsteps could be heard from behind the garden fountain, two people were approaching.

A girl's voice said, "If you're going to keep nagging me then you might as well just get a sword and slit my throat to stop my torment."

An angry male voice said, "Huh, don't you think I don't know that you've got more than one man in your heart? That Yang punk showed off in front of everyone after arriving in Xiangyang. Do you remember what you said before?" It was Guo Fu and Wu Xiuwen.

Xiao Longnu made a face at Yang Guo, trying to scold him for flirting with girls everywhere and tormenting them. Yang Guo gave her a smile and pulled her closer to him. He shook his head lightly, telling her not to make a noise.

When Guo Fu heard these words, she became furious and raised her voice, "Since you've made your mind up then forget everything I said before. I'll go somewhere far away by myself; I'm not going to see Yang Guo and I'm not going to see you." A tearing sound was heard; Wu Xiuwen must have tugged her sleeve and Guo Fu must have pulled it back.

Her voice became even angrier as she said, "What are you doing? So what if he shows off? What's it got to do with me? If my parents betroth me to him I'd rather die than agree to it. If father forces me then I'll run away. That Yang Guo has always been an attention grabber since he was young, but I choose not to give a damn about him. Father thinks he's some kind of treasure whereas I think that he's not a good person."

Wu Xiuwen said quickly, "Yes...Yes. I was stupid just now, please forgive me sister Fu. If I act like that again, then I won't have a good death and when I reincarnate, I'll reincarnate as the king of cowards." Feelings of joy seeped through as he said this. Guo Fu giggled.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu looked at each other and smiled; one was thinking, "Look, look at how others view me." The other thought, "I was wrong just now, I love you but others love someone else."

Though Guo Fu had a scolding tone in her voice and treated Wu Xiuwen almost like a child, making him obedient and completely enchanted. She had tender feelings for him.

Wu Xiuwen then said, "Master wife loves you very much; beg her day and night non-stop. If Master wife agrees not to betroth you to the one named Yang, then master will not be able to say anything."

Guo Fu said, "Huh, what do you know? Father may listen to mother but when it comes to important matters, mother will not stand up to father."

Wu Xiuwen gave a sigh and said, "It'll be great if you treat me the same." Suddenly, a 'pa' sound was heard and Wu Xiuwen called out in pain. He said quickly, "Why are you hitting me"

Guo Fu said, "Who told you to say things like that? I'm not going to marry Yang Guo, and I'm not going to marry you, you little monkey."

Wu Xiuwen said, "Fine, fine. Finally you've admitted it. You don't want to be my wife but you want to be my sister in law. Let me tell you something... let me tell you something..." He was flustered and couldn't finish his sentence.

Guo Fu's voice suddenly became gentle and tender as she said, "Little brother Wu, you've told me a thousand times, a million times how you feel about me, I already know. Though your brother hasn't even said one word of this kind, I know that he loves me. No matter who I pick, one of you brothers will be broken hearted. Don't you know how hard it is for me?"

Wu Dunru and Wu Xiuwen had always relied on each other ever since they were young because they lost the care of their parents; but in the last few years, the two of them had fallen madly in love with Guo Fu and both were troubled by the other. Wu Xiuwen's heart was filled with angst and tears actually fell from his eyes.

Guo Fu took out a handkerchief and gave it to him. She sighed, "Little brother Wu, we all grew up together, I have great respect for your brother but I find it easier to talk to you. I am not biased towards any of you. You're trying to force me to make a clear choice now, if you were me, what should I say?"

Wu Xiuwen said, "I don't know. All I know is if you marry someone else, life would not be worth living."

Guo Fu said, "Let's stop talking about this. Father fought for his life against the enemy today while we're talking about some trivial stuff here in the garden; if father finds out about this then we'll both be in trouble. Little brother Wu, let me tell you, if you want to please my parents then why don't you try to stand out, achieve some great deeds in battle? Won't my parents look down on you if you keep on hanging around me?"

Wu Xiuwen leapt up and said loudly, "You're right, I'll go and assassinate Khubilai and rid the threat to Xiangyang. When that happens, will you agree to marry me?"

Guo Fu smiled, "If you can do such a thing then I would have no other choice but to marry you, wouldn't I? But Khubilai has many guards around him. Even my father may not be able to beat that Jinlun Fawang. Stop dreaming, just go and sleep."

Wu Xiuwen stared at Guo Fu's elegant face and said, "Fine, you go and sleep as well." He turned around and walked away a few steps before suddenly stopping. He turned and asked, "Sister Fu, are you going to have a dream tonight?"

Guo Fu laughed, "How do I know?"

Wu Xiuwen said, "If you do dream, what do you think you will dream about?"

Guo Fu gave a little laugh and said, "Most probably about a little monkey."

Wu Xiuwen was filled with joy and skipped away.

Xiao Longnu and Yang Guo listened to their words behind the flower thicket. They couldn't stop themselves from grinning at each other and comparing themselves with them: one was madly in love with the other while the other didn't have a set mind; while they had only each other in mind and could die without regret. That couple's joy and happiness could not compare with the joy and happiness of themselves.

After Wu Xiuwen left, Guo Fu sat on the stone bench and looked up at the moon in deep thought. She stared at it for a long while before letting out a sigh.

Suddenly, someone came out from behind the garden fountain and said, "Sister Fu, why are you sighing?" It was Wu Dunru.

Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu were both slightly startled. Wu Dunru must have hid himself here a long time ago, he was here even before they in fact, otherwise the two would have noticed him when he arrived here.

Guo Fu said with a slight angry tone, "You are always weird like this. You heard everything we said, right?"

Wu Dunru nodded and stood opposite of Guo Fu at quite a distance away but his eyes were still filled with love. The two looked at each other in silence.

After a while, Guo Fu said, "What do you want to say to me?"

Wu Dunru said, "Nothing. You know what I have to say." He turned around and then slowly walked away.

Guo Fu stared at his back while he walked away towards the garden fountain. He didn't turn around even once. She thought, "Wouldn't it be great if only one of them existed?" She gave a deep sigh and returned to her room alone.

Yang Guo waited until she had gone before laughing, "If you were her, who would you marry?"

Xiao Longnu turned her head slightly and thought for a while before saying; "You."

Yang Guo laughed, "I don't count. Miss Guo does not like me one bit. I said if you were her, which one of the Wu brothers would you pick?"

Xiao Longnu compared the two Wu brothers in her mind but still came up with, "I'll still marry you."

Yang Guo was amused and touched. He embraced her and said tenderly, "Others have more than one in their hearts but my Gu Gu loves me only."

The two of them stayed in each others loving arms until daylight.

The sun was on the eastern horizon. The two still did not want to part. Suddenly, a servant rushed up to them and greeted them before saying, "Master Guo requests Master Yang's presence immediately,"

Yang Guo saw that his face was anxious and knew that it was something important. He left Xiao Longnu and followed the servant to the inner halls.

The servant said, "I searched for master Yang everywhere; master Yang was appreciating the scenery in the garden."

Yang Guo said, "Has Master Guo been waiting a long time?"

The servant whispered, "The two masters Wu's suddenly disappeared, Master and Madam Guo are worrying about them and Miss Guo cried a few times!"

Yang Guo was startled when he heard this but he knew what had happened. "The two Wu brothers are trying to fight for the hand of their apprentice sister and want to do something outstanding; they must have gone to assassinate Khubilai. He hurried inside and saw Huang Rong looking distressed in her nightgown with Guo Jing pacing to and fro. Guo Fu's eyes were red and it looked like she was going to cry at any time. There were two swords on the table.

As soon as Guo Jing saw Yang Guo he quickly asked, "Guo'er, the Wu brothers went to the Mongolian camp, do you know why?”

Yang Guo glanced over at Guo Fu and said, “The Wu brothers went to the Mongolian camp?”

Guo Jing said, “Yes. You young ones always talk to each other, do you have any clue about why they went?”

Yang Guo said, “I didn’t notice anything. The two Wu brothers did not say anything to me. It’s probably because they were worried about the danger that Xiangyang was in so they went to the camp to kill a few senior generals. It’ll be a great achievement if they succeed.”

Guo Jing sighed and pointed to the swords on the table. He said, “Even if their hearts are in the right place, they don’t know what they are getting into; their weapons have been taken away and sent back here.”

Yang Guo was rather surprised by this. He knew that the Wu brothers would not be able to succeed with such great fighters such as Jinlun Fawang, Yin Kexi, Xiaoxiang Zi and the likes around; but he wouldn’t have predicted that it would happen in the past few hours and that their weapons would be sent back.

Guo Jing gave the letter that was on top of the weapons to Yang Guo and glanced at Huang Rong. The two of them shook their heads. Yang Guo opened the letter and saw:

To Hero Guo of Xiangyang from the First Protector of Mongolia
Jinlun Fawang,

Last night when I was hunting, I unexpectedly came upon your disciples by the name of Wu. People say that great Masters will produce great disciples; I cannot deny this. I have long admired and marveled at Hero Guo’s great name. Last time we meet at the heroes’ feast, we did not get the chance to make acquaintances. I have written to you to invite you to the camp so we may do so and share wine. As soon as you arrive, your disciples will be returned safely. Will you accept this invitation?

The letter had a humble tone and it appeared to be an ordinary invitation for Guo Jing to go to the camp and make acquaintances with Fawang. But what the letter really was saying is that the Wu brothers will only be released if Guo Jing agrees to go to the camp.

Guo Jing waited for Yang Guo to finish reading before saying; "Well?"

Yang Guo knew what this was about, "Auntie Guo's wisdom is ten times greater than mine, Auntie Guo would have come up with any plan that I could think of. The reason she summoned me to discuss this matter is for one reason only; she wants me and Gu Gu to accompany Uncle Guo to the Mongolian camp. Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others together might beat Uncle Guo but it isn't guaranteed that they'll be able to kill and capture him. If Gu Gu and I help him, Uncle Guo will be able to escape." He then immediately came up with, "But if Gu Gu and I suddenly changed sides, to harm him will be as easy as turning my palm. If I can't kill him with my own hands, then I'll just let Fawang and the others to do it for me, wouldn't that be great?" He then gave a wry smile and said, "Uncle Guo, my Master and I will go with you. Auntie Guo has seen our swordplay defeat Jinlun Fawang; they might not be able to keep us there if the three of us go together."

Guo Jing was delighted and smiled, "No one can compare with your intelligence apart from your Auntie Guo. This is the exact thing that your Auntie Guo came up with."

Yang Guo thought, "Huang Rong, oh Huang Rong, you've been clever all your life but today you lose out to me." He said, "We'll go right now. Gu Gu and I will pretend to be your attendants, that way we will be able to emphasize your heroic manner in coming to this meeting all by yourself."

Guo Jing said, "Good!" He turned to Huang Rong and said, "Rong'er, you don't need to worry, with Guo'er and Miss Long, even if it was a dragon's lagoon or a tiger's lair, we'll still be able to return safely."

He straightened his gown and said, "We'll get Miss Long."

Huang Rong shook her head and said, "No, I just wanted Guo'er to go with you. Miss Long is like a porcelain doll, I cannot let her meet any danger. I want her to stay with me."

Yang Guo was startled but then immediately understood, "Auntie Guo is indeed wary of me. She wants to keep Gu Gu with her as a hostage, that way I won't be able to do anything. If I insist of having Gu Gu with me, she will be even more suspicious." He didn't say anything about it.

But Guo Jing said, "Miss Long's swordplay is excellent, it would be a great help if she comes with us."

Huang Rong countered, "Your Polu or Xiang'er are about to be born. If Miss Long is here to guard me, I can relax a bit more."

Guo Jing said quickly, "Yes, yes, I'm so dumb. Guo'er, let's go."

Yang Guo said, "Allow me to tell my Gu Gu."

Huang Rong said, "I'll tell her in a minute, you two are just going to the camp for half a day, it's not some great event."

When it came to using their minds, Yang Guo found himself losing out to Huang Rong every time. So he decided to use his against the honest and sincere Guo Jing instead. He'll make his move against him in the camp and then come back to save Xiao Longnu afterwards. He made his mind up and left the city with Guo Jing.

Guo Jing rode the precious red horse and Yang Guo rode his skinny yellow horse. The two horses were fast and they arrived at the camp within one hour.

Khubilai was startled and delighted that Guo Jing had actually decided to come here and he quickly invited him into his tent.

Guo Jing entered the tent and saw a middle-aged Prince sitting in the middle of the tent. He had a square face and large ears with deep-set eyes; Guo Jing was stunned when he saw this and thought, "This person looks so much like his father Tuo Lei." He was very close to Tuo Lei [Tolui] when he was younger but now he had passed away; his eyes turned red at this thought and he almost cried.

Khubilai left his seat to greet him and bowed down to him, saying, "When my father was alive, he always praised the heroic and righteous Uncle Guo. I have always admired Uncle Guo. To have the opportunity to meet you is the fulfillment of my lifelong dream."

Guo Jing bowed to him and said, "Tuo Lei and I were like brothers; when I was younger, my mother and I lived in Genghis Khan's territory and it was your father who looked after us. It is very sad that he died suddenly at such a young age."

Khubilai heard that his words were sincere and they moved him. He then introduced Xiaoxiang Zi, Yin Kexi and the others to him and then invited him to his place.

Yang Guo stood behind Guo Jing and pretended that he didn't know any of them. Fawang and the others did not know why he came but when they saw him ignoring them, they ignored him.

However, Ma Guangzuo called out, "Brother Ya..." Before he finished saying 'brother Yang', Yin Kexi had pinched his leg tightly. Ma Guangzuo called out, "What are you doing?"

Yin Kexi turned his head around and ignored him. Ma Guangzuo didn't know who did this and kept on shouting out insults. He forgot about greeting Yang Guo.

Yang Guo sat down and drank some Mongolian milk wine. Yang Guo saw that the Wu brothers were not present and was about to ask their whereabouts when Khubilai ordered his attendants; "Invite the Masters Wu in." The attendant did as he was told and pushed Wu Dunru and Wu Xiuwen into the tent.

Their hands and legs were tied tightly with cowhide. The restraints between their legs were just a foot long so the two couldn't take their normal strides. They could only struggle slowly forwards. Their faces were filled with embarrassment when they saw their Master. They called out, "Master!" and then lowered their heads in silence.

Guo Jing had been extremely angry with them for taking such a risk without telling anyone and causing this mess, but when he saw the two, his feelings changed. Their clothes were torn and blood stained and they were tied up so pathetically, his anger turned to pity. He thought that although the two were reckless, their hearts were in the right place by trying to help the nation, so he said warmly, "A martial artist will endure countless sufferings and countless defeats, what you've suffered is nothing."

Khubilai pretended to scold his attendants and said, "I ordered you to look after these two Masters Wu with great care, why have you treated them like this? Quickly untie them.” The attendants followed his orders. However, the cowhide was soaked in water after being tied and had shrunk tightly into the skin, the attendants couldn’t untie it.

Guo Jing left his seat and took the ends of Wu Dunru’s restraints. He pulled outwards lightly and the restraints snapped. He then did the same with Wu Xiuwen’s restraints. Guo Jing’s movements looked plain, ordinary and seemed to lack sufficient force, but by succeeding, he showed he possessed great internal energy. Xiaoxiang Zi, Yin Kexi, Nimoxing and the others looked at each startled, and all secretly praised his martial arts.

Khubilai said, “Bring some wine quickly so you can apologize to the two Masters Wu.”

Guo Jing thought, “Today’s not going to be plain sailing; something’s going to happen soon. If the Wus don’t leave now, I’m going to be distracted.” He then made a bow to everyone in the tent and said clearly, “Thank you your Highness for teaching my disciples a lesson for their insolence.” He then turned to the Wu brothers and said, “Go back and tell your Master wife that I’m going to stay here for a while and talk with an old friend’s son, I’ll be back soon.”

Wu Xiuwen said, “Master, you...” Last night they failed in their assassination attempt and were captured by Xiaoxiang Zi. He knew that the camp was filled with great fighters and he couldn’t stop himself from worrying about Guo Jing.

Guo Jing waved his hand and said, “Leave now! Go and tell General Lu to guard the city tightly and no matter what happens, do not open the city gates in case of an attack by the enemy.” Guo Jing said this with a mighty aura and was telling Khubilai that even if something happens to him, Xiangyang will not surrender.

When the Wu brothers saw that Guo Jing had come personally to save them, they were touched but also ashamed of themselves. They didn't say anything else and made their goodbyes with Guo Jing before returning to the city.

Khubilai laughed, "Uncle Guo must not have known about your disciples coming here to assassinate me."

Guo Jing nodded and said, "I did not know about this. My disciples don't know how tall the sky is and how deep the earth is, they were extremely impudent."

Khubilai said, "Yes, Uncle Guo and my family have deep ties with each other, the thought of assassinating me would never cross Uncle Guo's mind."

Guo Jing said with a serious expression, "You're wrong here. The matters of the people are more important than my own. Years ago when Tuo Lei led an army here to attack Xiangyang, I once thought about trying to kill him to force the army to retreat. But at that exact time, Genghis Khan fell ill and the army retreated and so our brotherhood was preserved. There's a saying, 'place righteousness above family loyalty', since a family can be gotten rid of, why not friends?"

These words were said with a righteous air and Fawang, Yin Kexi and the others all looked at each other with changed faces.

Yang Guo's chest trembled and he thought, "Yes, killing brothers is his best skill. I wonder what my father did all those years ago to eventually die by his hands. Guo Jing, oh Guo Jing, could it be that you've never made a mistake in your entire life?" As he thought about this, hate and fury slowly filled his chest.

Khubilai did not show any signs of anger and had a smile on his face as he said, "So why does Uncle Guo reproach your disciples when you have the same view?"

Guo Jing said, "Looking at their lowly abilities, what chance had they of succeeding in this task? Their failure is not important, it's just that once they failed, you will be even more wary of someone assassinating you; this task would be made even more difficult for later assassins."

Khubilai laughed and thought, "I've heard that Guo Jing is an honest and simple person who's not very good with words, who knew that he can actually speak with such spirit and gusto."

Actually, Guo Jing was just saying what was on his mind and because he knew what he wanted to convey; he was able to say it with great sincerity.

When Fawang and the others saw that he came alone and empty handed to this vast army without any signs of fear on his face; they were in complete awe of him since none of them could match the spirit that he was displaying.

Khubilai couldn't stop himself from admiring Guo Jing. When he saw Guo Jing's lofty air and thought that if he could convince him to join his command, it would be better than taking down ten Xiangyang cities. So he said, "Uncle Guo, the Song are in disarray. You have an Emperor who is blind to the people's plight, you have scoundrels in your courts and those who are loyal are punished, am I right?"

Guo Jing said, "Correct, Emperor Li Zhonghuang is a blind man and the Prime Minister Jia Sidao is the biggest crook of them all." No one guessed that he would actually insult his own emperor and leaders. Everyone was startled.

Khubilai said, "Yes. Uncle Guo is a great man and a hero of our time so why do you work for such men?"

Guo Jing stood up and said clearly, "Even if the one named Guo is unworthy, why would I allow myself to let those people use me? When I see you violent Mongols invading our land and killing my people, my blood boils. I'm doing this for my people; the angry blood that flows through me is because of them."

Khubilai patted on the arms of his chair and said, "What great words. Everyone, give a toast to Uncle Guo." He raised his bowl and downed the wine in one go.

Everyone was getting anxious and they were all afraid that with these stirring words and his relationship with Khubilai's father, Khubilai might actually let him go. It would be extremely difficult to capture him again but no one could do anything. When they saw Khubilai raise his bowl, they did the same and drank it down in one go. The attendants filled their bowls once more.

Khubilai said, "I once heard an old man say, 'It's the people of the land that are important, not the Khan.' What a truthful phrase. The land of Mongolia is in a state of peace; my people live happily and have what they need. My Khan could not bear to see the people of the Song suffer and when he saw that no one was doing anything about it, he sent his troops south to help end the troubles of the people. This thought is the same as Uncle Guo's, we both have the same heroic view. Come, let's toast again."

Fawang and the others all raised their bowls to their lips. Guo Jing swept his sleeve and sent a gust of wind over. There was a bout of 'qiang lang lang' noises as everyone's bowls fell to pieces on the floor.

Guo Jing angrily shouted, "Stop! Ever since you Mongols invaded our land, you have killed and slaughtered; corpses and bones mount up while blood flows like rivers. My citizens have lost their homes and countless have died by your army's sabers and arrows. What troubles of my people are you ridding them of?"

Though this sweep of the sleeve was extremely sudden and was completely unexpected, it still managed to knock the bowls out of the hands of Fawang and the others who possessed great martial arts. Everyone felt shame and they all stood up, waiting for Khubilai's orders to attack.

But Khubilai gave a long laugh to the sky and said, "The Generals of the Mongolian army say that Uncle Guo is a hero without a match, everyone is full of admiration for Uncle Guo. Indeed after seeing you with my own eyes, I now know that your great name is not a myth. I do not dare harm the brotherly relationship of my father; because of the past let's stop talking about matters of the country?"

Guo Jing saluted with his hands and said, "Tuo Lie's son is a magnanimous and open-minded man, and none of the other Mongolian princes can compare with him. He will no doubt lead the country one day. I have some advice for you, would you like to listen?"

Khubilai said, "I am willing to listen to Uncle Guo's teachings."

Guo Jing folded his arms and said, "The land of the Southern Song is vast and the people many. Talented and learned men are everywhere, and since history began, these kinds of men have not submitted to anyone. You Mongols might be able to expand your territory for a little while but in the future, you will be forced back north. When that happens, it will be disastrous for you and to regret it then will be too late. Please reconsider what you are doing."

Khubilai smiled, "Thank you for your words."

Guo Jing heard him say these words casually and said, "We'll say our goodbyes at that. Goodbye."

Khubilai waved his hand and said, "Escort the guests out."

Fawang and the others looked at each other startled and all thought, "It wasn't easy to catch him, how can we let the tiger escape back into the mountains?" When they saw Khubilai sending Guo Jing out politely, they all felt that it was inappropriate to make a move on him.

Guo Jing strode out of the tent and thought, "This Khubilai is no ordinary person; he is indeed a strong foe." He signaled with his eyes towards Yang Guo, telling him to hurry towards their steeds.

Suddenly, eight Mongols dashed forward from the sides. The leading Mongol said, "You're Guo Jing? You injured many of my brothers at Xiangyang and you've actually dared to come here to our camp to show off your might again. His highness has allowed you to go but we cannot allow it." With a shout all eight men dashed forward towards Guo Jing. These eight men all used Mongolian wrestling techniques as sixteen hands went to grab Guo Jing.

Mongolians are unmatched in wrestling and these eight men were first-rate fighters in the Mongolian army. Khubilai had hid them nearby to capture Guo Jing. But Guo Jing grew up in Mongolia and was well versed in riding, archery and wrestling; when he saw the eight pair of arms coming towards him he stretched out his hands and swept his right leg. In a flash, he had flung four men over ten feet away and tripped the other four onto the ground. He used orthodox Mongolian wrestling techniques but because he had advanced martial arts as a base, the strength in his arms and legs was stronger than any normal men. How could the eight men defend against this?

Khubilai had stationed his personal Minghan unit outside the tent and each one of them was skilled in wrestling. They saw how fast and clean Guo Jing's movements were in throwing down eight men to the ground in one go. They had never seen such a display and they all cheered.

Guo Jing held out his fist towards the crowd and took off his hat, spinning it in his hand. This was the routine that one did to the crowd after winning a wrestling match. The crowd cheered even louder when they saw him do this. The eight men picked themselves up from the ground and looked at Guo Jing in shock. They didn't know whether to go again or just leave it at that.

Guo Jing said to Yang Guo, "Let's go!"

Suddenly, a horn could be heard and Minghan regiments from everywhere galloped towards them. Khubilai had moved his troops and surrounded Guo Jing and Yang Guo.

Guo Jing was slightly shocked and thought, "Even if we had the greatest of skills, how could we break out of this? Who would have thought that Khubilai had gone to such lengths to get me captured?" He was afraid that Yang Guo would get worried so he kept a normal expression and said, "Our steeds are fast horses. Our main priority is to break out of this encirclement. We need to get two shields to protect ourselves from their archers." He then whispered into his ear, "First gallop south and then go north."

Yang Guo was shocked, "Xiangyang is south of here, why go north?" But he immediately understood, "Hmm, yes, Khubilai must have placed his men around Xiangyang in case he went south. The north will be free of soldiers. First go south and then go north unexpectedly; they will not be able to respond in time and we can escape. How should I stop him?"

Yang Guo was trying to make his mind up when he saw a few people dart out of the tent. These people had blocked their path. A 'ming ming' sound followed as a bronze and iron wheel flew towards the steeds; it was Fawang.

Guo Jing saw that the wheels were coming in with great force and did not dare to use his hands to catch them. He lowered his head and pressed down on the necks of the two horses with his hands; the horses lowered their front legs just in time for the iron and bronze wheel to brush over their heads. The two wheels turned in midair and flew back into Fawang's hands. This slight delay allowed Nimoxing and Yin Kexi to arrive in front of Guo Jing and Yang Guo. Fawang and Xiaoxiang Zi arrived a little later and the four surrounded them.

Jinlun Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi and the others were all first rate fighters and normally would not lower themselves to fight in numbers, but Guo Jing was too strong and they were all thinking about the title of 'The Greatest Warrior of Mongolia'. White and golden light glimmered as all of them took out a weapon.

Fawang was holding a bronze and iron wheel. Yin Kexi was holding a golden jewel embedded whip. Xiaoxiang Zi was holding a short Ku Sang Rod. The person holding the strangest weapon was Nimoxing. In his hand was a short iron Snake whip that looked like a live snake as it was moved on his arm.

From their running movements and their hand movements in taking out their weapons, Guo Jing could see that the weakest out of the four appeared to be Yin Kexi. He immediately threw both his palms forwards towards Xiaoxiang Zi. Xiaoxiang Zi extended his rod forward, aiming for Guo Jing's palm. Guo Jing looked at his weapon and saw white silk twirling around it and there was hemp at one end. Guo Jing saw that Xiaoxiang Zi's martial arts were high and his weapon strange, he'll definitely have some strong points about him, so he turned his right arm around and used a stance of "Divine Dragon Sweeping its Tail", he immediately grabbed Yin Kexi's golden whip. Yin Kexi wanted to use his whip to attack his opponent but it had already been grabbed. He followed the opponent's pull and threw his body forward with a glittering dagger in his left hand. This stance was using an attack as a defense and it was the top skill of the "Eighteen Little Grabbing Hand Technique".

Guo Jing called out; "Good!" He used his grabbing hand technique on him again. His right hand still held onto the whip as he went for his dagger. Guo Jing's arms were crossed over as his right hand held onto the whip in Yin Kexi's right hand and his left hand held onto Yin Kexi's left hand. Yin Kexi was sure that by thrusting his dagger forward, his opponent would have no choice but to let go of his whip and avoid the dagger. Who would have thought that his dagger would also be held?

At this time, Fawang's wheels and Xiaoxiang Zi's short rod attacked. Guo Jing did not manage to snatch away the golden dragon whip with his first pull and he shouted out; a surge of great chi went through the whip into Yin Kexi. Yin Kexi felt as if a metal hammer had struck his chest heavily, his eyes saw stars and he threw up a mouthful of blood. Guo Jing let go of the whip and blocked the attacks. Yin Kexi knew that he had suffered a severe injury and he pulled back slowly. He sat down on the ground and circulated his chi through his 'dan tian' and held back the urge to vomit more blood.

Fawang, Xiaoxiang Zi and Nimoxing were both delighted and afraid when they saw Guo Jing injure Yin Kexi with his first attack. They were delighted because there was now one less competitor for the title of the 'Greatest Warrior of Mongolia', but they were also afraid because they saw how powerful Guo Jing was. They themselves might suffer the same fate if they weren't careful. The three of them did not dare make any rash moves and defended themselves.

Guo Jing responded to every stance that came to him and studied the strange weapons of Nimoxing and Xiaoxiang Zi carefully. The Ku Sang rod was made out of pure iron and apart from being heavy and sturdy; he couldn't see anything special about it. Nimoxing's snake shaped weapon was very strange, the head of the weapon was like the head of a poisonous snake and the body of the weapon was soft and crooked. Both the head and tail of the snake shaped weapon were sharp but the most powerful aspect of the weapon was that it was hard to predict the weapon's movements. One couldn't tell when the body of the snake would bend over, the head and tail of the weapon had no certain direction; the iron snake whip would suddenly leap up and whirl around in Nimoxing's arms and then suddenly curl up and slither around, the weapon had hundreds of variations.

In his younger years, Guo Jing had seen the stances of Ouyang Feng's snake staff; the staff was like a real snake and it had venomous poison with it. Even if Nimoxing's weapon was extremely powerful, it was still a dead object. When he attacks and when he takes the snake back, there will be certain principles behind it that can be seen through. Because of this, the only person that Guo Jing was worried about was Jinlun Fawang.

The four of them had exchanged several moves when suddenly someone shouted and stepped forward, a man mountain appeared; it was Ma Guangzuo. He was holding a thick and long bronze rod in his hand and smashed it down towards Guo Jing's head from behind Nimoxing. The four of them were in a heated battle and all of them defended tightly, there was not an ounce of spare space in between any of them. The exchange from Guo Jing's palms, Jinlun Fawang's wheels, Xiaoxiang Zi's short rod and Nimoxing's iron snake had formed a net of force around them. By smashing the rod down, Ma Guangzuo was running up against the force created by the four. Ma Guangzuo's rod suddenly bounced back up as it met this invisible force. He noticed something was wrong and shouted out as he gathered strength into his arms to keep control of the rod. Even though he managed to do this, the joints in his hands bled. He called out loudly, "Evil, evil!" He increased the strength in his arms and smashed down once more.

Fawang was standing in front of him and he saw what was happening, the greater the force he smashes down with, the more he'll suffer and Fawang just chuckled.

Yang Guo watched from the side and knew what would happen; though Ma Guangzuo was strong, his martial arts could no way compare with that of Guo Jing. If he makes a fierce attack blindly and meets up with the world's most yang and unyielding "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palm" of Guo Jing head on, what chance would he have of living? Even if he doesn't die under the palm of Guo Jing, he would be seriously injured by the weapons of Fawang, Nimoxing and Xiaoxiang Zi. He liked this dim-witted person for his simple and straightforward character and for standing up for him on many occasions. If Ma Guangzuo strikes down he would definitely meet great danger so Yang Guo called out, "Ma Guangzuo, watch out for my sword!"

The gentlemen sword went for his back.

Ma Guangzuo was stunned and stopped his bronze rod in midair. He said with shock, "Brother Yang, why are you fighting me?"

Yang Guo insulted, "You Dumbass, what do you think you're doing? Get away!" The long sword quivered as several stances were thrust forward. Ma Guangzuo could do nothing but retreat. Yang Guo pierced forward furiously and forced him back step by step. Ma Guangzuo had long legs and every step of his was the equivalent of two ordinary steps by a normal person. Ten steps later and they became quite a distance away from Guo Jing and the others.

The sword glimmered in front of his eyes. He could never have dreamed that Yang Guo would suddenly try to kill him and even if he used every ounce of strength he had, he would not be able to fend off these attacks by Yang Guo.

Yang Guo waited until he had retreated back a few more steps before quietly saying, "Brother Ma, do you know that I've just saved your life?"

Ma Guangzuo said loudly, "What?"

Yang Guo said quietly, "Keep your voice down, don't let the others hear."

Ma Guangzuo said with his eyes wide open, "Why? I'm not afraid of that Guo Jing." These words were still said clearly and loudly. To him, he was speaking at a normal tone but to others his voice was like someone was shouting and hollering.

Yang Guo said, "Okay don't speak, just listen to me." Ma Guangzuo listened to him and nodded. Yang Guo said, "That Guo Jing knows witchcraft. All he has to do is to recite a curse and he's able to chop someone's head off. It's better if you run away as far as possible."

Ma Guangzuo's eyes opened wider when he heard this and believed his words though he had doubts.

Yang Guo wanted to save his life and he knew if he said that Guo Jing's martial arts were too high, he would never admit defeat; but if he said that Guo Jing knew witchcraft, this slow witted person would probably be scared. He continued, "You tried to smash his head in with your rod but before you even touched his head, the rod bounced back up, isn't that strange? That merchant's martial arts are excellent but how come as soon as he went up to fight him, he was injured?" Ma Guangzuo was becoming slightly more convinced and nodded his head but looked over at Fawang and the others.

Yang Guo knew what he was thinking and said, "That monk knows how to write charms. He gave one to that zombie and one to that dwarf, if you have one on your body, you will be protected against witchcraft. Did that monk give you one?"

Ma Guangzuo said angrily, "No."

Yang Guo said, "Yes, that old baldy didn't give me a charm as well. We'll sort him out afterwards."

Ma Guangzuo said loudly, "You're right. What should we do?"

Yang Guo said, "We'll watch from the side, the further away the better."

Ma Guangzuo said, "Brother Yang, you're a great friend. It was lucky you told me about this." He put away his weapon and watched the battle from afar.

Guo Jing was using the great Wulin skill the "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms". Fawang and the others kept tight on him thinking that even if his internal energy was more profound, he would not be able to keep up so powerful a palm technique for much longer. But Guo Jing had been practicing the "Nine Yin Manual" diligently for the last twenty years; at first his real power did not show but tens of stances later, the "Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms" suddenly became powerful and then suddenly gentle, from great hardness came softness. This was something that Hong Qigong did not manage to grasp all those years ago. By using this kind of palm technique to fend off these three fighters, not only did he remain on an even level with them, he was able to counterattack when he had the chance and he was getting more and more fluent as he went on.

Yang Guo watched in awe from the side. He too had practiced the “Nine Yin Manual” in the ancient tomb; but because he had no one to instruct him, he didn’t know that the manual’s arts were this extraordinary. He followed Guo Jing’s palm techniques with the teachings of the manual in mind and immediately he understood countless profound fist theories. His mind concentrated on this and for the time being, he forgot about killing Guo Jing to avenge his father.

Fawang’s martial arts and Guo Jing’s martial arts were separated by the smallest of margins; Guo Jing may have had more fortunate encounters than Fawang but Fawang was twenty years older than he and had twenty years worth of internal energy more than Guo Jing. If the two fought one on one, they would have to exchange over a thousand stances to decide who was better. With first-rate fighters such as Nimoxing and Xiaoxiang Zi by his side, it shouldn’t have been difficult to gain victory over Guo Jing. But Guo Jing’s “Eighteen Dragon Subduing Palms” were too powerful and along with his palm technique, he was using Quanzhen’s “Big Dipper Formation”. He went to and fro as he fought and it was as if he had separated into seven. Another reason why he was still holding them off was because of his immediate victory over Yin Kexi; this was a warning to the others and the remaining three made defense their main priority and did not dare to make a rash attack. Although it was three against one, Guo Jing still held his own against them.

After a few more stances, the power in Fawang's wheel gradually increased. The force of the attacks from Nimoxing's iron snake was increasing as well.

Guo Jing was getting anxious and thought, "If this continues, I won't be able to hold them off. Guo'er is over fighting with that giant. That giant's martial arts are just average, Guo'er will be able to manage. I need to get over to him as soon as possible and think of a way to get out of this place." The four were putting all their concentration into their battle and did not dare to even blink; they did not notice Yang Guo and Ma Guangzuo were just watching their battle.

Suddenly a strange whistling noise was heard. Xiaoxiang Zi leapt up several feet into the air and pointed his Ku Sang rod downwards. Guo Jing stepped to the side to avoid it when suddenly everything went dark; a black smoke was being emitted from the Ku Sang rod. A stench filled Guo Jing's nose and he felt slightly faint. He called in alarm to himself and knew that there was something poisonous within the Ku Sang rod and he quickly moved backwards.

Xiaoxiang Zi had seen Guo Jing had definitely taken in the black smoke but he did not faint. He was extremely shocked and thought, "Lions, tigers and any kind of wild beast would faint as soon as they come across my toad poison. But it doesn't seem to have any kind of effect on him; that is strange." He leapt up once again and shot out some more poison from his rod.

Years ago when Xiaoxiang Zi was practicing martial arts in the wild mountains of Hunan, he saw a toad that was hiding itself in a broken coffin. It had poisoned a large python to death. He understood what the toad had done and gathered some toads to extract the venom from them. He developed a poisonous dust and secreted it in the Ku Sang rod. There was a lever at the end of the rod. When his finger pressed down on the lever it would shoot the poison out. The higher above he fires the poison from, the more effective it becomes. He has used this poisonous dust on pythons and wild beasts before and it knocked them out immediately; but he could not have guessed that Guo Jing's internal energy was so profound that he was actually able to suppress the effects of the poison.

Fawang and Nimoxing were to the side of Guo Jing and although they did not come in direct contact with the dust, they had smelled a little and they immediately had the urge to vomit. They quickly leapt away from it. Xiaoxiang Zi had plugged the antidote to this poison in his nose beforehand and he dashed forwards into the black smoke, waving out his rod to attack.

Guo Jing used a stance of "Seeing the Dragon in the Field" and sent it towards Xiaoxiang Zi's kneecaps. Xiaoxiang Zi used his rod to block the attack and before he had any more time to fire some more poison out, he had been forced back five feet by the palm.

Guo Jing slanted his body to the side only to see Nimoxing coming in with an attack with his iron snake. He sent out a stance of "The Forbidden Submerged Dragon". Nimoxing quickly placed the Iron Snake across his chest and held each end with his hands. However, the power of this palm of Guo Jing's came from the area around the palm and not in the palm itself. Though the palm was going for Nimoxing's chest, there was no kind of force going towards it and he blocked thin air. By the time he knew something was wrong, his abdomen and his face had felt the power of the palm. Luckily for him, he was very short and as a result was very nimble, he quickly threw himself down and rolled away on the ground like a ball.

Guo Jing saw his chance to escape and called out, "Guo'er, let's go!" He leapt out into the open plains. Fawang flew after him. Guo Jing's back was just a few feet away from the Mongolian soldiers and immediately over ten spears were pointed towards it. Guo Jing used his arms to parry away the spears and then grabbed and threw two soldiers towards Fawang. He called out, "Catch!"

If Fawang caught them, it would slow him down and give Guo Jing the chance to run further away so he slanted his left shoulder and knocked into the soldiers and sent them flying over ten feet away. He threw his golden wheel towards Guo Jing's back.

Guo Jing knew if he returned just one stance, he would get caught up in a fight with Fawang. When Nimoxing and Xiaoxiang Zi catch up, it would be difficult to escape again, so he grabbed two spears and thrust them backwards. He did not slow down one bit as he did this and it was as if he had a third eye on his back; one of the spears went towards Fawang's right shoulder and the other for Fawang's chest. Both the direction and power behind it was complete. Fawang secretly praised this and then swept his golden wheel across, smashing the spears in two. By the time his sights were back on Guo Jing, he had already darted into the Mongolian army.

This division of soldiers was ordered by Khubilai to station themselves deeply around the tent to capture Guo Jing. But when Guo Jing darted into their formation, the soldiers could do nothing about him; they could not capture him nor harm him. Sounds of spears and sabers could be heard along with calls and shouts. These soldiers actually hindered Fawang and the others in their chase after Guo Jing.

Guo Jing hiding himself amongst the soldiers and horses was like hiding himself in a dense forest; it was actually easier for him to escape danger like this than in the open land. He ran up to a Noyan and pulled him down from his horse. He leaped on the horse and galloped left and right amongst the crowd of soldiers. Soon he managed to break through the rear of them and he galloped forward, whistling as he went. The red horse was left at a faraway place and when it heard its master summoning it; it galloped like the wind towards him.

Yang Guo watched from afar as the red horse galloped towards Guo Jing. He thought to himself, "Oh no!" He knew that once Guo Jing got on the red steed, Khubilai would have no way to catch up with Guo Jing even if he sent all the world's men after him.

In this urgent situation, he suddenly called out, "Oh no, I'm feel as if I'm dying!" He wobbled a bit as if he was about to fall down onto the ground. He then whispered to Ma Guangzuo, "Don't say anything, run away now! The further away the better." He had circulated his chi through his 'dan tian' when he called out and even in this clamor, Guo Jing would definitely be able to hear it. When Guo Jing heard this, he would definitely come back for him, but if he sees Ma Guangzuo with him, Guo Jing might actually throw out a palm and send Ma Guangzuo to his death. Ma Guangzuo was very obedient to Yang Guo's words and although he didn't understand what he meant by this, he ran away towards the royal tent.

When Guo Jing heard Yang Guo's call, he was indeed worried. He didn't wait for the red horse and turned his horse back towards him. He went back into the swarm of soldiers and galloped towards where Yang Guo was standing.

A thought went through Fawang's mind and he knew what Yang Guo was trying to do. He allowed him to pass and instead blocked his escape route.

Guo Jing rode up to Yang Guo and said anxiously, "Guo'er what's wrong!"

Yang Guo swayed a little and said, "That giant is not a match for me but for some reason, whenever I try to use any real strength, a surge of chi runs through me and my 'dan tian' feels as if it's being cut up by knives."

This was a completely believable lie; Guo Jing could tell that Ma Guangzuo's martial arts were very ordinary when he attempted to smash down on him with his rod, so if Yang Guo said it was Ma Guangzuo who injured him, Guo Jing would be suspicious. But if he said that something's wrong with his chi, Guo Jing would not be able to tell if he was lying or not from the outside. There was also the fact that Guo Jing mistook Yang Guo for fire deviating the previous night. The likelihood of this type of injury recurring again in the heat of battle is not uncommon.

Guo Jing saw that he was holding his abdomen with his left hand and his head was covered in sweat. It appeared that the injury was not light and he said quickly, "Get on my back; I'll carry you out of here."

Yang Guo said with a false pretence, "Uncle Guo, quickly go, my life isn't worth anything but Xiangyang's fate depends on you. The country, the army, the people, and all their hopes rest on you."

Guo Jing said, "You came here because of me; how can I leave you here? Quickly get on."

Yang Guo dallied as Guo Jing lowered himself. Guo Jing pulled him onto his back. Just at this time, the horse that Guo Jing had snatched was killed by the Mongolian soldiers' arrows.

Guo Jing had experienced countless dangerous situations in his life; the more dangerous the situation the greater his bravery. He pondered on how to get out of this situation and he said to Yang Guo, "Guo'er, don't be afraid, we are going to fight our way out of here." He stood up and dashed north.

Fawang, Nimoxing and Xiaoxiang Zi were now attacking Guo Jing once again. Guo Jing looked around and saw that soldiers surrounded them; this situation was even direr than the previous time that they were surrounded.

Beneath the camp's banner stood Khubilai. He was holding a bowl of wine and was watching the battle with a monk by his side. There was an arrogant expression on his face as he watched on with victory assured.

Guo Jing gave a shout as he carried Yang Guo towards Khubilai. He arrived in front of Khubilai after just three leaps. Khubilai's bodyguards were alarmed and they pointed their spears at Guo Jing. Guo Jing's palms overcame all obstacles as it sent one of the guards flying away. Just a few more feet forwards and Khubilai would be in range of Guo Jing's palm. All Khubilai's guards defended him with their lives but how could they stop Guo Jing?

Fawang saw it was getting desperate and he threw his golden wheel towards Guo Jing's head. Guo Jing lowered his head to avoid the wheel but did not stop and continued forward.

Yang Guo thought, "If he holds Khubilai hostage, the Mongolians will have no choice but to let him go. If I don't make my move now, when am I going to make it?" He hesitated a little and eventually said, "Uncle Guo was my father really a tyrant that left you with no choice but to kill him?"

Guo Jing was stunned with this question but he had no time to give it much thought in his reply in their present situation and immediately replied, "He took a scoundrel as his father, he betrayed his country and plotted against his people, he deserved to die.”

Yang Guo said, “Fine!” He hesitated no longer and raised his gentlemen sword and thrust it towards Guo Jing’s back.

Suddenly, a white blur appeared and a rod swept across and blocked his sword. Yang Guo followed the rod and dispersed the opponent’s force. He looked carefully and found out that it was Xiaoxiang Zi who had stopped his sword. He was surprised and thought, “My sword was just about to go through Guo Jing, why are you stopping me?” But he immediately understood his reasons, “That’s right; if I kill Guo Jing then the title of ‘Mongolia’s Greatest Warrior’ will be mine. Huh, this zombie doesn’t know that I’m just trying to avenge my father; I don’t care about titles and whatnot.” He unleashed several stances and forced Xiaoxiang Zi’s rod away. He turned his sword back towards Guo Jing and thrust it towards him once again. Xiaoxiang Zi used his rod and blocked his sword.

At this moment, Guo Jing was fending off Fawang’s wheel and Nimoxing’s Iron Snake with his palms; he didn’t know what Yang Guo was up to. He just thought that Yang Guo was trying to fight Xiaoxiang Zi with all his might and he said, “Be careful of the poison in his rod.”

Fawang and Nimoxing were in front of Guo Jing and could see what was going on clearly and both shouted, “Xiaoxiang Zi, what are you doing?”

Xiaoxiang Zi cackled and suddenly swept his rod towards Guo Jing. Guo Jing moved out of the way. Yang Guo was about to send his sword through Guo Jing for the third time but once again, Xiaoxiang Zi blocked his sword.

Guo Jing was worried about Yang Guo’s injury and was afraid that he would not be able to cope with Xiaoxiang Zi’s rod so he sent out his left palm towards Xiaoxiang Zi's chest. Xiaoxiang Zi quickly jumped out of the way.

Yang Guo had no one to stop him now and he sent out his sword towards Guo Jing's back. However, Xiaoxiang Zi was worried that Yang Guo would succeed and he advanced immediately after his retreat and sent his rod towards the vital pressure points on Yang Guo's back, forcing Yang Guo to save himself first.

Guo Jing was using his right palm to compete advanced internal energies with Fawang. Both he and Yang Guo were in great danger. He ignored his own safety and tried to save Yang Guo first. His left palm used a stance of "Divine Dragon Swinging its Tail" and collided with Xiaoxiang Zi's short rod. Xiaoxiang Zi's arm burned and his ghastly white face turned red.

But at that exact time, Nimoxing had rolled towards him and extended his Iron Snake towards Guo Jing's left side. Guo Jing was using seventy percent of his energy against Fawang and the remaining thirty percent in blocking Xiaoxiang Zi's rod. He had nothing left to block this attack of Nimoxing and could only move his left side back half a foot. He was able to avoid the iron snake's main attack but the head of the iron snake still managed to embed itself inches into his side.

Guo Jing circulated his chi and his muscles flexed and stopped the head of the iron snake from going in any further. He immediately followed this by a flying left kick and sent Nimoxing tumbling. Nimoxing saw that his iron snake had struck one of his vital areas and thought that the title of the 'Mongolia's Greatest Warrior' would be now be his. But he would never have dreamed that his enemy would have such incredible martial arts that would allow him to grasp victory from the jaws of defeat. This kick landed on Nimoxing's chest and broke three of his ribs.

Xiaoxiang Zi and Nimoxing had both been defeated but Fawang took this opportunity to gain victory and quickly increased the strength in his palm. Guo Jing's chi on his left side has now been disturbed and he could hold on no longer. He felt a mountain shattering and ocean turning force coming towards him. If he continued to take this head on, the result would be death. He could only disperse the power in his palm and rely on his twenty years worth of internal energy to take this stance. His body swayed continuously and he threw up a mouthful of blood. His life was in danger but his thoughts were still on Yang Guo. He called out, "Guo'er, go and get a horse, I'll hold them off."

After seeing Guo Jing protect him with his life, Yang Guo's emotions were stirred and he no longer cared about his revenge. He thought about how righteous and virtuous his Uncle Guo was, if he didn't repay a life with a life then he will have wasted his life on earth. He leapt off his back and flurried his 'Gentleman' sword to protect Guo Jing. He was like a mad tiger and fought with his life with every stance.

Fawang and Xiaoxiang Zi were stunned and shouted, "Yang Guo, what are you doing?"

Yang Guo did not reply and sent out a stance towards Fawang. The tip quivered and another stance was sent out towards Xiaoxiang Zi. The two saw that his eyes were red and that he had a strange expression on his face; they both took two steps back. They assumed that he wanted to kill Guo Jing himself in order to get the title of the 'Greatest Warrior of Mongolia'.

Guo Jing said, "Guo'er, don't worry about me, save yourself."

Yang Guo replied, "Uncle Guo, it's my fault that you've ended up like this. I'm going to die with you." The sword glimmered as he ignored his own safety and protected Guo Jing.

Fawang and Xiaoxiang Zi raised their weapons and attacked Guo Jing together. But Yang Guo's sword stances were extremely lively and he actually kept the two at bay. The Mongolian army surrounded them and roared as they watched the three fights. Guo Jing kept on urging Yang Guo to run away but all he saw was Yang Guo protecting him with his life. He was worried but also touched. His internal injury flared up and he could hold on no longer; his knees went limp and he fell to the ground.

Nimoxing held down the pain of his broken ribs and advanced forward slowly with his iron snake to kill Guo Jing. Yang Guo sent out several wild stances and then put Guo Jing on his back. He dashed north. His martial arts could not compare with Fawang normally but now with Guo Jing on his back, how long could he last? Several exchanges later, his left arm was slashed open by Fawang's golden wheel.

End of Chapter 21.

Chapter 22 - The Baby Girl of the City in Danger

Translated by Noodles

The golden wheel was shot low to the ground. As it got closer and closer, Yang Guo had no other option but to use his sword to repel the wheel. He knew that he had no strength left and knew that it was nigh on impossible for him to succeed but he had no choice but to give it his all. The wheel was now just two feet away from the horse with the wheel generating a soul shaking noise.

Just as Guo Jing and Yang Guo thought they had ran out of luck, the Mongolian soldiers and horses suddenly started to disperse. An old crippled man with a metal crutch in his left hand and a hammer in his right advanced towards them. He called out, "Master Yang, escape quickly, I'll hold them off."

Yang Guo took a glance at him and recognized it was one of Peach Blossom Island's disciples Feng Mofeng. He was extremely surprised by this event, but in this perilous danger, he didn't give it much thought as to how he suddenly appeared.

When Feng Mofeng was forced into working for the Mongolian army, he used the chance to assassinate members of the Mongolian army and had already killed a Noyan and a Jagen leader. He was very careful in making his moves and was yet to be discovered. Today, he heard a great commotion and so he headed up to a high vantage point to see what was happening. He saw that Guo Jing and Yang Guo were surrounded, so he fought his way in to help them. His iron hammer caused gusts of wind as it was swung and those who met it died instantly. A bloody trail was left in his wake.

Yang Guo was delighted with this development and swung his sword to try to break out. However, Fawang used his wheel to intercept Yang Guo's and Feng Mofeng's stances at the same time. Whenever Xiaoxiang Zi's rod came down towards Guo Jing's back, Fawang would allow Yang Guo to save Guo Jing. If Fawang used his wheel to smash down on Guo Jing, Xiaoxiang Zi would block his attack with his rod. If it wasn't for the two fighting each other, and even if Yang Guo gave his life in trying to protect Guo Jing, Guo Jing would have been dead long ago.

When Khubilai came up with the reward of being 'Mongolia's Greatest Warrior', he had hoped that his men would use all their efforts to achieve this goal; but instead they fought with each other, which was something that he did not predict.

Guo Jing's life might be safe for the time being, but the Mongolian army had positioned themselves all around him like an iron wall, presenting a metal boundary. Fawang and Xiaoxiang Zi were fighting for first place. Nimoxing bit down on his tongue as he held in his pain and looked for a chance to attack, attacking with vicious stances here and there.

By now, Yang Guo and Guo Jing had been battling within the army for over an hour. The sun was now skewed to the side. Fawang suddenly changed his stances and his wheel collided with Yang Guo's long sword. The 'Gentleman Sword' was a blade that can cut through metal like butter; as soon as the weapons collided, a hole was made in the golden wheel. Fawang followed the momentum and kept on going forward. The wheel caused an extremely strong pressing wind over them. Yang Guo was afraid that if he moved out of the way, Guo Jing would be injured so he used his sword to take this attack head on. The wheel slanted slightly and a light 'chi' sound was heard; Yang Guo's right forearm was slashed open. Though the wound wasn't deep, it had cut a vein and blood rushed out. As he fought, he felt his legs going limp and was running out of breath; under these attacks, how could he stop defending in order to stop his bleeding?

Feng Mofeng swung his metal hammer viciously and used every ounce of strength in his efforts to help Yang Guo and Guo Jing. But Fawang's left palm blocked and attacked, reducing Feng Mofeng to a state where he could only defend. If Feng Mofeng hadn't fought for his life, he wouldn't have even been able to save himself.

Xiaoxiang Zi saw his chance had come; he first sent Nimoxing's iron snake to the side and then leapt up into the air. He pointed his rod towards Guo Jing and was about to release the poisonous dust.

Yang Guo was shocked by this and quickly stretched out his left hand to take the rod. At the same time, he sent his sword forward. At that time, his body was completely open; all Fawang had to do was strike him lightly with his golden wheel and he would have been sent to his death. But Fawang wanted to use Yang Guo to send Xiaoxiang Zi away. Fawang forced Feng Mofeng away with his palm and sent out his arm to grab Guo Jing's back. Capturing him alive would be a great achievement. Xiaoxiang Zi did not predict that Yang Guo would actually risk his life to stop him. Before he came back to ground his rod had been grabbed and he couldn't exert any force while in midair. A white light flashed across his eyes as the sword arrived at his chest. He could do nothing but let go of his rod and move out of the way to save his life.

Feng Mofeng smashed forwards with both his hammer and crutch at Fawang's back. Two 'dang dang' sounds were heard as Fawang used his wheel to repel the attack. Feng Mofeng's joints bled from the force. Fawang's left hand went out for Guo Jing's back. Feng Mofeng gave a howl and abandoned his weapons and grabbed Fawang's back. The two fell down onto the ground. Fawang was furious and struck his shoulder with a palm. Feng Mofeng felt as if his insides were turned upside down. Feng Mofeng saw how cruel and vicious the Mongolians were from the camp and saw how they used his citizens in their attack on Xiangyang. He also saw how Guo Jing fought with his life to drive the enemy away. He didn't know Guo Jing personally and had no idea that Guo Jing was his Master's son-in-law; he just knew that if this person dies, Xiangyang would fall. So he made up his mind; he was going to endure anything in order to get Guo Jing out of danger. Fawang's palms came out with unspeakable speed. Feng Mofeng's bones were broken and his innards severely damaged but still, Feng Mofeng did not let go and dug deep into Fawang with his ten fingers.

The Mongolian soldiers had decided to watch from the side because they thought that Fawang would definitely be able to handle the situation. But when they saw him fall down to the ground, they all rushed forward. In such a situation, even if Guo Jing was perfectly healthy and if his and Yang Guo's martial arts were even better, how could they fight off the rush of hundreds of soldiers?

Yang Guo sighed to himself, "It's over...it's over!" He swung out Xiaoxiang Zi's rod wildly when suddenly there was a light 'po' sound; black dust spurted out from the end of the rod. The ten soldiers that were directly in front of the smoke fell down immediately. In his wild movements, Yang Guo had accidentally triggered the release of the poisonous dust. Yang Guo was slightly startled but immediately understood. He carried Guo Jing and made his way forward; whenever Mongolian soldiers came to meet him, he would trigger the poison and send more men to the ground with the poison.

Though the Mongolian soldiers were great in battle, they were all superstitious. When they saw how their own men suddenly fell down dead to the ground as soon as black smoke came from the rod, they shouted, "His rod is covered by an evil spell, everyone back!"

Khubilai's personal guards were extremely brave and regarded his orders above all else; even though they saw how dangerous it was for them, they still went forward to catch Yang Guo and Guo Jing. Yang Guo sent out some more poisonous dust and immediately sent another ten or so men to their deaths.

Yang Guo whistled and summoned his horse. His yellow horse stretched its legs and flew towards him. Yang Guo used every last ounce of his strength to place Guo Jing on the horse's back but felt his limbs were all drained of energy. He had no strength left to get onto the horse. He could only strike the horse's back lightly and call out, "Quick, leave quickly!" However, the yellow horse was very loyal to its master; when it saw that Yang Guo had no strength to get on, it raised its head and neighed. Yang Guo saw that the Mongolian soldiers were closing in on him; though the poison in the rod was lethal, there's a limit to the amount of poison it holds. He raised his sword wanting to jab his horse to force it to leave, but in the end he couldn't bear to. He called out, "Leave!" He poked the horse with the end of the rod. Because his strength had been drained in battle, his poke wasn't accurate and actually struck Guo Jing. Guo Jing had been unconscious but with this sudden poke, he opened his eyes. He immediately picked up Yang Guo and helped him onto the horse. The yellow horse gave out a joyous neigh and galloped away.

However, the sounds of horns followed closely behind them. Guo Jing gave a whistle and his red horse galloped towards him. The Mongolian army was right behind them. The red horse galloped to the yellow horse's side and kept nuzzling Guo Jing. Yang Guo knew that although his yellow horse was a fine animal, it was still inferior to the red horse. He drew a deep breath and with Guo Jing in his arms, leaped on the red horse. Just at this time, he heard a 'ming ming' sound; Fawang's golden wheel was flying towards them. Yang Guo's heart ached as he thought, “Feng Mofeng has died at Fawang’s hands.”

His thoughts stilled as the wheel came closer and closer. Yang Guo lowered himself to the horse’s back and hoped the wheel would brush past him. But the wheel sounded from below; it was actually aiming for the horse’s legs.

After Fawang had killed Feng Mofeng, he stood up and saw that Yang Guo and Guo Jing had already gotten onto their horses; it was too late to chase after them. He immediately shot out his golden wheel low to the ground. Fawang knew that if the wheel struck Yang Guo and kills him, the red horse would still escape with Guo Jing. Only by cutting off the horse’s legs would he have a chance to succeed in his task.

As the wheel got closer and closer, Yang Guo had no other option but to use his sword to repel the wheel. He knew that he had no strength left and knew that it was nigh on impossible for him to succeed but he had no choice but to give it his all. The wheel was now just two feet away from the horse with the wheel generating a soul shaking noise. He hung his sword down to protect the horse’s legs but who would have thought that as soon as the horse realized it’s life was in danger, it galloped faster and faster. The wheel remained two feet away from the horse. Yang Guo was delighted as he knew that the wheel would only get slower and slower. Indeed, a little while later the distance between the wheel and the horse’s legs increased to three feet, to four feet, to five feet; the gap was getting larger and larger. Eventually a ‘dong’ sound was heard as the wheel landed on the ground.

Yang Guo was filled with delight, but then he heard a pitiful neigh behind him. He turned around and saw his yellow horse, its stomach filled with arrows, still staring lovingly at its master. Yang Guo’s heart was filled with sadness and tears fell from his eyes. The red horse galloped like the wind and traveled like a shooting star. In just a short while, it had left the pursuing army behind.

Yang Guo held Guo Jing and asked, "Uncle Guo, are you okay?" Guo Jing let out a moan. Yang Guo checked his breathing and felt that it was still deep and strong; he knew that he was okay. He was now able to relax and he could hold on no longer. He fell into a semiconscious state on the back of the horse and let it go wherever it pleased.

Suddenly, countless numbers of soldiers and horses appeared in front of him. He immediately swung his sword and called out, "Don't harm my Uncle Guo!" He cut and slashed wildly around him. He couldn't see clearly as faces appeared here and there. After a bout of slashing around wildly, he eventually fell off the horse. But he was still calling out, "Kill me, kill me, it was my fault, don't harm my Uncle Guo." Suddenly, he felt as if the world was spinning around him and he eventually fell unconscious.

Some time passed before he woke up again. He called out, "Uncle Guo, Uncle Guo; are you okay? Don't harm my Uncle Guo!"

A tender voice by his side said, "Guo'er, relax, Uncle Guo will be okay after some rest."

Yang Guo turned his head and saw Huang Rong with an extremely grateful expression. Behind her was someone with tears in her eyes, someone staring at him tenderly and lovingly; it was Xiao Longnu.

Yang Guo called out in alarm, "Gu Gu, why are you here? Have you been captured as well? Quick, run away; just leave me."

Xiao Longnu said, "Guo'er, you're back, don't be afraid. We're all safely back in Xiangyang."

Yang Guo let out a relieved sigh. His limbs felt lifeless and he closed his eyes again.

Huang Rong said, "He's awake now, he'll be fine. You stay here with him."

Xiao Longnu agreed but her eyes never left Yang Guo. Huang Rong stood up and was about to leave the room when suddenly a noise came from the rooftops. Her expression changed slightly and with a wave of her left palm, she distinguished the light in the room.

When Yang Guo saw the room plunging into darkness, he sat up in alarm. His injuries were just superficial; the reason he had fainted was due to losing a lot of blood and from over exerting himself in the heated battles. He had rested for half a day now and Huang Rong had fed him the Peach Blossom Island's great medicine the Nine Flowers Jade Dew Pill. With him being young and in great shape, he had almost recovered completely by now. When he heard that someone was on the rooftop, he immediately became alert and was about to get up to face this enemy. Xiao Longnu blocked his way and unsheathed the 'Gentleman Sword' that was beside the bed. She whispered, "Guo'er, don't move, I'll guard here."

A laugh came from the rooftop followed by, "I have come to deliver a letter, is it the custom for the Song to greet their guests in the dark? If you are busy, might I come back later?" It was Fawang's disciple, Huo Dou.

Huang Rong said, "It is the custom of us Song to meet esteemed guests in broad daylight; we meet those who sneak about under the cover of darkness with darkness."

Huo Dou's voice choked up and he lightly leapt down to the courtyard. He said, "I have a letter for Guo Jing, Hero Guo."

Huang Rong opened the door and said, "Please enter."

Huo Dou did not dare to enter the pitch-black room and stood outside the door. He said, "The letter is here, please take it."

Huang Rong said, "You described yourself as a guest so why don't you enter?"

Huo Dou chuckled, "A gentleman in a dangerous place should prepare for the worst."

Huang Rong said, "What kind of gentleman views others with the mind of a scoundrel?"

Huo Dou's face flushed. Dealing with someone with such expertise with words as Chief Huang, it would be difficult for him to gain any sort of upper hand so he decided it would be better to keep quiet. He stood outside the door in silence with the letter held out in his hand.

Huang Rong struck out suddenly with her bamboo rod and attacked Huo Dou's front. Huo Dou, startled by this sudden move, leapt back a few feet, but something was wrong; his hands were empty. Huang Rong had placed the end of her rod on the letter and trapped it with her rod while Huo Dou was jumping back. She was soon to give birth and didn't want to see any outsiders. This is why she kept away from her enemy. After that shock, Huo Dou became despondent; the confidence he had gained from entering the city had all but disappeared. He shouted loudly, "I have delivered the letter; we will meet again tomorrow night."

Huang Rong thought, "If I let you come and go as you please from the city, how will that make us look?" She picked up a teapot from the table and shook it to the side; a spout of hot tea shot outwards.

Huo Dou had been on his guard for projectiles shot at him. But the water from the teapot came out without any kind of noise; it wasn't like your typical projectile that cuts the air with a sound. By the time he found out something was wrong, his neck, chest and right arm was covered with the tea. He felt a hot tingling sensation and called out 'ai ya' in shock while leaping aside. Huang Rong stood by the door and while Huo Dou's feet were still unsteady, she stuck out her bamboo rod and used the "Dog Beating Stick Technique's" 'trip' formulae. She flicked the stick up and sent Huo Dou to the ground. Huo Dou leapt up but the rod strokes of this particular 'trip' formulae has each stroke faster than the last. If you are able to dodge the first stroke, you might then be able to think of a way to evade the next. Huo Dou had already been sent to the ground with the first stroke, how easy was it going to be for him to avoid the next? He felt as if his feet had stepped into a pool of slippery mud; he also seemed to have found himself caught in between countless numbers of tree branches and found he was tripping up as soon as he picked himself up from the ground.

Huo Dou's martial arts were by no means weak; if he fought Huang Rong fair and square he would eventually find himself to be a level lower than Huang Rong. Were his martial arts higher he wouldn't have been tripped up so pathetically as this just after one stance. The reason he was in such a state was because he thought that the tea that landed on him was some kind of lethal poison. Just as he was fearfully thinking about what kind of horrible death the poison would bring him, Huang Rong suddenly attacked. Once the first attack succeeded, there was no way to defend against the second and in the pitch-blackness, he was tripped up until he was black and blue. Just at this moment, the Wu brothers arrived after hearing all the commotion.

Huang Rong shouted, "Capture that little bastard!"

In his moment of danger, Huo Dou became alert. He knew that if he picked himself up again he would definitely be sent down to the ground again so he called 'ai ya' and pretended to have a serious fall. He lay on the ground and didn't make a move. The Wu brothers threw themselves forward to capture him. Huo Dou's metal fan suddenly came out and then 'da da'; he had sealed the pressure point on their legs. He pushed the two forward at the same time to block Huang Rong's rod stances and leapt up to the top of the wall. He made a bow with his hands and said, "Chief Huang, terrific rod techniques, but it's a shame about your disciples!"

Huang Rong chuckled, "With that poison on your body, who in their right mind would come and touch you?"

As soon as Huo Dou heard this, he was scared witless, "This poison burns the skin and carries the scent of tea with it; what kind of weird powerful poison is this?"

Huang Rong knew what he was thinking and said, "You've been poisoned yet you don't even know what the name of the poison is. I guess if you die, you won't die in peace. Fine, there's no harm in telling you. This poison is called 'The Tea of Bones from Midnight to Noon'."

Huo Dou mumbled, "The Tea of Bones from Midnight to Noon?"

Huang Rong said, "Correct. If even one drop of this poison lands on your skin, your whole body will dissolve away to your bones. From midnight you won't see noon, from noon you won't see midnight. You've still got about twelve hours to live; you better make the most of it."

Huo Dou knew that this Chief Huang has great martial arts and possesses an unfathomable mind. Her father Huang Yaoshi is a greatly educated man and with the name Yao Shi (translates as master of medicine), he of course must be especially skilled in medicine. With Huang Rong's intelligence and her family's skills, to make a poison such as 'The Tea of Bones from Midnight to Noon' would be easier than turning one's palm. He stood on top of the wall in a daze, not knowing whether to go back and wait for his death or to lower his head and beg her for the antidote.

Huang Rong knew that Huo Dou was not an idiot, if a little time passes he will see through this little deception so she said, "I had no feuds with you to begin off with, if it wasn't for your little act of disrespect towards me just now, I wouldn't have condemned you to your death."

When Huo Dou heard these words he knew he had a chance to live. He abandoned his pride and leapt down from the wall. He bowed to the ground and said, "I have been disrespectful to Chief Huang, I ask her for her forgiveness."

Huang Rong hid behind the door and with a light flick of a finger; she shot out a Nine Flowers Jade Dew Pill. She said, "Take it quickly."

Huo Dou caught it and didn't waste anytime in taking this life saving pill. He felt a clear essence entering his dan tian and noticed an extremely relaxing feeling throughout his body. He made another bow and said, "Thank you Chief Huang for the antidote!" By now, all his arrogance had disappeared and he retreated slowly to the wall before flipping over and making a swift exit out of the city.

Huang Rong watched him leave and then went over to the Wu brothers and unsealed their pressure points. She then recalled Huo Dou's words; 'Chief Huang, terrific rod techniques but it's a shame about your disciples!' Though she managed to get rid of Huo Dou with her intelligence, she felt no pride. She may have used the exquisite and deft "Dog Beating Stick Technique" to trip Huo Dou up but her womb still acted up. She sat down on a chair and rested for a while.

Xiao Longnu lit the candles. Huang Rong opened the letter to see:

To Hero Guo from the First Protector of Mongolia Jinlun Fawang;

To be able to meet and admire Hero Guo was a great honour. I had hoped to converse through the night but our meeting was cut short. What did I do to make you leave in such a hurried manner? I will come and visit Hero Guo tomorrow. Until then..."

Huang Rong was alarmed and handed the letter over to Yang Guo and Xiao Longnu to read. She said, "The walls of Xiangyang may be solid but how can it hold out skilled fighters? The enemy is planning an attack but your Uncle Guo is hurt and I can't do much, what are we going to do?"

Yang Guo said, "Uncle Guo..."

Xiao Longnu looked at him with a scolding glance. Yang Guo knew she was angry with him for risking his life and saving Guo Jing. He closed his mouth and didn't say a word.

Huang Rong began to get suspicious and said, "Miss Long, Guo'er has not fully recovered yet, we can only rely on Brother Zhu Ziliu and you to fight off the enemy."

Xiao Longnu has always said whatever that was on her mind and said coldly, "I will protect Guo'er and only him; other people's lives are nothing to do with me."

Even more questions appeared in Huang Rong's mind but she didn't say much about it. She said to Yang Guo, "Uncle Guo said that it was thanks to your efforts that you managed to escape."

Yang Guo thought about the many times he had wanted to kill Guo Jing and felt ashamed of himself. He said, "I'm useless, it was my fault that Uncle Guo has become injured."

Huang Rong said, "Just rest. When the enemy comes, we'll win by our wits if we can't win with force." She turned to Xiao Longnu and said, "Miss Long, come with me, I have something to say to you."

Xiao Longnu hesitated, "He..." Since Yang Guo returned to Xiangyang, Xiao Longnu had not left his bedside. When she heard Huang Rong summon her, she was afraid that something might happen to Yang Guo.

Huang Rong said, "The enemy said that they will attack tomorrow, nothing is going to happen tonight. I have something to say to you about Guo'er." Xiao Longnu nodded and whispered instructions to Yang Guo to be careful before leaving the room.

Huang Rong took her to her own room and closed the doors. She said, "Miss Long, you want to kill my husband and I, don't you?"

Xiao Longnu might be naïve but she was by no means a fool. Xiao Longnu had made her mind up about killing the Guo couple to save Yang Guo's life. So no matter what Huang Rong would ask her, there was no way she was going to reveal anything to her. However, Huang Rong knew what she was like so she went straight to the point and asked her just like that. Xiao Longnu was shocked by this and hesitated, "I... I... you treat us so well, why should I... why do I want to kill you."

Huang Rong saw her face had become red and knew that she had guessed correctly so she continued, "You don't have to keep it from me, I knew long ago. Guo'er blames us for his parents' deaths and wants to kill us to avenge his father. You love Guo'er so of course are going to help him achieve his wish."

Xiao Longnu could not deny any of this and kept silent for a while. She eventually gave a sigh and said, "I really don't understand."

Huang Rong said, "Don't understand what?"

Xiao Longnu said, "Why did Guo'er risk his life today to save Master Guo? He and Jinlun Fawang and the others had agreed to kill master Guo together."

When Huang Rong heard this, she was extremely shocked. She knew that Yang Guo was up to no good but she never could have imagined that he would actually hook up with the Mongolians. She didn't let any of this show on her face and pretended that she knew all along and said, "It must be because of how well Master Guo has treated him. In the end, Guo'er could not make himself go through with it."

Xiao Longnu nodded and said mournfully, "There's nothing more I can say. Since he has decided to let his life slip away then so be it. I have always known that he is the kindest person in the world. He'd rather die than hurt his enemy."

Many thoughts ran through Huang Rong's mind but she could not figure out what her words meant. When she saw Xiao Longnu's mournful expression, she comforted, "There are still some things you don't know about the death of Guo'er's father, we'll clear everything up with him later on. His injuries are not serious, all he needs are just a few days rest, there's no need for you to be upset."

Xiao Longnu stared at her for a while before bursting into tears and sobbing, "He... he's only got seven days to live, how's resting a few days going to help?"

Huang Rong was stunned and quickly asked, "What is this about only seven days to live? Quickly tell me, we'll find a way to save him."

Xiao Longnu shook her head but eventually she revealed all; the events of the Passionless Valley, how Yang Guo fell victim to the Passion Flower, how Qiu Qianchi gave him half the antidote only and telling them to trade the other half of the antidote for the lives of the Guo couple in a deadline of just eighteen days. She told of the suffering that one goes through when poisoned by the Passion Flower and how the other half pill is the only antidote that exists in the entire world. The more that Huang Rong heard, the more shocked she became. She could never have guessed that Qiu Qianren and Qiu Qianzhang would have a sister named Qiu Qianchi and that this sister would end in such a state.

After explaining everything, Xiao Longnu said, "He's only got seven days left, even if we kill you and your husband tonight there's no guarantee that we'll make it back in time, why should I still want to try to harm you? I just want to save Guo'er; I don't care about avenging his father."

Huang Rong had previously thought that the only reason that Yang Guo was up to no good was because of his father's death, but who would have thought that there were so many other reasons buried within. Saving Guo Jing was just the same as deciding to kill himself. A person that can do such a heroic deed as this is really something to commend.

She stood up slowly and paced back and forth across the room. Even with her intelligence, she could not come up with something to get out of the pressing situation they were in; in just a few hours time, the enemy will come and attack. She may have consoled Yang Guo by saying that 'if they can't win with force then they'll win by wits' but how? How?

Xiao Longnu had just one thing on her mind; Yang Guo. Huang Rong however had two; her husband and her daughter. She was thinking, "How can I keep brother Jing and Fu'er safe?" A thought went through her mind, "Guo'er could risk his life for others so why can't I?" She then turned around to Xiao Longnu and said, "Miss Long, I have a way to save Guo'er, will you agree to it?"

Xiao Longnu trembled in delight in reaction to this and said, "I... I... even if I have to die... what's death, even if it's something ten times worse than death... I'm... willing..."

Huang Rong said, "Fine, only you and I can know about this, you must not let it slip out."

Xiao Longnu agreed instantly.

